9 The wife, onely for fornication, is to be put away. 13 Litle children are brought to Christ. 17 A rich man asketh Iesus, how he may possesse eternal life. 28 The Apostles forsooke all things for Christes sake. 33 Christ foreshewth his death. 35 Zebedees his Sonnes request. 46 Blind Bartimeus healed.

AND *he [a] arose from thence, and went into the coasts of Iudea by the farre side of Iordan, & the people resorted vnto him again, and as he was wont, he taught them againe.

2 Then the Pharises came and asked him, if it were lawfull for a man to put away his wife, and tempted him.

3 And hee answered, and said vnto them, What did *Moses commaund you?

4 And they said, Moses suffered to write a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away.

5 [1] Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, For the hardnesse of your heart he wrote this [b] precept vnto you.

6 But at the beginning of the creation *God made them male and female:

7 *For this cause shall man leaue his Father and Mother, and cleaue vnto his Wife,

8 And they twaine shall be one flesh, so that they are no more twaine, but one flesh.

10 And in the house his disciples asked him againe of that matter.

11 And hee said vnto them, *Whosoeuer shall put away his wife and marrie another, committeth adulterie [c] against her.

12 And if a woman put away her husband, and bee married to another, shee committeth adulterie.

13 [*2] Then they brought litle children to him, that he should touch them, and his disciples rebuked those that brought them.

14 But when Iesus saw it, he was displeased, and said to them, Suffer the litle children to come vnto mee, and forbid them not: for of such is the Kingdome of God.

15 Verily I say vnto you, Whosoeuer shal not receiue the kingdome of God [3] as a little child, he shall not enter therein.

16 And hee tooke them vp in his armes, and put his hands vpon them, & blessed them.

17 [4] And when hee was gone out on the way, there came one *running, and kneeled to him, and asked him, Good master, what shall I doe, that I may possesse eternall life?

18 Iesus said to him, [5] Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, euen God.

19 Thou knowest the commaundements, *Thou shalt not commit adultery. Thou shalt not kill. Thou shalt not steale. Thou shalt not beare false witnes. Thou shalt [d] hurt no man. Honour thy Father and Mother.

20 Then he answered, and said to him, Master, all these things I haue obserued from my youth.

21 And Iesus looked vpon him, and loued him, and said vnto him, [5] One thing is lacking vnto thee. Goe and sell all that thou hast, and giue to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come, follow mee, and take vp the crosse.

22 But he was sad at that saying, & went away sorowfull: for he had great possessions.

23 And Iesus looked round about, and said vnto his Disciples, How hardly doe they that haue riches, enter into the kingdome of God!

24 And his Disciples were afraide at his words. But Iesus answered againe, and said vnto them, Children, how hard is it for them that trust in riches, to enter into the kingdome of God!

25 It is easier for a camell to goe through the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

26 And they were much more astonied, saying with themselues, Who then can be saued?

27 But Iesus looked vpon them, and said With men it is impossible, but not with God: for with God all things are possible.

28 [*5] Then Peter began to say vnto him, Lo, we haue forsaken all, & haue followed thee.

4 Two things are chiefly to be eschewed of them which earnestly seek eternall life: that is to say, an opinion of their merits or deseruings, which is not onely vnderstood, but condemned by the due consideration of the Law; and the loue of riches, which turneth aside many from that race wherein they ran with a good courage.

29 Jesus answered, and said, Verely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath forsaken house, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands for my sake and the Gospels, 30 But he shall receiue an [e] hundred fold, now at this present, houses, and brethren, and sisters, and mothers, and children, and landes [f] with persecutions, and in the world to come, eternall life.

31 *But many that are first, shall be last, and the last, first.

32 ¶ [*6] And they were in the way, going vp to Hierusalem, and Jesus went before them and they were troubled, and as they followed, they were afraid, and Jesus tooke the twelue againe, and began to tell them what things should come vnto him, 33 Saying, Behold, we goe vp to Hierusalem, and the Sonne of man shalbe deliuered vnto the hie Priests, and to the Scribes, and they shall condemne him to death, and shall deliuer him to the Gentiles.

34 And they shall mocke him, and scourge him, and spit vpon him, and kill him: but the third day he shall rise againe.

35 ¶ [*7] Then James & John the sonnes of Zebedeus came vnto him, saying, Master, [g] we would that thou shouldest doe for vs that we desire.

36 And he said vnto them, What would yee I should do for you?

37 And they said to him, Grant vnto vs, that we may sit, one at the right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy glory.

38 But Jesus said vnto them, Ye know not what ye aske, Can ye drinke of the cuppe that I shall drinke of, and be baptized with the baptisme that I shalbe baptized with?

39 And they said vnto him, We can. But Jesus said vnto them, Ye shall drinke in deed of the cup that I shall drinke of, and be baptized with the baptisme wherewith I shall be baptized:

40 But to sit at my right hand and at my left, is not mine to giue, but it shall be giuen to them for whom it is prepared.

41 And when the ten heard that, they began to disdaine at James and John.

42 [8] But Jesus called them vnto him, and said to them, *Ye know that [h] they which are princes among the Gentiles, haue domination ouer them, & they that be great among them, exercise authoritie ouer them.

43 But it shall not be so among you: but whosoeuer will be great among you, shall be your seruant.

44 And whosoeuer will be chiefe of you, shalbe the seruant of all.

45 For euen the Sonne of man came not to be serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ransome of many.

46 ¶ [*9] Then they came to Jericho: and as he went out of Jericho with his disciples, and a great multitude, Bartimeus the sonne of Timeus, a blinde man, sate by the wayes side, begging.

47 And when he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry, & to say, Jesus the sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me.

48 And many rebuked him, because hee should holde his peace: but hee cried much more, O Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me.

49 Then Jesus stood stil, and commanded him to bee called: and they called the blinde, saying vnto him, Be of good comfort: arise, he calleth thee.

50 So he threw away his cloke, and arose, and came to Jesus.

51 And Jesus answered, & said vnto him, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And the blinde sayd vnto him, Lord, that I may receiue sight.

52 Then Jesus sayd vnto him, Goe thy way: thy faith hath saued thee. And by and by, hee receiued his sight, & followed Jesus in the way.

5 Then certaine of them that stood there said vnto them, What do ye loosing the colte?

6 And they sayde vnto them, as Jesus had commanded them: So they let them goe.

20 ¶ *[4] And in the morning as they iourneyed together, they ſaw the figge tree dried vp from the rootes.

21 Then Peter remembred, and ſaid vnto him, Maſter, behold, the figge tree which thou curſedſt is withered.

26 For if you will not forgiue, your Father which is in heauen, will not pardon you your treſpaſſes.

27 ¶ *[5] Then they came againe to Ieruſalem: and as hee walked in the Temple, there came to him the high Prieſtes, and the Scribes, and the Elders, 28 And ſaid vnto him, By what authoritie doeſt thou theſe things? and who gaue thee this authoritie, that thou ſhouldeſt doe theſe things?

32 [6] But if we ſay, Of men, we feare the people: for all men counted Iohn, that he was a Prophet in deede.

33 Then they anſwered, and ſayde vnto Ieſus, We cannot tell. And Ieſus anſwered, and ſayd vnto them, Neither will I tell you by what authoritie I doe theſe things.

37 Then Dauid himself calleth him Lord: by what meanes is hee then his Sonne? and much people heard him gladly.

*Luke 21.1.

38 *6 Moreouer hee sayde vnto them in g his doctrine, Beware of the Scribes which loue to goe in h long robes, and loue salutations in the markets, i Money of any kind of mettall, as the Romanes vsed, who in the beginning did stampe or coine brasse, and after vsed it for currant money.

39 And the chiefe seates in the Synagogues, and the first roomes at feasts, 40 Which *deuoure widowes houses, euen vnder a colour of long prayers. These shal receiue the greater damnation.

41 7 * And as Jesus sate ouer against the treasurie, he beheld how the people cast i mony into the treasurie, and many rich men cast in much.

42 And there came a certaine poore widowe, and she threw in two mites, which make a quadrin.

43 Then hee called vnto him his disciples, and sayd vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, that this poore widow hath cast more in, then all they which haue cast into the treasurie.

44 For they all did cast in of their superfluitie: but shee of her pouertie did cast in all that she had, euen all her liuing.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the destruction of Ierusalem. 9 Persecutions for the Gospel. 10 The Gospel must be preached to all nations. 26 Of Christs comming to iudgement. 33 We must watch and pray.

AND *1 as he went out of the Temple, one of his disciples sayd vnto him, Master, see what maner stones, and what mauer buildings are heere.

2 *Then Iesus answerd and sayde vnto him, Seest thou these great buildings? there shall not bee left one stone vpon a stone, that shall not be throwen downe.

3 And as he sate on the mount of Oliues, ouer against the Temple, Peter, and Iames, and Iohn, and Andrew, asked him secretly, 4 Tell vs when shall these things be? and what shall bee the signe when all these things shall be fulfilled?

5 And Iesus answered them, and began to say, *Take heede least any man deceiue you.

6 For many shall come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and shall deceiue many.

7 Furthermore, when yee shall heare of warres, and rumours of warres, bee yee not troubled: for such things must needs be: but the end shall not be yet.

8 For nation shal rise against nation, and kingdome against kingdome, and there shall be earthquakes in diuers quarters, and there shall be famine and troubles: these are the beginnings of sorowes.

9 But take yee heed to your selues: for they shall deliuer you vp to the Councils, and to the Synagogues: yee shall be beaten, and brought before Rulers and Kings for my sake, for a [a] testimoniall vnto them.

10 And the Gospel must first bee published among all nations.

11 *But when they lead you, and deliuer you vp, [b] be not careful before hand, neither [c] studie what yee shall say: but what is giuen you at the same time, that speake: for it is not yee that speake, but the holy Ghost.

12 Yea, and the brother shall deliuer the brother to death, and the father the sonne, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall cause them to die,

13 And yee shall bee hated of all men [d] for my Names sake: but whosoeuer shall endure vnto the ende, he shalbe saued.

14 *Moreouer, when ye shall see the abomination of desolation (spoken of by *Daniel the Prophet) [e] set where it ought not, (let him that readeth consider it) then let them that be in Iudea, flee into the mountaines, 15 And let him that is vpon the house, not come downe into the house, neither enter therein, to fetch any thing out of his house.

16 And let him that is in the field, not turn backe againe to take his garment.

17 Then woe shall bee to them that are with child, and to them that giue sucke in those dayes.

18 Pray therefore that your flight bee not in the winter.

19 For [f] in those daies shalbe such tribulation, as was not from the beginning of the creation which God created vnto this time, neither shall bee.

20 And except that the Lord had shortened those dayes, no flesh should be saued: but for the elects sake, which he hath chosen, hee hath shortened those dayes.

21 Then *if any man say to you, Loe, here is Christ, or loe, he is there, beleeue it not.

22 For false Christs shall rise, and false prophets, and shall shew signes and wonders, to deceiue if it were possible the very elect.

23 But take ye heed: behold, I haue shewed you all things before.

24 Moreouer in those dayes, after that tribulation, *the sunne shall ware darke, and the moone shall not giue her light, 25 And the starres of heauen shall fall: and the powers which are in heauen, shall shake.

26 And then shall they see the Sonne of man comming in the clouds, with great power and glory.

27 *And he shal then send his Angels, and shall gather together his elect from the foure windes, and from the vtmost part of the earth to the vtmost part of heauen.

28 Now learne a parable of the figge tree. When her bough is yet tender, and it bringeth forth leaues, yee know that summer is neere.

29 So in like manner when yee see these things come to passe, know that the kingdom of God is neere, euen at the doores.

30 Verely I say vnto you, that this generation shall not passe, till all these things bee done.

31 Heauen and earth shall passe away, but my words shall not passe away.

32 [2] But of that day and houre knoweth no man, no, not ỹ Angels which are in heauen, neither the Sonne himselfe, but the Father.

33 *Take

34 For the Sonne of man is as a man going into a strange countrey, and leaueth his house, and giueth authoritie to his seruants, and to euery man his worke, and commandeth the Porter to watch.

35 Watch ye therefore, (for ye know not when the master of the house will come, at euen, or at midnight, at the cocke crowing, or in the dawning.)

1 The Priests conspiracie against Christ. 3 The woman powring oyle on Christs head. 12 The preparing of the Passeouer. 22 The institution of the Supper. 41 Christ deliuered into the hands of men. 43 Iudas betrayeth him with a kisse. 55 Christ is before Caiaphas. 66 Peters deniall.

*Matth.26.2. luke 22.1.

AND*[1] two dayes after followed the feast of the Passeouer, and of vnleauened bread: and the hie Priests, & Scribes sought how they might take him by craft, and put him to death.

1 By the will of God, against the counsell of men, it came to passe that Christ should be put to death vpon the solemne day of the Passeouer, that in all respects the truth might agree to the figure.

2 But they sayd, Not in the feast day, lest there be any tumult among the people.

*Matt.26 6. iohn 12.2.

3 *And when hee was in Bethania in the house of Simon the leper, as hee sate at table, there came a woman hauing a box of ointment of spikenard, very costly, and she brake the box, and powred it on his head.

2 Rash iudgements are frustrate before God.

4 [2] Therefore some disdained among themselues, and sayd, To what ende is this waste of oyntment?

5 For it might haue beene solde for more then [a] three hundreth pence, and beene giuen vnto the poore, and they murmured against her.

a Which is about fiue pounds English.

6 But Iesus sayd, Let her alone: why trouble ye her? she hath wrought a good worke on me.

3 Christ suffered himselfe to bee anointed once or twise for certaine considerations: but his will is to be daily anointed in the poore.

7 [3] For yee haue the poore with you alwayes, and when yee will yee may doe them good, but me ye shall not haue alwayes.

4 This woman by the secret instinct of the spirit anointing Christ, foreseeth before mens eyes, his death and buriall which were at hand.

8 [4] She hath done that she could: she came afore hand to anoint my body to the burying.

9 Verely I say vnto you, wheresoeuer this Gospel shalbe preached throughout the whole world, this also that she hath done, shall be spoken of in remembrance of her.

5 Couetousnesse cloked with a pretext of charitie, is occasion to betray the crucifie Christ.

10 *[5] Then Iudas Iscariot, one of the twelue, went away vnto the high Priests, to betray him vnto them.

11 And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised that they would giue him money: therefore hee sought how he might conueniently betray him.

*Mat.26.17. luke 22.8.

6 Christ being made subiect to the Lawe for vs, doth with the Passeouer accomplish the Lawe: and then vpon it by a miracle he frees it that he with standing he in the sixth shall straightway suffer, yet that hee is God.

12 [*6] Now the first day of vnleauened bread, [b] when [c] they sacrificed the [d] Passeouer, his disciples said vnto him, Where wilt thou that we goe and prepare, that thou mayest eate the passeouer?

b That is, vpon which day, and at the euening of the same day, which was the beginning of the fifteenth, Looke Matth.26.17.

c They vsed to sacrifice.

d This is spoken thus, by the figure Metonymia, which is vsual in Sacraments, and by the Passeouer is meant the Paschall lambe.

13 Then hee sent foorth two of his disciples, and saide vnto them, Goe yee into the citie, and there shall a man meete you bearing a pitcher of water: followe him.

14 And whithersoeuer he goeth in, say yee to the good man of the house, The Master saith, Where is the lodging where I shal eate the Passeouer with my disciples?

15 And he will shew you an [e] vpper chamber which is large, trimmed and prepared: there make it readie for vs.

e The Greeke word signifieth that part of the house that is highest from the ground, to what vse soeuer it be put, but because they vsed to sup in that part of the house, they called it a supping chamber.

16 So his disciples went foorth, and came to the citie, and founde as hee had saide vnto them, and made ready the Passeouer.

17 And at euen he came with [f] the twelue.

*Psal.41.10. mat.26.20.23. luke 22.14. iohn 13.18.21.

18 *[7] And as they sate at table and did eate, Iesus said, Verily I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray mee, which eateth with me.

7 The figure of the law, which is by and by to be fulfilled, is abrogated: & in place thereof are put figures of the new couenant answerable vnto them, which shall continue to the worlds end.

19 Then they began to be sorowfull and to say to him one by one, Is it I? And another, Is it I?

20 And he answered and said vnto them, It is one of the twelue that [f] dippeth with mee in the platter.

f That vseth to eate meate with me.

21 Truely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: *but woe be to that man, by whom the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had bene good for that man, if he had neuer bene borne.

* Acts 1.16.

22 *And as they did eate, Iesus tooke the bread, and when he had giuen thanks, he brake it and gaue it to them, and said, Take, eate, this is my body.

*Mat.26.26. 1.cor.11.24.

23 Also he tooke the cup, and when he had giuen thankes, gaue it to them: and they all dranke of it.

24 And hee sayd vnto them, This is my blood of that newe Testament which is shed for many.

25 Verily I say vnto you, I will drinke no more of the fruit of the vine vntill that day, that I drinke it new in the kingdome of God.

26 And when they had sung a Psalme, they went out to the mount of Olives.

*Iohn 16.32.

8 Christ foretelleth how hee shall be forsaken of his, but yet that he will neuer forsake them.

27 [*8] Then Iesus sayd vnto them, All ye shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, *I will smite the shepheard, and the sheepe shall be scattered.

*Zach.13.7.

28 But after that I am risen, I wil go into *Galile before you.

*Chap.16.7.

9 Peter is set foorth in an excellent person, a most notable example of mans rashnesse and inconstancie.

29 [9] And Peter said vnto him, Although all men should bee offended at thee, yet would not I.

30 Then Iesus said vnto him, Verily I say vnto thee, this day, euen in this night, before the Cocke crowe twise, thou shalt deny me thrise.

g That doubling of words setteth out more plainely Peters vehement affirmation.

31 But hee saide[g] more earnestly, If I should die with thee, I will not denie thee: likewise also said they all.

* Matth. 26.36. luke 22.39.

32 ¶ *[10] After, they came into a place named Gethsemane: then hee saide to his disciples, Sit yee heere, till I haue prayed.

10 Christ suffering for vs, in that flesh which he tooke vpon him for our sakes, the most horrible terrours of the curse of God, receiueth the cup at his fathers hands, which he being iust, doth straight way drinke of for the iniust.

33 And hee tooke with him Peter, and James, and John, and he began to be troubled, and in great heauines, 34 And saide vnto them, My soule is very heauie, euen vnto the death: tarie heere, and watch.

35 So hee went forward a little, and fell downe on the ground, and prayed, that if it were possible, that houre might passe from him.

h This doubling of the word, was vsed in those daies, when their languages were so mixed together: for this word, Abba, is a Syrian word.

36 And he saide,[h] Abba, Father, all things are possible vnto thee: take away this cuppe from mee: neuertheless not that I will, but that thou wilt, be done.

11 An horrible example of the sluggishnes of men, euen in the disciples whom Christ had chosen.

37 [11] Then he came, and found them sleeping, and said to Peter, Simon, sleepest thou? couldest not thou watch one houre?

38 ¶ Watch ye, and pray, that yee enter not into tentation: the spirit in deede is ready, but the flesh is weake.

39 And againe he went away, and prayed, and spake the same words.

40 And hee returned, and found them asleepe againe: for their eies were heauie: neither knew they what they should answere him.

41 And he came the third time, and saide vnto them, Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: it is ynough: the houre is come: Behold, the Sonne of man is deliuered into the hands of sinners.

42 Rise vp: let vs goe: loe, he that betraieth me, is at hand.

* Mat. 26.47. luke 22.47. john 18.3.

43 *[12] And immediatly while he yet spake, came Iudas that was one of the twelue, and with him a great multitude with swords and staues from the hie Priests, and Scribes, and Elders.

12 As men did willingly spoile God their Creator of his praise, in forsaking and betraying him: so Christ willingly going about to make satisfaction for this ruine, is forsaken of his owne, and betraied by one of his familiars as a theefe, that the punishment, might be agreeable to the sinne, and we who are very traitors, forsakers, and sacrileges, might be deliuered out of the deuils hand.

44 And hee that betraied him, had giuen thē a token, saying, Whomsoeuer I shal kisse he it is: take him and leade him away[i] safely.

i So diligently, that he scape not out of your hands.

45 And assoone as he was come, hee went straightway to him, and said, Haile Master and kissed him.

46 Then they laide their handes on him and tooke him.

47 And[k] one of them that stoode by, drewe out a sworde, and smote a seruant of the high Priest, and cut off his eare.

k That is, Peter.

48 And Iesus answered and said to them, Yee bee come out as against a theefe with swords, and with staues, to take me.

49 I was dayly with you teaching in the Temple, and yee tooke mee not: but this is done that the Scriptures should bee fulfilled.

1 All his Disciples.

50 Then they[l] all forsooke him, and fled.

13 Vnder pretence of godlinesse, all things are lawfull to such as doe violence against Christ.

51 [13] And there followed him a certaine yong man, clothed in[m] linnen vpon his bare body, and the yong men caught him.

m Which he cast about him, when he hearing the sturre in the night suddenly ranne foorth: whereby we may vnderstand with how great licentiousnesse these villaines violently set vpon him.

52 But he left his linnen cloth, and fledde from them naked.

* Mat. 26.57. luke 22. 54. iohn 18.24.

53 *So they led Iesus away to the high Priest, and to him came[n] together all the high Priests, and the Elders, and the Scribes.

n The highest Councill was assembled, because Christ was accused as a blasphemer and a false Prophet: for as for the other crime of treason, it was forged against him by the Priest to enforce Pilate by that meanes to condemne him.

54 Then Peter followed him a farre off, euen into the hall of the high Priest, and sate with the seruants, and warmed himselfe at the fire.

14 Christ, who was so innocent that he could not be oppressed, no not by false witnesses, is at length, for confessing God to be his Father, condemned of impietie before the hie Priest: that we, who deserued God and were indeede wicked, might be quit before God.

55 [14] And the *high Priestes, and all the Council sought for witnesse against Iesus to put him to death, but found none.

* Matth. 26.59. * Iohn 2.19.

56 For many bare false witnesse against him, but their witnesse agreed not together.

57 Then there arose certaine, and bare false witnesse against him, saying, 58 We heard him say, *I wil destroy this Temple made with hands, and within three dayes I will builde another made without hands.

59 But their witnesse yet agreed not together.

o Of God, who is most worthie of all praise.

60 Then the hie Priest stood vp amongst them, and asked Iesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? what is the matter that these beare witnesse against thee?

61 But he held his peace, and answered nothing. Againe the hie Priest asked him, and said vnto him, Art thou that Christ the sonne of the °Blessed?

* Matth. 24.38.

62 And Iesus said, I am he, * and ye shall see the Sonne of man sit at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of heauen.

63 Then the hie Priest rent his clothes, and said, What haue wee any more neede of witnesses?

64 Yee haue heard the blasphemie: what thinke ye? And they all condemned him to bee worthie of death.

15 Christ suffering all kinde of reproch for our sakes, getteth euerlasting glory to them that beleeue in him.

65 [15] And some began to spit at him, and to couer his face, and to beat him with fists, and to say vnto him, Prophesie. And the sergeants smote him with their rods.

* Marke 26.69. luke 22.55. iohn 18.25.

66 *[16] And as Peter was beneath in the hall, there came one of the maides of the hie Priest.

16 An horrible example of the stubbornesse of men together with a most comfortable example of the mercie of God, who giueth the spirit of repentance and faith to his elect.

67 And when shee saw Peter warming himselfe, she looked on him, and said, Thou wast also with Iesus of Nazareth.

68 But hee denied it, saying, I knowe him not, neither wot I what thou sayest. Then hee went out into the porch, and the cocke crew.

69 *Then

69 *Then a maid saw him againe, and beganne to say to them that stood by, This is one of them.

70 But he denied it againe: and anone after, they that stoode by, said againe to Peter, Surely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galile, and thy speach is like.

71 And he began to curse, and sweare, saying, I know not this man of whom ye speake.

72 *Then the second time the cocke crew, and Peter remembred the worde that Jesus had said vnto him, Before the cock crowe twise, thou shalt denie mee thrise, and waying that with himselfe, he wept.

*Matth. 26.71. p If we compare the Euangelists diligently together, we shal perceiue that Peter was knowen of many through the maidens report: yea, and in Luke, when the second denial is spoken of, there is a man seruant mentioned, and not a maid.

*Matth. 26.75. Iohn 13.38.

CHAP. XV.

1 Of the things that Christ suffred vnder Pilate. 11 Barabbas is preferred before Christ. 15 Pilate deliuereth Christ to be crucified. 17 He is crowned with thorne. 19 They spit on him, & mocke him. 21 Simon of Cyrene carieth Christes crosse. 27 Christ is crucified betweene two theeues. 29 Hee is railed at. 37 Hee giueth vp the Ghost. 43 Ioseph burieth him.

AND *[1] anone in the dawning, the hie Priests held a Councel with the Elders, and the Scribes, and the whole Councell, and bound Jesus, and led him away, and [a] deliuered him to Pilate.

*Matth. 27.1. Luke 22.66. Iohn 18.19.

1 Christ being bound before the iudgement seat of an earthly Iudge, in open assemblie is condemned as guiltie vnto the death of the crosse, not for his owne sins, (as appeareth by the Iudges owne words) but for all ours, that we most guiltie creatures being deliuered from the guiltinesse of our sinnes, might be quitted before the iudgement seat of God, euen in open assemblie of the Angels.

a It was not lawfull for them to put any man to death, for all causes of life and death were taken away from them, first by Herode the great, and afterward by the Romanes, about fourtie yeeres before the destruction of the Temple, and therefore they deliuer Iesus to Pilate.

*Matth. 27.12. Luke 23.3. Iohn 18.35.

b Vsed Pilate to deliuer.

2 Then Pilate asked him, Art thou the King of the Iewes? And hee answered, and said vnto him, Thou saiest it.

3 And the hie Priests accused him of many things.

4 *Wherefore Pilate asked him againe, saying, Answerest thou nothing? behold how many things they witnesse against thee.

5 But Jesus answered no more at all, so that Pilate marueiled.

6 Now at the feast, Pilate [b] did deliuer a prisoner vnto them, whomsoeuer they would desire.

7 Then there was one named Barabbas, which was bound with his followes, that had made insurrection, who in the insurrection had committed murther.

8 And the people cried aloud, and began to desire that he would doe as hee had euer done vnto them.

9 Then Pilate answered them, and sayd, Will ye that I let loose vnto you the King of the Iewes?

10 For he knew that the high Priests had deliuered him of enuie.

11 But the high Priests had mooued the people to desire that hee would rather deliuer Barabbas vnto them.

12 And Pilate answered, and sayd againe vnto them, What will ye then that I do with him, whom ye call the King of the Iewes?

13 And they cryed againe, Crucifie him.

14 Then Pilate said vnto them, But what euill hath he done? and they cryed the more feruently, Crucifie him.

15 So Pilate willing to content the people, loosed them Barabbas, and deliuered Jesus, when he had scourged him, that hee might be crucified.

16 Then the souldiers led him away into the hall, which is the common hall, and called together the whole band.

17 [2] And clad him with purple, & platted a crowne of thornes and put it about his head.

18 And began to salute him, saying, Haile, King of the Iewes.

19 And they smote him on the head with a reed, and spat vpon him, and bowed the knees, and did him reuerence.

20 And when they had mocked him, they tooke the purple off him, & put his own clothes on him, and led him out to Crucifie him.

21 *And they [c] compelled one that passed by, called Simon of Cyrene (which came out of the countrey, and was Father of Alexander and Rufus) to beare his crosse.

22 *[4] And they brought him to a place named Golgotha, which is by interpretation, the place of dead mens skulles.

23 And they gaue him to drinke Wine mingled with myrrhe: but he receiued it not.

24 *[5] And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, casting lots for them what euery man should haue.

25 And it was the third houre, when they crucified him.

26 And the title of his cause was written aboue, THAT KING OF THE IEVVES.

27 They crucified also with him two theeues, the one on the right hand, and the other on his left.

28 Thus the Scripture was fulfilled, which saith, *And he was counted among ỹ wicked.

29 And they that went by, railed on him, wagging their heads, and saying, *Hey, thou that destroyest the Temple, and buildest it in three dayes.

30 Saue thy selfe, and come downe from the crosse.

31 Likewise also euen the hie Priests mocking, saide among themselues with the Scribes, He saued other men, himselfe hee cannot saue.

32 Let Christ the King of Israel nowe come downe from the crosse, that we may see, and beleeue. They also that were crucified with him reuiled him.

33 ¶ Now when the sixt houre was come, [6] darkenesse arose ouer [c] all the land vntill the ninth houre,

2 Christ going about to take away the sinnes of men who went about to disturbe the throne of God himselfe, is condemned as one that hunted after the kingdom, and mocked with a false shew of a kingdom, that was on the other side, who shall indeede be eternal king, might receiue the crown of glory at Gods own hand. Matth. 27.32. Luke 23.26.

3 The rage of the wicked hath no measure, but in the meane season, euen ỹ weakenesse of Christ, being in paine vnder the heauy burden of the crosse, doth manifestly shew that a Lamb is led to be sacrificed.

*Matth. 27.33. Iuke 23.33. Iohn 19.17.

4 Christ is led out of the walles of the earthly Ierusalem, into a foule place of dead mens carkases, as a man most vncleane, not touching himself, but touching our sins, which were laid vpon him, to the end ỹ we being made cleane by his blood, might be brought into the heauenly Sanctuary.

*Luke 23.34.

5 Christ hangeth naked vpon the crosse, and as the wickednesse of that euil was most vilely reuiled: that we being clothed with his righteousnesse, & blessed with his curse, sanctified by his onely oblation, may be taken vp into heauen.

*Esai. 53.12. *Iohn 2.19.

6 How angry God was against our sinnes, which he punished in our suretie his sonne, it appeareth by this horrible darkenesse.

c By this word land, he meaneth Palestina: for the the strangenesse of the wonder, is so much the more set foorth in that, that at the feast of the Passeouer, and in the full Moone, when the Sunne shined ouer all the rest of the world, and at midday, that corner of the world, wherein so wicked an act was committed, was ouercouered with most grosse darkenesse.

34 And at the [7] ninth houre Iesus cryed with a loud voyce, saying, * Eloi, Eloi, lamma-sabachthani? which is by interpretation; My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

35 And some of them that stood by, when they heard it, said, Beholde, he calleth Elias.

36 And one ranne, and filled a * spunge full of vineger, and put it on a reed, and gaue him to drinke, saying, Let him alone: let vs see if Elias will come, and take him downe.

37 And Iesus cried with a loud voyce, and gaue vp the Ghost.

38 And the vaile of the Temple was rent in twaine, from the top to the bottome.

39 Now when the Centurion, which stood ouer against him, sawe that hee thus crying gaue vp the Ghost, he saide, Truely this man was the Sonne of God.

40 [8] There were also women, which beheld a farre off, among whom was Marie Magdalene, and Marie (the mother of James the lesse, and of Joses) and Salome, 41 Which also when hee was in Galile, * followed him, and ministred vnto him, and many other women which came vp with him vnto Hierusalem.

42 * And now when the night was come (because it was the day of preparation that is before the Sabbath)

43 * Joseph of Arimathea, an [d] honorable counseller, which also looked for the Kingdom of God, came and went in [e] boldely vnto Pilate, and asked the body of Iesus.

44 And Pilate marueiled, if he were already dead, and called vnto him the Centurion, and asked of him whether he had bene any while dead.

45 And when hee knew the trueth of the Centurion, he gaue the body to Joseph:

46 Who bought a linnen cloth, and tooke him downe, & wrapped him in the linnen cloth, and layd him in a tombe that was hewen out of a rocke, and rolled a stone vnto the doore of the the sepulchre:

47 And Mary Magdalene, and Mary Joses mother, beheld where he should be layed.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of Christes resurrection. 9 Hee appeareth to Marie Magdalene and others. 15 Hee sendeth his Apostles to preach. 19 His ascension.

AND * when the Sabbath day was past, Marie Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, & Salome, bought sweet ointments, that they might come and anoint him.

2 Therefore early in the morning, the first day of the weeke, they came vnto the Sepulchre, when the Sunne was now risen.

3 And they sayde one to another, Who shall rolle vs away the Stone from the doore of the Sepulchre?

4 And when they [a] looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away (for it was a very great one)

5 * So they went into the [b] Sepulchre, and saw a yong Man sitting at the right side, clothed in a long white robe: and they were sore troubled.

6 But he said vnto them, Be not so troubled: ye seeke Iesus of Nazareth, which hath bene crucified: he is risen, he is not here: beholde the place where they put him.

7 But go your way, and tell his disciples, & Peter, that he will go before you into Galile: there shall ye see him, * as he said vnto you.

8 And they went out quickly, & fled from the Sepulchre: for they trembled, and were amased, neither saide they any thing to any man: for they were afraid.

9 [1] And when Iesus was risen again, early the first day of the weeke, hee appeared first to Marie Magdalene, * out of whom he had cast seuen deuils:

10 And shee went and tolde them that had bene with him, which mourned and wept.

11 And when they heard that he was aliue, and had appeared to her, they beleeued it not.

12 [*2] After that, he appeared vnto two of them in another forme, as they walked and went into the countrey.

13 And they went, and told it to the remnant, neither beleeued they them.

14 [*c] Finally he appeared vnto the eleuen as they sate together, & reproched them for their vnbeliefe and hardnesse of heart, because they beleeued not them which had seene him, being risen vp againe.

15 [3] And he sayd vnto them, * Goe ye into all the world, and preach the Gospel to [d] euery Creature.

16 He that shall beleeue and bee baptized, shall be saued: * but hee that will not beleeue, shall be damned.

17 And these tokens shal follow them that beleeue, * In my Name they shall cast out deuils, and * shall speake with [e] new tongues, 18 * And shall take away serpents, and if they shall drinke any deadly thing, it shall not hurt them: * they shall lay their hands on the sicke, and they shall recouer.

19 *[4] So after the Lord had spoken vnto them, he was receiued into heauen, and sate at the right hand of God.

20 And they went forth, and preached euery where. And the * Lord wrought with them, and confirmed [f] the worde with signes that followed. Amen.

7 Christ striuing mightily with Satan, with sin and with death, all three armed with the horrible curse of God, grieuously tormented in body hanging vpon the crosse, and in soule plunged in the depth of hell, pearst riuedly him selfe, crying with a mighty voyce: & notwithstanding the wound which he receiued of death, in that that he died, yet by smiting both things about, and things beneath, by rending of the vaile of the Temple, and by the testimonie wrung out of the which murdered him, he sheweth euidently vnto the rest of his enemies which are as yet obstinate, & mocke at him, that he shall be knowen out of hand to be conquerour & Lord of all.

¶ The holy Gospel of Iesus Christ, according to S. Luke.

CHAP. I.

1 Lukes preface. 5 Zacharias and Elizabet. 15 What an one Iohn should be. 20 Zacharias strooken dumbe, for his incredulitie. 26 The Angel saluteth Mary, & foretelleth Christs nativitie. 39 Marie visiteth Elisabet. 46 Maries song. 68 The song of Zacharias shewing that the promised Christ is come. 76 The office of Iohn.

FOrasmuch as [1] many haue [a] taken in hand to set forth the story of those things, whereof we are fully perswaded.

2 [b] As they haue deliuered them vnto vs, which from ỹ beginning saw thẽ their selues, & were ministers of the word.

3 It seemed good also to me ([c] most noble Theophilus) alsoone as I had searched out perfectly all things [d] from the beginning, to write vnto thee thereof from point to point.

4 That thou mightest [e] acknowledge the certainty of those things, wherein thou hast beene instructed.

5 IN [2] the [f] time of [g] Herod King of Iudea, there was a certaine Priest named Zacharias, of the [*h] course of Abia: and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elizabet.

6 Both were [i] iust before God, and [k] walked in all the [l] commandements and ordinances of the Lord, [m] without reproofe.

7 And they had no childe, because that Elizabet was barren: and both were well stricken in age.

8 And it came to passe, as he executed the Priests office before God, as his course came in order.

9 *According to the custome of the Priests office, his lot was to burne incense, when he went into the [n] Temple of the Lord.

10 And the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, * while the incense was burning.

11 Then appeared vnto him an Angel of the Lord standing at the right side of the altar of incense.

12 And when Zacharias saw him, he was troubled, and feare fell vpon him.

13 But the Angel sayd vnto him, Feare not, Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard, and thy wife Elizabet shal beare thee a sonne, and thou shalt call his name Iohn.

14 And thou shalt haue ioy and gladnesse, and many shall reioyce at his birth.

15 For he shall be great in the [o] sight of the Lord, & shall neither drinke wine, nor [p] strong drinke: and hee shall be filled with the holy Ghost, euen from his mothers wombe.

16 *And many of the children of Israel shall he [q] turne to the Lord their God.

17 *For hee shall goe [r] before him [s] in the spirite and power of Elias, to turne the [t] hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the [u] wisedome of the iust men, to make ready a people prepared for the Lord.

18 Then Zacharias sayd vnto the Angel, Whereby shall I knowe this? for I am an old man, and my wife is of a great age.

19 And the Angel answered, and sayd vnto him, I am Gabriel [x] that stande in the presence of God, and am sent to speake vnto thee, and to shew thee these good tidings.

20 And behold, thou shalt be dumme, and not bee able to speake, vntill the day that these things be done, because thou beleeuedst not my words, which shall be fulfilled in their season.

21 Now the people waited for Zacharias, and marueiled that hee tarried so long in the Temple.

22 And when hee came out, hee could not speake vnto them: then they perceiued that hee had seene a vision in the Temple: for he made signes vnto them, and remained dumme.

23 And it came to passe, when the daies of his office were fulfilled, that he departed to his owne house.

24 And after those dayes, his wife Elisabet conceiued, and hid her selfe fiue moneths, saying, 25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with mee, in the daies wherein hee looked on me, to take from me my rebuke among men.

26 ¶ [3] And in the sixt moneth, the Angel Gabriel was sent from God vnto a city of Galile, named Nazareth.

27 *To a virgin affianced to a man whose name was Ioseph, of the [y] house of Dauid, and [1] Luke commendeth the witnesses that saw this history.

[a] Many tooke it in hand, but did not performe it. Luke wrote his Gospel before Matthew and Marke.

[b] Luke was not an eie witnesse, and therefore it was not hee, to whom the Lord appeared when Cleopas saw him: & he was taught not only by Paul, but by others of the Apostles also.

[c] It is most mighty, & therefore Theophilus was a very honourable man, and in place of great dignitie.

[d] Luke beganne his Gospel a great deale farther off, then the other did.

[e] Haue fuller knowledge of those things, which before thou knewest but meanely.

[2] Iohn who was another Elias, and appointed to be herault of Christ, comming of the stocke of Aaron, and of two famous & blamelesse parents, hath shewed in his conception which was against the course of nature a double miracle, to the end that men should be more readily stirred vp to the hearing of his preaching, according to the forewarning of the Prophets.

[f] Word for word, in the daies: so speake the Hebrewes, giuing vs to vnderstand, how short and fraile a thing the power of princes is.

[g] Herod the great. *1. Chro 24. 1.

[h] For the posteritie of Aaron was diuided into courses.

[i] The true marke of righteousnesse is, to bee liked and allowed of in the iudgement of God.

[k] Liued, so speake the Hebrewes, for our life it as a way, wherin we must walke, vntill we come to the marke.

[l] In all the morall and ceremoniall law.

[m] Whom no man could iustly reproue: now so it is, that the fruits of iustification are set foorth here, & not the cause, which is faith onely, and nothing else, *Exod. 30. 7.

[n] The Temple was one, and the Court another, for Zacharias went out of the Court or outward roome, where all the people were, and therefore are said to be without, into the Temple. *Leuit. 16. 17.

[o] So speake the Hebrewes, when is signified a rare kind of excellencie: so it is said of Nemrod, Gene. 10. 9. He was a valiant hunter before God.

[p] Any drinke that may make drunken. *Malac. 4. 5.

[q] Shall be a meane to bring many to repentance, and turne themselues to the Lord, from whom they fell.

*Matth. 11. 14.

[r] As they vse to go before kings, and when you see them, you know the king is not farre off.

[s] This is spoken by the figure Metonymie, taking the spirit, for the gift of the spirit as you would say, the cause for that that commeth of the cause.

[t] By the figure Synecdoche, he sheweth that he shall take away all kinds of enmities, which vse to breed great troubles and turmoiles amongst men.

[u] Wisedome and goodnesse are two of the chiefest causes which make men to reuerence, and honour their fathers.

[x] That appeare, for so the Hebrewes vse this word (to stand) meaning that they are ready to doe his commandement.

[3] The Angel telling the Lord which should be borne, is sent to the virgine Mary, in whom the sonne of the most high promised to Dauid, is conceiued by the vertue of the holy Ghost.

*Mat. 1. 18.

[y] As much is to be said of Mary, otherwise Christ had not beene of the stock, nor the sonne of Dauid, and the virgins name was Mary.

28 And the Angel went in vnto her, and sayd, Haile thou that art [z] freely beloued: the Lord is with thee: [a] blessed art thou among women.

29 And when she saw him, she was [b] troubled at his saying, and thought what maner of salutation that should be.

30 Then the Angel said vnto her, Feare not, Marie: for thou hast [c] found fauour with God.

31 * For loe, thou shalt conceiue in thy wombe, and beare a sonne, * and shalt call his name Iesus.

32 Hee shall be great, and shall be [d] called the Sonne of the most High, and the Lorde God shall giue vnto him the throne of his father Dauid.

33 * And hee shall reigne ouer the House of Iacob for euer, and of his kingdome shall be none end.

34 Then saide Mary vnto the Angel, [e] How shal this be, seeing [f] I know not man?

35 And the Angel answered, and said vnto her, The holy Ghost [g] shall come vpon thee, and the power of the most High shall ouershadow thee: therfore also that [h] holy thing which shalbe borne of thee, shalbe [i] called the Sonne of God.

36 And behold, thy [k] cousin Elizabet, shee hath also conceiued a sonne in her olde age: and this is her [l] sixt moneth, which was called barren.

37 For with God shall nothing be vnpossible.

38 Then Mary said, Behold the seruant of the Lord: bee it vnto mee according to thy word. So the Angel departed from her.

39 ¶ [4] And Mary arose in those dayes, and went into the [m] hill countrey with haste to a [n] citie of Iuda.

40 And entred into the house of Zacharias, and saluted Elizabet.

41 And it came to passe, as Elizabet heard the salutation of Mary, the babe * sprang in her bellie, and Elizabet was filled with the holy Ghost.

42 And she cryed with a loud voice, & said, Blessed art thou among women, because [p] the fruit of thy wombe is blessed.

43 And whence commeth this to me, that the mother of my Lord should come to me?

44 For loe, assoone as the voice of thy salutation sounded in mine eares, the babe sprang in my belly for ioy.

45 And blessed is she that beleeued: for those things shall be performed, which were told her from the Lord.

46 [5] Then Mary saide, My soule magnifieth the Lord, 47 And my spirite reioyceth in God my Sauiour.

48 For he hath [q] looked on the [r] poore degree of his seruant: for behold, from henceforth shall all ages call me blessed.

49 Because hee that is mighty, hath done for me great things, and holy is his Name.

50 And his mercy is from generation to generation on them [s] that feare him.

51 * Hee hath shewed strength with his [t] arme: * he hath [u] scattered the proude in the [x] imagination of their hearts.

52 * Hee hath [y] put downe the mightie from their seates, and exalted them of [z] lowe degree.

53 * He hath filled the [a] hungry with good things, and sent away the rich empty.

54 [b] * He hath vpholden Israel his seruant to be mindfull of his mercie.

55 (* As hee hath [c] spoken to our fathers, to wit, to Abraham, and his seede) for euer.

56 ¶ And Marie abode with her about three moneths: after she returned to her owne house.

57 ¶ [6] Now Elisabets time was fulfilled, that she should be deliuered, and she brought foorth a sonne.

58 And her neighbours, and cousins heard tell how the Lord had shewed his great mercie vpon her, and they * reioyced with her.

59 And it was so that on the eight day they came to circumcise the babe, and called him Zacharias after the name of his father.

60 But his mother answered, and sayde, Not so, but he shall be called Iohn.

61 And they saide vnto her, There is none of thy kinred, that is named with this name.

62 Then they made signes to his father, how he would haue him called.

63 So hee asked for writing tables, and wrote, saying, His name is Iohn, and they marueiled all.

64 And his mouth was opened immediatly, and his tongue, || and he spake and praised God.

65 Then feare came on al them that dwelt neere vnto them, and all [d] these wordes were e The greatnesse of the matter causeth the virgine to aske this question, not that she distrusteth any whit at all, for she asketh only of the maner of the conceiuing, so that it is plain, she beleeued all the rest.

f So speake the Hebrewes, signifying by this modest kind of speach the company of man and wife together, and this is the meaning of it: how shal this be, for seeing I shall be Christ his mother, I am very sure, I shall not know any man: for the godly virgine had learned by the prophets, that the Messias should be borne of a virgine.

1 Augustus Cesar taxeth all the world. 7 Christ is born. 13 The Angels song. 21 Christ is circumcised. 22 Marie purified. 28 Simeon takth Christ in his armes. 29 His song. 36 Anna the Propheteesse. 40 The childe Christ. 46 Iesus d sputeth with the Doctours.

1 Christ ỹ sonne of God, taking vpon him ỹ forme of a seruant, and making himselfe of no reputation, is poorely borne in a stable: and by the meanes of Augustus the mightiest Prince in the world, (thinking nothing lesse) hath his cradle prepared in Bethlehem, as the Prophets foretolde.

AND [1] it came to passe in those dayes, that there came a decree from Augustus Cesar, that all the [a] world should be [b] taxed.

2 (This first taxing was made when Cyrenius was gouernour of Syria.)

3 Therefore went all to be taxed, euery man to his owne Citie.

4 And Ioseph also went vp from Galile out of a citie called Nazareth, into Judea, vnto the citie of * Dauid, which is called Bethlem (because hee was of the house and linage of Dauid,)

5 To be taxed with Marie that was giuen him to wife, which was with child.

6 ¶ And so it was, that while they were there, the dayes were accomplished that shee should be deliuered.

7 And she brought forth her first begotten sonne, and wrapped him in swadling clothes, and laid him in a cratch, because there was no roome for them in the Inne.

8 ¶ [2] And there were in the same countrie shepheards, [d] abiding in the field, and keeping watch by night ouer their flocke.

9 And loe, the Angel of the Lord * came vpon them, and the glorie of the Lord shone about them, and they were sore afraid.

10 Then the Angel said vnto them, Bee not afraid: for behold, I bring you glad tidings of great ioy, that shall be to all the people, 11 That is, that vnto you is borne this day in the citie of Dauid, a Sauiour, which is Christ the Lord.

12 And this shalbe a signe to you, Ye shall find the babe swadled, and laid in a cratch.

13 And straightway there was with the Angell [f] a multitude of heauenly souldiours, praysing God, and saying, 14 Glorie be to God in the high heauens, and peace in earth, and towards men [g] good will.

15 And it came to passe when the Angels were gone away from them into heauen, that the shepheards said one to another, Let vs goe then vnto Beth-leem, and see this thing that is come to passe which the Lord hath shewed vnto vs.

16 So they came with haste, and found both Mary and Ioseph, and the babe laid in the cratch.

17 And when they had seene it, they published abroad the thing, that was tolde them of that child.

18 And all that heard it, wondered at the things which were told them of ỹ shepheards.

19 But Marie kept all those sayings, and pondered them in her heart.

20 And the shepherds returned glorifying and praying God, for all that they had heard and seene as it was spoken vnto them.

child, his name was then called *Iesus, which was named of the Angel, before hee was conceiued in the wombe.

22 *4 And when the dayes of h her purification after the Lawe of Moses were accomplished they brought him to Hierusalem, to present him to the Lord,

23 (As it is written in the Lawe of the Lorde *Euery man childe that first openeth the wombe, shalbe called holy to the Lord)

24 And to giue an oblation, * as it is commanded in the Lawe of the Lorde, a paire of turtle doues, or two yong pigeons.

25 5 And beholde, there was a man in Hierusalem, whose name was Simeon: this man was iust, and feared God, and waited for the consolation of Israel, and the i holy Ghost was vpon him.

26 And it was declared to him from God by the holy Ghost, that he should not see death, before hee had seene that Anoynted of the Lord.

27 And he came by the motion of the spirit into the Temple, and when the k parents brought in the babe Iesus, to doe for him after the custome of the Lawe,

28 Then hee tooke him in his armes, and prayed God, and sayd, 29 Lord, now l lettest thou thy seruant depart in peace, according to thy m word.

30 For n mine eyes haue seene thy o saluation,

31 Which thou hast prepared p before the face of all people, 32 A light to bee reuelled to the Gentiles, and the glory of thy people Israel.

33 And Ioseph and his Mother marueiled at those things, which were spoken touching him.

34 And Simeon blessed them, and sayd vnto Mary his mother, Behold, this child is q appointed for the *r fall and rising againe of many in Israel, and for a s signe which shalbe spoken against, 35 (Yea and a sword shal t pearce through thy soule) that the thoughts of many hearts may be opened.

36 6 And there was a Prophetesse, one Anna the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Aser, which was of a great age, after shee had liued with an husband seuen yeeres from her virginitie:

37 And shee was widow about foure score and foure yeeres, & went not out of the Temple, but serued God with fastings and prayers night and day.

38 Shee then comming at the same instant vpon them, confessed likewise the Lord, and spake of him to all that looked for redemption in Hierusalem.

39 And when they had performed all things according to the Lawe of the Lorde, they returned into Galile to their owne citie Nazareth.

40 And the childe grew, and waxed strong in Spirit, u and was filled with wisedom, and the grace of God was with him.

41 ¶ 7 Now his parents went to Hierusalem euery yeere, * at the feast of the Passeouer.

42 And when hee was twelue yeere olde, and they were come vp to Hierusalem, after the custome of the feast, 43 And had finished the dayes thereof, as they returned, the childe Iesus remained in Hierusalem, and Ioseph knewe not, nor his Mother.

44 But they supposing, that he had bene in the companie, went a dayes iourney, and sought him among their kinsfolke, and acquaintance.

45 And when they found him not, they turned backe to Hierusalem, and sought him.

46 And it came to passe three dayes after, that they found him in the Temple, sitting in the middes of the doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions, 47 And all that heard him, were astonied at his vnderstanding and answeres.

48 8 So when they saw him, they were amased, and his Mother sayd vnto him, Sonne, why hast thou thus dealt with vs? behold, thy Father and I haue sought thee with very heauie hearts.

49 Then sayd he vnto them, How is it that ye sought me? knew yee not that I must goe about my Fathers busines?

50 But they vnderstood not the word that he spake to them.

51 9 Then he went downe with them, and came to Nazareth, and was subiect to them: and his Mother kept all these sayings in her heart.

52 And Iesus increased in wisedome, and stature, and in fauour with God and men.

AND [1] Iesus full of the holy Ghost returned from Iordan, and was led by that Spirit in the wildernesse,

2 * And was there fourtie dayes tempted of the deuill, and in those dayes he did eate nothing: but when they were ended, he afterward was hungrie.

3 [2] Then the deuill sayde vnto him, If thou bee the Sonne of God, commaund this stone that it be made bread.

4 But Iesus answered him, saying, It is written, * That man shall not liue by bread only, but by euery word of God.

5 Then the deuill tooke him vp into an high mountaine, and shewed him all the kingdomes of the world, in the twinkling of an eye.

6 And the deuill sayd vnto him, All this [a] power will I giue thee, and the glory of those kingdomes: for that is [b] deliuered to mee: and to whomsoeuer I will, I giue it.

7 If thou therefore wilt worship me, they shall be all [c] thine.

8 But Iesus answered him, and sayde, Hence from mee, Satan: for it is written, * Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him alone thou shalt serue.

9 Then he brought him to Hierusalem, and set him on a pinacle of the Temple, and sayd vnto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe from hence,

10 For it is written, * That he will giue his Angels charge ouer thee to keepe thee:

11 And with their handes they shall lift thee vp, least at any time thou shouldest dash thy foote against a stone.

12 And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto him, It is sayd, * Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

13 And when the deuill had ended all the tentation, hee departed from him for a little season.

17 And there was deliuered vnto him the booke of the Prophet Esaias: & when he had [d] opened the booke, he found the place, where it was written,

18 * The Spirit of the Lord is vpon me, because hee hath anointed mee, that I should preach the Gospel to the poore: he hath sent mee, that I should heale the broken hearted, that I should preach deliuerance to the captiues, and recouering of sight to the blinde, that I should set at libertie them that are bruised:

19 And that I should preach the acceptable peere of the Lord.

20 And he closed the booke, and gaue it againe to the minister, and sat downe: and the eies of all that were in the Synagogue were fastened on him.

21 Then he began to say vnto them, This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your eares.

22 [4] And all [e] bare him witnes, and [f] wondered at the [g] gracious words, which proceeded out of his mouth, and said, Is not this Iosephs sonne?

23 Then he said vnto them, Ye will surely say vnto mee this prouerbe, Physitian, heale thy selfe: whatsoeuer we haue heard done in Capernaum, doe it here likewise in thine own countrey.

24 And hee saide, Verily I say vnto you, * No prophet is accepted in his owne country.

THen [1] * it came to passe, as the people [a] preassed vpon him to heare the word of God, that hee stood by the lake of Gennesaret,

2 And saw two ships stand by the lakes side, but the fisher men were gone out of them, and were washing their nets.

3 And hee entred into one of the shippes, which was Simons, and required him that he would thrust off a little from the land: and he sate down, & taught the people out of the ship.

4 ¶ Now when hee had left speaking, hee sayd vnto Simon, Launch out into the deepe, and let downe your nets to make a draught.

5 Then Simon answered, and sayd vnto him, [b] Master, we haue trauailed soze al night, and haue taken nothing: neuertheless at thy word I will let downe the net.

6 And when they had so done, they enclosed a great multitude of fishes, so that their net brake.

7 And they beckened to their partners, which were in the other ship, that they should come and helpe them, who came then, and filled both the ships that they did sinke.

8 Now when Simon Peter saw it, he fell downe at Iesus knees, saying, Lord, go from me, for I am a sinfull man.

9 For he was vtterly astonied, and all that were with him, for the draught of fishes which they tooke.

10 And so was also Iames and John the sonnes of Zebedeus, which were companions with Simon. Then Iesus said vnto Simon, Feare not: from henceforth thou shalt catch men.

11 And when they had brought the ships to land, they forsooke all, and followed him.

12 ¶ *[2] Now it came to passe, as he was in a certaine city, behold, there was a man full of leprosie, and when he saw Iesus, he fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

13 So he stretched forth his hand, & touched him, saying, I will, be thou cleane. And immediatly the leprosie departed from him.

14 And he commanded him that he should tell it no man: but Goe, saith hee, and shew thy selfe to the Priest, and offer for thy cleansing, as * Moses hath commanded, for a witnesse vnto them.

15 [3] But so much more went there a fame abroad of him, and great multitudes came together to heare, & to be healed of him of their infirmities.

17 ¶ [4] And it came to passe on a certaine day, as hee was teaching, that the Pharises and doctours of the Law sate by, which were come out of euery town of Galile, and Iudea, and Hierusalem, and the power of the Lord [c] was in him to heale them.

18 * Then behold, men brought a man lying in a bedde, which was taken with a palsie, and they sought meanes to bring him in, and to lay him before him.

20 And when he ſaw their faith, hee ſayd vnto him, Man, thy ſinnes are forgiuen thee.

21 Then the Scribes and the Phariſes began to reaſon, ſaying, Who is this that ſpeaketh blaſphemies? who can forgiue ſins, but God onely?

22 But when Ieſus perceiued their reaſoning, he anſwered & ſayd vnto them, What reaſon ye in your hearts.

23 Whether is eaſier to ſay, Thy ſinnes are forgiuen thee, or to ſay, Riſe and walke?

24 But that ye may know that the Sonne of man hath authority to forgiue ſins in earth, (hee ſayd vnto the ſicke of the palſie) I ſay to thee, Ariſe: take vp thy bed and goe to thine houſe.

25 And immediatly hee roſe vp before them, and tooke vp his bed whereon hee lay, and departed to his own houſe, praiſing God.

29 Then Leui made him a great feaſt in his owne houſe, where there was a great company of Publicanes, and of other that ſate at table with them.

30 But they that were Scribes and Phariſes among them, murmured againſt his diſciples, ſaying, Why eate yee and drinke yee with Publicanes and ſinners?

33 ¶ *6 Then they ſayd vnto him, Why do the diſciples of John faſt often, and pray, and the diſciples of the Phariſes alſo, but thine eate and drinke?

1 The diſciples pull the eares of corne on the Sabbath. 6 Of him that had a withered hand. 13 The election of the Apoſtles. 20 The bleſſings and curſes. 27 We muſt loue our enemies. 46 With what fruit the word of God is to be heard.

AND *1 it came to paſſe on a ſecond ſolemne Sabbath, that he went thorow the corne fields, and his diſciples [a] plucked the eares of corne, and did eate and rubbe them in their hands.

2 Charitie is the rule of all ceremonies.

7 And the Scribes and Phariſes watched him, whether he would heale on the Sabbath day, that they might finde an accuſation againſt him.

8 But he knew their thoughts, and ſaid to the man which had the withered hand, Ariſe and ſtand vp in the mids. And hee aroſe, and ſtood vp.

9 Then ſaid Ieſus vnto them, I will aſke you a queſtion. Whether is it lawfull on the Sabbath dayes to doe good, or to do euill: to ſaue life, or to [b] deſtroy?

b Who ſo helpeth not his neighbour when he can, he killeth him.

10 And hee beheld them all in compaſſe, and ſayd vnto the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And he did ſo, and his hand was reſtored againe as whole as the other.

11 Then they were filled ful of madneſſe, and communed one with another, what they might doe to Ieſus.

12 ¶ 3 And it came to paſſe in thoſe dayes, that hee went into a mountaine to pray, and ſpent the night in prayer to God.

3 In that that Chriſt vſeth earneſt and long prayer, in chuſing twelue of his owne company, to the office of the Apoſtleſhip, he ſheweth how religiouſly we ought to behaue our ſelues in the choſe of eccleſiaſtall perſons.

13 And

13 And when it was day, *hee called his disciples, and of them hee chose twelue, which also he called Apostles.

14 (Simon whom hee named also Peter, and Andrew his brother, James and Iohn, Philip and Bartlemew:

15 Matthew and Thomas: Iames the sonne of Alpheus, and Simon called Zelous, 16 Iudas Iames brother, and Iudas Iscariot, which also was the traitour.)

17 Then hee came downe with them, and stood in a plaine place with the company of his disciples, and a great multitude of people out of all Iudea, and Hierusalem, and from the [c] sea coast of Tyrus and Sidon, which came to heare him, and to be healed of their diseases:

18 And they that were vexed with foule spirits, and they were healed.

19 And the whole multitude sought to touch him: for there went vertue out of him, and healed them all.

20 ¶ *[4] And hee lifted vp his eyes vpon his disciples, and sayd, Blessed be yee poore: for yours is the kingdome of God.

21 *Blessed are ye that hunger now: for ye shall be satisfied: *blessed are ye that weepe now for ye shall laugh.

22 *Blessed are yee when men hate you, and when they [d] separate you, and reuile you, and put out your name as euill, for the Sonne of mans sake.

23 Reioyce ye in that day, & [e] be glad: for behold, your reward is great in heauen: for after this maner their fathers did to ỹ Prophets 24 *But woe be to you that are rich: for ye haue [f] receiued your consolation.

25 Wo be to you that are full: for ye shall hunger. Wo be to you that now laugh: for ye shall waile and weepe.

26 Wo bee to you when all men speake well of you: for so did their fathers to the false prophets.

27 ¶ *[5] But I say vnto you which heare, Loue your enemies: doe well to them which hate you.

28 Blesse them that curse you, and pray for them which hurt you.

29 *And vnto him that smiteth thee on the one cheeke, offer also the other: * and him that taketh away thy cloke, forbid not to take thy coate also.

30 Giue to euery man that asketh of thee: and of him that taketh away the things that bee thine, aske them not againe.

31 *And as ye would that men should doe to you, so doe ye to them likewise.

32 *For if yee loue them which loue you, [g] what thanke shall yee haue: for euen the sinners loue those that loue them.

33 And if ye doe good for them which doe good for you, what thanke shall yee haue: for euen the sinners doe the same.

34 *And if ye lend to them of whom yee hope to receiue, what thanke shall ye haue: for euen the sinners lend to sinners, to receiue the like.

35 Wherefore loue ye your enemies, and do good, and lend, [h] looking for nothing again, and your reward shalbe great, and yee shalbe the children of *the most High: for he is kind vnto the vnkind, and to the euill.

36 Be yee therefore mercifull, as your Father also is mercifull.

37 ¶ *[6] Iudge not, & yee shall not be iudged: condemne not, and ye shal not be condemned: forgiue, and ye shalbe forgiuen.

38 Giue, and it shalbe giuen vnto you: * a good measure, [k] prested down, shaken together and running ouer shal men giue into your bosom: for with what measure ye mete, with the same shall men mete to you againe.

39 [7] And hee spake a parable vnto them, *Can the blind leade the blind: shall they not both fall into the ditch:

40 *The disciple is not aboue his master: but whosoeuer will be a perfect disciple, shall be as his master.

41 ¶ *[8] And why seest thou a mote in thy brothers eye, & considerest not the beam that is in thine owne eye:

42 Either how canst thou say to thy brother, Brother, let me pull out the mote that is in thine eye, when thou seest not the beame that is in thine owne eye: Hypocrite, cast out the beame out of thine owne eye first, and then shalt thou see perfectly to pul out the mote that is in thy brothers eye.

43 ¶ *[9] For it is not a good tree that bringeth forth euill fruit: neither an euill tree, that bringeth forth good fruit.

44 *For euerie tree is knowen by his own fruit: *for neither of thornes gather men figs, nor of bushes gather they grapes.

45 A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth good, and an euil man out of the euill treasure of his heart bringeth forth euill: for of the abundance of the heart his mouth speaketh.

46 ¶ *But why call yee me Lord, Lord, and doe not the things that I speake:

47 [10] Whosoeuer commeth to me, and heareth my Words, and doth the same, I will shew you to whom he is like:

48 He is like a man which built an house, and digged deepe, and laide the foundation on a rocke: and when the waters arose, the flood beate vpon the house, and could not shake it: for it was grounded vpon a rocke.

1 Of the Centurions seruant. 9 The Centurions faith. 11 The widowes sonne raised from death at Nain. 19 Iohn sendeth his disciples to Christ. 33 His peculiar kind of liuing. 37 The sinfull woman washeth Iesus feete.

*Matth.8.5. 1 Christ admonisheth the Iewes, by setting before them the example of the Centurion, that for their obstinacie and rebellion, he wil go to the Gentiles.

WHen *[1] hee had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, hee entred into Capernaum.

2 And a certain Centurions seruant was sicke and readie to die, which was deare vnto him.

3 And when hee heard of Iesus, hee sent vnto him the Elders of the Iewes, beseeching him that he would come and heale his seruant.

4 So they came to Iesus, and besought him instantly, saying that he was worthy that he should doe this for him:

5 For hee loueth, sayd they, our nation, and hee hath built vs a Synagogue.

6 Then Iesus went with them: but when he was now not far from the house, the Centurion sent friends to him, saying vnto him, Lord, trouble not thy selfe: for I am not worthy that thou shouldest enter vnder my roofe:

7 Wherefore I thought not my selfe worthy to come vnto thee: but say the word, and my seruant shalbe whole:

8 For I likewise am a man set vnder authoritie, and haue vnder mee souldiers, and I say vnto one, Goe, and hee goeth: and to another, Come, and he commeth: and to my seruant, Doe this, and he doeth it.

9 When Iesus heard these things, hee marueiled at him, and turned him, and sayd to the people that followed him, I say vnto you, I haue not found so great faith no not in Israel.

10 And when they that were sent, turned backe to the house, they found the seruant that was sicke, whole.

*1 Christ authoreth openly his power ouer death.

11 [2] And it came to passe the day after, that he went into a citie called [a] Nain, and many of his disciples went with him, and a great multitude.

a Nain is the name of a towne in Galile, which was situate on the other side of Kison, which falleth into the sea of Galile.

12 Now when he came neere to the gate of the citie, behold, there was a dead man caried out, who was the onely begotten sonne of his mother, which was a widow, and much people of the citie was with her.

13 And when the Lord saw her, he had compassion on her, and sayd vnto her, Weepe not.

14 And hee went and touched the coffin (and they that bare him, stood stil) and he said, Yong man, I say vnto thee, Arise.

15 And he that was dead, sate vp, and began to speake, and hee deliuered him to his mother.

16 Then there came a feare on them all, and they glorified God, saying, A great Prophet is risen among vs, and God hath visited his people.

17 And this rumour of him went forth throughout all Iudea, and throughout all the region round about.

18 [3] And the Disciples of Iohn shewed him of all these things.

3 Iohn sendeth from the prison his vnbeleeuing disciples, to Christ himselfe, to be confirmed.

19 So Iohn called vnto him two certaine men of his disciples, and sent them to Iesus, saying, Art thou he that should come, or shall we wait for another?

20 And when the men were come vnto him, they sayd, Iohn Baptist hath sent vs vnto thee, saying, Art thou hee that should come, or shall we waite for another?

21 And [b] at that time hee cured many of their sicknesses, and plagues, and of euill spirits, & vnto many blind men he gaue sight freely.

b When Iohns disciples came to Christ

22 And Iesus answered, and sayde vnto them, Go your wayes, and shew Iohn what things ye haue seene and heard: that the blind see, the halt goe, the leapers are cleansed, the deafe heare, the dead are raised, and the poore receiue the Gospel.

23 And blessed is he, that shal not be offended in me.

24 [4] And when the messengers of Iohn were departed, he beganne to speake vnto the people of Iohn, What went yee out into the wildernesse to see? A reede shaken with the winde?

4 That which the Prophets shewed long before, Iohn sheweth at hand: and Christ himselfe doeth present it dayly vnto vs, in the Gospel, but for the most part in vaine, for that many seeke nothing els, but foolish toyes and vaine glory.

25 But what went ye out to see? A man clothed in soft rayment? behold, they which are gorgeously apparelled, and liue delicatly, are in Kings courts.

26 But what went ye forth to see? A Prophet? yea, I say to you, and greater then a Prophet.

27 This is he of whom it is written, *Behold, I sende my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

28 For I say vnto you, there is no greater Prophet then Iohn, among them that are begotten of women: neuertheless, he that is the least in the kingdome of God, is greater then he.

29 Then all the people that heard, and the Publicanes [c] iustified God, being baptized with the baptisme of Iohn.

32 They are like vnto little children ſitting in the market place, and crying one to another, and ſaying, We haue piped vnto you, and yee haue not daunced: wee haue mourned to you, and ye haue not wept.

33 For Iohn Baptiſt came, neither eating bread, nor drinking wine: and ye ſay, Hee hath the deuill.

34 The Sonne of man is come, and eateth and drinketh: and yee ſay, Behold a man which is a glutton, and a drinker of wine, a friend of Publicanes and ſinners:

36 ¶ [6] And one of the Phariſes deſired him that he would eate with him: and he went into the Phariſes houſe, and ſate downe at table.

37 And behold, a woman in the citie, which was a ſinner, when ſhee knew that Ieſus ſate at table in the Phariſes houſe, ſhee brought a boxe of ointment.

38 * And ſhee ſtood at his feete behind him weeping, and began to waſh his feet with teares, and did wipe them with the haires of her head, and kiſſed his feet, and anointed them with the ointment.

39 [7] Now when the Phariſe which bade him, ſaw it, he ſpake within himſelfe, ſaying, If this man were a Prophet, he would ſurely haue knowen who, and what maner of woman this is which toucheth him: [e] for ſhe is a ſinner.

40 [8] And Ieſus anſwered, and ſayd vnto him, Simon, I haue ſomewhat to ſay vnto thee. And he ſaid, Maiſter, ſay on.

41 There was a certaine lender which had two debters: the one ought fiue hundreth pence, and the other fiftie:

42 When they had nothing to pay, he forgaue them both: Which of them therefore, tell me, will loue him moſt?

43 Simon anſwered, and ſaid, I ſuppoſe that he, to whom he forgaue moſt. And he ſaid vnto him, Thou haſt truely iudged.

44 Then he turned to the woman, and ſaid vnto Simon, Seeſt thou this woman? I entred into thine houſe, and thou gaueſt mee no water to my feete: but ſhee hath waſhed my feete with teares, and wiped them with the haires of her head.

45 Thou gaueſt me no kiſſe: but ſhe, ſince the time I came in, hath not ceaſed to kiſſe my feete.

46 Mine head with oyle thou diddeſt not anoynt: but ſhee hath anoynted my feete with ointment.

47 Wherefore I ſay vnto thee, Many ſinnes are forgiuen her: [f] for ſhee loued much. To whom a litle is forgiuen, he doth loue a litle.

48 And hee ſayd vnto her, Thy ſinnes are forgiuen thee.

49 And they that ſate at table with him, began to ſay within themſelues, Who is this that euen forgiueth ſinnes?

50 And hee ſayd to the woman, Thy faith hath ſaued thee: [g] goe in peace.

f That is, ſaith Theophylact, ſhe hath ſhewed her faith abundantly: and Baſil in his ſermon of Baptiſme ſaith, He that oweth much, hath much forgiuen him, that he may loue much more: And therefore Chriſts ſaying is ſo plain by the ſimilitude, that it is a wonder to ſee the enemies of the truth, draw and racke this place ſo fondly, to eſtabliſh their meritorious workes: for the greater ſumme a man hath forgiuen him, the more he loueth him that hath bene ſo gratious to him: And this woman ſheweth by duties of loue, how great the benefite was ſhe had receiued: and therefore the charitie that is here ſpoken of, is not to be taken for the cauſe, but as a ſigne: for Chriſt ſaith not as the Phariſes did, that ſhe was a ſinner, but beareth her witneſſe that the ſinnes of her life paſt are forgiuen her.

20 And it was told him by certaine which said, Thy mother and thy brethren stand without, and would see thee.

21 But he answered, and said vnto them, My mother and my brethren are these which heare the word of God, and doe it.

22 ¶ *[5] And it came to passe on a certaine day, that he went into a ship with his disciples, and he saide vnto them, Let vs goe ouer vnto the other side of the lake. And they launched forth.

23 And as they sailed, hee fell [h] asleepe, and there came downe a storme of winde on the lake, and [i] they were filled with water, and were in ieopardie.

24 Then they went to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, Master, we perish. And he arose, and rebuked the wind, and the waues of water: and they ceased, and it was calme.

25 Then he saide vnto them, Where is your faith? and they feared, and wondred among themselues, saying, Who is this that commandeth both the windes and water, and they obey him?

26 ¶ *So they sailed vnto the region of the Gadarenes, which is ouer against Galile.

27 [6] And as he went out to land, there met him a certaine man out of the citie, which had deuils long time, and hee ware no garment, neither abode in house, but in the graues.

28 And when he saw Jesus, he cryed out, and fell downe before him, and with a loude voyce said, What haue I to doe with thee, Jesus the Sonne of God the most high? I beseech thee torment me not.

29 For hee commaunded the foule spirit to come out of the man: (for oft times he had caught him: therefore hee was bound with chaines, and kept in fetters: but he brake the bands, [k] and was caried of the deuill into wildernesses.)

30 Then Jesus asked him, saying, What is thy name? and he said, Legion, because many deuils were entred into him.

31 And they besought him, that he would not commaund them to goe out into the deep.

32 And there was there by, an heard of many swine, feeding on an hill: and the deuils besought him, that he would suffer them to enter into them. So he suffered them.

33 Then went the deuils out of the man, and entred into the swine: and the heard was caried with violence from a steepe down place into the lake, and was choked.

34 When the heardmen saw what was done, they fled: and when they were departed, they told it in the citie and in the countrey.

35 Then they came out to see what was done, and came to Jesus, and found the man out of whom the deuils were departed, sitting at the feete of Jesus, clothed, and in his right minde: and they were afraid.

36 They also which saw it, told them by what meanes hee that was possessed with the deuill, was healed.

37 Then the whole multitude of the countrey about the Gadarenes, besought him that he would depart from them: for they were taken with a great feare, and hee went into the ship, and returned.

38 Then the man, out of whom the deuils were departed, besought him that hee might be with him: but Jesus sent him away, saying, 39 Returne into thine owne house, and shewe what great things God hath done to thee. So hee went his way, and preached [l] throughout all the citie, what great things Jesus had done vnto him.

40 ¶ And it came to passe, when Jesus was come againe, that the people [m] receiued him: for they all waited for him.

41 ¶ *[7] And beholde, there came a man named Jairus, and hee was the ruler of the Synagogue, who fell downe at Jesus feete, and besought him that he would come into his house.

42 For he had but a daughter onely, about twelue yeeres of age, and she lay a dying (and as he went, the people thronged him.

and he asked them, saying, Whom say the people that I am?

19 They answered, and sayd, John Baptist: and others say, Elias: and some say, that one of the old Prophets is risen againe.

20 And hee sayd vnto them, But whom say ye that I am? Peter answered, and sayd, That Christ of God.

21 And he warned and commanded them, that they should tell that to no man, 22 [5] Saying, * The sonne of man must suffer many things, and be reproued of the Elders, and of the hie Priests and Scribes, and be slaine, and the third day rise againe.

23 ¶ * And hee said to them all, If any man will come after me, let him deny himselfe, and take vp his crosse [g] daily, and follow me.

24 * For whosoeuer will saue his life, shal lose it: and whosoeuer shall lose his life for my sake, the same shall saue it.

25 * For what auantageth it a man, if he winne the whole world, and destroy himselfe, or lose himselfe?

26 * For whosoeuer shall be ashamed of me, and of my words, of him shall the Sonne of man be ashamed, when he shall come in his glory, and in the glory of the Father, and of the holy Angels.

27 * And I tell you of a suretie, there bee some standing here, which shal not taste of death till they haue seene the kingdome of God.

28 *[6] And it came to passe about an eight daies after those words, that he tooke Peter and John, and James, and went vp into a mountaine to pray.

29 And as hee prayed, the fashion of his countenance was changed, and his garment was white and glistered.

30 And behold, two men talked with him, which were Moses and Elias:

31 Which appeared in glory, and tolde of his [h] departing, which he should accomplish at Hierusalem.

32 But Peter and they that were with him, were heauie with sleepe, and when they awoke, they saw his glory, and the two men standing with him.

33 And it came to passe, as they departed from him, Peter said vnto Jesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: let vs therefore make three tabernacles, one for thee, & one for Moses, and one for Elias, & wist not what he said.

34 Whiles hee thus spake, there came a cloud and ouershadowed them, and they feared when they were entring into the cloud.

35 * And there came a voyce out of the cloud, saying, This is that my beloued Sonne, heare him.

36 And when the voyce was past, Jesus was found alone: and they kept it close, and told no man in [i] those daies any of those things which they had seene.

37 ¶ [7] And it came to passe on the next day, as they came down from the mountaine, much people met him.

38 * And behold, a man of the company cryed out, saying, Master, I beseech thee, behold my sonne: for he is all that I haue.

39 And loe, a spirit taketh him, and suddenly he crieth, & he teareth him, that hee foameth, and hardly departeth from him, when he hath [k] bruised him.

40 Now I haue besought thy disciples to cast him out, but they could not.

41 Then Jesus answered, and said, O generation faithlesse, and crooked, how long now shall I be with you, and suffer you? bring thy sonne hither.

42 And whiles hee was yet comming, the deuill rent him, & tare him: and Jesus rebuked the vncleane spirit, and healed the childe, and deliuered him to his father.

43 ¶ [8] And they were all amased at the mighty power of God: and while they all wondred at al things, which Jesus did, he said vnto his disciples, 44 [l] Marke these words diligently: * for it shall come to passe, that the Sonne of man shalbe deliuered into the hands of men.

45 But they vnderstood not that word: for it was hid from them, so that they could not perceiue it: and they feared to aske him of that word.

46 ¶ *[9] Then there arose a disputation among them, which of them should bee the greatest.

47 When Jesus saw the thoughts of their hearts, hee tooke a little child, and set by him, 48 And sayd vnto them, Whosoeuer receiueth this little child in my Name, receiueth me: and whosoeuer shall receiue me, receiueth him that sent mee: for hee that is least among you all, he shall be great.

49 ¶ *[10] And John answered and sayd, Master, we saw one casting out deuils in thy Name, & we forbade him, because he followeth thee not with vs.

50 Then Jesus sayd vnto him, Forbid yee him not: for hee that is not against vs, is with vs.

51 ¶ [11] And it came to passe, when the daies were accomplished, that he should be receiued vp, hee [m] setled himselfe fully to goe to Hierusalem, said secretly, * Blessed are the eyes, which see that ye see.

24 For I tell you that many Prophets and Kings haue desired to see those things, which ye see, and haue not seene them: and to heare those things which yee heare, and haue not heard them.

25 ¶ *[8] Then beholde, [i] a certaine Lawyer stoode vp, and tempted him, saying, Master, What shall I doe to inherite eternall life?

26 And he said vnto him, What is written in the Law? how readest thou?

27 And hee answered, and said, * Thou shalt loue thy Lorde God with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, & with all thy strength, and with all thy thought, * and thy neighbour as thy selfe.

28 Then he said vnto him, Thou hast answered right: this doe, and thou shalt liue.

29 [9] But hee willing [k] to iustifie himselfe, said vnto Iesus, Who is then my neighbour?

30 And Iesus answered, and said, A certaine man went downe from Hierusalem to Iericho, and fell among theeues, and they robbed him of his raiment, and wounded him, and departed, leauing him halfe dead.

31 Now so it fel out, that there came down a certaine Priest that same way, and when hee sawe him, he passed by on the other side.

32 And likewise also a Leuite, when hee was come neere to the place, went and looked on him, and passed by on the other side.

33 Then a certaine Samaritane, as hee iourneyed, came neere vnto him, and when hee saw him, he had compassion on him.

34 And went to him, and bound vp his wounds, and powred in oyle and wine, & put him on his owne beast, and brought him to an Inne, and made prouision for him.

35 And on the morow when hee departed, he tooke out two pence, and gaue them to the hoste, and said vnto him, Take care of him, and whatsoeuer thou spendest more, when I come againe, I will recompense thee.

36 Which nowe of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour vnto him that fell among the theeues?

37 And he said, He that shewed mercie on him. Then said Iesus vnto him, Goe, and doe thou likewise.

38 ¶ [10] Nowe it came to passe, as they went, that he entred into a certaine towne, and a certaine woman named Martha, receiued him into her house.

39 And she had a sister called Marie, which also sate at Iesus feete, and heard his preaching.

40 But Martha was combred about much seruing, and came to him, and said, Master, doest thou not care that my sister hath left me to serue alone? bid her therefore that shee helpe me.

41 And Iesus answered, and said vnto her, Martha, Martha, thou carest, and art troubled about many things:

42 But one thing is needefull, Marie hath chosen the good part, which shall not be taken away from her.

CHAP. XI.

1 He teacheth his Apostles to pray. 14 The dumme deuill driuen out. 27 A woman of the company lifteth vp her voyce. 29 The Iewes require signes. 37 Hee being feasted of the Pharise, reproueth the outward shew of holinesse.

AND so it was, that as he was praying in a certaine place, when hee ceased, one of his Disciples said vnto him, Lord, teach vs to pray, as Iohn also taught his disciples.

2 * And he said vnto them, When ye pray, say, [1] Our Father which art in heauen, halowed be thy Name: Thy kingdome come: Let thy will be done, euen in earth, as it is in heauē:

3 Our daily bread giue vs [a] for the day:

4 And forgiue vs our sinnes: for euen we forgiue euery man that is indetted to vs: And leade vs not into temptation: but deliuer vs from euill.

5 ¶ Moreouer he said vnto them, Which of you shal haue a friend, and shall go to him at midnight, and say vnto him, Friend, lend me three loaues?

6 For a friend of mine is come out of the way to mee, and I haue nothing to set before him:

7 And he within should answere, and say Trouble me not: the doore is now shut, and my children are with me in bed: I cannot rise and giue them to thee.

8 I say vnto you, Though he would not rise and giue him, because he is his friend, yet doubtlesse because of his [b] importunitie, hee would rise & giue him as many as he needed.

9 * And I say vnto you, Aske, and it shall be giuen you: seeke, and ye shal finde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you.

10 * For euery one that asketh, receiueth: and he that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.

11 * If a sonne shall aske bread of any of you that is a Father, will hee giue him a stone? or if he aske a fish, will hee for a fish giue him a serpent.

12 Or if he aske an egge, will he giue him a scorpion?

13 If yee then which are euill, can giue good gifts vnto your children, how much more shal your heauenly Father giue the holy Ghost to them, that desire him?

14 ¶ * Then he cast out a deuil which was dumme: and when the deuil was gone out, the dumme spake, and the people wondered.

22 But when a ſtronger then he, commeth vpon him, and ouercommeth him: hee taketh from him all his armour wherein hee truſted, and diuideth his ſpoyles.

23 [5] He that is not with me, is againſt me: and he that gathereth not with me, ſcattereth.

24 * [6] When the vncleane ſpirit is gone out of a man, he walketh through drie places, ſeeking reſt: and when hee findeth none, hee ſaith, I will returne vnto mine houſe whence I came out.

25 And when hee commeth, hee findeth it ſwept and garniſhed.

26 Then goeth hee, and taketh to him ſeuen other ſpirits wooꝛſe then himſelfe: and they enter in, and dwell there: * ſo the laſt ſtate of that man is wooꝛſe then the firſt.

27 [7] And it came to paſſe as he ſaid theſe things, a certaine woman of the company lifted vp her voice, and ſaid vnto him, Bleſſed is the wombe that bare thee, and the paps which thou haſt ſucked.

28 But he ſaid, Yea, rather bleſſed are they that heare the woꝛd of God, and keepe it.

29 [8] And when the people were gathered thicke together, hee began to ſay, This is a wicked generation: They ſeeke a ſigne, and there ſhall no ſigne be giuen them, but the ſigne of * Ionas the Prophet.

30 For as Ionas was a ſigne to the Niniuites: ſo ſhall alſo the Sonne of man bee to this generation.

31 * The Queene of the South ſhall riſe in iudgement, with the men of this generation, and ſhall condemne them: for ſhee came from the vtmoſt parts of the earth to heare the wiſedome of Solomon, and behold, a greater then Solomon is here.

32 The men of Niniue ſhall riſe in iudgement with this generation, & ſhall condemne it: for they * repented at the preaching of Ionas: and behold, a greater then Ionas is here.

33 [9] * No man when he hath lighted a candle, putteth it in a priuie place, neither vnder a buſhell: but on a candleſticke, that they which come in, may ſee the light.

34 * The light of the bodie is the eye: therefore when thine eye is ſingle, then is thy whole body light: but if thine eye be euil, then thy body is darke.

35 Take heede therefore, that the light which is in thee, be not darkeneſſe.

36 If therefore thy whole body ſhall bee light, hauing no part darke, then ſhall all be light, euen as when a candle doeth light thee with the brightneſſe.

37 [10] And as hee ſpake, a certaine Phariſe beſought him to dine with him: and hee went in, and ſate downe at table.

38 And when the Phariſe ſawe it, he marueiled that hee had not firſt waſhed before dinner.

39 * And the Lord ſaid to him, Now doe ye Phariſes make cleane the outſide of the cup, and of the platter: but the inward part is full of rauening and wickedneſſe.

40 Yee fooles, did not hee that made that which is without, make that which is within alſo?

41 Therefore, giue almes [f] of thoſe things which you haue, and behold, all things ſhall be cleane to you.

42 [11] But woe be to you, Phariſes: for yee [g] tithe the mint and the rewe, and [h] all maner herbes, and paſſe ouer [i] iudgement, & the loue of God: theſe ought ye to haue done, and not to haue left the other vndone.

43 * [12] Woe be to you, Phariſes: for yee loue the vppermoſt ſeats in the Synagogues, and greetings in the markets.

44 [13] Woe be to you, Scribes and Phariſes hypocrites: for yee are as graues which appeare not, & the men that walke ouer them, perceiue not.

45 [14] Then anſwered one of the Lawyers, and ſaide vnto him, Maiſter, thus ſaying thou puttеſt vs to rebuke alſo.

46 And hee ſayde, Woe be to you alſo, yee Lawyers: * for ye lade men with burdens grieuous to be borne, and ye your ſelues touch not the burdens with one of your fingers.

11 *[4] And when they ſhal bring you vnto the Synagogues: and vnto the rulers and Princes, take no thought how, or what thing ye ſhall anſwere, or what ye ſhall ſpeake.

4 It is a great and hard conflict to confeſſe the trueth, yet he that can doe all things, and is almighty, will not be wanting to the weakeſt which ſtriue and contend in his appointed time.

12 For the holy Ghoſt ſhall teach you in the ſame houre, what ye ought to ſay.

13 [5] And one of the company ſayde vnto him, Maiſter, bid my brother diuide the inheritance with me.

5 Chriſt would not for three cauſes be a iudge to diuide an inheritance. Firſt, for that he would not foſter vp and cherish the fleſhly opinion that the Iewes had of Meſſias: Secondly, for that he would diſtinguiſh the ciuill gouernance, from the Eccleſiaſticall: Thirdly, to teach vs to beware of them which abuſe the ſhew of the Goſpel and alſo the name of miniſters, to their owne priuate commodities.

14 And he ſaid vnto him, Man, who made me a iudge, or a diuider ouer you?

15 Wherefore hee ſaid vnto them, Take heed, and beware of [c] couetouſnes: for though a man haue abundance, yet his life [d] ſtandeth not in his riches.

c By couetouſneſſe is meant, that greedie deſire to get, commonly with other mens hurt.
d God is the author and preſeruer of mans life, goods are not.

16 [6] And he put forth a parable vnto them, ſaying, The [e] ground of a certaine rich man brought forth fruits plenteouſly.

6 There are none more mad, then rich men which hang vpon their riches.

17 Therefore hee [f] thought with himſelfe, ſaying, What ſhall I doe, becauſe I haue no roome, where I may lay vp my fruits?

18 And he ſaid, This will I do, I wil pull downe my barnes, & build greater, and therin will I gather all my fruits, and my goods.

19 And I will ſay to my ſoule, Soule, thou haſt much goods laid vp for many yeres: liue at eaſe, eate, drinke & [g] take thy paſtime.

20 But God ſaid vnto him, O foole, this night will they fetch away thy ſoule from thee: then whoſe ſhall thoſe things bee which thou haſt prouided?

21 So is he that gathereth riches [h] to himſelfe, and is not rich in God.

22 [7] And hee ſpake vnto his Diſciples, Therefore I ſay vnto you, *Take no thought for your life, what yee ſhall eate: neither for your body, what ye ſhall put on.

23 The life is more then meate: and the body more then raiment.

more are yee better then foules?

25 And which of you with taking thought can adde to his stature one cubite?

26 If ye then bee not able to doe the least thing, why take ye thought for the remnant?

27 Consider the lilies how they grow: they labour not, neither spin they: yet I say vnto you, that Salomon himselfe in all his royalty was not clothed like one of these.

28 If then God so clothe the grasse which is to day in the field, and to morow is cast into the ouen, how much more will he clothe you, O ye of little faith?

29 Therefore aske not what ye shall eate, or what ye shall drinke, neither [i] hang you in suspense.

30 For all such things the people of the world seeke for: and your father knoweth that ye haue need of these things.

31 [g] But rather seeke yee after the kingdome of God, and all these things shall bee cast vpon you.

32 [h] Feare not, little flocke: for it is your Fathers pleasure, to giue you the kingdome.

33 ¶ [*10] Sell that yee haue, and giue [k] almes: make you bagges, which waxe not olde, a treasure that can neuer faile in heauen, where no thiefe commeth, neither moth corrupteth.

34 For where your treasure is: there will your hearts be also.

35 ¶ [*11] Let your loynes bee girt about and your lights burning,

36 And ye your selues like vnto men that waite for their master, when hee will returne from the wedding, that when hee commeth and knocketh, they may open vnto him immediately.

37 Blessed are those seruants, whom the Lord when hee commeth shall finde waking: verily I say vnto you, he will gird himselfe about, and make them to sit downe at table, and will come foorth and serue them.

38 And if he come in the second watch, or come in the third watch, and shall find them so, blessed are those seruaunts.

39 [*] Now vnderstand this, that if the good man of the house had knowen at what houre the theefe would haue come, hee would haue watched, and would not haue suffred his house to be digged through.

40 [12] Be yee also prepared therefore: for the Sonne of man will come at an houre when yee thinke not.

41 Then Peter said vnto him, Master, tellest thou this parable vnto vs, or euen to all?

42 And the Lord said, Who is a faithfull steward and wise, whom the master shall make ruler ouer his household, to giue them their [l] portion of meate in season?

43 Blessed is that seruant, whom his master when he commeth, shall finde so doing.

44 Of a trueth I say vnto you, that he will make him ruler ouer that he hath.

45 But if that seruant say in his heart, My master doth deferre his comming, and shall begin to smite the seruants, and maidens, and to eate, and drinke, and to be drunken, 46 The master of that seruaunt will come in a day when he thinketh not, and at an houre when hee is not ware of, and will cut him off, and giue him his portion with the vnbeleeuers.

47 ¶ And that seruant that knew his masters will, and prepared not himselfe, neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes.

48 But hee that knew it not, and yet did commit things worthy of stripes, shall be beaten with fewe stripes: for vnto whomsoeuer much is giuen, of him shalbe much required, and to whom men much commit, [m] the more of him will they aske.

49 ¶ [13] I am come to put fire on the earth, and what is my desire, if it bee already kindled?

50 Notwithstanding I must bee baptized with a baptisme, and how am I grieued, till it be ended?

51 [*] Thinke yee that I am come to giue peace on earth? I tell you, nay, but rather debate.

52 For from henceforth there shall be fiue in one house diuided, three against two, & two against three.

53 The father shall be diuided against the sonne, and the sonne against the father: the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother: the mother in law against her daughter in law, and the daughter in law against her mother in law.

54 ¶ [*14] Then said hee to the people, When yee see a cloud [n] rise out of the West, straight way yee say, a shower commeth: and so it is.

55 And when yee see the South winde blow, yee say, that it will be hoat: and it commeth to passe.

56 Hypocrits, yee can discerne the face of the earth, and of the skie: but why discerne yee not this time?

57 [15] Yea, and why iudge yee not of your selues what is right?

58 ¶ [*] While thou goest with thine aduersarie to the ruler, as thou art in the way, giue diligence in the way, that thou mayest bee deliuered from him, least hee draw thee to the iudge, and the iudge deliuer thee to the [o] iayler, and the iayler cast thee into prison.

i A Metaphore taken of things that hang in the aire, for they that are carefull for this worldly life, and hang vpon the arme of man, haue alwaies wauering & doubtfull minds, swaying sometimes this way, and sometimes that way.

g They shall lacke nothing, which are carefull for the kingdome of heauen.

h It is a foolish thing, not to looke for small things, at his hands, which giueth vs freely the greatest things.

* Matth. 6. 20.

10 A godly bountifulnes is a ready way to get true riches.

k This is the figure Metonymie, for by this word, Almes, is meant that compassion, & friendlines of an heart, that tendreth the miserie and poore estate of a man, and sheweth forth it selfe by some gift, & hath the name giuen it in the Greeke tongue, of mercy and compassion: and therefore he is sayde to giue almes, who parteth with some thing to another & giueth to the poore, shewing thereby, that hee pitieth their poore estate.

CHAP. XIII.

2 Of the Galileans, 4 and those that were slaine vnder Siloham. 6 The fig tree that bare no fruit. 11 The woman vexed with the spirit of infirmity, that is, with a disease brought on her by Satan, is healed. 19 The parable of the graine of mustard seed. 21 Of leauen. 23 How few shall be saued. 32 Herod that foxe.

THere [1] were certaine men present at the same season, that shewed him of the Galileans, whose blood [a] Pilate had mingled with their sacrifices.

2 And Iesus answered, & said vnto them, Suppose yee, that these Galileans were greater sinners then all the other Galileans, because they haue suffered such things?

3 I tell you, nay: but except yee amend your liues, ye shall all likewise perish.

4 Or thinke thou that those eighteene, vpon whom the tower of [b] Siloam fell, and slue them, were sinners aboue all men that dwell in Ierusalem?

5 I tell you, nay: but except yee amend your liues, yee shall all likewise perish.

6 ¶ [2] Hee spake also this parable, A certaine man had a figge tree planted in his vineyard: and he came and sought fruite thereon, and found none.

7 Then said he to the dresser of his vineyard, Behold, this three yeres haue I come and sought fruit of this fig tree, and find none, cut it downe: why keepeth it also the ground [c] barren?

8 And he answered, and sayd vnto him, Lord, let it alone this yeere also, till I digge round about it, and dung it, 9 And if it beare fruit, well: if not, then after thou shalt cut it downe.

10 ¶ [3] And he taught in one of the Synagogues on the Sabbath day.

11 And behold, there was a woman which had a [d] spirit of infirmitie eighteene yeres, and was bowed together, and could not lift vp her selfe in any wise.

12 When Iesus saw her, hee called her to him, and said to her, Woman, thou art [e] loosed from thy disease.

13 And he layed his hands on her, and immediatly shee was made straight againe, and glorified God.

14 [4] And the [f] ruler of the Synagogue answered with indignation, because that Iesus healed on the Sabbath day, and said vnto the people, There are sixe dayes in which men ought to worke: in them therefore come and be healed, and not on the Sabbath day.

15 Then answered him the Lord, and said, Hypocritie, doeth not each one of you on the Sabbath day loose his ore or his asse from the stall, and leade him away to the water?

16 And ought not this daughter of Abraham, whom Satan had bound, loe, eighteene yeeres, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?

17 And when he said these things, all his aduersaries were ashamed: but all the people reioyced at all the excellent things, that were done by him.

18 ¶ * Then sayd hee, What is the kingdome of God like? or whereto shall I compare it?

19 [5] It is like a graine of mustard seed, which a man tooke and sowed in his garden, and it grew, and waxed a great tree, and the foules of the heauen made nestes in the branches thereof.

20 ¶ * And againe he sayd, Whereunto shall I liken the kingdome of God?

21 It is like leauen, which a woman tooke, and hid in three peckes of floure, till all was leauened.

22 ¶ * [6] And hee went through all cities and townes, teaching, & iourneying towards Ierusalem.

23 Then said one vnto him, Lord, are there fewe that shall bee saued? And hee said vnto them, 24 * Striue to enter in at the straite gate: for many, I say vnto you, will seeke to enter in, and shall not be able.

25 When the good man of the house is risen vp, and hath shut to the doore, and ye begin to stand without, and to knocke at the doore saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs, and he shall answere & say vnto you, I know you not whence ye are,

26 [7] Then shall ye begin to say, We haue eaten and dronke in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streets.

27 * But hee shall say, I tell you, I know you not whence ye are: depart from me, all ye workers of iniquitie.

28 [8] There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when ye shall see Abraham and Isaac, and Iacob, & all the Prophets in the kingdome of God, and your selues thrust out at doores.

29 Then shall come many from the [g] East and from the West, and from the North, and from the South, and shall sit at Table in the kingdome of God.

30 * And behold, there are last, which shall be first, and there are first, which shall be last.

31 [9] The same day there came certaine Pharises, and said vnto him, Depart, and goe hence: for Herod will kill thee.

32 Then sayd hee vnto them, Goe yee and tell that [h] Fox, Behold, I cast out deuils, and will heale still [i] to day, and to morrow, and the third day I shall be [k] perfected.

2 The dropsie healed on the Sabbath. 8 The chiefe places at bankets. 12 The poore must bee called to our feastes. 16 Of those that were bid to the great Supper. 23 Some compelled to come in. 28 One about to build a tower.

1 The Law of the very Sabbath ought not to hinder the offices of charitie.

AND [1] it came to passe that when hee was entred into the house of [a] one of the chiefe Pharises on the Sabbath day, to eate bread, they watched him.

a Either one of the Elders, whō they called the Sanhedrin, or one of the chiefe of the Synagogue: for all the Pharises were not chiefe men of the Synagogue, Iohn 7. 48. for this word Pharise was the name of a sect, though it appeare by the whole historie that the Pharises were in great credite.

2 And beholde, there was a certaine man before him, which had the dropsie.

3 Then Iesus answering, spake vnto the Lawyers and Pharises, saying, Is it lawfull to heale on the Sabbath day?

4 And they held their peace. Then he tooke him, and healed him, and let him goe,

5 And answered them, saying, Which of you shall haue an asse, or an oxe fallen into a pit, and will not straightway pull him out on the Sabbath day?

6 So they could not answere him againe to those things.

2 The reward of pride is ignominie: and the reward of true modestie is glory.

7 [2] Hee spake also a parable to the ghestes, when hee marked how they chose out the chiefe roomes, and said vnto them,

8 When thou shalt be bidden of any man to a wedding, set not thy selfe downe in the chiefest place, least a more honourable man then thou, be bidden of him,

9 And hee that bade both him and thee, come, and say to thee, Giue this man roome, and thou then begin with shame to take the lowest roome.

10 * But when thou art bidden, goe and sit downe in the lowest roome, that when hee that bade thee, commeth, hemay say vnto thee, Friend, sit vp higher: then shalt thou haue worship in the presence of them that sit at table with thee.

* Prou. 25. 5.

11 * For whosoeuer exalteth himselfe, shall be brought lowe, and he that humbleth himselfe, shall be exalted.

* Chap. 18. 14. matth. 23. 12.

12 [3] Then said hee also to him that had bidden him, * When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinsmen, nor the rich neighbours, least they also bid thee againe, and a recompence be made thee.

3 Against them which lauish out their goods either ambitiously, or for hope of recompence, whereas Christian charitie respecteth onely the glory of God, and the profite of our neighbour.

* Prou. 3. 27. tob. 4. 7.

13 But when thou makest a feast, call the poore, the maimed, the lame, and the blinde, 14 And thou shalt be blessed, because they cannot recompence thee: for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the iust.

15 ¶ Nowe when one of them that sate at table heard these things, he sayde vnto him, Blessed is he that eateth bread in the kingdom of God.

16 Then said he to him, * A certaine man made a great supper, and bade many,

* Matth. 22. 1. reuel. 19. 9.

17 And sent his seruant at supper time to say to them that were bidden, Come: for all things are now ready.

4 The most part euen of them to whom God hath reuealed himselfe are so mad, that such helpes as they haue receiued of God, they willingly turne into lets and hinderances.

18 [4] But they all with [b] one minde began to make excuse: The first saide vnto him, I haue bought a Farme, and I must needes goe out and see it: I pray thee haue mee excused.

b As of set purpose, and a thing agreed vpon before: for though they alledge seuerall causes, yet all of them agree in this, that they haue their excuses, that they may not come to supper.

19 And another said, I haue bought fiue yoke of oxen, and I go to proue them: I pray thee, haue me excused.

20 And another said, I haue married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.

21 So that seruant returned, and shewed his master these things. Then was the good man of the house angrie, and said to his seruant, Goe out quickly into the [c] streetes and lanes of the citie, and bring in hither the poore, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blinde.

c Wide & broad quarters.

22 And the seruant said, Lord, it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet there is roome.

23 Then the Master saide to the seruant, Goe out into the hie wayes, and hedges, and compell them to come in, that mine house may be filled.

5 Euen those affections, which are of themselues worthie of praise and commendation, must be tried and proued, that godlinesse may haue the vpper hand and preeminence.

24 For I say vnto you, that none of those men which were bidden, shall taste of my supper.

25 [5] Nowe there went great multitudes with him, and he turned and said vnto them,

* Matth. 10. 37.

26 * If any man come to mee, and [d] hate not his Father, and mother, and wife, and children, and brethren, and sisters: yea, and his own life also, he cannot be my disciple.

d If the matter stand betweene God and him, as Theophyl. saith: & therefore these words are not spoken simply, but by comparison.

27 * [6] And whosoeuer beareth not his crosse, and commeth after mee, cannot bee my disciple.

* Chap. 9. 23. matth. 16. 24. mar. 8. 34.

6 The true followers of Christ must at once build and fight, and therefore be ready and prepared to suffer all kinds of afflictions.

28 For which of you minding to builde a towre, [e] sitteth not downe before, and counteth the cost, whether hee haue sufficient to performe it, e At home, and casteth all his costs, before he begin the worke.

29 Least that after hee hath laid the foundation, and is not able to performe it, all that behold it, begin to mocke him, 30 Saying, This man began to builde, and was not able to make an end?

31 Or what King going to make warre, against another King, sitteth not downe first and taketh counsell, whether hee be able with ten thousand, to meete him that commeth against him with twentie thousand?

32 Or els while he is yet a great way off, he sendeth an ambassage, and desireth peace.

33 So likewise, whosoeuer he be of you, that forsaketh not all that hee hath, hee cannot be my Disciple.

CHAP. XV.

4 The parable of the lost sheepe, 8 Of the groate, 11 And of the prodigall sonne.

THen ‖ resorted vnto [1] him [2] all the Publicanes and sinners to heare him.

‖ Or, drew neere.

1 Wee must not despaire of them, which haue gone out of the way. But according to the example of Christ, we must take great paine about them.

2 Some Publicanes and sinners came to Christ from all quarters

2 Matth. 18, 12.

2 Then the Pharises and Scribes murmured, saying, He receiueth sinners, and eateth with them.

3 Then spake hee this parable to them, saying,

4 *What man of you hauing an hundreth sheepe, if hee lose one of them, doeth not leaue ninetie and nine in the wildernesse, and goe after that which is lost, vntill hee finde it?

5 And when he hath found it, he laieth it on his shoulders with ioy.

6 And when he commeth home, he calleth together his friends, and neighbours, saying vnto them, Reioice with me: for I haue found my sheepe which was lost.

7 I say vnto you, that likewise ioy shall be in heauen for one sinner that conuerteth, more then for ninetie and nine iust men, which need none amendement of life.

3 When by their voluntary falling from God, hauing spoyled themselues of the benefits which they receiued of him, rush themselues headlong into infinite calamities: but God of his singular goodnes, offering himselfe freely to them, whom he called to repentance, through the greatnesse of their miserie wherewith they were tamed, doth not onely gently receiue them, but also enricheth them with farre greater gifts, & inricheth them with the chiefest ioyes.

8 Either what woman hauing ten groates, if she lose one groate, doeth not light a candle, and sweepe the house, and seeke diligently till she finde it?

9 And when she hath found it, shee calleth her friends, and neighbours, saying, Reioyce with me: for I haue found the groate which I had lost.

10 Likewise I say vnto you, there is ioy in the presence of the Angels of God, for one sinner that conuerteth.

11 ¶ [3] He said moreouer, A certaine man had two sonnes.

12 And the yonger of them said to his father, Father, giue me the portion of the goods that falleth to me. So hee diuided vnto them his substance.

13 So many dayes after, when the yonger sonne had gathered all together, hee toke his iourney into a far countrey, and there he wasted his goods with riotous liuing.

14 Now when he had spent all, there arose a great dearth throughout that land, and hee began to be in necessitie.

15 Then he went and claue to a citizen of that countrey, and he sent him to his farme, to feed Swine.

16 And hee would faine haue filled his bellie with the huskes, that the Swine ate: but no man gaue them him.

17 [3] Then hee came to himselfe, and sayd, How many hired seruants at my Fathers haue bread inough, and I die for hunger?

3 The beginning of repentance is the acknowledging of the mercy of God, which stirreth vs to hope well. b Against God, because he is sayd to dwell in heauen.

18 I will rise and goe to my Father, and say vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against [b] heauen and before thee, 19 And am no more woorthy to bee called thy Sonne: make mee as one of thy hired seruants.

20 So hee arose and came to his Father, and when he was yet a great way off, his Father saw him, and had compassion, and ranne and fell on his necke, and kissed him.

21 [4] And the Sonne sayde vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against heauen, and before thee, and am no more worthie to be called thy Sonne.

4 In true repentance there is a feeling of our sins, together with sorow and shame, from whence springeth a confession, after which followeth forgiuenesse.

22 Then the Father sayde to his seruants, Bring foorth the best robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shooes on his feete,

23 And bring the fat calfe, and kill him, and let vs eate, and be merie:

24 For this my Sonne was dead, and is aliue againe: and he was lost, but he is found. And they began to be merie.

25 [5] Now the elder brother was in the fielde, and when he came and drewe neere to the house, he heard melodie, and dauncing.

5 Such as truely feare God, desire to haue all men to be their fellowes.

26 And called one of his seruants, and asked what those things meant.

27 And hee sayde vnto him, Thy brother is come, and thy Father hath killed the fatte Calfe because hee hath receiued him safe and sound, 28 Then hee was angrie, and would not goe in: therefore came his Father out and entreated him.

29 But he answered and saide to his Father, Loe, these many yeeres haue I done thee seruice, neither brake I at any time thy commaundement, and yet thou neuer gauest me a Kidde that I might make merie with my friends.

30 But when this thy Sonne was come, which hath deuoured thy goods with harlots, thou hast for his sake killed the fat Calfe.

31 And he said vnto him, Sonne, thou art euer with me, and all that I haue, is thine. It was

was meet that we should make merie, and bee glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is aliue againe: and he was lost, but he is found.

CHAP. XVI.

1 The parable of the steward accused to his master. 13. To serue two Masters. 16 The Lawe and the Prophets. 19 Of Diues and Lazarus.

AND hee saide also vnto his Disciples, [1] There was a certaine rich man, which had a steward, and hee was accused vnto him, that he wasted his goods.

2 And hee called him, and said vnto him, Howe is it that I heare this of thee? Giue an accounts of thy stewardship: for thou mayest be no longer steward.

3 Then the steward sayde within himselfe, What shall I doe? for my master taketh away from me the stewardship. I cannot dig, and to beg I am ashamed.

4 I know what I will doe, that when I am put out of the stewardshippe, they may receiue me into their houses.

5 Then called he vnto him euery one of his Masters debters, and said vnto the first, Howe much owest thou vnto my master?

6 And he said, An hundred measures of oyle. And he said vnto him, Take thy writing, and sit downe quickly, and write fiftie.

7 Then saide hee to another, How much owest thou? And hee saide, An hundred measures of wheate. Then hee said to him, Take thy writing, and write fourescore.

8 And the Lord commended [a] the vniust steward, because he had done wisely. Wherefore the [b] children of this world are in their generation wiser then the children of light.

9 And I say vnto you, Make you friends with the riches [c] of iniquitie, that when yee shall want, they may receiue you into euerlasting [d] habitations.

10 [2] He that is faithfull in the least, hee is also faithfull in much: and he that is vniust in the least, is vniust also in much.

11 If then ye haue not bene faithfull in the wicked riches, who will trust you in the [e] true treasure?

12 And if yee haue not beene faithfull in [f] another mans goods, who shall giue you that which is yours?

13 [*3] No seruant can serue two masters: for either he shall hate the one, and loue the other: or els hee shall leane to the one, and despise the other. Yee cannot serue God and riches.

14 All these thinges heard the Pharisees also which were couetous, and they scoffed at him.

15 * Then he said vnto them, Ye are they, which iustifie your selues before men: but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men, is abomination in the sight of God.

16 [*5] The Law and the Prophets endured vntill Iohn: and since that time the kingdome of God is preached, and euery man presseth into it.

17 * Now it is more easie that heauen and earth should passe away, then that one title of the Law should fall.

18 ¶ * Whosoeuer putteth away his wife, and marieth another, committeth adulterie: and whosoeuer marrieth her [g] that is put away from her husband, committeth adulterie.

19 ¶ [6] There was a certaine rich man, which was clothed in [h] purple and fine linnen, and fared well and delicately euery day.

20 Also there was a certaine begger named Lazarus, which was laide at his gate full of sores, 21 And desired to bee refreshed with the crummes that fell from the rich mans table: yea, and the dogges came and licked his sores.

22 And it was so that the begger died, and was caried by the Angels into Abrahams bosome. The rich man also died, and was buried.

23 And being in hell in torments, [i] he lift vp his eyes, and saw Abraham a farre off, and Lazarus in his bosome.

24 Then he cried, and said, Father Abraham haue mercie on mee, and send Lazarus that hee may dippe the tip of his finger in water, and coole my tongue: for I am tormented in this flame.

25 But Abraham said, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receiuedst thy pleasures, and likewise Lazarus paines: now therefore is hee comforted, and thou art tormented.

26 Besides all this, betweene you and vs there is a great gulfe set, so that they which would goe from hence to you, cannot: neither can they come from thence to vs.

27 [7] Then he saide, I pray thee therefore Father, that thou wouldest send him to my Fathers house, 28 (For I haue fiue brethren) that he may testifie vnto them, lest they also come into this place of torment.

29 Abraham saide vnto him, They haue Moses & the Prophets: let them heare them.

30 And he sayd, Nay, Father Abraham: but if one came vnto them from the dead, they will amend their liues.

31 Then

1 Seeing that men oftentimes purchase friendship to themselues, by other mens coste, it is shame for vs, if with a free and liberall bestowing of the goods which the Lord hath giuen vs to that purpose, we doe not please him, nor procure the good will of our neighbours, seeing that by this only meanes, riches, which are often times occasions of sinne, are turned to another end and purpose.

a This parable doth not approue the stewardes naughty dealing, for it was very theftuous: but parables are set forth, to shew a thing couertly, and as it were, vnder a figure to represent the truth, though it agree not thorowly with the matter it selfe: so that Christ meaneth by this parable, to teach vs, that worldly men are more heedie in the affaires of this world, then the children of God are carefull for euerlasting life.

b Men that are giuen to this present life, contrary to whom the children of light are set: S. Paul calleth those spirituall, and the other carnall.

c This is not spoken of goods y are euil gotten, for God wil haue our bountifulnes to the poore, proceede and come from a good fountaine: but he calleth those riches of iniquitie, which men vse naughtily.

d To wit, the poore Christians: for they are the inheritours of these Tabernacles. Theophyl.

2 We ought to take heede, that for abusing our earthly function and duetie, we be not depriued of heauenly gifts: for how can they vse spirituall gifts aright, who abuse worldly things?

e That is, heauenly and true riches: which are contrary to worldly and fleeting substance.

f In worldly goods, which are called other mens, because they are committed to our credit.

* Matth. 6. 24.

3 No man can loue God and riches together.

4 Our sinnes are not hidden to God, although they be hidden to men, yea although they be hidden to them, whose sinnes they are.

* Matth. 11. 12.

5 The Pharisies despised the excellencie of the new Couenant, in respect of the old, being ignorant of the perfect righteousnes of the Law, and how false expounders they were of the Law. Christ declareth by the seuenth commandement.

* Matth. 5. 18.

* Matth. 5. 32. & 19. 9. 1. Cor. 7. 10.

g They that gather by this place that a man can not be maried againe after that he hath put away his wife for adulterie, while she liueth, reason fondly: for Christ speaketh of those diuorces, which the Iewes vsed, of which sort we can not take the diuorcement for adulterie, for adulterers were put to death by the Lawe.

6 The end of the pouertie & misery of the godly, shall bee euerlasting ioy: & the end of the riotousnes and cruell pride of the rich shall be euerlasting miserie, without all hope of mercy.

h Very gorgeously and sumptuously, for purple garments were costly and this fine linnen, which was a kind of linnen that came out of Achaia, was as deere as golde.

i Heauenly and spirituall things are expressed and set forth vnder colours and resemblances fit for our senses.

7 Seeing that we haue a most sure rule to liue by, layed forth vnto vs in the word of God, rashly and vainely doe men seeke for other reuelations.

31 Then he sayde vnto him, If they heare not Moses and the Prophets, neither will they be perswaded, though one rise from the dead againe.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Offences. 3 Wee must forgiue him that trespasseth against vs. 10 We are vnprofitable seruants. 11 Of the ten lepers. 20 Of the comming of the Kingdome of heauen. 33 False Christs. 36 After what maner Christs comming shall be.

THen sayd he to his disciples,* [1] It cannot be auoided, but that offences will come, but woe be to him by whom they come.

2 It is better for him that a great millstone were hanged about his necke, and that hee were cast into the Sea, then that he should offend one of these little ones.

3 ¶ [2] Take heede to your selues: if thy brother trespasse against thee, rebuke him: and if he repent, forgiue him.

4 * And though hee sinne against thee seuen times in a day, and seuen times in a day turne againe to thee, saying, It repenteth me, thou shalt forgiue him.

5 ¶ [3] And the Apostles said vnto the Lord, Increase our faith.

6 And the Lord said, * If ye had faith, as much as is [a] a grayne of mustard seede, and should say vnto this mulberie tree, Plucke thy selfe vp by the rootes, and plant thy selfe in the Sea, it should euen obey you.

7 ¶ [4] Who is it also of you, that hauing a seruant plowing, or feeding cattell, would say vnto him by and by, when hee were come from the fielde, Goe, and sit downe at table?

8 And would not rather say to him, Dresse wherewith I may suppe, and gird thy selfe, and serue mee, till I haue eaten and drunken, and afterward eate thou, and drinke thou?

9 Doeth hee thanke that seruant, because he did that which was commanded vnto him? I trowe not.

10 [5] So likewise yee, when yee haue done all those things, which are commaunded you, say, We are vnprofitable seruants: wee haue done that which was our duetie to doe.

11 ¶ [6] And so it was when hee went to Hierusalem, that hee passed through the mids of Samaria, and Galile.

12 And as he entred into a certaine towne, there mette him ten men that were lepers, which stood afarre off, 13 And they lift vp their voyces and sayd, Jesus, Master, haue mercie on vs.

14 And when he sawe them, hee sayd vnto them, * Goe, shewe your selues vnto the Priestes. And it came to passe, that as they went, they were cleansed.

15 Then one of them, when hee sawe that he was healed, turned backe, and with a loude voyce praysed God, 16 And fell downe on his face at his feete, and gaue him thanks: and he was a Samaritane.

17 And Jesus answered, and saide, Are there not ten cleansed? but where are the nine?

18 There is none found that returned to giue God prayse, saue this stranger.

19 And hee saide vnto him, Arise, goe thy way, thy faith hath saued thee.

20 ¶ [7] And when hee was demaunded of the Pharises, when the kingdome of God should come, he answered them, and said, The kingdome of God commeth not with [b] obseruation.

21 Neither shall men say, Loe here, or loe there: for behold, the kingdome of God is [c] within you.

22 [8] And hee sayd vnto the disciples, The dayes will come, when yee shall desire to see [d] one of the dayes of the Sonne of man, and ye shall not see it.

23 * [9] Then they shall say to you, Behold, here, or behold there: but goe not thither, neither follow them.

24 For as the lightening that lighteneth out of the one part vnder heauen, shineth vnto the other part vnder heauen, so shal the Sonne of man be in his day.

25 But first must hee suffer many things, and be reproued of this generation.

26 * [10] And as it was in the dayes of Noe, so shall it be in the dayes of the Sonne of man.

27 They ate, they dranke, they married wiues, and gaue in marriage vnto the day that Noe went into the Arke: and the flood came, and destroyed them all.

28 * Likewise also, as it was in the dayes of Lot: they ate, they dranke, they bought, they sold, they planted, they built.

29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heauen, and destroyed them all.

30 After these ensamples shall it be in the day when the Sonne of man is reuealed.

31 [11] At that day he that is vpon the house, and his stuffe in the house, let him not come downe to take it out: and he that is in the field likewise, let him not turne backe to that hee left behinde.

32 * Remember Lots wife.

33 * Whosoeuer will seeke to saue his soule, shall loose it: and whosoeuer shall loose it, shall [e] get it life.

c Word for word, beate me downe with her blowes, and it is a metaphore taken of wreſtlers, who beat their aduerſaries with their fiſts or clubbes: ſo doe they that are importunate beate the Iudges eares with their crying out, euen as it were with blowes.
d Though he ſeeme ſlowe in reuenging the iniurie done to his.

And [1] he ſpake alſo a parable vnto them, to this end, that they * ought alwaies to pray, and not to [a] ware faint,

2 [b] Saying, There was a iudge in a certaine citie, which feared not God, neither reuerenced man.

3 And there was a widdowe in that citie, which came vnto him, ſaying, Doe mee iuſtice againſt mine aduerſarie.

4 And he would not of a long time: but afterward hee ſaid with himſelfe, Though I feare not God, nor reuerence man, 5 Yet becauſe this widdow troubleth me, I will do her right, leſt at the laſt ſhe come and [c] make me wearie.

6 And the Lord ſaid, Heare what the vnrighteous iudge ſaith.

7 Now ſhall not God auenge his elect, which cry day and night vnto him, yea, though [d] he ſuffered long for them?

8 I tell you he will auenge them quickly: but when the Sonne of man commeth, ſhall he find faith on the earth?

9 ¶ [2] He ſpake alſo this parable vnto certaine which truſted in themſelues that they were iuſt, and deſpiſed other.

10 Two men went vp into the Temple to pray: the one a Phariſe, and the other a Publican.

11 [3] The Phariſe ſtoode and prayed thus with himſelfe, O God, I thanke thee, that I am not as other men, extortioners, vniuſt, adulterers, or euen as this Publican.

12 I faſt twiſe in the weeke: I giue tithe of all that euer I poſſeſſe.

13 But the Publican ſtanding [e] a farre off would not lift vp ſo much as his eyes to heauen, but ſmote his breſt, ſaying, O God, bee mercifull to me a ſinner.

14 I tell you, this man departed to his houſe iuſtified rather then the other: * for euerie man that exalteth himſelfe, ſhal be brought lowe, and hee that humbleth himſelfe, ſhalbe exalted.

f The children were tender and yong, in that they were brought, which appeareth more euidently in that, that they were infants: which is to be marked againſt them that are enemies to the baptizing of children.
4 To iudge or thinke of Chriſt after the reaſon of the fleſh, is the cauſe of infinite corruptions.

16 [5] But Jeſus [g] called them vnto him, and ſaid, Suffer the babes to come vnto mee, and forbid them not: for of ſuch is the kingdome of God.

17 [6] Verely I ſay vnto you, whoſoeuer receiueth not the kingdome of God as a babe, he ſhall not enter therein.

7 The miſſement of riches carieth away many from the right way.

21 [7] And hee ſaid, All theſe haue I kept from my youth.

22 Now when Jeſus heard that, hee ſaid vnto him, Yet lackeſt thou one thing. Sell all that euer thou haſt, & diſtribute vnto the poore, and thou ſhalt haue treaſure in heauen, and come follow me.

23 But when he heard theſe things, he was very heauy: for he was marueilous rich.

8 To be both rich and godly, is a ſingular gift of God.

24 [8] And when Jeſus ſawe him very ſorrowfull, he ſaid, With what difficultie ſhall they that haue riches, enter into the kingdome of God!

25 Surely it is eaſier for a Camell to gee thrugh a needles eye, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

35 ¶ [*11] And it came to passe, that as hee was come neere vnto Iericho, a certaine blind man sate by the way side, begging.

36 And when he heard the people passe by, he asked what is meant.

37 And they said vnto him, that Iesus of Nazareth passed by.

38 Then he cried, saying, Iesus the sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me.

39 [12] And they which went before, rebuked him that he should hold his peace, but he cried much more, O sonne of Dauid, haue mercie on me.

40 And Iesus stood still, and commanded him to be brought vnto him. And when he was come neere, he asked him, 41 Saying, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And hee said, Lord, that I may receiue my sight.

42 And Iesus said vnto him, Receiue thy sight: thy faith hath saued thee.

43 Then immediatly he receiued his sight, and followed him, praysing God: and all the people, when they sawe this, gaue praise to God.

2 Zaccheus the Publican. 13 Ten pieces of money deliuered to seruants to occupy withall. 29 Iesus entreth into Ierusalem. 41 Hee foretelleth the destruction of the Citie with teares. 45 He casteth the sellers out of the Temple.

NOwe [1] when Iesus entred and passed through Iericho.

2 Behold, there was a man named Zaccheus, which was the [2] chiefe receiuer of the tribute, and he was rich.

3 And he sought to see Iesus, who he should be, and could not for the preasse, because hee was of a low stature.

4 Wherefore he ranne before, and climed vp into a wilde figge tree, that hee might see him: for he should come that way.

5 And when Iesus came to the place, hee looked vp, and saw him, & said vnto him, Zaccheus, come downe at once: for to day I must abide at thine house.

6 Then he came downe hastily, and receiued him ioyfully.

7 [3] And when all they saw it, they murmured, saying, that he was gone in to lodge with a sinfull man.

8 [3] And Zaccheus stood forth, and said vnto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the halfe of my goods I giue to the poore: and if I haue taken from any man by [b] forged cauillation, I restore him foure fold.

9 Then Iesus said to him, This day is saluation come vnto this house, forasmuch as hee is also become the [c] sonne of Abraham.

10 * For the Sonne of man is come to seeke, and to saue that which was lost.

11 [4] And whiles they heard these things, he continued and spake a parable, because hee was neere to Ierusalem, and because also they thought that the kingdome of God should shortly appeare.

12 He said therefore, * A certaine Noble man went into a farre countrey, to receiue for himselfe a kingdome, and so to come againe.

13 [5] And hee called his ten seruants, and deliuered them ten pieces of money, and said vnto them: Occupie till I come.

14 Now his citizens hated him, and sent an ambassage after him, saying, We will not haue this man to reigne ouer vs.

15 And it came to passe, when he was come againe, and had receiued his kingdome, that he commanded the seruants to be called to him, to whom he gaue his money, that he might know what euery man had gained.

16 Then came the first, saying, Lord, [d] thy piece hath increased ten pieces.

17 And hee said vnto him, Well, good seruant: because thou hast bene faithfull in a verie little thing, take thou authoritie ouer ten cities.

18 And the second came, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased fiue pieces.

19 And to the same he said, Bee thou also ruler ouer fiue cities.

20 [6] So the other came, and saide, Lord, behold thy piece, which I haue layed vp in a napkin:

21 For I feared thee, because thou art a straite man: thou takest vp, that thou laiedst not downe, and reapest that thou didst not sow.

22 Then he said vnto him, Of thine owne mouth will I iudge thee, O euill seruant. Thou knowest that I am a straight man, taking vp that I laied not downe, and reaping that I did not sow.

23 Wherefore then gauest not thou my money into the [e] banke, that at my comming I might haue required it with vantage?

24 And he said to them that stood by, Take from him that piece, and giue it him that hath ten pieces.

25 (And they said vnto him, Lord, he hath ten pieces.)

h Hereby we see how ignorant the disciples were.

* Matth. 20.29. marke 10.46.

2 The ouerseer and head of the Publicanes, which were there together: for the Publicanes were deuided into companies, as we may gather by many places of Cicero his orations.

3 The example of true repentance, is knowen by the effect.

b By falsly accusing any man: and this agreeth most fitly to the master of the customers person: for commonly they haue this trade among them, when they robbe and spoile the Common-weale, they haue nothing in their mouthes, but the profit of the Common-weale, and vnder that colour they play the theeues, in so much that if men reproue and go about to redresse their robberie, & spoiling, they crie out, the common weale is hindered.

c Beloued of God, one that walketh in the steppes of Abrahams faith: and we gather that saluation came to that house, because they receiued the blessing as Abraham had, for all of the household were circumcised.

* Matth. 18.11.

4 We must patiently waite for the iudgement of God, which shalbe reuealed in his time.

* Matth. 25.14.

5 There are three sorts of men in the Church: the one sort fall from Christ whō they see not: the other, which according to their vocation, bestow the gifts, which they haue receiued of God, to his glory with great paines and diligence: the third liue idlely, and doe no good. As for the first, the Lord when he commeth will iustly punish thē in his time: the other hee will bl esse, according to the paines which they haue taken: and as for the slouthfull and idle persons he will punish them as the first.

d This was a piece of money which the Grecians vsed, and was in value about an hundred pence, which is about tenne crownes.

6 Against them which spend their life idlely in deliberating and otherwise in contemplation.

e To the bankers and changers.

26 For I say vnto you, that vnto all them that haue, it shall be giuen, and from him that hath not, euen that he hath, shall be taken from him.

27 Moreouer, those mine enemies, which would not that I should reigne ouer them, bring hither, and slay them before me.

28 ¶ And when he had thus spoken, [f] he went forth before, ascending vp to Hierusalem.

29 [*7] And it came to passe, when hee was come neere to Bethphage, and Bethania, besides the mount which is called the mount of Oliues, he sent two of his Disciples, 30 Saying, Goe ye to the towne which is before you, wherein assoone as ye are come, ye shall finde a Colte tied, whereon neuer man sate: loose him, and bring him hither.

31 And if any man aske you, why ye loose him, thus shall ye say vnto him, Because the Lord hath neede of him.

32 So they that were sent, went their way, and found it as he had said vnto them.

33 And as they were loosing the Colt, the owners thereof saide vnto them, Why loose ye the Colte?

34 And they sayde, The Lorde hath need of him.

35 ¶ [*] So they brought him to Iesus, and they cast their garments on the Colte, and set Iesus thereon.

36 And as hee went, they spread their clothes in the way.

37 And when he was nowe come neere to the going downe of the mount of Oliues, the whole multitude of the Disciples began to reioyce, and to praise God with a loude voice, for all the great workes that they had seene, 38 Saying, Blessed be the King that commeth in the Name of the Lord: peace in heauen, and glorie in the highest places.

39 [8] Then some of the Pharises of the companie sayd vnto him, Master, rebuke thy disciples.

40 But he answered, and said vnto them, I tel you, that if these should hold their peace, the stones would cry.

41 ¶ [*9] And when he was come neere, he beheld the Citie, and wept for it, 42 [i] Saying, [h] If thou haddest euen knowen [i] at the least in this [k] thy day those things, which belong vnto thy peace! but now are they hidde from thine eyes.

43 For the dayes shall come vpon thee, that thine enemies shall cast a trench about thee, and compasse thee round, and keepe thee in on euery side, 44 And shall make thee euen with the ground, and thy children which are in thee, and they shall not leaue in thee a stone vpon a stone, because thou knewest not [m] that season of thy visitation.

45 ¶ [*10] He went also into the Temple, and began to cast out them that solde therein, and them that bought, 46 Saying vnto them, It is written, * Mine house is the house of prayer, * but ye haue made it a denne of theeues.

47 And hee taught dayly in the Temple. And the high Priestes and the Scribes, and the chiefe of the people sought to destroy him.

48 But they could not finde what they might do to him: for all the people hanged vpon him when they heard him.

AND [*1] it came to passe, that on one of those dayes, as hee taught the people in the Temple, and preached the Gospell, the hie Priests and the Scribes came vpon him with the Elders,

2 And spake vnto him, saying, Tell vs by what authoritie thou doest these things, or who is he that hath giuen thee this authority?

3 And he answered, and said vnto them, I also wil aske you one thing: tell me therefore:

4 The baptisme of Iohn, was it from heauen, or of men?

5 And they reasoned within themselues, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, he will say, Why then beleeued ye him not?

6 But if we shall say, Of men, all the people will stone vs: for they bee persuaded that Iohn was a Prophet.

7 Therefore they answered, that they could not tell whence it was.

8 Then Iesus said vnto thē, Neither tell I you, by what authoritie I doe these things.

9 ¶ [*2] Then began hee to speake to the people this parable, A certaine man planted a vineyard, and let it forth to husbandmen: and went into a strange country, for a great time.

10 And at the time conuenient hee sent a seruant to the husbandmen, that they should giue him of the fruite of the vineyard: but the husbandmen did beat him, and sent him away emptie.

11 Againe hee sent yet another seruant: and they did beate him, & soule intreated him, and sent him away emptie.

13 Then saide the Lord of the vineyard, What shall I doe? I will send my beloued sonne: it may be that they will doe reuerence, when they see him.

14 But when the husbandmen saw him, they reasoned with themselues, saying, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.

15 So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What shall the Lorde of the vineyard therefore do vnto them?

16 Hee will come and destroy these husbandmen, and will giue out his vineyarde to others. But when they heard it, they saide, God forbid.

17 ¶ And he beheld them, & saide, What meaneth this then that is written, *The stone that the builders refused, that is made the head of the corner?

18 Whosoeuer shall fall vpon that stone, shall be broken: and an whomsoeuer it shall fall, it shall grinde him to powder.

19 Then the hie Priests, and the Scribes the same houre went about to lay handes on him: (but they feared the people) for they perceiued that hee had spoken this parable against them.

20 *[3] And they [a] watched him, and sent foorth [b] spies, which should faine themselues iust men, [c] to take him in his talke, and to deliuer him vnto the power and [d] authoritie of the gouernour.

21 And they asked him, saying, Master, we know that thou sayest, and teachest aright, neither doest thou accept [e] mans person, but teachest the way of God truely.

22 Is it lawfull for vs to giue Cesar tribute or no?

23 But hee perceiued their [f] craftinesse, and said vnto them. Why tempt ye me?

24 Shew me a penie. Whose image and superscription hath it? They answered, and said, Cesars.

25 Then hee said vnto them, *Giue then vnto Cesar the things which are Cesars, and to God those which are Gods.

26 And they could not reproue his saying before the people: but they marueiled at his answere, and held their peace.

27 *[4] Then came to him certeine of the Sadduces (which denie that there is any resurrection) and they asked him, 28 Saying, Master, *Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die hauing a wife, and he die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seed vnto his brother.

29 Nowe there were seuen brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and he died without children.

30 And the second tooke the wife, and he died childlesse.

31 Then the third tooke her: and so likewise the seuen dyed, and left no children.

32 And last of all the woman died also.

33 Therefore at the resurrection, whose wife of them shall she be? for seuen had her to wife.

34 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, The [g] children of this worlde marrie wiues, and are married.

35 But they which shalbe counted worthy to enioy that worlde, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marrie wiues, neither are married.

36 For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equall vnto the Angels, and are the Sonnes of God, since they are the [h] children of the resurrection.

37 And that the dead shall rise againe, euen *Moses shewed it besides the bushe, when hee sayde, The Lorde is the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Iacob.

38 For hee is not the God of the dead, but of them which liue: for all [i] liue vnto him.

39 Then certaine of the Scribes answered, and said, Master, thou hast well said, 40 And after that, durst they not aske him any thing at all.

41 *[5] Then said hee vnto them, How say they that Christ is Dauids sonne?

42 And Dauid himselfe saith in the booke of the Psalmes, *The Lorde sayd vnto my Lord, sit at my right hand, 43 Till I shall make thine enemies thy footestoole.

44 Seeing Dauid called him Lord, how is he then his sonne?

45 ¶ Then in the audience of all the people he said vnto his Disciples,

2 And the hie Priests and Scribes sought how they might kill him: for they feared the people.

3 *[2] Then entred Satan into Iudas, who was called Iscariot, and was of the number of the twelue.

4 And he went his way, and communed with the hie Priestes and [a] captaines, how hee might betray him to them.

5 So they were glad, and agreed to giue him money.

6 And he consented and sought opportunitie to betray him vnto them, when the people were [b] away.

7 ¶ *[3] Then came the day of vnleauened bread, when the Passeouer [c] must be sacrificed.

8 And hee sent Peter and John, saying, Goe and prepare vs the [d] Passeouer, that wee may eate it.

9 And they sayd vnto him, Where wilt thou, that we prepare it?

10 Then he said vnto them, Behold, when yee bee entred into the citie, there shall a man meete you, bearing a pitcher of water: followe him into the house that he entreth in,

11 And say vnto the good man of the house, The Master saith vnto thee, where is the lodging where I shall eate my Passeouer with my disciples?

12 Then hee shall shewe you a great hie chamber trimmed: there make it ready.

13 So they went, and found as he had said vnto them, and made ready the Passeouer.

14 *[4] And when the [e] houre was come, hee sate downe, and the twelue Apostles with him.

15 Then he sayde vnto them, I haue earnestly desired to eat this Passeouer with you, before I [f] suffer.

16 For I say vnto you, Henceforth I will not eate of it any more, vntill it bee fulfilled in the kingdome of God.

19 *[5] And he tooke bread, and when he had giuen thankes, hee brake it, and gaue to them, saying, This is my body, which is giuen for you: doe this in remembrance of me.

20 Likewise also after supper hee tooke the cup, saying, This [g] cup is [h] that new Testament in my blood, which is shed for you.

21 *[6] Yet beholde, the [i] hand of him that betrayeth me, is with me at the table.

22 [7] And truely the Sonne of man goeth as it is appointed: but woe be to that man, by whom he is betrayed.

23 Then they began to enquire among themselues which of them it should bee, that should doe that.

24 ¶ *[8] And there arose also a strife among them, which of them should seeme to be the greatest.

25 But he said vnto them, The Kings of the Gentiles reigne ouer them, and they that beare rule ouer them, are called [k] bountifull.

26 But ye shall not be so: but let the greatest among you be as the least: and the chiefest as he that serueth.

THen 1 the whole multitude of them arose, and led him vnto Pilate. 1 Christ, who is now ready to suffer for the sedition which we raised in this world, is first of all pronounced guiltlesse, that it might appeare that he suffered not for his owne sinnes (which were none) but for ours.

2 And they began to accuse him, saying, We haue found this man 2 peruerting the nation, * and forbidding to pay tribute to Cesar, saying, That he is Christ a king. 2 Corrupting the people, and leading them into errours. * Matth.22.21. mark.12.17.

*Esai.53.12. *Matth.26.36. mar.14.32. john 18.1. *Matth.26.41. mar.14.38. 13 Christ hath made death acceptable vnto vs, by ouercomming in our name, all the horrours of death which had ioynes with the, the curse of God. 14 Prayers are a sure succour against the most perilous assaults of our enemies. n This agonie sheweth that Christ strooue much, and was in great distresse: for Christ strooue not onely with the feares of death, as other men vse to doe, for so many Martyrs might seeme more constant then Christ, but with the feareful iudgement of his angrie Father, which is the fearfullest thing in the world: and the matter was for that he took the burden of all our sinnes vpon himselfe. o These doe not onely shewe that Christ was true man, but other things allowhich the godly haue to consider of, wherein the secret of the redemption of all mankind is contained in the Sonne of God his debasing himselfe to the state of a seruant: such things, as no man can sufficiently declare. 15 Men are vtterly sluggish, euen in their greatest dangers vntil Christ stirre them vp. *Matth.26.47. mar.14.43. iohn 18.3. 16 Christ is willingly betrayed and taken, that by his obedience hee might deliuer vs, which were guiltie for the betraying of Gods glory. 17 That zeale which carieth vs out of the bounds of our vocation, pleaseth not Christ. 18 Euen the very feare of them which took Christ, proueth partly their euill conscience, and partly also that all these things were done by Gods prouidence. p The power that was giuen to darkenesse to oppresse the light for a season. * Matth.26.58. 19 Wee haue to behold in Peter an example both of the fragilitie of mans nature, and of the singular goodnesse of God towards his elect.

3 *And Pilate asked him, saying, Art thou the King of the Iewes? And hee answered him, and sayd, Thou saiest it.

4 Then said Pilate to the hie Priestes, and to the people, I finde no fault in this man.

5 But they were the more fierce, saying, Hee moueth the people, teaching throughout all Iudea, beginning at Galile, euen to this place.

6 [2] Now when Pilate heard of Galile, he asked whether the man were a Galilean.

7 And when hee knewe that hee was of [b] Herods iurisdiction, hee sent him to Herod, which was also at Hierusalem in those dayes.

8 And when Herod saw Iesus, he was exceedingly glad, for hee was desirous to see him of a long season, because hee had heard many things of him, and trusted to haue seene some signe done by him.

9 Then questioned hee with him of many things: but he answered him nothing.

10 The hie Priestes also and Scribes stood foorth, and accused him vehemently.

11 And Herod with his [c] men of warre, despised him, and mocked him, and arayed him in white, and sent him againe to Pilate.

12 [3] And the same day Pilate and Herod were made friends together: for before they were enemies one to another.

13 ¶ [4] Then Pilate called together the hie Priests and the [d] rulers, and the people,

14 *And said vnto them, Ye haue brought this man vnto mee, as one that peruerted the people: and beholde, I haue examined him before you, and haue found no fault in this man, of those things whereof ye accuse him:

15 No, nor yet Herod: for I sent you to him: and loe, nothing worthie of death is done of him.

16 [5] I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

17 (For of necessitie he must haue let one loose vnto them at the feast.)

18 Then all the multitude cryed at once, saying, Away with him, and deliuer vnto vs Barrabbas:

19 Which for a certain insurrection made in the citie, and murther was cast in prison.

20 Then Pilate spake againe to them, willing to let Iesus loose.

21 But they cryed, saying, Crucifie, crucifie him.

22 [6] And he said vnto them the third time, But what euill hath hee done? I finde no cause of death in him: I will therefore chastise him, and let him loose.

23 But they were instant with loud voyces, and required that hee might bee crucified: and the voyces of them and of the hie Priests preuailed.

24 So Pilate gaue sentence, that it should be as they required.

25 And he let loose vnto them him that for insurrection and murther was cast into prison, whom they desired, and deliuered Iesus to bee with him what they would.

26 ¶ [7] *And as they led him away, they caught one Simon of Cyrene, comming out of the field, and on him they layd the crosse, to beare it after Iesus.

27 [8] And there followed him a great multitude of people, and of women, which women bewailed and lamented him.

28 But Iesus turned back vnto them, and saide, Daughters of Hierusalem, weepe not for me, but weepe for your selues, and for your children.

29 For behold, the dayes will come, when men shall say, Blessed are the barren, and the wombes that neuer bare, and the paps which neuer gaue sucke.

30 Then shall they beginne to say to the mountaines, *Fall on vs, and to the hils, Couer vs.

31 *For if they do these things to a [e] greene tree, what shall be done to the drie?

32 *And there were two others, which were euill doers led with him to be slaine.

33 [9] And whē they were come to the place, which is called Caluarie, there they crucified him, and the euil doers: one at the right hande, and the other at the left.

34 [10] Then sayde Iesus, Father, forgiue them: for they know not what they doe, And they parted his rayment and cast lots.

35 And the people stood, and beheld: and the rulers mocked him with them, saying, He saued others: let him saue himselfe, if hee bee that Christ, the [f] Chosen of God.

36 The souldiers also mocked him, and came and offered him vineger, 37 And sayde, If thou be the King of the Iewes, saue thy selfe.

38 [11] And a superscription was also written ouer him, in Greeke letters, and in Latine, and in Hebrew, THIS IS THAT KING OF THE IEVVES.

39 ¶ [g] And [12] one of the euill doers, which were hanged, railed on him, saying, If thou be that Christ, saue thy selfe and vs.

40 But the other answered, and rebuked him, saying, Fearest thou not God, seeing thou art in the same condemnation?

41 Wee are indeed righteously heere: for wee receiue things worthy of that wee haue done: but this man hath done nothing [h] amisse.

42 And hee sayde vnto Iesus, Lord, remember mee, when thou commest into thy Kingdome.

43 Then Iesus said vnto him, Verily I say vnto

b This was Herod Antipas the Tetrarch, in the time of whose gouernance, which was almost the space of 22. yeres, Iohn the Baptist preached and was put to death, and Iesus Christ also died & rose again, and the Apostles began to preach, and diuers things were done at Hierusalem almost seuen yeres after Christs death. 17 Christ through his famous burial, confirmeth the trueth both of his death, and resurrection, by the plaine and euident witnesse of Pilate.

52 He went vnto Pilate, and asked the body of Iesus, 53 And tooke it downe, and wrapped it in a linnen cloth, and layde it in a tombe hewen out of a rocke, wherein was neuer man yet layde.

54 And that day was the preparation, and the Sabbath [k] drewe on.

k Word for word, dawning, and now beginning, for the light of the former day drew toward the going down, and that was the day of preparation for the feast, which was to bee kept the day following.

55 [18] And the women also that followed after, which came with him from Galile, beheld the Sepulchre, and how his body was layd.

18 Christ being set vpon by the deuill and all his instruments, and being euen in deaths mouth, setteth weake women in his forewarde, minding straightway to triumph ouer those terrible enemies, without any great endeuour.

56 And they returned and prepared odours and ointments, and rested the Sabbath day according to the commandement.

NOw the * [1] first day of the weeke [a] earely in the morning, they came to the sepulchre, and brought the odours, which they had prepared, and certaine women with them.

1 Hoze silly women euen beside their expectation are chosen to bee the first witnesses of the resurrection, that there might bee no suspition either of deceit or violence.

2 And they found the stone rolled away from the Sepulchre, a Very earely, as Marke sayth, or as Iohn sayth, while it was yet darke, that is, when it was yet scarce the dawning of the day.

3 And went in, but found not the body of the Lord Iesus.

4 And it came to passe, that as they were amased thereat, behold, two men suddenly stood by them in shining vestures.

5 And as they were afrayd, and bowed downe their faces to the earth, they sayd to them, Why seeke yee him that liueth among the dead?

2 The cowardly and dastardly minde of the disciples is vpbraided by the stoute courage of women (so wrought by Gods great mercies) to shew that the kingdome of God consisteth in an extraordinary power.

10 Now it was Mary Magdalene, and Ioanna, and Mary the mother of James, and other women with them, which tolde these things vnto the Apostles.

11 But their words seemed vnto them, as a fained thing, neither beleeued they them.

12 *[3] Then arose Peter, and ranne vnto the Sepulchre, and [b] looked in, and saw the linen clothes layd by themselues, and departed wondering in himself at that which was come to passe.

4 The resurrection is proued by two other witnesses, which saw it, and that it was no forged thing framed of purpose in their owne braines, all the circumstances doe declare.

14 And they talked together of all these things that were done.

15 And it came to passe, as they communed together, and reasoned, that Iesus himselfe drew neere, and went with them.

16 [c] But their eyes were holden, that they could not know him, c Were holden back and stayed by God so appointing it: no doubt and therefore his body was not inuisible, but their eyes were dimmed.

17 And hee sayd vnto them, What maner of communications are these that yee haue one to another as ye walke and are sad?

18 And [d] the one (named Cleopas) answered, and said vnto him, Art thou onely a stranger in Hierusalem, and hast not knowen the things which are come to passe therein in these dayes?

5 It appeareth by the conferring of the forewarnings of the Prophets that all those things are true and certaine which the Euangelists haue put downe in writing of Christ.

and haue crucified him.

21 But wee trusted that it had beene hee that should haue deliuered Israel, and as touching all these things, to day is the third day, that they were done,

22 Yea, and certaine women among vs made vs astonied, which came earely vnto the sepulchre, 23 And when they founde not his body, they came, saying, that they had also seene a vision of Angels, which said, that he was aliue.

24 Therefore certaine of them which were with vs, went to the sepulchre, and found it euen so as the women had sayd, but him they saw not.

25 Then he sayd vnto them, O fooles and slow of heart to beleeue all that the Prophets haue spoken!

26 Ought not Christ to haue suffered these things and to enter into his glory?

27 And he began at Moses, and at all the Prophets, and interpreted vnto them in all the Scriptures the things which were written of him.

28 And they drew neere vnto the towne which they went to, but he made as though he would haue gone further.

29 But they constrained him, saying, Abide with vs: for it is towards night, & the day is far spent. So he went in to tary with them.

30 And it came to passe, as he sate at table with them: he tooke the bread, and blessed, and brake it, and gaue it to them.

31 Then their eyes were opened, and they knew him: and he was[e] no more seene of them.

32 And they sayde betweene themselues, Did not our hartes burne within vs, while he talked with vs by the way, and when hee opened to vs the Scriptures?

33 And they rose vp the same houre, and returned to Hierusalem, and found the Eleuen gathered together, and them that were with them, 34 Which said, The Lord is risen in deed, and hath appeared to Simon.

35 Then they tolde what things were done in the way, and how hee was knowen of them in[f] breaking of bread.

36 ¶ *[6] And as they spake these things, Iesus himselfe stood in the mids of them, and said vnto them, Peace be to you.

37 But they were abashed and afraid, supposing that they had seene a spirit.

38 Then he said vnto them, Why are yee troubled? and wherefore doe[g] doubts arise in your hearts?

39 Beholde mine handes and my feete: for it is I my selfe: handle mee, and see: for a spirit hath not flesh and bones, as yee see me haue.

40 And when he had thus spoken, he shewed them his hands and feete.

41 And while they yet beleeued not for ioy, and wondered, he said vnto them, Haue ye here any meate?

42 And they gaue him a piece of a broiled fish, and of an hony combe, 43 And hee tooke it, and did eate before them.

44 [7] And he said vnto them, These are the wordes, which I spake vnto you while I was yet with you, that al must be fulfilled which are written of me in the Law of Moses, and in the Prophets, and in the Psalmes.

45 Then opened hee their vnderstanding, that they might vnderstand the Scriptures, 46 And said vnto them, Thus is it written, and thus it behoued Christ to suffer, and to rise againe from the dead the third day, 47 And that repentance, and remission of sinnes should be preached in his Name among all nations, [h] beginning at Hierusalem.

¶ The Holy Gospel of Iesus Christ, according to Iohn.

CHAP. I.

1 That word begotten of God before all worldes, 2 and which was euer with the Father, 14 is made man. 6. 7. For what end Iohn was sent from God: 16 His preaching of Christs office: 19. 20 The record that he bare giuen out vnto the Priests. 40 The calling of Andrew, 42 of Peter, 43 Phillippe, 45 and Nathanael.

1 The Sonne of God is of one, and the selfe same eternitie or euerlastingnesse, and of one and the selfe same essence or nature with the Father.

IN [1] the [a] beginning [b] was [c] that Word, and that Word was [d] with God, and that [e] Word was God.

2 This same was in the beginning with God.

3 *[2] All [f] things were made by it, and [g] without it [h] was made nothing that was made.

4 [i] In it [k] was life, and that life was [l] the light of men.

5 [3] And that light shineth in [y] darkenesse, and the darkenesse [m] comprehended it not.

6 ¶ *[4] There was a man sent from God, whose name was Iohn.

7 This same came for a witnesse, to beare witnesse of that light, that all men [n] through him might beleeue.

8 Hee was not [o] that light, but was sent to beare witnesse of that light.

6 [5] This was [p] that true light, which lighteth euery man that commeth into the world.

10 [q] He was in the world, and the world was *made by him: and the world knew him not.

11 He came [r] vnto his owne, and his owne receiued him not.

12 [6] But as many as receiued him, to them he gaue [f] prerogatiue to be the sonnes of God, euen to them that beleeue in his Name.

13 Which are borne not of blood, nor of the [t] will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God.

14 *[7] And that Word was made [u] flesh, and [x] dwelt among vs, (and we *saw the [y] glorie thereof, [z] as the glory of the only begotten Sonne of the Father) [a] full of grace and trueth.

15 ¶ [8] Iohn bare witnesse of him, and cryed, saying, This was hee of whom I sayd, He that commeth [b] after me, was [c] before me: for he was better then I.

16 *[9] And of his fulnesse haue all wee receiued, and [d] grace for grace.

17 For the Law was giuen by Moses, but grace, and trueth came by Iesus Christ.

18 [10] *No man hath seene God at any time: that onely begotten Sonne, which is in the [e] bosome of the Father, hee hath [f] declared him.

19 ¶ [11] Then this is the record of Iohn, when the Iewes sent Priestes and Leuites from Hierusalem to aske him, Who art thou?

20 And he [g] confessed and [h] denied not, and sayd plainely, I *am not that Christ.

21 And they asked him, What then? Art thou

1 The Sonne of God is of one, and the selfe same eternitie or euerlastingnesse, and of one and the selfe same essence or nature with the Father. a From the beginning, as the Euangelist saith, 1. epistle 1. 1. as though he said, that the word began not then to haue his being, when God began to make all that was made: for the word was euen then when all things that were made, beganne to be made, and therefore he was before the beginning of al things. b Had his being. c This worde That, pointeth out vnto vs a peculiar and choise thing aboue all other, and putteth a difference betweene this Word, which is the Sonne of God, and the Lawes of God, which otherwise are also called the word of God. d This word With, pointeth out the distinction of persons to vs. e This word (Word) is the first in order in the sentence, & is that which the learned call (Subiectum) and this worde (God) is the latter in order, and the same which the learned call (predicatum) *Col. 1. 16. 2 The sonne of God declareth that same his euerlasting Godhead, both by the creating of all things, and also by the preseruing of them, and especially by the excellent giftes of reason and vnderstanding wherewith he hath beautified man aboue all other creatures. f Paul expoundeth this place, Coloss. 1. 15. and 16. verses. g That is, as the Father did worke, so did the Sonne work with him, for he was fellow worker with him. h Of all those things which were made, nothing was made without him. i That is, by him: and it is spoken after the maner of the Hebrewes, meaning thereby that by his force and working power, all life commeth to the world. k To wit, euen then, when all things are made by him, for else hee would haue said, Life is in him, and not life was. l That force of reason and vnderstanding, which is kindled in our mindes to acknowledge him, the authour of so great a benefit. 3 The light of men is turned into darkenesse, but yet so, that there is clearenesse ynough to make them without excuse. m They could not perceiue nor reach vnto it, to receiue any light of it, no, they did not so much as acknowledge him. *Matth. 3. 1. marke 1. 4. Iake 3. 1. 4 There is another more full manifestation of the Sonne of God, to the consideration whereof men are in good time stirred vp, euen by Iohns voyce, who is as it were the herault of Christ. n Through Iohn. o That light which we spake of, to wit, Christ, who only can lighten our darknesse. 4 When as the Sonne of God sawe, that men did not acknowledge him by his workes, although they were endued with vnderstanding (which he had giuen to them all) hee exhibited himselfe vnto his people to be seene of them with their corporall eyes: yet neither so did they acknowledge him, nor receiue him. p Who onely and properly deserueth to be called the light, for he shineth of himselfe and boroweth light of none. q The person of the Word, was made manifest euen at that time when the world was made. *Heb. 1. 3. r The Word shewed himselfe againe, when he came in the flesh.

6 The Sonne being shut out of the most of his people, and acknowledged but of a few, doth regenerate them by his owne vertue and power, and receiueth them into that honor which is common to all the children of God, that is to be the sons of God. f He vouchsafeth to giue them this prerogatiue to take them to be his children.

t Of that grosse and corrupt nature of man, which is thorowout the Scripture set as enemie to the spirit. *Matth. 1. 16.

7 That Sonne who is God from euerlasting tooke vpon him mans nature, that one and the selfe same might bee both God and man, which manifest appeared to many witnesses, that saw him among whom he was conuersant, and but whom by sure & vnoubted arguments he shewed both his natures.

u That is, man: so that the part is taken for the whole, by the figure Synecdoche: for he tooke vpon him all our whole nature, that is to say, a true body, and a true soule. x For a season, and when that was ended, he went vp into heauen: for the word which he vseth, is taken from tents: and yet notwithstanding, his absence from vs in body is not such, but that he is alwayes present with vs, though not in flesh, yet by the vertue of his spirit *Matth. 17. 2. 2. pet. 1. 17. y The glory which he speaketh of here is that manifestation of Christ his maiestie, which was as it were layd open before our eyes, when the Sonne of God appeared in flesh. z This word (as) doth not in this place betoken a likenesse, but the trueth of the matter, for his meaning is this, that we saw such a glory, as beseemed and was meete for the true and only begotten Sonne of God, who is Lord and King ouer all the world. a He was not onely a partaker of grace and trueth, but was full of the very substance of grace and trueth. 8 Iohn is a faithfull witnesse of the excellencie of Christ. b That is, He before whom I am sent to prepare him the way: so that these words are referred to the time of his calling, and not of his age, for Iohn was sixe moneths older then he. c This sentence hath in it a turning of the reason as we call it, as who should say, a setting of that first which should be last, and that last which should be first, for in plaine speech this it is, Hee that commeth after me, is better then I am, for he was before me. The like kinde of turning the reason we finde in Luke 7. 47. many sinnes are forgiuen her, because she loued much, which is thus much to say, she loued much, because many sins are forgiuen her. *Col. 1. 19. and 2. 9. 9 Christ is the most plentifull fountaine of all goodnesse, but then he powred out his gifts most bountifully, when as he exhibited and shewed himselfe to the world. d That is, grace vpon grace, as a man would say, graces heaped one vpon another. 10 The true knowledge of God proceedeth onely from Iesus Christ. *1. Tim 6. 16. 1. Ioh. 4. 12. e Who is nearest to his father, not onely in respect of his loue towards him, but by the bond of nature, and for that vnion or oneneesse that is betweene them, whereby the Father and the Sonne are one. f Reuealed him and shewed him vnto vs whereas before he was hid vnder the shadowes of the Law, so that the quickenesse of the sight of our mindes was not able to perceiue him: for whosoeuer seeth him seeth the Father also. 11 Iohn is neither the Messias, nor like to any of the other Prophets, but is the herault of Christ who is now present. g Hee did acknowledge him, and spake of him plainely and openly. h This rehearsing of one and the selfe same thing, though in diuers wordes, is vsed much of the Hebrewes, and it hath great force, for they vse to speake one thing twise, to set it out more certainely and plainely. *Acts 13. 25.

thou Elias? And he said, I am not. Art thou [k] that Prophet? And he answered, No.

22 Then saide they vnto him, Who art thou, that we may giue an answer to them that sent vs? What sayest thou of thy selfe?

23 He saide, I am the voyce of him that cryeth in the wildernesse, Make straight the way of the Lord, as said the Prophet Esaias.

24 [12] Now they which were sent, were of the Pharises.

25 And they asked him, and said vnto him, [l] Why baptizest thou then, if thou be not that Christ, neither Elias, nor that Prophet?

26 Iohn answered them, saying, I baptize with water: but there is one [m] among you, whom ye know not.

27 *He it is that commeth after me, which was before me, whose shoe latchet I am not worthy to vnloose.

28 These things were done in Bethabara beyond Iordan, where Iohn did baptize.

29 [13] The next day Iohn seeth Iesus comming vnto him, and saith, Beholde [n] that Lambe of God, which [o] taketh away the [p] sinne of the world.

30 This is he of whom I said, After mee commeth a man, which was before me: for he was better then I.

31 And [q] I knew him not: but because he should be declared to Israel, therefore am I come, baptizing with water.

32 [14] So Iohn bare record, saying, I beheld *that Spirit come downe from heauen, like a doue, and it abode vpon him, 33 And I knew him not: but hee that sent me to baptize with water, he said vnto me, Vpon whome thou shalt see the Spirite come downe, and tarie still on him, that is hee which baptizeth with the holy Ghost.

34 And I sawe, and bare record that this is [r] that Sonne of God.

35 [15] The next day Iohn stood againe, and two of his disciples.

36 [16] And hee beheld Iesus walking by, and said, Behold that Lambe of God.

37 [17] And the two disciples heard him speake, and followed Iesus.

38 Then Iesus turned about, and sawe them followe and saide vnto them, What seeke yee? And they sayd vnto him, Rabbi (which is to say by interpretation, Master) [s] where dwellest thou?

39 Hee sayd vnto them, Come, and see. They came and sawe where hee dwelt, and abode with him that day: for it was about the [t] tenth houre.

40 Andrew, Simon Peters brother, was one of the two which had heard it of Iohn, and that followed him.

41 The same found his brother Simon first, and saide vnto him, Wee haue founde that Messias, which is by interpretation, that [u] Christ.

42 And hee brought him to Iesus. And Iesus beheld him, and said, Thou art Simon the sonne of Iona: thou shalt bee called Cephas, which is by interpretation, a stone.

43 The day following, Iesus would go into Galile, and found Philip, and said vnto him, Follow me.

44 Now Philip was of Bethsaida, the citie of Andrew and Peter.

45 [18] Philip found Nathanael, and sayde vnto him, We haue found him of whom *Moses did write in the Lawe, and the *Prophets, Iesus that sonne of Ioseph, that was of Nazareth.

46 Then Nathanael sayd vnto him, Can there any good thing come out of Nazareth? Philip said to him, Come, and see.

47 [20] Iesus sawe Nathanael comming to him, and said of him, Behold indeede an Israelite, in whom is no guile.

48 [21] Nathanael sayd vnto him, Whence knewest thou mee? Iesus answered, and sayde vnto him, Before that Philippe called thee, when thou wast vnder the figge tree, I saw thee.

49 Nathanael answered, and sayde vnto him, Rabbi, thou art that Sonne of God: thou art that King of Israel.

50 Iesus answered, and sayde vnto him, Because I saide vnto thee, I sawe thee vnder the figtree, beleeuest thou? thou shalt see greater things then these.

51 And he saith vnto him, Verely, verely I say vnto you, hereafter shall yee see heauen open, and the Angels of God *[x] ascending, and descending vpon that Sonne of man.

CHAP. II.

1 Christ turneth water into wine, 11 which was the beginning of his miracles. 12 He goeth downe to Capernaum, 13 from thence he goeth vp to Hierusalem, 15 and casteth the merchandise out of the Temple. 19 He foretelleth that the Temple, that is, his bodie shall be destroyed of the Iewes. 23 Many beleeue in him, seeing the miracles which he did.

[k] The Iewes thought that Elias should come againe before the daies of Messias, and they tooke the ground of that their opinion out of Mal. 4.5. which place is to be vnderstood of Iohn, Matth. 11.14. And yet Iohn denieth that he is Elias, answering them in deede according as they meant.

[l] They inquire of some great Prophet, and not of Christ, for Iohn denied before that he is Christ, for they thought that some great Prophet should be sent like vnto Moses, wresting to that purpose that place of Deut. 18.15. which is to be vnderstood of all the company of the Prophets and ministers, which haue beene and shall be to the end, and especially of Christ who is the head of all Prophets. Isa. 40.3. mat. 3.3. luke 3.4.

[m] Christ is the authour of baptisme, and not Iohn: and therefore the force thereof consisteth not in Iohn, who is the minister, but wholy in Christ the Lord.

[n] Hereby we may proue, that the Iewes knew there should be some change in religion vnder Messias.

[o] Whom all the world seeth, and euen amongst you.

[p] Matth. 3.11. marke 1.7. luke 3.16. acts 1.5. & 11.16. and 19.4.

[q] I neuer knew him by face before.

[r] This word (That) pointeth out vnto vs some excellent thing, & maketh difference betweene Christ and other, whom Moses and the Prophets commonly call the sonnes of God, or the sonnes of the most High.

[s] Where is thy lodging?

[t] The night grew on.

[u] That is, annointed, & king after the maner of the Iewish people.

[x] By these words, the power of God is signified which should appeare in his ministerie by the angels serving him, as the head of the Church.

[18] The good ingenuours euen of the vnlearned, God doth so allow, that he maketh them maisters to the learned.

[19] We must especially take heede of false presumptions, which shut vp against vs the entrance to Christ.

[21] The end of miracles is to set before vs Christ the Almighty, and also the onely authour of our saluation, that we may apprehend him by faith.

[13] The body and trueth of all the sacrifices of the Law, to make satisfaction for the sinne of the world, is in Christ. n This word (that) which is added, hath great force in it, not onely to set forth the worthinesse of Christ, and so to separate him from the Lambe, which was a figure of him, and from all other sacrifices, of the Law, but also to bring into our mindes the Prophecies of Esai and others. o This word of the present time, signifieth a continuall act, for the Lambe hath this vertue proper vnto him, and foreuer, to take away the sinnes of the world. p That is, that roote of sinnes, to wit, our corruption, and so consequently the fruites of sinne, which are commonly called in the plurall number, sinnes. q I neuer knew him by face before. 14 Christ is proued to be the Sonne of God, by the comming downe of the holy Ghost, by the fathers voice, and by Iohns testimonie. * Matth. 3.16. marke 1.10. luke 3.22.

1 Christ declaring openly in an assembly by a notable miracle, that he hath power ouer the nature of things, to feede mans body, leadeth the mindes of all men, to his spirituall and liuing vertue and power.

2 After the talke which hee had with Nathanael, or after that he departed from Iohn, or after that he came into Galile.

3 Christ is carefull enough of our saluation, and therefore hath no neede of others to put him in minde of it.

b Mine appointed time.

c These were vessels appointed for water, wherein they washed themselues.

d Euery firkin conteined an hundred pound, at twelue ounces the pound: Whereby we gather that Christ holpe them with a thousand and eight hundred pounds of wine.

e Worde for worde, are drunken: Now this speach, to bee drunken, is not alwayes taken in euill part in the Hebrew tongue, but signifieth sometime such store, and plentifull vse of wine, as doth not passe measure, as Gen. 43.34.

f That is, his Cousins.

3 Christ being made subiect to the Lawe for vs, satisfieth the Lawe of the Passeouer.

4 Christ being ordeined to purge the Church, doth with great zeale begin his office both of Priest and Prophet.

* Psal.69.9.

g Zeale in this place is taken for a wrathful indignation and displeasure of the minde, conceiued of some naughtie and euill dealing towardes them whom we loue well.

AND [1] the [a] thirde day, there was a mariage in Cana a towne of Galile, and the mother of Iesus was there.

2 And Iesus was called also, and his disciples vnto the mariage.

3 [2] Now when the wine failed, the mother of Iesus sayde vnto him, They haue no wine.

4 Iesus sayde vnto her, Woman, what haue I to doe with thee? mine [b] houre is not yet come.

5 His mother sayd vnto the seruaunts, Whatsoeuer he saith vnto you, do it.

6 And there were set there, sixe [c] waterpots of stone, after the maner of the purifying of the Iewes, conteining two or three [d] firkins a piece.

7 And Iesus saide vnto them, Fill the waterpots with water. Then they filled them vp to the brimme.

8 Then hee said vnto them, Drawe out now, & beare vnto the gouernour of the feast. So they bare it.

9 Now when the gouernour of the feast had tasted the water that was made wine, (for he knew not whence it was: but the seruants, which drew the water, knewe) the gouernour of the feast called the bridegrome,

10 And saide vnto him, All men at the beginning set foorth good wine, and when men haue [e] well drunke, then that which is worse: but thou hast kept backe the good wine vntill now.

11 This beginning of miracles did Iesus in Cana a towne of Galile, and shewed foorth his glory: and his disciples beleeued on him.

12 After that, he went downe into Capernaum, hee and his mother, and his [f] brethren, and his disciples: but they continued not many dayes there.

13 [3] For the Iewes Passeouer was at hand. Therfore Iesus went vp to Hierusalem.

14 [4] And hee found in the Temple those that sold oxen, and sheepe, and doues, and changers of money sitting there.

15 Then hee made a scourge of small cordes, and draue them all out of the Temple with the sheepe and oxen, and powred out the changers money, and ouerthrewe the tables, 16 And saide vnto them that solde doues, Take these things hence: make not my fathers house, an house of merchandise.

17 And his disciples remembred, that it was written, * The [g] zeale of thine house hath eaten me vp.

18 [5] Then answered the Iewes, and sayde vnto him, What [h] signe shewest thou vnto vs, that thou doest these things?

19 Iesus answered, and saide vnto them, * Destroy this Temple, and in three dayes I will raise it vp againe.

20 Then said the Iewes, Fourtie and sixe yeeres was this Temple a building, and wilt thou reare it vp in three dayes?

21 But hee spake of the [i] temple of his body.

22 Assoone therefore as he was risen from the dead, his disciples remembred that hee thus saide vnto them: and they beleeued the Scripture, & the word which Iesus had sayd.

23 Now when hee was at Hierusalem at the Passeouer in the feast, many beleeued in his Name, when they sawe his miracles which he did.

24 [6] But Iesus did not commit himselfe vnto them, because he knew them all, 25 [7] And had not need that any should testifie of man: for he knew what was in man.

h With what miracle doest thou confirme it, that we may see that heauenly power and vertue, which giueth thee authoritie to speake and doe thus? * Mat.26.61. and 27.40. mar.14.58. and 15.29.

i That is, of his body.

6 It is not good crediting them, which stand only vpon miracles.

8 Christ is the searcher of hartes, and therefore true God.

CHAP. III.

1 Christ teacheth Nicodemus the very principles of Christian regeneration. 14 The serpent in the wildernesse 23 Iohn baptizeth, 27 And teacheth his, that hee is not Christ.

THERE [1] was nowe a man of the Pharises, named Nicodemus, a [a] ruler of the Iewes.

2 This man came to Iesus by night, and said vnto him, Rabbi, we know that thou art a [b] teacher come from God: for no man could do these miracles that thou doest, [c] except God were with him.

3 [2] Iesus answered, and saide vnto him, Verily, verily I say vnto thee, Except a man be borne againe, he cannot [d] see the [e] kingdome of God.

4 Nicodemus sayd vnto him, How [f] can a man be borne which is old? can he enter into his mothers wombe againe, and be borne?

5 Iesus answered, Verely, verely I say vnto thee, except that a man be borne of water and of the Spirite, hee cannot enter into the kingdoms of God.

6 That [g] which is borne of the flesh, is flesh: and that which is borne of the Spirit, is spirit.

7 Marueile not that I said vnto thee, Ye must be borne againe.

8 The winde bloweth where it [h] listeth,

1 There are none sometimes more vnlearned, then the learned: but as well the learned as the vnlearned must desire wisdome of Christ surely.

a A man of great estimation, and a ruler amongst the Iewes.

b We know that thou art sent from God to teach vs.

c But he in whō some part of the excellencie of God appeareth. And if Nicodemus had knowen Christ aright, he would not onely haue said that God was with him, but in him, as Paul doeth. 2.Corinthians. 1.19.

2 The beginning of Christianitie consisteth in this, that we know our selues not onely to be corrupt in part, but to bee wholy dead in sinne: so that our nature hath neede to bee created a newe, as touching the qualities thereof: which can bee done by no other meane, but by the diuine and heauenly, whereby we were first created.

d That is, goe in, or enter, as hee expounded himselfe afterward, verse 5.

e The Church: for Christ sheweth in this place, howe wee come to be citizens, and to haue ought to doe in the citie of God.

f How can I that am old, be borne againe? for he answereth, as if Christ his words belonged to none but to him.

g That is, fleshly, to wit, wholy vncleane and vnder the wrath of God: and therefore this word (Flesh) signifieth the corrupt nature of man: contrary to which is the (Spirit) that is, the man ingrafted into Christ through the grace of the holy Ghost, whose nature is euerlasting and immortall, though the strife of the flesh remaine.

h With free and wandring blasts as it listeth.

5 Against them which so binde God to an ordinarie calling which they themselues most shamefully abuse, that they will not admit an extraordinarie, which God confirmeth from heauen (and they although in vaine should haue it extinguished) vnlesse it be sealed with outward and bodily miracles.

and

and thou heareſt the ſound thereof, but canſt not tell whence it commeth, and whither it goeth: ſo is euery man that is borne of the Spirit.

9 [3] Nicodemus anſwered, and ſaid vnto him, How can theſe things be?

10 Jeſus anſwered, and ſaide vnto him, Art thou a teacher of Iſrael, and knoweſt not theſe things?

11 Uerely, verely I ſay vnto thee, Wee ſpeake that we know, and teſtifie that we haue ſeene: but ye receiue not our [i] witneſſe.

12 If when I tell you earthly things, yee beleeue not, how ſhould yee beleeue, if I ſhall tell you of heauenly things?

13 For no [k] man [l] aſcendeth vp to heauen, but he that hath deſcended from heauen, [m] that Sonne of man which [n] is in heauen.

14 *And as Moſes lift vp the ſerpent in the wilderneſſe, ſo muſt that Sonne of man be lift vp, 15 That whoſoeuer beleeueth in him, ſhould not periſh, but haue eternall life.

16 *[5] For God ſo loued the worlde, that he hath giuen his onely begotten Sonne, that whoſoeuer beleeueth [o] in him, ſhould not periſh, but haue euerlaſting life.

17 *[6] For God ſent not his Sonne into the worlde, that hee ſhoulde [p] condemne the worlde, but that the [q] worlde throughe him might be ſaued.

18 Hee that beleeueth in him, is not condemned: but he that beleeueth not, is condemned already, becauſe hee hath not beleeued in the Name of that onely begotten Sonne of God.

19 *[7] And this is the [r] condemnation, that the light came into the worlde, and men loued darkeneſſe rather then that light, becauſe their deedes were euill.

20 For euery man that euill doeth, hateth the light, neither commeth to the light, leſt his deedes ſhould be reproued.

21 But he that [ſ] doeth trueth, commeth to the light, that his deedes might bee made manifeſt, that they are wrought [t] according to God.

22 ¶ After theſe things came Jeſus and his diſciples into the lande of Judea, and there taried with them, and * baptized.

23 And John alſo baptized in Enon beſides Salim, becauſe there was much water there: and they came, and were baptized.

24 For John was not yet caſt into priſon.

25 [8] Then there aroſe a queſtion betweene Johns diſciples and the Jewes, about purifying.

26 And they came vnto John, and ſaid vnto him, Rabbi, hee that was with thee beyond Jorden, to whom *thou bareſt witnes, behold, he baptizeth, and all men come to him.

27 John anſwered and ſayd, A man [u] can receiue nothing, except it bee giuen him from heauen.

28 Yee your ſelues are my witneſſes, that *I ſayd, I am not that Chriſt, but that I am ſent before him.

29 Hee that hath the bride, is the bridegrome: but the friend of the bridegrome which ſtandeth and heareth him, reioyceth greatly, becauſe of the bridegromes voyce. This my ioy therefore is fulfilled.

30 He muſt increaſe, but I muſt decreaſe.

31 He that is come from an high, is aboue all: he that is of the earth, is of the [x] earth, and [y] ſpeaketh of the earth: hee that is come from heauen, is aboue all.

32 And what hee hath [z] ſeene and heard, that hee teſtifieth: but [a] no man receiueth his teſtimonie.

33 Hee that hath receiued his teſtimonie, hath ſealed that *God is true.

34 For he whom God hath ſent, ſpeaketh the wordes of God: for God giueth him not the ſpirit by meaſure, 35 The Father loueth the ſonne, and hath *[b] giuen all things into his hand.

36 *He that beleeueth in the Sonne, hath euerlaſting life, and hee that obeyeth not the Sonne, ſhal not [c] ſee life, but the wrath of God abideth on him.

* Chap. 4. 1.

8 Satan inflameth the diſciples of John with a fond emulation of their maſter, to hinder the courſe of the Goſpel: but John being mindefull of his office, doth not onely breake off their endeuours, but alſo taketh occaſion thereby, to giue teſtimonie of Chriſt, how that in him onely the Father hath ſet forth life euerlaſting.

* The ſecret myſterie of our regeneration (which cannot bee comprehended by mans capacitie, is perceiued by faith, and that in Chriſt onely, becauſe that he is both God on earth, and man in heauen, that is to ſay, in ſuch ſort man, that he is God alſo, and therefore almightie: and in ſuch ſort God, that he is man alſo, and therefore his power is manifeſt vnto vs.

i You handle doubtful things and ſuch as you haue no certaine author for, and yet men beleeue you: but I teach thoſe things that are of a trueth and well knowen, and you beleeue me not.

called Sychar, neere vnto the poſſeſſion that *Iacob gaue to his ſonne Ioſeph.

6 And there was Iacobs well. Ieſus then wearied in the iourney, ſate [a] thus on the well: it was about the [b] ſixt houre.

7 There came a woman of Samaria to drawe water: Ieſus ſayd vnto her, Giue me drinke.

8 For his Diſciples were gone away into the citie, to buy meate.

9 Then ſayde the woman of Samaria vnto him, How is it, that thou being a Iewe, aſkeſt drinke of me, which am a woman of Samaria? for the Iewes [c] meddle not with the Samaritans.

10 Ieſus anſwered and ſaide vnto her, If thou kneweſt that [d] gift of God, and who it is that ſaith to thee, Giue me drinke, thou wouldeſt haue aſked of him, and he would haue giuen thee [e] water of life.

11 The woman ſaid vnto him, Syr, thou haſt nothing to drawe with, and the well is deepe: from whence then haſt thou that water of life?

12 Art thou greater then our father Iacob, which gaue vs the well, and he himſelf dranke thereof, and his ſonnes, and his cattell?

13 Ieſus anſwered, and ſayde vnto her, Whoſoeuer drinketh of this water, ſhall thirſt againe:

14 But whoſoeuer drinketh of the water that I ſhall giue him, ſhall neuer bee more athirſt: but the water that I ſhall giue him, ſhal be in him a well of water, ſpringing vp into euerlaſting life.

15 The woman ſaide vnto him, Syr, giue me of that water, that I may not thirſt, neither come hither to drawe.

16 Ieſus ſaid vnto her, Goe, call thine huſband, and come hither.

17 The woman anſwered, and ſayd, I haue no huſband. Ieſus ſayde vnto her, Thou haſt well ſayd, I haue no huſband.

18 For thou haſt had fiue huſbands, and he whom thou nowe haſt, is not thine huſband: that ſayedſt thou truely.

19 The woman ſayd vnto him, Syr, I ſee that thou art a Prophet.

20 [3] Our Fathers worſhipped in this [f] mountaine, and yee ſay, that in *Ieruſalem is the place where men ought to worſhip.

21 Ieſus ſaid vnto her, Woman beleeue me, the houre commeth, when yee ſhall neither in this mountaine, nor at Hieruſalem worſhip the Father.

22 Ye worſhip that which ye *know not: we worſhip that which we know: for ſaluation is of the Iewes.

23 But the houre commeth, and now is, when the true worſhippers ſhall worſhippe the Father in [g] ſpirit, and trueth: for the father requireth euen ſuch to worſhip him.

24 *God is a [h] ſpirit, and they that worſhip him, muſt worſhip him in ſpirit and trueth.

25 The woman ſaide vnto him, I knowe well that Meſſias ſhall come which is called Chriſt: when hee is come, hee will tell vs all things.

26 Ieſus ſayde vnto her, I am hee, that ſpeake vnto thee.

27 ¶ And vpon that, came his Diſciples, and marueiled that hee talked with a woman: yet no man ſayd vnto him, What aſkeſt thou? or why talkeſt thou with her?

28 The woman then left her waterpot, and went her way into the citie, and ſayde to the men, 29 Come, ſee a man which hath told me all things that euer I did: is not he that Chriſt?

30 Then they went out of the citie, and came vnto him.

31 ¶ In the meane while, the Diſciples prayed him, ſaying, Maiſter, eate.

32 [4] But he ſaid vnto them, I haue meate to eate that ye know not of.

33 Then ſaid the diſciples betweene themſelues, Hath any man brought him meate?

34 Ieſus ſaid vnto them, My meat is that I may doe the will of him that ſent mee, and finiſh his worke.

35 [5] Say not ye, There are yet foure moneths, and then commeth harueſt? Behold, I ſay vnto you, Lift vp your eyes, and looke on the regions: *for they are white already vnto harueſt.

36 [6] And he that reapeth, receiueth reward, and gathereth fruit vnto life eternal, that both he that ſoweth, and hee that reapeth, might reioyce together.

37 For herein is the [i] ſaying true, that one ſoweth, and another reapeth.

38 I ſent you to reape that, whereon yee beſtowed no labour: other men laboured, and ye are entred into their labours.

39 [7] Nowe many of the Samaritanes of that citie beleeued in him, for the ſaying of the woman which teſtified, Hee hath tolde mee all things that euer I did.

40 Then when the Samaritanes were come vnto him, they beſought him, that hee would tary with them: and he abode there two dayes.

41 And many moe beleeued becauſe of his owne word.

42 And they ſayd vnto the woman, Now we beleeue, not becauſe of thy ſaying: for wee haue heard him our ſelues, and knowe that this is in deede that Chriſt the Sauiour of the world.

CHAP. V.

1 One lying at the poole, 5 is healed of Chriſt on the Sabbath: 10 The Iewes that raſhly finde fault with that his deede, 17 he conuinceth with the authoritie of his Father. 19 20 He proueth his diuine power by many reaſons, 45 and with Moſes teſtimonie.

AFter * that, there was a feaſt of the Iewes and Ieſus went vp to Ieruſalem.

2 [1] And there is at Hieruſalem by the place of the ſheepe, a [a] poole called in Ebrewe [b] Bethesda, hauing fiue porches:

3 In the which lay a great multitude of ſicke folke, of blinde, halte, and withered, waytung for the mouing of the water.

4 For an Angel went downe at a certaine ſeaſon into the poole, and troubled the water: whoſoeuer then firſt, after the ſtirring of the water, ſtepped in, was made whole of whatſoeuer diſeaſe he had.

5 And a certaine man was there, which had bene diſeaſed eight and thirtie yeeres.

6 When Ieſus ſawe him lie, and knewe that he now long time had bene diſeaſed, hee ſaid vnto him, Wilt thou be made whole?

7 The ſicke man anſwered him, Sir, I haue no man, when the water is troubled, to put me into the poole: but while I am comming, another ſtepped downe before me.

8 Ieſus ſayd vnto him, Riſe: take vp thy bed and walke.

9 And immediatly the man was made whole, and tooke vp his bed, and walked: and the ſame day was the Sabbath.

10 [2] The Iewes therefore ſaid to him that was made whole, It is the Sabbath day: * it is not lawfull for thee to cary thy bed.

11 Hee anſwered them, Hee that made me whole, he ſaid vnto mee, Take vp thy bed and walke.

12 Then aſked they him, What man is that which ſaid vnto thee, Take vp thy bed, and walke?

13 And hee that was healed, knew not who it was: for Ieſus had conucied himſelf away from the multitude that was in that place.

14 And after that, Ieſus found him in the Temple, and ſaid vnto him, Beholde, thou art made whole: ſinne no more, leſt a worſe thing come vnto thee.

15 ¶ The man departed and tolde the Iewes that it was Ieſus, which had made him whole.

16 And therefore the Iewes did perſecute Ieſus, and ſought to ſlay him, becauſe he had done theſe things on the Sabbath day.

17 [3] But Ieſus anſwered them, My Father worketh hitherto, and I worke.

18 * Therefore the Iewes ſought the more to kill him: not onely becauſe hee had broken the Sabbath: but ſayd alſo that God was [c] his Father, and made himſelfe equall with God.

19 Then anſwered Ieſus, and ſayd vnto them, Verely verely I ſay vnto you, the Sonne can doe nothing [d] of himſelfe, ſaue that he [e] ſeeth the Father doe: for what ſoeuer things hee doeth, the ſame things doth the Sonne [f] in like maner.

20 For the Father loueth the Sonne, and ſheweth him all things, whatſoeuer hee himſelfe doth, and he will ſhew him greater works then theſe, that ye ſhould marueile.

21 [4] For likewiſe as the Father raiſeth vp the dead, and quickeneth them, ſo the Sonne quickeneth whom he will.

AFter these things, Iesus went his way [a] ouer [t] the sea of Galile, which is Tiberias,

2 And a great multitude followed him, because thy saw his miracles, which hee did on them that were diseased.

3 Then Iesus went vp into a mountaine, and there he sate with his Disciples.

4 Nowe the Passeouer, a * feast of the Iewes, was neere.

6 (And this he sayd to proone him: for he himselfe knew what he would doe.)

7 Philip answered him, Two hundreth penyworth of bread is not sufficient for them, that euery one of them may take a little.

8 Then said vnto him one of his disciples, Andrew, Simon Peters brother, 9 There is a litle boy here, which hath fiue barlie loaues, & two fishes: but what are they among so many?

10 And Iesus sayd, Make the people sit downe. (Now there was much grasse in that place.) Then the men sate downe in number, about fiue thousand.

11 And Iesus tooke the bread, and gaue thankes, and gaue to the disciples, and the disciples to them that were set downe: and likewise of the fishes as much as they would.

12 And when they were satisfied, he sayd, vnto his disciples, Gather vp the broken meat which remaineth, that nothing be lost.

13 Then they gathered it together, and filled twelue baskets with the broken meate of the fiue barlie loaues, which remained vnto them that had eaten.

14 Then the men, when they had ſeene the miracle that Ieſus did, ſayd, This is of a trueth that Prophet that ſhould come into the world.

15 [2] When Ieſus therefore perceiued that they would come, and take him to make him a King, hee departed againe into a mountaine himſelfe alone.

16 ¶ [3] When euen was now come, his diſciples went downe vnto the ſea, 17 *And entred into a ſhip, and went ouer the ſea, [b] towards Capernaum: and now it was darke, and Ieſus was not come to them.

18 And the Sea aroſe with a great wind that blew.

19 And when they had rowed about fiue and twentie, or thirtie furlongs, they ſaw Ieſus walking on the ſea, and drawing neere vnto the ſhip: ſo they were afraid.

20 But he ſaid vnto them, It is I: be not afraid.

21 Then [c] willingly they receiued him into the ſhip: and the ſhip was by and by at the land whither they went.

22 ¶ The day following, the people which ſtood on the other ſide of the ſea, ſaw that there was none other ſhip there, ſaue that one, whereinto his diſciples were entred, and that Ieſus went not with his diſciples in the ſhip, but that his diſciples were gone alone,

23 And that there came other ſhips from Tiberias neere vnto the place where they ate the bread, after the Lord had giuen thanks.

24 Now when the people ſaw that Ieſus was not there, neither his diſciples, they alſo tooke ſhipping, and came to Capernaum, ſeeking for Ieſus.

25 And when they had found him on the other ſide of the ſea, they ſayd vnto him, Rabbi, when cameſt thou hither?

26 [4] Ieſus anſwered them, and ſaid, Verely, verely I ſay vnto you, yee ſeeke me not becauſe yee ſaw the miracles, but becauſe yee ate of the loaues, and were filled.

27 [d] Labour not for the meate which periſheth, but for the meate that endureth vnto euerlaſting life, which the Sonne of man ſhall giue vnto you: for him hath *God the Father [e] ſealed.

28 Then ſayd they vnto him, What ſhall wee doe, that we might worke the [f] workes of God?

29 [5] Ieſus anſwered, and ſaid vnto them, *[g] This is the worke of God, that ye beleeue in him, whom he hath ſent.

30 [6] They ſayd therefore vnto him, What ſigne ſheweſt thou then, that wee may ſee it, and beleeue thee? what doeſt thou worke?

31 Our fathers did eate Manna in the deſart, as it is *written, He gaue them bread from heauen to eate.

32 [7] Then Ieſus ſaid vnto them, Verely, verely I ſay vnto you, Moſes gaue you not [h] that bread from heauen, but my Father giueth you that true bread from heauen.

33 For the bread of God is he which commeth downe from heauen, & giueth life vnto the world.

34 Then they ſaid vnto him, Lord, euermore giue vs this bread.

35 And Ieſus ſaid vnto them, I am that bread [i] of life: hee that commeth to mee, ſhall not hunger, and hee that beleeueth in me, ſhall neuer thirſt.

36 But I ſaid vnto you, that ye alſo haue ſeene me, and beleeue not.

37 [8] All that the Father giueth mee, ſhall come to mee: and him that commeth to me, I caſt not away.

38 For I came downe from heauen, not to doe mine [k] owne will, but his will which hath ſent me.

39 And this is the Fathers will which hath ſent mee, that of all which hee hath giuen mee, I ſhould loſe nothing, but ſhould raiſe it vp againe at the laſt day.

40 And this is the will of him that ſent me, that euery man which [l] ſeeth the Sonne, and beleeueth in him, ſhould haue euerlaſting life: and I will raiſe him vp at the laſt day.

41 [9] The Iewes then murmured at him becauſe hee ſaid, I am that bread which is come downe from heauen.

42 And they ſaid, *Is not this Ieſus that ſonne of Ioſeph, whoſe father and mother we know? how then ſaith hee, I came downe from heauen?

43 Ieſus then anſwered, and ſayd vnto them, Murmure not among your ſelues.

44 No man can come to mee, except the Father which hath ſent me, draw him: and I will raiſe him vp at the laſt day.

7 Chriſt, who is the true and only author and giuer of eternall life, was ſignified vnto the Fathers in Manna.

h Hee denieth that Manna was that true heauenly bread, & ſaith that he himſelfe is that true bread, becauſe hee feedeth vnto the true and euerlaſting life. And as for that, that Paul 1. Cor. 10. calleth Manna ſpirituall food, it maketh nothing againſt this place, for he ioyneth the thing ſignified with the ſigne: but in this whole diſputation, Chriſt dealeth with the Iewes after their owne opinion and conceit of the matter, and they had no further conſideration of the Manna, but in that it fed the belly.

l Seeing and beleeuing are ioyned together: for there is another kind of ſeeing which is general, which the deuils haue, for they ſee but here he ſpeaketh of that kind of ſeeing, which is proper to the elect.

9 Fleſh cannot perceiue ſpirituall things, and therefore the beginning of our ſaluation commeth from God.

who changeth our nature, ſo that we being inſpired of him, may aboue to be inſtructed & ſaued by Chriſt.

*Mat. 13.55. *Iſa. 54.13. iere. 31.33.

m In the booke of the Prophets, for the old Teſtament was diuided by the into three ſeuerall parts into the Law, the Prophets, & the holy writ.

n To wit, they ſhalbe children of the church, for ſo the Prophet Eſai expoundeth it, chap. 54.13. that is to ſay, ordeined to life, Act. 13.48. and therefore the knowledge of the heauenly truth is y gift and worke of God, & ſtandeth not in any power of man.

*Mat. 11.27.

o If the Sonne only hath ſeene the Father, then it is he only that can teach & inſtruct vs truly.

beleeueth

beleeueth in mee, hath euerlaſting life.

48 [10] I am that bread of life.

49 *Your fathers did eate Manna in the wilderneſſe, and are dead.

50 P This is that bread, which commeth downe from heauen, that he which eateth of it, ſhould not die.

51 [11] I am that [q] liuing bread, which came downe from heauen: if any man [r] eate of this bread, he ſhall liue for euer: and the bread that I will giue, is my fleſh, which I will giue for the life of the world.

52 [12] Then the Iewes ſtroue among themſelues, ſaying, How can this man giue vs his fleſh to eate?

53 Then Jeſus ſaid vnto them, Verily, verily, I ſay vnto you, Except ye eat the fleſh of the Sonne of man, and drinke his blood, ye haue no [s] life in you.

54 Whoſoeuer *eateth my fleſh, and drinketh my blood, hath eternall life, and I will raiſe him vp at the laſt day.

55 For my fleſh is meate indeed, and my blood is drinke in deed.

56 Hee that eateth my fleſh, and drinketh my blood, dwelleth in me, and I in him.

57 As [t] that liuing Father hath ſent me, ſo liue I by the [u] Father, and he that eateth me, euen he ſhall liue by mee.

58 This is that bread which came downe from heauen: not as your Fathers haue eaten Manna, and are dead. Hee that eateth of this bread, ſhall liue for euer.

59 Theſe things ſpake hee in the Synagogue, as he taught in Capernaum.

60 [13] Many therefore of his diſciples (when they heard this) ſayd, This is an hard ſaying: who can heare it?

61 But Jeſus knowing in himſelfe, that his diſciples murmured at this, ſayde vnto them, Doth this offend you?

62 What then if ye ſhould ſee that Sonne of man aſcend vp *where he was before?

63 [14] It is the [x] ſpirit that quickeneth: the fleſh profiteth nothing: the words that I ſpeake vnto you, are ſpirit and life.

64 But there ſome of you that beleeue not: for Jeſus knew from the beginning, which they were that beleeued not, and who ſhould betray him.

65 And hee ſaid, Therefore ſayd I vnto you, that no man can come vnto mee, except it be giuen vnto him of my Father.

66 [15] From that time, many of his diſciples went backe, & walked no more with him.

67 Then ſaid Jeſus to the twelue, Will ye alſo go away?

68 Then Simon Peter anſwered him, Maſter, to whom ſhall we goe? thou haſt the words of eternall life:

69 And wee beleeue and know that thou art that Chriſt that Sonne of the liuing God.

70 [16] Jeſus anſwered them, Haue not I *choſen you twelue, and one of you is a diuel?

71 Now he ſpake it of Judas Iſcariot the ſonne of Simon: for he it was that ſhould betray him, though he was one of the twelue.

10 The true vſe of Sacraments is to aſcend from them to the thing it ſelfe, that is, to Chriſt: by the partaking of whō onely, we get euerlaſting life.
*Exod. 16. 15.
p He pointed out himſelfe, when he ſpeaketh theſe words.
11 Chriſt being ſent from the father, is the ſelfe ſame vnto vs for the getting and keeping of euerlaſting life, that bread and fleſh, yea, meate and drinke, are to the vſe of this tranſitorie life.
q Which giueth life to the world.
r That is to ſay, whoſoeuer is partaker of Chriſt in deed, who is our food.
12 Fleſh cannot put a difference betweene fleſhly eating, which is done by the helpe of the teeth, and ſpirituall eating which conſiſteth in faith: and therefore it condemneth [y] which it vnderſtandeth not: yet notwithſtanding [z] truethe muſt be preached and taught.
s If Chriſt be preſent, life is preſent but when Chriſt is abſent, then is death preſent.
*1. Cor. 11. 27.
t In that that Chriſt is man, he receiueth that power, which quickeneth and giueth life to the that are his, of his Father: & he addeth this word (that) to make a difference betweene him and all other fathers.
u Chriſt his meaning is, [y] though hee bee man, yet his fleſh can giue life, not of the owne nature, but becauſe that fleſh of his liueth by the Father, that is to ſay, doeth ſucke and drawe out of the father, that power which it hath to giue.
13 The reaſon of man cannot comprehend the vniting of Chriſt and his members: therefore let it worſhip and reuerence that which is better then it ſelfe.
*Cha. 3. 13.
14 The fleſh of Chriſt doth therefore quicken vs, becauſe that bee that is man, is God: which myſterie is onely comprehended by faith, which is the gift of God, proper onely to the elect.
x Spirit, that is, that power which floweth from the Godhead, cauſeth the fleſh of Chriſt, which otherwiſe were nothing but fleſh, both to liue in it ſelfe, & to giue life to vs.
15 Such is the malice of men that they take occaſion of their own deſtruction, euen of the very doctrine of ſaluation, vnleſſe it bee a few, which beleeue through the ſingular gift of God.
16 The number of the profeſſors of Chriſt is very ſmal, and among them alſo there bee ſome hypocrites, and worſe then all other.
*Matth. 26. 16.

CHAP. VII.

2 Chriſt, after his couſins were gone vp to the feaſt of Tabernacles. 10 goeth thither priuily. 12 The peoples ſundry opinions of him. 14 He teacheth in the Temple. 32 The Prieſts command to take him. 41 Strife among the multitude about him, 47 and betweene the Phariſes and the officers that were ſent to take him, 50 and Nicodemus.

AFter theſe things, Jeſus walked in Galile, and would not walke in Judea: for the Iewes ſought to kill him.

2 Nowe the Iewes *[a] feaſt of the Tabernacles was at hand.

3 [1] His brethren therefore ſaid vnto him, Depart hence, and goe into Judea, that thy Diſciples may ſee thy workes that thou doeſt.

4 For there is no man that doth any thing ſecretly, and he himſelfe ſeeketh to be famous. If thou doeſt theſe things, ſhewe thy ſelfe to the world.

5 For as yet his [b] brethren beleeued not in him.

6 [2] Then Jeſus ſaid vnto them, My time is not yet come: but your time is alway readie.

7 The world cannot hate you: but mee it hateth, becauſe I teſtifie of it, that the workes thereof are euill.

8 Goe ye vp vnto this feaſt: I will not go vp yet vnto this feaſt: *for my time is not yet fulfilled.

9 ¶ Theſe things he ſaid vnto them, and abode ſtill in Galile.

10 [3] But aſſoone as his brethren were gone vp, then went hee alſo vp vnto the feaſt, not openly, but as it were priuily.

11 Then the Iewes ſought him at the feaſt, and ſaid, Where is he?

12 And much murmuring was there of him among the people. Some ſaide, He is a good man: other ſaid, Nay: but he deceiueth the people.

13 Howbeit no man ſpake [c] openly of him for feare of the Iewes.

*Leuit. 23. 34.
a This feaſt was ſo called, becauſe of the boothes and tents which they pight of diuers kindes of boughs, and ſate vnder them, ſeuen dayes together, all which time the feaſt laſted.
1 The grace of God commeth not by inheritance, but it is a gift that commeth other wayes: whereby it commeth to paſſe, that oftentimes the children of God ſuffer more affliction by their owne kinſfolkes, then by ſtrangers.
b His kinſfolkes: for ſo vſe the Hebrewes to ſpeake.
2 We muſt not follow the fooliſh deſires of our friends.
*Chap. 8. 20.
3 An example of horrible confuſion in the very boſome of the Church. The Paſtors oppreſſe the people with terrour and feare: the people ſeeke Chriſt, when he appeareth not: when he offereth himſelfe, they neglect him. Some alſo that knew him, condemne him rathly: a very fewe thinke well of him, and that in ſecrete.
c Or, boldly and freely: for the chiefe of the Iewes ſought nothing ſo much as to bury his fame and name.

14 [+]Now when [d] halfe the feast was done, Iesus went vp into the Temple and taught.

15 And the Iewes marueiled, saying, How knoweth this man the Scriptures, seeing that he neuer learned?

16 [5] Iesus answered them, and sayd, [e] My doctrine is not mine, but his that sent mee.

17 If any man will doe his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speake of my selfe.

18 [6] He that speaketh of himselfe, seeketh his owne glory: but he that seeketh his glory that sent him, the same is true, and no vnrighteousnesse is in him.

19 *[7] Did not Moses giue you a Law, and yet none of you keepeth the Law? Why goe ye about to kill me?

20 The people answered and sayd, Thou hast a deuill: who goeth about to kill thee?

21 [8] Iesus answered, and said to them, I haue done one worke, and ye all marueile.

22 *Moses therefore gaue vnto you circumcision, (not because it is of Moses, but of the *fathers) and yee on the Sabbath day circumcise a man.

23 If a man on the Sabbath receiue circumcision, that the [f] Law of Moses should not bee broken, be yee angry with mee, because I haue made a man euery whit whole on the Sabbath day?

24 *[9] Iudge not [g] according to the appearance, but iudge righteous iudgement.

25 ¶ [10] Then sayd some of them of Hierusalem, Is not this he, whom they goe about to kill?

26 And behold, hee speaketh openly, and they say nothing to him: doe the rulers know indeed that this is that Christ?

27 [11] Howbeit we know this man whence he is: but when that Christ commeth, no man shall know whence he is.

28 ¶ [12] Then cried Iesus in the Temple as he taught, saying, Ye both know mee, and know whence I am: yet am I not come of my selfe, but he that sent me, is true, whom ye know not.

29 But I know him: for I am of him, and he hath sent mee.

30 [13] Then they sought to take him, but no man laid hands on him, because his houre was not yet come.

31 Now many of the people beleeued in him, and saide, when that Christ commeth, will hee doe moe miracles then this man hath done?

32 [14] The Pharises heard that the people murmured these things of him, and the Pharises, and high Priests sent officers to take him.

33 Then sayd Iesus vnto them, Yet am I a little while with you, and then goe I vnto him that sent me.

34 *Ye shall seeke mee, and shall not finde me, and where I am, can ye not come.

35 Then sayde the Iewes among themselues, Whither will he goe, that we shall not finde him? Will hee goe vnto them that are [h] dispersed among the Grecians, and teach the Grecians?

36 What saying is this that hee sayd, Yee shall seeke mee, and shall not finde me? and where I am, can not ye come?

37 [15] Now in the [i] last and *great day of the feast, Iesus stood and cryed, saying, If any man thirst, let him come vnto mee, and drinke.

38 He that beleeueth in me, * as sayth the [k] Scripture, out of his belly shall flow riuers of water of life.

39 (*This spake he of the Spirit which they that beleeued in him, should receiue: for the [l] holy Ghost was not yet giuen, because that Iesus was not yet [m] glorified.)

40 [16] So many of the people, when they heard this saying, sayd, *Of a trueth this is that Prophet.

41 Other sayd, This is that Christ: and some sayd, But shall that Christ come out of Galile?

42 *Sayth not the Scripture that that Christ shall come of the seede of Dauid, and out of the town of Beth-lehem, where Dauid was?

43 So was there dissention among the people for him.

44 And some of them would haue taken him, but no man layd hands on him.

45 [17] Then came the officers to the hie Priests and Pharises, & they said vnto them, Why haue ye not brought him?

46 The officers answered, Neuer man spake like this man.

47 Then answered them the Pharises, Are ye also deceiued?

48 [18] Doth any of the rulers, or of the Pharises beleeue in him?

49 But this people, which know not the Law, are cursed.

4 Christ striueth with goodnesse against the wickednesse of the world: in the meane season the most part of men take occasion of offence euen by that same, whereby they ought to haue beene stirred vp to embrace Christ.

d About ỹ fourth day of the feast.

5 Therefore are there few to whō the Gospel sauoureth wel, because ỹ stanche of godlines is very rare.

e Looke aboue chap. 5. verse 22. and hee speaketh this after the opinion of ỹ Iewes, as if he sayd, My doctrine is not mine, that is, it is not his whō you take to be a man as other are, and therefore set light by him, but it is his that sent me.

6 The true doctrine of saluation differeth frō the false in this, that the same setteth forth the glory of God, and this by puffing vp of men, darkeneth ỹ glory of God.

9 We must iudge according to the trueth of things, lest the persons of men bar vs turne vs and carry vs away.

10 Many do marueile that the endeuours of the enemies of God haue no successe: yet in the meane season they do not acknowledge the vertue and power of God.

11 Men are very wise to deuise stoppes and stayes to themselues.

12 The trueth of Christ doeth not hang vpon the iudgement of man.

13 The wicked cannot doe what they lust, but what God hath appointed.

15 There are two principles of our saluation: the one to be thoroughly touched with a true feeling of our extreame miserie: the other, to seeke in Christ onely (whom we catch holde on by faith) the abundance of all good things.

CHAP. VIII.

3 The woman taken in adultery, 11 hath her sinnes forgiuen her. 12 Christ is the light of the world. 19 The Pharises aske where his father is. 39 The sons of Abraham. 42 The sonnes of God. 44 The deuill the father of lying. 56 Abraham saw Christes day.

AND Iesus went vnto the mount of Oliues,

2 And early in the morning came againe into the Temple, and all the people came vnto him, and he sate downe, and taught them.

1 Whiles the wicked go about to make a snare for good men, they make a snare for themselues.

3 [1] Then the Scribes and the Pharises brought vnto him a woman, taken in adultery, and set her in the middes,

4 And said vnto him, Master, wee found this woman committing adultery, euen in the very act.

5 * Now Moses in our Law commanded, that such should bee stoned: what sayest thou therefore?

* Leuit. 20. 10.

6 And this they sayd to tempt him, that they might haue whereof to accuse him. But Iesus stouped downe, & with his finger wrote on the ground.

2 Against hypocrites which are very seuere iudges against other men, and flatter themselues in their owne sins.
* Deut. 17. 7.
3 Christ would not take vpon him, the ciuil magistrates office: he contented him selfe to bring sinners to faith and repentance.
4 The world which is blinde in it selfe, cannot come to haue any light but in Christ onely.

7 [2] And while they continued asking him, he lift himselfe vp, and said vnto them, * Let him that is among you without sinne, cast the first stone at her.

8 And againe he stouped downe, & wrote on the ground.

9 And when they heard it, being accused by their owne conscience, they went out one by one, beginning at the eldest euen to the last: so Iesus was left alone, and the woman standing in the mids.

* Cha. 1. 5. & 9. 5.
5 Christ is without all exception, the best witnesse of the trueth, for he was sent by his Father for that purpose, and was by him approoued to the world by infinite miracles.
a Thou beareſt witnesse of thy self, which thing by all mens opinions is naught, and for a man to commend himselfe is very discommendable.
* Chap. 5. 31.

10 [3] When Iesus had lift vp himselfe againe, and saw no man, but the woman, he said vnto her, Woman, where are those thine accusers: hath no man condemned thee?

11 She sayd, No man, Lord. And Iesus sayd, Neither do I condemne thee: goe and sinne no more.

12 [4] Then spake Iesus againe vnto them, saying, I * am that light of the world: he that followeth mee, shall not walke in darkenesse, but shall haue that light of life.

13 [5] The Pharises therefore sayde vnto him, [a] Thou beareſt record of thy selfe: thy record is not true.

14 * Iesus answered, and said vnto them, [b] Though I beare record of my selfe, yet my record is true: for I know whence I came, and whither I goe: but ye cannot tell whence I come, and whither I goe.

b That which he denied afore, Chap. 5. 31. must be taken by a maner of granting, for in that place he framed himselfe somewhat to the humour of his hearers which acknowledged nothing in Christ but his humanitie, and therefore he was content they should see light by his own witnes, vnlesse it were otherwise confirmed. But in this place, hee standeth for the maintenance of his Godhead, and praiseth his Father, who is his witnesse, and agreeth with him.
c I do now only teach you, I condemne no man: but yet if I lust to doe it, I might lawfully doe it, for I am not alone, but my Father is with mee.
* Deut. 17 6. and 19. 15. mat. 18. 16 2. cor. 13. 1. hebr. 10. 28.

15 Ye iudge after the flesh: I [c] iudge no man.

16 And if I also iudge, my iudgement is true: for I am not alone, but I, and the Father, that sent me.

17 And it is also written in your Lawe, * that the testimonie of two men is true.

18 [d] I am one that beare witnesse of my selfe, and the Father that sent me, beareth witnesse of me.

d The Godhead is plainely distinguished from the manhood, else there were not two witnesses for the partie accused is not taken for witnesse.

19 [6] Then said they vnto him, Where is that Father of thine? Iesus answered, Yee neither know mee, nor that Father of mine. If ye had known me, ye would haue known that Father of mine also.

6 No man can know God, but in Christ onely.

20 These words spake Iesus in the [e] treasurie, as he taught in the Temple, and no man laid hands on him: [7] for his houre was not yet come.

e This was some place appointed for the gathering of the offerings.
7 We liue and die at the pleasure of God, and not of men: therefore this one thing remaineth that we goe forward constantly in our vocation.

21 [8] Then sayd Iesus againe vnto them, I goe my way, and yee shall seeke mee, and shall die in your sinnes. Whither I goe can ye not come.

22 Then sayd the Iewes, will he kill himselfe, because he sayth, Whither I goe, can ye not come?

23 And he sayd vnto them, Yee are from beneath, I am from aboue: yee are of this world, I am not of this world.

24 I said therefore vnto you, That ye shall die in your sinnes: for except yee beleeue, that I am he, ye shall die in your sinnes.

25 [9] Then sayd they vnto him, Who art thou? And Iesus said vnto them, Euen [f] that same thing that I sayd vnto you from the beginning.

f That is, I am who Christ is, which will diligently beare what hee sayth. Christ, and the Sauiour, for so I tolde you from the beginning that I was.

26 [10] I haue many things to say, and to iudge of you: but he that sent mee, is true, and the things that I haue heard of him, those speake I to the world.

10 God is the reuenger of Christs doctrine despised.

27 [11] They vnderstood not that hee spake to them of the Father.

28 Then sayd Iesus vnto them, When ye haue lift vp the Sonne of man, then shall yee know that I am hee, and that I do nothing of my selfe, but as my Father hath taught me, so I speake these things.

29 For he that sent me, is with me: the Father hath not left mee alone, because I doe alwayes those things that please him.

30 As he spake these things, many beleeued in him.

11 Euen the sentence of Christ maketh for his glory: which thing his enemies shall feele at length to their great smart.

31 [12] Then said Iesus to the Iewes which beleeued in him, If yee continue in my word, ye are verely my disciples, 32 And shall know the trueth, & the trueth shall [s] make you free.

33 [h] They answered him, We be [i] Abrahams seed, and were neuer bond to any man: why sayest thou then, Ye shall be made free?

34 Iesus answered them, Uerely, verely I say vnto you, that whosoeuer committeth sinne, is the *seruant of sinne.

35 And the seruant abideth not in ỹ house for euer: but the Sonne abideth for euer.

36 If that Sonne therefore shal make you free, ye shall be free in deed.

37 [13] I know that yee are Abrahams seed, but yee seeke to kill me, because my word hath no place in you.

38 I speake that which I haue seene with my Father: and yee doe that which yee haue seene with you father.

39 They answered, and say vnto him, Abraham is our father. Iesus said vnto them, If ye were Abrahams children, ye would doe the workes of Abraham.

40 But now ye go about to kill me, a man that haue talde you the trueth, which I haue heard of God: this did not Abraham.

41 Ye do the works of your father. Then sayd they to him, We are not borne of fornication: we haue one Father, which is God.

42 Therefore Iesus sayd vnto them, If God were your Father, then would yee loue mee: for I proceeded forth, & came from God, neither came I of my selfe, but he sent me.

43 Why do ye not vnderstand my [k] talke? because ye cannot heare my word.

44 *Yee are of your father the deuill, and the lustes of your father yee will doe: he hath beene a murtherer from the [l] beginning, and [m] abode not in the [n] trueth, because there is no trueth in him. When hee speaketh a lie, then speaketh he of his [o] owne: for he is a liar, and the [p] father thereof.

45 And because I tell you the trueth, yee beleeue me not.

46 [14] Which of you can rebuke mee of sinne? and if I say the trueth, why doe ye not beleeue me?

47 *Hee that is of God, heareth Gods words: ye therefore heare them not, because ye are not of God.

48 [15] Then answered the Iewes, and sayd vnto him, Say wee not well, that thou art a Samaritane, and hast a deuill?

49 Iesus answered, I haue not a deuill, but I honour my Father, and yee haue dishonoured me.

50 And I seeke not mine owne praise: but there is one [q] that seeketh it, and iudgeth.

51 [16] Uerely, verely I say vnto you, If a man keepe my worde, hee shall neuer [r] see death.

52 [17] Then sayd the Iewes to him, Now know wee that thou hast a deuill. Abraham is dead, and the Prophets: and thou sayest, If a man keepe my word, hee shall neuer taste of death.

53 Art thou greater then our father Abraham, which is dead? and the Prophets are dead: whom makest thou thy selfe?

54 [18] Iesus answered, If I honour my selfe, mine honour is [s] nothing worth: it is my Father that honoureth me, whom yee say, that he is your God.

55 [19] Yet yee haue not knowen him: but I know him, and if I should say, I know him not, I should bee a liar like vnto you: but I know him, and keepe his word.

56 [20] Your father Abraham [t] reioyced to see my [u] day, and he [x] saw it, and was glad.

57 Then sayd the Iewes vnto him, Thou art not yet fifte yeere olde, and hast thou seene Abraham?

58 Iesus sayd vnto them, Uerely, Uerely I say vnto you, before Abraham was, I [y] am.

59 [21] Then tooke they vp stones to cast at him, but Iesus hid himselfe, and went out of the Temple: And he passed thorow the mids of them, and so went his way.

12 The true disciples of Christ continue in his doctrine, that profiting more and more in the knowledge of ỹ trueth, they may be deliuered frō the most grieuous burden of sinne, into the true libertie of righteousnesse and life.

g From the slauerie of sinne.

13 Our wicked maners declare, that we are plainlie borne of a diuelish nature: But we are chāged, and made of the houshold of God according to the couenant which he made with Abraham by Christ onely, apprehended and layd hold on by faith: which faith is knowen by a godly and honest life.

q That is, that wil reuenge both your despising of me, and of him.

16 The onely doctrine of the Gospel apprehended by faith, is a sure remedie against death.

18 There is nothing further off from all ambition then Christ, but his Father hath set him aboue all things.

s This is spoken by maner of a grant: as if he had said, be it so, let this report which I giue of my self, bee of no force: yet there is another that glorifieth me, that is, that honoureth my Name.

19 There is no right knowledge of God, without Christ, neither any right knowledge of Christ without his word.

20 The vertue of Christ shewed it selfe thorow all former ages in the fathers, for they saw in the promises, that he should come, and did very ioyfully lay holde on him with a liuely faith.

CHAP. IX.

1 Christ giueth sight on the Sabbath day to him that was borne blinde: 13 Whom, after he had long reasoned against the Pharises, 22.35 and was cast out of the Synagogue, 36 Christ endueth with the knowledge of the euerlasting light.

AND [1] as Iesus passed by, he saw a man which was blind from his birth.

2 And his Disciples asked him, saying, Master, who did sin, this man or his parents, that he was borne blind?

3 Iesus answered, [a] Neither hath this man sinned, nor his parents, but that the workes of God should be shewed on him.

4 [2] I must worke the works of him that sent me, while it is [b] day: the night commeth when no man can worke.

5 As long as I am in the world, *I am the light of the world.

1 Sinne is the beginning euen of all bodily diseases, & yet doth it not follow, that God alway respecteth their sinnes, whom hee most sharpely punisheth.

a Christ reasoneth here, as his disciples thought, which presuppose that there come no diseases but for sinnes onely: whereupon hee answereth that there was another cause of this mans blindnesse, and that was, that God his worke might be seene.

2 The workes of Christ are as it were a light, which lighten the darkenesse of the world.

b By (day) is meant the light, that is the lightsome doctrine of the heauenly trueth: and by night is meant the darkenesse which commeth by the obscuritie of the same doctrine.

*Chap. 1.9. and 8.12. and 12.35.

3 Christ healing the man borne blind, by taking the signe of clay, and afterward the signe of the fountaine of Siloam (which signifieth Sent) sheweth that as he at the beginning made man, so doeth he againe restore both his body and soule: and yet so, that he himselfe commeth first of his owne accord to seeke vs.

4 A true image of all men, who as they are of nature blinde, doe neither themselues receiue the light that is offered vnto them, nor suffer it in other, and yet make a great a doe amongst themselues.

c This is an Hebrew kinde of speach, for they call a mans eyes shut, when they cannot receiue any light: And therefore they are tyed to haue their eyes opened, which of blinde men are made to see.

5 Religion is not assaulted by any meanes more, then by pretence of religion: but the more it is pressed downe, the more it riseth vp.

6 [3] Assoone as he had thus spoken, he spat on the ground, & made clay of the spettle, and anoynted the eies of the blind with the clay,

7 And saide vnto him, Goe wash in the poole of Siloam (which is by interpretation, Sent.) He went his way therefore, and washed, and came againe seeing.

8 [4] Now the neighbours and they that had seene him before, when he was blind, said, Is not this he that sate and begged?

9 Some said, This is he: and other said, He is like him: but he himselfe said, I am he.

10 Therefore they sayd vnto him, Howe were thine eyes [c] opened?

11 He answered, and sayd, The man that is called Jesus, made clay, and anoynted mine eies, and said vnto me, Go to the poole of Siloam and wash. So I went and washed, and receiued sight.

12 Then they sayde vnto him, Where is he? He said, I cannot tell.

13 ¶ They brought to the Pharises him that was once blind.

14 And it was the Sabbath day, when Jesus made the clay, and opened his eies.

15 Then againe the Pharises also asked him, how he had receiued sight. And hee sayde vnto them, He laied clay vpon mine eyes, and I washed, and doe see.

16 [5] Then sayde some of the Pharises, This man is not of God, because hee keepeth not the Sabbath day. Others sayd, How can a man that is a sinner, doe such miracles? and there was a dissension among them.

17 Then spake they vnto the blinde againe, What sayest thou of him, because hee hath opened thine eies? And he sayd, He is a Prophet.

18 Then the Jewes did not beleeue him (that he had bene blinde, & receiued his sight) vntill they had called the parents of him that had receiued sight.

19 And they asked them, saying, Is this your sonne, whom yee say was borne blinde? How doeth he now see then?

20 His parents answered them, and sayd, Wee know that this is our sonne, and that he was borne blind:

21 But by what meanes hee now seeth, wee knowe not: or who hath opened his eies, can wee not tell: he is old ynough: aske him: he shall answere for himselfe.

22 These wordes spake his parents, because they feared the Jewes: for the Jewes had ordeined already, that if any man did confesse that he was Christ, he should be excommunicate out of the Synagogue.

23 Therefore sayd his parents, He is olde ynough: aske him.

24 Then againe called they the man that had bene blinde, & sayd vnto him, [d] Giue glorie vnto God: wee knowe that this man is a [e] sinner.

25 Then he answered, and said, Whether he be a sinner or no, I cannot tell: one thing I know, that I was blind, and now I see.

26 Then said they to him againe, What did he to thee? how opened he thine eyes?

27 He answered them, I haue tolde you alreadie, and yee haue not heard it: wherefore would yee heare it againe? will yee also be his disciples?

28 [6] Then reuiled they him, and sayde, Be thou his disciple: we be Moses disciples.

29 Wee know that God spake with Moses: but this man we know not from whence he is.

30 The man answered, & sayd vnto them, Doubtlesse, this is a maruellous thing, that ye know not whence hee is, and yet hee hath opened mine eies.

31 Now we know that God heareth not sinners: but if any man bee a worshipper of God, and doeth his will, him heareth he.

32 Since the world beganne, was it not heard, that any man opened the eyes of one that was borne blind.

33 If this man were not of God, hee could haue done nothing.

34 They answered, and sayde vnto him, [f] Thou art altogether borne in sinnes, & doest thou teach vs? so they cast him out.

35 [7] Jesus heard that they had cast him out: and when hee had founnd him, he said vnto him, Doest thou beleeue in the Sonne of God?

36 He answered & sayd, Who is he, Lord, that I might beleeue in him?

37 And Jesus sayd vnto him, Both thou hast seene him, and hee it is that talketh with thee.

38 Then he said, Lord, I beleeue, & worshipped him.

39 [8] And Jesus sayde, I am come vnto [g] iudgement into this world, that they [h] which see not, might see: and that they * which see, might be made blinde.

40 And some of the Pharises which were with him, heard these things, and sayde vnto him, Are we blind also?

41 Jesus said vnto them, If ye were blind, ye should not haue sinne: but now ye say, We see: therefore your sinne remaineth.

d A solemne order, whereby men were constrained in olde time to acknowledge their fault before God, as if they should say, Consider thou art before God, who knoweth the whole matter, and therefore see thou reuerence his Maiestie, and doe him this honour rather to confesse the whole matter openly, then to lie before him, Iosh. 7.19. 1. Sam. 6.5.

e He is called a sinner in the Hebrewe tongue, which is a wicked man, & maketh as it were an art of sinning.

6 Blonde wickednesse must needes at length breake foorth, which in vaine lieth hid vnder a zeale of godlinesse.

f Thou art naught euen from thy cradle, and as we vse to say, there is nothing in thee but sinne.

7 Most happy is their state, which are cast furthest out of the Church of the wicked (which proudly boast themselues of the name of the Church) that Christ may come neerer to them.

8 Christ doeth lighten all them by the preaching of the Gospel, which acknowledge their owne darkenesse, but such as seeme to themselues to see clearely enough, those he altogether blindeth: of which sort are they oftentimes, which haue the highest place in the Church.

g With great power & authoritie, to doe what is righteous and iust: as if he said, these men take vpon them to gouerne the people of God as if their owne lust, as though they saw all things, and no man but they: but I will rule farre otherwise then these men doe: for whom they account for blind men, them will I lighten, and such as take themselues to be wisest, them will I drowne in most grosse darkenesse of ignorance. h In these words (of seeing and not seeing) there is a secret taunting and checke to the Phanses: for they thought all men blind but themselues. * Chap. 3. 17. and 12. 47.

CHAP. X.

1 Christ proueth that the Pharises are the euil shepheards, and by many reasons, that himselfe 11. 14 is the good shepheard:

shepheard. 19 And therof dissension ariseth. 31 They take vp stones, 39 and goe about to take him, but hee escapeth.

VErely,[1] verely I say vnto you, Hee that entreth not in by the dooze into ỳ sheepfold, but climeth vp another way, he is a theefe and a robber.

2 But he that goeth in by the dooze, is the shepheard of the sheepe.

3 To him the [a] Porter openeth, and the sheepe heare his voice, and he calleth his owne sheepe by name, and leadeth them out.

4 And when he hath sent foorth his owne sheepe, he goeth before them, and the sheepe follow him: for they know his voyce.

5 And they will not followe a stranger, but they flee from him: for they know not the voyce of strangers.

6 This [b] parable spake Iesus vnto them: but they vnderstoode not what things they were which he spake vnto them.

7 Then said Iesus vnto them againe, Verely, verely I say vnto you, I am that dooze of the sheepe.

8 [2] All, that [c] euer came before mee, are theeues and robbers: but the sheepe did not heare them.

9 [3] I am that dooze: by me if any man enter in, he shall be saued, and shall [d] goe in, and goe out, and find pasture.

10 The theefe commeth not, but for to steale, and to kill, and to destroy: I am come that they might haue life, and haue it in abundance.

11 * I am that good sheepeheard: that good sheepheard giueth his life for his sheepe.

12 But an hireling, and hee which is not the sheepheard, neither the sheep are his own, seeth the Woolfe comming, and hee leaueth the sheepe, and fleeth, and the Woolfe catcheth them, and scatcereth thee sheepe.

13 So the hireling fleeth, because he is an hireling, and careth not for the sheepe.

14 I am that good sheepheard, and know mine, and am knowen of mine.

15 As the Father [e] knoweth me, so know I the Father: and I lay downe my life for my sheepe.

16 [4] Other sheepe I haue also, which are not of this folde: them also must I bring, and they shall heare my voyce: and * there shall be [f] one sheepefold, and one sheepheard.

17 [5] Therefore doeth my Father loue me, because * [g] I lay downe my life, that I might take it againe.

18 No man taketh it from mee, but I lay it downe of my selfe: I haue power to lay it downe, and haue power to take it againe: this *cõmandement haue I receiued of my father.

19 [6] Then there was a dissension againe among the Iewes for these sayings, 20 And many of them sayd, He hath a deuill, and is madde: why heare ye him?

21 Other said, These are not the words of him that hath a deuill: can the deuill open the eyes of the blinde?

22 And it was at Hierusalem the feast of the [h] Dedication, and it was winter.

23 [7] And Iesus walked in the Temple, in Salomons porch.

24 Then came the Iewes round about him, and sayd vnto him, How long doest thou make vs doubt? If thou be that Christ, tell vs plainely.

25 [8] Iesus answered them, I told you, and ye beleeue not: the works that I do in my Fathers Name, they beare witnesse of me.

26 [9] But ye beleeue not: [i] for ye are not of my sheepe, as I sayd vnto you.

27 My sheepe heare my voyce, & I know them, and they follow me, 28 And I giue vnto them eternall life, and they shall neuer perish, neither shall any pluck them out of mine hand.

29 My Father which gaue them mee, is greater then all, and none is able to take them out of my Fathers hand.

30 I and my Father are one.

31 * [10] Then the Iewes againe tooke vp stones, to stone him.

32 Iesus answered them, Many good works haue I shewed you from my [k] Father: for which of these workes doe ye stone me?

33 The Iewes answered him, saying, For the good worke we stone thee not, but for blasphemie, and that thou being a man, makest thy selfe God.

34 Iesus answered them, Is it not written in your Law, * I sayd, Ye are gods?

35 If he called them gods, vnto whom the worde of God was giuen, and the Scripture cannot be [l] broken, 36 Say ye of him, whom the Father hath sanctified, and sent into the world, Thou blasphemest, because I sayd, I am the Sonne of God?

37 If I doe not the workes of my Father, beleeue me not.

38 But if I doe, then though yee beleeue not me, yet beleeue the workes, that yee may know and beleeue, that the Father is in mee, and I in him.

39 [11] Againe they went about to take him: but he escaped out of their hands,

40 And

1 Seeing that by Christ onely we haue accesse to the Father, there are neither other true shepheards, then those which come to Christ themselues and bring other thither also, neither is any to be thought the true sheepefold, but that which is gathered to Christ.

a In those dayes they vsed to haue a seruant alwaies sitting at the doore, and therefore hee speaketh after the maner of those dayes.

b This word (parable) which the Euangelist vseth here, signifieth a darke kind of speach, when words are taken from their naturall meaning, to signifie another thing to vs.

2 It maketh no matter, how many, neither how olde the false teachers haue bene.

c These large termes must be applied to the matter he speaketh of. And therefore when he calleth himselfe the doore, hee calleth all them theeues and robbers which take vpon them this name of Doore, which none of the Prophets can, for they shewed the sheepe that Christ was the doore.

3 Onely Christ is the true Pastor, and that only is the true Church, which acknowledgeth him to be properly their onely Pastor: To him are opposite theeues which feede not the sheepe, but kill them: and hirelings also, which forsake the flocke in time of danger, because they feede it onely for their owne profite and gaines. d That is, shall liue safely: So vse the Iewes to speake, as Deut. 26 6. and yet there is a peculiar alluding to the shepheards office. * Isai. 40. 11. ezek. 34. 23. e Loueth me, alloweth me. 4 The calling of the Gentiles. * Ezech. 37. 22. f The certaine marke of the Catholike Church throughout all the world, which hath one head, that is, Christ, the onely keeper, and onely shepheard of it. 5 Christ is by the decree of the Father, the onely true shepheard of the true Church, for hee willingly gaue his life for his sheepe, and by his owne power rose againe to life. * Isai. 53 7. g He speaketh in the time that now is, because Christes whole life, was as it were a perpetuall death.

9 It is no marueil that there doe but a fewe beleeue, seeing that all men are by nature vntamed beasts: yet notwithstanding God hath his, which he turneth into sheepe, and committeth them vnto his Sonne, and preserueth them against the crueltie of all wilde beasts.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ, to shewe that hee is, 25 the life and the resurrection, 14 commeth to Lazarus being dead, 17. 34 and buried, 43 and raiseth him vp. 47 As the Priestes were consulting together, 49 Caiaphas 50 propheseth that one must die for the people. 56. 57. They command to seeke Christ out, and to take him.

1 Christ in restoring the stinking carcase of his friend to life, sheweth an example both of his mighty power, and also of his singular good will toward men: which is also an image of the resurrection to come.

AND [1] a certaine man was sicke, named Lazarus of Bethania, the [a] Towne of Marie, and her sister Martha.

2 (And it was that *Marie which anointed the Lorde with ointment, and wiped his feete with her haire, whose brother Lazarus was sicke.)

3 Therefore his sisters sent vnto him, saying, Lorde, beholde, hee whom thou louest, is sicke.

4 When Iesus heard it, hee said, This sickenes is not vnto [b] death, but for the glory of God, that the Sonne of God might be glorified thereby.

5 ¶ Nowe Iesus loued Martha and her sister, and Lazarus.

6 [2] And after hee had heard that hee was sicke, yet abode hee two dayes still in the same place where he was.

7 Then after that, said he to his disciples, Let vs goe into Iudea againe.

8 [3] The disciples said vnto him, Master, the Iewes lately sought to *stone thee, and doest thou goe thither againe?

9 Iesus answered, Are there not [c] twelue houres in the day? If a man walke in the day, he stumbleth not, because he seeth the light of this world.

10 But if a man walke in the night, hee stumbleth, because there is no light in him.

11 These things spake hee, and after, hee saide vnto them, Our friend Lazarus [d] sleepeth: but I goe to wake him vp.

12 Then said his disciples, Lorde, if hee sleepe, he shall be safe.

13 Howbeit, Iesus spake of his death: but they thought that hee had spoken of the naturall sleepe.

14 Then saide Iesus vnto them plainely, Lazarus is dead.

15 And I am glad for your sakes, that I was not there, that ye may beleeue: but let vs goe vnto him.

16 Then saide Thomas (which is called Didymus) vnto his fellowe disciples, Let vs also goe, that we may die with him.

17 ¶ Then came Iesus, and found that he had lien in the graue foure daies already.

18 (Now Bethania was neere vnto Hierusalem, about fifteene furlongs off.)

19 [4] And many of the Iewes were come to Martha and Marie to comfort them for their brother.

20 Then Martha, when she heard that Iesus was comming, went to meete him: but Marie sate still in the house.

21 Then said Martha vnto Iesus, Lord, if thou hadst bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

22 But now I knowe also, that whatsoeuer thou askest of God, God will giue it thee.

23 Iesus sayd vnto her, Thy brother shall [e] rise againe.

24 Martha said vnto him, I know that hee shall rise againe *in the resurrection at the last day.

25 Iesus said vnto her, I am the resurrection and the life: *hee that beleeueth in mee, though he were dead, yet shall he liue.

26 And whosoeuer liueth, and beleeueth in me, shall neuer die: Beleeuest thou this?

27 She said vnto him, Yea, Lord, I beleeue that thou art that Christ that Sonne of God, which should come into the world.

28 ¶ And when she had so said, shee went her way, and called Mary her sister secretly, saying, The Master is come, and calleth for thee.

29 And when she heard it, she arose quickly, and came vnto him.

30 For Iesus was not yet come into the towne, but was in the place where Martha met him.

31 The Iewes then which were with her in the house, and comforted her, when they saw Mary, that she rose vp hastily, and went out, followed her, saying, She goeth vnto the graue, to weepe there.

32 Then when Mary was come where Iesus was, and saw him, she fell downe at his feete, saying vnto him, Lord, if thou hadst bene here, my brother had not bene dead.

33 [5] When Iesus therefore saw her weepe, and the Iewes also weepe which came with her, he [f] groned in the spirit, and was troubled in himselfe, 34 And sayd, Where haue yee laied him? They said vnto him, Lord, come and see.

35 And Iesus wept.

36 Then said the Iewes, Behold, how he loued him.

37 And some of them said, *Could not he, which opened the eyes of the blind, haue made also, that this man should not haue died?

38 Iesus therefore againe groned in himselfe, [g] came to the graue. And it was a caue, and

2 In that, that God seemeth sometimes to linger in helping of vs, he doeth it both for his glorie, and for our saluation, as the falling out of the matter in the end, plainely prooueth.

* Chap 7. 30. and 8. 59. and 10 33.

and a ſtone was laid vpon it.

39 Ieſus ſaid, Take yee away the ſtone. Martha the ſiſter of him that was dead, ſaid vnto him, Lord, he ſtinketh already: for he hath bene dead foure dayes.

40 Ieſus ſaid vnto her, Said I not vnto thee, that if thou diddeſt beleeue, thou ſhouldeſt ſee the glory of God?

41 Then they tooke away the ſtone from the place where the dead was layed. And Ieſus lift vp his eies and ſaid, Father, I thanke tee, becauſe thou haſt heard me.

42 I know that thou heareſt me alwayes, but becauſe of the people that ſtand by, I ſaid it, that they may beleeue, that thou haſt ſent me.

43 As he had ſpoken theſe things, he cried with a loud voyce, Lazarus, come foorth.

44 Then hee that was dead, came foorth, bound hand and foote with bands, and his face was bound with a napkin. Ieſus ſayd vnto them, Loſe him, and let him goe.

45 ¶ Then many of the Iewes, which came to Mary, and had ſeene the things which Ieſus did, beleeued in him.

46 [6] But ſome of them went their way to the Phariſes, and told them what things Ieſus had done.

47 Then gathered the hie Prieſts, and the Phariſes a councell, and ſaid, What ſhall we doe? For this man doeth many miracles.

48 If wee let him thus alone, all men will beleeue in him, and the Romanes will come and [h] take away both our place, and the nation.

49 [7] Then one of them named Caiaphas, which was the hie Prieſt that ſame yeere, ſaid vnto them, Ye perceiue nothing at all,

50 * Nor yet doe you conſider that it is expedient for vs, that one man die for the people, and that the whole nation periſh not.

51 [8] This ſpake he not of himſelfe: but being hie Prieſt that ſame yeere, he propheſied that Ieſus ſhould die for that nation:

52 And not for that nation onely, but that hee ſhould gather together in one the children of God, which [i] were ſcattered.

53 Then from that day forth they conſulted together to put him to death.

54 [9] Ieſus therefore walked no more openly among the Iewes, but went thence vnto a countrey neere to the wilderneſſe, into a citie called Ephraim, and there continued with his diſciples.

55 ¶ And the Iewes Paſſeouer was at hand, and many went out of the countrey vp to Hieruſalem before the Paſſeouer, to purifie themſelues.

56 Then ſought they for Ieſus, and ſpake among themſelues, as they ſtood in the Temple, What thinke yee, that he commeth not to the feaſt?

57 Now both the hie Prieſts and the Phariſes had giuen a commandement, that if any man knew where he were, hee ſhould ſhew it, that they might take him.

CHAP. XII.

2 As Chriſt is at ſupper with Lazarus; 3 Mary anointeth his feete. 5 Iudas findeth fault with her. 7 Chriſt defendeth her. 10 The Prieſts would put Lazarus to death, 12 As Chriſt commeth to Hieruſalem, 18 the people meete him. 20 The Grecians deſire to ſee him. 42 The chiefe Rulers that beleeue in him, but for feare doe not confeſſe him, 44 he exhorteth to faith.

THen * Ieſus, ſixe daies before the Paſſeouer, came to Bethania, where Lazarus was, who died, whom he had rayſed from the dead. * Chap 26 7. marke 14.3.

2 There they made him a ſupper, and Martha ſerued: but Lazarus was one of them that ſate at the table with him.

3 Then tooke Mary a pound of ointment of Spikenard very coſtly, and anointed Ieſus feete, and wiped his feete with her haire, and the houſe was filled with the ſauour of the ointment.

4 Then ſaide one of his diſciples, euen Iudas Iſcariot Simons ſonne, which ſhould betray him:

5 [1] Why was not this ointment ſold for three hundreth pence, and giuen to the poore?

6 Now he ſaide this, not that hee cared for the poore, but becauſe he was a theefe, and * had the bagge, and bare that which was giuen. * Chap. 13.29.

7 [2] Then ſayde Ieſus, Let her alone: againſt the day of my burying ſhe kept it.

8 For the poore alwayes yee haue with you, but me ye ſhall not haue alwayes.

9 [3] Then much people of the Iewes knewe that he was there: and they came, not for Ieſus ſake onely, but that they might ſee Lazarus alſo, whom hee had raiſed from the dead.

10 The hie Prieſtes therefore conſulted, that they might put Lazarus to death alſo, 11 Becauſe that for his ſake many of the Iewes went away, and beleeued in Ieſus.

12 ¶ * On the morrow a great multitude that were come to the feaſt, when they heard that Ieſus ſhould come to Hieruſalem, 13 Tooke branches of Palme trees, and went forth to meete him, and cried, Hoſanna, Bleſſed is the King of Iſrael that commeth in the Name of the Lord.

14 And Ieſus found a yong aſſe, and ſate thereon, as it is written.

15 * Feare not, daughter of Sion: behold, thy king commeth ſitting on an aſſes colt.

16 But his diſciples vnderſtood not theſe things at the firſt: but when Ieſus was glorified, 6 The laſt point of hard and yron like ſtubbornneſſe is this, to proclaime open warre againſt God, and yet ceaſeth not to make a pretence both of godlines, and of the profite of the common wealth.

g The Iewes called the counſell Sanhedrin: and the word that Iohn vſeth, is Synedri.

h That is, take away from vs by force: for at that time, though the high Prieſts authoritie was greatly leſſened and decayed, yet there was ſome kind of gouernment left among the Iewes.

7 The raging and mad compaſſe of the falſe Church perſwade themſelues that they cannot be in ſafetie, vnleſſe he be taken away, who onely vpholdeth the Church. And ſo likewiſe iudgeth the wiſedome of the fleſh in worldly affaires, which is gouerned by the ſpirit of giddineſſe or madneſſe.

* Cha. 18.14.

8 Chriſt doeth ſometimes ſo turne the tongues, euen of the wicked, that euen in curſing, they bleſſe.

i For they were not gathered together in one countrey, as the Iewes were, but to be gathered from al quarters, from the Eaſt to the Weſt.

9 We may giue place to the rage of the wicked, when it is expedient ſo to doe, but yet in ſuch ſort, that we ſwarue not from Gods vocation.

1 An horrible example in Iudas of a minde blinded with couetouſneſſe, and yet pretending godlineſſe.

2 This extraordinarie anointing which was for a ſigne, is ſo allowed of God, that he witneſſeth how he will not be worſhipped with outward pompe, or coſtly ſeruice, but with almes.

3 When the light of the Goſpell ſheweth it ſelfe, ſome are found to be curious, and others (which leaſt ought) to be open enemies: others in a rage honour him, whom they will ſtraightway fall from: and very few doe ſo reuerently receiue him as they ought: Notwithſtanding Chriſt beginneth his ſpirituall kingdome in the mids of his enemies.

fied, then remembred they, that these things were written of him, and that they had done these things vnto him.

17 The people therefore that was with him, bare witnesse that he called Lazarus out of the graue, and raised him from the dead.

18 Therefore met him the people also, because they sayde that he had done this miracle.

19 [4] And the Pharises sayd among themselues, Perceiue ye how ye preuaile nothing? Behold, the world goeth after him.

20 ¶ Now there were certaine Greekes among them that [a] came vp to worship at the feast.

21 And they came to Philip, which was of Bethsaida in Galile, and desired him, saying, Sir, we would see that Iesus.

22 Philip came and tolde Andrewe: and againe Andrew and Philip tolde Iesus.

23 And Iesus answered them, saying, The houre is come, that the Sonne of man must be glorified.

24 [5] Verily, verily, I say vnto you, Except the wheate corne fall into the ground and [b] die, it bideth alone: but if it die, it bringeth forth much fruite.

25 * He that loueth his life, shall lose it, and he that hateth his life in this world, shall keepe it vnto life eternall.

26 * If any man serue me, let him follow me: for where I am, there shall also my seruant be: and if any man serue me, him will my Father honour.

27 [6] Now is my soule troubled: and what shal I say? Father, saue me from this [c] houre: but therefore came I vnto this houre.

28 Father, [d] glorifie thy Name. Then came there a voyce frō heauen, saying, I haue both glorified it, and will glorifie it againe.

29 Then said the people that stood by, and heard, that it was a thunder: other sayde, An Angell spake to him.

30 [7] Iesus answered, and said, This voice came not because of me, but for your sakes.

31 Now is the iudgement of this world: now shall the Prince of this world be cast out.

32 * And I, if I were [e] lift vp from the earth, will draw [f] all men vnto me.

33 Now this sayde he, signifying what death he should die.

34 The people answered him, Wee haue heard out of the * Law, that that Christ bideth for euer: and how sayest thou, that that Sonne of man must be lift vp? Who is that Sonne of man?

35 [8] Then Iesus said vnto them, Yet a little while is * the light with you: walke while ye haue that light, lest the darknesse come vpon you: for he that walketh in the darke, knoweth not whither he goeth.

36 While yee haue the light, beleeue in that light, that yee may be the [g] children of the light. These things spake Iesus, and departed, and hid himselfe from them.

37 ¶ [9] And though hee had done so many miracles before them, yet beleeued they not on him, 38 That the saying of Esaias the Prophet might be fulfilled, that he sayd, * Lord, who beleeued our report? and to whom is the [h] arme of the Lord reuealed?

39 Therefore could they not beleeue, because that Esaias saith againe, 40 * He hath blinded their eyes, and hardened their heart, that they should not see with their eyes, nor vnderstand with their heart, and should bee conuerted, and I should heale them.

41 These things sayde Esaias when hee saw his glory, and spake of him.

42 [10] Neuertheless, euen among the chiefe rulers, many beleeued in him: but because of the Pharises they did not confesse him, lest they should be cast out of the Synagogue.

43 * For they loued the praise of men, more then the praise of God.

44 [11] And Iesus cryed, and sayd, He that beleeueth in mee, beleeueth [i] not in mee, but in him that sent me.

45 And hee that seeth mee, seeth him that sent me.

46 I * am come a light into the world, that whosoeuer beleeueth in me, should not abide in darkenesse.

47 * And if any man heare my words, and beleeue not, I iudge him not: for I came not to iudge the world, but to saue the world.

48 He that refuseth mee, and receiueth not my wordes, hath one that iudgeth him: * the word that I haue spoken, it shall iudge him in the last day.

49 For I haue not spoken of my selfe: but the Father which hath sent mee, he gaue me a commandement what I should say, and what I should speake.

50 And I know that his commandement is life euerlasting: the things therefore that I speake, I speake them so as the Father sayde vnto me.

4 Euen they which goe about to oppresse Christ, are made instruments of his glory.

a After the solemne customes the Grecians were first so called by the name of the countrey of Greece, where they dwelt: but afterward, al that were not of the Iewes religion, but worshipped false gods, and were also called Heathens, were called by this name.

5 The death of Christ is as it were a sowing, which seemeth to be a dying to the corne, but in deede is the cause of a farre greater harnest: and such as is the condition of the head, so shall it be of the members.

6 Whilest Christ went about to suffer all the punishment which is due to our sinnes, and whilest his diuinitie did not yet shew his might and power so farre, as this satisfaction might be throughly wrought, now when hee is striken with the great feare of the curse of God, he crieth and prayeth, and desireth to bee released: yet notwithstanding hee preferreth the will and glory of his Father before all things, whose obedience the Father alloweth euen from heauen.

c To wit, of death that is now at hand.

d So then the Fathers glorie is Christ his glorie. 7 Christ foretelleth to the deafe, the manner of his death, the ouercomming of the deuill and the world, and in conclusion his triumph. * Chap. 3. 14. e Christ vsed a word, which hath a double meaning, for it signifieth either to lift vp, or to rid out of the way: for his meaning was to put them in minde of his death, but the Iewes seeme to take it another way. f Chrysost. and Theophyl. refer this word All, to all nations: that is, not to the Iewes onely. * Psal. 89. 36. and 110. 4. and 117. 2. 11 The summe of the Gospel, and therefore of saluation, which Christ is fastned in the midst of Hierusalem by his crying out, is this: to rest vpon Christ through faith as the onely Sauiour appointed and giuen vs of the Father.

i This word, Not, doeth not take any whit of this from Christ which is here spoken of, but is in way of correction rather, as if he said, He that beleeueth in me, doeth not so much beleeue in me, as in him that sent me. So is it in Marke 9. 37.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Christ rising from Supper, 15 to commend humilitie to his Apostles, washeth their feete. 21 He noteth the traitor Iudas 26 with an euident token. 34 He commendeth charitie. 37 39 He foretelleth Peter of his denyall.

NOw * before the feast of the Passeouer, when Iesus knewe that his houre was come, that hee should depart out of this world vnto the Father, forasmuch as hee loued his a owne which were in the world, vnto the ende he loued them.

2 And when supper was done (and that the deuill had now put in the heart of Iudas Iscariot, Simons sonne, to betray him)

3 Iesus knowing that the Father had giuen all things into his b hands, and that he was come forth from God, and went to God,

4 He c riseth from supper, and layeth aside his vpper garments, and tooke a towell, and girded himselfe.

5 After that, hee powred water into a basen, and began to wash the Disciples feete, and to wipe them with the towell, wherewith hee was girded.

6 Then came he to Simon Peter, who sayd to him, Lord, doest thou wash my feete?

7 Iesus answered & said vnto him, What I doe, thou knowest not now: but thou shalt know it hereafter.

8 Peter said vnto him, Thou shalt neuer wash my feet. Iesus answered him, If I wash thee not, thou shalt haue d no part with me.

9 Simon Peter sayd vnto him, Lord, not my feete onely, but also the handes and the head.

10 Iesus sayd to him, He that is washed, needeth not, saue to wash his feet, but is cleane euery whit: and ye are * cleane, but not all.

11 For hee knew who should betray him: therefore sayd he, Ye are not all cleane.

12 ¶ So after hee had washed their feete, and had taken his garments, & was set downe againe, he sayd vnto them, Know yee what I haue done to you?

13 Ye call me Master, and Lord, and yee say well: for so am I.

14 If I then your Lord, and Master, haue washed your feete, yee also ought to wash one anothers feete.

15 For I haue giuen you an example, that ye should doe, euen as I haue done to you.

16 Verely, verely, I say vnto you, * The seruant is not greater then his master, neither the ‖ ambassadour greater then hee that sent him.

17 If ye know these things, blessed are ye, if ye doe them.

18 ¶ [2] I speake not of you all: I knowe whom I haue chosen: but it is that the Scripture might be fulfilled, * He that eateth bread with me, hath lift vp his heele against me.

19 From henceforth tell I you before it come, that when it is come to passe, yee might beleeue that I am he.

20 * Verily, verily, I say vnto you, If I send any, he that receiueth him, receiueth me, and hee that receiueth mee, receiueth him that sent me.

21 When Iesus had sayd these things, he was troubled in the Spirit, and e testified, and sayd, Verely, verily I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray me.

22 * Then the Disciples looked one on another, doubting of whom he spake.

23 Now there was one of his Disciples, which f leaned on Iesus bosome, whom Iesus loued.

24 To him beckened therefore Simon Peter, that hee should aske who it was of whom he spake.

25 He then, as he leaned on Iesus breast, sayd vnto him, Lord, who is it?

26 Iesus answered, He it is, to whom I shall giue a sop, when I haue dipt it: & he wet a sop, and gaue it to Iudas Iscariot, Simons sonne.

27 And after the soppe, Satan entred into him. Then sayde Iesus vnto him, That thou doest, doe quickly.

28 But none of them that were at table, knew, for what cause he spake it vnto him.

29 For some of them thought because Iudas had the bagge, that Iesus had sayde vnto him, Buy those things that we [illegible] of against the feast: or that hee sho[illegible] some thing to the poore.

30 Assoone then as hee had receiued the soppe, hee went immediatly out, and it was night.

31 ¶ [3] When hee was gone out, Iesus saide, [g] Now is the Sonne of man glorified, and God is glorified in him.

32 If God be glorified in him, God shall also glorifie him in himselfe, and shall straightway glorifie him.

33 [4] Litle children, yet a little while am I with you: ye shall seeke me, but as I sayd vnto the * Iewes, Whither I goe, can yee not come: also to you say I now, 34 * A new commandement giue I vnto you, that ye loue one another: as I haue loued you, that ye also loue one another.

35 By this shall all men know that ye are my Disciples, if ye haue loue one to another.

36 [5] Simon Peter said vnto him, Lorde, whither goest thou? Iesus answered him, Whither I goe, thou canst not follow mee now: but thou shalt follow me afterward.

37 Peter said vnto him, Lord, why can I not follow thee now? * I will lay down my life for thy sake.

38 Iesus answered him, Wilt thou lay downe thy life for my sake? Verily, verily, I say vnto thee, The Cocke shall not crow, till thou haue denied me thrise.

1 Christ no lesse certaine of the victorie, then of the combate which was at hand, vsing the signe of washing the feete, doeth partly thereby giue an example of singular modestie, and his great loue toward his Apostles in this notable act, being like very shortly to depart from them, and partly witnesseth vnto them, that it is he onely which washeth away the filth of his people, and that by little and little in their time and season.

3 We haue to consider the glorifying of Christ in his ignominie.

g This verse and the next following, are a most plaine and euident testimonie of the diuinitie of Christ.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 He comforteth his disciples, 2. 7 declaring his diuinitie and the fruit of his death, 16 promising the comforter, 17 euen the holy spirit, 26 whose office he setteth out. 27 He promiseth his peace.

LEt not your heart be troubled: ye beleeue in God, beleeue also in me.

2 In my Fathers house are many dwelling places: if it were not so, [a] I would haue told you: I goe to [b] prepare a place for you.

3 [2] And if I goe to prepare a place for you, I will [c] come againe, and receiue you vnto my selfe, that where I am, there may ye be also.

4 [3] And whither I goe, yee knowe, and the way yee know.

5 Thomas said vnto him, Lord, wee know not whither thou goest: how can we then know the way?

6 Iesus said vnto him, I am [d] that way, and that truth, and that life. No man commeth vnto the Father, but by me.

7 [e] If ye had knowen me, yee should haue knowen my Father also: and from henceforth ye know him, and haue seene him.

8 Philip said vnto him, Lord, shew vs thy Father, and it sufficeth vs.

9 Iesus said vnto him, I haue bene so long time with you, and hast thou not knowen me, Philip? hee that hath seene me, hath seene my Father: how then sayest thou, Shew vs thy Father?

10 [4] Beleeuest thou not, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in me? The words that I speake vnto you, I speake not of my selfe: but the Father that dwelleth in me, hee doth the workes.

11 Beleeue me, that I am in the Father, and the Father is in mee: at the least, beleeue me for the very workes sake.

12 [5] Verily, verily I say vnto you, he that beleeueth in me, the works that I doe, he shall doe also, and [f] greater then these shal he do: for I goe vnto my Father.

13 * And whatsoeuer ye aske in my name, that will I doe, that the Father may be glorified in the Sonne.

14 If ye shall aske any thing in my name, I will doe it.

15 [6] If ye loue me, keepe my commandements.

16 And I will pray the Father, & he shall giue you another comforter, that hee may abide with you for euer, 17 Euen the [g] Spirit of trueth whom the [h] world can not receiue, because it seeth him not, neither knoweth him, but yee know him: for he dwelleth with you, and shall be in you.

18 I will not leaue you fatherlesse: but I will come to you.

19 Yet a little while, and the world shall see mee no more, but yee shall see me: because I liue, ye shall liue also.

20 At that day shall yee know that I am [i] in my Father, and you in mee, and I in you.

21 He that hath my commandements, and keepeth them, is he that loueth me: and he that loueth me, shall be loued of my Father: and I will loue him, and will [k] shew mine owne selfe to him.

22 [7] Iudas sayd vnto him (not Iscariot) Lord, what is the cause that thou wilt shewe thy selfe vnto vs, and not vnto the world?

23 Iesus answered, and sayde vnto him, If any man loue me, hee will keepe my word, and my Father will loue him, and wee will come vnto him, and will dwell with him.

24 He that loueth me not, keepeth not my words, and the words which ye heare, is not mine, but the Fathers which sent me.

25 [8] These things haue I spoken vnto you, being present with you.

26 * But the comforter, which is the holy Ghost, whom the Father will send in my Name, he shall teach you all things, and bring all things to your remembrance, which I haue told you.

27 [9] Peace I leaue with you: my peace I giue vnto you: not as the world giueth, giue I vnto you. Let not your heart bee troubled, nor feare.

28 [10] Ye haue heard how I said vnto you, I goe away, and will come vnto you. If ye loued me, ye would verily reioice, because I said I goe vnto the Father: for the Father is [l] greater then I.

29 And now haue I spoken vnto you, before it come, that when it is come to passe, ye might beleeue.

30 [11] Hereafter will I not speake many things vnto you: for the prince of this world commeth, and hath [m] nought in mee.

31 But it is that the world may know that I loue my Father: and as the Father hath commanded me, so I do. Arise, let vs goe hence.

a Ye beleeueth in God that beleeueth in Christ and there is no other way to confirme our minds in greatest distresses.

b That is, if it were not so as I tell you, to wit, vnlesse there were place enough not onely for me, but for you also, in my Fathers house, I would not thus deceiue you with a vaine hope, but I would haue told you so plainely.

c All this speech is by way of an allegorie, whereby the Lord comforteth his own, declaring to them his departure into heauen, which is not to reigne there alone, but to goe before and prepare a place for them.

d Christ went not away from vs, to the end to forsake vs, but rather that he might at length take vs vp with him into heauen.

e These words are to be referred to the whole Church, and therfore the Angels said to the disciples when they were astonished, what stand you gasing vp into heauen? This Iesus shall so come as you saw him goe vp, Act. 1.11. and in all places of the Scripture, the full comfort of the Church is referred to that day when God shall be all in all, and is therefore called the day of redemption.

3 Christ onely is the way to true and euerlasting life, for he it is in whome the Father hath reuealed himselfe.

d This saying sheweth vnto vs both the nature, the will and office of Christ.

e It is plaine by this place, that to know God, & to see God, is all one: Nowe wheras he said before, that no man saw God at any time, that is to be vnderstood thus, without Christ, or were it not through Christ, no man could euer see, nor saw God at any time: for as Chrysostome saith, the Sonne is a very short & easie setting forth of the fathers nature to vs.

4 The maiestie of God sheweth it selfe most euidently, both in Christs doctrine and deeds.

5 The appearing of the vertue of Christ is not included within his owne person, but it is spread through the body of his whole Church.

f That is, not only doe them, but I can also giue other men power to doe greater.

* Chap. 16.23 mat. 7.7. mar. 11.24 iames 1.5.

6 He loueth Christ aright which obeyeth his commandement: and because the same is accompanied with an infinite sort of miseries, although he be absent in bodie, yet doth he comfort his with the present vertue of the holy Ghost, whom the world disperseth, because it knoweth him not.

g The holy Ghost is called the Spirit of truth, of the effect which he worketh, because he inspireth the truth into vs, whereas otherwise her hath truth in himselfe.

h Worldly men.

i The sonne is in the Father after such sort, that he is one of one selfsame substance with the Father, but he is in his disciples in a certaine respect as an ayder and helper of them.

k I wil shew my selfe to him, and be knowen of him, as if he saw me with his eyes: but this shewing of himselfe is not bodily, but spirituall, yet so plaine as none can be more.

7 We must not aske why the Gospel is reuealed to some rather then to other, but we must rather take heede, that we imbrace Christ who is offered vnto vs, and that wee truely loue him, that is to say, that we giue our selues wholly to his obedience.

8 It is the office of the holy Ghost to imprint in the minds of the elect, in their times & seasons, that which Christ once spake.

* Chap. 15.26.

9 All true felicitie commeth to vs by Christ alone.

10 Be cause it is, that we should be sorie for the departing of Christ from vs according to the flesh, that we should rather reioyce for it, seeing that all the blessing of the members depended vpon the glorifying of the head.

l This is spoken in that, that he is Mediatour, for so the father is greater then he, in as much as the person to whom request is made, is greater then he that maketh the request.

11 Christ goeth to death not vnwillingly, but willingly, not as perteining to the will, but obeying his Fathers decree.

m As who would say, Satan will by and by set vpon me with all the might he can, but he hath no power ouer me, neither shall he finde in me such thing in mee as he thinketh he shall.

CHAP. XV.

1 By the parable of the vine, 2 and the branches, 5.6 he declareth how the disciples may beare fruit. 12.17. He commendeth mutuall loue. 18 He exhorteth them to beare afflictions patiently, 20 by his owne example.

I [1] am that true vine, and my Father is that husbandman.

2 *Euery branch that beareth no fruit in me, hee taketh away: and euery one that beareth fruit, he purgeth it, that it may bring forth more fruit.

3 *Now are ye cleane through the word, which I haue spoken vnto you.

4 Abide in me, and I in you: as the branch cannot beare fruit of it selfe, except it abide in the vine, no more can yee, except ye abide in mee.

5 I am the vine: ye are the branches: hee that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me can yee doe nothing.

6 *If a man abide not in me, hee is cast forth as a branch, and withereth: and men gather them, and cast them into the fire, and they burne.

7 *[2] If ye abide in me, and my words abide in you, aske what yee will, and it shall be done to you.

8 [a] Herein is my Father glorified, that yee beare much fruit, and bee made my disciples.

9 [3] As the Father hath loued me, so haue I loued you: [b] continue in that my loue.

10 If ye shall keepe my commandements, ye shall abide in my loue, as I haue kept my Fathers commaundements, and abide in his loue.

11 These things haue I spoken vnto you, that my ioy might remaine in you, & that your ioy might bee full.

12 *This is my commandement, that ye loue one another, as I haue loued you.

13 Greater loue then this hath no man, when any man bestoweth his life for his friends.

14 Ye are my friends, if yee doe whatsoeuer I command you.

15 [4] Henceforth call I you not seruants: for the seruant knoweth not what his master doth: but I haue called you friends: for all things that I haue heard of my Father, haue I made knowen to you.

16 [5] Ye [c] haue not chosen me, but I haue chosen you, and ordeined you, *that yee goe and bring forth fruit, and that your fruite remaine, that whatsoeuer ye shall aske of the Father in my Name, he may giue it you.

17 These things command I you, that ye loue one another.

18 [6] If the world hate you, yee know that it hated me before you.

19 If yee were of the world, the world would loue his owne: but because yee are not of the world, but I haue chosen you out of the world, therefore the world hateth you.

20 Remember the word that I sayd vnto you, *The seruant is not greater then his master. *If they haue persecuted mee, they will persecute you also: if they haue kept my word, they will also keepe yours.

21 [7] But *all these things will they do vnto you for my Names sake, because they haue not knowen him that sent me.

22 [d] If I had not come and spoken vnto them, they should not haue had sinne: but now haue they no cloke for their sinne.

23 Hee that hateth me, hateth my Father also.

24 If I had not done works among them which none other man did, they had not had sinne: but now haue they both seene, and haue hated both me, and my Father.

25 But it is that the word might be fulfilled, that is written in their [e] Law, *They hated me without a cause.

26 [8] But when that Comforter shal come, *whom I will send vnto you from the father, euen the Spirit of truth, which proceedeth of the Father, he shall testifie of me.

27 And ye shall witnesse also, because yee haue beene with me from the beginning.

1 We are of nature vile and fit for nothing, but the fire: therefore that we may liue and be fruitfull, we must first be graffed into Christ, as it were into a vine, by the Fathers hand: and then be daily dyed with continuall meditation of the word, and the crosse: otherwise it shall not auaile any man at all to haue beene graffed, vnlesse hee cleaue fast vnto the vine, and so draw iuyce out of it.

2 He abideth in Christ, which resteth in his doctrine, and therefore bringeth forth good fruit: And the Father will deuie such an one, nothing.

3 As who would say, Herein shall my Father bee glorified, and herein also shall you bee my disciples, if you bring foorth much fruite.

a That is, in the loue of the Father towards vs, and of the sonne towards vs, and ours toward God and our neighbour, are ioyned together with an vnseparable knot: and there is nothing more sweet and pleasant then it is. Now this loue sheweth it selfe by the effects: a most perfect example whereof, Christ himselfe exhibiteth vnto vs.

4 The doctrine of the Gospel (as it is vttered by Christs owne mouth) is a most perfect and absolute declaration of the counsell of God, which pertaineth to our saluation and is committed vnto the Apostles. 5 Christ is the author and preseruer of the ministerie of the Gospell, euen to the worlds end. but the ministers haue aboue all things need of prayer and brotherly loue. c This place teacheth vs plainely, that our election commeth from the onely fauour and gracious goodnesse of the euerlasting God towards vs, and of nothing that we doe or can deserue. *Matth. 18.18.

6 It ought not onely not to feare but rather confirme the faithfull Ministers of Christ, when they shal be hated of y world as their Master was.
*Chap. 13.16. matth. 10.24.
*Matth. 24.9.

7 The hatred that the world beareth against Christ, proceedeth of the blockishnesse of the mind, which notwithstanding is voluntary blind, so that the world can pretend no excuse to couer their fault.
*Chap. 16.4.

d As who would say, If I had not come, these men would not haue stucke to haue said still before Gods iudgement seat, that they are religious, & void of sinne: but seeing I came to them, and they cleane refuse me, they can'haue no cloke for their wickednes.

e Some time by this word Law, are meant the fiue bookes of Moses, but in this place, the whole Scripture: for the place alleaged is in the Psalmes.

CHAP. XVI.

1 He foretelleth the disciples of persecution. 7 He promiseth the Comforter, and declareth his office. 21 He compareth the affliction of his, to a woman that trauaileth with childe.

THese [1] things haue I said vnto you, that ye should not be offended.

2 They shall excommunicate you: yea, the time shall come, that whosoeuer killeth you, will thinke that he doeth God seruice.

3 And these things will they do vnto you, because they haue not knowen the Father, nor mee.

4 *But these things haue I told you, that when the houre shal come, ye might remember that I told you them. And these things said I not vnto you from the beginning, because I was with you.

5 But now I go my way to him that sent me, and none of you asketh me, Whither goest thou?

1 The ministers of the Gospell must looke for all maner of reproches, not only of them which are open enemies but euen of them also which seeme to bee of the same household, and the very pillars of the Church.
*Chap. 15.21.

6 But because I haue sayd these things vnto you, your hearts are full of sorow.

7 [2] Yet I tell you the trueth, It is expedient for you that I goe away: for if I goe not away, that Comforter will not come vnto you: but if I depart, I will sende him vnto you.

8 [3] And when he is come, he wil[a] reproue the [b] world of sinne, and of righteousnesse, and of iudgement.

9 Of sinne, because they beleeued not in me.

10 Of [c] righteousnesse, because I goe to my Father, and ye shall see me no more.

11 Of [d] iudgement, [c] because the prince of this world is iudged.

12 [4] I haue yet many things to say vnto you, but ye cannot beare them now.

13 Howbeit, when he is come which is the Spirit of trueth, hee will leade you into all trueth: for he shall not speake of himselfe, but whatsoeuer he shall heare, shall he speake, and he will shew you the things to come.

14 [5] Hee shall glorifie mee: for he shall receiue of mine, and shall shew it vnto you.

15 All things that the Father hath, are mine: therefore sayd I, that hee shall take of mine, and shew it vnto you.

16 [6] A [f] litle while, and ye shal not see me: and againe a litle while, and yee shall see me: [g] for I goe to the Father.

17 Then said some of his disciples among themselues, What is this that he saieth vnto vs, A little while, and yee shall not see me, and againe, a little while, and ye shall see me, and, For I goe to the Father?

18 They said therefore, What is this that he saith, A little while? we know not what he saith.

19 Now Iesus knew that they would aske him, and said vnto them, Doe ye enquire among your selues, of that I sayd, A little while, and ye shall not see mee: and againe, a little while, and ye shall see mee?

20 Uerily, verily I say vnto you, that ye shall weepe and lament, and the world shall reioyce: and ye shall sorrow, but your sorrow shall be turned to ioy.

21 A woman when shee trauaileth hath sorrow, because her houre is come: but assoone as shee is deliuered of the childe, shee remembreth no more the anguish, for ioy that a man is borne in to the world.

22 And yee now therefore are in sorowe: but I will see you againe, and your hartes shall reioyce, and your ioy shall no man take from you.

23 And in that day shall yee aske me nothing. * Uerily, verily I say vnto you, whatsoeuer ye shall aske the Father in my Name, hee will giue it you.

24 Hitherto haue ye asked nothing in my Name: aske, and ye shall receiue, that your ioy may be full.

25 [7] These things haue I spoken vnto you in parables: but the time wil come, when I shall no more speake to you in parables: but I shall shew you plainely of the Father.

26 [8] At that day shal ye aske in my Name, and I say not vnto you, that I will pray vnto the Father for you:

27 For the Father himselfe loueth you, because ye haue loued me, * and haue beleeued that I came out from God.

28 I am come out from the Father, and came into the world: againe I leaue the world, and goe to the Father.

29 [9] His disciples said vnto him, Loe, now speakest thou plainely, and thou speakest no parable.

30 Now know wee that thou knowest all things, and needest not that any man shoulde aske thee. By this wee beleeue that thou art come out from God.

31 Iesus answered them, Do you beleeue now?

32 * [10] Behold, the houre commeth, and is already come, that ye shalbe scattered euery man into his owne, and shall leaue me alone: but I am not alone: for the Father is with me.

33 [11] These things haue I spoken vnto you, that [h] in me yee might haue peace: in the world yee shall haue affliction, but be of good comfort: I haue ouercome the world.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Christ prayeth that his glory together with his Fathers may bee made manifest. 9 Hee prayeth for his Apostles, 20 And for all beleeuers.

These [1] things spake Iesus, and lift vp his eyes to heauen, and sayd, [2] Father, that houre is come: glorifie thy Sonne, that thy Sonne may also glorifie thee,

2 * As thou hast giuen him power ouer [a] all flesh, that he should giue eternall life to all them that thou hast giuen him.

3 And this is life eternall, that they know

1 The absence of Christ, according to the flesh, is profitable to the Church that we may wholy depend vpon his spirituall power.

2 The Spirit of God worketh so mightily by the preaching of the word, that he constraineth the world, will it, nill it, to confesse it own vnrighteousnesse and Christs righteousnesse and almightines.

3 He will so reproue the world, that the worldlings shalbe able to pretend no excuse.

4 He respecteth the time that followed his ascension, when as all gainesayers were manifestly reproued, through the powring out of the holy Ghost vpō the Church: So that the very enemies of Christ were reproued of sinne, in that they were constrained to confesse that they were deceiued, in that they beleeued not, & therefore they sayd to Peter, Acts 1. Men and brethren what shall we doe?

5 Of Christ himselfe: For when the world shall see, that I haue powred out the holy Ghost, they shall be constrained to confesse that I was iust, and was not condemned of my Father, when I went out of this world.

6 Of that authoritie and power, which I haue both in heauen and earth.

7 That is because they shall then vnderstand & know in deed, that I haue ouercome the deuill and doe gouerne the world when all men shall see, that they set themselues against you in vaine, for I will arme you with that heauenly power, whereby you may destroy euery high thing which is lifted vp against the knowledge of God, 2. Cor. 10 12.

8 The doctrine of the Apostles, proceeded from the holy Ghost, and is most perfite.

9 The holy Ghost bringeth no new doctrine, but teacheth that which was vttered by Christs owne mouth, and imprinteth it in our minds.

10 The grace of the holy Ghost is a most liuely glasse, wherein Christ is truely beholden with the most sharpe sighted eyes of faith, and not with the bleared eyes of the flesh: Whereby we feele a continuall ioy euen in the middest of sorowes.

11 When a little time is once past.

12 For I passe to eternall glory, so that I shall bee much more present with you then I was before: for then you shall feele in deed what I am, and what I am able to doe.

* Chap. 14. 13. matth. 7. 7. & 21. 22. mark. 11. 24. lu. 11. 9. iam. 1. 5.

7 The holy Ghost, which was powred vpon the Apostles after the Ascension of Christ, instructed both them in all the cheefe mysteries and secrets of our saluation, and also by them the Church, and will also instruct it to the ende of the world.

8 The summe of the worship of God, is the inuocation of the Father in the Name of the Sonne the Mediatour, who is already heard for vs, for whom hee hath abased himselfe, and is now also glorified.

* Chap. 17. 8.

9 Faith and foolish securitie differ very much.

* Matth. 26. 31. marke 14. 27.

10 Neither the wickednes of the world, nether the weakenesse of his owne can diminish any thing of the vertue of Christ.

11 The sureties and stay of the Church depended onely vpon the victory of Christ.

h That in me you might be throughly quieted. For by (peace) is meant in this place, that quiet state of minde, which is cleane contrary to disquietnesse and heauinesse.

this prayer was from the beginning, is, and shall bee to the ende of the world, the foundation and ground of the Church of God. 2 He first declareth, that he came into the world to the end that the Father might shew in him, being apprehended by faith, his glory in sauing his elect, so he applied himselfe to that end, thereto perteyneth of the Father, that he would bless the workes which he had begun. * Matth. 28. 18. a Ouer all men.

thee to be the [b] onely very God, and whom thou hast sent, Jesus Christ.

4 I haue glorified thee on the earth: I haue finished the worke which thou gauest me to doe.

5 And now glorifie me, thou Father, with thine owne selfe, with the glory which I had with thee before the world was.

6 [3] I haue declared thy Name vnto the men which thou gauest mee out of the world: [c] thine they were, and thou [d] gauest them mee, and they haue kept thy word.

7 * Now they know that all things whatsoeuer thou hast giuen me, are of thee.

8 For I haue giuen vnto them the words which thou gauest mee, and they haue receiued them, and haue knowen surely that I came out from thee, and haue beleeued that thou hast sent me.

9 I pray for them: I pray not for the world, but for them which thou hast giuen me: for they are thine.

10 And all mine are thine, and thine are mine, and I am glorified in them.

11 And now am I no more in the world, but these are in the world, and I come to thee. Holy Father, keepe them in thy Name, euen them whom thou hast giuen mee, that they may be [e] one as we are.

12 While I was with them in the world, I kept them in thy Name: those that thou gauest me, haue I kept, and none of them is lost, but the childe of perdition, that the * scripture might be fulfilled.

13 And now come I to thee, and these things speake I in the world, that they might haue my ioy fulfilled in themselues.

14 I haue giuen them thy word, and the world hath hated them, because they are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

15 [4] I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou keepe them from euill.

16 They are not of the world, as I am not of the world.

17 [f] Sanctifie them with thy trueth: thy word is trueth.

18 [5] As thou diddest send me into the world, so haue I sent them into the world.

19 And for their sakes sanctifie I my selfe, that they also may bee sanctified through the [g] trueth.

20 [6] I pray not for these alone, but for them also which shall beleeue in mee, through their word, 21 That they all may bee one, as thou, O Father art in me, and I in thee: euen that they may bee also in vs, that the world may beleeue that thou hast sent mee.

22 And the glory that thou gauest mee, I haue giuen them, that they may be one, as wee are one.

23 I in them, & thou in me, that they may be made perfite in one, and that the world may know that thou hast sent mee, and hast loued them, as thou hast loued me.

24 * Father, I will that they which thou hast giuen me, be with mee euen where I am, that they may behold that my glory, which thou hast giuen me: for thou louedst me before the foundation of the world.

25 O righteous Father, the world also hath not knowen thee, but I haue knowen thee, and these haue knowen, that thou hast sent me.

26 [7] And I haue declared vnto them thy Name, and will declare it, that the loue wherwith thou hast loued mee, may be in them, and I in them.

b He calleth the Father the onely very God, to set him against all false gods, and not to shut out himselfe and the holy Ghost, for straightwayes he ioyneth the knowledge of the Father and the knowledge of himselfe together, and according to his accustomed maner setteth forth the whole Godhead in the person of the Father: So is the Father alone said to be King, immortall, wise, and dwelling in light which no man can attaine vnto, inuisible, Rom 16.27. 1.tim.1.17.

3 First of all hee prayeth for those his disciples by whom he would haue the rest to be gathered together, and commendeth them vnto the Father, (hauing once reiected the whole company of the reprobate) because he receiued them of him, into his custodie, and for that they embracing his doctrine, shal haue so many & so mighty enemies, that there is no way for them to bee in safetie, but by his helpe onely.

c He sheweth hereby that euerlasting election & choise, which was hidden in the good wil and pleasure of God, which is the ground worke of our saluation.

d He sheweth how that euerlasting and hidden purpose of God is declared in Christ, by whom we are iustified and sanctified, if we lay hold on him by faith, that at length we may come to the glory of the election.

* Chap.16.27.

e Hee prayeth that his people may peaceably agree and bee ioyned together in one, that as the Godhead is one, so they may be of one minde and one consent together. *Psalm. 109.7. 4 He sheweth what maner of deliuerance he meaneth, not that they should be in no danger, but that they being preserued from all, might proone by experience that the doctrine of saluation is true, which they receiued at his mouth to deliuer to other. f That is make them holy: and that is sayd to bee holy, which is dedicated and made proper to God onely. 5 He adioyneth moreouer, that the Apostles haue a vocation common with him, and therefore that they must bee holden vp by the selfe same vertue to giue vp themselues wholy to God, whereby he being first did consecrate himselfe to the Father. g The true and substantiall sanctification of Christ, is set against the outward purifyings.

6 Secondarily, hee offereth to God the Father all his, that is, how many soeuer shall beleeue in him by the doctrine of the Apostles: that as he cleaueth vnto the father, receiuing from him all fulnesse, so they being ioyned with him, may receiue like from him, & at length being together beloued in him, may also with him enioy euerlasting glory

7 Hee communicateth with his by little and little, the knowledge of the Father, which is most full in Christ the Mediatour, that they may in him be beloued of the Father, with the selfe same loue wherewith he loueth the Sonne.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 By Christs power, whom Iudas betrayeth. 6 the souldiers are cast downe to the ground. 13 Christ is led to Annas, and from him to Caiaphas. 22. 23 His answere to the officer that smote him with a rod. 28 Being deliuered to Pilate, 36 hee declareth his kingdome.

WHen [1] Jesus had spoken these things hee went foorth with his disciples ouer the brooke * Cedron, where was a garden, into the which he entred and his disciples.

2 And Judas which betrayed him, knew also the place: for Jesus oft times resorted thither.

2 *[2] Judas then, after he had receiued a band of men and officers of the hie Priestes, and of the Pharises, came thither with lanternes and torches, and weapons.

4 [3] Then Jesus knowing all things that should come vnto him, went forth and said vnto them, Whom seeke ye?

5 They answered him, Jesus of Nazareth. Jesus sayd vnto them, I am he. Now Judas also which betrayed him, stood with them.

6 Assoone then as he had sayd vnto them, I am he, they went away backewards, and fell to the ground.

7 Then he asked them againe, Whom seeke yee? And they said, Jesus of Nazareth.

8 [4] Jesus answered, I said vnto you, that I am he: therefore if ye seeke me, let these go their way.

9 This was that the worde might bee fulfil-

1 Christ goeth of his owne accord into a garden, which his betrayer knew, to be taken: that by his obedience he might take away the sinne that entred into the world by one mans rebellion, and that in a garden.

fulfilled which he spake, *Of them which thou gauest me haue I lost none.

10 [5] Then Simon Peter hauing a sword, drew it, and smote the hie Priests seruaunt, and cut off his right eare. Now the seruants name was Malchus.

11 Then sayd Jesus vnto Peter, Put vp thy sword into the sheath: shall I not drinke of the cup which my Father hath giuen me?

12 Then the band & the captaine, and the officers of the Iewes tooke Jesus, & bound him,

13 [6] And led him away to *Annas first (for he was father in law to Caiaphas, which was the hie Priest that same yeere.)

14 *And Caiaphas was hee, that gaue counsell to the Iewes, that it was expedient that one man should die for the people.

15 [7] *Now Simon Peter followed Jesus, and another disciple, and that disciple was knowen of the hie Priest: therefore he went in with Jesus into the hall of the hie Priest:

16 But Peter stood at the doore without. Then went out the other disciple which was knowen vnto the hie Priest, and spake to her that kept the doore, and brought in Peter.

17 Then sayd the maid that kept the doore, vnto Peter, Art not thou also one of this mans disciples? He sayd, I am not.

18 And the seruaunts and officers stoode there, which had made a fire of coles: for it was colde, and they warmed themselues. And Peter also stoode among them, and warmed himselfe.

19 [8] The hie Priest then asked Jesus of his disciples, and of his doctrine.

20 Jesus answered him, I spake openly to the world: I euer taught in the Synagogue and in the Temple, whither the Iewes resort continually, and in secret haue I said nothing.

21 Why askest thou me? aske them which heard me what I sayd vnto them: behold, they know what I sayd.

22 When he had spoken these things, one of the officers which stood by, smote Jesus with his rodde, saying, Answerest thou the hie Priest so?

23 Jesus answered him, If I haue euill spoken, beare witnes of the euill, but if I haue well spoken, why smitest thou mee?

24 [9] *Now Annas had sent him bounde vnto Caiaphas the hie Priest.)

25 *And Simon Peter stood and warmed himselfe, and they sayd vnto him, Art not thou also of his disciples? Hee denied it, and sayd, I am not.

26 One of the seruants of the hie Priest, his cousin whose eare Peter smote off, said, did not I see thee in the garden with him?

27 Peter then denied againe, and immediatly the cocke crew.

28 [10] Then led they Jesus from [a] Caiaphas into ỳ common hall. Now it was morning, and they themselues went not into the common hall, least they should be *defiled, but that they might eate the Passeouer.

29 Pilate then went out vnto them, and said, What accusation bring yee against this man?

30 They answered and said vnto him, If he were not an euill doer, wee would not haue deliuered him vnto thee.

31 Then said Pilate vnto them, Take yee him, & iudge him after your owne Law. Then the Iewes said vnto him, [b] It is not lawful for vs to put any man to death.

32 It was that the word of Jesus *might be fulfilled which hee spake, [c] signifying what death he should die.

33 *So Pilate entred into the common hall againe, and called Jesus, & said vnto him, Art thou the King of the Iewes?

34 Jesus answered him, Saiest thou that of thy selfe, or did other tell it thee of me?

35 Pilate answered, Am I a Iew? Thine owne nation, and the hie Priests haue deliuered thee vnto me. What hast thou done?

36 [11] Jesus answered, My kingdome is not of this world: if my kingdom were of this world, my seruants would surely fight, that I should not be deliuered to the Iewes: but now is my kingdome not from hence.

37 Pilate then said vnto him, Art thou a King then? Jesus answered, Thou sayest that I am a King: for this cause am I borne, & for this cause came I into the world, that I should beare witnesse vnto the truth: euerie one that is of the truth heareth my voice.

38 [12] Pilate said vnto him, [d] What is truth? And when he had said that, he went out againe vnto the Iewes, and said vnto them, I find in him no cause at all.

39 *But you haue a custome, that I should deliuer you one loose at the Passeouer: will ye then that I loose vnto you the King of the Iewes?

40 *Then [e] cried they all againe, saying, Not him, but Barabbas: now this Barabbas was a murtherer.

thornes, and put it on his head, and they put on him a purple garment,

3 And saide, Haile, King of the Iewes. And they smote him with their rodes.

4 [2] Then Pilate went foorth againe, and saide vnto them, Beholde, I bring him foorth to you, that yee may knowe, that I finde no fault in him at all.

5 Then came Iesus foorth wearing a crowne of thornes, and a purple garment. And Pilate saide vnto them, Beholde the man.

6 Then when the hie Priests and officers saw him, they cryed, saying, [a] Crucifie, crucifie him. Pilate said vnto them, Take ye him and crucifie him: for I find no fault in him.

7 The Iewes answered him, We haue a lawe, and by our lawe hee ought to die, because he made himselfe the Sonne of God.

8 ¶ [3] When Pilate then heard that word, he was the more afraide, 9 And went againe into the common hall, and saide vnto Iesus, Whence art thou? But Iesus gaue him none answere.

10 Then said Pilate vnto him, Speakest thou not vnto mee? Knowest thou not that I haue power to crucifie thee, and haue power to loose thee?

11 Iesus answered, Thou couldest haue no power at all against me, except it were giuen thee from aboue: therefore he that deliuered me vnto thee, hath the greater sinne.

12 From thencefoorth Pilate sought to loose him, but ye Iewes cryed, saying, If thou deliuer him, thou art not Cesars friende: for whosoeuer maketh himselfe a King, speaketh against Cesar.

13 ¶ [4] When Pilate heard this word, he brought Iesus foorth, and sate downe in the iudgement seate, in a place called the Pauement, and in Hebrewe, [b] Gabbatha.

14 And it was ye preparation of the Passeouer, and about the sixt houre: and hee saide vnto the Iewes, Behold your King.

15 But they cryed, Away with him, away with him, crucifie him. Pilate said vnto them, Shal I crucifie your king? The high Priests answered, We haue no King but Cesar.

16 [5] Then deliuered he him vnto them, to be crucified. [8] And they tooke Iesus, and ledde him away.

17 * And he bare his owne crosse, and came into a place named of dead mens Skulles, which is called in Hebrewe, Golgotha:

18 Where they crucified him, and two other with him, on either side one, and Iesus in the middes.

19 ¶ [6] And Pilate wrote also a title, and put it on the crosse, & it was written, IESVS OF NAZARETH THE KING OF THE IEWES.

20 This title then read many of the Iewes: for the place where Iesus was crucified, was neere to the citie: and it was written in Hebrew, Greeke and Latine.

21 Then said the hie Priests of the Iewes to Pilate, Write not, The King of the Iewes, but that he said, I am King of the Iewes.

22 Pilate answered, What I haue written, I haue written.

23 ¶ [7] Then the * souldiers, when they had crucified Iesus, tooke his garments (and made foure parts, to euery souldier a part) and his coate: and the coate was without seame wouen from the top throughout.

24 Therefore they saide one to another, Let vs not diuide it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be. This was that the Scripture might bee fulfilled, which sateth, * They parted my garments among them, and on my coate did cast lots. So the souldiers did these things indeede.

25 ¶ [8] Then stood by the crosse of Iesus his Mother, and his mothers sister, Mary the wife of Cleophas, and Mary Magdalene.

26 And when Iesus saw his mother, and the Disciple standing by, whom he loued, he said vnto his mother, Woman, beholde thy sonne.

27 Then said he to the disciple, Behold thy mother: and from that houre, the disciple took her home vnto him.

28 ¶ [9] After, when Iesus knewe that all things were performed, that the * Scripture might be fulfilled, he said, I thirst.

29 And there was set a [c] vessell full of vineger: and they filled a sponge with vineger, and put it about an Hyssope stalke, and put it to his mouth.

30 Now when Iesus had receiued of the vineger, hee said, It is finished, and bowed his head, and gaue vp the Ghost.

31 [10] The Iewes then (because it was the Preparation, that the bodies should not remaine vpon the crosse on the Sabbath day: for that Sabbath was an hie day) besought Pilate that their legges might be broken, and that they might be taken downe.

32 Then came the souldiers and brake the legges of the first, and of the other which was crucified with Iesus.

33 But when they came to Iesus, and saw that he was dead alreadie, they brake not his legges.

34 [11] But one of ye souldiers with a speare [d] pearced his side, and foorthwith came there out blood and water.

CHAP. XX.

1 Marie bringeth word that Christ is risen: 3 Peter & Iohn 4 runne to see it. 15 Iesus appeareth to Marie 19 and to the disciples that were together in the house. 25 Thomas, before faithlesse, 29 now beleeueth.

NOw *[1] the first day of the weeke came Marie Magdalene, earely when it was yet darke, vnto the Sepulchre, and sawe the stone taken away from the tombe.

* Marke 16. 1. luke 24. 1.
1 Marie Magdalene, Peter and Iohn, are the first witnesses of the resurrection: and such as cannot iustly be suspected, for that they themselues could scarcely be perswaded of it, so farre is it off, that they should inuent it of set purpose.

2 Then shee ranne, and came to Simon Peter, and to the other Disciple whome Iesus loued, and said vnto them, They haue taken away the Lord out of the Sepulchre, and wee know not where they haue laid him.

3 Peter therfore went forth, and the other disciple, and they came vnto the Sepulchre.

4 So they ranne both together, but the other disciple did outrun Peter, and came first to the Sepulchre.

5 And he stouped downe, and saw the linnen clothes lying: yet went he not in.

6 Then came Simon Peter following him, and went into the sepulchre, and saw the linnen clothes lie,

7 And the kerchiefe that was vpon his head, not lying with the linnen clothes, but wrapped together in a place by it selfe.

8 Then went in also the other disciple, which came first to the sepulchre, and he saw it, and beleeued.

9 For as yet they knew not the Scripture, That he must rise againe from the dead.

10 And the disciples went away againe vnto their owne home.

11 ¶ *But Marie stoode [a] without at the sepulchre weeping: and as she wept, she bowed her selfe into the Sepulchre, b In white clothing.

13 And they said vnto her, Woman, why weepest thou? Shee said vnto them, They haue taken away [c] my Lord, and I know not where they haue laide him.

c Mary spake as the common people vse to speake, for they speake of a dead carkeise, as they doe of a whole man.

14 [3] When shee had thus said shee turned her selfe backe, and saw Iesus standing, and knew not that it was Iesus.

3 Iesus witnesseth by his presence, that he is truely risen.

15 Iesus saith vnto her, Woman, why weepest thou? whom seekest thou? Shee supposing that he had bene the gardener, said vnto him, Sir, if thou hast borne him hence, tell me where thou hast laid him, and I will take him away.

16 Iesus saith vnto her, Marie. Shee turned her selfe, & said vnto him, Rabboni, which is to say, Master.

4 Christ which is risen is not to be sought in this world according to the flesh, but in heauen by faith whither he is gone before vs.
d By his brethren he meaneth his disciples: for in the next verse following, it is said, that Marie tolde his disciples.

17 [4] Iesus saith vnto her, Touch me not: for I am not yet ascended to my Father: but goe to my [d] brethren, and say vnto them, I ascend vnto [e] my Father, and to your Father, and to my God, and your God.

e He calleth God his father, because he is his Father naturally in the Godhead, and he saith your Father, because he is our Father by grace through the adoption of the Sonnes of God: that is, by taking vs of his free grace to be his sonnes. Epiphanius.

18 Marie Magdalene came and tolde the disciples that she had seene the Lord, and that he had spoken these things vnto her.

19 ¶ *[5] The same day then at night, which was the first day of the weeke, and when the [f] doores were shut where the disciples were assembled for feare of the Iewes, came Iesus and stoode in the middes, and said to them, Peace be vnto you.

26 And eight dayes after, againe his diſciples were within, and Thomas with them. Then came Ieſus, when the doores were ſhut, and ſtood in the middes, and ſaid, Peace be vnto you.

27 After ſaid hee to Thomas, Put thy finger here, and ſee mine handes, and put foorth thine hand, and put it into my ſide, and be not faithleſſe, but faithfull.

28 Then Thomas anſwered, and ſaid vnto him, Thou art my Lord, and my God.

29 [3] Ieſus ſaid vnto him, Thomas, becauſe thou haſt ſeene me, thou beleeueſt: bleſſed are they that haue not ſeene, and haue beleeued.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Ieſus appeareth to his Diſciples as they were a fiſhing.
6.7 who they knew by a miraculous draught of fiſhes.
15 He committeth the charge of the Sheepe to Peter,
18 and foretelleth him of the maner of his death.

AFter theſe things, [1] Ieſus ſhewed himſelfe againe to his Diſciples at the Sea of Tiberias: and thus ſhewed he himſelfe.

2 There were together Simon Peter, and Thomas, which is called Didymus, and Nathanael of Cana in Galile, and the ſonnes of Zebedeus, and two other of his Diſciples.

3 Simon Peter ſaid vnto them, I goe a fiſhing. They ſaid vnto him, We alſo will goe with thee. They went their way and entred into a ſhippe ſtraightway, and that night caught they nothing.

4 But when the morning was now come, Ieſus ſtoode on the ſhore: neuertheleſſe the Diſciples knew not that it was Ieſus.

5 Ieſus then ſaid vnto them, Syrs, haue ye any meate? They anſwered him, No.

6 Then hee ſaid vnto them, Caſt out the net on the right ſide of the ſhippe, and yee ſhall find. So they caſt out, and they were not able at all to draw it, for the multitude of Fiſhes.

7 Therefore ſaid the Diſciple whom Ieſus loued, vnto Peter, It is the Lord. When Simon Peter heard that it was the Lord, hee girded his [2] coate to him (for hee was naked) and caſt himſelfe into the Sea.

8 But the other Diſciples came by ſhippe (for they were not farre from land, but about two hundreth cubites) and they drewe the net with fiſhes.

9 Aſſoone then as they were come to land, they ſawe hoate coales, and fiſh laide thereon, and bread.

10 Ieſus ſaid vnto them, Bring of the fiſhes which ye haue now caught.

11 Simon Peter ſtepped foorth and drew the net to land, full of great fiſhes, an hundreth, fiftie and three: and albeit there were ſo many, yet was not the net broken.

12 Ieſus ſaid vnto them, Come, and dine. And none of the Diſciples durſt aſke him, Who art thou? ſeeing they knew that he was the Lord.

13 Ieſus then came and tooke bread and gaue them, and fiſh likewiſe.

14 This is now the third time that Ieſus ſhewed himſelfe to his Diſciples, after that he was riſen againe from the dead.

15 [2] So when they had dined, Ieſus ſaid to Simon Peter, Simon the ſonne of Iona, loueſt thou me more then theſe? He ſaid vnto him, Yea Lord, thou knoweſt that I loue thee. He ſaid vnto him, Feede my Lambs.

16 He ſaid to him againe the ſecond time, Simon the ſonne of Iona, loueſt thou mee? Hee ſaid vnto him, Yea Lord, thou knoweſt that I loue thee. He ſaid vnto him, Feede my Sheepe.

17 He ſaid vnto him the [b] third time, Simon the ſonne of Iona, loueſt thou me? Peter was ſorie becauſe hee ſaid to him the third time, Loueſt thou me? and ſaid vnto him, Lord, thou knoweſt all things: thou knoweſt that I loue thee. Ieſus ſaid vnto him, feede my ſheep.

18 [3] Verily, verily, I ſay vnto thee. When thou waſt yong, thou [c] girdeſt thy ſelfe, and walkedſt whither thou wouldeſt: but when thou ſhalt be olde, thou ſhalt ſtretch foorth thine hands, and another ſhall [d] gird thee, and leade thee wither thou wouldeſt [e] not.

19 And this ſpake he ſignifying by [f] what death he ſhould glorifie God. And when he had ſaid this, he ſaid to him, Follow me.

20 [4] Then Peter turned about, and ſawe the Diſciple whome Ieſus loued, following, which had alſo *leaned on his breſt at Supper, and had ſaid, Lord, which is hee that betrayeth thee?

21 When Peter therefore ſaw him, he ſaid to Ieſus, Lord, what ſhall this man doe?

1 In that that Chriſt here is not onely preſent but alſo eateth with his diſciples, he giueth a moſt full aſſurance of his reſurrection.

2 It was a linnen garment, which could not let his ſwimming.

2 Peter by this triple confeſſion is reſtored into his former degree from whence he fell by his triple denial: and therewithall is aduertiſed, that he is in deede a Paſtour, which ſheweth his loue to Chriſt, in feeding his Sheepe

b It was meete that he that had denied him thriſe ſhould confeſſe him thriſe, that Peter might neither doubt of the forgiueneſſe of his ſo grieuous a ſinne, nor of his reſtoring to the office of the Apoſtleſhip.

3 The violent death of Peter is foretold.

c They that tooke farre iourneyes, eſpecially in the Eaſt countrey and in thoſe places where the people vſed long garments, had neede to be girded & truſſed vp.

d He meant that kind of girding which is vſed toward captiues, when they are bound faſt with cordes & chaines as who would ſay, Now thou girdeſt thy ſelfe as thou thinkeſt beſt, to go whither thou liſteſt, but the time will be, when thou ſhalt not gird thee with a girdle, but another ſhall binde thee with chaines, and carie thee whither thou wouldeſt not. e Not that Peter ſuffered ought for the truth of God againſt his will, for we reade that hee came with ioy & gladneſſe, when he returned from the Councel where he was whipped, but becauſe this will commeth not from the fleſh, but from that gift of the Spirit which is giuen vs from aboue, therefore he ſheweth there ſhould be a certaine ſtriuing and conflict or repugnancie, which alſo is in vs, in al our ſufferances as touching the fleſh. f That is, that Peter ſhould die by a violent death. 4 Wee muſt take heede, that whiles we caſt our eyes vpon other, we neglect not that which is inioyned vs.

* Chap. 13. 23.

22 Jesus said vnto him, If I will that hee tarie till I come, what is it to thee? followe thou me.

23 Then went this worde abroad among the brethren, that this disciple should not die. Yet Jesus said not to him, Hee shall not die: but if I will that he tarie till I come, what is it to thee?

24 [5] This is that disciple, which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things, and we knowe that his testimonie is true.

25 *Nowe there are also many other thinges which Jesus did, the which if they should bee written euery one, I suppose the worlde could not conteine the bookes that should be written, Amen.

5 The historie of Christ is true and warily written: not for the curiositie of men, but for the saluation of the godly.

The Actes of the holy Apostles, written by Luke the Euangelist.

CHAP. I.

1 Luke tieth this historie to his Gospell. 9 Christ being taken into heauen, 10 the Apostles 11 being warned by the Angels, 12 returne, 14 and giue themselues to prayer. 15 By Peters motion, 18 into Iudas the traitours place, Matthias is chosen.

THaue made the [1] former treatise, O Theophilus, of all that Jesus beganne to [a] doe and teach,

2 Untill the day that hee was taken vp, after that hee through the holy Ghost, had giuen commaundements vnto the Apostles, whome hee had chosen:

3 [2] To whom also he presented himselfe aliue after that hee had suffered, by many [b] infallible tokens, being seene of them by the space of fourtie dayes, and speaking of those things which appertaine to the kingdome of God.

4 *And when he had [c] gathered them together, he commaunded them that they should not depart from Hierusalem, but to waite for the promise of the Father, *which said hee, ye haue heard of me.

5 *For John indeed baptized with water, but yee shall bee baptized [d] with the holy Ghost within these fewe dayes.

6 [3] When they therefore were come together, they asked of him, saying, Lord, wilt thou at this time [e] restore the kingdome to Israel?

7 And he sayde vnto them, It is not for you to know the times, or the [f] seasons, which the father hath put in his owne power,

8 *But ye shall receiue power of the holy Ghost, when he shall come on you: and ye shal be witnesses vnto me both in Hierusalem and in all Judea, and in Samaria, and vnto the vttermost part of the earth.

9 *[4] And when he had spoken these things, while they beheld, hee was taken vp: for a cloude tooke him vp out of their sight.

10 And while they looked stedfastly toward heauen, as hee went, beholde, two men stood by them in white apparell, 11 Which also said, Yee men of Galile, why stand yee gazing into heauen? This Jesus which is taken vp [g] from you into heauen, shall so come, as yee haue seene him goe into heauen.

12 Then returned they vnto Hierusalem from the mount that is called the mount of Oliues, which is neere to Hierusalem, being from it a Sabbath [h] dayes iourney.

13 [5] And when they were [i] come in, they went vp into an vpper chamber, where abode both Peter and James, and John, & Andrew, Philip, and Thomas, Bartlemew, and Matthew, James the sonne of Alpheus, and Simon Zelotes, and Judas James brother.

14 These all [k] continued with [l] one accord in [m] prayer and supplication with the [n] women, and Marie the mother of Jesus, and with his [o] brethren.

15 [6] And in those dayes Peter stood vp in the middes of the disciples, and saide (nowe the number of [p] names that were in one place were about an hundreth and twentie.)

16 [7] Ye men and brethren, this Scripture must needes haue beene fulfilled, which the *holy Ghost by the mouth of Dauid spake before of Judas, which was *guide to them that tooke Jesus.

17 For he was numbred with vs, and had obtained fellowship in this ministration.

1 A passing ouer from the historie of the Gospell, that is, from the historie of the sayings and doings of Christ, vnto the actes of the Apostles.

a The actes of Iesus are the miracles and doings which shewed his Godhead, and his most perfite holinesse and examples of his doctrine.

2 Christ did not straightwayes ascend into heauen after his resurrection, because he would throughly proone his resurrection, and with his presence confirme his Apostles in the doctrine, which they had heard.

b Hee calleth those infallible tokens, which are otherwise termed necessarie: now in that, that Christ spake, and walked, and eate, and was felt of many, these are sure signes and tokens that he truly rose againe.

*Luke 24.49.

5 Ecclesiasticall assemblies to heare the worde, and to make common prayer, were first instituted and kept in priuate houses by the Apostles.

i They went into the house, which the Church had chosen at that time to be a receite for the whole assembly.

k The Greeke worde signifieth an inuincible constancie, and steadinesse.

l It is to good purpose, that this concord is mentioned: for those prayers are most acceptable to God, which are made with agreeing mindes and willes.

m The disciples prayed for the sending of the holy Ghost, and also to be deliuered from present dangers, wherewith they were beset.

n For it was behoueable, to haue the wiues confirmed, who were afterward to be partakers of the dangers with their husbandes.

6 Peter is made the mouth and interpreter of the whole companie of the Apostles, either by secret reuelation of the holy Ghost, or by expresse iudgement of the congregation.

18 Hee therefore hath [q] purchaſed a fielde with the rewarde of iniquitie: and when * he had [r] throwen downe himſelfe headlong, hee braſt aſunder in the mids, and all his bowels guſhed out.

19 And it is knowen vnto all the inhabitants of Hieruſalem, in ſo much, that that field is called in their owne language, Aceldama, that is, The fielde of blood.

20 For it is written in the booke of Pſalmes, * Let his habitation bee voyde, and let no man dwell therein: * alſo, Let another take his [s] charge.

21 [8] Wherefore of theſe men which haue companied with vs, all the time that the Lord Jeſus was [t] conuerſant among vs, 22 Beginning from the Baptiſme of Iohn vnto the day that hee was taken vp [u] from vs, muſt one of them be made a witneſſe with vs of his reſurrection.

23 [9] And they [x] preſented two, Joſeph called Barſabas, whoſe ſurname was Juſtus, and Matthias.

24 And they prayed, ſaying, Thou Lorde, which knoweſt the heartes of all men, ſhewe whether of theſe two thou haſt choſen, 25 That hee may take the [y] roume of this miniſtration and Apoſtleſhippe, from which Judas hath [z] gone aſtray, to goe to his owne place.

26 Then they gaue foorth their lottes: and the lotte fell on Matthias, and hee was by a common conſent counted with the eleuen Apoſtles.

s His office and miniſterie: Dauid wrote theſe words againſt Doeg the Kings heardman: And theſe words, Shepheard, Sheepe, & Flock, are put ouer to the Church office and miniſterie, ſo that the Church and the offices are called by theſe names.
8 The Apoſtles deliberate vpon nothing, but firſt they conſult and take aduiſement by Gods word: and againe they doe nothing that concerneth and is behoueable for the whole body of the Congregation, without making the Congregation priuie vnto it.

Chron. 27.1. u From our companie. 9 The Apoſtles muſt bee choſen immediatly from God: and therefore after prayers, Matthias is choſen by lotte, which is as it were, Gods owne voyce. x Openly, and by the voyces of all the whole company. y That he may be fellow and partaker of this miniſterie. z Departed from, or fallen from: And it is a Metaphore taken from the way: For Callings are ſignified by the name of wayes, with the Hebrewes.

CHAP. II.

1 The Apoſtles 4 filled with the holy Ghoſt 8 ſpeake with diuers tongues: 13 They are thought to be drunk, 15 but Peter diſproueth that: 34 Hee teacheth that Chriſt is the Meſſias: 37 And ſeeing the hearers aſtonied, 38 he exhorteth them to repentance.

AND [1] when the day of Pentecoſt was [a] come, they were [b] all with one accorde in one place.

2 And ſuddenly there came a ſound from heauen, as of a ruſhing and mightie winde, and it filled all the houſe where they ſate.

1 The Apoſtles being gathered together on a moſt ſolemne feaſt day in one place, that it might euidently appeare to all the worlde, that they had all one office, one Spirit, one faith, are by a double ſigne from heauen authoriſed, and anoynted with all the moſt excellent giftes of the holy Ghoſt, and eſpecially with an extraordinarie and neceſſarie gift of tongues. a Worde for worde, was fulfilled: that is, was begun, as Luke 2.21. For the Hebrewes ſay, that a day, or a yere is fulfilled or ended, when the former dayes or yeeres are ended, and the other begun, Iere. 25.12. And it ſhall come to paſſe, that when ſeuentie yeeres are fulfilled, I will viſite, &c. For the Lord did not bring home his people, after the ſeuentieth yeere was ended, but in the ſeuentieth yeere: Now the day of Pentecoſt, was the fiftieth day after the feaſt of the Paſſeouer. b The twelue Apoſtles, which were to be the Patriarkes as it were of the Church.

3 And there appeared vnto them clouen tongues, like fire, & it ſate vpon each of them.

4 And they were all filled with the holy Ghoſt, and beganne to ſpeake with [c] other tongues, as the [d] Spirit gaue thē vtterance.

5 And there were dwelling at Hieruſalem Jewes, men that feared God, of euery nation vnder heauen.

6 Nowe when this was noiſed, the multitude came together, and were aſtonied, becauſe that euery man heard them ſpeake his owne language.

7 And they wondered all, and marueiled, ſaying among themſelues, Beholde, are not all theſe which ſpeake, of Galile?

8 [c] Howe then heare we euery man our owne language, wherein we were borne?

9 Parthians, and Medes, and Elamites, and the inhabitants of Meſopotamia, and of Judea, and of Cappadocia, of Pontus, & Aſia,

10 And of Phrygia, and Pamphylia, of Egypt, and of the partes of Libya, which is beſide Cyrene, and ſtrangers of Rome, and [f] Jewes, and Proſelites, 11 Creetes, and Arabians: we heard them ſpeake in our owne tongues the wounderfull workes of God.

12 [2] They were all then amazed, & doubted, ſaying one to another, What may this be?

13 And others [g] mocked, and ſayde, They are full of new wine.

14 ¶ But Peter ſtanding with the Eleuen, [h] lift vp his voyce, and ſaid vnto them, Ye men of Judea, and ye all that inhabite Hieruſalem, be this knowen vnto you, and hearken vnto my wordes.

15 For theſe are not drunken, as yee ſuppoſe, ſince it is but the [i] third houre of the day.

16 But this is that, which was ſpoken by the [k] Prophet * Joel, 17 [3] And it ſhall be in the laſt dayes, ſayeth God, I will powre out my ſpirite vpon [l] all [m] fleſh, & your ſonnes, and your daughters ſhal prophecy, and your yong men ſhall ſee viſions, and your olde men ſhall dreame dreames.

18 And on my ſeruants, and on mine handmaids I will powre out of my ſpirite in thoſe dayes, and they ſhall prophecie.

19 And I will ſhew wonders in heauen aboue, and tokens in the earth beneath, blood, and fire, and vapour of ſmoke.

c He calleth them other tongues, which were not the ſame which the Apoſtles vſed commonly, and Marke calleth them newe tongues.
d Hereby wee vnderſtand, that the Apoſtles vſed not now one tongue, and then an other by happhazard at all aduenture, or as fantaſtical men vſe to doe, but with good conſideration of their hearers: and to be ſhort, that they ſpake nothing, but as the holy Ghoſt gouerned their tongues.
e Not that they ſpake with one voyce, and many languages were heard, but that the Apoſtles ſpake with ſtrange tongues: for elſe the miracle had rather beene in the hearers whereas now it is in the ſpeakers, Nazian. in his oration of Whitſunday.
f By Iewes, hee meaneth them that were both Iewes by birth, and Iewes by profeſſion of religion though they were borne in other places & they were Proſelytes, which were Gentiles borne, and imbraced the Iewiſh religion.
g Gods worde preacheth ſometo, that it driueth them to ſeeke out the trueth, and it doeth ſo choke other, that it forceth them to be witneſſes of their owne impudencie.
The word which he vſeth here, ſignifieth ſuch a kinde of mocking which is reprochful & contumelious: And by this reprochful mocking we ſee, that there is no miracle ſo great and excellent, which the wickednes of man dareth not ſpeake euill of. h Peter his holineſſe is to be marked, wherein the grace of the holy Ghoſt is to be ſeene, euen ſtraight after the beginning. i After the ſunne riſing, which may be about ſeuen or eight of the clock with vs. k There is nothing that can diſſolue queſtions and doubts, but teſtimonie taken out of the Prophets: for mens reaſons may be ouerturned, but Gods voyce cannot be ouerturned. * Ioel. 2.28. eſai. 24.3. 3 Peter ſetting the truth of God againſt the falſe accuſations of men, ſheweth in himſelfe and in his fellowes, that that is fulfilled which Joel ſpake before concerning the full giuing of the holy Ghoſt in the latter dayes: which grace alſo is offered to the whole Church, to their certaine and vndoubted deſtruction, which doe contemne it. l All without exception, both vpon the Iewes and Gentiles. m That is, men.

20 The Sunne shalbe turned into darkenesse, and the Moone into blood, before that great and terrible day of the Lord come.

21 [4] And it shall bee, that whosoeuer shall [n] call on the Name of the Lord, shall bee saued.

22 [5] Yee men of Israel, heare these words, Iesus of Nazareth, a man [o] approued of God among you with great workes and wonders, and signes, which God did by him in the middes of you, as yee your selues also know:

23 Him, I say, being deliuered by the determinate counsell, and [p] foreknowledge of God, after you had taken with wicked [q] hands, you haue crucified and [r] slaine.

24 [6] Whom God hath raised vp, and loosed the [s] sorrowes of death, because it was vnpossible that he should be holden of it.

25 For Dauid saith concerning him, * I beheld the Lord alwayes before mee: for hee is at my right hand, that I should not bee shaken.

26 Therefore did mine heart reioyce, and my tongue was glad, and moreouer also my flesh shall rest in hope, 27 Because thou wilt not [t] leaue my soule in graue, neither wilt suffer thine holy one to see corruption.

28 Thou hast [u] shewed mee the wayes of life, and shalt make mee full of ioy with thy countenance.

29 Men and brethren, I may boldly speake vnto you of the Patriarke Dauid, * that he is both dead and buried, and his sepulchre remaineth with vs vnto this day.

30 Therefore, seeing hee was a Prophet, and knewe that God had * [x] sworne with an othe to him, that of the fruite of his loynes hee would raise vp Christ concerning the flesh, to set him vpon his throne, 31 Hee knowing this before, spake of the resurrection of Christ, that * his soule should not be left in graue, neither his flesh should see corruption.

32 [7] This Iesus hath God raised vp, whereof we are all witnesses.

33 Since then that he by the [y] right hand of God hath bene exalted, and hath receiued of his Father the promise of the holy Ghost, hee hath shedde foorth this which yee now see and heare.

34 For Dauid is not ascended into heauen, but he saith, The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, 35 Until I make thine enemies thy footstoole.

36 Therefore, let all the house of Israel know for a suretie, that God hath [z] made him both Lord, and Christ, this Iesus, I say, whom ye haue crucified.

37 Now when they heard it, they were pricked in their hearts, and said vnto Peter and the other Apostles, Men and brethren, what shall we doe?

38 [8] Then Peter said vnto them, Amend your liues, and be baptized euery one of you in the Name of Iesus Christ for the remission of sinnes: and ye shall receiue the gift of the holy Ghost.

39 For the [a] promise is made vnto you, & to your children, and to all that are affarre off, euen as many as the Lord our God shall call.

40 And with many other words hee besought and exhorted them, saying, Saue your selues from this froward generation.

41 [10] Then they that gladly receiued his word, were baptized: and the same day there were added to the Church about three thousand soules.

42 [11] And they continued in the Apostles doctrine, and [b] fellowship, and [c] breaking of bread, and prayers.

43 [12] And feare came vpon euery soule, and many wonders and signes were done by the Apostles.

44 [13] And all that beleeued, were in one place, and had all things common.

45 And they solde their possessions and goods, and parted them to all men, as euerie one had neede.

46 [14] And they continued dayly with one accord in the Temple, and breaking bread at home, did eate their meat together with gladnesse and singlenesse of heart.

47 Praysing God, and had fauour withall the people: and the Lord added to the Church from day to day, such as should be saued.

4 The chiefest vse of the gifts of the holy Ghost is to bring men to saluation by faith.

n This word, Call on, signifieth in holy Scriptures, an earnest praying and crauing for helpe at Gods hand.

5 Christ being innocent, was by Gods prouidence crucified of wicked men.

o Who is by those workes which God wrought by him, so manifestly approued and allowed of, that no man can gainesay him.

p God euerlasting knowledge going before, which can neither be separated from his determinate counsell, as the Epicures say, neither yet be the cause of euill: for God in his euerlasting and vnchangeable counsell appointed the wicked acte of Iudas to an excellent end: and God doeth that well, which the instruments doe ill.

q Gods counsell doth not excuse the Iewes, whose hands were wicked.

r The fact is said to be theirs, by whose counsell and egging forward it is done.

6 Christ (as Dauid foretolde) did not onely rise againe, but also was in the graue voide of all corruption.

s The death that was ful of sorow both of bodie & mind: therefore when death appeared conqueror and victorer ouer those sorrowes, Christ is rightly saide to haue ouercome those sorrowes of death when as being dead, he ouercame death, to liue for euer with his Father.

z Christ is said to be made, because he was aduanced to that dignitie, & therefore it is not spoke of his nature, but of his estate and high dignitie.

8 Repentance and remission of sinnes in Christ, are two principles of the Gospel and therefore of our saluation: and they are obtained by the promises apprehended by faith, and are ratified in vs by Baptisme, wherewith is ioyned the vertue of the holy Ghost.

a The word that is vsed here, giueth vs to vnderstand that it was a free gift.

9 He is truely ioyned to the Church, which separateth himselfe from the wicked.

10 A notable example of the vertue of the holy Ghost: but such as are of age, are not baptised, before they make confession of their faith.

11 The markes of ye true Church are the doctrine of the Apostles, the duties of charitie, the pure and simple administration of the Sacraments, and true inuocation vsed of all the faithfull.

b Communicating of goods, & all other duties of charitie, as is shewed afterward.

c The Iewes vsed oft times to eate thinne loaues, & therefore they did rather breake them then cut them. So by breaking of bread, they vnderstoode that liuing together, & the banquets which they vsed to keepe. And when they kept their loue feasts, they vsed to celebrate the Lords Supper, which euen in these dayes began to be corrupted, and Paul commendeth it, 1. Cor. 11. 12. So oft as the Lord thinketh it expedient, he bridleth the rage of strangers, that the Church may be planted, and haue some refreshing. 13 Charitie maketh all things common concerning the vse, according as necessitie requireth. 14 The faithfull come together at the beginning with great fruite, not onely to the hearing of the word, but also to prayer.

CHAP. III.

1 Peter going into the Temple with Iohn, 2 healeth the creeple. 9 The people gathered together to see the miracle, 12 he expoundeth the mysterie of our saluation through Christ, 14 accusing their ingratitude, 19 and requiring their repentance.

NOwe [1] Peter and Iohn went vp together into the Temple, at the ninth houre of prayer.

1 Christ in healing a man that was borne lame, and well knowen to all men, doeth in place and time conuenient, by the publike ministerie of his Apostles, both confirme them which beleeue, and partly also calleth other to beleeue.

2 And a certaine man which was a creeple from his mothers wombe, was caried, whome they laid dayly at the gate of the Temple called Beautifull, to aske almes of them that entred into the Temple.

3 Who seeing Peter and John, that they would enter into the Temple, desired to receiue an almes.

4 And Peter earnestly beholding him with John, sayd, Looke on vs.

5 And he [a] gaue heede vnto them, trusting to receiue some thing of them.

6 Then said Peter, Siluer and Gold haue I none, but such as I haue, that giue I thee: In the Name of Iesus Christ of Nazareth, rise vp and walke.

7 And he tooke him by the right hand, and lift him vp, and immediatly his feete and ankle bones receiued strength.

8 And he leaped vp, stoode, and walked, and entred with them into the Temple, walking and leaping, and praysing God.

9 And all the people saw him walke, and prayse God.

10 And they knew him, that it was he which sate for the almes at the Beautiful gate of the Temple, and they were amased, and sore astonied at that, which was come vnto him.

11 ¶ And as the creeple which was healed, [b] held Peter and John, all the people ran amased vnto them in the porch which is called Salomons.

12 [2] So when Peter saw it, he answered vnto the people. Yee men of Israel, why marueile ye at this? or why looke yee so stedfastly on vs, as though by our owne power or godlinesse, we had made this man goe?

13 The God of Abraham, and Isaac, and Jacob, the *God of our Fathers hath glorified his Sonne Iesus, whom ye betrayed, and denied in the presence of Pilate, when hee had iudged him to be deliuered.

14 But yee denied the Holy one and the Just, and desired a murtherer to be giuen you, 15 And killed the Lord [c] of life, whome God hath raised from the dead, wherof we are witnesses.

16 And his Name hath made this Man sound, whom yee see and know, through faith in his Name: [d] and the faith which is by him, hath giuen to him this perfite health of his whole bodie in the presence of you all.

17 [3] And nowe brethren, I knowe that through ignorance yee did it, as did also your Gouernours.

18 But those things which God before had shewed [e] by the mouth of all his Prophets, that Christ should suffer, hee hath thus fulfilled.

19 Amend your liues therefore, and turne, that your sinnes may bee put away, when the time of refreshing shal come from the presence of the Lord.

20 And hee shall send Iesus Christ, which before was preached vnto you.

21 [f] Whome the heauen must containe vntill the time that all things be restored, which God had spoken by the mouth of all his holy Prophets since the world began.

22 * For Moses said vnto the fathers, The Lord your God shal raise vp vnto you [g] a Prophet, euen of your brethren, like vnto mee: ye shall heare him in all things, whatsoeuer hee shall say vnto you.

23 For it shalbe that euerie person which shall not heare that Prophet, shal be destroyed out of the people.

24 Also all the Prophets [h] from Samuel, and thencefoorth as many as haue spoken, haue likewise foretold of these dayes.

25 [4] Ye are the [i] children of the Prophets, and of the couenant, which God had made vnto our Fathers, saying to Abraham, *Euen in thy seede shall all the kinreds of the earth bee blessed.

26 First vnto you hath God [k] raised vp his Sonne Iesus, and him hee hath sent to blesse you in turning euerie one of you from your iniquities.

a Both with heart and eyes.
b Either because he loued them, who had healed him: or because he feared that if he once let them goe out of his sight, he should be lame againe.
2 Miracles are appointed to conuince the vnbeleeuers, and therefore they doe wickedly abuse them, who standing amased, either at the miracles themselues, or at the instruments & meanes which it pleaseth God to vse, take occasion to establish idolatrie and superstition, by that which God hath prouided for the knowledge of his true worshipe that is, Christianitie.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Peter and Iohn, 3 are taken and brought before the counsell, 7 and 19 They speake boldly in Christs cause. 24 The disciples pray vnto God. 32 Many sell their possessions, 36 Of whom Barnabas is one.

AND [1] as they spake vnto the people, the Priests and the [a] Captaine of the Temple, and the Sadducees came vpon them,

2 Taking it grieuously that they taught the people, and preached in Iesus Name the resurrection from the dead.

3 And they laide hands on them, and put them in holde, vntill the next day: for it was now euentide.

4 Howbeit, many of them which heard the word, beleued, and the [b] number of the men was aboue fiue thousand.

5 ¶ And it came to passe on the morrowe that their [c] rulers and Elders, and Scribes, were gathered together at Ierusalem,

6 And Annas the chiefe Priest, and Caiaphas, and John, and Alexander, and as many as were of the [d] kinred of the hie Priests.

7 [2] And when they had set them before them, they asked, By what power, or in what

1 Mone are commonly more diligent or bolder enemies of the church, then such as professe themselues to be best builders, but the more they rage, the more constantly the faithfull seruants of God doe continue.
a The Iewes had certain garrisons for the garde & safetie of the Temple & holy things, Matth. 26.65. These garisons had a Captaine, such as Eleazarus Ananias the hie Priestes sonne was in the time of the warre that was in Iudea being a very impudent and proude yõg man, Ioseph. lib. 2. of the taking of Iudea. b While they thought to diminish the number, they increased them. c These were they that made the Sanhedrim, which where all of the tribe of Iuda, vntill Herod vsed that cruelrie against Dauids stocke. d Of whome the high Priestes were woont to be chosen and made, the execution of the yeerely office being now changed. 2 Against such as bragge of a succession of persons, without a succession of doctrine, and by that meanes beare downe the true Ministers of the worde, so farre foorth as they are able.

e Name haue yee done this.

8 Then Peter full of the holy Ghost, said vnto them, Ye Rulers of the people, and Elders of Israel,

9 [3] For as much as wee this day are examined of the good deede done to the impotent man, to wit, by what meanes hee is made whole,

10 [4] Be it knowen vnto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the Name of IESVS CHRIST of Nazareth, whom ye haue crucified, whom God raised againe from the dead, euen by him doeth this man stand heere before you, whole.

11 * This is the stone cast aside of you builders, which is become the head of the corner.

12 Neither is there saluation in any other: for among men there is [f] giuen none other [g] Name [h] vnder heauen, whereby we must be saued.

13 [5] Now when they saw the boldnes of Peter and John, and vnderstood that they were vnlearned men & without [i] knowledge, they marueiled, and knew them, that they had bene with Jesus:

14 And beholding also the man which was healed standing with them, they had nothing to say against it.

15 Then they commanded them to goe aside out of the Councel, and [k] conferred among themselues, 16 [6] Saying, What shall we doe to these men? for surely a manifest signe is done by them, and it is openly knowen to all them that dwell in Hierusalem: and we cannot deny it.

17 But that it be noised no further among the people, let vs threaten and charge them, that they speake henceforth to no man in this Name.

18 So they called them, and commanded them, that in no wise they should speake or teach in the Name of Jesus.

19 [7] But Peter and John answered vnto them, and sayde, Whether it be right in the sight of God, to obey you rather then God, iudge yee.

20 For wee cannot but speake the things which we haue seene and heard.

21 [8] So they threatned them, and let them goe, and found nothing how to punish them, because of the people: for all men praised God for that which was done.

22 For the man was aboue fortie yeeres olde, on whom this miracle of healing was shewed.

23 [9] Then assoone as they were let goe, they came to their fellowes, and shewed all that the hie Priestes and Elders had sayd vnto them.

24 [10] And when they heard it, they lift vp their voices to God with one accord, and sayd, O Lord, thou art the God which hast made the heauen, and the earth, the sea, and al things that are in them, 25 Which by the mouth of thy seruaunt Dauid hast sayde, * Why did the Gentiles rage, and the people imagine vaine things?

26 The Kings of the earth assembled, and the Rulers came together against the Lord, and against his Christ.

27 For doubtlesse, against thine holy Sonne Jesus, whom thou haddest anointed, both Herod and Pontius Pilate, with the Gentiles and the [l] people of Israel gathered themselues together, 28 To [m] doe whatsoeuer [n] thine hand, and thy counsell had determined before to bee done.

29 And now, O Lord, behold their threatnings, and graunt vnto thy seruants with all boldnesse to speake thy word, 30 So that thou stretch forth thine hand, that healing, and signes, and wonders may be done by the Name of thy holy Sonne Jesus.

31 [11] And when as they had prayed, the place was shaken where they were assembled together, and they were all filled with the holy Ghost, and they spake the worde of God boldly.

32 [12] And the multitude of them that beleeued, were of [o] one heart, and of one soule: neither any of them said, that any thing of that which he possessed, was his owne, but they had all things * common.

33 And with great power gaue the Apostles witnesse of the resurrection of the Lorde Jesus: And great grace was vpon them all.

34 [13] Neither was their any among them, that lacked: for as many as were possessors of lands or houses, sold them, and brought the price of the things that were sold,

35 And laid it downe at the Apostles feete, and it was distributed vnto euery man, according as he had need.

36 Also Joses which was called of the Apostles, Barnabas (that is by interpretation the sonne of consolation) being a Leuite, and of the countrey of Cyprus, 37 Whereas he had land, sold it, & brought the money, and laid it downe at the Apostles feete.

f Of God.

g There is no other man, or no other power and authoritie whatsoeuer: which kinde of speech being vsuall among the Iewes, rose vpon this, that when wee are in danger, we cal vpon them at whose hands we looke for helpe.

h Any where: and this setteth foorth vnto vs the largenesse of Christs kingdom

5 The good libertie and boldnesse of the seruants of God doeth yet thus much good, that such as lay him vnder a vizard of zeale, doe at length betray themselues to bee in deed wicked men.

i The word vsed heere, is Idiot which being spoken in comparison had to a Magistrate, betokeneth a priuate man: but when wee speake of sciences and studies, it signifieth one that is vnlearned: and in accompt of honour and estimation, it importeth one of base degree, and no estimation.

k Layd their heads together.

6 Hee that flattereth himselfe in ignorance, commeth at length to doe open wickednesse, and that against his owne conscience.

7 We must so obey men to whom we are subiect, that especially and before all things we obey God.

8 So farre off are the wicked from doing what they list, that contrariwise God dooth euen that to the setting foorth of his glory, which hee giueth them leaue to doe.

9 The Apostles communicate their troubles with the Congregation.

10 We ought neither to be afraide of the threatnings of our enemies, nor yet foolishly contemne their rage and wodnesse against vs: but we haue to set against their force and malice, an earnest thinking vpon the power and good will of God (both which we do manifestly beholde in Christ) and so flee to the aide and succour of our Father.

* Psal. 2. 1.

l Although the people of Israel was but one people, yet the plurall number is here vsed, not so much for the twelue tribes, euery one of which made a people, as for the great multitude of thē, as though many nations had assembled themselues together, as Iudg. 5. 14.

m The wicked execute Gods counsell, though they thinke nothing of it, but they are not therefore without fault.

n Thou haddest determined of thine absolute authoritie and power.

11 God witnesseth to his church by a visible signe, that it is he that will establish it, by shaking the powers both of heauen & earth.

12 An example of y true Church, wherein there is consent as well in doctrine as in charitie one toward another: And the Pastours deliuer true doctrine both sincerely, and constantly o They agreed both in counsell, will, and all purposes.

price, 5 falleth downe dead, 10 and likewise Sapphira his wife. 12 Through diuers the Apostles miracles, 14 the faith is increased. 15 The Apostles that were imprisoned, are deliuered by an Angell, 26 and being before the Synode of the Priests, 36 through Gamaliels counsell they are kept aliue, 40 and beaten: 41 they glorifie God.

a Luke shewth by contrary examples, howe great a sinne hypocrisie is, especially in them which vnder a false pretence and cloake of zeale wontly seeme to shine and be chiefe in the Church.

BUt [1] a certain man named Ananias, with Sapphira his wife, sold a possession,

2 And [a] kept away part of the price, his wife also being of counsell, and brought a certaine part, and laide it downe at the Apostles feete.

3 Then saide Peter, Ananias, why hath Satan [b] filled thine heart, that thou shouldest [c] lie vnto the holie Ghost, and keepe away part of the price of this possession?

4 Whiles it remained, appertained it not vnto thee? and after it was solde, was it not in thine owne power? howe is it that thou hast [d] conceiued this thing in thine heart? thou hast not lied vnto men, but vnto God.

5 Now when Ananias heard these wordes, hee fell downe, and gaue vp the ghost. Then great feare came on all them that heard these things.

6 And the yong men rose vp, and took him vp, and caried him out, and buried him.

7 And it came to passe about the space of three houres after, that his wife came in, ignorant of that which was done.

8 And Peter said vnto her, Tell me, solde ye the land for so much? And she saide, Yea, for so much.

9 Then Peter saide vnto her, Why haue ye agreed together, to [e] tempt the spirit of the Lorde? beholde, the feete of them which haue buried thine husband, are at the [f] doore, and shall carie thee out.

10 Then she fell downe straightway at his feete, and yeelded vp the ghost: and the yong men came in, and founde her dead, and caried her out, and buried her by her husband.

11 [2] And great feare came on all the Church, & on as many as heard these things.

12 Thus by the handes of the Apostles were many signes and wonders shewed among the people (and they were all with one accord in Salomons porch.

13 And of the other durst no man ioyne himselfe to them: neuertheless the people [g] magnified them.

14 Also the number of them that beleeued in the Lorde, both of men and women, grewe more and more.)

15 In so much that they brought the sicke into the streetes, and laide them on beds and couches, that at the least way the shadowe of Peter, when he came by, might shadowe some of them.

16 There came also a multitude out of the cities round about vnto Hierusalem bringing sicke folkes, and them which were vexed with vncleane spirits, who were all healed.

17 [3] Then the chiefe Priest rose vp, and all they that were with him (which was the [h] sect of the Sadduces) and were full of indignation, 18 And laide handes on the Apostles, and put them in the common prison.

19 [4] But the Angel of the Lord, by night opened the prison doores, and brought them foorth, and said, 20 [5] Goe your way, and stand in the Temple, and speake to the people, all the [i] wordes of this life.

21 [6] So when they heard it, they entred into the Temple early in the morning, and taught. And the chiefe Priest came, and they that were with him, and called the Councill together, and all the Elders of the children of Israel, and sent to the prison, to cause them to be brought.

22 But when the officers came and found them not in the prison, they returned and tolde it, 23 Saying, Certeinly we found the prison shut as sure as was possible, and the keepers standing without, before the doores: but when we had opened, wee found no man within.

24 Then when the chiefe Priest, and the captaine of the Temple, and the hie Priestes heard these things, they doubted of them whereunto this would grow.

25 [7] Then came one and shewed them, saying, Beholde, the men that yee put in prison, are standing in the Temple, and teach the people.

26 [8] Then went the captaine with the officers, and brought them without violence (for they feared the people lest they shoulde haue bene stoned)

27 And when they had brought them, they set them before the Councill, and the chiefe Priest asked them, 28 [9] Saying, Did not we straightly command you, that yee should not teach in this Name? and beholde, ye haue filled Hierusalem with your doctrine, and yee would [k] bring this mans blood vpon vs.

29 [10] Then Peter & the Apostles answered, and said, We ought rather to obey God then men.

30 [11] The * God of our Fathers hath raised vp Iesus, whom ye slew, and hanged on a tree.

31 Him hath God lift vp with his right hand, to be a Prince and a Sauiour, to giue b Fully possessed.

c For when they had appointed that farme or possession for the Church, they stucke not at it to keepe away a part of the price, as though they had had to doe with men, and not with God, and therefore he saith afterward that they tempted God.

d Hereby is declared and aduised and purposed deceite, and the fault of the man in admitting the deuils suggestions.

e Looke howe oft men doe things with an euil conscience, so oft they pronounce sentence against themselues, & as much as in them lieth, prouoke God to anger, as of set purpose, minding to trie whether he be iust and almightie or no.

f Are at hand.

2 The Lord by his marueilous vertue prideleth some, that they may not hurt the Church: other some he keepeth in his awe and feare: and other some he alureth vnto him.

g Highly praised them.

3 The more that the Church increaseth, the more increaseth the rage of Satan, and therfore they proceed from threatnings to prisoning.

h The worde which is vsed here, is Heresie, which signifieth a choise, and so is taken for a right forme of learning, or faction, or study & course of life, which the latines cal a secte: at the first this word was indifferently vsed, but at length it came to be taken onely in euill part, whereupon came the name of Heretike, which is taken for one that goeth astray from sound and wholesome doctrine after such sort, that he setteth light by the iudgement of God and his Church, & continueth in his opinion, & breaketh the peace of the Church.

4 Angels are made seruants of the seruants of God.

5 God doeth therefore deliuer his, that they may more stoutly prouoke his enemies.

i Words, whereby the way vnto life is shewed.

6 God mocketh his enemies attempts from aboue.

7 The more openly Christs vertue sheweth it selfe, the more increaseth the madnesse of his enemies which conspire against him.

8 Tyrants which feare not God, are constrained to feare his seruants.

9 It is the property of tyrants to set out their owne commandements as right and reason, be they neuer so wicked.

k Make vs guiltie of murdering that man whom yet they will not vouchsafe to name.

10 We ought to obey no man, but so farre foorth as obeying him we may obey God. 11 Christ is appointed and in deed declared Prince and preseruer of his Church in despight of his enemies. * Chap. 3. 13.

repentance

repentance to Israel, and forgiuenes of sins.

32 [12] And we are his witnesses concerning these things which wee say: yea, and the holy Ghost, whom God hath giuen to them that obey him.

33 Now when they heard it, they [l] brast for anger, and consulted to slay them.

34 [13] Then stood there vp in the Council a certaine Pharise named Gamaliel, a Doctor of the Law, honoured of all the people, & commaunded to put the Apostles forth a little space, 35 And said vnto them, Men of Israel, take heed to your selues, what ye entend to do touching these men.

36 [14] For before these times, rose vp Theudas [m] boasting himselfe, to whom resorted a number of men, about a foure hundreth. who was slaine: and they all which obeyed him, were scattered, and brought to nought.

37 After this man, arose vp Judas of Galile, in the dayes of the tribute, and drew away much people after him: he also perished, and all that obeyed him, were scattered abroad.

38 And now I say vnto you, [n] Refraine your selues frō these men, and let them alone: for if this councell, or this worke be of [o] men, it will come to nought:

39 But if it be of God, ye cannot destroy it, least yee bee found euen fighters against God.

40 And to him they agreed, and called the Apostles: and when they had beaten them, they commaunded that they should not speake in the Name of Jesus, and let them goe.

41 [15] So they departed from the Council, reioycing, that they were counted worthy to suffer rebuke for his Name.

42 And daily in the [p] Temple, and from house to house they ceased not to teach, and preach Jesus Christ.

l This betokeneth that they were in a most vehement rage, & marueilously disquieted in minde, for it is a borowed kinde of speech taken from them which are harshly cut in sunder with a saw.

13 Christ findeth defenders of his cause, euen in the very route of his enemies, so oft as hee thinketh it needfull.

14 In matters of religion wee must take good heede, that wee attempt nothing vnder a colour of zeale, beside our vocation.

m To be of some fame.

n He dissuadeth his fellowes from murdering the Apostles, neither doeth hee thinke it good to referre the matter to the Romane Magistrate, for the Iewes could abide nothing worse then to haue the tyranny of the Romanes confirmed.

o If it be counterfeit and diuised.

15 The Apostles accustomed to suffer & beare wrongs, are at length inured to beare stripes, and yet so, that by that meanes they become stronger.

p Both publikely and priuately.

CHAP. VI.

2 The Apostles 3 appoint the office of Deaconship 5 to seuen chosen men: 8 Of whom Steuen, full of faith, is one: 12 He is taken, 13 and accused as a transgressour of Moses Law.

1 When Satan hath assailed the Church without, and that to small purpose, and in vaine, hee assaileth it within, with ciuill dissention and strife betwixt themselues: But the Apostles take occasion thereby to set order in the Church.

1 AND [1] in those dayes, as the number of the disciples grew, there arose a murmuring of the [a] Grecians towards the Hebrewes, because their widowes were neglected in the [b] dayly ministring.

2 [2] Then the twelue called the multitude of the Disciples together, and said, It is not [c] meet that wee should leaue the word of God to serue the [d] tables.

3 [3] Therefore brethren, looke ye out among you seuen men of honest report, and full of the holy Ghost, and of wisedome, which we may appoint to this businesse.

4 And wee will giue our selues continually to prayer, and to the ministration of the word.

5 And the saying pleased the whole multitude: and they chose Steuen a man full of faith and of the holy Ghost, and * Philip, and Prochorus, and Nicanor, & Timon, and Parmenas, and Nicolas a Prosolyte of Antiochia, 6 [4] Which they set before the Apostles: and they prayed, and [e] layed their hands on them.

7 [5] And the word of God increased, and the number of the disciples was multiplied in Hierusalem greatly, and a great company of the Priests were obedient to the [f] faith.

8 ¶ [6] Now Steuen full of faith and [g] power, did great wonders and miracles among the people.

9 [7] Then there arose certaine of the [h] Synagogue, which are called Libertines, and Cyrenians, and of Alexandria, and of them of Cilicia, and of Asia, and disputed with Steuen.

10 [8] But they were not able to resist the wisedome, and the Spirit by the which hee spake.

11 Then they suborned men, which said, Wee haue heard him speake blasphemous words against Moses, and God.

12 [9] Thus they mooued the people and the Elders, and the Scribes: and running vpon him, caught him, and brought him to the Councill, 13 [10] And set forth false witnesses, which sayde, This man ceaseth not to speake blasphemous wordes against this holy place, and the Law.

14 For we haue heard him say, That this Jesus of Nazareth shall destroy this place, and shall change the ordinances, which Moses gaue vs.

15 And as all that sate in the Councill, looked stedfastly on him, they [i] saw his face as it had beene the face of an Angel.

2 When Satan hath assailed the Church without, and that to small purpose, and in vaine, hee assaileth it within, with ciuill dissention and strife betwixt themselues: But the Apostles take occasion thereby to set order in the Church. a Of their parts which of Grecians became religious Iewes. b In the bestowing of almes according to their necessitie. 3 The office of preaching the word, and dispensing the goods of the Church, are different one from another, and not rashly to be ioyned together, as the Apostles doe here institute: And the Apostles doe not chuse so much as the Deacons without the consent of the Church.

c It is such a matter, as we may in no wise accept of it.

4 The ancient Church did vse laying on of hands, as it were consecrate to the Lord, such as were lawfully elected.

e The ceremonie of laying on of hands, came frō the Iewes, who vsed this order both in publike affaires, and offering of sacrifice, and also in prayers and blessings, as appeareth, Genes. 48. and the Church obserued this ceremonie, 1. Tim. 5. 22. acts 8. 17. but here is no mention made either of creasme or shauing, or crossing, &c.

5 An happy end of temptation.

f This is the figure Metonymia, meaning by faith the doctrine of the Gospel which engendreth faith.

6 God exerciseth his Church first with euill words and slanders, then with imprisonments, afterward with scourgings, and by these meanes prepareth it in such sort, that at length he ouercometh it to encounter with Satan and the world, euen to bloodshed and death, and that with good successe.

g Excellent and singular gifts. 7 Schooles and Vniuersities were of old time addicted to false paskes, and were the instruments of Satan to blow abroad and defend false doctrines. h Of the company and Colledge as it were.

8 False teachers, because they will not be ouercome, flee from disputations to manifest and open slandering and false accusations. 9 The first bloody persecution of the Church of Christ began and sprang from a Councill of Priests by the suggestion of the Vniuersitie doctors. 10 An example of cauillers or false accusers, which gather false conclusions of things that are well vttered and spoken. i Hereby it appeareth that Steuen hath an excellent and goodly countenance, hauing a quiet and seeled mind, good conscience, and sure perswasion that his cause was iust: For seeing he was to speake before the people, God beautified his countenance, to the ende that with the very beholding of him, the lewes minds might be pearced and amased.

CHAP. VII.

1 Steuen pleading his cause, sheweth that God chose the Fathers, 20 before Moses was borne, 47 and before the Temple was built: 44 And that all outward ceremonies were ordeined according to the heauenly paterne. 54 The Iewes gnashing their teeth, 59 stone him.

THen [1] sayd the chiefe Priest, are these things so?

2 [2] And he said, Yee men, brethren and Fathers, hearken. *That God of [a] glory appeared vnto our father Abraham, while hee was in [b] Mesopotamia, before hee dwelt in Charran,

3 And sayd vnto him, Come out of thy countrey, and from thy kindred, and come into the land, which I shall shew thee,

4 Then came hee out of the lande of the Chaldeans, and dwelt in Charran. And after that his father was dead, God brought him from thence into this land, wherein yee now dwell,

5 And hee gaue him none inheritance in it, no, not the [c] breadth of a foot: yet he [d] promised that hee would giue it to him for a possession, and to his seed after him, when as yet he had no childe.

6 But God spake thus, that his *seede should be a sojourner in a strange lande: and that they should keepe it in bondage, and entreat it euill [e] foure hundred yeeres.

7 But the nation to whom they shall bee in bondage, will I iudge, saith God: and after that, they shall come forth and serue mee in this place.

8 *Hee gaue him also the couenant of circumcision: and so Abraham begat *Isaac, and circumcised him the eight day: and Isaac begat *Jacob, and Jacob the twelue *Patriarkes.

9 [3] And the Patriarkes mooued with enuie, solde *Joseph into Egypt: but God was [f] with him,

10 And deliuered him out of all his afflictions, and *gaue him [g] fauour and wisedome in the sight of Pharao king of Egypt, who made him gouernour ouer Egypt, and ouer his whole house.

11 ¶ Then came there a famine ouer all the land of Egypt and Chanaan, and great affliction, that our fathers found no sustenance.

12 But when *Jacob heard that there was corne in Egypt, he sent our fathers first:

13 *And at the second time, Joseph was knowen of his brethren, and Josephs kindred was made knowen vnto Pharao.

14 Then sent Joseph and called his father to be brought, and all his kindred, euen threescore and fifteene soules.

15 So *Jacob went downe into Egypt, and he *died, and our fathers.

16 And were [h] remoued into Sychem, and were put in the sepulchre, that Abraham had bought *for money of the sonnes of Emor, sonne of Sychem.

17 But when the time of the promise drew neere, which God had sworne to Abraham, the people *grewe and multiplied in Egypt, 18 Till another King arose, which knew not Joseph.

19 The same [i] dealt subtilly with our kinred, and euill entreated our fathers, and made them to cast out their yong children, that they should not remaine aliue.

20 *The same time was Moses borne, and was [k] acceptable vnto God, which was nourished vp in his fathers house three moneths.

21 And when hee was cast out, Pharaohs daughter tooke him vp, and nourished him for her owne sonne.

22 And Moses was learned in all the wisdome of the Egyptians, and was mighty in wordes and in deedes.

23 Now when hee was full forty yere olde, it came into his heart to visite his brethren, the children of Israel.

24 *And when hee saw one of them suffer wrong, he defended him, and auenged his quarell that had the harme done to him, and smote the Egyptian.

25 For hee supposed his brethren would haue vnderstood, that God by his hand should giue them deliuerance: but they vnderstood it not.

26 *And the next day, hee shewed himselfe vnto them as they stroue, and would haue set them at one againe, saying, Sirs, yee are brethren: why doe ye wrong one to another?

27 But he that did his neighbour wrong, thrust him away, saying, Who made thee a Prince, and a Judge ouer vs?

28 Wilt thou kill me, as thou didest the Egyptian yesterday?

29 Then fledde Moses at that saying, and was a stranger in the land of Madian, where he begat two sonnes.

30 And when forty yeeres were expired, there appeared to him in the *wildernesse of mount Sina, an [l] Angel of the Lord in a flame of fire, in a bush.

31 And when Moses saw it, he wondred at the sight: and as he drew neere to consider it, the voice of the Lord came vnto him, saying,

1 Steuen is admitted to pleade his cause, but to his end and purpose that vnder a cloke and colour of Law, he might be condemned.

2 Steuen witnesseth vnto the Iewes, that he acknowledgeth the true fathers, & the onely true God: & sheweth howsoeuer they were more ancient then the Temple, with all that seruice appointed by the Law, and therefore they ought to lay another foundation of true religion, that is to say, the free couenant that God made with the fathers.

the rage of his enemies to the inlarging forth and enlarging of his kingdome.

2 The godly mourne for Steuen after his death, and bury him, shewing therein an example of singular faith and charity: that no man prayeth to him.

a Amongst all the duties of charitie which the godly vse, there is no mention made of shrining vp of relikes.

3 The dispersion or scattering abroad of the faith full, is the ioyning together of Churches.

4 Philip who was before a Deacon in Hierusalem, is made of God extraordinarily an Euangelist.

5 Christ ouercommeth Satan so oft as hee listeth, and carieth him about as it were in a triumph, in the sight of them whom he deceiued, & bewitched.

b The word which is vsed in this place was at the first taken in good part, and is borowed out of the Persians language, who call their wisemen by that name, but afterward it was taken in euill part.

c He had so allured the Samaritans with his witchcrafts, that as blind and mad hare braines they were wholly addicted to him.

6 The wicked and the verie reprobate are sometimes ouertaken with the good gift of God, but they cast it vp againe straightwith.

7 Peter not chiefe, but as an ambassador sent from the whole company of the Apostles, & John his companion, according to the authoritie which was committed vnto them, confirme and builde vp the Churches of Samaria, whose foundation had been laid afore by Philip.

AND [1] Saul consented to his death, and at that time, there was a great persecution against the Church which was at Hierusalem, and they were all scattered abroad throw the regions of Iudea and of Samaria, except the Apostles.

2 [2] Then certaine men fearing God, [a] caried Steuen amongst them to be buried, and made great lamentation for him.

3 [3] But Saul made hauocke of the Church, and entred into euery house, & drewe out both men and women, and put them into prison.

4 Therefore they that were scattered abroad, went to and fro preaching the word.

5 ¶ [4] Then came Philip into the citie of Samaria, and preached vnto them.

6 And the people gaue heed vnto those things which Philip spake, with one accord, hearing and seeing the miracles wich he did.

7 For vncleane spirits crying with a loud voice, came out of many that were possessed of them: and many taken with palsies, and that halted, were healed.

8 And there was great ioy in that city.

9 [5] And there was before in the city a certeine man called Simon, which vsed [b] witchcraft, and [c] bewitched the people of Samaria, saying that hee himselfe was some great man.

10 To whom they gaue heed from the least to the greatest, saying, This man is that great power of God.

11 And they gaue heed vnto him, because that of long time he had bewitched them with sorceries.

12 But assoone as they beleeued Philip, which preached the things that concerned the kingdome of God, and the Name of Iesus Christ, they were baptized both men and women.

13 [6] Then Simon himselfe beleeued also and was baptised, and continued with Philip, and wondred when hee saw the signes and great miracles which were done.

14 ¶ [7] Now when the Apostles, which were at Hierusalem, heard say, that Samaria had receiued the word of God, they sent vnto them Peter and John, 15 Which when they were come downe, prayed for them, that they might receiue the [d] holy Ghost.

16 (For as yet hee was fallen downe on none of them, but they were baptized onely in the Name of the Lord Iesus.)

17 Then layd they their hands on them, and they receiued the holy Ghost.

18 [8] And when Simon saw, that through laying on of the Apostles handes the holy Ghost was giuen, he offered them money, 19 Saying, Giue mee also this power, that on whomsoeuer I lay the hands, he may receiue the holy Ghost.

20 [9] Then said Peter vnto him, Thy money perish with thee, because thou thinkest that the gift of God may be obtained with money.

21 Thou hast neither part nor fellowship in this [e] businesse: for thine heart is not [f] right in the sight of God.

22 [10] Repent therefore for this thy wickednesse, and pray God, that if it be possible, the thought of thine heart may be forgiuen thee.

23 For I see that thou art in the [g] gall of bitternesse, and in the [h] bond of iniquitie.

24 Then answered Simon, and said, Pray yee to the Lord for mee, that none of these things which ye haue spoken, come vpon me.

25 ¶ So they, when they had testified and preached the word of the Lord, returned to Hierusalem, and preached the Gospel in many townes of the Samaritanes.

26 [11] Then the Angel of the Lord spake vnto Philip, saying, Arise, and goe toward the South vnto the way that goeth downe from Hierusalem vnto Gaza, which is waste.

27 And he arose and went on: and behold, a certaine Eunuch of Ethiopia, Candaces the Queene of the Ethiopians [i] chiefe Gouernour, who had the rule of all her treasure, and came to Hierusalem to worship:

28 And as he returned sitting in his charet, he read Esaias the Prophet.

29 Then the Spirit said to Philip, Goe neere and ioyne thy selfe to yonder charet.

30 And Philip ran thither and heard him reade the Prophet Esaias, and saide, But vnderstandest thou what thou readest?

31 And he said, How can I, except I had [k] a guide? And he desired Philip, that he would come vp and sit with him.

32 [12] Now the place of the Scripture which he read, was this, * Hee was led as a sheepe to the slaughter, & like a Lambe dumbe before his shearer, so opened he not his mouth.

33 In his [l] humilitie his iudgement hath bene exalted: but who shall declare his [m] generation? for his life is taken from the earth.

34 Then the Eunuch answered Philip, and said, I pray thee of whom speaketh the Prophet this? of himselfe, or of some other man?

35 Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same Scripture, and preached vnto him Iesus.

2 They are the disciples of Simon Magus, & not of Simon Peter, which either buy or sell holy things.

e In this doctrine which I preach.

f Is not vpright in deed & without dissembling.

10 Wee must hope well euen of the vilest sinners, so long as so farre foorth as we may.

g He calleth the inward malice of the heart, and that venemous and deuilish wickednes wherwith the Magician was wholly replenished, the gall of bitternesse: and he is said to be in the gall, as though he were wholy ouerwhelmed with gall, and buried in it.

h Intangled in the bonds of iniquitie.

11 Christ who calleth freely whom he listeth, doth now vse Philip who thought on no such matter, to instruct and baptize the Eunuche at vnwares, and by this meanes extendeth the limits of his kingdome euen into Ethiopia.

i A man of great wealth and authoritie with Candaces. Now this word Candaces is a common name to all the Queenes of Ethiopia.

k To shew me the way how to vnderstand it.

12 Those things which seeme most to come by chance or fortune (as men terme it) are gouerned by the secret prouidence of God.

* Esai. 53. 7.

l The Hebrew text readeth it thus, Out of a narrowe straite, and out of iudgement was he taken: where by the narrow strait, he meaneth the graue and the very bands of death, & by iudgement, the punishment which was laide vpon him, and that miserable state which Christ tooke vpon him for our sakes, in bearing his Fathers wrath.

m How long his age shall last: for Christ hauing once risen from the dead, dieth no more, Rom. 6. 9.

d Those excellent gifts, which are necessary, especially for them that were to be appointed rulers and gouernours of the Church.

8 Ambition and couetousnesse doe at length plucke hypocrites out of their vemes.

36 And as they went on their way, they came vnto a certaine water, and the Eunuch said, See, here is water: what doeth let me to be baptized?

13 Profession of faith is requisite in baptizing of them which are of yeeres, and therefore it is eminent that we are not then first ingraffed into Christ, when we are baptized, but being alreadie ingraffed, are then confirmed.

37 [13] And Philip said vnto him, If thou beleeuest with all thine heart, thou maiest. Then he answered, and saide, [n] I beleeue that that Iesus Christ is that Sonne of God.

n The summe of the confession which is necessarie for baptisme.

38 Then hee commaunded the charet to stand still: and they went downe both into the water, both Philip and the Eunuch, and hee baptized him.

39 And assoone as they were come vp out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the Eunuch sawe him no more: so he went on his way reioycing.

40 But Philip was found at Azotus, and hee walked to and fro preaching in all the cities, till he came to Cesarea.

CHAP. IX.

2 Saul going toward Damascus, is striken downe to the ground of the Lorde: 10 Ananias is sent 18 to baptize him 23 The laying awaite of the Iewes 25 he escapeth, being let downe through the wall. 23 Peter cureth Aeneas of the palsie, 36 and by him Tabitha being dead 40 is restored to life.

1 Saul (who is also Paul) persecuting Christ most cruelly, who did as it were flee before him, falleth into his hands and is ouercome: & with a singular example of the goodnesse of God in stead of punishment which he iustly deserued for his crueltie, is not onely receiued to fauour, but is also euen by the mouth of God appointed an Apostle, and is confirmed by the ministerie and witnesse of Ananias.

AND [1] *Saul yet [a] breathing out threatnings and slaughter against the Disciples of the Lord, went vnto the hie Priest,

2 And desired of him letters to Damascus to the Synagogues, ỳ if he found any that were of that [b] way (either men or women) hee might bring them bound vnto Hierusalem.

3 Now as he iourneyed, it came to passe that as hee was come neere to Damascus, * suddenly there shined round about him a light from heauen.

4 And he fell to the earth and heard a voice, saying to him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

5 And he said, Who art thou, Lord? And ỳ Lord sayd, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest: it is [c] hard for thee to kicke against pricks.

6 He then both trembling and astonied, sayd, Lord, what wilt thou that I doe? And the Lord sayd vnto him, Arise and goe into the citie, and it shall bee tolde thee what thou shalt doe.

7 The men also which iourneyed with him, [d] stood amased, hearing his [e] voyce, but seeing no man.

8 And Saul arose from the ground, and opened his eyes, but sawe no man. Then led they him by the hande, and brought him into Damascus, 9 Where hee was three dayes without sight, and neither ate nor dranke.

10 And there was a certaine disciple at Damascus named Ananias, and to him said the Lord in a vision, Ananias. And hee sayd, Behold, I am here Lord.

11 Then the Lord said vnto him, Arise, and go into the street which is called Straight, and seeke in the house of Iudas after one called Saul of [f] Tarsus: for behold, he prayeth.

f Tarsus was a citie of Cilicia neere vnto Anchiala, which two cities Sardanapalus is said to haue built in one day.

12 (And he sawe in a vision a man named Ananias comming in to him, and putting his hands on him, that he might receiue his sight.)

13 Then Ananias answered, Lord I haue heard by many of this man, how much euill he hath done to thy Saints at Hierusalem.

14 Moreouer here hee hath authoritie of the hie Priestes, to binde all that call on thy Name.

15 Then the Lord said vnto him, Go thy way: for he is a [g] chosen vessell vnto mee, to beare my Name before the Gentiles, & Kings, and the children of Israel.

g To beare my name in.

16 For I wil [h] shew him, how many things he must suffer for my Names sake.

h I will shew him plainly.

17 Then Ananias went his way, & entred into [i] that house, & put his handes on him, and said, Brother Saul, the Lord hath sent me (euen Iesus that appeared vnto thee in the way as thou camest) that thou mightest receiue thy sight, and be filled with the holy Ghost.

i Into Iudas his house.

18 And immediatly there fell from his eies as it had bene scales, and suddenly he receiued sight, and arose, and was baptized, 19 And receiued meat, & was strengthned. So was Saul certaine dayes with the Disciples which were at Damascus.

2 Paul beginneth straightwayes to execute the office which was enioyned him, neuer consulting with flesh and blood.

20 [2] And straightway he preached Christ in the Synagogues, that he was that Sonne of God, 21 So that all that heard him, were amased, and said, Is not this he, that made hauocke of them which called on this Name in Hierusalem, and came hither for that intent, that hee should bring them bound vnto the hie Priests?

22 [3] But Saul encreased the more in strength, and confounded the Iewes which dwelt at Damascus, [k] confirming that this was that Christ.

3 Paul striueth not with his owne authoritie alone, but with the testimonies of the Prophets.

23 [4] And after that many dayes were fulfilled, the Iewes toke counsell together, to kill him, 24 But their laying awaite was knowen of Saul: now they * watched the gates day and night, that they might kill him.

25 [5] Then the disciples tooke him by night, and put him through the wall, and let him downe by a rope in a basket.

26 [6] And a This is a token that Sauls stomacke boyled & cast out great threatnings to murder the disciples.

b Any trade of life which a man taketh himselfe vnto, the Iewes call a way.

c This is a prouerbe, which is spoken of them that through their owne stubburnes hurt themselues.

d Stood still and could not go one step forward, but abode amased as if they had bene very stones.

5 We are not forbidden to auoyd and eschew the dangers and conspiracies that the enemies of God lay for vs, so that we swarue not from our doctrine.

6 In ancient time, no man was rashly or lightly receiued into the number of and amongst the Sheepe of Christ, much lesse to be a pastour.

26 [6] And when Saul was come to Hierusalem, hee assayed to ioyne himselfe with the disciples: but they were all afrayd of him, and beleeued not that he was a disciple.

27 But Barnabas tooke him, & brought him to the Apostles, and declared to them, how he had seene the Lord in the way, and that hee had spoken vnto him, and how hee had spoken boldly at Damascus in the Name of Iesus.

28 [7] And hee was conuersant [l] with them at Hierusalem, 29 And spake boldly in the Name of the Lord Iesus, and spake and disputed against the [m] Grecians: but they went about to slay him.

30 [8] But when the brethren knew it, they brought him to Cesarea, and sent him forth to Tarsus.

31 [9] Then had the Churches rest through all Iudea, and Galile, and Samaria, and were [n] edified and walked in the feare of the Lorde, and were multiplied by the comfort of the holy Ghost.

32 [10] And it came to passe, as Peter walked throughout all quarters, hee came also to the Saints which dwelt at Lydda.

33 And there he found a certaine man named Aeneas, which had kept his couch eight yeeres, and was sicke of the palsie.

34 Then sayd Peter vnto him, Aeneas, Iesus Christ maketh thee whole: arise and trusse thy couch together. And he arose immediatly.

35 And all that dwelt at [o] Lydda and Saron, saw him, and turned to the Lord.

36 [11] There was also at Ioppa a certaine woman, a disciple named Tabitha (which by interpretation is called Dorcas) she was full of good workes and almes which she did.

37 And it came to passe in those dayes, that she was sicke and died: and when they had washed her, they layd her in an vpper chamber.

38 Now forasmuch as Lydda was neere to Ioppa, and the disciples had heard that Peter was there, they sent vnto him two men, desiring that he would not delay to come vnto them.

39 Then Peter arose & came with them: and when he was come, they brought him into the vpper chamber, where all the widowes stood by him weeping, and shewing the coats and garments, which Dorcas made, while she was with them.

40 But Peter put them all forth, and kneeled downe, and prayed, and turned him to the body, and said, Tabitha, Arise. And she opened her eyes, and when she saw Peter, sate vp, 41 Then he gaue her the hand and lift her vp, and called the Saints and widowes, and restored her aliue.

42 And it was knowen throughout all Ioppa, and many beleeued in the Lord.

43 And it came to passe that he taried many dayes in Ioppa with one Simon a Tanner.

7 The constant seruants of God must looke for danger after danger: yet God watcheth for them.

8 The Ministers of the word may change their place, by the aduise and counsell of the congregation and Church.

9 The end of persecutions is the building of y Church, so that wee will patiently wait for the Lord.

n This is a borowed kind of speach, which signifieth establishment and increase.

10 Peters Apostleship is confirmed, by healing of the man that was sicke of the palsie.

o Lydda was a citie of Palestine, and Saron a champion country, and a place of good pasturage, betweene Cesarea of Palestine and the mountaine Tabor, and the lake of Genezareth which extendeth it selfe in great length beyond Ioppa.

11 Peter declareth euidently by raising vp a dead body through the Name of Christ, that he preacheth the glad tidings of life.

CHAP. X.

1 Cornelius, 4 at the Angels commandement, 5 sendeth for Peter. 11 Who also by a vision, 15. 20 is taught not to despise the Gentiles: 34 Hee preacheth the Gospel to Cornelius and his household: 45 Who hauing receiued the holy Ghost, 47 are baptized.

FUrthermore [1] there was a certaine man in Cesarea called Cornelius, a captaine of the band called the Italian band,

2 A [a] deuoute man, and one that feared God with [b] all his household, which gaue much almes to the people, and prayed God continually.

3 He saw in a vision euidently (about the ninth houre of the day) an Angel of God comming in to him, and saying vnto him, Cornelius.

4 But when he looked on him, he was afraid, and said, [c] What is it, Lord? and he said vnto him, Thy prayers and thine almes are [d] come vp into [e] remembrance before God.

5 Now therefore send men to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

6 Hee lodgeth with one Simon a Tanner, whose house is by the sea side: he shall tell thee what thou oughtest to do.

7 And when the Angel which spake vnto Cornelius, was departed, he called two of his seruants, and a souldiour that feared God, one of them that waited on him,

8 And told them all things, and sent them to Ioppa.

9 On the morrow as they went on their iourney, and drew neere vnto the citie, Peter went vp vpon the house to pray, about the sixt houre.

10 Then waxed hee an hungred, & would haue eaten: but while they made some thing ready, he fell into a [f] trance.

11 And he saw heauen opened, and a certaine vessel come downe vnto him, as it had bene a great sheet, knit at the [g] foure corners, and was let downe to the earth.

12 Wherein were [h] all maner of [i] foure footed beasts of the earth, & wilde beasts, and [k] creeping things, and foules of the heauen.

13 And there came a voice to him, Arise, Peter: kill, and eate.

14 [2] But Peter said, Not so, Lord: for I haue neuer eaten any thing that is polluted, or vncleane.

15 And the voyce spake vnto him againe the second time, The things that God hath

1 Peter consecrateth the first fruites of the Gentiles to God by the meanes of two myracles.

a So that he worshipped on God, & was no Idolater, neither could be voyd of faith in Christ, because he was a deuout man: but as yet he knew not that he was come.

b This is a great commendation to the man, that he laboured to haue al his housholde and familiar friends and acquaintance to be religious and godly.

c What wilt thou with me Lord? for he setteth himself to heare.

d This is a borowed kind of speech which the Hebrues vse very much, take from sacrifices and applied to prayers: for it is said of whole burnt sacrifices, that the smoke & sauour of them goeth vp into Gods nostrils, so do our prayers, as a sweet smelling sacrifice which the Lord taketh great pleasure in.

e That is, in so much that they will not suffer God as it were to forget thee: for so doth the Scripture vse oftentimes to prattle with vs as nurses do with little children, when they frame their tongues to speake.

f For though Peter stand not amased as one that is tongue tied, but talketh with God, and is instructed in his mysteries, yet his minde was farre otherwise then it was wont to be, but shortly returned to the old bent.

g So that it seemed to be a foure square sheete.

h Here is this word (All) which is general, plainly put for an indefinit and vncertaine, that is to say, for some of all sorts, not for all of euery sort.

i That is, such as were meet for mens vse.

purified, [l] pollute thou not.

16 This was so done thrise: and the vessel was drawen vp againe into heauen.

17 ¶ Now while Peter doubted in himselfe what this vision which he had seen, meant, behold, the men which were sent from Cornelius, had inquired for Simons house, and stood at the gate, 18 And called, and asked, whether Simon, which was surnamed Peter, were lodged there.

19 And while Peter thought on the vision, the Spirit said vnto him, Behold, three men seeke thee.

20 Arise therefore, and get thee downe, and goe with them, and doubt nothing: for I haue sent them.

21 ¶ Then Peter went downe to the men, which were sent vnto him from Cornelius, and said, Behold, I am he whom ye seeke: what is the cause wherefore ye are come?

22 And they sayd, Cornelius the captaine, a iust man, and one that feareth God & of good report among all the nation of the Iewes, was warned from heauen by an holy Angel, to send for thee into his house, and to heare thy words.

23 Then called hee them in, and lodged them, & the next day, Peter went forth with them, and certain brethren from Ioppa accompanied him.

24 ¶ And the day after, they entred into Cesarea. Now Cornelius waited for them, and had called together his kinsemen, and speciall friends, 25 [3] And it came to passe as Peter came in, that Cornelius met him, and fell downe at his feete, and worshipped him.

26 But Peter took him vp, saying, Stand vp: for euen I my selfe am a man.

27 And as he talked with him, he came in, and found many that were come together.

28 And he said vnto them, Ye know that it is an vnlawfull thing for a man that is a Iew, to company, or come vnto any of other nation: but God hath shewed me, that I should not cal any man polluted, or vncleane.

29 Therefore came I vnto you without saying nay, when I was sent for. I aske therefore, for what intent haue ye sent for me?

30 Then Cornelius said, Foure dayes ago, about [m] this houre, I fasted, & at the ninth houre I prayed in mine house, and behold, a man stood before me in bright clothing, 31 [4] And said, Cornelius, thy prayer is heard, & thine almes are had in remembrance in the sight of God.

32 [5] Send therefore to Ioppa, and call for Simon, whose surname is Peter (he is lodged in the house of Simon a Tanner by ꝑ sea side) who when he commeth, shall speake vnto thee.

33 Then sent I for thee immediatly, and thou hast well done to come. Now therefore are we all here present before God, to heare all things that are commanded thee of God.

34 [6] Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceiue, that [n] * God is no accepter of persons.

35 But in euery nation he ꝑ [o] feareth him, & worketh righteousnes, is accepted with him

36 Yee [p] knowe the word which God hath sent to the children of Israel, preaching peace by Iesus Christ, which is Lord of all:

37 [7] Euen the word which came through all Iudea, * beginning in Galile, after the baptisme which Iohn preached.

38 To wit, how God [q] annointed Iesus of Nazareth with the holy Ghost, & with power: who went about doing good, and healing all that were oppressed of the deuill: for God was with him.

39 And wee are witnesses of all things which he did both in the land of the Iewes, and in Hierusalem, whom they slew, hanging him on a tree.

40 Him God raised vp the third day, and caused that he was shewed openly:

41 Not to all the people, but vnto the witnesses [r] chosen before of God, euen to vs which did eate & drinke with him, after he arose from the dead.

42 And he commaunded vs to preach vnto the people, and to testifie, that it is he that is ordeined of God a Iudge of quicke and dead.

43 To him also giue all the * Prophets witnesse, that through his Name all that beleeue in him, shall receiue remission of sinnes.

44 [8] While Peter yet spake these words, the holy Ghost fell on all them which heard the word.

45 So they of the circumcision which beleeued, were astonied, as many as came with Peter, because that on the Gentiles also was powred out the gift of the holy Ghost.

46 For they heard them speake w tongues, and magnifie God. Then answered Peter.

47 [9] Can any man forbid water, that these should not be baptized, which haue receiued the holy Ghost, as well as we?

48 So he commanded them to be baptized in the Name of the Lord. Then prayed they him to tarie certaine daies.

3 Religious adoration or worship agreeth only to God: but ciuil worship is giuen to the Ministers of the word, although not without danger.

5 As faith commeth by hearing, so is it nourished and groweth vp by the same.

o By the feare of God the Hebrues vnderstood the whole seruice of God, whereby we perceiue that Cornelius was not voide of faith, no more then they were which lined before Christs time: and therefore they deale foolishly, which build preparatiue workes and free will, vpon this place.

p God gaue the Israelites to vnderstand, that whosoeuer liueth godly, is acceptable to God, of what nation soeuer he be, for he preached peace to men through Iesus Christ, who is Lord, not of one nation onely, that is, of the Iewes, but of all.

7 The summe of the Gospell (which shalbe made manifest at the latter day, when Christ himselfe shall be as Iudge ouer all) of the quicke and dead) is this, that Christ promised to the Fathers, and exhibited in his time with the mighty power of God, (which was by all meanes likely) and at length crucified to reconcile vs to God Did rise again the third day, that whosoeuer beleeueth in him should be saued through the remission of sinnes. * Luke 4.14.

q The stile is taken from an old custome of the Iewes, who vsed to anoint their Kings and Priests, whereupon it grew, to call them annointed, vpon whom God bestoweth gifts and vertues.

r This chusing of the Apostles is properly giuen to God: for though God be president in the lawfull election of Ministers, yet there is in this place a secret opposition & setting of Gods chusing, & mens voices the one against the other, for the Apostles are immediatly appointed of God, & the Church Ministers by meanes. * Ier.31.34. mica.7.18. chap.15.9.

CHAP. XI.

2 Peter being accused for going to the Gentiles. 5 defendeth himselfe. 22 Barnabas is sent to Antiochia, 26 Where the disciples are called Christians: 28 And there Agabus foretelleth a famine to come.

1 Peter being without cause reprehended of the backbiting and ignorant, doeth not object that he ought not to be iudged of any, but openly giueth an account of his doing.

NOw [1] the Apostles & the brethren that were in Iudea, heard, that the Gentiles had also receiued the word of God.

2 And when Peter was come vp to Hierusalem, they of the circumcision contended against him,

3 Saying, Thou wentest in to men vncircumcised, and hast eaten with them.

4 Then Peter began, and expounded the thing in order to them, saying.

5 I was in the citie of Ioppa, praying, & in a trance I saw this vision, A certaine vessell comming down as it had beene a great sheet, let downe from heauen by the foure corners, and it came to me.

6 Toward the which when I had fastened mine eies, I considered, and saw foure footed beasts of the earth, and wild beasts, & creeping things, and foules of the heauen.

7 Also I heard a voice, saying vnto me, Arise, Peter: slay and eate.

8 And I said, God forbid, Lord: for nothing polluted or vncleane hath at any time entered into my mouth.

9 But the voice answered me the second time from heauen, The things that God hath purified, pollute thou not.

10 And this was done three times, and all were taken vp againe into heauen.

11 Then behold, immediately there were three men already come vnto the house where I was, sent from Cesarea vnto me.

12 And the Spirit sayd vnto mee, that I should goe with them, without doubting: moreouer these six brethren came with mee, and we entred into the mans house.

13 And he shewed vs, how he had seene an Angel in his house, which stood & said to him, Send men to Ioppa, & call for Simon, whose surname is Peter.

14 Hee shall speake words vnto thee, whereby both thou and all thine house shall be saued.

15 And as I beganne to speake, the holy Ghost fell on them, * euen as vpon vs at the beginning.

16 Then I remembred the worde of the Lord, how he said, * John baptized with water, but yee shall bee baptized with the holy Ghost.

17 Forasmuch then as God gaue them a like gift, as he did vnto vs, when we beleeued in the Lord Iesus Christ, who was I, that I could let God?

18 [2] When they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles granted repentance vnto life.

19 [3] And they which were * scattered abroad because of the affliction that arose about Steuen, went throughout till they came vnto Phenice and Cyprus, and [a] Antiochia, preaching the word to no man, but vnto the Iewes onely.

20 [4] Now some of them were men of Cyprus and of Cyrene, which when they were come into Antiochia, spake vnto the Grecians, and preached the Lord Iesus.

21 And the hand of the Lord was with them, so that a great number beleeued & turned vnto the Lord.

22 [5] Then tydings of those things came vnto the eares of the Church, which was in Hierusalem, and they sent forth Barnabas, that he should goe vnto Antiochia.

23 Who when he was come and had seene the grace of God, was glad, and exhorted all, that with purpose of heart they would continue in the Lord.

24 For he was a good man, and full of the holy Ghost, and faith, and much people ioyned themselues vnto the Lord.

25 [6] Then departed Barnabas to Tarsus to seeke Saul:

26 And when hee had found him, hee brought him vnto Antiochia: and it came to passe that a whole yeere they were conuersant with the Church, and taught much people, insomuch that the Disciples were first called Christians in Antiochia.

27 [7] In those daies also came Prophets from Hierusalem vnto Antiochia.

28 And there stood vp one of them named Agabus, and signified by the Spirit, that there should be great famine throughout all the world, which also came to passe vnder Claudius Cesar.

29 [8] Then the Disciples, euery man according to his ability, purposed to send [b] succour vnto the brethren which dwelt in Iudea.

30 Which thing they also did, & sent it to the Elders, by the hand of Barnabas & Saul.

3 The scattering abroad of the Church of Hierusalem, is the cause of the gathering together of many other Churches.

* Chap. 8. 1.

a He speaketh of Antiochia which was in Syria and bordered vpon Cilicia.

4 The Church of Antioch, the new Hierusalem of the Gentiles, was extraordinarily called.

5 The Apostles doe not rashly condemne an extraordinary vocation, but yet they iudge it by the effects.

6 There was no contention amongst the Apostles either of vsurping, or of holding places and degrees.

7 God doth so wrappe vp his Church with the wicked, in his scourges and plagues which he sendeth vpon the earth, that notwithstanding he prouideth for it conueniently.

8 All congregations or Churches make one body.

h That is, that there of the Deacons might succour the poore: for it behoued to haue all these things done orderly & decently, and therefore it is said, that they sent these things to the Elders, that is, to the gouernours of the Church.

CHAP. XII.

2 Herod killeth Iames with the sword: 4 And imprisoneth Peter. 8 Whom the Angel deliuereth. 20 Herod being offended with them of Tyrus. 21 is pacified: 22 And taking the honour due to God, to himselfe. 23 He is eaten with wormes, and so dieth.

NOw [1] about that time, [a] Herod the king stretched forth his hands to vexe certaine of the Church.

2 And hee [b] killed Iames the brother of John with the sword.

1 God giueth his Church a truce but for a little time.

a This name Herod was common to all them that came of the stock of Herod Ascalonites, whose surname was Magnus: but he that is spoken of here, was nephew to Herod the great, sonne to Aristobulus, and father to that Agrippa who is spoken of afterward. b Violently, his cause being not once heard.

3 Such as alke a question of the truth which they know not ought to be quietly heard, and must also quietly yeeld to the declaration thereof.

3 [2] And when hee saw that it pleased the Iewes, he proceeded further, to take Peter also (then were the dayes of vnleauened bread.)

4 [3] And when he had caught him, he put him in prison, and deliuered him to foure quaternions of souldiers to bee kept, intending after the Passeouer to bring him foorth to the people.

5 [4] So Peter was kept in prison, but earnest prayer was made of the Church vnto God for him.

6 And when Herod would haue brought him out vnto the people, the same night slept Peter betweene two souldiers, bound with two chaines, and the keepers before the doore, kept the prison.

7 [*] And beholde the Angel of the Lorde came vpon them, & a light shined in the [c] house, and he smote Peter on the side, and raised him vp, saying, Arise quickly. And his chaines fell off from his hands.

8 And the Angel said vnto him, Gird thy selfe, and bind on thy sandales. And so he did. Then he sayde vnto him, Cast thy garment about thee, and follow me.

9 So Peter came out and followed him, and knew not that it was true, which was done by the Angel, but thought he had seene a vision.

10 Now when they were past the first and the second watch, they came vnto the yron gate that leadeth vnto the citie, which opened to them by it owne accord, and they went out, and passed through one streete, and by and by the Angel departed from him.

11 ¶ And when Peter was come to himselfe, he said, Now I know for a truth, that the Lord hath sent his Angel, and hath deliuered mee out of the hand of Herod, and from all the waiting for of the people of the Iewes.

12 [5] And as hee considered the thing, hee came to the house of Mary [d] mother of John, whose surname was Marke, where many were gathered together, and prayed.

13 [6] And when Peter knocked at the entrie doore, a maid [d] came forth to hearken, named Rhode, 14 But when she knew Peters voyce, she opened not the entrie doore for gladnesse, but ranne in, and told how Peter stood before the entrie.

15 But they said vnto her, Thou art mad. Yet shee affirmed it constantly, that it was so. Then said they, It is his Angel.

16 But Peter continued knocking, and when they had opened it, and sawe him, they were astonied.

17 [7] And hee beckened vnto them with the hand, to hold their peace, and told them how the Lorde had brought him out of the prison. And hee sayde, Goe shewe these things vnto James and to the brethren: and hee departed and went into another place.

18 ¶ [8] Now assoone as it was day, there was no small trouble among the souldiers, what was become of Peter.

19 And when Herod had sought for him, and found him not, hee examined the keepers, and commanded them to be led to the punished. And hee went downe from Iudea to Cesarea, and there abode.

20 [9] Then Herod was angry with them of Tyrus and Sydon, but they came all with one accord vnto him, and perswaded Blastus the Kings Chamberlaine, and they desired peace, because their countrey was nourished by the Kings land.

21 And vpon a day appointed, Herod arayed himselfe in roial apparel, and sate on the iudgement seate, and made an oration vnto them.

22 [10] And the people gaue a shout, saying, The voice of God, and not of man.

23 [11] But immediatly the Angel of the Lord smote him, because hee [e] gaue not glory vnto God, so that hee was eaten of wormes, and gaue vp the ghost.

24 [12] And the [f] word of God grew & multiplied.

25 So Barnabas & Saul returned from Hierusalem, when they had fulfilled their office, & tooke with them John, whose surname was Marke.

CHAP. XIII.

2 The holy Ghost commandeth that Paul and Barnabas be separated vnto him. 6 At Paphus 8 Elymes the sorcerer 11 is stroken blind: 14 From whence being come to Antiochia, 17 they preach the Gospel, 45 the Iewes vehemently withstanding them.

THere [1] were also in the Church that was at Antiochia, certeine Prophets and teachers, as Barnabas, and Simeon called Niger, and Lucius of Cyrene, and Manahen (which had bene brought vp with [a] Herod the Tetrarch) and Saul.

2 Now as they [b] ministred to the Lord, and fasted, the holy Ghost said, Separate me Barnabas and Saul, for the worke whereunto I haue [c] called them.

3 [2] Then fasted they and prayed, and laid their hands on them, and let them goe.

4 [3] And they, after they were sent forth of the holy Ghost, came downe vnto [d] Seleucia, and from thence they sailed to Cyprus.

1 It is an old fashion of Tyrants to procure the fauour of the wicked, with the blood of the godly.
2 The tyrants and wicked make a gaolouse for themselues euen then when they do most according to their owne will and fancie.
3 The prayers of the godly ouercome the counsell of Tyrants, obteine Angels of God, breake the prison, vnloose the chaines, put Satan to flight, and preserue the Church.

7 We may sometimes giue place to the rage of the wicked, but yet so that our diligence which ought to be vsed in Gods busines, bee not a whit slackened.

8 Euill counsell falleth out in the end to the hurt of the deuisers of it.

9 A miserable and shamefull example of the end of the enemies of the Church.

10 The flattery of the people, maketh fooles faine.
11 God reuiueth his prouv.
e Iosephus recordeth, that this King did not represse those flatterers tongues, and therefore at his death hee complained and cryed out of their vanitie.
12 Tyrants builde vp the Church by pulling it vowne.
f They that heard the word of God.

1 Paul with Barnabas is ordained the second time appointed Apostle of the Gentiles, not of man, neither by man, but by an extraordinarie commandement of the holy Ghost.
a The same was Antipas which put Iohn Baptist to death.
b Whiles they were busie doing their office, that is, as Chrysostome expounded it, while they were praying. c The Lord is said to call (Whereof this word (Calling) commeth, which is vsual in the Church) when he causeth that to be, which was not, whether you referre it to the matter it selfe, or to any qualitie or thing about the matter: and it groweth of this, because when things begin to be: then they haue some name: as God his mightie power is also declared thereby, who spake the word, and things were made. 2 Fast, and solemne prayers were vsed before the laying on of handes. 3 Paul and his companions vp at the first bring Cyprus to the subiection and obedience of Christ. d Selevcia was a citie of Cilicia, so called of Seleucus one of Alexanders successours.

5 And when they were at Salamis, they preached the word of God in the Synagogues of the Iewes: and they had also John to their minister.

6 So when they had gone throughout the Ile vnto Paphus, they founde a certaine sorcerer, a false Prophet, being a Iew, named Barielus.

7 Which was with the Deputie Sergius Paulus, a prudent man. He called vnto him Barnabas and Saul, and desired to heare the word of God.

8 [4] But Elymas, the sorcerer (for so is his name by interpretation) withstood them, and sought to turne away the deputie from the faith.

9 Then Saul (which also is called Paul) being full of the holy Ghost, set his eies on him, 10 [5] And said, O full of all subtilitie and all [c] mischiefe, the childe of the deuill, and enemie of al righteousnesse, wilt thou not cease to peruert the straight wayes of the Lord?

11 Nowe therefore beholde, the [f] hand of the Lord is vpon thee, and thou shalt be blinde, and not see the sunne for a season. And immediatly there fell on him a mist and a darknesse, and he went about, seeking some to leade him by the hand.

12 Then the Deputie when he saw what was done, beleeued, and was astonied at the doctrine of the Lord.

13 [6] Now when Paul and they that were with him were departed by shippe from Paphus, they came to Perga a citie of Pamphylia: then Iohn departed from them, and returned to Hierusalem.

14 But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antiochia a citie of [g] Pisidia, and went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and sate downe.

15 [7] And after the lecture of the Law and Prophets, the rulers of the Synagogue sent vnto them, saying, Ye men and brethren, if ye [h] haue any word of exhortation for the people, say on.

16 [8] Then Paul stood vp and beckened with the hand, and said, Men of Israel, and ye that feare God, hearken.

17 The God of this people of Israel chose our fathers, and [i] exalted the people when they dwelt in the land of *Egypt, and with an *[k] high arme brought them out thereof.

18 And about the time * of fortie yeeres, suffered he their maners in the wilderneſſe.

19 And hee destroyed seuen nations in the land of Chanaan, and *diuided their land to them by lot.

20 Then afterward hee gaue vnto them *Iudges about [l] foure hundred & fiftie yeeres, vnto the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 So after that, they desired a *King, and God gaue vnto them *Saul the sonne of Cis, a man of the tribe of Beniamin by the space of [m] fortie yeeres.

22 And after he had taken him away, hee raised vp *Dauid to be their King, of whom he witnessed, saying, I haue found Dauid the sonne of Iesse, a man after mine owne heart, which will do all things that I will.

23 [9] Of this mans seed hath God *according to his promise raised vp to Israel, the Sauiour Iesus:

24 When *Iohn had first preached [n] before his comming the baptisme of repentance to all the people of Israel.

25 And whē Iohn had fulfilled his course, he said, *Whom yee thinke that I am, I am not hee: but behold, there commeth one after me, whose shoe of his feete I am not worthy to loose.

26 [10] Ye men and brethren, children of the generation of Abraham, & whosoeuer among you feareth God, to you is the worde of this saluation sent.

27 [11] For the inhabitants of Hierusalem, and their rulers, because they knew him not, nor yet the words of the Prophets, which are read euery Sabbath day, they haue fulfilled them in condemning him.

28 And though they founde no cause of death in him, * yet desired they Pilate to kill him.

29 And when they had fulfilled all things that were writtē of him: they tooke him down from the tree, and put him in a sepulchre.

30 [12] But God *raised him vp from the dead.

31 And he was seene many daies of them, which came vp with him from Galile to Hierusalē, which are his witnesses vnto the people

32 And we declare vnto you, that touching the promise made vnto the Fathers, 33 God hath fulfilled it vnto vs their children, in that he [o] raised vp Iesus, [13] euen as it is written in the second Psalme, *Thou art my sonne: this day haue I begotten thee.

34 Now as concerning that he raised him vp from the dead, no more to returne to corruption,

4 The deuil maketh the conquest of Christ more glorious, in that that he setteth himselfe against him.

5 The sorcerer which was stricken of Paul with a corporall punishmēt (although extraordinarily) sheweth an example to lawfull magistrates, how they ought to punish the which wickedly and obstinately hinder the course of the Gospel.

c He noteth out such a fault, as who so hath it, runneth headlōg & with great desire to all kind of wickednes with the least motion in the world.

f His power which he sheweth in striking & beating downe his enemies.

6 An example in one and the selfe same company both of singular constancie, and also of great weakenesse.

g This putteth a difference betwixt it, and Antiochia which was in Syria.

7 In the Synagogue of the Iewes (according to the patterne whereof Christian congregations were instituted) first the Scriptures were read, then such as were learned, were licensed by the rulers of the Synagogue to speake and expound.

41 *Behold ye despisers, and wonder, and vanish away: for I worke a worke in your dayes, a worke which ye shall not beleeue, if a man would declare it you.

42 ¶ [17] And when they were come out of the Synagogue of the Jewes, the Gentiles besought, that they would preach these words to them the next Sabbath day.

43 Now when the congregation was dissolued, many of the Jewes and [r] Proselytes that feared God, followed Paul and Barnabas, which spake vnto them, and exhorted them to continue in the grace of God.

44 And the next Sabbath day came almost the whole citie together, to heare the word of God.

45 [18] But when the Jewes saw the people, they were full of enuie, and spake against those things, which were spoken of Paul, contrarying them, and raylng on them.

46 [19] Then Paul and Barnabas spake boldly, and sayde, It was necessary that the worde of God should first haue beene spoken vnto you: but seeing ye put it from you, and [s] iudge your selues vnworthy of euerlasting life, loe we turne to the Gentiles.

47 For so hath the Lord commaunded vs, saying, *I haue made thee a light of the Gentiles, that thou shouldest be the saluation vnto the ende of the world.

48 And when the Gentiles heard it, they were glad, and glorified the word of the Lord: and as many as were [t] ordeined vnto eternall life, beleeued.

49 Thus the word of the Lord was published throughout the whole countrey.

50 [20] But the Jewes stirred certaine [u] deuout and honourable women, and the chiefe men of the citie, and raised persecution against Paul and Barnabas, and expelled them out of their coastes.

51 [21] But they *shooke off the dust of their feete against them, and came vnto Iconium.

52 And the disciples were filled with ioy, and with the holy Ghost.

p The Grecians call those holy things which the Hebrewes call gratious bounties: and they are called Dauids bounties in the passiue signification, because God bestowed them vpon Dauid: Moreouer they are termed faithfull, after the maner of speech which the Hebrewes vse, who terme those things faithfull, which are stedfast and sure, such as neuer alter nor change.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 Paul and Barnabas 5 are persecuted from Iconium. 6 At Lystra Paul 10 healeth a creeple. 13 They are about to doe sacrifice vnto them, 15 but they forbid it. 19 Paul by the perswasion of certaine Iewes, is stoned: 23 From thence passing through diuers Churches, 26 They returne to Antiochia.

AND [1] it came to passe in [a] Iconium, that they went both together into the Synagogue of the Jewes, and so spake, that a great multitude both of the Jewes and of the Grecians beleeued.

2 And the [b] vnbeleeuing Jewes stirred vp, and corrupted the mindes of the Gentiles against the brethren.

3 [2] So therefore they abode there a long time, and spake boldly in the Lord, which gaue testimonie vnto the worde of his grace, and caused signes and wonders to be done by their hands.

4 But the multitude of the citie was diuided: and some were with the Jewes, and some with the Apostles.

5 And when there was an assault made both of the Gentiles, and of the Jewes with their rulers, to doe them violence, and to stone them,

6 They were ware of it, and [c] fled vnto Lystra, and Derbe, cities of Lycaonia, and vnto the region round about,

7 And there preached the Gospel.

8 ¶ [3] Now there sate a certaine man at Lystra, impotent in his feet, which was a creeple from his mothers wombe, who had neuer walked.

9 Hee heard Paul speake: who beholding him, and perceiuing that hee had faith to be healed, 10 Sayd with a loud voice, Stand vpright on thy feet. And he leaped vp, and walked.

11 Then when the people saw what Paul had done, they lift vp their voyces, saying, in the speech of Lycaonia, Gods are come downe to vs in the likenesse of men.

12 And they called Barnabas, Jupiter: and Paul, Mercurius, because hee was the chiefe speaker.

13 Then Jupiters Priest, which was a Iconium was a citie of Lycaonia.

b Which obeyed not the doctrine.

1 We ought to be no lesse constant in preaching of the Gospel then the pertinacie of the wicked is obstinate in persecuting of it.

2 We ought not to leaue our places and giue place to threatnings, neither to open rage, but when there is no other remedie, and that not for our owne quietnesse sake, but that the Gospel of Christ may be spread further abroad.

c It is lawfull sometimes to flee dangers, in time conuenient.

3 It is an olde subtiltie of the deuill, either to cause the faithfull seruants of God to bee banished at once, or to be worshipped for idoles: and that chiefly taking occasion by miracles wrought by them.

before their citie, brought bulles with garlands vnto the [d] gates, and would haue sacrificed with the people.

14 But when the Apostles, Barnabas and Paul heard it, they rent their clothes, and ran in among the people, crying,

15 [4] And saying, O men, why doe yee these things? We are euen men subiect to the [e] like passions that yee be, and preach vnto you, that ye should turne from these [f] vaine things vnto the liuing God, * which made heauen and earth, and the sea, and all things that in them are:

16 [5] Who in times past * s suffered all the Gentiles to walke in their owne wayes.

17 Neuertheles, he left not himselfe without witnesse, in that hee did good and gaue vs raine from heauen, and fruitfull seasons, filling our hearts with foode, and gladnesse.

18 And speaking these things, scarce appeased they the multitude, that they had not sacrificed vnto them.

19 [6] Then there came certaine Iewes from Antiochia and Iconium, which when they had perswaded the people, * stoned Paul, and drewe him out of the citie, supposing hee had bene dead.

20 Howbeit, as the disciples stood round about him, he arose vp, and came into the citie, and the next day hee departed from Barnabas to Derbe.

21 [7] And after they had preached the glad tidings of the Gospel to that citie, and had taught many, they returned to Lystra, and to Iconium, and to Antiochia.

22 [8] Confirming the disciples hearts, and exhorting them to continue in the faith, affirming that wee must through many afflictions enter into the kingdome of God.

23 [9] And when they had ordeined them Elders by election in euery Church, and prayed, and fasted, they commended them to the Lord in whom they beleeued.

24 [10] Thus they went throughout Pisidia, and came to Pamphylia.

25 And when they had preached the word in Perga, they came downe to [h] Attalia, 26 And thence sailed to [i] Antiochia, * from whence they had beene commended vnto the grace of God, to the worke, which they had fulfilled.

27 And when they were come and had gathered the Church together, they rehearsed all the things that God had done by them, & how he had opened the doore of faith vnto the Gentiles.

28 So there they abode a long time with the disciples.

7 Wee must goe forward in our vocation through a thousand deaths.

8 It is the office of the ministers, not onely to teach, but also to confirme them that are taught, and prepare them to the crosse.

9 The Apostles committed the Churches which they had planted, to proper and peculiar Pastours, which they made, not rashly, but with prayers and fastings going before: neither did they thrust them vpon Churches through bribery, or lordly superioritie, but chose and placed them by the voyce of the congregation.

CHAP. XV.

1 Certaine goe about to bring in circumcision at Antiochia. 6 About which matter the Apostles consult. 19 and what must be done 23 they declare by letters. 36 Paul and Barnabas 39 are at great variance.

THen [1] came downe [a] certaine from Iudea, and taught the brethren, saying, Except ye be circumcised after the maner of Moses, ye cannot be saued.

2 [2] And when there was great dissension, and disputation by Paul & Barnabas against them, they ordeyned that Paul and Barnabas, and certaine other of them, should goe vp to Hierusalem vnto the Apostles and Elders about this question.

3 Thus [b] being brought foorth by the Church, they passed through Phenice & Samaria, declaring the conuersion of the Gentiles, and they brought great ioy vnto all the brethren.

4 And when they were come to Hierusalem, they were receiued of the Church, and of the Apostles and Elders, and they declared what things God had done by them.

5 But sayd they, certaine of the sect of the Pharises, which did beleeue, rose vp, saying, that it was needfull to circumcise them, and to commaund them to keepe the law of Moses.

6 [3] Then the Apostles and Elders came together to looke to this matter.

7 And when there had bene great disputation, Peter rose vp, and said vnto them, * [4] Ye men and brethren, ye know that a [c] good while agoe, among vs God chose out mee, that the Gentiles by my mouth should heare the word of the Gospel, and beleeue.

8 And God which knoweth the heartes, bare them witnesse, in giuing vnto them the holy Ghost euen as he did vnto vs.

9 And he put no [d] difference betweene vs and them, after that * [e] by faith hee had purified their hearts.

10 [5] Nowe therefore, why [f] tempt yee God, to * lay a yoke on the disciples neckes, which neither our fathers, nor we were able to beare?

11 But wee beleeue, through the grace of the Lorde Iesus Christ to bee saued, euen as they doe.

12 [6] Then all the multitude kept silence, and heard Barnabas and Paul, which tould what signes and wonders God had done among the Gentiles by them.

1 The Church is at length troubled with dissention within it self, and the trouble riseth of proud and stubburne wits of certaine euill men: The first strife was concerning the office of Christ, whether we be saued by his onlie righteousnesse apprehended by faith, or we haue neede also to obserue the Law.

a Epiphanius is of opinion that this was Cerinthus.

2 Meetings of Congregations were instituted to suppresse heresies, whereunto certain were sent by common consent in the name of all.

b Courteously and louingly brought on their way by the Church, that is, by certaine appointed by the Church.

3 The matter is first handled, both parties being heard, in the assembly of the Apostles and ancients, and after is communicated with the people.

* Chap. 10. 20. and 11. 12.

4 God himselfe in calling of the Gentiles which are vncircumcised, did teach that our saluation doeth consist in faith without the worship appointed by the Lawe.

c Worde for word of old time, that is, euen from the first time that wee were commaunded to preach the Gospel, and straightwayes after that the holy Ghost came downe vpon vs.

d He put no difference betweene vs and them, as touching the benefite of his free fauour.

* Cha. 10. 43. 1. cor. 1. 2.

e Christ pronounceth them blessed which are pure of heart: and here wee are plainely taught, that men are made such by faith.

5 Peter passing from the Ceremonies, to the Lawe it selfe in generall, sheweth that none could be saued, if saluation were to be sought for by the Lawe, and not by grace onely in Iesus Christ: because that no man could euer fulfill the Lawe, neither Patriarch, nor Apostle.

f Why tempt yee God, as though he could not saue by faith.

* Matth. 23. 4.

6 A true patterne of a lawfull Councill, where Gods truth only reigneth.

13 And when they helde their peace, g James answered, saying, Men and brethren, hearken vnto mee.

14 7 Simeon hath declared, how God first did visite the Gentiles, to take of them a people vnto his Name.

15 And to this agree the wordes of the Prophets, as it is written,

16 ¶ * After this I will returne, and wil builde againe the tabernacle of Dauid, which is fallen downe, and the ruines thereof will I builde againe, and I will set it vp,

17 That the residue of men might seeke after the Lord & all the Gentiles vpon whom my Name is called, sayth the Lord which doth all these things.

18 From the beginning of the world, God h knoweth all his workes.

19 8 Wherefore my sentence is, that wee trouble not them of the Gentiles that are turned to God.

20 But that we send vnto them, that they abstaine themselues from i filthinesse of idoles, and fornication, and that that is strangled, and from blood.

21 For Moses of olde time hath in euery citie them that preach him, seeing hee is read in the Synagogues euery Sabbath day.

22 9 Then it seemed good to the Apostles and Elders with the whole Church, to sende chosen men of their owne companie to Antiochia with Paul and Barnabas: to wit, Judas whose surname was Barsabas, and Silas, which were chief men among the brethren, 23 And wrote letters by them after this maner, THE APOSTLES, and the Elders, and the brethren, vnto the brethren which are of the Gentiles in Antiochia, and in Syria, and in Cilicia, send greeting.

24 10 Forasmuch as wee haue heard, that certaine which k went out from vs, haue troubled you with words, and l cumbred your mindes, saying, Yee must be circumcised and keepe the Lawe, to whom wee gaue no such commandement,

25 It seemed therefore good to vs, when wee were come together with one accord, to send chosen men vnto you, with our beloued Barnabas and Paul,

26 Men that haue m giuen vp their liues for the Name of our Lord Jesus Christ.

27 Wee haue therefore sent Judas and Silas which shall also tel you the same things by mouth.

28 11 For it seemed good to the n holy Ghost, and o to vs, to lay no more burthen vpon you, then these p necessary things, 29 12 That is, that ye abstaine from things offered to idoles, and blood, and that that is strangled, and from fornication: from which if yee keepe your selues, ye shall do well. Fare ye well.

30 13 Now when they were departed, they came to Antiochia, and after that they had assembled the multitude, they deliuered the Epistle.

31 And when they had read it, they reioyced for the consolation.

32 And Judas & Silas being Prophets, exhorted the brethren with many wordes, and strengthened them.

33 And after they had taried there a space, they were let goe in q peace of the brethren vnto the Apostles.

34 Notwithstanding Silas thought good to abide there still.

35 Paul also and Barnabas continued in Antiochia, teaching and preaching with many other, the word of the Lord.

36 ¶ 14 But after certaine dayes, Paul sayd vnto Barnabas, Let vs returne, and visite our brethren in euery citie, where we haue preached the word of the Lord, and see how they doe.

37 15 And Barnabas counselled to take with them John, called Marke.

38 But Paul thought it not meet to take him vnto their company, which departed from them from Pamphylia, and went not with them to the worke.

39 16 Then were they so r stirred, that they departed asunder one from the other, so that Barnabas tooke Marke, and sayled vnto Cyprus.

40 And Paul chose Silas, and departed, being commended of the brethren vnto the grace of God.

41 And he went thorow Syria and Cilicia, stablishing the Churches.

g The sonne of Alpheus, who is also called the Lords brother.
7 James confirmeth the calling of the Gentiles out of the word of God, therein agreeing to Peter.
* Amos 9.11.
h And therefore nothing commeth to passe by fortune, but by Gods appointment.
8 In matters indifferent, we may so far beare with the weakenesse of our brethren, as they may haue time to be instructed.
i From sacrifices, or from feastes which were kept in idols temples.
9 In a lawfull Synode, neither they which are appointed and chosen Iudges, appoint and determine any thing tyrannously or vpon a lordlines, neither doeth the common multitude set themselues tumultuously against them which sit as iudges by the word of God: as the like order also is holden in publishing and ratifying those things which haue bene so determined and agreed vpon.
10 The Counsell of Hierusalem concludeth, that they trouble mens consciences which teach vs to seeke saluation in any other meanes then in Christ onely, apprehended by faith, from whence soeuer they come, and whomsoeuer they pretend to be authour of their vocation.
k From our congregation.
l A borowed kind of speach taken of them which pul down that that was built vp: and it is a very vsuall metaphore in the Scriptures, to say the Church is built, for the Church is planted & stablished.
m Haue greatly hazarded their liues.
11 That is a lawfull councell, which the holy Ghost ruleth.
n First they made mention of the holy Ghost, that it may not seeme to bee any mans worke.
o Not that men haue any authority of themselues, but to shew the faithfulnesse that they vsed in their ministerie and labour.
p This was no precise necessitie, but in respect of the state of that time, that the Gentiles and the Iewes might more peaceably liue together with lesse occasion of quarell.
12 Charitie is requisite euen in things indifferent.
13 It is requisite for all people to know certainly what to holde in matters of faith and religion, and not that the Church by ignorance and knowing nothing, should depend vpon the pleasure of a few.
q This is an Hebrew kinde of speach, which is as much to say, as the brethren wished them all prosperous successe, and the Church dismissed them with good leaue.
14 Congregations of Churches doe easily degenerate, wherein they be diligently seene vnto, and therefore were these Apostles to ouersee such as they had planted, and for this cause also Synodes were instituted and appointed.
15 A lamentable example of discord betweene excellent men and very great yet for doctrine, yet for nature. God vseth the faults of his seruants to the profit and building of the Church: yet wee haue to take heede, euen in the best matters, that wee passe not measure in our heat.
r They were in great heate: But herein wee haue to consider the force of Gods counsell: for by this meanes it came to passe, that the doctrine of the Gospel was exercised in many places.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Paul hauing circumcised Timotheus. 12 being at Philippi, 14 instructeth Lydia in the faith. 16 The spirit of Diuination 18 is by him cast out: 20 & for that cause 22 they are whipped, 24 and imprisoned. 26 Through an earthquake 27 the prison doores are opened. 31. 32 The layler receiueth the faith.

1 Then s came hee to Derbe and to Lystra: and behold, a certaine disciple was there, named * Timotheus, a womans sonne, which was a [a] Jewesse and beleeued, but his father was a Grecian.

s Or, he.

2 Of whom the brethren which were at Lystra and Iconium, [b] reported well.

3 [a] Therefore Paul would that he should go forth with him, and tooke and circumcised him, because of the Iewes, which were in those quarters: for they knew all, that his father was a Grecian.

4 [3] And as they went through the cities, they deliuered them the [c] decrees to keepe, ordeined of the Apostles & Elders, which were at Ierusalem,

5 And so were the Churches stablished in the faith, and encreased in number daily.

6 ¶ [4] Now when they had gone throughout Phrygia, and the region of Galatia, they were [d] forbidden of the holy Ghost to preach the word in Asia.

7 Then came they to Mysia and sought to goe into Bithynia: but the Spirit suffered them not.

8 Therefore they passed through Mysia, and came downe to Troas.

9 [5] Where a vision appeared to Paul in the night. There stood a man of Macedonia, and prayed him, saying, Come into Macedonia, and helpe vs.

10 [6] And after he had seene the vision, immediatly we prepared to goe into Macedonia, being assured that the Lord had called vs to preach the Gospel vnto them.

11 Then went we forth from Troas, and with a straight course came to Samothracia, and the next day to Neapolis, 12 ¶ And from thence to Philippi, which is the chiefe citie in the parts of Macedonia, and whose inhabitants came from Rome to dwell there, and we were in that citie abiding certaine dayes.

13 [7] And on the Sabbath day, we went out of the citie, beside a riuer, where they were wont to [e] pray: and we sate downe, and spake vnto the women, which were come together.

14 [8] And a certaine woman named Lydia, a seller of purple, of the citie of the Thyatirians, which worshipped God, heard vs: whose heart the Lord opened, that shee attended vnto the things, which Paul spake.

15 [9] And when shee was baptized, and her houshold, shee besought vs, saying, If ye haue iudged me to be faithfull to the Lord, come into mine house, and abide there: and she constrained vs.

16 [10] And it came to passe that as we went to prayer, a certaine maide hauing a spirit of [f] diuination, met vs, which gate her masters much vantage with diuining.

17 Shee followed Paul and vs, and cryed, saying, These men are the seruants of the most high God, which shew vnto you the way of saluation.

18 And this did shee [g] many dayes: but Paul being grieued, turned about, and saide to the spirit, I commaund thee in the Name of Iesus Christ, that thou come out of her. And he came out the same houre.

19 [11] Now when her Masters sawe that the hope of their gaine was gone, they caught Paul and Silas, and drewe them into the market place vnto the Magistrates,

20 [12] And brought them to the Gouernours, saying, These men which are Iewes, trouble our citie, 21 [13] And preach ordinances, which are not lawful for vs to receiue, neither to obserue, seeing we are Romanes.

22 [14] The people also rose vp together against them, and the Gouernours rent their clothes, and commaunded them to be beaten with rods.

23 And when they had beaten them sore, they cast them into prison, commaunding the Iayler to keepe them surely.

24 Who hauing receiued such commaundement, cast them into the inner prison, and made their feete [h] fast in the stockes.

25 [15] Now at midnight Paul and Silas prayed, and sung Psalmes vnto God: and the Prisoners heard them.

26 And suddenly there was a great earthquake: so that the foundation of the prison was shaken: and by and by all the doores opened, and euerie mans bands were loosed.

27 [16] Then the keeper of the prison waked out of his sleepe, and when hee saw the prison doores open, he drew out his sword and would haue killed himselfe, supposing the prisoners had beene fled.

28 [17] But Paul cried with a loude voice, saying, Do thy selfe no harme: for wee are all heere.

29 Then hee called for a light, and leaped in, and came trembling, and fell downe before Paul and Silas, 30 And brought them out, and said, Syrs, what must I doe to be saued?

31 And they said, Beleeue in the Lord Iesus Christ, and thou shalt bee saued, and thine houshold.

32 And they preached vnto him the word of the Lord, and to all that were in the house.

33 [18] Afterward hee tooke them the same houre of the night, and washed their stripes, and was baptized with all that belonged vnto him, straightway.

34 And

a Paul in his latter Epistle to Timothie, commendeth the godlinesse of Timothies mother and grandmother.

b Both for his godlinesse, and honestie.

a Timothie is circumcised, not simply for any necessitie, but in respect of the time onely to win the Iewes.

3 Charitie is to be obserued in things indifferent, that is, regard be had both of the weake, and the quietnesse of the Church.

c Those degrees which he spake of in the former chapter.

4 God appointeth certaine and determinate times to open and set forth his truth, that both the election, and the calling may proceed of grace.

d He sheweth not why they were forbidden, but onely that they were forbidden, teaching vs to obey, and not to inquire.

5 They are the Ministers of the Gospel, by whom he helpeth such as were like to perish.

6 The Saints did not easily beleeue euery vision.

7 God beginneth his kingdome in Macedonia by the conuersion of a woman, & so sheweth that there is no acceptation of persons in the Gospell.

e Where they were wont to assemble themselues.

8 The Lord onelie openeth the heart to heare the word which is preached.

9 An example of a godly huswife.

10 Satan transformeth himselfe into an Angell of light, & coueteth to enter by vndermining, but Paul openly letteth him, and casteth him out.

f This is a proper note of Apollo, which was wont to giue answeres to them that aske him.

g Paul made no haste to this miracle, for he did all things as hee was lead by the Spirit.

11 Couetousnes of lucre & gaines is an occasion of persecuting the trueth. In the meane season, God sparing Timothie, calleth Paul and Silas as the stronger, to battaile.

12 Couetousnes pretendeth a vaine of common peace and godlinesse.

13 It is an argument of the deuill, to vrge the authoritie of ancestors without any distinction.

14 An example of euill Magistrates, to obey the fury and rage of the people.

h Because hee would be more sure of them, he set them fast in the stokes.

15 The prayers of the godly doe shake both heauen and earth.

16 The mercifull Lord, so oft as he listeth, draweth men to life euen through the midst of death and whereas iustly they deserued great punishment, he sheweth them great mercie.

17 In meanes which are especially extraordinarie, we ought not to moue our foot forward, vnlesse that God goe before vs.

18 God with our selfe same hand woundeth and healeth when it pleaseth him.

34 And when hee had brought them into his house, he set meat before them, and reioyced that hee with all his houshold beleeued in God.

19 Shame and confusion is in processe of time, the reward of wicked and vniust Magistrates.

35 [19] And when it was day, the gouernors sent the sergeants, saying, Let those men goe.

20 We must not render iniury for iniurie, and yet notwithstanding it is lawfull for vs to vse such helpes as God giueth vs, to bridle the outragiousnesse of the wicked, that they hurt not other in like sort.

36 Then the keeper of the prison told these words vnto Paul, saying, The gouernours haue sent to loose you: now therefore get you hence, and goe in peace.

21 The wicked are not mooued with the feare of God, but with the feare of men: and by that meanes also God prouideth for vs, when it is needfull.

37 [20] Then sayd Paul vnto them, After that they haue beaten vs openly vncondemned which are Romanes, they haue cast vs into prison, and now would they put vs out priuily? nay verily: but let them come and bring vs out.

22 We may eschewe dangers, so that wee neuer neglect our duty.

38 [21] And the sergeants told these words vnto the gouernours, who feared when they heard that they were Romanes.

39 Then came they and prayed them, and brought them out, and desired them to depart out of the citie.

40 [22] And they went out of the prison, and entred into the house of Lydia: and when they had seene the brethren, they comforted them, and departed.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Paul at Thessalonica 3 preaching Christ, 6. 7 is intertained of Iason: 10 He is sent to Berea: 15 from thence comming to Athens, 19 in Mars streete 23 he preacheth the liuing God to them vnknowen, 34 and so many are conuerted vnto Christ.

1 The calling out of Silas and Paul was the sauing of many other.

NOw [1] as they passed through Amphipolis, and Apollonia, they came to Thessalonica, where was a Synagogue of ỹ Iewes.

2 Christ is therefore the Mediatour, because he was crucified and rose againe: much lesse is hee to be reiected because the crosse is ignominious.

2 And Paul, as his maner was, went in vnto them, and three Sabbath dayes disputed with them by the Scriptures.

3 [2] Opening, and alleadging that Christ must haue suffered, and risen againe from the dead: and this is Iesus Christ, whom, said he, I preach to you.

3 Although the zeale of the vnfaithfull seeme neuer so vngodly, yet at length it is found to haue neither truth nor equitie: But yet the wicked cannot doe what they list, for euen among themselues God stirreth vp some whose helpe he vseth to the deliuerance of his.

4 And some of them beleeued, and ioyned in company with Paul and Silas: also of the Grecians that feared God a great multitude, and of the chiefe women not a few.

a Certaine companions which doe nothing but walke the streets, wicked men, to bee hired for euery mans monie to doe any mischiefe, such as wee commonly call the rascals and very finkes and dunghill knaues of all townes and cities.

5 [3] But the Iewes which beleeued not, mooued with enuie, tooke vnto them certaine [a] vagabonds and wicked fellowes, and when they had assembled the multitude, they made a tumult in the citie, and made assault against the house of Iason, and sought to bring them out to the people.

6 But when they found them not, they drewe Iason and certaine brethren vnto the heads of the city, crying, these are they which haue subuerted the state of the [b] world, and here they are,

b Into what countrey and place so euer they come, they cause sedition and tumult, 7 Whom Iason hath receiued, and these all doe against the decrees of Cesar, saying that there is another King one Iesus.

8 Then they troubled the people, and the heads of ỹ citie, when they heard these things.

c When Iason had put them in good assurance that they should appear.

9 Notwithstanding when they had receiued sufficient [c] assurance of Iason and of the other, they let them goe.

4 That is to bee the wilsome of the spirit, which alwayes setteth the glory of God before it selfe and marke whereunto it directeth it selfe and warneth from 10 [4] And the brethren immediatly sent away Paul and Silas by night vnto Berea, which when they were come thither, entered into the Synagogue of the Iewes.

5 The Lord setteth out in one moment, and in one people diuers examples of his wise and hable to commend them to feare him.

11 [5] These were also more [d] noble men then they which were at Thessalonica, which receiued the word with all readines, and searched the Scriptures daily, whether those things were so.

d He compareth the Iewes with the Iewes.

12 Therefore many of them beleeued, and of honest women, which were Grecians, and men not a few.

6 Satan hath his, who are zelous for him, and that vnder such a zeale of all things.

13 ¶ [6] But when the Iewes of Thessalonica knew, that the word of God was also preached of Paul at Berea, they came thither also, and moued the people.

7 There is no other counsell, no fury, nor madnesse against the Lord.

14 [7] But by and by the brethren sent away Paul to goe as it were to the sea: but Silas and Timotheus abode there still.

8 The shepe of Christ doe also watch for their pastors health and safetie, but yet in the Lord.

15 [8] And they that did conduct Paul, [e] brought him vnto Athens: and when they had receiued a commaundement vnto Silas and Timotheus, that they should come to him at once, they departed.

e It is not for naught that the Iewes of Berea were so commended, for they brought Paul from Macedonia to Athens, and there is no distance betwixt those two, all Thessalia, and Boeotia, and Attica.

16 ¶ [9] Now while Paul waited for them at Athens, his spirit was [f] stirred in him, when he saw the citie subiect to [g] idolatrie.

9 In comparing the blessednesse of God with mans wilsome, mens scoffe and mock at that which they vnderstand not: And God seeth that curious of fooles to gather together his elect.

17 Therefore hee disputed in the Synagogue with the Iewes, and with them that were religious, and in the market daily with [h] whomsoeuer he met.

f He could not forbeare.

18 [10] Then certaine Philosophers of the Epicures, and of the Stoikes, disputed with him, and some said, What wil this [i] babler say? Others said, Hee seemeth to be a setter forth of strange gods (because hee preached vnto them Iesus, and the resurrection.)

g Slaunderously ginneth to idolatrie Pausanius writeth that there were more idoles in Athens then in all Grecia, yea they had almost dedicated to Shame, and Fa

19 And they tooke him, and brought him into [k] Mars streete, saying, May wee not know, what this new doctrine, whereof thou speakest, is?

20 For thou bringest certain strange things vnto our eares: wee would know therefore, what these things meane.

and Lust, whom they make goddesses. h Whomsoeuer Paul met with would suffer him to talke with him, be reasoned with him, so throughly did burne with the zeale of Gods glory. 10 Two sectes especially of the Philosophers doe set themselues against Christ: the Epicures, which make a mocke scoffe at all religion: and the Stoikes, which determine vpon matters of religion according to their owne braines. i Word for word, seed gatherer, or a borrowed kind of speech taken of birds which spoile corne, and is applied to them which without all art blusther out such knowledge as they haue gotten by hearing of man & that man. k This was a place called as you would say, Mars hill, where the iudges sate, which were called Areopagita, vpon waighty affaires, which in olde time arraigned Socrates, and afterward condemned him of impietie.

21 [11] For all the Athenians, and strangers which dwelt there, gaue themselues to nothing els, but either to tell, or to heare some newes.

22 [12] Then Paul stood in the middes of Mars streete, and said, Yee men of Athens, I perceiue that in all things yee are too [l] superstitious.

23 For as I passed by, and behelde your [m] deuotions, I found an altar wherein was written, VNTO [n] THE VNKNOVVEN GOD. Whom yee then ignorantly worship, him shew I vnto you.

24 [13] God that made the worlde, and all things that are therein, seeing that he is Lord of heauen and earth, *dwelleth not in temples made with hands,

25 *Neither is worshipped with mens hands, as though hee needed any thing, seeing he giueth to all life and breath, and all things,

26 [14] And hath made of [o] one blood all mankind, to dwell on all the face of the earth, and hath assigned the seasons which were ordeined before, and the boundes of their habitation,

27 That they should seeke the Lord, if so bee they might haue [p] groped after him, and found him, though doubtlesse he be not farre from euery one of vs.

28 For in him wee liue, and moue, and haue our being, as also certaine of your owne poets haue said, For wee are also his generation.

29 *Forasmuch then, as we are the generation of God, we ought not to thinke that the Godhead is like vnto golde, or siluer, or stone [q] grauen by arte and the inuention of man.

39 [15] And the time of this ignorance God regarded not: but now hee admonisheth all men euery where to repent, 31 Because he hath appointed a day in the which hee will iudge the world in righteousnesse, by that man whom hee hath appointed, whereof hee hath giuen an [r] assurance to all men, in that he hath raised him from the dead.

32 [16] Now when they heard of the resurrection from the dead, some mocked, and other said, We will heare thee againe of this thing.

33 And so Paul departed from among them.

34 Howbeit certaine men claue vnto Paul, and beleeued: among whom was also Denys Areopagita, and a woman named Damaris, and other with them.

CHAP. XVIII.

1 As Paul at Corinth 6 taught the Gentiles, 9 the Lord comforteth him. 12 He is accused before Gallio, 16 but in vaine: 18 From thence he saileth to Syria, 19 and so to Ephesus. 23 At Galatia and Phrygia he strengtheneth the disciples. 24 Apollos being more perfectly instructed by Aquila, 28 preacheth Christ with great efficacie.

AFter [1] these things, Paul departed from Athens, and came to Corinthus.

2 And found a certaine Iewe named *Aquila, borne in Pontus, lately come from Italie, and his wife Priscilla, (because that [a] Claudius had commanded al Iewes to depart from Rome) and he came vnto them.

3 And because hee was of the same craft, hee abode with them, and wrought (for their craft was to make tents)

4 [2] And he disputed in the Synagogue euery Sabbath day, and [b] exhorted the Iewes and the Grecians:

5 Now when Silas and Timotheus were come from Macedonia, Paul, [c] forced in spirit, testified to the Iewes that Iesus was the Christ.

6 [3] And when they resisted and blasphemed, he *shooke his raiment, and sayde vnto them, Your [d] blood be vpon your owne head: I am cleane: from henceforth will I goe vnto the Gentiles.

7 So he departed thence, and entred into a certaine mans house, named Iustus, a worshipper of God, whose house ioyned hard to the Synagogue.

8 And *Crispus the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, beleeued in the Lord with all his houshold: and many of the Corinthians hearing it, beleeued and were baptized.

9 [4] Then sayde the Lord to Paul in the night by a vision, Feare not, but speake and holde not thy peace.

10 For I am with thee, and no man shall lay hands on thee to hurt thee: for I haue much people in this citie.

11 So he [e] continued there a yere and sixe moneths, and taught the worde of God among them.

12 ¶ [5] Now when Gallio was deputie of [f] Achaia, the Iewes arose with one accord against Paul, and brought him to the iudgement seate, 13 Saying, This fellow perswadeth men to worship God otherwise then the Law appointeth,

1 The wisedome of man is vanitie.

2 The false-prophets themselues minister most strong and forcible argumēts a-gainst their owne superstition.

l To stand in too peeuish and scrupule a feare of your gods.

m Whatsoeuer men worship in religions make, that we call deuotion.

n Pausanias in his Atticis maketh mention of the altar which the Athenians had dedicated to vnknowen gods: and Lacertius in his Epimenides. maketh mention of the altar that had no name inscribed.

3 It is a most foolish and vaine thing to compare the Creator with the creature, to limitte him within a place which can not comprehend in no place, and to thinke to allure him with gifts, of whom all men haue receiued all things whatsoeuer they haue: And these are the fountaines of idolatrie.

o Chap.7.48. Psal.50.8.

4 God is wonderfull in all his workes. but especially in the worke of man: for that wee should stand amased at his workes, but that wee should lift our eyes to the workeman.

Of one stocke and one beginning.

For as blinde men we could not seeke one God but only by groping wise, before the true light came and whitened the world.

p Act.40.19.

Which stuffe, gold, siluer, stones, are customably grauen as a mans wit can deuise, for men will not worship that grosse stuffe as it is, vnlesse by some arte it haue gotten some shape vpon it.

The oldnesse of the errour doth not excuse them that erre, but it commendeth rather the patience of God: who notwithstanding will bee a iust iudge vnto such as contemne him. r By declaring Christ to be the iudge of the world, through the resurrection from the dead. 16 Men to shew forth their vanity, are offended and moued by one selfe same Gospel, which notwithstanding profiteth not to be effectuall in the elect.

1 The true ministers are so farre from seeking their owne profite, that they do willingly depart from their right, rather then the course of the Gospel should be hindered in the least wise that might be.

a Rom.16.3.

a Suetonius recordeth, that Rome banished the Iewes, because they were alwayes at disquiet, & that by Christs meanes.

2 The trueth ought alwayes to be freely vttered, yet notwithstanding the doctrine may bee so moderated, as occasion of the profite that the people take thereby shall requite.

b Exhorted so that he perswaded, and so the word signifieth.

c Was very much grieued in minde: whereby is signified the great earnestnes of his minde, whichwas greatly mooued: for Paul was so zealous, that hee cleane forgate himselfe, and with a wonderfull courage gaue himselfe to preach Christ.

3 Although wee haue assayed all meanes possible, and yet in vaine, wee must not leaue off from our worke, but forsake the rebellious, & go to them that be more obedient.

* Chap.13.51. matth.10.14.

d This is a kinde of speach taken frō the Hebrewes, wherby he meaneth, that the Iewes are cause of their own destruction, and as for him, that he is without fault in forsaking them, and going to other nations. ‡ 1.Cor.1.14. 4 God doth auouch and maintaine the constancie of his seruants. e Word for word, sate, whereupon they in former time, tooke the name of their Bishops seate: but Paul sate, that is, continued teaching the word of God: and this kind of seat belongeth nothing to them, which neuer saw their seates with a minde to teach in them. 5 The wicked are euer weary of well doing, but the Lord mocketh their endeuours marueilously. f That is, of Grecia, yet the Romanes did not call him Deputie of Grecia, but of Achaia, because the Romanes brought the Grecians into subiection, by the Achaians, which in those dayes were Princes of Grecia, as Pausanias recordeth.

14 And as Paul was about to open his mouth, Gallio said vnto the Iewes, If it were a matter of wrong, or an euill deede, O yee Iewes, I would according to [g] reason maintaine you.

g As much as in right I could.

15 But if it bee a question of [h] words and [i] names, and of your Lawe, looke yee to it your selues: for I will bee no iudge of those things.

h As if a man have not spoken well, as the case of your religion standeth.

i For this prophane man thinketh that the controuersie of religion, is but a braule about words, and for no matter of substance.

16 And he draue them from the iudgement seate.

17 Then tooke all the Grecians Sosthenes the chiefe ruler of the Synagogue, and beat him before the iudgement seat: but Gallio cared nothing for those things.

18 [6] But when Paul had taried there yet a good while, hee tooke leaue of the brethren, and sailed into Syria (and with him Priscilla and Aquila) after that [k] he had shorne his head in [l] Cenchrea: for he had a * vow.

6 Paul is made all to al, to winne all to Christ.

k That is, Paul.

l Cenchrea was an haven of the Corinthians.

* Numb. 16. 18. chap. 21. 24.

19 Then hee came to Ephesus, and left them there: but he entred into the Synagogue and disputed with the Iewes.

20 [7] Who desired him to tarie a longer time with them: but he would not consent, 21 But bade them farewel, saying, I must needes keepe this feast that commeth, in Ierusalem: but I will returne againe vnto you, * [m] if God will. So he sailed from Ephesus.

7 The Apostles were caried about not by the will of man, but by the leading of the holy Ghost.

* 1. Cor. 4. 19. Iames 4. 15.

m So we should promise nothing without this clause, for wee know not what the day following will bring foorth.

22 ¶ And when hee came downe to Cesarea, he went vp to Ierusalem: and when hee had saluted the Church, hee went downe vnto Antiochia.

23 Now when he had taried there a while, he departed, and went thorow the countrey of Galatia and Phrygia by order, strengthening all the disciples.

24 [8] And a certaine Iewe named * Apollos, borne at Alexandria, came to Ephesus, an eloquent man, and [n] mighty in the Scriptures.

8 Apollos, a godly and learned man, refuseth not to profit in the schoole of a base and abiect handicraftsman, and also of a woman: and so becommeth an excellent minister of the Church.

* 1. Cor. 1. 12.

n Very well instructed in the knowledge of the Scriptures.

25 The same was instructed in the way of the Lord, and hee spake feruently in the Spirite, and taught diligently the things of the Lord, and knew but the baptisme of Iohn onely.

26 And hee began to speake boldly in the Synagogue. Whom when * Aquila and Priscilla had heard, they tooke him vnto them, and expounded vnto him the [o] way of God more perfectly.

* Rom. 16. 3.

o The way that leadeth to God.

27 And when hee was minded to goe into Achaia, the brethren exhorting him, wrote to the disciples to receiue him: and after he was come thither, hee holpe them much which had beleeued through [p] grace.

p Through Gods gracious fauour, or by those excellent gifts which God had bestowed vpon him.

28 For mightily hee confuted publikely the Iewes, with great vehemencie, shewing by the Scriptures, that Iesus was that Christ.

CHAP. XIX.

1 Certaine disciples at Ephesus, 3 having onely receiued Iohns baptisme, 2 and knew not the visible gifts of the holy Ghost wherewith God had beautified his sonnes kingdome, 5 are baptized in the Name of Iesus. 13 The Iewish exorcists, 16 are beaten of the deuill. 19 Coniuring bookes are burnt. 24 Demetrius 29 raiseth sedition against Paul.

AND [1] it came to passe, while Apollos was at Corinthus, that Paul when he passed thorow the vpper coasts, came to Ephesus, and found certaine disciples,

1 Paul being nothing offended at the weakenesse of the Ephesians, planteth a Church amongst them.

2 And sayd vnto them, Haue yee receiued the [a] holy Ghost since yee beleeued? And they sayd vnto him, We haue not so much as heard whether there be an holy Ghost.

a Those excellent gifts of the holy Ghost, which were in those dayes in the Church.

3 [2] And hee sayd vnto them, Vnto [b] what were ye then baptized? And they sayd, Vnto [c] Iohns baptisme.

2 Iohn did onely begin to instruct the disciples whom Christ should make perfite.

b In what doctrine then, are you taught and instructed?

c To be baptized into Iohns baptisme, is to professe the doctrine which Iohn preached and sealed with his baptisme.

4 Then sayd Paul, * Iohn verely baptized with the baptisme of repentance, saying, vnto the people, that they should beleeue in him which should come after him, that is, in Christ Iesus.

* Chap. 1. 5. & 2. 2. and 11. 16. mat. 3. 11. mar. 1. 8. luke 3. 16. ioh. 1. 26.

5 And when they heard it, they were baptized in the Name of the Lord Iesus.

6 So Paul layed his handes vpon them, and the holy Ghost came on them, and they spake the tongues and prophesied.

7 And all the men were about twelue.

8 ¶ Moreouer he went into the Synagogue, & spake boldly for the space of three moneths, disputing and exhorting to the things that appertaine to the kingdome of God.

3 For a man to separate himself and others from infidels which are vtterly desperate, it is not to diuide the Church, but rather to vnite it, and make it vnd By this word Way, the Hebrewes vnderstand any kind of life, and here is taken for Christianitie.

9 [3] But when certaine were hardened, and disobeyed, speaking euill of the [d] way of God before the multitude, hee departed from them, and separated the disciples, and disputed daily in the schoole of one [e] Tyrannus.

e This was a mans proper name.

10 And this was done by the space of two yeeres, so that all they which dwelt in Asia, heard the word of the Lord Iesus, both Iewes and Grecians.

11 And God wrought no small miracles by the hands of Paul,

12 So that from his body were brought vnto the sicke, kerchefs, or handkerchefs, and the diseases departed from them, and the euill spirits went out of them.

13 [4] Then certaine of the vagabond Iewes, [f] exorcists, tooke in hand to name ouer them which had euill spirits, the Name of the Lord Iesus, saying, Wee adiure you by Iesus, whom Paul preacheth.

4 Satan is constrained to giue witnesse against himselfe.

f So were they called which cast out deuils by coniuring them in the Name of God: and in the beginning of the Church, they which had the gift of working miracles, & laid their hands on them that were possessed with deuils, were also so called.

14 (And there were certaine sonnes of Sceua a Iew, the Priest, about seuen which did this.)

15 And the euill spirit answered, and said, Iesus I acknowledge, and Paul I know: but who are yee?

16 And the man in whome the euill spirit was, was, ranne on them, and ouercame them, and [g] preuailed against them, so that they fled out of that house, naked, and wounded.

17 And this was knowen to all the Iewes and Grecians also, which dwelt at Ephesus, and feare came on them all, and the Name of the Lord Iesus was magnified, 18 [5] And many that beleeued, came and [h] confessed, and shewed their workes.

19 Many also of them which vsed curious artes, brought their bookes, and burned them before all men: and they counted the price of them, and found it fiftie thousand pieces of siluer.

20 So the worde of God grew mightily, and preuailed.

21 [6] Now when these things were accomplished, Paul purposed by the [k] Spirit to passe through Macedonia and Achaia, and to goe to Hierusalem, saying, After I haue bene there, I must also see Rome.

22 So sent hee into Macedonia two of them that ministred vnto him, Timotheus and Erastus, but hee remained in Asia for a season.

23 [7] And the same time there arose no smal trouble about that way.

24 For a certaine man named Demetrius a siluersmith, which made siluer [l] temples of Diana, brought great gaines vnto the craftesmen,

25 Whom hee called together, with the workemen of like things, and said, Syrs, yee know that by this craft we haue our goods:

26 Moreouer yee see and heare, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia this Paul hath perswaded, & turned away much people, saying, That they bee not gods which are made with hands.

27 So that not onely this thing is dangerous vnto vs, that this our [m] portion shall bee reproued, but also that the temple of the great goddesse Diana should bee nothing esteemed, and that it would come to passe that her magnificence, which all Asia & the world worshippeth, should be destroyed.

28 Nowe when they heard it, they were full of wrath, and cried out, saying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

29 And the whole citie was full of confusion, and they rushed into the common place with one assent, and caught *Gaius, and *Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, & Pauls companions of his iourney.

30 And when Paul would haue entred in vnto the people, the disciples suffered him not.

31 [8] Certaine also of the chiefe of Asia which were his friends, sent vnto him, desiring him that he would not present himselfe in the Common place.

32 Some therefore cryed one thing, and some another: for the assembly was out of order, and the more part knewe not wherefore they were come together.

33 And some of the company drew foorth Alexander, the Iewes thrusting him forwards. Alexander then beckened with the hand, and would haue excused the matter to the people.

34 [9] But when they knew that hee was a Iewe, there arose a shoute almost for the space of two houres, of all men crying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

35 [10] Then the towne clarke when hee had staied the people, sayd, Ye men of Ephesus, what man is it that knoweth not how that the citie of the Ephesians is a worshipper of the great goddesse Diana, and of the image, which [n] came downe from Iupiter?

36 Seeing then that no man can speake against these things, ye ought to be appeased, and to doe nothing rashly.

37 For ye haue brought hither these men, which haue neither committed sacrilege, neither doe blaspheme your goddesse.

38 Wherefore, if Demetrius and the crafts men which are with him haue a [o] matter against any man, the [p] lawe is open, and there are [q] Deputies: let them accuse one another.

39 But if ye inquire any thing concerning other matters, it may be determined in a [r] lawfull assembly, 40 For we are euen in ieopardie to be accused of this daies sedition, for as much as ther is no cause, whereby we may giue a reason of this concourse of people.

41 And when hee had thus spoken, hee let the assembly depart.

CHAP. XX.

1 Paul appointeth to goe to Macedonia: 7 In Troas preaching vntill midnight, 9 Eutychus fell downe dead out of a window, 10 hee raiseth him to life: 15 At Miletum, 17 hauing called the Elders of Ephesus together, 23 hee declareth what things shall come vpon himselfe, 28 and others.

NOwe [1] after the tumult was appeased, Paul called the disciples vnto him, and embraced them, and departed to goe into Macedonia.

2 And when hee had gone through those partes, and had exhorted them with [a] many wordes, he came into Grecia.

3 [2] And hauing taried there three moneths, because the Iewes laide waite for him, as hee was about to saile into Syria, he purposed to returne through Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him into Asia, Sopater of Berea, & of them of Thessalonica, Aristarchus, g He preuailed against them, though they stroue neuer so much.

5 Coniuring and sorcerie is condemned by open testimonie, and by the authoritie of the Apostle.

h Confessed their errours, and detested them openly, being terrified with the feare of the iudgement of God: and what is this to eare-christ?

i They that make the least value of it, recken to be about eight hundred pounds English.

6 Paul is neuer idle.

k By the motion of Gods Spirit: therefore we may not say that Paul ranne hand ouer head to death, but as the Spirit of God led him.

7 Gaine cloked with a shewe of religion, is the very cause wherefore idolatrie is stoutly and stubburnly defended.

l These were certaine counterfeit temples with Dianas picture in them, which they thought that worshipped her.

m As if hee said, If Paul goe on thus as he hath begun, to conuerte the opinion which men haue of Dianas image, all this our gaine will come to nought.

Rom. 16. 23. 1. cor. 1. 14. Colos. 4. 10.

There ought to be in all Christians, and especially in the Ministers, an inuincible constancie, which may not be ouercome by any stormes or assaults be they neuer so great, which notwithstanding it may suffer it selfe mightily to be ouercome by the worde.

8 Certaine of the chiefe of Asia were Paules friends.

9 Instead of reason, the idolaters are sufficiently contented with their owne madnesse and outcries, and those are the greatest defences that they haue.

10 An example of a politike man who reuereth peace and quietnesse with lies which Paul would neuer haue done.

n The Ephesians beleeued superstitiously, that the image of Diana came downe from heauen to them.

o Haue ought to accuse any man of.

p For there are certain daies appointed for ciuill causes & matters of iudgement, & the Deputies sit.

q By the Deputies are ment also the Deputies Substitutes, that is, such as did sit for them.

r He speaketh of a lawfull assembly not onely to except against the disordered hurly burly of the people, but also against all meeting & comming together which was not by order: for there were certaine dayes appointed to call people together in.

1 Paul departeth from Ephesus by the consent of the Church, not to be idle at rest, but to take paines in another place.

a For after so great trouble, there was neede of a long exhortation.

2 A froward zeale is the guider and instructer to murders: and we are not debarred by the wilfulnesse of God to preuent the endeuours of wicked men.

Aristarchus, and Secundus, and Gaius of Derbe, and Timotheus, and of them of Asia, Tychicus, and Trophimus.

5 These went before, and taried vs at Troas.

6 And we sayled forth from Philippi, after the dayes of vnleauened bread, and came vnto them to Troas in fiue dayes, where we abode seuen dayes.

7 [3] And the [b] first day of the weeke, the disciples being come together to breake bread, Paul preached vnto them, ready to depart on the morrow, and continued the preaching vnto midnight.

8 [4] And there were many lights in an vpper chamber, where they were gathered together.

9 And there sate in a window a certaine yong man named Eutychus, fallen into a dead sleepe: and as Paul was long preaching, hee ouercome with sleepe, fell downe from the third lofe, and was taken vp dead.

10 But Paul went downe, and laid himselfe vpon him, and embraced him, saying, Trouble not your selues: for his life is in him.

11 Then when Paul was come vp againe, and had broken bread, and eaten, hauing spoken a long while till the dawning of the day, he so departed.

12 And they brought the boy aliue, and they were not a little comforted.

13 ¶ Then we went before to shippe, and sayled vnto the citie Assos, that we might receiue Paul there: for so had he appointed, and would himselfe goe a foote.

14 Now when hee was come vnto vs to Assos, and wee had receiued him, wee came to Mitylenes.

15 And wee sayled thence, [e] came the next day ouer against Chios, and the next day wee arriued at Samos, and taried at Trogyllium: the next day we came to Miletum.

16 [5] For Paul had determined to saile by Ephesus, because he would not spend the time in Asia: for he hasted to be, if he could possible, at Hierusalem, at the day of Pentecost.

17 ¶ Wherefore from [c] Miletum, he sent to Ephesus, and called the Elders of the Church.

18 [6] Who when they were come to him, he said vnto them, Ye know from the first day that I came into Asia, after what manner I haue bene with you at all seasons, 19 Seruing the Lorde with all modestie, and with many teares, and tentations, which came vnto mee by the layings awaite of the Iewes.

20 And howe I kept [d] backe nothing that was profitable, but haue shewed you, [e] taught you openly and throughout euery house, 21 Witnessing both to the Iewes, and to the Grecians the repentance towarde God, and faith toward our Lorde Iesus Christ.

22 [7] And nowe beholde, I goe [e] bound in the Spirit vnto Hierusalem, and knowe not what things shall come vnto me there, 23 Saue that the holy Ghost witnesseth in euery citie, saying, that bondes and afflictions abide me.

24 But I passe not at all, neither is my life deare vnto my selfe, so that I may fulfill my course with ioy, [e] the ministration which I haue receiued of the Lorde Iesus, to testifie the Gospel of the grace of God.

25 And now beholde, I know that henceforth ye all, through whom I haue gone preaching the kingdome of God, shall see my face no more.

26 Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am [f] pure from the blood of all men.

27 [8] For I haue kept nothing backe, but haue shewed you all the counsell of God.

28 Take heed therefore vnto your selues, and all the flocke, whereof the holy Ghost hath made you Ouerseers, to [g] feede the Church of God, which [h] he hath purchased with [i] that his owne blood.

29 [9] For I know this, that after my departing shall grieuous wolues enter in among you, not sparing the flocke.

30 Moreouer of your owne selues shall men arise speaking peruerse things, to [k] draw disciples after them.

31 Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three yeeres I ceased not to warne euery one, both night and day with teares.

32 [10] And nowe brethren, I commend you to God, and to the worde of his grace, which is able to builde further, and to giue you an [l] inheritance among all them, which are sanctified.

33 [11] I haue coueted no mans siluer, nor gold, nor apparell.

34 Yea, ye know, that these handes haue ministred vnto my * necessities, and to them that were with me.

35 I haue shewed you all things, how that so labouring, ye ought [m] to support the weak, and to remember the wordes of the Lorde Iesus, how that he sayd, It is a blessed thing to giue, rather then to receiue.

36 And when he had thus spoken, he kneeled downe, and prayed with them all.

37 [12] Then they wept all abundantly, and

3 Assemblies in the night time cannot be fully condemned, neither ought, when the cause is good.
b Worde for worde: the first day of the Sabbath, that is, vpon the Lords day: so that by this place, and by 1. Cor. 16. 2. it is not amisse gathered, that in those dayes the Christians were wont to assemble themselues so lemnly together vpon that day.
4 The deuill minding to trouble the Church with a great offence, giueth Paul a singular occasion to confirme the Gospel.

5 Paul an earnest and diligent follower of Christ, making haste to his bonds without any ceasing or stopping in his race, doeth first of all as it were make his testament, wherein he giueth an accompt of his former life, defendeth the doctrine which he taught, and exhorteth the Pastours of the Church to persetere and goe forward with continuance in their office.
e According as the situation of these places is set forth, that distance betweene Ephesus and Miletum, was about 400. furlongs, which maketh almost fifty dutch miles.

CHAP. XXI.

1 Paul goeth toward Hierusalem: 8 at Cesarea he talketh with Philip the Euangelist. 10 Agabus foretelleth him of his bonds. 17 After he came to Hierusalem, 26 and into the Temple, 27 the Iewes layd hands on him: 32 Lysias the captaine taketh him from them.

AND [1] as we launched forth, and were departed frō them, we came with a straight course vnto Coos, and the day following vnto the Rhodes, and from thence vnto Patara.

2 And we found a shippe that went ouer vnto Phenice, and went aboard, and set forth.

3 And when we had discouered Cyprus, wee left it on the left hand, and sayled toward Syria, and arriued at Tyrus: for there the ship vnladed the burden.

4 And when we had found disciples, wee taried there seuen dayes. And they tolde Paul through the [a] Spirit, that he should not goe vp to Hierusalem.

5 But when the dayes were ended, wee departed and went our way, and they all accompanied vs with their wiues and children, euen out of the citie: and wee kneeling downe on the shore prayed.

6 Then when we had embraced one another, we tooke ship, and they returned home.

7 And when we had ended the course from Tyrus, we arriued at Ptolemais, and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one day.

8 And the next day, Paul and wee that were with him, departed, & came vnto Cesarea: and wee entred into the house of *Philip the Euangelist, which was one of the [b] seuen Deacons, and abode with him.

9 Now he had foure daughters virgins, which did [c] prophecie.

10 And as wee taried there many dayes, there came a certaine Prophet from Iudea, named Agabus.

11 And when hee was come vnto vs, hee tooke Pauls girdle, and bound his own hands and feete, and said, Thus saith the holy Ghost, So shall the Iewes at Hierusalem bind the man that oweth this girdle, and shall deliuer him into the hands of the Gentiles.

12 And when we had heard these things, both we and other of the same place besought him that he would not goe vp to Hierusalem.

13 Then Paul answered, and said, What doe yee weeping and breaking mine heart? For I am ready not to bee bound onely, but also to die at Hierusalem for the Name of the Lord Iesus.

14 [2] So when hee would not be perswaded, we ceased, saying, The will of the Lorde be done.

15 And after those dayes wee trussed vp our fardels, and went vp to Hierusalem.

16 There went with vs also certaine of the disciples of Cesarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an olde disciple, with whom we should lodge.

17 And when wee were come to Hierusalem, the brethren receiued vs gladly.

18 And the next day Paul went in with vs vnto Iames: and all the Elders were there assembled.

19 [3] And when he had embraced them, hee told by order al things, that God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministration.

20 [4] So when they heard it, they glorified God, and saide vnto him, Thou seest, brother, how many thousand Iewes there are which beleeue, and they are all zealous of the Law:

21 Now they are informed of thee, that thou teachest all the Iewes, which are among the Gentiles, to forsake Moses, & sayest that they ought not to circumcise their sonnes, neither to liue after the customes.

22 What is then to be done? the multitude must needes come together: for they shal heare that thou art come,

23 Doe therefore this that we say to thee. Wee haue foure men, which haue made a vow, 24 Them take, and [d] purifie thy selfe with them, and [e] contribute with them, that they may *shaue their heads: and all shall know, that those things, whereof they haue bene informed concerning thee, are nothing, but that thou thy selfe also walkest and keepest the Law.

25 For as touching the Gentiles, which beleeue, we haue written, and determined that they obserue no such thing, but that they keepe themselues from things offered to idoles, and from blood, and from that that is strangled, and from fornication.

26 Then Paul tooke the men, and the next day was purified with them, and entred into the Temple, [f] declaring the accomplishment of the dayes of the purification, vntill that an offring should be offred for euery one of them.

27 [5] And when the seuen dayes were almost ended, the Iewes which were of Asia (when they saw him in the Temple) mooued all the people, and laid hands on him, 28 Crying, Men of Israel, helpe: this is the man that teacheth all men euery where against the people, and the Law, and this place: moreouer, he hath brought Grecians into the Temple, and hath polluted this holy place.

29 For they had seene before Trophimus an Ephesian with him in the citie, whome they a They foretold through the Spirit what dangers hanged ouer Pauls head, and this they did as Prophets: but of a fleshly affection they frayed him from going to Hierusalem.

4 In things indifferent (of which sort were not the traditions of the Phatises, but the ceremonies of the Law, vntil such time as christian libertie was more fully reuealed to the Iewes) charitie willeth vs to conforme or applie our selues willingly so farre as we may, to our brethren which doe not stubbornely and maliciously resist the truth, but are not throughly instructed, especially if the question be of a whole multitude.

d That is, consecrate thy selfe: for he speaketh not here of the vncleane, but of such as be subiect to the vow of the Nazarites.

e That it may be knowen, that thou wast not onely present at the vow, but also a chiefe man in it: and therefore it is sayd afterwardes, that Paul declared the dayes of purification: for although the charges for the Nazarites offrings were appointed, yet they might adde somewhat vnto them Num. 6.21.

they ſuppoſed that Paul had brought into the Temple.

30 Then all the citie was moued, and the people ranne together: and they tooke Paul and drew him out of the Temple, and foorthwith the doores were ſhut.

31 [6] But as they went about to kill him, tidings came vnto the chiefe captaine of the band, that all Hieruſalem was on an vproare.

32 Who immediatly tooke ſouldiers and Centurions, and ranne downe vnto them: and when they ſawe the chiefe Captaine and the ſouldiers, they left beating of Paul.

33 Then the chiefe Captaine came neere and tooke him, and commaunded him to bee bound with two chaines, and demaunded who he was, and what he had done.

34 And one cried this, another that, among the people. So when hee could not know the certaintie for the tumult, he commaunded him to be led into the caſtle.

35 And when he came vnto the grieces, it was ſo that hee was borne of the ſouldiers, for the violence of the people.

36 For the multitude of the people followed after, crying, Away with him.

37 And as Paul ſhould haue bene led into the caſtle, he ſaid vnto the chiefe captaine, May I ſpeake vnto thee? Who ſaide, Canſt thou ſpeake Greeke?

38 Art not thou the [g] Egyptian who before theſe dayes raiſed a ſedition, and led out into the wildernesſe foure thouſand men that were murtherers?

39 Then Paul ſayd, Doubtleſſe, I am a man which am a Iewe, and citizen of Tarſus, a famous citie in Cilicia, and I beſeech thee, ſuffer me to ſpeake vnto the people.

40 And when hee had giuen him licence, Paul ſtoode on the grieces, and beckened with the hand vnto the people: and when there was made great ſilence, hee ſpake vnto them in the Hebrew tongue, ſaying,

CHAP. XXII.

1 Paul yeeldeth a reaſon of his faith, 22 and the Iewes heare him a while. 23 But ſo ſoone as they cryed out, 24 he is commaunded to be ſcourged and examined, 27 and ſo declareth that he is a citizen of Rome.

[a] Paul making a ſhort declaration of his former life, proueth both his vocation, and doctrine to be of God.

YE men, brethren and fathers, heare my defence now towards you.

2 (And when they heard that he ſpake in the Hebrewe tongue to them, they kept the more ſilence, and he ſaid)

3 [1] I am verely a man, which am a Iew, borne in Tarſus in Cilicia, but brought vp in this citie at the [a] feete of Gamaliel, and inſtructed according to the perfect maner of the Law of the Fathers, and was zealous toward God, as ye all are this day.

[a] That is, his daily hearer: the reaſon of this ſpeach is this, for that they which teach, ſit commonly in the higher place, ſpeaking to their ſcholars which ſit vpon formes beneath: and therefore he ſaith, at the feete of Gamaliel.

4 And I perſecuted this way vnto the death, binding and deliuering into priſon both men and women.

5 As also the chiefe Prieſt doeth beare mee witneſſe, and all the company of the Elders of whom also I receiued letters vnto the brethren, & went to Damaſcus to bring them which were there, bound vnto Hieruſalem, that they might be puniſhed.

6 ¶ And ſo it was, as I iourneyed and was come neere vnto Damaſcus about noone, that ſuddenly there ſhone from heauen a great light round about me.

7 So I fell vnto the earth, and heard a voyce, ſaying vnto me, Saul, Saul, why perſecuteſt thou me?

8 Then I anſwered, Who art thou, Lord? And he ſaid to me, I am Ieſus of Nazareth, whom thou perſecuteſt.

9 Moreouer they that were with me, ſaw in deede a light & were afraid: but they heard not the voyce of him that ſpake vnto me.

10 Then I ſaid, What ſhall I doe, Lord? And the Lord ſayd vnto me, Ariſe, and goe into Damaſcus: and there it ſhall be tolde thee of all things, which are appointed for thee to doe.

11 So when I could not ſee for the glory of that light, I was led by the hand of them that were with me, and came into Damaſcus.

12 And one Ananias a godly man, as perteining to the Law, hauing good report of all the Iewes which dwelt there, 13 Came vnto me, and ſtood, and ſaid vnto mee, Brother Saul, receiue thy ſight: and that ſame houre I looked vpon him.

14 And he ſayd, The God of our Fathers hath appointed thee, that thou ſhouldeſt know his will, and ſhouldeſt ſee that Iuſt one, and ſhouldeſt heare the voyce of his mouth.

15 For thou ſhalt be his witneſſe vnto all men, of the things which thou haſt ſeene and heard.

16 Now therefore why tarieſt thou? Ariſe, and be baptized, & waſh away thy ſinnes, in calling on the Name of the Lord.

17 ¶ And it came to paſſe, that when I was come againe to Hieruſalem, and prayed in the Temple, I was in a traunce, 18 And ſaw him ſaying vnto mee, Make haſte, and get thee quickly out of Hieruſalem: for they will not receiue thy witneſſe concerning me.

19 Then I ſayd, Lord, they know that I priſoned, and beat in euery Synagogue them that beleeued in thee.

20 And when the blood of thy martyr Steuen was ſhed, I alſo ſtood by, and conſented vnto his death, and kept the clothe of them that [b] ſlewe him.

[b] This is properly ſpoken: for Steuen was murdered of a ſort of cut-throtes, not by order of iuſtice, but by open force: for at that time the Iewes could not put any man to death by Law.

[g] Touching this Egyptian which aſſembled thirtie thouſand men, reade Ioſeph, booke 2. cha. 12.

21 Then he said vnto mee, Depart: for I will send thee farre hence vnto the Gentiles.

22 ¶ [2] And they heard him vnto this worde, but then they lift vp their voyces, and said, Away with such a fellow from the earth: for it is not meet that he should liue.

23 And as they [c] cried and cast off their clothes, and threw dust into the aire, 24 [3] The chiefe Captaine commaunded him to be led into the castle, and bad that hee should be scourged & examined, that hee might know wherefore they cried so on him.

25 [4] And as they bound him with thongs, Paul sayd vnto the Centurion that stood by, Is it lawfull for you to scourge one that is a Romane, and not condemned?

26 Nowe when the Centurion heard it, hee went and told the chiefe captaine, saying, Take heede what thou doest: for this man is a Romane.

27 Then the chiefe Captaine came, and said to him, Tell me, art thou a Romane? And he said, Yea.

28 And ỹ chiefe captaine answered, With a great summe obteined I this freedom. Then Paul said, But I was so borne.

29 Then straightway they departed from him, which should haue examined him: and the chiefe Captaine also was afraid, after he knew that he was [d] a Romane, and that he had bound him.

30 On the next day, because he would haue knowen the certaintie wherefore he was accused of the Iewes, he loosed him from his bonds, and commaunded the hie Priests and all their Councill to come together: and hee brought Paul, and set him before them.

CHAP. XXIII.

AND [1] Paul beheld earnestly the Councell, and said, Men and brethrẽ, I haue in all good conscience serued God vntill this day.

2 [2] Then the hie Priest Ananias commaunded them that stoode by, to smite him on the mouth.

3 [3] Then saide Paul to him, God [a] will smite thee, thou [b] whited wall: for thou sittest to iudge mee according to the Law, & [c] transgressing the Lawe, commaundest thou mee to be smitten?

4 And they that stoode by, sayd, Reuilest thou Gods hie Priest?

5 [4] Then sayde Paul, I knewe not, brethren, that he was the hie Priest: for it is written, * Thou shalt not speake euill of the ruler of thy people.

6 [5] But when Paul perceiued that the one part were of the Sadduces, and the other of the Pharises, hee [c] cryed in the Councill, Men and brethren, * I am a Pharise, the sonne of a Pharise: I am accused of the hope and resurrection of the dead.

7 [6] And when he had said this, there was a dissension betweene the Pharises & the Sadduces, so that the multitude was diuided.

8 [7] * For the Sadduces say that there is no resurrection, neither [d] Angel, nor spirit: but the Pharises confesse both.

9 [8] Then there was a great cry: and the [e] Scribes of the Pharises part rose vp, and stroue, saying, Wee finde none euill in this man: but if a spirit or an Angel hath spoken to him, let vs not fight against God.

10 [9] And when there was a great dissension, the chiefe Captaine, fearing lest Paul should haue bene pulled in pieces of them, commaunded the souldiers to goe downe, and take him from among them, and to bring him into the castel.

11 Now the night following, the Lorde stoode by him, and sayde, Be of good courage Paul: for as thou hast testified of mee in Hierusalẽ, so must thou beare witnesse also at Rome.

12 [10] And when the day was come, certaine of the Iewes made an assembly, and bound themselues [f] with a curse, saying, that they would neither eate nor drinke, till they had killed Paul.

13 And they were more then fourty, which had made this conspiracie.

14 And they came to the chiefe Priestes and Elders, and sayde, Wee haue bound our selues with a solemne curse, that wee will eate nothing vntill we haue slaine Paul.

15 Now therefore, yee and the [g] Councill signifie to the chiefe Captaine, that hee bring him forth vnto you to morow: as though you would knowe some thing more perfectly of him, and wee, or euer hee come neere, will bee ready to kill him.

16 But when Pauls sisters sonne heard of their laying awaite, he went, and entred into the castel, and tolde Paul.

17 [11] And Paul called one of the Centurions vnto him, and said, Take this yong man hence vnto the chiefe captaine: for hee hath a certaine thing to shew him.

18 So hee tooke him, and brought him to the chiefe captaine, and sayde, Paul the prisoner called mee vnto him, and prayed mee to bring

20 And he said, The Iewes haue conspired to desire thee, that thou wouldest bring foorth Paul to morrow into the Councel, as though they would inquire somewhat of him more perfectly:

21 But let them not perswade thee: for there lie in wait for him of them, more then forty men, which haue bound themselues with a curse, that they will neither eate nor drinke, till they haue killed him: and now are they ready, and waite for thy promise.

24 And let them make ready an horse, that Paul being set on, may bee brought safe vnto Felix the Gouernour.

25 And hee wrote an Epistle in this maner:

13 Lysias is suddenly made by the Lord, Pauls patron.

26 [13] Claudius Lysias vnto the most noble Gouernour Felix sendeth greeting.

27 As this man was taken of the Iewes, and should haue beene killed of them, I came vpon them with the garison, and rescued him, perceiuing that he was a Romane.

28 And when I would haue knowen the cause, wherefore they accused him, I brought him foorth into their Councell.

29 There I perceiued that hee was accused of questions of their Law, but had no crime worthy of death, or of bonds.

30 And when it was shewed me, how that the Iewes layd wait for the man, I sent him straightway to thee, and commanded his accusers to speake before thee the things that they had against him. Farewell.

31 Then the souldiers, as it was commanded them, tooke Paul, & brought him by night to Antipatris.

32 And the next day, they left the horsemen to goe with him, and returned vnto the Castell.

33 Now when they came to Cesarea, they deliuered the epistle to the Gouernour, and presented Paul also vnto him.

34 So when the Gouernour had read it, he asked of what prouince hee was: and when he vnderstood that he was of Cilicia, 35 I will heare thee, said hee, when thine accusers also are come, and commanded him to be kept in Herods iudgement hall.

CHAP. XXIIII.

2 Tertullus accuseth Paul: 10 He answereth for himselfe. 21 He preacheth Christ to the gouernor and his wife. 27 Felix hopeth, but in vaine, to receiue a bribe 28 who going from his office, leaueth Paul in Prison.

NOw [1] after fiue dayes, Ananias the hie Priest came downe with the Elders, and with Tertullus a certaine orator, which appeared before the Gouernour against Paul.

2 And when he was called foorth, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, Seeing that we haue obtained great quietnesse [a] through thee, and that many [b] worthy things are done vnto this nation through thy prouidence,

3 We acknowledge it wholy, and in all places most noble Felix, with all thanks.

4 But that I be not tedious vnto thee, I pray thee, that thou wouldest heare vs of thy courtesie a few words.

5 Certainely wee haue found this man a [c] pestilent fellow, and a mouer of sedition among all the Iewes throughout the world, and a [d] chiefe maintainer of the sect of the [e] Nazarites:

6 And hath gone about to pollute the temple: therefore wee tooke him, and would haue iudged him according to our Law:

7 But the chiefe captaine Lysias came vpon vs, and with great violence tooke him out of our hands.

8 Commaunding his accusers to come to thee: of whom thou maiest (if thou wilt inquire) knowe all these things whereof we accuse him.

9 And the Iewes likewise [f] affirmed, saying that it was so.

10 [2] Then Paul, after that the Gouernour had beckened vnto him that he should speake, answered, I doe the more gladly answere for my selfe, for as much as I knowe that thou hast beene of [g] many yeeres a Iudge vnto this nation, 11 Seeing that thou maiest know, that there are but twelue dayes since I came vp to worship in Hierusalem.

12 And they neither found me in the Temple disputing with any man, neither making vproare among the people, neither in the Synagogues, nor in the citie.

13 Neither can they [h] proue the things, whereof they now accuse me.

f Confirmed Tertullus his lying.

2 Tertullus by the deuils direction beginning with flatterie, maketh an end with lies: but Paul vsing heauenly eloquence, and but a simple beginning, casteth off from himselfe the crime of sedition, wherewith he was burdened, with a single denial.

g Paul pleaded Chap. 27 but he had gouerned Trachonite, and Batanea, and Galaunite, before that Claudius made him gouernour of Iudea: Iosephus in the history of the Iewes warre, lib. 2. cap. 11. h They cannot lay foorth before thee, and proue by good reason.

3 Paul goeth in the case of religion from a state controuersall to a state of quietie, not only not denying that religion which was obiected against him, but proouing it to be true, to be heauenly & from God, and to be the eldest of religions.

5 The Iudge suspendeth his sentence, because the matter is doubtfull.
n Felix could not iudge whether he had done wickedly in the matters of his religion or no, vntill he had better vnderstanding of that way which Paul professed: and as for other matters touching the sedition, he thinketh good to deferre it till hee heare Lysias, and therfore he gaue Paul somewhat more libertie.
6 God is a most faithfull keeper of his seruants, and the force of the trueth is wonderfull, euen amongst men which are otherwise prophane.
o This Drusilla was Agrippa his sister, of whom Luke speaketh afterward, a very harlot and licentious woman, & being the wife of Azizus king of the Emesens, who was circumcised, departed from him, and went to this Felix the brother of one Pallas, who was sometime Nero his bondman.
7 In a naughtie mind, that is guiltie to it selfe, although sometime there be some shewe of equitie, yet by and by it will be extinguished: but in the meane season we haue neede of patience, and that continually.
p For whereas he had behaued himselfe verie wickedly in the prouince, had it not beene for fauour of his brother Pallas, he should haue died for it: so that we may gather hereby, why he would haue pleasured the Iewes.

ter the way (which they call i heresie) so worship I the God of my Fathers, beleeuing all things which are written in the Lawe and the Prophets, 15 4 And haue hope towards God, that the resurrection of the dead, which they themselues looke for also, shall be both of iust and vniust.

16 And heerein I endeuour my selfe to haue alway a cleare conscience toward God, and toward men.

17 * Now after many yeeres, I came and brought almes to my nation and offerings.

18 At k what time, certaine Iewes of l Asia found me purified in the Temple, neither with multitude, nor yet with tumult.

19 Who ought to haue bin present before thee, & accuse me, if they had ought against me.

20 Or let these themselues say, if they haue found any vniust thing in me, while I stood in the m Councill, 21 Except it be for this one voice, that I cried standing among them, Of the resurrection of the dead am I accused of you this day.

22 5 Now when Felix heard these things, he deferred them, & said, When I shall more n perfectly knowe the things which concerne this way, by the comming of Lysias the chiefe Captaine, I will decide your matter.

23 6 Then he commanded a Centurion to keepe Paul, and that he should haue ease, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister vnto him, or to come vnto him.

24 ¶ And after certaine dayes, came Felix with his wife o Drusilla, which was a Iewesse, and he called for Paul, and heard him of the faith in Christ.

25 And as he disputed of righteousnes and temperance, and of the iudgement to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Goe thy way for this time, and when I haue conuenient time, I will call for thee.

26 He hoped also that money should haue beene giuen him of Paul, that he might loose him: wherefore he sent for him the oftner, and communed with him.

27 7 When two yeeres were expired, Porcius Festus came into Felix roume: and Felix willing to p get fauour of the Iewes, left Paul bound.

CHAP. XXV.

1 Festus succeeding Felix. 6 commandeth Paul to bee brought forth. 11 Paul appealeth vnto Cesar. 14 Festus openeth Pauls matter to king Agrippa. 23 and bringeth him before him. 27 that he may vnderstand his cause.

WHen 1 Festus was then come into the Prouince, after three dayes he went vp from Cesarea vnto Hierusalem.

1 Satans ministers are subtill and diligent in seeking all occasions: but God who watcheth for his, hindreth all their counsels easily.

2 Then the high Priest, and the chiefe of the Iewes appeared before him against Paul: and they besought him,

3 And desired fauour against him, that hee would send for him to Hierusalem: and they laide waite to kill him by the way.

4 But Festus answered, that Paul should be kept at Cesarea, and that he himselfe would shortly depart thither.

5 Let them therefore, said he, which among you are able, come downe with vs: and if there be any wickednes in ỹ man, let them accuse him.

6 ¶ 2 Nowe when hee had taried among them no more then ten dayes, he went downe to Cesarea, and the next day sate in the iudgement seate, & commanded Paul to be brought.

2 We may repell an iniurie iustly, but not with iniurie.

7 And when hee was come, the Iewes which were come from Hierusalem, stoode about him and layed many and grieuous complaints against Paul, whereof a they could make no plaine proofe.

a They could not proouе them certainely and with vndoubted reasons.

8 Forasmuch as he answered, that he had neither offended any thing against the Law of the Iewes, neither against the Temple, nor against Cesar.

9 3 Yet Festus willing to get fauour of the Iewes, answered Paul and sayd, Wilt thou goe vp to Hierusalem, and there bee iudged of these things before me?

3 God doth not onely turne away the counsell of the wicked, but also turneth it vpon their owne heads.

10 Then said Paul, I stand at Cesars iudgment seate, where I ought to be iudged: to the Iewes I haue done no wrong, as thou very well knowest.

11 For if I haue done wrong, or committed any thing worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things whereof they accuse me, no man, to pleasure them, can deliuer me to them: I appeale vnto Cesar.

12 Then when Festus had spoken with the Councill, he answered, Hast thou appealed vnto Cesar? vnto Cesar shalt thou goe.

13 ¶ 4 And after certaine daies, King b Agrippa and Bernice came downe to Cesarea to salute Festus.

4 Festus, thinking no such thing, euen before kings, bringing to light the wickednesse of the Iewes, and Pauls innocencie, doth marueilously confirme the Church of God.

14 And when they had remayned there many daies, Festus declared Pauls cause vnto the King, saying, There is a certaine man left in prison by Felix.

15 Of whom when I came to Hierusalem, the high Priests and Elders of the Iewes informed me, and desired to haue iudgement against him.

16 To whom I answered, that it is not the maner of the Romanes for fauour to c deliuer any man to the death, before that he which is accused, haue the accusers before him, & haue place to defend himself, concerning the crime.

b This Agrippa was Agrippa his Sonne, whose death Luke spake of before, and Bernice was his sister.
c The Romanes vse not to deliuer any man to be punished before, &c.

17 There-

17 Therfore when they were come hither, without delay the day following I sate on the iudgement seat, and commaunded the man to be brought foorth.

18 Against whom when the accusers stood vp, they brought no crime of such things as I supposed:

19 [5] But had certaine questions against him of their owne [d] superstition, and of one Iesus which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be aliue.

20 And because I doubted of such maner of question, I asked him whether he would go to Hierusalē, & there be iudged of these things.

21 But because he appealed to be reserued to the examination of Augustus, I cōmanded him to be kept, till I might send him to Cesar.

22 [6] Then Agrippa sayde vnto Festus, I would also heare the man my selfe. To morow, said he, thou shalt heare him.

23 And on the morow when Agrippa was come & Bernice with great [e] pompe, and were entred into the Common hall with the chiefe captains and chiefe men of the citie, at Festus commandement Paul was brought foorth.

24 And Festus sayd, King Agrippa, & all men which are present with vs, ye see this mā, about whom all the multitude of the Iewes haue called vpō me, both at Hierusalem, & here, crying, that he ought not to liue any longer.

25 Yet I haue found nothing worthie of death, that he hath committed: neuertheless, seeing that hee hath appealed to Augustus, I haue determined to send him.

26 Of whom I haue no certaine thing to write vnto my [f] Lord: wherefore I haue brought him forth vnto you, and especially vnto thee, King Agrippa, that after examination had, I might haue some what to write:

27 For me thinketh it vnreasonable to send a prisoner, and not to shew the causes which are laid against him.

CHAP. XXVI.

2 Paul in the presence of Agrippa, 4 declareth his life from his childhood, 16 and his calling, 22 with such efficacie of words, 28 that almost he perswaded him to Christianitie: 30 But hee and his company depart doing nothing in Pauls matter.

THen Agrippa sayd vnto Paul, Thou art permitted to speak for thy self. So Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himselfe.

2 [1] I thinke my self happy, king Agrippa, because I shal answer this day before thee of al the things whereof I am accused of the Iewes

3 Chiefly, because thou hast knowledge of all customes, & questions which are among the Iewes: wherefore I beseech thee to heare me patiently.

4 [2] As touching my life from my childehood, and what it was from the beginning among mine owne nation at Hierusalem, know all the Iewes,

5 Which [a] knew me heretofore, euen from my [b] Elders (if they should testifie) that after the [c] most straite sect of our religion, I liued a Pharise.

6 [3] And now I stand and am accused for the hope of the promise made of God vnto our Fathers.

7 Whereunto our twelue tribes instantly seruing God day and night, hope to come: for the which hopes sake, O King Agrippa, I am accused of the Iewes.

8 [4] Why should it be thought a thing incredibile vnto you, that God should raise againe the dead?

9 I also verily thought in my selfe, that I ought to doe many contrary things against the Name of Iesus of Nazareth.

10 * Which thing I also did at Hierusalem: for many of the Saints I shut vp in prison, hauing receiued authoritie of the high Priests, and when they were put to death, I gaue my [d] sentence.

11 And I punished them throughout all the Synagogues, & [e] compelled them to blaspheme, and being more madde against them, I persecuted them, euen vnto strange cities.

12 At which time, euen as I went to *Damascus with authoritie, and commission from the his Priests, 13 At midday, O King, I sawe in the way a light from heauen, passing the brightnes of the Sunne, shine round about me, and them which went with me.

14 So when wee were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voyce speaking vnto me, and saying in the Hebrewe tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? It is hard for thee to kicke against pikes.

15 Then I said, Who art thou, Lord? And he said, I am Iesus whom thou persecutest.

16 But rise and stand vpon thy feete: for I haue appeared vnto thee for this purpose, to appoint thee a Minister and a witnesse, both of the things which thou hast seene, and of the things in the which I will appeare vnto thee,

17 Deliuering thee from this people, and from the Gentiles vnto whō I now send thee, 18 [5] To open their eyes, that they may turne from darkenesse to light, and from the power of Satan vnto God, that they may receiue forgiuenes of sins, & inheritance among them, which are sanctified by faith in me.

19 [6] Wherfore, King Agrippa, I was not disobedient vnto the heauenly vision,

20 * But shewed first vnto them of Damascus, and at Hierusalem, and throughout all the coasts of Iudea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turne to God, and

5 The prophane and wicked take an occasion to condemne the true doctrine, by reason of priuate controuersies and contentions of men betwixt themselues: but the truth neuertheless abideth in the meane season safe and sure.

d This prophane man calleth the Iewish religion, superstition, and that before king Agrippa, but no marueile: for the rulers of prouinces by reason of the maiestie of the empire of Rome, vsed to preferre themselues before Kings.

6 That is fulfilled in Paul, which the Lord before had told to Ananias of him. Chap. 9. 15.

e Gorgeously like a Prince.

f To Augustus. Good princes refused this name at the first, to wit, to be called Lords, but afterward they admitted it, as we read of Traianus.

1 To haue a skilfull iudge, is a great and singular gift of God.

2 Paul diuideth the history of his life into two times: for the first he calleth his aduersaries witnesses: for the latter, the Fathers and Prophets.

a What I was, and where, and how I liued.

b That my parents were Pharises.

c The sect of the Pharises was the most exquisite amongst all the sects of the Iewes, for it was better then all the rest.

3 There are three chiefe and principal witnesses of true doctrine, God, the true Fathers, and the consent of the Church.

4 He proueth the resurrection of the dead, first by the power of God, then by the resurrection of Christ, whereof he is a sufficient witnesse.

dee workes worthy amendement of life.

21 For this cause the Iewes caught mee in the * Temple, and went about to kill me.

22 [7] Neuertheleſſe, I obtained helpe of God, and continue vnto this day, witneſſing both to [f] ſmall and to great, ſaying none other things, then thoſe which the Prophets & Moſes did ſay ſhould come,

23 To wit, that Chriſt ſhould [g] ſuffer, and that he ſhould be the [h] firſt that ſhould riſe from the dead, and ſhould ſhew [i] light vnto this people, and to the Gentiles.

24 [8] And as he thus anſwered for himſelfe, Feſtus ſaid with a loud voyce, Paul, thou art beſides thy ſelfe: much learning doeth make thee mad.

25 But he ſaid, I am not mad, O noble Feſtus, but I ſpeake the words of trueth and ſoberneſſe.

26 For the king knoweth of theſe things, before whom alſo I ſpeake boldly: for I am perſwaded that none of theſe things are hidden from him: for this thing was not done in a [k] corner.

27 [9] O King Agrippa, beleeueſt thou the Prophets? I know that thou beleeueſt.

28 Then Agrippa ſaid vnto Paul, Almoſt thou perſwadeſt me to become a Chriſtian.

29 Then Paul ſaid, [l] I would to God that not onely thou, but alſo all that heare me to day, were both almoſt, and altogether ſuch as I am, except theſe bonds.

30 [10] And when hee had thus ſpoken, the King roſe vp, and the Gouernour, and Bernice, and they that ſate with them.

31 And when they were gone apart, they talked between themſelues, ſaying, This man doeth nothing worthy of death, nor of bonds.

32 Then ſaid Agrippa vnto Feſtus, This man might haue beene looſed, if he had not appealed vnto Ceſar.

* Chap. 21. 30.

7 Chriſt is the ende of the Law & the Prophets.

f To euery one.

g That Chriſt ſhould not bee ſuch a king as the Iewes dreamed of, but one appointed to beare our miſeries, and the puniſhment of our ſinnes.

h The firſt of the which are rayſed from the dead.

i Life, ye and that a moſt bleſſed life which ſhall be endleſſe: and this is ſet againſt darkenes, which almoſt in all tongues ſignifieth ſometime death, and ſometime miſerie and calamitie.

8 The wiſedom of God is madnes to fooles, yet notwithſtanding we muſt boldly auouch the truth.

k Secretly and priuily.

9 Paul as it were forgetting himſelfe that he ſtood a priſoner to defend his cauſe forgetteth not the office of his Apoſtleſhip.

l I would to God that not only almoſt, but throughly and altogether, both thou and all that heare mee this day, might bee made as I am, my bonds only except.

10 Paul is ſolemnly quit, and yet not diſmiſſed.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Paul 7. 9. foretelleth the perill of the voyage, 11 but he is not beleeued. 14 They are toſſed to and fro with the tempeſt, 22. 41 and ſuffer ſhipwracke: 34 Yet all ſafe and ſound 44 eſcaped to land.

NOw [1] when it was concluded, that wee ſhould ſaile into Italy, they deliuered both Paul, and certaine other priſoners vnto a centurion named Julius, of the band of Auguſtus.

2 And *we entred into a ſhip of Adramptium, purpoſing to ſaile by the coaſts of Aſia, and launched forth, and had Ariſtarchus of Macedonia, a Theſſalonian, with vs.

3 And the next day we arriued at Sidon: and Julius courteouſly entreated Paul, and gaue him libertie to goe vnto his friends, that they might refreſh him.

4 And from thence we launched, and ſayled hard by Cyprus, becauſe the windes were contrary.

5 Then ſailed wee ouer the ſea by Cilicia, and Pamphylia, and came to Myra, a city in Lycia.

6 And there the Centurion found a ſhip of Alexandria, ſailing into Italy, & put vs therein.

7 And when wee had ſailed ſlowly many daies, and ſcarce were come againſt Guidum, becauſe the winde ſuffered vs not, wee ſailed hard by Candie, neere to [a] Salmone,

8 And with much adoe ſailed beyond it, & came vnto a certaine place called the Faire hauens, neere vnto the which was the city Laſea

9 [2] So when much time was ſpent, and ſailing was now ieopardous, becauſe alſo the [b] Faſt was now paſſed, Paul exhorteth them,

10 And ſayd vnto them, Sirs, I ſee that this voyage will bee with hurt and much damage, not of the lading and ſhip onely, but alſo of our liues.

11 [3] Neuertheleſſe the Centurion beleeued rather the gouernour and the maſter of the ſhip, then thoſe things which were ſpoken of Paul.

12 And becauſe the hauen was not commodious to winter in, many tooke counſell to depart thence, if by any meanes they might attaine to Phenice, there to winter, which is an hauen of Candie, and lieth toward the South-weſt, and by Weſt, and Northweſt and by Weſt.

13 And when the Southerne wind blew ſoftly, they ſuppoſed to attaine their purpoſe, looſed neerer, and ſayled by Candie.

14 But anone after, there aroſe by [c] it a ſtormie winde called [d] Euroclydon.

15 And when the ſhip was caught, & could not reſiſt the wind, we let her go, and were caried away.

16 And we ranne vnder a litle Ile named Clauda, and had much adoe to get the boat.

17 Which they tooke vp & vſed all helpe, vndergirding the ſhip, fearing leſt they ſhould haue fallen into Syrtes, and they ſtrake ſaile, and ſo were caried.

18 [4] The next day when wee were toſſed vh an exceeding tempeſt, they lightned the ſhip.

19 And the third day we caſt out with our owne hands the tackling of the ſhip.

20 And when neither ſunne nor ſtarres in many dayes appeared, and no ſmall tempeſt lay vpon vs, all hope that wee ſhould be ſaued, was then taken away.

21 [5] But after long abſtinence, Paul ſtood foorth in the mids of them, and ſaid, Sirs, ye ſhould haue hearkened to me, and not haue looſed from Candie: ſo ſhould yee haue gained this hurt and loſſe.

22 But now I exhort you to bee of good a Which was an high hill of Candie.

2 Gods prouidence taketh not away the cauſes which God vſeth as meanes, but rather ordereth & diſpoſeth their right vſe euen then when he openeth an extraordinary iſſue.

b This is meant of the Iewes faſt which they kept in the feaſt of expiation, as wee read, Leuit 23. 27 which fell in the ſeuenth moneth, which we call October, and is not good for nauigation or ſailing.

3 Men caſt themſelues willingly into an infinite ſort of dangers, when they chuſe to follow their owne wiſedome, rather then God ſpeaking by the mouth of his ſeruants.

c By Candie, from whoſe ſhore our ſhip was driuen by that meanes.

d Northeaſt winde.

1 Paul with many other priſoners, & though the midſt of many deaths, is brought to Rome, but yet by Gods owne hand as it were, and ſo preſerued and commended vnto the world with many ſingular teſtimonies.

* 2. Cor. 11. 25.

4 The end proueth that none prouide worſe for themſelues, then they which commit themſelues to be gouerned onely by their owne wiſedome.

5 God ſpareth the wicked for a time, for his elect and choſens ſake.

courage:

courage: for there shalbe no losse of any mans life among you, saue of the ship onely.

23 For there stood by mee this night the Angell of God, whose I am, and whom I serue, 24 Saying, Feare not, Paul: for thou must be brought before Cesar: and loe, God hath giuen vnto thee freely all that saile with thee.

25 [6] Wherefore, sirs, be of good courage: for I beleeue God that it shall bee so as it hath beene tolde mee.

6 The promise is made effectuall through faith.

26 Howbeit, wee must be cast into a certaine Iland.

27 [7] And when the foureteenth night was come, as we were caried to and fro in the [c] Adriatical Sea about midnight, the shipmen deemed that some Countrey [f] approched vnto them,

7 We attaine and come to the promised and sure saluatiō through the midst of tempests and death it selfe.

c For Ptolome writeth, that the Adriaticall sea beateth vpon the East shore of Cicilia.

f That they drew neere to some countrey.

28 And sounded, and found it twenty fathoms: and when they had gone a litle further, they sounded againe, and found fifteene fathoms.

29 Then fearing lest they should haue fallen into some rough places, they cast foure ankers out of the sterne, and wished that the day were come.

30 [8] Now as the marriners were about to flee out of the shippe, and had let downe the boate into the Sea vnder a colour as though they would haue cast ankers out of the foreshippe,

8 There is none so foule an acte, wherevnto distresse and an euil conscience do not enforce men.

31 [9] Paul said vnto the Centurion and the souldiers, Except these abide in the shippe, yee cannot be safe.

9 Although the performing of Gods promises doeth not simply depend vpon second causes, yet they make themselues vnworthy of Gods bountifulnesse, which do not embrace those meanes which God offereth them, either vpon rashnesse or distrust.

32 Then the souldiers cut off the ropes of the boate, and let it fall away.

33 [10] And when it began to bee day, Paul exhorted them all to take meate, saying, This is the foureteenth day that ye haue tarried, and continued fasting, receiuing nothing.

10 When the world trembleth, the faithfull alone be not onely quiet, but confirme others by their example.

34 Wherefore I exhort you to take meat: for this is for your safegard: for there shall not an [g] haire fall from the head of any of you.

g This is a proverbe which the Hebrewes vse whereby is meant, that they shall be safe, and not one of them perish.

35 And when he had thus spoken he tooke bread and gaue thankes to God, in presence of them all, and brake it, and began to eate.

36 Then were they all of good courage, and they also tooke meat.

37 Now we were in the shippe in all two hundreth threescore and sixteene soules.

38 And when they had eaten ynough, they lightened the ship, and cast out the wheate into the Sea.

39 [11] And when it was day, they knew not the Countrey, but they spyed a certaine [h] creke with a banke, into the which they were minded (if it were possible) to thrust in th ship.

11 There are tempests most of all to be feared and looked for, when the Port or Hauen is neerest.

h A creeke is a sea within land, as the Adriaticall sea, and the Persian sea.

40 So when they had taken vp the ankers they committed the shippe vnto the Sea, and loosed the rudder bonds, and hoysed vp the mayne sayle to the winde, and drewe to the shoare.

41 And when they fell into a place, where [i] two Seas met, they thrust in the shippe: and the forepart stucke fast, and could not be mooued, but the hinder part was broken with the violence of the waues.

i So is Isthmus called, because the Sea toucheth it on both sides.

42 [12] Then the souldiers counsell was to kill the prisoners, lest any of them, when he had swomme out, should flee away.

12 There is no where more vnfaithfulnesse and vnthankfulnesse then in Souldiers.

43 [13] But the Centurion willing to saue Paul, staied them from this counsell, and commaunded that they that could swimme, should cast themselues first into the Sea, and goe out to land.

13 God sometime euen amongst his enemies thinketh vpon whose helpe he purposeth to prosper his.

44 [14] And the other, some on boards, and some on certaine pieces of the ship: and so it came to passe that they came all safe to land.

14 The goodnesse of God ouercommeth mans malice.

CHAP. XXVIII.

2 The Barbarians courteſie towards Paul & his companie. 3 A viper on Pauls hand: 6 He ſhaketh it off without harme: 3 Publius 9 and others are by him healed. 11 They depart from Melita, 16 and come to Rome. 17 Paul openeth to the Iewes 20 the cauſe of his comming: 22 He preacheth Ieſus 30 two yeres.

AND when they were come safe, then they knew that the Ile was called [a] Melita.

a That is it, which at this day we cal Malta.

2 And the Barbarians shewed vs no litle kindnesse: for they kindled a fire, and receiued vs euery one, because of the present shower, and because of the colde.

1 The godly are sure to haue danger vpon danger, but they haue alwayes a glorious issue.

3 [1] And when Paul had gathered a number of stickes, and layed them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heate, and leapt on his hand.

1 Although aduersitie be the punishment of sinne, yet seeing that God in punishing of men doth not alwayes respect sinne, we must not iudge rashly, which either wayte for the time, or do iudge and esteeme of men, according to prosperitie or aduersitie.

4 [2] Now when the Barbarians saw the worme hang on his hand, they sayd among themselues, This man surely is a murtherer, whom, though he hath escaped the sea, yet [b] Vengeance hath not suffered to liue.

b Right and reason

5 But hee shooke of the worme into the fire, and felt no harme.

6 Howbeit they waited when hee should haue [c] swolne, or fallen downe dead suddenly: [3] but after they had looked a great while, and sawe no inconuenience come to him, they changed their mindes, and sayd, That he was a God.

c The Greeke word signifieth to be inflamed or to swell: moreouer Dioscorides in his first booke, chap. 32. witnesseth that the biting of a viper causeth a swelling of the body, and so saith Candor, in his medicines against poysons.

2 There is nothing more vncertaine then mans iudgement, whose waies are not as Gods are.

7 [4] In the same quarters, the chiefe man of the Ile (whose name was Publius) had possessions: the same receiued vs, and lodged vs three dayes courteously.

8 And so it was, that the father of Publius lay sicke of the feuer, and of a bloody flixe: to whom Paul entred in, and when he prayed, rant of true religion. 4 It neuer yet repented any man, that called vpon the name of God, were he neuer so miserable and poore.

he layd his hands on him, and healed him.

9 [5] When this then was done, other also in the Ile, which had diseases, came to him, and were healed,

10 [6] Which also did vs great honour: and when we departed, they laded vs with things necessarie.

11 [7] Now after three moneths wee departed in a ship of Alexandria, which had wintred in the Ile, whose [d] badge was Castor and Pollux.

12 And when wee arriued at Syracuse, we taried there three dayes.

13 And from thence we fet a compasse and came to Rhegium: and after one day, the South winde blew, and wee came the second day to Putoli:

14 [8] Where we found brethren, and were desired to tary with them seuen dayes, and so we went toward Rome.

15 [9] And from thence, when the brethren heard of vs, they came to meet vs at the [e] Market of Appius, and at the three tauerns: whom when Paul saw, hee thanked God, and waxed bolde.

16 So when we came to Rome, the Centurion deliuered the prisoners to the generall Captaine: but Paul was suffered to dwell by [f] himselfe with a souldier that kept him.

17 [10] And the third day after, Paul called the chiefe of the Iewes together: and when they were come, he sayd vnto them, Men and brethren, though I haue committed nothing against the people, or Lawes of the fathers, yet was I deliuered prisoner from Hierusalem into the hands of the Romanes.

18 Who when they had examined mee, would haue let me goe, because there was no cause of death in me:

19 [11] But when the Iewes spake contrary, I was constrained to appeale vnto Cesar, not because I had ought to accuse my nation of.

20 For this cause therefore haue I called for you, to see you, and to speake with you: for that hope of Israels sake I am bound with this chaine.

21 Then they sayd vnto him, We neither receiued letters out of Iudea concerning thee, neither came any of the brethren that shewed or spake any euill of thee.

22 But wee will heare of thee what thou thinkest: for as concerning this sect, we know that euery where it is spoken against.

23 [12] And when they had appointed him a day, there came many vnto him into his lodging, to whom hee expounded [g] testifying the kingdome of God, and perswading them those things that concerne Iesus, both out of the Law of Moses, and out of the Prophets, from morning to night.

24 [13] And some were perswaded with the things which were spoken, and some beleeued not.

25 Therefore when they agreed not among themselues, they departed, after that Paul had spoken one word, to wit, Well spake the holy Ghost by Esaias the Prophet vnto our fathers, 26 [14] Saying, * Goe vnto this people, and say, By hearing yee shall heare, and shall not vnderstand, and seeing ye shall see, and not perceiue.

27 For the heart of this people is waxed fat, and their eares are dull of hearing, and with their eyes haue they [h] winked, least they should see with their eyes, and heare with their eares, and vnderstand with their heart, and should returne that I might heale them.

28 [15] Bee it knowen therefore vnto you, that this saluation of God is sent to the Gentiles, and they shall heare it.

29 [16] And when hee had said these things, the Iewes departed, and had great reasoning among themselues.

30 [17] And Paul remained two yeeres full in an house hired for himselfe, and receiued all that came in vnto him, 31 Preaching the kingdome of God, and teaching those things which concerne the Lord Iesus Christ, with all boldnesse of speech, without let.

5 Although Paul were a captiue, yet the doctrine of God was not captiue.

6 God doth well to strangers, for his chilozens sake.

7 Idolts do not defile the saints, which doe in no wise consent vnto them.

d So they vsed to decke the forepart of their ships, whereupon the ships were called by such names.

8 God boweth and bendeth the hearts euen of prophane men, as it pleaseth him to saue or his.

9 God neuer suffereth his to be afflicted, aboue their strength.

e Appius way was a pauement made by Appius the blind, with the helpe of his souldiers, long and broad, and runneth out toward the sea, and there were three tauerns in it.

f Not in a common prison, but in a house which he hired for himselfe.

10 Paul in euery place remembreth himselfe to be an Apostle.

11 Wee may see the meanes which God giueth vs, but so, that we seeke the glory of God, and not our selues.

12 The Law and the Gospel agree well together.

g By good reasons, and proued that the kingdome of God foretold them by the Prophets, was come.

13 The Gospell is a sauour of life to them that beleeue, and a sauour of death to them that be disobedient.

14 The wilfull hearers doe willingly resist the truth, and perish by chance.

15 The vnbeliefe of the reprobate and castawayes cannot cause the truth of God to be of none effect.

16 Not the Gospel, but the contempt of the Gospel is the cause of strife and debate.

17 The word of God cannot be bound.

¶ The Epistle of the Apostle Paul to the Romanes.

CHAP. I.

1 He first sheweth on what authoritie his Apostleship standeth. 15 Then he commendeth the Gospel, 16 by which God setteth out his power to those that are saued 17 by faith, 21 but were guilty of wicked vnthankefulnes to God: 26 For which his wrath was worthily powred on them, 39 so that they ranne headlong to all kind of sinnes.

1 The first part of the Epistle conteining a most profitable Preface vnto the rest.

2 He mouing the Romanes to giue diligent eare vnto him, in that he sheweth that he commeth not in his owne name, but as Gods messanger vnto the Gentiles, entreateth with them of the waighties matter that is, promised long since of God, by many fit witnesses, and now at the length performed in deede.

a Minister, for this word Seruant, is not taken in this place as set against this word Freeman, but declareth his ministerie and office.

b Whereas he said before in a generall terme, that he was a Minister, nowe he commeth to a more speciall name, and saith he is an Apostle, and that he took not vpon him this office of his owne head, but being called of God, and therefore in this his writing to the Romanes, doeth nothing but his duetie.

PAVL [a] [a] seruant of IESVS CHRIST, called to be an [b]Apostle, *[c] put apart to preach the Gospell of God,

2 (Which he had promised afore by his Prophets in the holy Scriptures)

3 [3] Concerning his [d] Sonne Jesus Christ our Lorde (which was [e] made of the seede of Dauid [f] according to the flesh,

4 And [g] declared [h] mightily to be the sonne of God, touching the Spirit of sanctification by the resurrection from the dead)

5 [i] By whome we haue receiued [k] grace and Apostleship (that [l] obedience might be giuen vnto the faith) for his Name [m] among all the Gentiles,

6 Among whom yee be also the [n] called of Jesus Christ:

7 To all you that be at Rome beloued of God, called to be Saints: [o] Grace be with you, and peace from God our father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

8 [4] First I thanke my God through Jesus Christ for you all, because your faith is [p] published throughout the [q] whole world.

9 For God is my witnes (whom I serue in my [r] spirit in [f] Gospel of his Sonne) that without ceasing I make mention of you.

10 Alwaies in my prayers, beseeching that by some meanes, one time or other I might haue a prosperous iourney by the wil of God, to come vnto you.

11 For I long to see you, that I might bestowe among you some spirituall gift, that you might be strengthened:

12 That is, that [t] I might bee comforted together with you, through our mutuall faith, both yours and mine.

13 Nowe my brethren, I would that yee should not be ignorant, howe that I haue oftentimes purposed to come vnto you (but haue beene let hitherto) that I might haue some fruit also among you, as I haue among the other Gentiles, 14 I am debter both to the Grecians, and to the Barbarians, both to the wise men and to the vnwise.

15 Therefore, as much as in me is, I am readie to preach the Gospel to you also that are at [u] Rome.

16 For I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Christ: [5] for it is the [x] power of God vnto saluation to euery one that beleeueth, to the Iew first, and also to the [y] Grecian.

17 [6] For by it the righteousnesse of God is reueiled from [z] faith to faith: [7] as it is written, * The iust shall liue by faith.

18 [8] For the wrath of God is reuealed from heauen against [a] all vngodlinesse, and vnrighteousnesse of men, which withhold the [b] trueth in vnrighteousnesse.

19 [9] For asmuch as that, which may bee knowen of God, is manifest in [c] them: for God hath shewed it vnto them.

20 For the inuisible things of him, that is, his eternall power and Godhead are seene by the creation of the world, being [d] considered in his works, to the intent that they should be without excuse:

21 Because that when they knewe God, they [e] glorified him not as GOD, neither

2 The ende of the Epistle is to giue them to vnderstand, that they are iustified by faith in Christ, and not by the workes of the Law.

3 By declaring the summe of the doctrine of the Gospel, he stirreth vp the Romanes to good consideration of the matter whereof he entreateth: for that her behoued that Christ (who is the very substance and summe of the Gospell) is the onely Sonne of God the Father, who as touching his humanitie, is made of the seede of David, but touching his diuine and spirituall nature, whereby he sanctifieth himselfe, is begotten of the Father from euerlasting, as by his mighty resurrection manifestly appeareth.

4 He proceedeth in their fauourable patience, in that he reckoneth vp their true commendation, and his true Apostolike good will toward them, confirmed by taking God himselfe to witnesse.

5 The second part of the Epistle vnto the beginning of the 9. chap. Now the whole end and purpose of the disputation is this: that is to say, to shew that there is but one way to attaine vnto saluation (which is set forth vnto vs of God in the Gospel without any difference of nations) and that is Jesus Christ apprehended by faith.

6 The confirmation of the former proposition, wherein we are taught in the Gospel, that we are iustified before God by faith, which increaseth daily: and therefore also saued.

7 The proofe as well of the first as of the second proposition, out of Abakuk, who attributeth and giueth vnto faith, both iustification and life before God.

8 Another confirmation of that principall question: All men being considered in themselues, or without Christ, are guilty both of vngodlinesse and also vnrighteousnesse, and therefore are subiect to condemnation: Therefore must they needes seeke righteousnesse in some other.

9 Though Paul were neuer so excellent, yet by teaching the Church, he might be instructed by it.

10 He meaneth all them that dwell at Rome, though some of them were not Romanes. Looke the end of this Epistle.

a Against all kindes of vngodlinesse. b By truth Paul meaneth all the light that is left in man since his fall, not as though they being led thereby were able to come into fauour with God, but that their owne reason might condemne them of wickednesse both against God and man. 9 Their vngodlinesse he proueth hereby, that although all men haue a most cleere and euident glasse wherein to behold the euerlasting and almighty nature of God, euen in his creatures, yet they fallen away from those principles to most foolish & fond deuises of their owne braines, in constituting and appointing the seruice of God.

c In their hearts. d Thou seest not God, and yet thou acknowledgest him as God by his workes. Cicero. e They did not honour him with that honour and seruice which is meet for his euerlasting power and Godhead.

f Though Paul were neuer so excellent, yet by teaching the Church, he might be instructed by it.

u He meaneth all them that dwell at Rome, though some of them were not Romanes. Looke the end of this Epistle.

5 The second part of the Epistle vnto the beginning of the 9. chap. Now the whole end and purpose of the disputation is this: that is to say, to shew that there is but one way to attaine vnto saluation (which is set forth vnto vs of God in the Gospel without any difference of nations) and that is Jesus Christ apprehended by faith.

x God his mightie and effectuall instrument to saue men by.

y When this word, Grecian, is set against this word Iew, then doeth it signifie a Gentile.

6 The confirmation of the former proposition wherein we are taught in the Gospel, that we are iustified before God by faith, which increaseth daily: and therefore also saued.

z From faith which increaseth daily.

7 The proofe as well of the first as of the second were thankefull, but became [f] vaine in their thoughts, and their foolish heart was full of darkenesse.

22 When they [g] professed themselues to be wise, they became fooles.

23 For they turned the glory of the [h] incorruptible God to the similitude of the image of a corruptible man, and of birds, and foure footed beasts, and of creeping things.

24 [10] Wherefore [i] also God [k] gaue them vp to their hearts lustes, vnto vncleannesse, to defile their owne bodies betweene themselues:

25 Which turned the trueth of God vnto a lie, and worshipped and serued the creature, forsaking the Creatour, which is blessed for euer, Amen.

26 For this cause God gaue them vp vnto vile affections: for euen their women did change the naturall vse into that which is against nature.

27 And likewise also the men left the naturall vse of the woman, and burned in their lust one toward another, and man with man wrought filthinesse, and receiued in themselues such [l] recompence of their errour, as was meet.

28 [11] For as they regarded not to acknowledge God, euen so God deliuered them vp vnto a [m] reprobate minde, to doe those things which are not conuenient,

29 Being full of all vnrighteousnesse, fornication, wickednesse, couetousnesse, maliciousnesse, full of enuie, of murther, of debate, of deceit, taking all things in the euill part, whisperers,

30 Backebiters, haters of God, doers of wrong, proude, boasters, inuenters of euill things, disobedient to parents, without vnderstanding, [n] couenant breakers, without naturall affection, such as can neuer bee appeased, mercilesse.

31 Which men, though they knewe the [o] Law of God, howe that they which commit such things are worthy of death, yet not onely do the same, but also [p] fauour them that doe them.

[f] As if he said, became so mad of themselues.

[g] Or, thought themselues.

[h] For the true God they tooke another.

[10] The vnrighteousnesse of men he setteth foorth first in this, that vpon ouermuch nature following their lusts, they defiled themselues one with another, by the iust iudgement of God.

[i] This contempt of religion is the fountaine of all mischiefe.

[k] As a iust iudge.

[l] A meet reward for their deserte.

[11] He proueth the vnrighteousnesse of man by a large rehearsall of many kindes of wickednesse, from which (if not from all, yet) the most from many of them) [illegible] is altogether free.

[m] Into a mad and froward mind, whereby it commeth to passe, that the conscience being once put out, and hauing almost no more remorse of sinne, men runne headlong into al kind of mischief.

[n] Vnmindfull of their couenants and bargaines.

[o] By the law of God he meaneth that which the Philosophers called the Law of nature, and the Lawyers themselues termed the Law of Nations.

[p] Are fellowes and partakers with them in their wickednesse, and beside that, commend them which doe amisse.

CHAP. II.

2 He bringeth all before the iudgement seat of God. 12 The excuse that the Gentiles might pretend 14 Of ignorance, hee taketh quite away. 17 He vrgeth the Iewes with the written Law, 23 in which they boasted: 27 And so maketh both Iew and Gentile alike.

THerefore [1] thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoeuer thou art that condemnest: for in that thou condemnest another, thou condemnest thy selfe: for thou that condemnest, doest the same things.

2 But we [a] know that the iudgement of God is according to [b] truth, against them which commit such things.

3 And thinkest thou this, O thou man, that condemnest them which doe such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the iudgement of God?

4 [2] Or despisest thou the riches of his bountifulnesse, and patience, and long sufferance, not knowing that the bountifulnesse of God leadeth thee to repentance?

5 But thou, after thine hardnesse, and heart that cannot repent, *[c] heapest vp as a treasure vnto thy selfe wrath against the day of wrath, & of the declaration of the iust iudgement of God,

6 [3] * Who will reward euery man according to his workes:

7 That is, to them which through patience in well doing, seeke [d] glory, and honour, and immortality, euerlasting life:

8 But vnto them that are contentious and disobey the [e] trueth, and obey vnrighteousnes, shalbe [f] indignation and wrath.

9 Tribulation and anguish shall be vpon the soule of euery man that doeth euill: of the Iewe first, and also of the Grecian.

10 But to euery man that doth good, shall be glory, and honour, and peace: to the Iewe first, and also to the Grecian.

11 For there is no [g] respect of persons with God.

12 [4] For as many as haue sinned without the Lawe, shall perish also without the Lawe: and as many as haue sinned in the Lawe, shall be iudged by the Lawe.

13 [5] (For the hearers of the Law are not righteous before God: but the doers of the Lawe shalbe [h] iustified.

14 [6] For when the Gentiles which haue [i] not the Law, doe by [k] nature, the things conteined in the Lawe, they hauing not the Law, are a Law vnto themselues.

15 Which shewe the effect of the Lawe [l] written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witnesse, and their thoughts accusing a Paul alledgeth no places of Scripture, for he reasoneth generally against all men: but he bringeth such reasons as euery man is perswaded of in his mind, so that the deuill himselfe is not able to pluck them cleane out.

[1] He commeth from the number of other men, because they reprehend other mens faults, and saith that they are least of all to be excused, for if they were well and narrowly searched (as God truely doth) they themselues should be found guiltie in those things which they reprehend, and punish in other: so that in condemning other, they pronounce sentence against themselues.

b Considering and iudging things aright, and not by any outward shew.

2 A vehement & grieuous crying out against them that please themselues because they see more then other do, and yet are no whit better then others are.

* Iames 5.3.

c Whilest thou giuest thy selfe to pleasures, thinking to encrease thy goods, thou shalt find God his wrath.

3 The ground of the former disputation, That both the Iewes and Gentiles haue altogether neede of righteousnesse.

* Psal. 62.12. mat. 16.27. reuel. 22.12.

d Glory which followeth good works, which he laieth not out before vs, as though there were any that could attain to saluation by his owne strength, but, by laying this condition of saluation before vs, which no man can performe, to bring men to Christ, who alone iustifieth the beleeuers, as he himselfe concludeth, chap. 3. 21. 22 following e By trueth, he meaneth that knowledg which we haue of nature.

f Gods indignation against sinners, which shall quickly be kindled.

g God doth not measure men either by their blood or by their countrey, either to receiue them or to cast them away.

4 He applieth that generall accusation of mankind particularly both to the Gentiles, and to the Iewes.

5 He preuenteth an obiection which might be made by the Iewes, whom the Law doth not excuse, but condemne, because that not the hearing of the Lawe, but the keeping of the Lawe doeth iustifie.

h Shall be pronounced iust before Gods iudgement seate: which is true in deed if any such could be found that had fulfilled the Lawe: but seeing Abraham was not iustified by the Lawe, but by faith, it followeth that no man can be iustified by workes.

6 He preuenteth an obiection which might be made by the Gentiles, who although they haue not the Lawe of Moses, yet they haue no reason whereby they may excuse their wickednesse, in that they haue somewhat written in their hearts in stead of a Lawe, as men that forbid and punish some things as wicked, and commaund and commend other some as good.

i Not simply, but in comparison of the Iewes.

k Commaund honest things, and forbid dishonest.

l This knowledge is a naturall knowledge.

one another, or excusing,)

16 7 At that day, when God shall iudge the secrets of men by Iesus Christ, according to [m] my Gospel.

17 ¶ [8] Beholde, thou art called a Iew, and restest in the Law, and gloriest in God,

18 And knowest his will, and [n] ‖ tryest the things that differ from it, in that thou art instructed by the Law:

19 And perswadest thy selfe that thou art a guide of the blinde, a light of them which are in darkenesse, 20 An instructer of them which lacke discretion, a teacher of the vnlearned, which hast the [o] forme of knowledge, and of the trueth in the [p] Law.

21 Thou therefore, which teachest another, teachest thou not thy selfe? thou that preachest, A man should not steale, doest thou steale?

22 Thou that sayest, A man should not commit adulterie, doest thou commit adulterie? thou that abhorrest idoles, committest thou sacrilege?

23 Thou that gloriest in the Law, through breaking the Law, dishonourest thou God?

24 For the Name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, * as it is written,

25 [9] For circumcision verily is profitable, if thou doe the Lawe: but if thou bee a transgressour of the Law, thy circumcision is made vncircumcision.

26 Therefore, if the [q] vncircumcision keepe the ordinances of the Law, shall not his [r] vncircumcision be counted for circumcision?

27 And shall not [s] vncircumcision which is by nature (if it keepe the Lawe) condemne thee which by the [t] letter and circumcision art a transgressour of the Law?

28 For hee is not a Iewe, which is one [u] outward: neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh:

29 But hee is a Iew which is one within, and the circumcision is of the heart, in the [x] spirite not in the letter, whose praise is not of men, but of God.

7 God referreth many iudgements, which notwithstanding he will execute at their conuenient time by Iesus Christ, with a most strait examination, not onely of words and deeds, but of thoughts also, be they neuer so hidden or secret.

m As this my doctrine witnesseth, which I am appointed to preach.

8 He proueth by the testimonie of Dauid, & the other Prophets, that God bestowed greatest benefits vpon the Iewes, in giuing the also the Law, but that they are the most vnthankfull & vnkindest of all men.

n Canst trie and discerne what things swarne frō God his will.

‖ Or, allowest the things that are excellent.

o The way to teach and frame other in the knowledge of the trueth.

p As though he said that the Iewes vnder a colour of an outward seruing of God, challenged all to themselues when as in deed, they did nothing lesse then obserue the Law.

* Esa. 51.5. ezek 36.20.

9 He precisely preuenteth their obiection, which set an holinesse in circumcision, and the outward obseruation of the Law: So that he sheweth that the outward circumcision, if it be separated from the inward, hath not only not iustified, but also condemne them that are meerely circumcised, of whom it requireth that, which it signifieth, that is to say, cleanesse of the heart and the whole life according to the commaundement of the Law, so that if there bee a man vncircumcised according to the flesh, who is circumcised in heart, hee is farre better and more to bee counted of, then any Iew that is circumcised according to the flesh onely. q This is the figure Metonymie, for, if the vncircumcised. r The state and condition of the vncircumcised. s He which is vncircumcised by nature and blood. t Paul vseth often times to set the letters against the Spirit: but in this place, the circumcision which is according to the letter, is the cutting off of the foreskin, but the circumcision of the Spirit, is the circumcision of the heart, that is to say, the spirituall end of the ceremonie, is true holinesse & righteousnesse, wherby the people of God is knowen from prophane and heathenish men. u By the outward ceremonie only. x Whose force is inward, and in the heart.

CHAP. III.

1 He giueth the Iewes some 2 preferment, for the couenants sake, 4 but yet such, as wholly dependeth on Gods mercy. 9 That both Iewes and Gentiles are sinners, 11 He proueth by Scripture: 19 and shewing the vse of the law 28 he concludeth that we are iustified by faith.

WHat [1] is then the preferment of the Iewe? or what is the profit of circumcision?

2 Much every maner of way: for [a] chiefly, because vnto them were of credit committed the [b] oracles of God.

3 For what, though some did not beleeue? shall their vnbeliefe make the [d] faith of God without effect?

4 God forbid: yea, let God bee true and every man a lyar, as it is written, That thou mightest be [e] iustified in thy words, and ouercome, [f] when thou art iudged.

5 [2] Now if our [g] vnrighteousnesse commend the righteousnesse of God, what shall wee say? Is God vnrighteous which punisheth? (I speake as [h] a man,)

6 God forbid: else how shall God iudge the world?

7 [3] For if the [i] veritie of God hath more abounded through my lie vnto his glory, why am I yet condemned as a sinner?

8 And (as we are blamed, and as some affirme, ỹ we say) why do we not euil, that good may come thereof? whose damnation is iust.

9 [4] What then? are wee more excellent? No, in no wise: for we haue already proued, that all, both Iewes and Gentiles are [k] vnder sinne, 10 As it is written, * There is none righteous, no not one.

11 There is none that vnderstandeth: there is none that seeketh God.

12 They haue all gone out of the way: they haue bene made altogether vnprofitable: there is none that doeth good, no not one.

13 * Their throte is an open sepulchre: they haue vsed their tongues to deceit: * the poison of aspes is vnder their lips.

14 * Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitternesse.

15 * Their feete are swift to shed blood.

16 Destruction and calamitie are in their wayes.

17 And the [l] way of peace they haue not knowen.

18 * The feare of God is not before their eies.

19 [5] Now we know that what soeuer the [m] Lawe saieth, it saieth it to them which are

1 The first meeting with, & preuenting an obiection of the Iewes: what then haue the Iewes no more preferment then Gentiles? yes, that haue they, saith the Apostle en Gods behalfe, for he committed the tables of the couenant to them, so that the vnbeliefe of a few, cannot cause the whole nation without exception to be cast away of God, who is true, and who alloweth their vnworthinesse to commend and set forth his goodnesse.

c Brake the couenant.

d The faith that God gaue.

e That thy iustice might be plainely seene.

f For asmuch as thou shewedst forth an euident token of thy righteousnes, constancie and faith, by preseruing him who had broken his couenant.

2 An other obiection issuing out of the former answere: that the iustice of God is in such sort commended and set forth by our vnrighteousnesse, that therefore God forgetteth not that he is the iudge of the world, & therfore a most seuere reuenger of vnrighteousnes.

g The cherie, and all the fruites thereof.

h Therefore I speake not these words in mine owne person, as though I thought so, but this is the talke of mans wisedome, which is not subiect to the will of God.

3 A third obiection, which adderh somewhat to the former. If sinners & the turne the glory of God to ry are not only not to be punished, but we ought rather to giue our selues to them: which blasphemie Paul contemning, himselfe to cause a perfect pronounceth iust punishment against such blasphemers. i The truth & constancie. 4 Another answer to the first obiection: that the Iewes, if they be considered in themselues, are no better then other men are: as it hath bene long since pronounced by the mouth of the Prophets. k Are guiltie of sinne. * Psal. 14.1. and 53.1.3. * Psal 5 10. * Psal. 140.3. * Psal. 10.7. * Esai. 59.7. l An innocent and peaceable life. * Psal 36.1. 5 He proueth that this grieuous calamitie which is threatned by Dauid and Esaias, doth properly concerne the Iewes in the law of Moses.

vnder the Law, that [6] euery mouth may bee stopped, and all the world be [a] subiect to the iudgement of God.

20 Therefore by the [o] workes of the Lawe shall no [p] flesh be [q] iustified in his [r] sight: for by the Law commeth the knowledge of sinne.

21 [7] But now is the righteousnes of God made manifest without the Law, hauing witnesse of the Law and of the Prophets, 22 [8] To wit, the righteousnesse of God by the faith of [s] Iesus Christ, vnto all, and vpon all that beleeue.

23 For there is no difference: for all haue sinned, and are depriued of the [t] glory of God,

24 [9] And are iustified [u] freely by his grace, through the redemption that is in Christ Iesus,

25 [10] Whom God hath set forth to bee a reconciliation through faith in his [x] blood to declare his righteousnesse, by the forgiuenesse of the sinnes that [y] are passed, 26 Through the [z] patience of God, to shew at [a] this time his righteousnesse, that he might be [b] iust, and a [c] iustifier of him which is of the [d] faith of Iesus.

27 [11] Where is then the reioycing? It is excluded. By what [e] Law? of workes? Nay: but by the Law of faith.

28 Therefore we conclude, [ẏ] a man is iustified by faith, without the workes of the Law.

29 [12] God, is he the God of the [f] Iewes onely, and not of the Gentiles also? Yes, euen of the Gentiles also.

30 For it is one God, who shall iustifie circumcision of faith, and vncircumcision through faith.

31 [13] Doe wee then make the Lawe of [h] none effect through faith? God forbid: yea, we [i] establish the Law.

6 A conclusion of all the former disputation, from the 18. verse of the first chapter. Therefore saith the Apostle, No man can hope to be iustified by any Law, whether it be that generall Law, or the particular Law of Moses, and therefore to bee saued: seeing it appeareth (as we haue already proued) by comparing the Law and mans life together, that all men are sinners, & therefore worthy of condemnation in the sight of God.

n Bee founde guilty before God.

o By that, that the Law can by vs be performed.

p Flesh is heere taken for man, as in many other places, & furthermore hath heere greater force: for it is put to shew the contrariety betwixt God & man: as if you would say, Man who is nothing else but a piece of flesh defiled with sinne, and God who is most pure and most perfit in himselfe.

q Absolued before the iudgement seat of God.

r A secret setting of the righteousnesse which is before men, be they neuer so iust, against the iustice which can stand before God: now there is no righteousnesse can stand before God, but the righteousnesse of Christ only.

7 Therefore saith the Apostle, Least that men should perish, God doth now exhibit that which hee promised of olde, that is to say, a way where by we may be iustified and saued before him without the Law.

8 The matter, as it were, of this righteousnesse is Christ Iesus apprehended by faith, and for this end offered to all people, as without him all people are shutte out from the kingdome of God.

s Which we giue to Iesus Christ, or which resteth vpon him.

t By the glory of God, is meant that marke which we all shoot at, that is, euerlasting life, which standeth in that we are made partakers of the glory of God.

9 Therefore this righteousnesse touching vs, is altogether freely giuen, for it standeth vpon those things which we haue not done our selues, but such as Christ hath suffered for our sakes, to deliuer vs from sinne.

u Of his free gift, and meere liberalitie.

10 God then is the authour of that free iustification, because it pleased him: and Christ is hee, which suffered punishment for our sinnes, and in whome wee haue remission of them: and the meane whereby we apprehend Christ is faith. To be short, the end is the setting forth of the goodnesse of God, that by this meanes it may appeare, that hee is mercifull in deed, and constant in his promises, as he that freely, and of meere grace, iustifieth the beleeuers.

x This name of blood, calleth vs backe to the figure of the olde sacrifices, the trueth and substance of which sacrifices is in Christ.

y Of those sinnes which we committed, when we were his enemies.

z Through his patience, and suffering nature.

a To wit, when Paul wrote this.

b That hee might bee found exceeding true and faithfull.

c Making him iust and without blame, by putting Christs righteousnesse vnto him.

d Of the number of them which by faith lay hold vpon Christ: contrary to whome are they, which looke to be saued by circumcision, that is by the Law.

11 An argument to proone this conclusion, that we are iustified by faith without workes, taken from the end of iustification. The end of iustification is the glory of God alone: therefore we are iustified by faith without workes: for if we were iustified either by our owne workes onely, or partly by faith, and partly by workes, the glory of this iustification should not bee wholly giuen to God.

e By what doctrine? now the doctrine of workes hath this condition ioyned with it, if thou doest: and the doctrine of faith, hath this condition, if thou beleeuest.

12 Another argument of an absurditie: if iustification depended vpon the Law of Moses, then should God bee a Sauiour to the Iewes onely. Againe, if hee should saue the Iewes after one sort, and the Gentiles after another, hee should not bee one and like himselfe. Therefore hee will iustifie both of them after one selfe same maner, that is to say, by faith. Moreouer, this argument must bee ioyned to that which followeth next, that his conclusion may bee firme and euident.

f God is said to be their God, after the maner of the Scripture, whom hee loueth and tendreth.

g The circumcised.

13 The taking away of an obiection: yet is not the Law taken away, therefore, but is rather made void, to no purpose, and of no force.

h Vaine, void, to no purpose, and of no force.

i We make it effectuall and strong.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He proueth that which hee said before of faith, by the example of Abraham, 3. 6. and the testimony of the Scripture: and tenne times in the chapter he beateth vpon this word imputation.

WHat [1] shall wee say then, that Abraham our father hath found concerning the [a] flesh?

2 [2] For if Abraham were iustified by workes, hee hath wherein to reioyce, but not with God.

3 [3] For what saith the Scripture? Abraham beleeued God, and it was counted to him for righteousnes.

4 [4] Now to him that [b] worketh, the wages is not [c] counted by fauour, but by debt:

5 But to him that worketh not, but beleeueth in him that [d] iustifieth the vngodly, his faith is counted for righteousnes,

6 [5] Euen as Dauid declareth the blessednes of the man, vnto whome God imputeth righteousnes without workes, saying,

7 Blessed are they, whose iniquities are forgiuen, and whose sinnes are couered.

8 Blessed is the man, to whom the Lorde imputeth not sinne.

9 [6] Came this [e] blessednesse then vpon the circumcision onely, or vpon the vncircumcision also? For we say, that faith was imputed vnto Abraham for righteousnes.

10 [7] Howe was it then imputed? when he was circumcised, or vncircumcised? not when he was circumcised, but when hee was vncircumcised.

11 [8] After, hee receiued the [f] signe of circumcision, as the [g] seale of the righteousnesse

1 A new argument of great weight, taken from the example of Abraham the father of all beleeuers: And this is the proposition. If Abraham be considered in himselfe by his workes, he hath deserued nothing wherein to reioyce with God.

a By workes, as appeareth in the next verse.

2 A preuenting of an obiection. Abraham may well reioyce, and extoll himselfe amongst men, but not with God.

3 A confirmation of the proposition: Abraham was iustified by imputation of faith, therefore freely without any respect of his workes.

4 The first proofe of the confirmation, taken of contraries: to him that beleeueth any thing by his labour, the wages is not counted by fauour, but by debt: but to him that hath done nothing but beleeueth in him which promiseth freely, faith is imputed.

b To him that hath deserued any thing by his worke.

c Is not reckoned nor giuen him.

d That maketh him, which is wicked in himselfe, iust in Christ.

5 Another proofe of the same confirmation: Dauid putteth blessednes in free pardon of sinnes, therefore iustification also.

6 A new proposition: that this manner of iustification belonged both to vncircumcised, and also to the circumcised: as is declared in the person of Abraham.

e This saying of Dauid, wherein hee pronounceth them blessed.

7 He proueth that it belongeth to the vncircumcised (for their was no doubt of the circumcised) in this sort: Abraham was iustified in circumcision, therefore this iustification belonged also to the vncircumcised. May it doe not appertaine to the circumcised, in respect of the circumcision, much lesse are the vncircumcised shut out for their vncircumcision.

8 A preuenting of an obiection: Why then was Abraham circumcised, if he were already iustified? That the gift of righteousnes (saith he) might be confirmed in him.

f Circumcision, which is a signe: as wee say the Sacrament of Baptisme, for Baptisme which is a Sacrament.

g Circumcision, was called before, a signe, in respect of the outward ceremonie: now Paul sheweth the force and substance of that signe, that is, to what end it is vsed, to wit, not onely to signifie, but also to seale vp the righteousnes of faith, whereby we come to possesse Christ himselfe: for the holy Ghost worketh that inwardly in deed, which the Sacraments being ioyned with the word, doe represent.

of the faith which hee had, when hee was vncircumcised, [9] that hee should bee the Father of all them that beleeue, not being circumcised, that righteousnesse might be imputed to them also,

12 [10] And the Father of circumcision, not vnto them onely which are of the circumcision, but vnto them also that walke in the steps of the faith of our father Abraham, which he had when he was vncircumcised.

13 [11] For the promise that he should be the [h] heire of the world, was not giuen to Abraham, or to his seede, through the [i] Lawe, but through the righteousnesse of faith.

14 [12] For if they which are of the [k] Law, be heires, faith is made voyd, and the promise is made of none effect.

15 [13] For the Lawe causeth wrath: for where no Law is, there is no transgression.

16 [14] Therefore it is by faith, that it might come by grace, and the promise might be sure to all the [l] seede, [15] not to that only which is of the Law: but also to that which is of the faith of Abraham, who is the Father of vs all,

17 (As it is written, I haue made thee a [16] Father of many nations) euen before [m] God whom he beleeued, who [n] quickneth the dead, and [o] calleth those things which bee not, as though they were.

18 [17] Which Abraham aboue hope, beleeued vnder hope, that he should be the father of many nations: according to that which was spoken to him, So shall thy seede be.

19 And he [p] not weake in the faith, considered not his owne body, which was now [q] dead, being almost an hundred yere olde, neither the deadnesse of Saraes wombe.

20 Neither did he doubt of the promise of God through vnbeliefe, but was strengthened in the faith, and gaue [r] glory to God, 21 Being [s] fully assured that he which had promised, was able to do it.

22 And therefore it was imputed to him for righteousnesse.

23 [18] Now it is not written for him onely, that it was imputed to him for righteousnesse,

24 But also for vs, to whom it shalbe imputed for righteousnes, which beleeue in him that raised vp Iesus our Lord from the dead, 25 Who was deliuered to death for our [t] sinnes, & is risen againe for our iustification.

9 An applying of the example of Abraham to vncircumcised beleeuers, whose Father also he maketh Abraham.

10 An applying of the same example, to the circumcised beleeuers, whose Father Abraham is, but yet by faith.

11 A reason why the seed of Abraham is to be esteemed by faith, because y Abraham himselfe through faith was made partaker of that promise, whereby he was made the Father of all nations

h That all the nations of the world should be his children: or by the world may be vnderstood the land of Canaan.

i For works that he had done, or vpon this condition, y he should fulfill the Law.

12 A double confirmation of that reason: the one is, that the promise cannot be apprehended by the Law, and therefore it should be frustrate: the other, that the condition of faith should be ioyned in vaine to that promise which should be apprehended by works.

k If they be heirs which haue fulfilled the Law.

13 A reason of the first confirmation: why the promise cannot be apprehended by the Law: because y the Law doth not reconcile God and vs, but rather denounceth his anger against vs, for so much as no man can obserue it.

t To pay the ransome for our sinnes.

CHAP. V.

1 He amplifieth 2 Christs righteousnesse, which is layed hold on by faith. 5 Who was giuen for the weake, 8 and sinfull. 14 Hee compareth Christ with Adam. 17 Death with Life. 20 and the Law with Grace.

THen being [1] iustified by faith, we haue peace toward God through our Lord Iesus Christ.

2 [2] By whom also through faith, wee haue [a] had this accesse into this grace, [b] wherin we [c] stand, [3] and [d] reioice vnder the hope of the glory of God.

3 [4] Neither that onely, but also we * reioyce in tribulations, [5] knowing that tribulation bringeth forth patience.

4 And patience experience, and experience hope.

5 [6] And hope maketh not ashamed, because the [e] loue of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the holy Ghost, which is giuen vnto vs.

6 [7] For Christ, when we were yet of no strength, at his [f] time died for the * vngodly.

7 [8] Doubtlesse one will scarce die [g] for a righteous man: but yet for a good man it may be that one dare die.

8 But God [h] setteth out his loue towards vs, seeing that while we were yet [i] sinners, Christ died for vs.

9 Much more then, being now iustified by his blood, wee shall bee saued from [k] wrath through him.

10 For if when we were enemies, wee were reconciled to God by the death of his Sonne, much more being reconciled, we shall be saued by his life.

11 [9] And not only so, but we also reioyce

1 Another argument taken of the effects: wee are iustified by that which truely appeareth our conscience before God: but faith in Christ doeth appeare: our conscience & vse the Law, as it was before said, therefore by faith we are iustified and not by the Law.

* Ephes. 2. 18.

2 Whereas quietnesse of conscience is attributed vnto faith, it is to be referred to Christ, who is the giuer of faith it selfe, in whom faith it selfe is effectuall.

a We must here know, that we haue yet still the same effect of faith.

b By which grace, that is, by which gracious loue and good will, or that state wherevnto we are graciously taken.

c We stand stedfast.

3 A preventing of an obiection against them, which behalding the daily miseries and calamities of 14 The conclusion of this argument: The saluation and iustification of the posteritie of Abraham (that is, of the Church which is gathered together of all people) proceedeth of faith which layeth holde on the promise made vnto Abraham, and which promise, Abraham himselfe first of all layed holde on. l To all the beleeuers. 15 That is to say, not only of them which beleeue and are also circumcised according to the Law, but of them also which without circumcision. 16 in respect of faith onely, are counted amongst the children of Abraham. 16 This fatherhood is spirituall, depending onely vpon the vertue of God, who made the promise. m Before God, that is by a spirituall kindred, which hath place before God, and maketh vs acceptable to God. n Who restoreth to life. o With whom those things are already, which as yet are not indeede, as he that can with a word make what he will of nothing. 17 A description of true faith wholly resting in the power of God, and his good will, set forth in the example of Abraham. p Very strong and constant. q Voyd of strength, and vnmeete to get children. r Acknowledged and praised God, as most gracious and true. s A description of true faith. 18 The rule of iustification is alwayes one, both in Abraham, and in all the faithfull: that is to say, faith in God, who after that there was made a full satisfaction for our sinnes in Christ our mediatour, raised him from the dead, that we also being iustified, might be saued in him.

the Church, thinke that the Christians dreame, when they brag of their felicitie: to whom the Apostle answereth, that their felicitie is laid vp vnder hope in another place: which hope is so certaine and sure, that they do no lesse reioyce for that happinesse, then if they did presently enioy it. d Our minds are not onely quiet and settled, but also wee are marueilously glad, & conceiue great ioy for that heauenly inheritance, which waiteth for vs. 4 Tribulation it selfe giueth vs diuers and sundry waies occasion to reioyce, much lesse doeth it make vs miserable. * Iam. 1. 2. 5 Afflictions accustome vs to patience, and patience assureth vs of the goodnesse of God, and this experience confirmeth and establisheth our hope, which neuer deceiueth vs. 6 The ground of hope is an assured testimonie of the conscience by the gift of the holy Ghost, that wee are beloued of God, and this is nothing els but that which we call faith, wherevpon it followeth, that through faith our consciences are quieted. e Wherewith he loueth vs. 7 A sure comfort & assurance, that our peace and quietnesse of conscience be not troubled: for he that so loued them that were of no strength and while they were yet sinners, that he died for them, how can he neglect them being nowe sanctified and liuing in him? f In time fit and conuenient which the Father had appointed. * Hebr. 9. 16. 1. Pet. 3. 18. 8 An amplifying of the loue of God toward vs, so that we cannot doubt of it, who deliuered Christ to death for the vniust, and for them of whom he could receiue no commodity, and (that more is) for his very enemies. How can it be then that Christ being now aliue, should not saue them from destruction, whom by his death he iustifieth and reconcileth? g In the stead of some iust man. h He setteth out his loue vnto vs, that in the midst of our afflictions, we may know assuredly, he will be present with vs. i While sin reigned in vs. k From affliction and destruction. 9 He now passeth ouer to the other part of Iustification, which consisteth in the free imputation of the obedience of Christ: for to the remission of sinnes, there is added moreouer and besides, the gift of Christs righteousnesse imputed or put vpon vs by faith, which swalloweth vp that vnrighteousnesse which flowed from Adam into vs, and all the fruites thereof: so that in Christ we doe not onely cease to be vniust, but we begin also to be iust.

10 From Adam in whom all haue sinned, both guiltinesse and death (which is the punishment of the guiltinesse) came vpon all.

l By Adam, who is compared with Christ, like to him in this, that both of thē make those which are theirs, partakers of that they haue: but they are vnlike in this, that Adam deriueth sinne into them that are his, euen of nature, and that to death: but Christ maketh them that are his, partakers of his righteousnesse by grace, and that vnto life.

m By sinne, is meant ỳ disease which is ours by inheritance, and men commonly call it originall sinne: for so he vseth to cal that sinne in the singular number, whereas if he speak of ỳ fruits of it, he vseth the plurall number, calling them sinnes.

n That is, in Adam.

11 That this is so, that both guiltinesse and death began not after the giuing and transgressing of Moses Law, it appeareth manifestly by that, that men died before that Law was giuen: for in that they died, sinne, which is the cause of death, was then: and in such sort, that it was also imputed: where vpon it followeth that there was then some Law, the breach whereof was the cause of death. o Euen from Adam to Moses. p Where there is no Law made, no man is punished as faultie and guiltie. 12 But that this Law was not the vniuersal Law, and that that death did not proceed from any actuall sinne of euery one particularly, it appeareth hereby, that the very infants which neither could euer know nor transgresse that naturall Law, are notwithstanding dead as well as Adam. q Ouer infants. r Not after that sort as they sinne that are of moe yeeres, following their lusts: but yet the whole posteritie was corrupted in Adam when as he wittingly & willingly sinned. 13 Now that first Adam answereth the latter, who is Christ, as it is afterward declared. 14 Adam and Christ are compared together in this respect, that both of them do giue and yeeld to theirs, that which is their owne: but herein first they differ, that Adam by nature hath lyen his fault to the destruction of many: but Christs obedience hath by grace ouerflowed many. f That is, Adam. 15 Another inequality consisteth in this, that by Adams one offence men are made guiltie, but the righteousnes of Christ imputed vnto vs freely, doth not onely absolue vs from that one fault, but from all other. t To the sentence of absolution, whereby we are quit & pronounced righteous. 16 The third difference is, that the righteousnes of Christ, being imputed vnto vs by grace, is of greater power to bring life, then the offence of Adam is to addict his posteritie to death. u Be partakers of true and euerlasting life. 17 Therefore to be short, as by one mans offence the guiltines came on all men to make them subiect to death: so on the contrary side, the righteousnes of Christ, which by Gods mercy is imputed to all beleeuers, iustifieth them, that they may become partakers of euerlasting life. x Not only because our sinnes are forgiuen vs, but also because the righteousnes of Christ is imputed vnto vs. 18 The ground of this whole comparison is this, that these two men are set as two stockes or rootes, so that out of the one, sinne by nature, out of the other, righteousnes by grace doth spring forth vpon others. y So then, sinne entred not into vs only by following the steps of our Forefather but we take corruption of him by inheritance. z This word, Many, is set against this word, a few.

a Preuenting of an obiection: why then did the Law of Moses enter then? That men might be so much the more guiltie, and the benefit of God in Christ might be so much the more glorious. a Beside that disease which all men were infected withall by being defiled without mans sinne, the Law entred, in God through our Lord Iesus Christ, by whom we haue now receiued the atonement.

12 10 Wherefore, as by l one man m sinne entred into the world, and death by sinne, and so death went ouer all men: n in whome all men haue sinned.

13 11 For vnto the time o of the Law was sinne in the world, but sinne is not p imputed, while there is no Law.

14 12 But death reigned from Adam to Moses, euen ouer q them also that sinned not after the like r maner of the transgression of Adam, 13 which was the figure of him that was to come.

15 14 But yet the gift is not so, as is the offence: for if through the offence of s that one, many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man Iesus Christ, hath abounded vnto many.

16 15 Neither is the gift so as that which entred in by one that sinned: for the fault came of one offence vnto condemnation: but the gift is of many offences to t iustification.

17 16 For if by the offence of one, death reigned through one, much more shall they which receiue that abundance of grace, and of that gift of that righteousnesse, u reigne in life through one, that is, Iesus Christ.

18 17 Likewise then as by ỳ offence of one, the fault came on all men to condemnation, so by the Iustifying of one, the benefite abounded toward al men to the x iustification of life.

19 18 For as by one mans y disobedience z many were made sinners, so by ỳ obedience of that one shall many also be made righteous.

20 19 Moreouer the Lawe a entred thereupon that the offence should abound: neuerthelesse, where sinne abounded, there grace b abounded much more:

b Grace was powred so plentifully from heauen, that it did not onely counteruaile sinne, but aboue measure passed it.

21 That as sinne had reigned vnto death, so might grace also reign by righteousnes vnto eternal life through Iesus Christ our Lord.

CHAP. VI.

1 He commeth to sanctification, without which, that no man putteth on Christs righteousnes, he proueth, 4 by an argument taken of Baptisme, 12 and thereupon exhorteth to holines of life, 16 briefly making mention of the Law transgressed.

1 What c shall we say then? Shall wee continue still in a sinne, that grace may abound? God forbid.

1 He passeth vnto another benefite of Christ, which is called sanctification or regeneration.

a In that corruption, for though the guiltinesse of sinne be not imputed to vs, yet the corruption remaineth still in vs: the which, Sanctification, that followeth Iustification, killeth by little and little

2 2 How shall we, that are b dead to sinne, liue yet therein?

2 The benefite of Iustification and Sanctification, are alwayes ioyned together inseparably, and both of them proceed from Christ by the grace of God: Now Sanctification is the abolishing of sinne, that is, of our naturall corruption, into whose place succeedeth the cleannesse and pureness of nature restored.

3 3 Know yee not, that * all wee which haue beene baptized into c Iesus Christ, haue beene baptized into his death?

4 * We are buried then with him by baptisme into his death, ỳ like as Christ was raised vp from the dead d to the glorie of ỳ Father, so e we also should * walke in newnesse of life.

5 4 * For if wee be planted with him to the f similitude of his death, euen so shal we g be to the similitude of his resurrection,

6 Knowing this, that our h old man is crucified with i him, that the k body of sinne might be destroyed, that henceforth wee should not l serue sinne.

b They are said of Paul to be dead to sinne, which are in such sort made partakers of the vertue of Christ, that 7 5 For he that is dead, is freed from sinne.

8 Wherefore, if we be dead with Christ, we beleeue that we shall liue also with him.

9 Knowing that Christ being raised from the dead, dieth no more: death hath no more dominion ouer him.

10 For in that hee died, hee died m once to sinne: but in that he liueth, he liueth to n God.

11 Likewise thinke yee also, that yee are dead to sinne, but are aliue to God in Iesus Christ our Lord.

that naturall corruption is dead in them, that is, the force of it is put out, and it bringeth not foorth his bitter fruites: And on the other side, they are said to liue to sin, which are in the flesh, that is, whom the spirit of God hath not deliuered from the seruerie of the corruption of nature. 3 There are three parts of this Sanctification: to wit, the death of the olde man or sinne, his buriall, and the resurrection of the new man, descending into vs from the vertue of the death, buriall, and resurrection of Christ, of which benefite our baptisme is a signe and pledge. * Gal. 3. 27. c To the end that growing vp in one with him, we should receiue his strength, to quench sinne in vs, and to make vs newe men. * Col. 2. 12. d That Christ himselfe being discharged of his infirmitie and weaknes, might liue in glory with God for euer. e And we which are his members rise for this ende, that being made partakers of the selfe same vertue, we should begin to leade a new life, as though we were already in heauen. * Ephes. 4. 23. colos. 3. 8. hebr. 12. 1. 1. pet. 2. 1. 4 The death of sinne and the life of righteousnesse, or our ingrafting into Christ, and growing vp into one with him, cannot be separated by any meanes, neither in death nor life: whereby it followeth, that no man is sanctified, which liueth still to sinne, and therefore is no man made partaker of Christ by faith, which repenteth not and turneth not from his wickednesse: for as he saide before, the Lawe is not subuerted but established by faith. * 1. Cor. 6. 14. 2 tim. 2. 11. f In so much as by meanes of the strength which commeth from him to vs, we so die to sinne, as he is dead. g For we become euery day more perfite then other: for we shall neuer be perfectly sanctified, as long as we liue here. h All our whole nature, as we are conceiued and borne into this world with sinne, which is called old, partly by comparing that old Adam with Christ, and partly also in respect of the deformation of our corrupt nature which we change with a new. i Our corrupt nature is attributed to Christ, not in deed, but by imputation. k That naughtinesse which sticked fast in vs. l The end of sanctification which we shoot at, and shall at length come to, to wit, when God shall be all in all. 5 He proueth it by the effects of death, vsing a comparison of Christ the head with his members. m Once for all. n With God.

12 [6] Let not sinne [o] reigne therefore in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lustes thereof:

13 Neither [p] giue ye your [q] members as [r] weapons of vnrighteousnes vnto sinne: but giue your selues vnto God, as they that are aliue from the dead, and giue your members as weapons of righteousnesse vnto God.

14 [7] For sinne shall not haue dominion ouer you: for ye are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace.

15 [8] What then? shall wee sinne, because we are not vnder the Law, but vnder grace? God forbid.

16 *Know ye not, that to whomsoeuer ye giue your selues as seruants to obey, his seruants ye are to whom yee obey, whether it be of sinne vnto death, or of obedience vnto righteousnesse?

17 [9] But God be thanked, that yee haue bene the seruants of sinne, but ye haue obeyed from the heart vnto that [t] forme of the doctrine, whereunto ye were deliuered.

18 Being then made free from sinne, yee are made the seruants of righteousnesse.

19 I speak after the maner of men, because of the infirmitie of your flesh: for as ye haue giuen your members seruants to vncleannesse and to iniquitie, to commit iniquitie, so nowe giue your members seruants vnto righteousnesse in holinesse.

20 For when ye were the seruants of sinne, ye were [t] freed from righteousnesse.

21 [10] What fruite had yee then in those things, whereof ye are now ashamed? for the [u] ende of those things is death.

22 But now being freed from sinne, and made seruants vnto God, ye haue your fruite in holinesse, and the end, euerlasting life.

23 [11] For the wages of sinne is death: but the gift of God is eternall life, through Iesus Christ our Lord.

6 An exhortation to contend and striue with corruption and all the effects thereof.
o By reigning, S. Paul meaneth that chieftie and high rule, which no man striueth against, and if anie doe, yet it is in vaine.
p To sinne, as to a Lord or tyrant.
q Your mind and all the powers of it.
r As instruments to commit wickednes withall.
7 He graunteth, that sinne is not yet so dead in vs that it is vtterly extinct: but he promiseth victorie to them that contend manfully, because we haue the grace of God giuen vs which worketh so that the Law is not now in vs the power and instrument of sinne.
8 To be vnder the Lawe and vnder sinne signifie all one, in respect of them which are not sanctified, as on the contrarie side to be vnder grace and righteousnesse, agree to them that are regenerate.
Now these are contraries, so that one cannot agree with the other: Therefore let righteousnes expell sinne.
9 Iohn 8. 34. 2. pet. 2. 19.
9 By nature we are slaues to sinne & free from righteousnesse, but by the grace of God we are made seruants to righteousnesse, and therefore free from sinne.
t This kind of speech hath a force in it: for he meaneth thereby that the doctrine of the Gospel is like vnto a certaine mould which we are cast into, to be framed and fashioned like vnto it.
t Righteousnes had no rule ouer you.
10 An exhortation to the studie of righteousnes and hatred of sinne, the contrary ends of both being set downe before vs.
u The reward or payment.
11 Death is the punishment due to sinne, but we are sanctified freely, vnto life euerlasting.

CHAP. VII.

2 He declareth what it is, to bee no more vnder the Law, 2 by an example taken of the Law of mariage: 7. 12 And lest the Law should seeme faultie, 14 he proueth, that our sinne is the cause 13 that the same is an occasion of death, 17 which was giuen vs, vnto life: 21 He setteth out the battell betweene the flesh and the spirit.

KNow [1] yee not brethren, (for I speake to them that know the Lawe) that the Law hath dominion ouer a man as long as he liueth?

1 By propounding the similitude of mariage, he compareth the state of man both before and after regeneration together. The law of matrimonie, saith hee, is this, that so long as the husband liueth, the marriage abideth in force, but if her be dead, the woman may marrie againe.

2 *For the woman which is in subiection to a man, is bound by the Lawe to the man, while he liueth: but if the man be dead, she is deliuered from the Law of the man.

3 So then, if while the man liueth, she taketh another man, she shal be [a] called an *adulteresse: but if the man be dead, she is free from the Lawe, so that shee is not an adulteresse, though she take another man.

4 [2] So ye, my brethren, are dead also to the Law by the bodie of Christ, that ye should bee vnto another, euen vnto him that is raised vp from the dead, that wee should bring foorth [c] fruit vnto [d] God.

5 [3] For when we [e] were in the flesh, the [f] affections of sinnes, which were by the [g] Lawe, had [h] force in our members, to bring forth fruit vnto death.

6 But now wee are deliuered from the Lawe, hee [i] being dead [k] in whome wee were [l] holden, that we should serue in [m] newnesse of Spirit, and not in the oldnesse of the [n] letter.

7 [4] What shall we say then? Is the Lawe sinne? God forbid. Nay, I knew not sinne, but by the Law: for I had not knowen [o] lust, except the Law had said, *Thou shalt not lust.

8 But sinne tooke an occasion by the commaundement, and wrought in me all maner of concupiscence: for without the Law sinne is [p] dead.

9 [5] For I once was aliue, without the [q] Law: but when the commandement [r] came, sinne reuiued.

10 But I [s] died and the same commandement which was ordeined vnto life, was found to be vnto me vnto death.

* 1. Cor. 7. 39.
a that is, shee shall be an adulteresse, by the consent and iudgement of all men.
* Matth. 5. 32.
2 An application of the similitude thus. So, saith he, doth it fare with vs: for now we are ioyned to the Spirit, as it were to the second husband, by whom we must bring foorth new children: wee are dead in respect of the first husband, but in respect of the latter, we are as it were raised from the dead.
b That is, in the bodie of Christ, to giue vs to vnderstand, how straite and neere that followship is betwixt Christ & his members.
c He calleth the children, which the wife hath by her husband, fruite.
p Which are acceptable to God.
3 A declaration of the former saying: for the concupiscences (saith he) which the Law stirred vp in vs were in vs, as it were a husband, of whome wee brought forth verie deadly and cursed children: But now since that husband is dead, and so consequently being deliuered from the force of that killing Law, we haue passed into the gouernance of the Spirit, so that we bring forth now, not those rotten and dead, but liuely children.
e When wee were in the state of the first marriage, which he calleth in the next verse following, the oldnesse of the letter.
f The motions that egged vs to sinne, which shew their force euen in our minds.
g He saith not of the Law, but by the Law, because they spring of sinne which dwelleth within vs, & take occasion to worke thus in vs, by reason of the restraint that the Law maketh, not that the fault is in the law but in our selues.
h Wrought their strength.
i As if hee said, The bond which bound vs, is dead, and vanished away, insomuch that sinne which held vs, hath not now wherewith to hold vs.
k For this husband is within vs.
l Satan is an vniust possessour, for he brought vs in bondage of sinne and him selfe, deceitfully: and yet notwithstanding so long as wee are sinners, wee sinne willingly.
m As becommeth them, which after the death of their olde husband are ioyned to the Spirit: as whome the Spirit of God hath made new men.
n By the letter, he meaneth the Law, in respect of that old condition: for before that our will be framed by the holy Ghost, the Law speaketh but to deafe mens, and therfore it is dumbe and dead to vs, as touching the fulfilling of it.
4 An obiection: What then? are the Law and sin all one, and doe they agree together? nay saith he: Sinne is reproued, and condemned by the Law. But because sinne cannot abide to bee reproued, and was not in a maner felt, vntill it was prouoked and stirred vp by the Law, it taketh occasion thereby to be more outrageous, and yet by no fault of the Law.
o By the word, Lust, in this place he meaneth not euill lusts themselues, but the fountaine from whence they spring, for the verie heathen Philosophers themselues condemned wicked lusts, though somewhat darkly. But as for their fountaine of them, they could not so much as suspect it, and yet it is the verie seate of that naturall and vncleane spot and filth.
* Exod. 20. 17. deut. 5 21.
p Though sinne be in vs, yet it is not knowen for sinne, neither doth it so rage, as it rageth after that the Law is knowen.
5 He setteth himselfe before vs for an example, in whō all men may behold, first what they were by nature before they earnestly thinke vpon the Law of God: to wit, blockish, & bent to sinne and wickednesse, without all true sense & feeling of sinne, then what manner of persons they become, when their conscience is reproued by the testimonie of the Law, to wit, stubburne and more enflamed with the desire of sinne, then euer they were before.
q When I knew not the Law, then me thought I liued in deede, for my conscience neuer troubled me, because it knew not my disease.
r When I began to vnderstand the commandement.
s In sinne, or by sinne.

11 For sin tooke occasion by the commandement, & deceiued me, and thereby slew me.

12 [6] Wherefore the Law is *holy, & that [t] commandement is holy and iust and good.

13 [7] Was that then which is good, [u] made death vnto mee? God forbid: but sinne that it might [x] appeare sinne, wrought death in me by that which is good, that sinne might be [y] out of measure sinfull by the commandement.

14 [8] For we know that the Law is spirituall, but I am carnall, sold vnder sinne.

15 [9] For I [10] allow not that which I doe: for what I [11] would, that doe I not: but what I hate, that doe I.

16 If I doe then that which I would not, I consent to the Law that it is good.

17 Now then, it is no more I, that doe it, but [z] sinne that dwelleth in me.

18 [12] For I know, that in me, that is, in my flesh dwelleth no good thing: for to will is present with me: but I finde [a] no meanes to performe that which is good:

19 For I doe not the good thing, which I would, but the euill, which I would not, that doe I.

20 Now if I doe that I would not, it is no more I that doe it, but the sinne that dwelleth in me.

21 [13] I find then ý when I would do good, I am thus yoked, that euil is present with me.

22 For I delite in the Lawe of God concerning the [b] inner man:

23 But I see another Lawe in my members, rebelling against the Law of my [c] minde, and leading me captiue vnto the Law of sinne, which is my members.

24 [14] O [d] wretched man that I am, who shall deliuer me from the bodie of this death!

25 I [e] thanke God through Jesus Christ our Lord. Then I [f] my selfe in my mind serue the Law of God, but in my flesh the law of sinne.

6 The conclusion: That the Law of it selfe is holy, but all the fault is in vs which abuse the Law.
* 1. Tim. 1. 8.
t touching not coueting.
7 The proposition, That the Law is not the cause of death, but our corrupt nature being therewith not onely discouered, but also stirred vp: and tooke occasion thereby to rebel, as which the more that things are forbidden it, the more it desireth them, and from hence commeth guiltines, and occasion of death.
u Beareth it the blame of my death?
x That sinne might shew it selfe to be sinne, and bewray it selfe to be that, which it is in deede.
y As euill as it could, shewing all the venoume it could.
8 The cause of this matter, is this: because that the Lawe requireth a heauenly pureness, but men such as they be borne, are bondslaues of corruption, which they willingly serue. 9 He setteth himselfe being regenerate, before vs, for an ensample, in whom may easily appeare the strife of the Spirit and the flesh, and therefore of the Lawe of God, and our wickednesse. For since that the Lawe in a man not regenerate bringeth forth death onely, therefore in him, it may easily bee accused: but seeing that in a man which is regenerate, it bringeth forth good fruit, it doth better appeare that euill actions proceed not from the Law, but from sinne, that is, from our corrupt nature: And therefore the Apostle teacheth also what the true vse of the Lawe is, in reproouing sinne in the regenerate, vnto the end of the chapter: as a little before (to wit, from the seuenth verse vnto this fifteenth) hee declared the vse of it in them which are not regenerate. 10 The deedes of my life, saith he, answere not, nay they are contrarie to my will: Therefore by the consent of my will with the Lawe, and repugnancie with the deedes of my life, it appeareth euidently, that the Lawe and a right rule doe perswade one thing, but corruption which hath her seate also in the regenerate, an other thing. 11 It is to be noted, that one selfe same man is said to will and not to will, in diuers respects: to wit, he is said to will, in that, that he is regenerate by grace: and not to will, in that, that he is not regenerate, or in that, that he is such an one as he was borne. But because the part which is regenerate, at length becommeth conquerour, therefore Paul sustaining the part of the regenerate, speaketh in such sort as if the corruption which sinneth willingly, were something without a man: although afterward hee grammeth that this euill is in his flesh, or in his members. z That naturall corruption, which cleaueth fast euen to them that are regenerate, & not cleane conquered. 12 This vice, or sinne, or law of sinne, hath wholy possessed those men which are not regenerate, and hindreth them or holdeth them backe that are regenerate. a This doth in deede agree to that man, whom the grace of God hath made a new man: for where the spirit is not how can there be any strife there? 13 The conclusion: As ♄ Law of God exhorteth to goodnesse, so doth the Law of sinne (that is, the corruption wherein wee are borne) force vs to wickednesse: but the Spirit, that is, our mind, in that that it is regenerate, consenteth with the Law of God: but the flesh, that is, the whole naturall man, is bondslaue to the Law of sinne. Therefore to bee short, wickednesse and death are not of the Lawe, but of sinne, which reigneth in them that are not regenerate: for they neither will nor doe good, but will, and do euill: But in them that are regenerate, it striueth against the Spirit or law of the minde, so that they cannot either liue so well as they would, or be so void of sin as they would. b The inner man, & the new man are all one, and are answerable and set as contrarie to the old man, neither doth this word, Inner man, signifie mans minde and reason, and the old man, the powers that are vnder them, as the Philosophers imagine, but by the outward man is meant whatsoeuer is either without or within a man from top to toe, so long as that man is not borne a new by the grace of God.

e The Law of the minde in this place, is not to be vnderstood of the mind as it is naturally, and as our mind is from our birth, but of the mind which is renewed by the Spirit of God.
14 It is a miserable thing to be yet in part subiect to sinne, which of it owne nature maketh vs guiltie of death: but we must cry to the Lord, who will by death it selfe at length make vs conquerors, as we are already conquerors in Christ. d Wearied with miserable and continuall conflicts. e He recouereth himselfe, and sheweth vs that he resteth only in Christ. f This is the true perfection of them that are borne anew, to confesse that they are imperfit.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Hee concludeth that there is no condemnation to them, who are grafted in Christ through his spirit, 3 howsoeuer they bee as yet burdened with sinnes: 9 for they liue through that Spirit, 14 whose testimonie 15 driueth away all feare, 28 and relieueth our present miseries.

NOw [1] then there is no condemnation to them that are in Christ Jesus, which [2] walke not after the [a] flesh, but after the spirit.

2 [3] For the [b] Law of the Spirit of [c] life, which is in [d] Christ Jesus, hath [e] freed mee from the Law of sinne and of death.

3 [4] For, (that that was [f] impossible to the Law, in as much as it was weake, because of the [g] flesh) God sending his owne Sonne, in the similitude of [h] sinfull flesh, and for [i] sinne, [k] condemned sinne in the flesh,

4 That that [l] righteousnesse of the Law might be fulfilled [5] in vs, which walke not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.

5 [6] For they that are after the [m] flesh, set

1 A conclusion of all the former disputation frō vers. 16. chap. 1. vnto this place: Seeing that we, being iustified by faith in Christ, do obtaine remission of sins and imputation of righteousnes, & are also sanctified, it followeth hereof, ỹ they ỹ are grafted into Christ by faith, are out of all feare of condemnation.
2 The fruites of the Spirit, or effects of sanctification which is begun in vs, but not ingrafte vs into Christ, but do declare, that we are grafted into him. a Folow not the flesh for their guide: for he is not sayd to liue after the flesh, that hath the holy Ghost for his guide, though sometimes he step awry. 3 A preuenting of an obiection: seeing that the vertue of the Spirit which is in vs, is so weake, how may we gather thereby, that there is no condemnation to them that haue that vertue? Because, saith he, that vertue of the quickening spirit which is in vs, is most perfect & most mighty in Christ, and being imputed vnto vs which beleeue, causeth vs to be so accompted of, as though there were no reliques of corruption & death in vs. Therefore hitherto Paul disputed of remission of sins, and imputation of fulfilling ♄ Law, and also of sanctification which is begun in vs: but now he speaketh of the perfit imputatiō of Christs manhood, which part was necessarily required to the full appeasing of our consciences: For our sins are defaced by the bloud of Christ, and the guiltinesse of our corruption is couered with the imputation of Christs obedience. & the corruption it selfe (which the Apostle calleth sinful sin) is healed in vs by litle & litle, by the gift of sanctification: but yet lacketh besides that another remedie, to wit, the perfect sanctification of Christs own flesh, which also is to vs imputed. b The power & authoritie of the Spirit, against which, is set the tyranny of sin. c Which mortifieth the old man, & quickeneth the new man. d To wit, absolutely and perfitly. e For Christs sanctification being imputed to vs, perfiteth our sanctification which is begun in vs. 4 He vseth no argument here, but expounded the mysterie of sanctification which is imputed vnto vs: for because saith he that the vertue of ♄ Law was not such (and that by reason of the corruption of our nature) that it could make man pure & perfit, and for that it rather kindled the disease of sin, then did put it out and extinguish it, therefore God clothed his sin with flesh like vnto our sinfull flesh, wherein he vtterly aboliished our corruption, that being accompted thoroughly pure & without fault in him apprehended and laid hold on by faith, we might be found to haue fully that singular perfection which the Law requireth, and therefore that there might be no condemnation in vs. f Which is not proper to the Law, but cōmeth by our fault. g In man not borne anew, whose disease the Law could point out, but it could not heale it. h Of mans nature which was corrupt through sin, vntil he sanctified it. i To aboliish sinne in our flesh. k Shewed that sin hath no right in vs. l The very substance of the Law of God might be fulfilled, or that same which the Law requireth, that we may be found iust before God: for if without iustification, there be ioined that sanctification which is imputed to vs, we are iust, according to that perfit forme which the Lord requireth. 5 He returneth to that which he said, that the sanctification which is begun in vs, is a sure testimonie of our ingrafting into Christ: which is a most plentifull fruit of a godly & honest life. 6 A reason why to walke after the flesh, agreed not to them which are grafted in Christ, but to walke after the spirit, agreeth and is meet for them: Because saith hee, that they which are after the flesh, sauour the things of the flesh. but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit. m They that liue after the flesh leadeth them.

7 He proueth ꝯ consequent: because that whatsoeuer the flesh sauoureth, that engendereth death: & whatsoeuer the Spirit sauoureth, that tendeth to ioy and life euerlasting.

8 A reason and proofe why the wisedome of the flesh is death, because sayth he, it is the enemie of God.

9 A reason why the wisedome of ꝯ flesh is enemie to God, because it neither will, neither can be subiect to him, & by flesh he meaneth a man not regenerate.

10 The conclusion: Therefore they that walke after the flesh, can not please God: whereby it followeth, that they are not graffed into Christ.

11 He commeth to the others, to wit, to thē which walke after the Spirit, of whom we haue to vnderstand contrary things, to the former: and first of all, he defineth what it is to bee in the Spirit or to bee sanctified: to wit, to haue ꝯ Spirit of God dwelling in vs. Then he declareth, that sanctification is so ioyned and knit to our grafting in Christ, that it can by no meanes be separated. 12 Hee confirmeth the faithfull against the reliques of flesh and sinne, granting that they are yet (as it appeareth by the corruption which is in them) touching one of their parts (which he calleth the body, that is to say, a lumpe) which is not yet purged from this earthly filthinesse in death: but therewithall willing them to doubt nothing of the happy successe of this combate, because that euen this little sparke of the Spirit, (that is, of the grace of regeneration) which appeareth to be in them by the fruits of righteousnesse, is the seede of life. n The flesh, or all that, which as yet sticketh fast in the clefts of sinne and death. 13 A confirmation of the former sentence: You haue the selfe same Spirit which Christ hath: Therefore at length it shall do the same in you, that it did in Christ, to wit, when all infirmities being vtterly laid aside, and death ouercome, it shall clothe you with heauenly glory. o By the vertue and power of it, which shewed the same might first in our head, and daily worketh in his members. 14 An exhortation to oppresse the flesh daily more and more by the vertue of the Spirit of regeneration, because (saith hee) you are debters vnto God, for so much as you haue receiued so many benefites of him. 15 An other reason of the profit that ensueth: for such as striue and fight valiantly shall haue euerlasting life. 16 A confirmation of this reason: for they be the children of God, which are gouerned by his spirit, therefore shall they haue life euerlasting. 17 He declareth & expoundeth by the way, in these two verses by what right this name, to bee called the children of God, is giuen to the beleeuers because, sayth he, they haue receiued the grace of the Gospel, wherein God sheweth himselfe, not (as before in the publishing of the Law) terrible & feareful, but a most benigne and louing father in Christ, so that with great boldnes we call him Father, the holy Ghost sealing this adoption in our hearts by faith. p By the Spirit, is meant the holy Ghost, whom we are sayd to receiue, when hee worketh in our minds. q Which feare, it stirred vp in our minds by the preaching of the Law. r Which sealeth our adoption in our minds, and therfore openeth our mouthes. 18 A proofe of the consequent of the confirmation: because that he which is the sonne of God, doeth enioy God with Christ. s Partakers of our fathers goods, and that freely, because we are children by adoption. 19 Now Paul teacheth by what way the sonnes of God doe come to that felicitie, to wit, by the crosse, as Christ himselfe did: and therewithal openeth vnto them fountains of comfort: as first that we haue Christ a companion, and fellow of our afflictions: secondly, that we shall be also his fellowes in that euerlasting glory.

saiuour the things of the flesh: but they that are after the Spirit, the things of the Spirit.

6 [7] For the wisdome of the flesh is death: but the wisedome of the Spirit is life & peace.

7 [8] Because the wisdome of the flesh is enimitie against God: [9] for it is not subiect to the Law of God, neither in deed can bee.

8 [10] So then they that are in the flesh, can not please God.

9 [11] Now yee are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, because the Spirit of God dwelleth in you: but if any man hath not the Spirit of Christ, the same is not his.

10 [12] And if Christ be in you, the [n] body is dead, because of sinne: but the Spirit is life for righteousnesse sake.

11 [13] But if the Spirit of him that raised vp Iesus from the dead, dwell in you, hee that raised vp Christ from the dead, shall also quicken your mortall bodies, by his Spirit that [o] dwelleth in you.

12 [14] Therefore brethren, we are debters not to the flesh, to liue after the flesh:

13 [15] For if yee liue after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye mortifie the deeds of the body by the Spirit, ye shall liue.

14 [16] For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sonnes of God.

15 [17] For ye haue not receiued the [p] Spirit of bondage, to [q] feare againe: but ye haue receiued the Spirit of [r] adoption, whereby we cry Abba, Father.

16 The same Spirit beareth witnes with our spirit, that we are the children of God.

17 [18] If we be children, we are also [s] heires, euen the heires of God, and heires annexed with Christ: [19] if so be that we suffer with him, that wee may also bee glorified with him.

18 [20] For I [t] count that the afflictions of this present time are not worthy of the glory, which shalbe shewed vnto vs.

16 [21] For the feruent desire of the [u] creature waiteth when the sonnes of God shall be reueiled.

20 Because the creature is subiect to [x] vanitie, not of it [y] owne will, but by reason [z] of him, which hath subdued it vnder [a] hope.

21 Because the creature also shall be deliuered from the [b] bondage of corruption into the glorious libertie of the sonnes of God.

22 For we know that euery creature groneth with vs also, and [c] trauaileth in paine together vnto this present.

23 [22] And not onely the creature, but we also which haue the first fruites of the Spirit, euen wee doe sigh in our [d] selues, waiting for the adoption, euen *[e] the redemption of our bodie.

24 [23] For we are saued by hope: but [f] hope that is seene, is not hope: for how can a man hope for that he seeth?

25 But if we hope for that we see not, we doe with patience abide for it.

26 [24] Likwise the spirit also [g] helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what to pray as we ought: but the Spirit it selfe maketh [h] request for vs with sighes, which can not be expressed.

27 But he that searcheth the hearts, knoweth what is the [i] meaning of the Spirit: for he maketh request for the Saints, [k] according to the will of God.

28 [25] Also wee know that [i] all things worke together for the best vnto them that loue God, euen to them that are called of his [m] purpose.

29 For those which hee knewe before, hee also predestinate to be made like to the image of his Sonne, that he might be the first borne among many brethren.

20 Thirdly, that this glory which wee looke for, doeth a thousand parts surmount the miseries of our afflictions. t All being well considered, I gather.

21 Fourthly, he plainely teacheth vs that we shall certainly be reuiued from that confusion and horrible deformation of the whole worlde, which cannot be continuall, as it was not at the beginning: But as it had a beginning by the sinne of man for whom it was made by the ordinance of God, so shall it at length bee reuiued with the elect.

u All this world. x Is subiect to a vanishing and flitting state. y Not by their naturall inclination. z That they should obey the Creators commaundement, whom it pleased to shew by their sickle state, how greatly he was displeased with man. a God would not make the world subiect to euerlasting curse for the sinne of man, but gaue it hope that it should be restored. b From the corruption which they are now subiect to, they shall be deliuered and changed into that blessed state of incorruption, which shall be reuealed, when the sonnes of God shall be aduanced to glory. c By this word is meant, not onely exceeding sorow, but also the fruite that followeth of it. 22 Fiftly, if the rest of the world looke for a restoring, groning as it were for it, and that not in vaine, let it not grieue vs also to sigh, yea, let vs bee more certainely perswaded of our redemption to come: for as much as wee haue the first fruites of the Spirit. d Euen from the bottome of our hearts. *Luke 21.28. e That last restoring, which shall bee the accomplishment of our adoption. 23 Sixtly, hope is vnseparably ioyned with faith: seeing then that we beleeue those things which we are not yet in possession of, and hope for that we see not, we must therefore hope and patiently waite for that which wee beleeue shall come to passe. f This is spoken by the figure Metonomie: Hope, for that which is hoped for. 24 Seuenthly, There is no cause why wee should faint vnder the burden of afflictions, seeing that prayers minister vnto vs a most sure helpe: which cannot bee fruitles, seeing they proceede from the spirit of God which dwelleth in vs. g Beareth our burden, as it were, that we faint not vnder it. h Prouoketh vs to prayers, and telleth vs as it were within, what we shall say, and how we shall groane. i What sobs and sighs proceede from this instinct of his Spirit. k Because hee teacheth the godly to pray according to Gods will. 25 Eightly, we are not afflicted, either by chance or to our harme, but by Gods prouidence for our great profite: who as hee chose vs from the beginning, so hath hee predestinate vs to bee made like to the image of his Sonne: and therefore will haue vs in his time, being called and iustified, to glory, by the crosse. l Not onely afflictions, but whatsoeuer elle. m Hee calleth that, Purpose, which God hath from euerlasting appointed with himselfe according to his good will and pleasure.

30 Moreouer whom hee [n] predestinated, them also he called, and whom he called, them also he iustified, and whom he iustified, them he also glorified.

31 [26] What shall wee then say to these things? If God bee on our side, who can bee against vs?

32 Who spared not his owne Sonne, but gaue him for vs all to death, how shall hee not with him [o] giue vs all things also?

33 [27] Who shal lay any thing to the charge of Gods chosen? it is [p] God that iustifieth.

34 Who shal condemne? it is Christ which is dead, yea or rather which is risen againe, who is also at the right hand of God, and maketh request also for vs.

35 Who shall separate vs from the loue of [q] Christ? shall tribulation or anguish, or persecution, or famine, or nakednesse, or perill, or sword?

36 As it is written, *For thy sake are we killed all day long: wee are counted as sheepe for the slaughter.

37 [r] Neuertheless, in all these things wee are more then conquerours through him that loued vs.

38 For I am perswaded that neither death, nor life, nor Angels, nor principalities, nor powers, nor things present, nor things to come, 39 Nor height, nor depth, nor any other creature shalbe able to separate vs frō the loue of God, which is in Christ Iesus our Lord.

n He vseth the time past, for the time present, as the Hebrewes vse, who sometime set downe the thing that is to come, by the time that is past, to signifie the certeintie of it: and he hath also a regard to Gods continuall working.

26 Thirdly, we haue no cause to feare that the Lord will not giue vs whatsoeuer is profitable for vs, seeing that he hath not spared his only Son to saue vs.

o Giue vs freely.

27 A most glorious and comfortable conclusion of the whole second part of this Epistle, that is, of the treatise of iustification.

There are no accusers that wee haue neede to be afraid of before God, seeing that God himselfe absolueth vs as iust: and therefore much lesse need we to feare damnation seeing that we rest vpon the death and resurrection, of the almightie power and defence of Iesus Christ.

Therefore what can there be so waighty in this life, or of so great force and power, that might feare vs, as though wee might fall from the loue of God, wherewith hee loueth vs in Christ? Surely nothing, seeing that it is in it selfe most constant and sure, and also in vs being confirmed by stedfast faith.

p Who pronounceth vs not onely guiltlesse, but also perfitly iust in his Sonne.

q Wherewith Christ loueth vs. *Psal.44.22. r Wee are not onely not ouercome with so great and many miseries and calamities, but also more then conquerours in all of them.

CHAP. IX.

1 Hee answereth an obiection, that might bee brought on the Iewes behalfe, 7 and telleth of two sorts of Abrahams children, 15 and that God worketh all things in this matter according to his will, 20 euen as the potter doth. 24.30 He prooueth aswell the calling of the Gentiles, 31 as also the reiecting of the Iewes, 25.27 by the testimonies of the Prophets.

I Say [1] the trueth in Christ, I lye not, my conscience bearing me witnesse in the holy Ghost,

2 That I haue great heauinesse, and continuall sorow in mine heart.

3 For I would wish my selfe to be [a] separated from Christ, for my brethren that are my kinsemen according to the [b] flesh.

4 Which are the Israelites, to whom perteineth the adoption, and the [c] glory, and the * [d] Couenants, and the giuing of the [e] Law, and the [f] seruice of God, and the [g] promises.

5 Of whom are the fathers, and of whom concerning the flesh, Christ came, who is [2] God ouer all, blessed for euer, Amen.

6 *[3] Notwithstanding it can not be that the Word of God should take none effect: for all they are not [h] Israel, which are of Israel:

7 Neither are they all children, because they are the seede of Abraham: *[4] but, In [i] Isaac shall thy seed bee called:

8 [5] That is, they which are the children of the [k] flesh, are not the children of God: but the *children of the [l] promise, are counted for the seede.

9 [6] For this is a word of promise, *In this same time will I come, and Sara shall haue a sonne.

10 [7] Neither hee onely felt this, but also *Rebecca when shee had conceiued by one, euen by our father Isaac.

11 For yet the children were borne, and when they had neither done good, nor euill (that the [m] purpose of God might [8] remaine according to election, not by workes, but by him that calleth) 12 [9] It was said vnto her, *The elder shal serue the yonger.

13 As it is written, *I haue loued Iacob and haue hated Esau.

14 [10] What shall wee say then? Is there [n] vnrighteousnesse with God? God forbid.

1 The third part of this Epistle, euen to the twelfth Chapter, wherein Paul ascendeth to the higher causes of faith: and first of all because he purposeth to speake much of the casting off of the Iewes, he vseth an insinuation, declaring by a double or triple oth, and by witnessing of his great desire towards their saluatiō, his singular loue towards them, and therewithall graunting vnto them all their prerogatiues.

a The Apostle loued his brethren so entirely, that if it had beene possible, he would have beene ready to haue redeemed the casting away of the Israelites, with the losse of his owne soule for euer: for this word, separate, betokeneth as much in this place. b Being brethren by flesh, as of one nation and countrey.

3 Hee entreth into the handling of predestination, by a kind of preuenting an obiection: How may it bee, that Israel is cast off, but that therewithall we must also make the couenant which God made with Abraham and his seede, frustrate and voyd? Hee answereth therefore, that Gods word is true, although that Israel be cast off: for the election of the people of Israel is so generall and common, that notwithstanding the same, God chuseth by his secret counsell, such as it pleaseth him. So then this is the proposition and state of this treatise: The grace of saluation is offered generally in such sorte, that notwithstanding it, the efficacie thereof perteineth onely to the elect. h Israel in the first place, is taken for Iacob: and in the second, for the Israelites. *Genes.21.12. Hebr,11.18. 4 The first proofe is taken from the example of Abrahams owne house, wherein Isaac onely was accompted the sonne, and that by Gods ordinance: although that Israel also was borne of Abraham, and circumcised before Isaac. i Isaac shall bee thy true and naturall sonne, and therefore heire of the blessing. 5 A generall application of the former proofe or example. k Which are borne of Abraham by the course of nature. *Gala.4.28. l Which are borne by vertue of the promise. 6 A reason of that application: Because that Isaac was borne by the vertue of the promise, and therefore hee was not chosen, nay he was not at all, but by the free will of God: whereby it followeth that the promise is the fountaine of predestination, and not the flesh, from which promise the particular election proceedeth: that is, that the elect are borne elect, and not that they bee first borne, and then after elected, in respect of God who doeth predestinate. *Gene.18.10. 7 Another forcible proofe, taken from the example of Esau and Iacob, which were both borne of the same Isaac, which was the sonne of promise, of one mother, and at one birth, and not at diuers as Ismael and Isaac were: and yet notwithstanding, Esau being cast off onely Iacob was chosen: and that before their birth, that neither any goodnesse of Iacobs, might bee thought to be the cause of his election, neither any wickednesse of Esaus, of his casting away. *Gene.25.21.

m Gods decree, which proceedeth of his meere good will, whereby it pleaseth him to chuse one, and refuse the other. 8 Paul saith not, might be made, but, being made might remaine. Therefore they are deceiued which make foreseene faith the cause of election, and foreknowen infidelitie, the cause of reprobation. 9 Hee prooueth the casting away of Esau by that, that hee was made seruant to his brother: and prooueth the chusing of Iacob, by that, that hee was made Lord of his brother: although his brother was the first begotten. And looke that any man might take this saying of God, and referre it to externall things, the Apostle sheweth out of Malachi, who is a good interpreter of Moses, that the seruitude of Esau was ioyned with the hatred of God, and the Lordship of Iacob, with the loue of God. *Genesis 25.23. *Malachi 1.2. 10 The first obiection, if God doeth loue or hate vpon no consideration of worthinesse or vnworthinesse, then is hee vniust, because hee may loue them which are vnworthy, and hate them that are worthy. The Apostle detesteth this blasphemie, and afterward answereth it seuerally, point by point. n Mans wit knoweth no other causes of loue or hatred, but those that are in the persons, and thereupon this obiection riseth.

15 [11] For

11 He answereth first touching them which are chosen to salvation: in chusing of whom he denieth that God may seem unjust, although he chuse and predestinate to salvation, them that are not yet borne, without any respect of worthinesse: because he bringeth not the chosen to the appointed ende, but by the meanes of his mercie, which is a cause next under predestination. Now mercie presupposeth miserie, and againe miserie presupposeth sin or voluntary corruption of mankind, and corruption presupposeth a pure and perfect creation.

15 [11] For he saith to Moses, * I will [o] haue mercie on him, to whom I will shew mercie: and will haue [p] compassion on him, on whom I will haue compassion.

16 [12] So then it is not in him that [q] willeth, nor in him that runneth, but in God that sheweth mercy, 17 [13] For the [r] Scripture saith vnto Pharao, * For this same purpose haue I [s] stirred thee vp, that I might [14] shew my power in thee, and that my Name might bee declared throughout all the earth.

18 [15] Therefore he hath mercie on whom he [t] will, and whom he will, he hardeneth.

19 [16] Thou wilt say then vnto mee, Why doth hee yet complaine? for who hath resisted his will?

20 [17] But, O man, who art thou which pleadest against God? [18] shal the * thing [u] formed say to him that formed it, Why hast thou made me thus?

Moreouer mercie is shewed by her degrees: to wit, by calling, by faith, by iustification and sanctification, so that at length we come to glorification, as the Apostle will shew afterward. Now all these things orderly following the purpose of God, doe clearely proove that he can by no meanes seeme vniust in louing and saving his. * Exod. 33. 19. o I will be mercifull and fauourable to whom I list to bee fauourable. p I will haue compassion, on whomsoeuer I list to haue compassion. 12 The conclusion of the answere: Therefore God is not vniust in chusing and saving of his free goodnesse, such as it pleaseth him: as he also answered Moses when he prayed for all the people. q By will, hee meaneth the thought and endeuour of heart, & by running, good works: so neither of which he giueth the praise, but onely to the mercie of God. 13 Now hee answereth concerning the reprobate, or them whom God hateth being not yet borne, and hath appointed to destruction, without any respect of vnworthinesse. And first of all hee proueth this to bee true, by alleaging the testimonie of God himselfe touching Pharao, whom he stirred vp to this purpose, that he might bee glorified in his hardning & iust punishing. r God so speaketh vnto Pharao in the Scripture, or, the Scripture bringeth in God, so speaking to Pharao. * Exod. 9. 16. s Brought thee into this world. 14 Secondly, hee bringeth the ende of Gods counsell, to shew that there is no vnrighteousnesse in him. Now this chiefest end is, not properly and simply the destruction of the wicked, but Gods glory which appeareth in their righteous punishment. 15 A conclusion of the full answere to the first obiection: therefore seeing God doeth not saue them whom hee freely chose according to his good will and pleasure, but by iustifying and sanctifying them by his grace, his counsell in saving them cannot seeme vniust. And againe, there is no vniustice in the euerlasting counsell of God, touching the destruction of them whom hee listeth to destroy, for that hee hardeneth before hee destroyeth: therefore the third answere for the maintenance of Gods iustice in the euerlasting councell of reprobation, consisteth in this word Hardening: which notwithstanding be concealed in the former verse, because the kindes of Pharao was well knowen. But the force of the word is great, for hardening which is set against Mercie, presupposeth the same things that mercy did, to wit, a voluntary corruption, wherein the reprobate are hardened: & againe, corruption presupposeth a perfit state of creation. Moreouer, this hardening also is voluntarie, for God so hardeneth being offended with corruption, that he vseth their owne will whome he hardeneth to the executing of that iudgement. Then follow the fruits of Hardening to wit, vnbeliefe and sinne, which are the true and proper causes of the condemnation of the reprobate. Why doeth he then appoint to destruction? because he will: why doeth hee harden? because they are corrupt: why doeth hee condemne? because they are sinners. Where is then vnrighteousnesse? Nay, if hee should destroy all after this same sort, to whom should hee doe iniurie? t Whom it pleaseth him to appoint, to shewe his fauour vpon. 16 Another obiection, but only for the reprobate, rising vpon the former answere. If God doe appoint to euerlasting destruction, such as hee listeth, and if that cannot be hindered nor withstanded, that hee hath once decreed, how doth hee iustly condemne them, which perish by his will? 17 The Apostle doeth not answere that it is not Gods will, or that God doeth not either reiect or elect according to his pleasure, which thing the wicked call blasphemie, but he rather graunteth his aduersarie both the antecedents, to wit, that it is Gods will, and that it must of necessitie so fall out, yet he denieth that God is therefore to bee thought an vniust reuenger of the wicked: for seeing it appeareth by manifest proofe that this is the will of God, and his doing, what impudencie is it for man, which is but dust and ashes, to dispute with God, and as it were to call him into iudgement? Now if any man say that the doubt is not so dissolued and answered, I answere that there is no surer demonstration in any matter, because it is grounded vpon this principle, That the will of God is the rule of righteousnesse. 18 An amplification of the former answere, taken from a comparison, whereby also it appeareth that Gods determinate counsell is set of Paul the highest of all causes: so that it dependeth not vpon any respect of the second causes, but doeth rather frame and direct them. * Esay. 45. 9. t This similitude agreeth very fitly in the first creation of mankinde.

21 * [19] Hath not the potter power of the clay to make of the same lumpe one [20] vessell to [x] honour, and another vnto [21] dishonour?

22 [22] What and if God would, to shew his wrath, and to make his power knowen, suffer with long patience the [y] vessels of wrath, prepared to [23] destruction?

23 And that he might declare the [z] riches of his glorie vpon the vessels of mercie, which he hath prepared vnto glorie?

24 [24] Euen vs whom he hath called, not of the [a] Iewes onely, but of the Gentiles, 25 [25] As hee also saith in Osee, * I will call them, My people, which were not my people: and her, Beloued, which was not beloued.

26 And it shal be in the place where it was said vnto them, * Ye are not my people, that there they shall bee called, The children of the liuing God.

27 [26] Also Esaias crieth concerning Israel, * Though the number of the children of Israel were as the sand of the sea, yet shall but a remnant be saued.

28 For hee will make his account, and gather it into a [b] short summe with righteousnesse: for the Lord will make a short account in the earth.

29 * And as Esaias said before, Except the Lord of [c] hoses had left vs a [d] seede, wee had bene made as Sodom, and had bene like to Gomorrha.

30 [27] What shall wee say then? That the Gentiles which followed [e] not righteousnesse, haue attained vnto righteousnesse, euen the righteousnesse which is of faith.

* Ier. 18. 6.

23 Alluding to the creation of Adam, he compareth mankinde not yet made (but in the Creators minde) to a lumpe of clay: whereof afterward God made and forth-with make, according as he purposed from euerlasting, both such as should bee elect and such as should be reprobate, as also this word, Making, declareth.

20 Whereas in the obiection propounded, mention was onely made of vessels to dishonour, yet he speaketh of the other also in this answere, for that he proueth the Creator to be iust in either of them, as the rule of contraries requireth.

x To honest vses.

21 Seeing then that in the name of dishonour, the ignominie of euerlasting death is signified, they speake with Paul which say, that some are made of God to most iust destruction: and they that are offended with this kinde of speaking bewray their owne folly.

22 The second answere is this, that God, moreouer and besides that hee doeth iustly whatsoeuer hee doeth decree, vseth that moderation in executing of his decree as declareth his singular lenitie euen in the reprobate, in that, that hee suffereth them a long time, and permitteth them to enioy many and singular benefits vntill at length hee iustly condemne them, and that to good ende and purpose, to wit, to shewe himselfe to bee an enemie and reuenger of wickednesse, that it may appeare what power hee is of by these seuere iudgements, and finally by comparison of contraries to set forth in deede, how great his mercie is towards the elect. y By vessels, the Hebrewes vnderstand all kindes of instruments. 23 Therefore againe, wee may say with Paul that some are made of God the Creator to destruction. z The vnmeasurable and marueilous greatnesse. 24 Hauing established the doctrine of the eternall predestination of God on both parts: that is, as well of the reprobate, as of the elect, he commeth now to shew the vse of it, teaching vs that we ought not to seeke the testimonie of it in the secret counsell of God, but by the vocation which is made manifest, and set forth in the Church, propounding vnto vs, the example of the Iewes and Gentiles, that the doctrine may bee better perceiued. a He saith not, that all and euery one of the Iewes are called, but some of the Iewes, and some of the Gentiles. 25 Our vocation or calling is, free and of grace, euen as our predestination is: and therefore there is no cause why either our owne worthinesse, or the vnworthinesse of our ancestors should cause vs to thinke that we are not the elect and chosen of God, if wee bee called of him, and so embraced through faith the saluation that is offered vs. * Hose 2. 23. 1. Peter 2. 10. Hosea 1. 10. 26 Contrariwise, Neither any outward generall calling, neither any worthinesse of our ancestors, is a sufficient witnesse of election, vnlesse faith and beleefe wee answere Gods calling: which thing came to passe in the Iewes, as the Lord had foretolde. * Isa. 10. 21. b God purposeth to bring the vnkinde and vnthankfull people to an extreame fewnesse. * Isa. 1. 9. c Armies, by which words the chiefest power that is, is giuen to God. d Euen very few. 27 The declaration and manifestation of our election, is our calling apprehended by faith, as it came to passe in the Gentiles. e So the Gentiles had no workes to prepare and procure Gods mercie before hand: as for that the Gentiles attained to that which they sought not for, the praise of God is to be thanked for it: and in that the Iewes attaine not to that which they sought after, they can thanke none for it but themselues, because they sought it not aright.

31 [28] But Israel which followed the Law of righteousnesse, could not attaine vnto the Law of righteousnesse.

32 Wherefore? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the [f] workes of the Law: for they haue stumbled at the stumbling stone, 33 As it is written, * Behold, I lay in Sion a stumbling stone, and a rocke to make men fall: and euery one that beleeueth in him shall not be ashamed.

CHAP. X.

1 He handleth the effects of election, 3 that some refuse, and some embrace 4 Christ, who is the ende of the Law. 15 Hee sheweth that Moses foretold the calling of the Gentiles, 20 and Esaias the hardening of the Iewes.

BRethren, [1] mine hearts desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might bee saued.

2 For I beare them record, that they haue the zeale of God, but not according to knowledge.

3 [2] For they, [a] being ignorant of the righteousnesse of God, and going about to [b] stablish their owne righteousnesse, haue not submitted themselues to the righteousnesse of God.

4 [3] For Christ is the [c] ende of the Lawe for righteousnesse vnto [d] euery one that beleeueth.

5 [4] For Moses thus describeth the righteousnesse which is of the Law, * That the man which doeth these things, shall liue thereby.

6 But the righteousnes which is of faith, speaketh on this wise, *[e] Say not in thine heart, Who shall ascend into heauen? (that is to bring Christ from aboue:)

7 Or, Who shal descend into the deepe? (that is to bring Christ againe from the dead)

8 [5] But what saith it? * The [f] worde is neere thee, euen in thy mouth, & in thine heart. This is the word of faith which we preach.

9 [6] For if thou shalt [g] confesse with thy mouth the Lord Iesus, & shalt beleeue in thine heart, that [h] God raised him vp from the dead, thou shalt bee saued.

10 For with the heart man [i] beleeueth vnto righteousnesse, and with the mouth man confesseth to saluation.

11 [7] For the Scripture saith, * Whosoeuer [k] beleeueth in him, shall not be ashamed.

12 For there is no difference betweene the Iew and the Grecian: for he that is Lord ouer all, is rich vnto all, that call on him.

13 *[8] For whosoeuer shall call vpon the Name of the Lord, shall be saued.

14 But how shall they call on him, in whom they haue not beleeued? [9] and how shal they beleeue in him, of whom they haue not heard? and how shall they heare without a preacher?

15 And how shall they preach, except they bee sent? as it is written, * How beautifull are the feet of them which bring glad tidings of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things!

16 [10] But they haue not [l] all obeyed the Gospel: for Esaias saith, * Lord, who hath beleeued our report?

17 [11] Then faith is by hearing, and hearing by the [m] word of God.

18 [12] But I demaund, Haue they not heard? * No doubt their sound went thorow all the earth, and their words into the ends of the world.

19 [13] But I demaund, Did not Israel know God? First Moses saith, * I will prouoke you to enuie by a [n] nation that is not my nation, and by a foolish nation I will anger you.

20 * And Esaias is [o] bold, and saith, I was found of them that sought me not, and haue beene made manifest to them that asked not after me.

21 And vnto Israel hee saith, * All the day long haue I stretched foorth mine hand vnto a disobedient, and gainesaying people.

2 Purposing to set foorth in the Iewes an example of marueilous obstinacie he vseth an hiperbole.

3 The first entrance into y vocation vnto saluation, is to renounce our owne righteousnesse: the next is, to embrace that righteousnesse by faith, which God freely offereth vs in the Gospel.

3 The ignorance of y Law which they ought to know, excuseth none before God, especially it excuseth not them that are of his household.

3 Ignorance hath alway pride ioyned with it.

4 Galat. 3. 24.

4 The proofe: The Lawe it selfe both reiect vnto Christ, that such as beleeue in him should be saued. Therefore the calling to saluation by y works of the Lawe, is none and fooli: but Christ is offered for saluation to euery beleeuer.

5 That the Law regardeth and tendeth to Christ, that is a manifest proofe, for it propoundeth such a condition, as can be and is fulfilled of none but of Christ onely: which being imputed vnto vs by faith, our conscience is quieted, so that as no man can aske, Who can ascend vp into heauen, or bring vs from hell, seeing the Gospel teacheth that both of these is done by Christ, and that for their sakes, which with true faith embrace him which called them. * Leuit. 18. 5. exe. 20. 11. Gala. 3. 12. * Deut. 30. 12.

6 Thinke not with thy selfe, as men that are staggering vse to doe.

7 Vocation commeth by the word preached. * Deut. 30. 14.

8 By the word, Moses vnderstood the Lawe which the Lord published with his owne voice: and Paul applied it to the preaching of the Gospel, which is the perfection of the Law.

9 That is indeed true faith which is setled not onely in the head, but also in the heart of man, whereof also we giue testimonie, by our outward life, and which tendeth to Christ as to our alone and only Sauiour, such as he setteth foorth himselfe in his word.

10 If thou professe plainely, sincerely, and openly, that thou takest Iesus only to be thy Lord & Sauior.

11 The Father, who is said to haue raised the Sonne from the dead: and this is not spoken to shut out the diuinitie of the Sonne, but to set foorth the Fathers counsell touching our redemption in the resurrection of the Sonne.

---

28 The vnbeliefe of men is the cause that they continue vocation, so that the cause of their damnation seeme not to belonge to any other where but in themselues.

f Seeking to come by righteousnes, they followed the Law of righteousnes.

a Psal. 118. 22. Isa. 8. 14. and 28. 16. 1. pet. 2. 6.

b Faith is said to iustifie: and furthermore seeing the confession of the mouth is an effect of faith, and confession is the way to come to saluation, it followeth that faith is also said to saue.

7 Now he proueth the other part which hee propounded also in y fourth verse, to wit, that Christ calleth whomsoeuer hee listeth without any difference, and this he confirmeth by a double testimony.

* Isai. 28. 16.

k To beleeue in God is to yeeld and consent to God his promise of our saluation by Christ, and that not onely in generall, but when wee know that the promises pertaine to vs, whereupon riseth a sure trust.

* Ioel. 1. 32.

8 True calling vpon the name of God is the testimonie of true faith, and true faith, of true vocation or calling, and true calling of true election.

9 That is, true faith which seeketh God in his word and that preached: accepting as God hath appointed in the Church.

* Isai. 52. 7. nahum 1. 15.

10 Wherebeside faith is, there is also the word, but not contrariwise, wherebeside the word is, there is faith also: for many refuse and reiect the word.

l He speaketh this because of the Iewes. * Isa. 53. 1. ioh. 12. 38.

11 A conclusion of the former gradation: here must ascend from faith, to our vocation as by our vocation we came to the testimonie of our election.

m By Gods commandement.

12 An obiection: If calling be a testimonie of election, were not the Iewes called? why should I not grant that, saith the Apostle, seeing that there is no nation which hath not beene called? much lesse can I say, that the Iewes were not called. * Psa. 19. 3.

13 The defendor and maintainer of the Iewes cause, goeth on still to aske, whether the Iewes also knew not God which called them. Esai (saith the Apostle) denieth it: and witnesseth that the Gospel was translated from them to the Gentiles, because the Iewes neglected it. And therewithall the Apostle teacheth, that that outward and vniuersall calling which is set foorth by the creation of the world, sufficeth not to the knowledge of God: yea, and that the particular also which is by the word of God, is of it selfe of small or no efficacie, vnlesse it be apprehended or layd holde on by faith, by the gift of God: otherwise by vnbeliefe it is made vnprofitable, and that by the onely fault of man, who can pretend no ignorance.

* Deut. 32. 21.

n He calleth all prophane people, a nation that is no nation, as they are not sayd to liue, but to die, which are appointed for euerlasting condemnation. * Isa. 65. 1.

o Speaketh without feare. * Isa. 65. 2.

CHAP. XI.

2 Least the casting off of the Iewes should be imputed according to the outward appearance, 4 he sheweth that Elias was in times past deceiued: 16 and that, seeing they haue an holy roote, 23 many of them likewise shall be holy. 18. 24 He exhorteth the Gentiles to be humble, 33 and crieth out, that Gods iudgements are vnsearchable.

1 Now the Apostle theweth how this doctrine is to be applied to others, abiding still in his pronounced cause. Therefore he teacheth us that all the Iewes in particular, are not cast away and therefore were ought not to pronounce rashly of priuate persons, whether they be of the number of the elect or not.

2 The first proofe: I am a Iewe, & yet elected, therefore were may and ought fully resolue vpon our election, as hath bene before said: but of another mans we cannot be so certainly resolued, and yet ours may cause vs to hope well of others.

3 The second proofe: Because that God is faith full in his league or couenant, although men be vnfaithfull: so then seeing that God hath said, that he will be the God of his vnto a thousand generations, we must take heed, that we thinke not that the whole race & offspring is cast off, by reason of the vnbelefe of a few, but rather that we hope well of euery member of the Church, because of Gods league & couenant.

I Demande then, [1] Hath God cast away his people? God forbid: for [2] I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Beniamin.

2 [3] God hath not cast away his people which hee [a] knew before. [4] Knowe yee not what the Scripture saith of Elias, howe hee communeth with God against Israel, saying,

3 * Lord, they haue killed thy Prophets, and digged downe thine altars: and I am left alone, and they seeke my life?

4 But what saith ỹ answer of God to him? *I haue [b] reserued vnto my selfe seuen thousand men, which haue not bowed ỹ knee to [c] Baal.

5 Euen so then at this present time is there a remnant according to the [d] election of grace.

6 [5] And if it be of grace, it is [e] no more of workes: or else were grace no more grace: but if it be of workes, it is no more grace: or else were worke no more worke.

7 What then? Israel hath not obteined that hee sought: but the election hath obteined it, and the rest haue bene [f] hardened,

8 [6] According as it is written, * God hath giuen them the spirit of [g] slumber: eyes that they [h] should not see, & eares that they should not heare vnto this day.

9 And Dauid saith, *[i] Let their table bee made a snare, and a net, and a stumbling block, euen for a recompence vnto them.

10 Let their eies bee darkened that they see not, and bow downe their backe alwaies.

11 [7] I demaund then, Haue they stumbled, that they should fall? God forbid: but through their fall, saluation commeth vnto the Gentiles, to prouoke them to follow them.

12 Wherefore if the fal of them be the [k] riches of the world, and the diminishing of them the riches of the Gentiles, howe much more shall their [l] abundance be?

13 [8] For in that I speake to you Gentiles, in as much as I am the Apostle of the Gentiles, [m] I magnifie mine office, 14 To trie if by any meanes I might prouoke them of my flesh to follow them, & might saue some of them.

15 For if the casting away of them be the reconciling of the world, what shall the receiuing be, [n] but life from the dead?

16 [9] For if [o] ỹ first fruits be holy, so is ỹ whole lump: & if ỹ root [p] be holy, so are the branches.

17 *[10] And though some of the branches bee broken off, and thou being a wilde Oliue tree, wast graft in [q] for them, and made [r] partaker of the roote, and fatnesse of the Oliue tree:

18 [s] Boast not thy selfe against the branches: and if thou boast thy selfe, thou bearest not the roote, but the roote thee.

19 Thou wilt say then, The branches are broken off, that I might be graft in.

20 Well, through vnbeliefe they are broken off, and thou standest by faith: be not high minded, but [t] feare.

21 For if God spared not the [u] naturall branches, take heed, lest he also spare not thee.

22 [11] Behold therefore the [x] bountifulnes and seueritie of God: toward them which haue fallen, seueritie: but toward thee, bountifulnes, if thou continue in his [y] bountifulnesse: or else thou shalt also be cut off.

23 [12] And they also if they abide not still in vnbeliefe, shall be grafted in: for God is able to graffe them in againe.

24 For if thou wast cut out of the Oliue tree, which was wilde by [z] nature, and wast

1 Of the Iewes, when the whole nation without exception shall come to Christ.

2 He witnesseth by his owne example, that he goeth before all other in this behalfe.

m I make noble and famous.

3 It shall come to passe that when the Iewes come to the Gospel, the world shall as it were quicken againe, and rise vp from death to life.

4 The nation of the Iewes being considered in their stocke and roote, that is, in Abraham, is holy, although that many of the branches be cut off. Therefore in iudging of our brethren, we must not sticke in these vnworthines, to thinke that they are at once all cast off, but we ought to consider the root of the couenant, & rather go backe to their ancesters which were faithfull, ỹ we may know that the blessing of the couenant resteth in some of their posteritie, as we also finde proofe hereof in our selues.

5 He alludeth to the first fruits of those losues, by the offring whereof all the whole croppe of corne was sanctified, & they might vse

6 There is no cause why the Gentiles which haue obtained mercy, should triumph ouer the Iewes which contemne the grace of God, seeing they are graffed into the Iewes ancesters. But let them rather take heede, that that also be not found in them which is worthily condemned in the Iewes. And hereof also this generall doctrine may be gathered & taken, that we ought to be studious of Gods glorie, euen in respect of our neighbours: so farre ought we to be from bragging and glorying, for that, that we are preferred before other by a singular grace.

7 In place of those boughs which are broken off.

8 It is against the common custome of husbandry, that the barren iuice of the impe is changed with the iuice of the good tree.

9 We may reioyce in the Lord, but so that we despise not the Iewes whom we ought rather to prouoke to that good striuing with vs.

10 See that thou stand in awe of God modestly & carefully.

11 He calleth them naturall, not because they had any holines of nature, but because they were borne of those whom the Lord set apart for himselfe from other nations, by his league & couenant which he freely made with them.

12 Seeing the matter it selfe declareth that election commeth not by inheritance (although the fault be in men, and not in God, why the blessing of God is not perpetuall) we must take good heede that that be not found in our selues, which we thinke diuers worthy in others. For the election is sure, but they that are truely elect & ingrafted, are not proud in themselues with contempt of other, but with due reuerence to God, and loue to their neighbour, run to the marke which is set before them.

a Which he loued & chose from euerlasting. 4 The third proofe taken from the answere that was made to Elias: euen then also, when there appeared openly to the face of the world no elect, yet God knew his elect and chosen, & of them also great store & number. Whereupon this also is concluded, ỹ we ought not rashly to pronounce of any man as of a reprobate, seeing ỹ the Church is oftentimes brought to that state, that euen the most watchfull and sharpe sighted pastours thinke to bee cleane extinct and put out. *1. King 19:10. *1. King. 19.18. b He speaketh of remnants and reserued people which were chosen from euerlasting, & not of remnants that should be chosen afterward: for they are not chosen, because they were not idolaters, but therefore they were not idolaters, because they were chosen and elect. c Baal signifieth as much as Master or patrone, or one in whose power another is, which name the idolaters at this day giue their idoles, naming them patrons, & patronesses, or Ladies. d The election of grace is, not whereby men chose grace, but whereby God chose vs of his grace and goodnesse. 5 Although that all be not elect and chosen, yet let them that are elected, remember that they are freely chosen: and let them that stubburnly refuse the grace and free mercy of God, impute it vnto themselues. e This saying beateth downe flat to the ground all the doctrine of all kinds and maner of works, wherby our iustifiers of themselues do teach, that works are either wholly or partly the cause of our iustification. f Looke Mar. 3. 5. 6 And yet this hardnesse of heart commeth not but by Gods iust decree and iudgement, & yet without fault, when as he so punisheth the vnthankful by taking from them all sence & perceiuerance, & by doubling their darknes, that the benefits of God which are offered vnto them, do rebound to their iust destruction. *Isa. 6.9 & 29.10. mat. 13.14 ioh. 12.40. act 28.26. g A very dead sleepe which taketh away all sense. h That is, eies vnfit to see. *Psa. 69.23. i As vnhappy birds are entised to death by ỹ which is their sustenance, so did that only thing turne to the Iews destruction, out of which they sought life, to wit, the Law of God, for the preposterous zeale wherof, they refused the Gospel. 7 God appointed this casting off of the Iews, that it might be an occasion to cal the Gentiles: & againe might turne this calling of the Gentiles, to be an occasion to restore the Iewes, to wit, that they being inflamed & prouoked by emulation of the Gentiles, might themselues at length imbrace the Gospel. And here by we may learne, that the seueritie of God serueth as well to the setting foorth of his glory, as his mercy doth, and also that God prepareth himselfe a way to mercy, by his seuerity: so that we ought not rashly to despaire of any man, nor proudly triumph ouer other men, but rather prouoke them to an holy emulation, that God may bee glorified in them also. k By riches, he meaneth the knowledge of the Gospel to euerlasting life: & by the world, al nations dispersed throughout the whole world.

y In that state which God his bountifulnes hath aduanced vnto: & we must marke heere, that he speaketh not of the election of euery priuate man, which remaineth stedfast for euer, but of the election of the whole nation.

12 Many are now for a season cut off, that is, are without the roote which in their time shall be grafted in: and againe there are a great sort, which after a sort, and touching the outward shew seeme to be ingrafted, which notwithstanding through their owne fault afterward are cut off. And cleane cast away thing is especially to be considered in nations and peoples, as in the Iewes.

z Vnderstand nature, not as it was first made, but as it was corrupted in Adam, and so derived from him to his posteritie.

grafted contrary to nature in a[a] right Oliue tree, how much more shall they that are by nature, be grafted in their owne Oliue tree?

23 [13] For I would not, brethren, that yee should be ignorant of this secret (lest ye should be arrogant in your[b] selues) that partly obstinacie is come to Israel, vntil the fulnesse of the Gentiles be[c] come in.

26 And so all Israel shall be saued, as it is written, *The deliuerer shall come out of Sion, and shal turne away the vngodlinesse from Jacob.

27 And this is my couenant to thē, *When I shall take away their sinnes.

28 [14] As concerning the[d] Gospel, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the[e] election, they are beloued for the fathers sake.

29 [15] For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance.

30 [16] For euen as yee in times past haue not beleeued God, yet haue now obtained mercy through their vnbeliefe:

31 Euen so nowe haue they not beleeued by the mercy shewed vnto you, that they also may obteine mercy.

32 For God hath shut vp[f] all in vnbeliefe, that he might haue mercy on all.

33 [17] O the deepenesse of the riches, both of the wisedome, and knowledge of God: how vnsearcheable are his[g] iudgements, and his waies past finding out:

13 The blindnes of the Iewes is neither so vniuersall nor at the Lord hath no elect in that nation, neither shall it be continuall: for there shall be a time, wherein they also (as the Prophets haue forewarned) shall effectually embrace that, which they doe now so stubburnly for the most part reiect and refuse.

* Esai. 27. 9.

14 Againe, that he may ioyne the Iewes & Gentiles together as if they were in one body, and especially may teach what duetie the Gentiles owe to the Iewes, he teacheth this into their heads, that the nation of the Iewes is not vtterly cast off without hope of recouery.

For asmuch as they receiued it not.

In that, that God respecteth not what they deserue, but what he promised to Abraham.

15 The reason or proofe: because the couenant made with that nation of life euerlasting, cannot be frustrate and vaine. 16 Another reason: Because that although they which are hardened, are worthily punished, yet hath not this stubburnesse of the Iewes so come to passe properly for an hatred to that nation, but that an entrie might be as it were opened to bring in the Gentiles, & afterward the Iewes being inflamed with emulation of that mercy which is shewed to the Gentiles, might themselues also bee partakers of the same benefite, and so it might appeare that both Iewes and Gentiles are saued onely by the free mercy and grace of God, which could not haue bene so manifest if at the beginning God had brought all together into the Church, or if hee had saued the nation of the Iewes without this interruption. f Both Iewes and Gentiles. 17 The Apostle crieth out as astonished with this wonderfull wisedome of God, which he teacheth vs, ought to be religiously reuerenced, and not curiously and prophanely to bee searched beyond the compasse of that that God hath reuealed vnto vs. g The course that hee holdeth in gouerning all things both generally and particularly.

18 He bringeth three maner of wayes, the wicked boldnesse of man: First, because that God is aboue all most wise, and therefore it is very absurd, and plainely godlesse to measure him by our folly. Moreouer, because he is debter to no man, and therefore no man can complaine of iniurie done vnto him. Thirdly, because all things are made for his glory, and therefore wee must referre all things to his glorie: much lesse may we contend and debate the matter with him. i This saying ouerthroweth the doctrine of foreseene workes and merites. k To wit, for God, to whose glory all things are referred, not only things that were made, but specially his new workes which he worketh in his elect.

CHAP. XII.

1 He exhorteth 2 to that worship which is acceptable to God: 9 to loue vnfained, 14. 20 euen towards our enemies.

I Beseech[1] you therefore brethren, [a] by the mercies of God, that ye[b] giue vp your[c] bodies a[d] liuing sacrifice, holy, acceptable vnto God, which is your[e] reasonable seruing of God.

2 [2] And fashion not your selues like vnto this world, but bee yee changed by the renewing of your[f] minde, that ye may *proue what that good, and acceptable and perfect will of God is.

3 [3] For I say through the grace that is giuen vnto mee, to euery one that is among you, that no man[h] presume to vnderstand aboue that which is meete to vnderstand, but that hee vnderstand according to [i] sobrietie, as God hath dealt to euery man the* measure of [k] faith.

4 [4] For as wee haue many members in one body, and all members haue not one office,

5 So wee being many, are one body in Christ, and euery one, one anothers members.

6 *[5] Seeing then that we haue gifts that are diuers, according to ỹ grace that is giuen vnto vs, whether wee haue prophesie, let vs prophesie according to the [l] portion of faith:

7 Or an office, let vs waite on the office: or he that[m] teacheth, on teaching:

8 Or he that[n] exhorteth, on exhortation: he that[o] distributeth, let him doe it* with simplicitie: he that[p] ruleth, with diligence: he that[q] sheweth mercy, with cheerefulnesse.

9 [6] Let loue bee without dissimulation. *Abhorre that which is euill, and cleaue vnto that which is good.

1 The fourth part of this Epistle, which after the finishing of the chiefe points of Christian doctrine, consisteth in declaring of precepts of Christian life. And first of all he giueth generall precepts and grounds: the chiefest whereof is this, that euery man consecrate himselfe wholly to the spirituall seruice of God, and do as it were sacrifice himselfe, trusting to the grace of God.

a By this preface he sheweth that Gods glory is the vtmost end of all our doings.

b In times past the sacrifices were presented before the altar, but now the altar is euery where.

c Your selues: in times past, other bodies then our owne, now our owne must be offered.

d In time past, dead sacrifices were offered, but now we must offer such as haue the spirit of life in them.

e Spirituall.

2 The second precept is this, That we take not other mens opinions or maners for a rule of life, but that we wholly renouncing this world, set before vs as our marke, the will of God, as is manifested and opened vnto vs in his word. f Why then there is no place left for reason, which the heathen Philosophers place as a Queene in a Castel, nor for mans free will, which the Popish schoolemen dreame on, if the mind must be renued. Looke Eph. 1. 18 and 2. 3. & 4. 17. & Colos. 1. 21. * Eph. 5. 17. 1 thes. 4. 3. 3 Thirdly, he admonisheth vs very earnestly, that euery man keepe himselfe within the bounds of his vocation, & that euery man be wise according to the measure of grace that God hath giuen him. g I charge. h That he please not himselfe too much, as they do, which perswade themselues they know more then in deed they do. i We shalbe sober, if we take not that vpō vs, which we haue not, & if we brag not of that we haue. * 1. Cor. 12. 11. ephes. 4. 7. k By faith he meaneth the knowledge of God in Christ, & the gifts which the holy Ghost powreth vpon the faithful. 4 There is a double reason of ỹ precept going afore: the one is, because God hath not committed euery thing to be done of euery man: & therefore he doth backwardly, & not only vnprofitably, but also to the great disprofite of other, wearieth himselfe and others, which passeth the bounds of his vocation: the other is, for that this diuersitie & inequalitie of vocations and gifts, redoundeth to our commoditie: seeing that the same is therefore instituted & appointed, that we should be bound one to another. Wherupon it followeth, that no man ought to be grieued therat, seeing that the vse of euery priuate gift is common. * 1. Peter 4. 10. 5 That which he spake before in generall, he applieth particularly to the holy functions, wherein men offend with greater danger. And he diuideth them into two sorts: to wit into Prophets and Deacons: & againe he diuideth the Prophets into Doctours and Pastours. And of Deacons he maketh three sorts, to wit, the one to be such as are (as it were) treasurers of the Churches coffers, whom hee calleth properly Deacons: the other to be the gouernours of the discipline, who are called Seniours or Elders: the third, to be such as properly serued in the helpe of the poore, of which sort the company of widowes were. l That euery man obserue the measure of that which is reuealed vnto him. m Whose office is only to expound the Scriptures. n Who in other places is called the Pastour. o To wit, the almes, that hee distribute them faithfully, and without respect of person. * Mat. 6. 2. 2. cor. 9. 7. p The Elders of the Church. q They that are busied about tending on the poore, must do it with cheerefulnesse, least they adde sorow to sorow. 6 Now he commeth to the duties of the second Table, which he deriueth from charitie, which is as it were the fountaine of them all. And he defineth Christian charity by sinceritie, hatred of euill, earnest studie of good things, good affection to helpe our neighbour, and whose finall end is the glory of God. * Amos 5. 15.

r This piece is well put in, for it maketh difference betweene Christian duties, and Philosophicall duties.

12 [7] Reioycing in hope, patient in tribulation, * continuing in prayer,

7 He reckoneth by diuers other vertues together which are effects, to wit, hope, patience in tribulation, equanimitie, continuance in prayer, liberalitie towards the saints, hospitalitie, moderation of mind euen in helping our enemies, a selfe same feeling with others as well in aduersitie as prosperitie, modestie, endeuour to maintaine honest concord so nigh as we may with all men, which cannot be extinguished by any mans iniuries.

1 He willeth that wee submit our selues to Magistrates: 8 To loue our neighbours: 13 To liue vprightly, 14 and to put on Christ.

*Titus.3.1. 1.pet.2.13.

LEt *[1] euery [a] soule bee subiect vnto the higher [2] powers: [3] for there is no power but of God: and the powers that bee, are [b] ordeined of God.

1 Now he sheweth seuerally, what subiects owe to their magistrates, to wit, obedience: From which he sheweth that no man is free: and in such sort, that it is not onely due to the highest Magistrate himselfe, but also euen to the basest, which hath any office vnder him.

2 Whosoeuer therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinaunce of God: and they that resist, shal receiue to themselues condemnation.

a Yea, though an Apostle, though an Euangelist, though a Prophet: Chrysostome. Therefore the tyrannie of the Pope ouer all kingdomes must downe to the ground. 2 A reason taken of the nature of the thing it selfe: For to what purpose are they placed in higher degree, but that the inferiours should be subiect vnto them? 3 Another argument of great force: Because God is author of this order: so that such as are rebels, ought to know, that they make warre with God himselfe: wherefore they cannot but purchase to themselues great miserie and calamitie. b Be distributed: for some are greater, some smaller. 4 The third argument taken from the end wherefore they were made, which is most profitable: for that God by this meanes preserueth the good and bridleth the wicked: by which waies, the Magistrates themselues are put in mind of that duetie which they owe to their subiects.

3 [4] For Magistrates are not to bee feared for good workes, but for euill. [5] Wilt thou then be without feare of the power? doe well: so shalt thou haue prayse of the same.

4 For hee is the minister of God for thy wealth, [6] but if thou do euill, feare: for he beareth not the sword for nought: for he is the minister of God to [c] take vengeance on him that doeth euill.

5 [7] Wherefore ye must be subiect, not because of wrath onely, but [d] also for conscience sake.

6 [8] For, for this cause ye pay also tribute: for they are Gods ministers, applying themselues for the same thing.

7 *Giue to all men therefore their duetie: tribute, to whom ye owe tribute: custome, to whom custome: feare, to whom [e] feare: honor, to whom ye owe [f] honour.

8 [9] Owe nothing to any man, but to loue one another: [10] for he that loueth another, hath fulfilled the [g] Law.

9 For this, * Thou shalt not commit adultery, Thou shalt not kil, Thou shalt not steale, Thou shalt not beare false witnesse. Thou shalt not couet: and if there be any other commaundement, it is [s] briefly comprehended in this saying, euen in this. * Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

10 Loue doeth not euill to his neighbour: therefore is loue the * fulfilling of the Law.

11 [11] And that, considering the season that it is now time that we should arise from sleep: for now is our saluation neerer, then when we beleeued it.

12 The night is past, and the day is [i] at hand, let vs therefore cast away the workes [k] of darknesse, and let vs put on the armour of light, 13 So that we walke honestly, as in the day: not in * gluttony, and drunkennesse, neither in chambering & wantonnesse, nor in strife and enuying.

14 * But [l] put yee on the Lord IESVS CHRIST, and take no thought for the flesh, to fulfill the lustes of it.

5 An excellent way to beare this yoke, not onely without grieefe, but also with great profit.

6 God hath armed the Magistrate euen with a reuenging sword.

c By whom God reuengeth the wicked.

7 The conclusion: We must obey the Magistrate, not onely for feare of punishment, but much more because that (although the Magistrate hath no power ouer the conscience of man, yet seeing he is Gods minister) he cannot be resisted by any good conscience.

d So farre as lawfully we may: for if vnlawfull things be commanded vs, we must answere as Peter teacheth vs, It is better to obey God, then men.

8 He reckoneth vp the chiefest things wherein consisteth the obedience of subiects.

*Matt.22.11.

e Obedience, and that from the heart.

f Reuerence, which (as reason is) we must giue to the Magistrate.

9 He sheweth how very few iudgements need to be executed, to wit, if we so order our life as no man may iustly require any thing of vs, besides that onely, that we owe one to another, by the perpetuall law of charitie. 10 He commendeth Charitie, as an abridgement of the whole Law. g Hath not only done one commandement, but performed generally that which the Law commandeth. *Exod.20.14. deut.5.18. h For the whole Lawe commaundeth nothing else, but that wee loue God, & our neighbour. But seeing Paul speaketh here of the duties we owe one to another, we must restraine this worde, Law, to the second Table. *Leuiticus 19.18, matth. 22.39. marke 12.31. galat.5.14. iames 2.8. *1.Tim.1.1.

11 An application taken of the circumstance of the time: which also it selfe putteth vs in minde of our duetie, seeing that this remaineth, after that the darknesse of ignorance & wicked affections by the knowledge of Gods trueth be driuen out of vs, that we order our life according to that certaine and sure rule of all righteousnes & honestie, being fully grounded vpon the vertue of the Spirit of Christ.

i In other places we are said to be in the light, but yet so, that it appeareth not as yet what we are, for as yet we see but as it were in the twylight. k That kind of life which they lead, that flee the light. *Luke 21.34. *Galathians 5.16.1.peter 2.11. l To put on Christ, is to possesse Christ, to haue him in vs, and vs in him.

4 *[5] Who art thou that condemnest another mans seruant? he standeth or falleth to his owne master: yea, he shall be established: for God is able to make him stand.

5 [6] This man esteemeth one day aboue another day, and another man counteth euerie day alike: [7] let [d] euery man bee fully perswaded in his minde.

6 [8] He that [e] obserueth the day, obserueth it to the Lord: and hee that obserueth not the day, obserueth it not to the [f] Lord. Hee that [g] eateth, eateth to the Lorde: [9] for hee giueth God thankes: and hee that eateth [h] not, eateth not to the Lord, and giueth God thankes.

7 [10] For none of vs liueth to [i] himselfe, neither doeth any die to himselfe.

8 For whether we liue, we liue vnto the Lord: or whether wee die, wee die vnto the Lord: whether we liue therefore, or die, wee are the Lords.

9 For Christ therefore died, and rose againe, and reuiued, that he might be Lord both of the dead and the quicke.

10 [11] But why doest thou condemne thy brother? or why dost thou despise thy brother? *for we shal all appeare before the iudgement seate of Christ.

11 For it is written, *[k] I liue, saith the Lord, and euery knee shall bow to me, and all tongues shall [l] confesse vnto God.

12 So then euery one of vs shall giue accounts of himselfe to God.

13 [12] Let vs not therefore iudge one another any more: but vse your iudgement rather in [m] this, that no man put an occasion to fall, or a stumbling blocke before his brother.

14 [13] I know, and am perswaded through the [n] Lord Iesus, that there is nothing vnclean of it [o] selfe: but vnto him that iudgeth any thing to be vncleane, to him it is vncleane.

15 But if thy brother be grieued for the meat, now walkest thou not charitably: *[14] destroy not him with thy meate, for whom [15] Christ died.

16 [16] Cause not your commoditie to be euill spoken of.

17 [17] For the kingdome of God is not meat nor drinke, but righteousnes, and peace, and ioy in the holy Ghost.

18 For whosoeuer in [p] these things serueth Christ is acceptable vnto God, and is approoued of men.

19 [18] Let vs then followe those things

1 Now he sheweth how wee ought to behaue our selues toward our brethren in matters and things indifferent, offending in the vse of them, not of malice, or damnable superstition, but for lacke of knowledge of the benefit of Christ. And thus he teacheth that they are to bee instructed gently and patiently, and so that we apply our selues to their ignorance in such matters, according to the rule of charitie.

a Doe not for a matter is nothing which is indifferent, and such as you may doe or not doe, shun his companie, but take him to you.

b To make him by your doubtfull and vncertaine disputations goe away more in doubt then he came, or start backe with a troubled conscience. 2 He propoundeth for an example, the difference of meates, which some thought was necessarily to bee obserued as a thing prescribed by the Lawe (not knowing that it was taken away) where as on the contrarie side such as had profited in the knowledge of the Gospel, knew well that this schoolemaisterships of the Law was abolished. c Knoweth by faith. 3 In such a matter, saith the Apostle, let neither them which know their libertie, proudly despise their weake brother, neither let the vnlearned crabbedly or frowardly condemne that, that they vnderstand not. 4 The first reason: Because that seeing both hee that eateth, and he that eateth not, is notwithstanding the member of Christ, neither hee which eateth not, can iustly be contemned, neither he which eateth, bee iustly condemned: Now the first proposition is declared in the sixt verse following. *Iam.4.12. 5 An other reason which hangeth vpon the former: why the vnlearned and more vnlearned ought not to be condemned of the more skilfull, as men without hope of saluation: Because, saith the Apostle, he that is ignorant to day, may bee indued to morrow with further knowledge, so that hee also may stand sure: Therefore it belongeth to God, and not vnto man, to pronounce the sentence of condemnation. 6 Another example of the difference of dayes according to the Law. 7 He setteth against this contempt, and hastie or rash iudgements, a continuall desire to profit, that the strong may be certainly perswaded of their libertie of what maner and sort it is, and how they ought to vse it: and against the weake may daily profit, least either they abuse the gift of God, or these please themselues in their infirmitie. d That he may say in his conscience, that he knoweth and is perswaded by Iesus Christ, that nothing is vncleane of it selfe, and this perswasion must bee grounded vpon the word of God. 8 A reason taken from the nature of indifferent things, which a man may with good conscience doe, and omit: for seeing that the difference of dayes and meates was appointed by God, how could they which as yet vnderstood not the abrogating of the Lawe, and yet otherwise acknowledged Christ as their Sauiour, with good conscience neglect that which they knew was commanded of God? And on the contrarie side, they that knew the benefit of Christ in this behalfe, did with good conscience neither obserue dayes nor meates. Therefore saith the Apostle verse 10. Let not the strong condemne the weake for these things, seeing that the weake brethren are brethren notwithstanding. Now if any man would draw this doctrine to these our times and ages, let him know that the Apostle speaketh of such things indifferent, as they which thought them not to be indifferent, had ground in the Law, and were deceiued by simple ignorance, and not of malice, (for to such the Apostle yeelded not, no not for a moment) nor superstition, but of a religious feare of God.

e Obserueth precisely. f God shall iudge whether hee doe well or no. And therefore you should rather striue about this, how euery one of you may be allowed of God, then to thinke vpon other mens doings. g He that maketh no difference of meates. 9 So the Apostle sheweth that hee speaketh of the faithfull, both strong and weake: But what if we haue to doe with infidels? Then must we heere take heed of two things as also is declared in the Epistle to the Corinthians. The one is, that we count not their superstition among things indifferent, as they did which sate downe to meate in Idols Temples: the other is, that then also when the matter is indifferent (as to buy a thing offred to Idols, in the butchers shambles, and to eate it at home or in a priuate banquet) we wound not the conscience of our weake brother. h Hee that toucheth not meates which he taketh to be vncleane by the Law.

10 We must not sticke, saith he, in the meate it selfe, but in the vse of the meate, so that he is iustly to be reprehended that liueth so, that he casteth not his eies vpon God. For both our life and our death is dedicated to him, and for this cause Christ hath properly died, and not simply that we might eate this meate or that.

i Hath respect to himselfe onely, which the Hebrues vtter after this sort, Doeth well to his owne soule.

11 The conclusion: we must leaue to God his right, and therefore in matters, which according as the conscience is affected, are either good or euill, the strong must not despise their weake brethren, much lesse condemne them. But this consequent cannot be taken of equall force in the contrary, to wit, that the weake should not iudge the strong, because the weake doe not know, that they which doe not obserue a day and eate, obserue it not to the Lord, and eate to the Lord, as the strong men know that the weake which obserue a day & eate not, obserue the day to the Lord, & eate not to the Lord. *2.Cor.1.10. *Isai.45 23.philip 2.10. k This is a form of an othe, proper to God only, for he and none but he liueth, and hath his being of himselfe. l Shall acknowledge me for God. 12 After ỳ he hath concluded what is not to be done: he sheweth what is to be done: to wit, we must take heed that we do not vtterly cast downe with abusing our libertie, our brother which is not yet strong.

m He rebuketh by the way these malicious iudgers of others which occupie their heads about nothing, but to find fault with their brethrens life, whereas they should rather bestow their wits vpon this, that they doe not with their disdainefulnesse either cast their brethren cleane downe, or giue them some offence. 13 The preuenting of an obiection: It is true that the schoolemaistership of the Lawe is taken away by the benefite of Christ, to such as knowe it. but yet notwithstanding we haue to consider in the vse of this liberty, what is expedient, that we may haue regard to our weake brother, seeing that our libertie is not lost thereby. n By the Spirit of the Lord Iesus, or by the Lorde Iesus, who I am sure brake downe the wall at his comming. o By nature. *1.Corinthians 8.11.14. It is the part of a cruell minde to make more account of meate, then of our brothers saluation. Which thing they doe, that presume to eate with the offence of any brother, & so giue him occasion to goe back from the Gospel. 15 An other argument: We must followe Christes example: who was so farre from destroying the weake with meate, that he gaue his life for them. 16 Another argument: for that by this meanes the libertie of the Gospell is euill spoken of, as though it openeth the way to attempt any thing whatsoeuer, and hindereth vs to all things. 17 A generall reason, and the ground of all the other arguments: The kingdome of heauen consisteth not in these outward things, but in the studie of righteousnesse and peace, and comfort of the holy Ghost. p Hee that liueth peaceably, and doeth righteously through the holy Ghost. 18 A generall conclusion: The vse of this libertie, yea, and our whole life, ought to be referred to the edifying of one another, in so much that we esteeme that thing vnlawfull by reason of the offence of our brother, which is of it selfe pure and lawfull.

which concerne peace, and wherwith one may edifie another.

20 Destroy not that worke of God for meats sake: * all things in deed are pure: but it is euill for the man which eateth with offence.

21 * It is good neither to eate flesh, nor to drinke wine, nor any thing wherby thy brother stumbleth, or is offended, or made weake.

22 [19] Hast thou [q] faith? haue it with thy selfe before God: blessed is he that condemneth not himselfe in that thing which he [r] alloweth.

23 For he that [s] doubteth, is condemned if hee eate, because hee eateth not of faith: and whatsoeuer is not of faith, is sinne.

* Titus 1.5.
* 2.Cor.8.13.
19 He giueth a double warning in these matters: one, which pertaineth to the strong, that he which hath obtained a sure knowledge of this libertie, keepe that treasure to the end he may vse it wisely and profitably, as hath bene sayde: the other which respecteth the weake, that they doe nothing rashly by other mens example with a wauering conscience, for that cannot be done without sinne, wherof we are not perswaded by the word of God, that he liketh and approueth it. q He shewed before, vers. 14. what he meaneth by faith, to wit, for a man to be certaine and out of doubt in matters and things indifferent. r Embraceth. s Reasoneth with himselfe.

CHAP. XV.

1 The stronger must imploy their strength to strengthen the weake, 3 by Christes example, 7 who receiueth 8 not onely the Iewes, 10 but also the Gentiles. 11 The cause why he wrote this Epistle.

1 Now the Apostle treateth generally of tolerating or bearing with the weake by all meanes, so farre forth as may be for their profite.

1 WE [1] which are strong, ought to beare the infirmities of the weake, and not to [a] please our selues.

a And despise others.

2 Therfore let euery man please his neighbour in that that is [b] good to edification.

b For his profite and edification.

3 [2] For Christ also would not please himselfe, but as it is written, * The rebukes of them which rebuke thee, fell on me.

2 A confirmation taken of the example of Christ who suffered all things, to bring not onely the weake, but also his most cruell enemies, ouercomming them with patience, to his Father.

4 [3] For whatsoeuer things are written [c] aforetime, are written for our learning, that we through patience, & comfort of the [d] Scriptures might haue hope.

* Psal.69.10.

3 The preuenting of an obiection: Such things as are cited out of the example of the ancients, are propounded vnto vs to this end and purpose, that according to the example of our Fathers, wee should in patience and hope beare one with another. c By Moses and the Prophets. d The Scriptures are sayd to teach and comfort, because God vseth them to teach and comfort his people withall.

5 [4] Now the God of patience and consolation, giue you that ye be * like minded one towards another, according to Christ Iesus,

4 We must take an example of patience, of God: that both the weake and the strong seruing God with a mutuall consent, may bring one another to God, as Christ also receiued vs vnto himselfe, although we were neuer so vnworthie. * 1.Cor.1.10.

6 That ye with one minde, and with one mouth may praise God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ.

7 Wherefore receiue yee one another, as Christ also [e] receiued vs to the glory of God.

e He did not disdaine vs, but receiued vs of his owne accord, to make vs partakers of Gods glory.

8 [5] Now I say, that Iesus Christ was a minister of the [f] circumcision, for the [g] trueth of God, to confirme the promises made vnto the Fathers.

5 An applying of the example of Christ to the Iewes, whom hee vouchsafed this honour for the promises which hee made vnto their Fathers, although they were neuer so vnworthie, that hee executed the office of a Minister amongst them with marueilous patience: therefore much lesse ought the Gentiles despise them for certaine faults, whom the Sonne of God so much esteemed. f Of the circumcised Iewes, for as long as he liued, he neuer went out of their quarters. g That God might be seene to be true.

9 [6] And let the Gentiles praise God, for his mercy, as it is written, * For this cause I will [h] confesse thee among the Gentiles, and sing vnto thy Name.

6 An applying of the same to the Gentiles, whom also the Lord of his incomprehensible goodnesse had regard of, so that they are not to be contemned of the Iewes, as strangers.

* Psal.18.50.
h I will openly professe, and set forth thy Name.

10 And againe he saith, * Reioyce, ye Gentiles with his people.

* Deut 32.43.

11 And againe, * Praise the Lord, all ye Gentiles, and laude yee him, all people together.

* Psal.117.1.

12 And againe Esaias sayth, * There shall be a roote of Iesse, and hee that shall rise to reigne ouer the Gentiles, in him shal the Gentiles trust.

* Esai.11.10.

13 [7] Now the God of [i] hope fill you with [k] all ioy, and peace in beleeuing, that ye may abound in hope, through the power of the holy Ghost.

7 He ieasteth by as it were all the former treatise with prayers, wishing all that is to be giuen them of the Lord, that he had commanded them.

i In whō we hope k Abundantly and plentifully.

14 [8] And I my selfe am also perswaded of you, my brethren, that [l] ye also are full of goodnesse, and filled with all knowledge, and are able to admonish one another.

8 The conclusion of the Epistle, wherein he first excuseth himself, that he hath written somewhat at large vnto them, rather to warne them, then to teach them, and that of necessity, by reason of his vocation, which bindeth him peculiarly to the Gentiles.

l Of your owne accord, and of your selues.

15 Neuertheless, brethren, I haue somewhat boldly after a sort written vnto you, as one that putteth you in remembrance, through the grace that is giuen me of God,

16 That I should be the minister of Iesus Christ toward the Gentiles, ministring the Gospel of God, that the [m] offering vp of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being sanctified by the holy Ghost.

m By the offering vp of the Gentiles, he meaneth the Gentiles themselues, whom he offered to God as a sacrifice.

17 [9] I haue therefore whereof I may reioyce in Christ Iesus in those things which perteine to God.

9 He commendeth his Apostleship highly by the effects, but yet so, that moreouer and besides that he speaketh all things truely, he giueth all the glory to God as the onely author, and doeth not properly respect himselfe, but this rather, that men might lesse doubt of the trueth of the doctrine which he propounded vnto them.

18 For I dare not speake of any thing, which [n] Christ hath not wrought by mee, to make the Gentiles obedient in word & deed, n Christ was so with me in all things, and by all meanes, that if I would neuer so faine, yet I can not say, what he hath done by me to bring the Gentiles to obey the Gospel.

19 With the [o] power of signes and wonders, by the power of the Spirit of God: so that from Hierusalem, and round about vnto Illyricum, I haue caused to abound the Gospel of Christ.

o In the first place this word power, signifieth the force and working of the wonders in peareing mens mindes: and in the latter, it signifieth Gods mighty Power which was the worker of those wonders. * Isa.52.15. * Chap.1.17.

20 Yea, so I enforced my selfe to preach the Gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should haue built on another mans foundation,

10 He writeth at large to the Romanes, and that familiarly, his singular good will towards them, and the state of his affaires, but so, that he swarueth not a iote from the end of Apostolicall doctrine: for he declareth nothing but that which appertaineth to his office, and is godly: and commending by a little digression as it were, the liberalitie of the Churches of Macedonia, he promiseth them mouthly to follow their godly paces. * 1.Thess.1.17.

21 But as it is written, * To whom hee was not spoken of, they shall see him, and they that heard not, shall vnderstand him.

22 * [10] Therefore also I haue bene oft let to come vnto you:

23 But nowe seeing I haue no more place in these quarters, and also haue * bene desirous many yeres a goe to come vnto you,

24 When I shall take my iourney into Spaine, I will come to you: for I trust to see you in my iourney, and to bee brought on my way thitherward by you, after that I haue bene somewhat filled with your company.

25 But now goe I to Hierusalem, to [p] minister vnto the Saints.

26 For it hath pleased them of Macedonia and Achaia, to make a certaine distribution vnto the poore Saints which are at Hierusalem.

27 [11] For it hath pleased them, and their debters are they: * for if the Gentiles bee made partakers of their spiritual things, their duetie is also to [q] minister vnto them in carnal things.

28 When I haue therefore performed this, and haue [r] sealed them this [s] fruit, I will passe by you into Spaine.

29 [12] And I know when I come, that I shall come to you with abundance of the blessing of the Gospel of Christ.

30 Also brethren, I beseech you for our Lord Jesus Christs sake, and for the [t] loue of the spirite, that yee would striue with mee by prayers to God for me,

31 That I may bee deliuered from them which are disobedient in Judea, and that my seruice which I haue to doe at Hierusalem, may be accepted of the Saints, 32 That I may come vnto you with ioy by the will of God, and may with you be refreshed.

33 Thus the God of peace be with you all, Amen.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Hee commendeth Phebe. 3 Hee sendeth greeting to many, 17 and warneth to beware of them which are the causes of diuision.

I [1] Commend vnto you Phebe our Sister, which is a seruaunt of the Church of Cenchrea:

2 That ye receiue her in the [a] Lord, as it becommeth Saints, and that yee assist her in whatsoeuer businesse she needeth of your aide: for she hath giuen hospitalitie vnto many, and to me also.

3 Greete * Priscilla, and Aquila my fellow helpers in Christ Jesus,

4 (Which haue for my life layed downe their own necke, Unto whom not I only giue thankes, but also all the Churches of the Gentiles.)

5 Likewise greete the [b] Church that is in their house. Salute my beloued Epenetus, which is the [c] first fruits of Achaia in Christ.

6 Greet Mary which bestowed much labour vpon vs,

7 Salute Andronicus & Junia my cousins and fellow prisoners, which are notable among the Apostles, and were in [d] Christ before me.

8 Greet Amplias my beloued in the Lord.

9 Salute Urbanus our fellow helper in Christ, and Stachys my beloued.

10 Salute Apelles approoued in Christ. Salute thē which are of Aristobulus friends.

11 Salute Herodian my kinsman. Greete them which are of the friends of Narcissus, which are in the Lord.

12 Salute Tryphena & Tryphosa, which women labour in the Lord. Salute the beloued Persis, which woman hath laboured much in the Lord.

13 Salute Rufus chosen in the Lord, and his mother and mine.

14 Greet Asyncritus, Phlegon, Hermas, Patrobas, Mercurius, & the brethren which are with them.

15 Salute Philologus and Julias, Nereas and his sister, and Olympas, and all the [e] Saints which are with them.

16 Salute one another with an * holy [e] kisse. The Churches of Christ salute you.

17 [2] Nowe I beseech you brethren, [f] marke them diligently which cause diuision and offences, contrary to the doctrine which ye haue learned and * auoid them.

18 For they that are such, serue not the Lord Jesus Christ, but their owne bellies, and with [g] faire speach and flattering deceiue the hearts of the simple.

19 [3] For your obedience is come abroade among all: I am glad therefore of you: but yet I would haue you [h] wise vnto that which is good, and [i] simple concerning euill.

20 [4] The God of peace shall tread Satan vnder your feet shortly. The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you.

21 *[5] Timotheus my helper, and Lucius and Jason, and Sosipater my kinsmen, salute you.

22 I Tertius, which [k] wrote out this Epistle, salute you in the Lord.

23 Gaius mine host & of the whole Church saluteth you, Erastus the steward of the citie saluteth you, and Quartus a brother.

24 [6] The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

1 Hauing made an end of the whole disputation, he commeth now to familiar commendations and salutations, and that to good consideration and purpose, to wit, that the Romanes might know, who are most to be honoured and made account of amongst them: and also whom they ought to set before them to follow: and therefore hee attributeth vnto euery of them peculiar and singular testimonies.

CHAP. I.

1 After the salutation, 10 which in effect is an exhortation, 12 he reprehendeth the Corinthians sects and diuisions, 17 and calleth them from pride to humility: 20 For, ouerthrowing all worldly wisedome, 23, 25 he aduanceth onely the preaching of the crosse.

PAul [1] called to be an [2] Apostle of Iesus christ, through the will of God, & our brother [3] Sosthenes,

2 [4] Vnto the Church of God, which is at Corinthus, to them that are *[5] sanctified in [a] Christ Iesus, * Saints by [b] calling * with all y [c] call on the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ in euery place, both their Lord, and ours:

3 [6] Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lorde Iesus Christ.

4 [7] I thanke my God alwayes on your behalfe for the grace of God, which is giuen you in Iesus Christ.

5 That in all things yee are made rich in him, [8] in [d] all kind of speech, & in al knowledge:

6 [9] As the testimonie of Iesus Christ hath bene [e] confirmed in you:

7 So that yee are not destitute of any gift: * [10] waiting for the [f] appearing of our Lord Iesus Christ.

8 *[11] Who shall also confirme you vnto the end, that ye may be [g] blamelesse, in the day of our Lord Iesus Christ.

9 * God is [h] faithfull, by whom yee are called vnto the fellowship of his Sonne Iesus Christ our Lord.

10 [12] Now I beseech you, brethren, by the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, that [13] ye all speake one thing, and that there be no dissentions among you: but be yee [i] knit together in one mind and in one iudgement.

11 [14] For it hath bene declared vnto mee, my brethren, of you by them that are of the house of Cloe, that there are contentions among you.

12 Now [k] this I say, that euery one of you saith, I am Pauls, and I am * Apollos, and I am Cephas, and I am Christs.

13 [15] Is Christ diuided? was [16] Paul crucified for you? either were ye [17] baptized into the name of Paul?

14 [18] I thanke God, that I baptized none of you, but * Crispus and Gaius, 15 Lest any should say, that I had baptized into mine owne name.

1 The inscription of the Epistle, wherein hee chiefely goeth about to procure the good will of the Corinthians towards him, yet notwithstanding so, that alwayes he letteth them to wit, that he is the seruant of God and not of men.

2 If he be an Apostle, then he must be heard, although he sometime reprehend the sharply, seeing he hath not his owne cause in hand, but is a messenger that bringeth the cõmandements of Christ.

3 He ioyneth Sosthenes with himselfe, that this doctrine might be confirmed by two witnesses.

4 It is a church of God, although it hath great faults in it, so that it obey them which admonish them. * Acts 15.9. 1.thes.4.7. 5 A true definition of the Catholike Church which is one. a The father sanctifieth vs, that is to say, separateth vs from the wicked, in giuing vs to his Sonne, that he may be in vs, and we in him. * Rom. 1.7. Ephe. 1.1. Coloss. 1.22. 2.Tim.1.9. Tit. 2.13. b Whom God of his gracious goodnesse & meere loue hath separated for himselfe: or whom God hath called to holinesse: the first of these two expositions, sheweth from whence our sanctification commeth, and the second sheweth to what end it tendeth. * 2.Tim.1.22. c He is sayd properly to call on God, who crieth vnto the Lord when he is in danger, and craueth helpe at his hands: and by the figure Synecdoche it is taken for all the seruice of God: and therefore to call vpon Christs Name, is to acknowledge and take him for very God. 6 The foundation & the life of the Church, is Christ Iesus giuen of the Father. 7 Going about to commende many vices: he beginneth with a true commendation of their vertues left hee might seeme after to descend to chiding, being moued with malice or enuie: yet so, that hee referreth all to God as the author of them, and that in Christ, that the Corinthians might be more ashamed to prophane and abuse the holy gifts of God. 8 He teacheth that by name, which they most abused. d Seeing that whiles we liue here, we know but in part, and prophesie in part, this word (All) must be restrained to the present state of the faithfull: but by Speech he meaneth not a vaine kind of babbling, but the gift of holy eloquence, which the Corinthians abused. 9 He sheweth that the true vse of these gifts consisteth herein, that the mighty power of Christ might thereby be set forth in them, that hereafter it might euidently appeare how wickedly they abused them to glory and ambition. e By those excellent gifts of the holy Ghost. * Tit.2 11. Philip.3. 20. 10 He saith by the way, that there is no cause why they should please themselues so much in those gifts which they had receiued, seeing that these were nothing in comparison of them which are to be looked for. f He speaketh of the last comming of Christ.

* 1.Thes.3.13. and 5.23.

11 He testifieth that hee hopeth well of the hereafter, that they may more patiently abide his reprehension afterward. And yet together therewithall sheweth, that as well the beginning as the accomplishing of our saluation is onely the worke of God.

g He calleth them blamelesse, not whom may neuer found fault with, but with whom no man can iustly find fault, that is to say, them which are in Christ Iesus, in whom there is no condemnation. See Luke 1.6.

* 1.Thes.5.24.

h True and constant, who doeth not onely call vs, but giueth vs the gift of perseuerance also.

12 Hauing made an end of the preface, he commeth to the matter it selfe, beginning with a most graue obtestation, as though they should heare Christ himselfe speaking and not Paul. 13 The first part of this Epistle, wherein his purpose is, to call backe the Corinthians to brotherly concord, and to take away all occasion of discord. So then this first part concerneth the taking away of schismes. Now a sedition is when men which otherwise agree and consent together in doctrine, do yet separate themselues one from another. i Knit together, as a body that consisteth of all his parts fitly knit together. 14 He beginneth his reprehension and chiding by taking away of an obiection: for that he vnderstood by good witnesses, that there were many factions among them. And therewithall he openeth the cause of dissentions, because that some did hang on one author, some on another, and some were so addicted to themselues, that they neglected all doctours and teachers, calling themselues the disciples of Christ only, shutting forth their teachers. k The matter I would say to you, is this. * Act. 18.24. 15 The first reason why schismes ought to be eschewed: because Christ seemeth by that meanes, to be deuided and torne in pieces, who cannot be the head of two diuers and disagreeing bodies, being himselfe one. 16 Another reason: Because they cannot without great iniurie to God, so hang of men as of Christ: which thing no doubt they do, which allow whatsoeuer some man speaketh, euen for his persons sake: as these men allowed one selfe same Gospel being vttered of one man, and did lothe it being vttered of another man. So that these factions were called by the names of their teachers. Now Paul setteth downe his owne name, not onely to grieue no man, but also to shew that he pleadeth not his owne cause. 17 The third reason taken of the forme and end of Baptisme, wherein we make a promise to Christ, calling on also the Name of the Father and the holy Ghost. Therefore although a man do not fall from the doctrine of Christ, yet if he hang vpon some certaine teachers, and despise others, he forsaketh Christ: for if he hold Christ his onely master, he would heare him, teaching by whomsoeuer. 18 He preacheth that he speaketh so much the more boldly of these things, because that through Gods prouidence, he is voyd of all suspicion of challenging disciples vnto himselfe, and taking them from others. Whereby we may vnderstand, that not the seduced only, but the teachers also are here reprehended, which gathered themselues flocks apart. * Act. 18.8.

16 I baptized also the houshould of Stephanas: furthermore know I not, whether I baptized any other.

17 [19] For Christ sent mee not to baptize, but to preach the Gospel, [20] not with *[l] wisedome of words, lest the [21] crosse of Christ should be made of none effect.

18 For that [m] preaching of the crosse is to them that perish, foolishnesse: but unto vs which are saued, it is the *[n] power of God.

19 [22] For it is written, *I will destroy the wisedome of the wise, and will cast away the vnderstanding of the prudent.

20 Where is the wise? where is [o] Scribe? where is the [p] disputer of this worlde? hath not God made the wisdom of this world foolishnes?

21 [23] For seeing the [q] world by wisdome knew not God in the [r] wisdome of God, [24] it pleased God by the [s] foolishnes of preaching to saue them that beleeue:

22 *[25] Seeing also that the Iewes require a signe, and the Grecians seek after wisdome

23 But we preach Christ crucified: vnto the Iewes, euen a stumbling blocke, and vnto the Grecians, foolishnesse:

24 But vnto thē which are called, both of the Iewes and Grecians, we preach Christ, ẏ power of God, and the wisedome of God.

25 For the foolishnesse of God is wiser then men, and the weakenesse of God is stronger then men.

26 [26] For brethren, you see your [t] calling, how ẏ not many wise men [u] after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble are called.

27 But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise, & God hath chosen the weake things of the world, to confound the mighty things,

28 And vile things of the world & things which are despised, hath God chosen, and things which [x] are not, to bring to [y] nought things that are,

29 That no [z] flesh should reioyce in his presence.

30 But yee are [a] of him in Christ Iesus, [27] who of God is made vnto vs wisedome and righteousnesse, & sanctification, and redemption, 31 That, according as it is written, *[b] He that reioyceth, let him reioyce in the Lord.

19 The taking away of an obiection that he came not himselfe to baptize many amongst them: not for the contempt of Baptisme, but because he was chiefly occupied in delivering the doctrine, & committed them that received his doctrine to others to bee baptized, whereof he had store. And so hee declared sufficiently how far he was from all ambition: whereas on the other side, they, whom he reprehendeth, as though they gathered disciples vnto themselues and not vnto Christ, braggued most ambitiously of numbers, which they had baptized.

26 A confirmatiō taken of those things which came to passe at Corinth, where the Church especially consisted of the basest and common people, in so much that the philosophers of Greece were driuen to shame when they saw that they could doe nothing with their wisedom and eloquence, in comparison of the Apostles, whom notwithstanding they called idiots and vnlearned. And herewithall doth he beate downe their pride: for God did not preferre them before those noble and wise men because they should be proud, but that they might be constreined euen whether they would or not, to reioyce in the Lord, by whose mercie, although they were the most abiects of all, they had obteined in Christ, both this wisedome & all things necessary to saluation.

20 Now he turneth himselfe to the doctors themselues, which pleased themselues in braue and ambitious eloquence, to the end that they might drawe more disciples after them. He confesseth plainely that he was like vnto them, opposing grauely, as it became an Apostle, his example against their peruers iudgements: So that this is another place of this Epistle, touching the obseruing of a godly simplicitie both in words and sentences in teaching of the Gospel. *Chap.2.13. 1.pet.1.16. l With eloquence: Which Paul casteth off from him not onely as not necessary, but also as flat contrary to the office of his Apostleship: and yet had Paul his kind of eloquence, but it was heauenly not of man, and voide of painted words. 21 The reason why he vsed not the pompe of words, and painted speach: because it was Gods will to bring the world to his obedience by that way, whereby the most idiots amongst men might vnderstand, that this worke was done of God himselfe without the art of man. Therefore as saluation is set foorth vnto vs in the Gospel by the crosse of Christ, then which nothing is more contemptible, and more farre from life, so God would haue the maner of the preaching of the crosse, most different from those meanes, with which men vse to draw and entise other, either to heare or beleeue: therefore it pleased him by a certaine kind of most wise folly, to triumph ouer the most foolish wisedome of the world, as he sayd before by Esay, that he would. And hereby we may gather, that both these doctors which were puffed vp with ambitious eloquence, and also their hearers, strayed far away from the end and marke of their vocation. m The preaching of Christ crucified, or the kind of speech which we vse. *Rom.1.16. n It is that wherein hee declareth his marueilous power in sauing his elect, which would not so euidently appeare, if it hanged vpon any helpe of man, for so, man might attribute that to himselfe, which is proper onely to the crosse of Christ. 22 The Apostle proueth, that this ought not only not to seeme strange seing that it was foretold so long before, but declareth further, that God is wont to punish ẏ pride of the world in such sort which so pleaseth it selfe in it own wisdom: and therefore that that is vaine, yea a thing of nothing, and such as God reiecteth as vnprofitable, which they so carefully laboured for, and made so great accompt of. *Esai.29.14. o Where art thou, O thou learned fellow, and thou that spendest thy dayes in turning thy bookes? p Thou that spendest all thy time in seeking out the secret things of this world, & in expounding all hard questions: and thus triumpheth he against all the men of this world, for there was not one of them that could so much as dreame vpon this secret & hidden mysterie. 23 He sheweth that the pride of men was worthily punished of God, because they would not behold God, as meet was they should, in the most cleare glasse of the wisdome of the world, which is the workemanship of ẏ world. q By the world he meaneth all men which are not borne anew, but remaine as they were, when they were first borne. r In the workmanship of this world, which hath the marueilous wisedome of God ingraued in it, so that euery man may behold it. 24 The goodnes of God is wonderfull, for while hee goeth about to punish the pride of the world, he is very prouident & careful for the saluation of it, & teacheth men to become fooles, that they may be wise to God. s So he calleth the preaching of the Gospel as the enemies supposed it: but in the meane season he taunteth them very sharpely, who had rather charge God with folly, then acknowledge their own, & craue pardon for it. *Mat.12.38. 25 A declaration of that which he sayd: that the preaching of the Gospel, is foolish. It is foolish, saith hee, to them whom God hath not indued with new light, ẏ is to say, to all men being considered in themselues: for the Iewes require miracles, & the Grecians arguments, which they may comprehend by their wit & wisdome: and therefore they do not only not beleeue ẏ Gospel, but also they mocke at it. Notwithstanding in this foolish preaching, there is the great vertue & wisedome of God, but such as those only which are called do perceiue: God shewing most plainly, that euen then when mortall men thinke him most foolish, he is far wiser then they are: and that hee surmounteth all their might and power, when he vseth most vile and abiect things, as it hath appeared in the fruit of the preaching of the Gospel.

CHAP. II.

1 He setteth downe a platforme of his preaching, 4 which was base in respect of mans wisedome, 7.13. but noble in respect of the spiritual power & efficacie, 14 & so cōcludeth that flesh and blood cannot rightly iudge therof.

AND [1] I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with *excellencie of words, or of wisedome, shewing vnto you the [a] testimony of God.

2 For I [b] esteemed not to knowe any thing among you, saue Iesus Christ, and him crucified.

3 *And I was among you in [c] weakenesse, and in feare, and in much trembling.

4 Neither stoode my worde, and my preaching in the *[c] inticing speech of mans

1 He returneth to the 17. verse of the former chapter, that is to say, to his owne example: confessing that he vsed not among them either excellencie of words or enticing speech of mans wisedome, but with great simplicitie of speech both knew and preached Iesus Christ crucified, humbleand abiect, as touching the flesh. *Chap.1.17. a The Gospel. b I purposed not to professe any knowledge but the knowledge of Christ & him crucified. *Act. 18.1. c Hee setteth weakenesse, against excellencie of words, and therefore ioyneth with it feare and trembling which are companions of true modestie, not such feare and trembling as terrifie the conscience, but such as are contrary to vanitie and pride. *Chap.1.17. 2 pet.1.16.

wisedome,

wisdome,[2] but in plaine [d]euidence of the Spirit and of power.

5 [3] That your faith should not bee in the wisedome of men, but in the power of God.

6 [4] And we speake wisdome among them that are [e]perfect: not the wisedome of this world, neither of the [f] princes of this world, which come to naught.

7 [5] But wee speake the wisdome of God in a [g] mistерie, euen the hid wisdome, [6] which God had determined before the world, vnto our glorie.

8 [7] Which none of [y] princes of this world hath knowen: for had they knowen it, they would not haue crucified the [h] Lord of glory.

9 [8] But as it is written, * The things which eye hath not seene, neither eare hath heard, neither came into [i] mans heart, are, which God hath prepared for them [y] loue him.

10 [9] But God hath reuealed them vnto vs by his Spirit: for the spirit [k] searcheth all things, yea, the deepe things of God.

11 [10] For what man knoweth the things of a man, saue the [l] spirit of a man, which is in him: euen so the things of God knoweth no man, but the spirit of God.

12 Now we haue receiued not the [m] spirit of the world, but the Spirit, which is of God, [11] that wee might [n] know the things that are giuen vs of God.

13 [12] Which things also we speake, not in the * words which mans wisedome teacheth, but which the holy Ghost teacheth, [o] comparing spirituall things with spirituall things.

14 [13] But the [p] naturall man perceiueth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishnesse vnto him: neither can hee know them, because they are [q] spiritually discerned.

15 [14] But he that is spirituall, [r] discerneth all things: yet [15] he himselfe is iudged of [s] no man.

16 *[16] For who hath knowen the mind of the Lord, that hee might [t] instruct him? But we haue [u] the mind of Christ.

*Chap. 1. 17. 2. pet. 1. 16.

o Applying the words vnto the matter, to wit, that as we teach spirituall things, so must our kind of teaching be spirituall.

13 Againe hee preuenteth an offence or stumbling blocke: How commeth it to passe that so few allow these things? This is not to be marueiled at, saith the Apostle, seeing that men in their

d By plaine euidence he meaneth such a proofe, as is made by certaine and necessary reasons

3 And he telleth the Corinthians, that he did it for their great profite, because they might thereby know manifestly that the Gospel was frō heauen. Therefore he priuily rebuketh them, because that in seeking vaine ostentation, they willingly depriued themselues of the greatest helpe of their faith.

4 Another argument taken of the nature of the thing, that is of the Gospel, which is true wisedome: but naturall powers (as they terme them) are not indued with that faculty whereby spirituall things are discerned (which faculty commeth another way) and therefore they accoume spirituall wisedome as folly: and it is as if he should say, It is no marueile that blind men cannot iudge of colours, seeing that they lacke the light of their eyes, and therefore light is to them as darkenesse. p The man that hath no further light of vnderstanding, then that which hee brought with him, euen from his mothers wombe, as Iude defineth it, Iude 19. q By the vertue of the holy Ghost. 14 He amplifieth the matter by cōtraries. r Vnderstandeth and discerneth. 15 The wisedome of the flesh, saith Paul, determineth nothing certainely, no not in it owne affaires, much lesse can it discerne strange, that is, spirituall things. But the Spirit of God, wherewith spirituall men are endued, can be deceiued by no means, & therefore be reproued of no man. s Of no man: for when the Prophets are iudged of the Prophets, it is the Spirit that iudgeth, and not the man. * Esai. 40. 13. rom 11. 34. 16 A reason of the former saying: for he is called spirituall, which hath learned that by the vertue of the Spirit, which Christ hath taught vs. Now if that which we haue learned of that Master, could be reproued of any man, hee must needes be wiser then God: whereupon it followeth, that they are not onely foolish, but also wicked, which thinke that they can deuise some thing that is either more perfect, or that they can teach the wisedome of God a better way then they knew or taught which vndoubtedly were indued with Gods Spirit. t Lay his head to his, and teach him what he should doe. u We are indued with the spirit of Christ, who openeth vnto vs those secrets, which by all other meanes are vnsearchable, and also all trueth whatsoeuer.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee yeeldeth a reason why hee preached small matters vnto them: He sheweth how they ought to esteeme of ministers. 6 The ministers office. 10 A true forme of edifying. 16 He warneth the Corinthians, that they be not drawen away to prophane things, 18 through the proud wisedome of the flesh.

AND [1] I could not speake vnto you, brethren, as vnto spirituall men, but as vnto [a] carnall, euen as vnto babes in Christ.

2 I gaue you milke to drinke, and not [b] meat: for ye were not yet [c] able to beare it, neither yet now are able.

3 For yee are yet carnall: for whereas there is among you enuying, and strife, & diuisions, are ye not carnall, and walke as [d] men?

4 For when one saith, I am Pauls, and another, I am Apollos, are ye not carnall?

5 [2] Who is Paul then? and who is A-

1 Hauing declared the worthinesse of heauenly wisedome, and of the Gospel, & hauing generally condemned the blindnesse of mans minde, now at length he applieth it particularly to the Corinthians, calling them carnall, that is, such in whom as yet the flesh preuaileth against the Spirit. And he bringeth a double testimonie of it: first, for that he had proued them to bee such, in such sort that he dealt with them no otherwise then with ignorant men, and such as are almost babes in the doctrine of godlinesse, and secondly, because they shewed in deed by these dissentions, which sprang vp by reason of the ignorance of the vertue of the Spirit, and heauenly wisedome, that they had profited very little or nothing. a He calleth them carnall, which are as yet ignorant: and therefore to expresse it the better, he termeth them babes. b Substantiall meate, or strong meate. c To be fed by me with substantiall meat: therefore as the Corinthians grew vp in age, so the Apostle nourished them by teaching, first with milke, then with strong meat, which difference was onely but in the maner of teaching. d By the square and compasse of mans wit and iudgement. 2 After that hee hath sufficiently reprehended ambitious teachers and their foolish esteemers, now hee sheweth how the true ministers are to bee esteemed, that wee attribute not vnto them, more or lesse then we ought to doe. Therefore he teacheth vs, that they are they by whom we are brought to faith and saluation, but yet as the ministers of God, and such as doe nothing of themselues, but God so working by them as to pleaseth him to furnish them with his gifts. Therefore we haue not to marke or consider what minister it is that speaketh, but what is spoken: and we must repose our eyes vpon him which speaketh by his seruants.

pollos, but the ministers by whom yee beleeued, as the Lord gaue to euery man?

3 He beautifieth the former sentence, with two similitudes: first comparing the companie of the faithful, to a field which God maketh fruitfull, when it is sowed and watered through the labour of his seruants: next, by cõparing it to an house which indeed ẏ Lord buildeth, but by the hands of his workmen, some of whom, he vseth in laying the foundation, others in building of it vp. Now, both these similitudes tend to this purpose, to shew that all things are wholy accomplished by Gods onely authoritie & might so that we must onely haue an eye to him. Moreouer, although ẏ God vseth some in the better part of the worke, we must not therfore contemne other, in respect of them and much lesse may we diuide or set them apart (as these factious men did) seeing that all of them labour in Gods businesse, and in such sort, that they serue to finish one selfe same worke, although by a diuers maner of working, insomuch that they neede one anothers helpe. * Psalme 62.12. gala.6.5. e Seruing vnder him: Now they which serue vnder another, doe nothing of their owne strength, but as it is giuen them of grace, which grace maketh them fit to that seruice. Looke chap.15.10. and 2.Cor.3.6. and all the increase that commeth by their labour, doth so proceed from God, that no part of the praise of it may be giuen to the vnder seruant. 4 Now hee speaketh to the teachers themselues, which succeeded him in the Church of Corinth, and in their person to all that were after or shall be Pastours of Congregations, seeing that they succeed into the labour of the Apostles, which were planters and chiefe builders. Therefore hee warneth them first, that they perswade not themselues that they may builde after their owne fantasie, that is, that they may propound and set foorth any thing in the Church, either in matter, or in kinde of teaching, different from the Apostles which were the chiefe builders. 5 Moreouer, hee sheweth what this foundation is, to wit, Christ Jesus, from whence they may not turne away one iote in the building vp of this building. 6 Thirdly, he sheweth, that they must take heed that the vpper part of the building be answerable to the foundation, that is, that admonitions, exhortations, and whatsoeuer pertaineth to the edifying of the flocke, be answerable to the doctrine of Christ, as well in the matter as in forme: which doctrine is compared to golde, siluer, and precious stones: of which matter, Esaias also and John in the reuelation builde the heauenly Citie. And to these are opposit, wood, hay, stubble, that is to say, curious and vaine questions or decrees: and besides to be short, all that kinde of teaching which serueth to ostentation. For false doctrines, whereof he speaketh not here, are not sayd properly to be built vpon this foundation, vnlesse peraduenture in their owne onely. 7 Hee testifieth, as indeede the trueth is, that all are not good builders, no not some of them which stand vpon this one and onely foundation: but howsoeuer this worke of euill builders, saith he, stand for a season, yet shall it not alwayes deceiue, because that the light of the trueth appearing at length, as day, shall dissolue this darkenesse, and shew what it is. And as that stuffe is tried by the fire, whether it be good or not, so will God in his time by the touch of his Spirit and word trie al buildings, & so shal it come to passe, that such as be found pure and sound, shall still continue so, to the praise of the workeman: but they that are otherwise, shall be consumed and vanish away, and so shall the workeman bee frustrate of the hope of his labour, which pleased himselfe in a thing of naught. 8 Hee taketh not away hope of saluation from the vnskilfull and foolish builders, which holde fast the foundation, of which sort were those Rhetoricians rather then Pastours of Corinth: but hee addeth an exception, that they must notwithstanding suffer this triall of their worke, and also abide the losse their vaine labours.

3 I haue planted, Apollos watered, but 6 God gaue the increase.

7 So then, neither is he that planteth any thing, neither hee that watereth, but God that giueth the increase.

8 And hee that planteth, and hee that watereth, are one: * and euery man shall receiue his wages according to his labour.

9 For we together are Gods [e] labourers:
yee are Gods husbandrie, and Gods building.

10 According to the grace of God giuen to me, as a skilfull master builder, I haue laid the foundation, and another builded thereon:
[4] but let euery man take heed how he buildeth vpon it.

11 [5] For other foundation can no man lay, then that which is layed, which is Jesus Christ.

12 [6] And if any man build on this foundation, golde, siluer, precious stones, timber, hay, or stubble,

13 [7] Euery mans worke shalbe made manifest: for the day shal declare it, because it shal be reuealed by the fire: and the fire shall trie euery mans worke of what sort it is.

14 If any mans worke, that he hath built vpon, abide, he shall receiue wages.

15 If any mans worke burne, hee shall lose, but [8] he shall be saued himselfe: neuertheless yet as it were by the fire.

16 *[9] Know ye not that ye are the Temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?

17 If any man [f] destroy the Temple of God, him shall God destroy: for the Temple of God is holy, which ye are.

18 [10] Let no man deceiue himselfe: If any man amongst you seeme to bee wise in this world, let him be a foole, that he may be wise.

19 For the wisedome of this world is foolishnesse with God: for it is written, * He [g] catcheth the wise in their owne craftinesse.

20 *And againe, The Lord knoweth that the thoughts of the wise be vaine.

21 [11] Therefore let no man [h] reioyce in men: for all things are [i] yours.

22 Whether it be Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the [12] world, or life, or death: whether they be things present, or things to come, euen all are yours, 23 And ye Christs, and Christ Gods.

* Chap.6 19. 2.Cor 6.16. 9 Continuing still in the metaphor of building, he teacheth vs that this ambition is not onely vaine, but also sacrilegious: for he saith that the Church is as it were the temple of God, which God hath as it were consecrated vnto himselfe by his Spirit. Then turning himselfe to these ambitious men he sheweth that they prophane the Temple of God, because those vaine arts wherin they pleasethemselues so much, are as he teacheth, so many pollutions of ẏ holy doctrine of God, and the puritie of the Church. Which wickednesse shall not bee suffered vnpunished. f Defileth it and maketh it vncleane, being holy: and surely they doe defile it, by Paul his iudgement, which by fleshly eloquence defile the puritie of the Gospel. 10 He concludeth by the contrarie, that they professe pure wisedome in the Church of God, which refuse and cast away all those vanities of men: and if they be mocked of the world, it is sufficient for them that they be wise according to the wisedome of God, and as he will haue them to be wise. * Iob 5.13. g Be they neuer so craftie, yet the Lord will take them when he shall discouer their trechery. * Psa. 44.11. 11 He returneth to the proposition of the second verse, first warning the hearers, that henceforward they esteeme not as Lords, those whom God appointed to be Ministers and not Lords of their saluation: which thing they doe, that depend vpon men, and not vpon God that speaketh by them. h Please himselfe. i Helpes, appointed for your benefite. 12 He passeth from the persons to the things themselues that his argument may be more forcible: yea he ascendeth from Christ to the Father, to shew that we rest our selues no not in Christ himselfe, in that that he is man, but because hee carieth vs vp euen to the Father, as Christ witnesseth of himselfe euery where, that he was sent of his Father, that by this band we may be all knit with God himselfe.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Bringing in the definition of a true Apostle, 7 hee sheweth that humilitie ought rather to bee an honour then a shame vnto him, 9 he bringeth in proofe, wherby it may euidently appeare, 10 that he neither had care of glory, 11 nor of his belly. 17 He commendeth Timothie.

1 LEt [1] a [a] man so thinke of vs, as of the Ministers of Christ, and dispolers of the secrets of God:

2 [2] And as for the rest, it is required of the dispolers, that euery man be found faithfull.

3 [3] As touching mee, I passe very little to be iudged of you, [4] or of mans [b] iudgement: no, [5] I iudge not my selfe.

1 He concludeth the duetie of the hearers towards their Ministers: that they esteeme them not as Lords: and yet notwithstanding that they giue eare vnto them, as to them that are sent from Christ, sent I say to this end and purpose, that they may receiue as it were at their hands, the treasure of saluation which is drawne out of the secrets of God. a Every man. 2 Last of all, he warneth the Ministers, that they also behaue themselues not as Lords, but as faithfull seruants, because they must render an accompt of their stewardship vnto God. 3 Because in reprehending others, hee set himselfe for an example, he vseth a preoccupation or preuenting of an objection, and vsing the grauitie of an Apostle, hee sheweth that he careth not for the contrarie iudgements that they haue of him, in that they esteemed him as a vile person, because he did not set foorth himselfe as they did. And he bringeth good reasons why hee was nothing moued with the iudgements which they had of him. 4 First, because that that which men iudge in these cases of their own braines, is no more to be accompted of, then when the vnlearned doe iudge of wisedome. b Word, for word, Day, after the maner of the speech of the Cilicians. 5 Secondly, saith hee, how can yee iudge how much or how little I am to bee accompted of, seeing that I my selfe which know my selfe better then you doe, and which dare professe that I haue walken in my vocation with a good conscience, dare not yet notwithstanding chalenge any thing to my selfe: for I know that I am not blameable, all this notwithstanding: much lesse therefore should I please my selfe as you doe.

4 For I know nothing by my self, yet am I not therby iustified: but hee that iudgeth me, is the [c] Lord.

5 [6] Therefore * iudge nothing before the time, vntill the Lord come, who will lighten things that are hid in darkenesse, and make the counsels of the heart manifest: and then shall euery man haue [d] prayse of God.

6 [7] Now these things, brethren, I haue figuratiuely applied vnto mine owne selfe and Apollos, for your sakes, that yee might learne [e] by vs, that no man presume aboue that which is written, that one swell not against another for any mans cause.

7 [8] For who separateth thee? and what hast thou, that thou hast not receiued? if thou hast receiued it, why reioycest thou, as though [f] thou hadst not receiued it?

8 [9] Now yee are full: now yee are made rich: yee reigne as kings without vs, & I would to God ye did reigne, that we also might reign with you.

9 For I thinke that God hath set forth vs the last Apostles, as men appointed to death: for we are made a gasing stocke vnto ỹ world, and to the Angels, and to men.

10 Wee are fooles for Christs sake, and ye are wise in Christ: wee are weake, and ye are strong: yee are honourable, and we are despised.

11 Vnto this houre we both hunger, and thirst, and are naked, and are buffeted, and haue no certaine dwelling place, 12 * And labour, working with our owne hands: we are reuiled, and yet we blesse: we are persecuted, and suffer it.

13 * We are euil spoken of, and we pray: we are made as the [h] filth of the world, the offscowring of all things, vnto this time.

14 [10] I write not these things to shame you, but as my beloued children I admonish you.

15 For though ye haue tenne thousand instructers in Christ, yet haue yee not many fathers: for in Christ Iesus I haue begotten you through the Gospel.

16 Wherefore, I pray you be ye followers of me.

17 For this cause haue I sent vnto you, Timotheus, which is my beloued Sonne and faithfull in the Lord, which shall put you in remembrance of my [i] wayes in Christ, as I teach euery where in euery Church.

18 [11] Some are puffed vp as though I would not come vnto you.

19 But I will come to you shortly, * if the Lord will, and will know, not the [k] wordes of them which are puffed vp, but the power.

20 For the Kingdome of God is not in word, but in power.

21 [12] What will ye: shal I come vnto you with a rod, or in loue, and in the [l] spirit of meekenesse?

c I commit my selfe to the Lords iudgement.
6 A third reason proceeding of a conclusion as it were, out of the former reasons. It is Gods office to esteeme euery man according to his value, because he knoweth the secrets of the heart, which men for the most part are ignorant of. Therefore this iudgement pertaineth not to you.
* Matth.7.1.
d One could not be praised aboue the rest, but the other should be blamed: and hee mentioneth praise rather then dispraise, for that the beginning of this sore was this, that they gaue more to some men, than meet was.
7 Hauing reiected their iudgement, he setteth forth himselfe againe as a singular example of modestie, as one which concealing in this Epistle those factious teachers names, doubted not to put downe his owne name and Apollos in their place, and tooke vpon him, as it were their shame: so farre was he from preferring himselfe to any.
e By our example, which chose rather to take other mens faults vpon vs, then to carpe any by name.
8 Hee sheweth a good meanes to bridle pride: first if thou consider how rightly thou exemptest thy self out of the number of others, seeing thou art a man thy selfe: againe, if thou consider that although thou haue some thing more then other men haue, yet thou hast it not but by Gods bountifulnesse. And what wise man is he that will brag of anothers goodnesse and that against God?
f There is nothing then in vs of nature, that is worthy of commendation: but all that we haue, we haue it of grace, which the Pelagians and halfe Pelagians will not confesse.
9 Hee descendeth to a most graue mocke, to cause those ambitious men to blush euen against their wils. 4 He that wil take a right view how like Paul and the Pope are, who lyingly boasteth that he is his successour, let him compare the delicates of the Popish court, with Saint Pauls state as we see it here. * Acts 20.34. 1. thess.2.9. 2. thess 3.8. * Matth.15.44. luk 23 34. act 7.60.
h Such as by sweeping is gathered together.
10 Moderating the sharpenesse of his mocke, hee putteth them in minde to remember of whom they were begotten in Christ, and that they should not doubt to follow him for an example, although hee seeme vile according to the outward shew in respect of others, yet mightie by the efficacie of Gods Spirit, as they had triall thereof in themselues.
i What way and rule I follow euery where in teaching the Churches.
11 Last of all he descendeth also to Apostolike threatnings, but yet chiding them as a father, least by their disdayne he be constrained to come to punish some amongst them.
* Acts.19.21. iames 4. 15.
k By words, he meaneth their painted and coloured kind of eloquence, against which he setteth the vertue of the Spirit.
12 A passing ouer to another part of this Epistle, wherein hee reprehendeth most sharply a very hainous offence, shewing the vse of Ecclesiasticall correction.
l Meekely affected toward you.

CHAP. V.

1 That they haue winked at him who committed incest with his mother in Lawe, 2. 6 hee sheweth should cause them rather to be ashamed, then to reioyce: 10 Such kind of wickednesse is to be punished with excommunication, 12 lest other be infected with it.

1 It is [1] heard certainly that there is fornication among you: and such fornication as is not once named among the Gentiles, that one should haue his fathers wife.

2 [2] And ye are puffed vp and haue not rather sorowed, that hee which hath done this deed, might be put from among you.

3 [3] For I verely as absent in body, but present in [a] spirit, haue determined already as though I were present, that he that hath thus done this thing,

4 When ye are gathered together, and my spirit, in the [b] Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, that such one, I say, [4] by the power of our Lord Iesus Christ,

5 [5] Bee [c] deliuered vnto Satan, for the [6] destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be saued in the day of the Lord Iesus.

6 [7] Your reioycing [d] is not good: knowe ye not that a litle leauen, leaueneth the whole lumpe?

7 [8] Purge out therefore the olde leauen, that yee may be a new [e] lumpe, as ye are vnleauened: for euen Christ our Passeouer is offered for vs.

8 Therefore let vs keepe the feast, not with olde leauen, neither with the leauen of malice and wickednesse, but with the vnleauened bread of sincerenesse and trueth.

1 They are greatly to be reprehended which by suffering of wickednesse, let forth the Church of God to be mocked and scorned of the infidels.
2 There are none more proud then they which haue least matter of them selues.
3 Excommunication ought not to be committed to one mans power but must be done by the authoritie of the whole Congregation, after the matter is diligently examined.
a In minde, thought & will.
b Calling vpon Christ his name.
4 There is no doubt but that iudgement is ratified in heauen, wherein Christ himselfe sitteth as Iudge.
5 The excommunicate is deliuered to the power of Satan, in that, that he is cast out of the house of God.
c What it is to be deliuered to Satan, the Lord himself declareth when he saith, Let him be vnto thee as an Heathen and Publicane, Matth.18.17. that is to say, to bee disfranchised and put out of the right and libertie of the city of Christ, which is the Church, without which Satan is lord and master.
6 The end of excommunication is not to cast away the excommunicate, that he should vtterly perish, but that he may be saued, to wit, that by this meanes his flesh may be tamed, that he may learne to liue to the Spirit.
7 Another end of excommunication is, that other be not infected, and therefore it must of necessitie be reteined in the Church, that the one be not infected by the other.
d Is naught, & not grounded vpon good reason, as though you were excellent, & yet there is such wickednesse found amongst you.
8 By alluding to the ceremonie of the Passeouer, he exhorteth them to cast out that vncleane person from amongst them. In times past, saith hee, it was not lawfull for them which did celebrate the Passeouer, to eate vnleauened bread: insomuch that he was holden as vncleane and vnworthy to eate the Passeouer, whosoeuer had but tasted of leauen. Now all our whole life must be as it were the feast of vnleauened bread, wherein all they that are partakers of that immaculate Lambe which is slaine, must cast out both of themselues and also out of their houses and Congregations all impuritie.
e By lumpe he meaneth the whole body of the Church, euery member whereof must be vnleauened, that is, be renewed in Spirit, by plucking away the olde corruption.

leauened: for Christ our [f] Passeouer is sacrificed for vs.

8 Therefore let vs keepe the [g] feast, not with olde leauen, neither in the leauen of maliciousnesse and wickednesse: but with the vnleauened bread of syncerities and trueth.

9 [9] I wrote vnto you in an Epistle, that ye should not company together with fornicatours,

10 And not [h] altogether with the fornicatours of this world, or with the couetous, or with extortioners, or with idolaters: for then ye must goe out of the world.

11 But now I haue written vnto you, that ye company not together: if any that is called a brother, be a fornicatour, or couetous, or an idolater, or a railer, or a drunkard, or an extortioner, with such one eate not.

12 [10] For what haue I to doe, to iudge them also which are without? do ye not iudge them which are within?

13 But God iudgeth them that are without: Put away therefore from among your selues that wicked man.

f The Lambe of the Passeouer.

g Let vs leade our whole life, as it were a continuall feast, honestly, and vprightly.

9 Now he speaketh more generally: and that which hee spake before of the incestuous person, hee sheweth that it perteineth to others, which are knowen to bee wicked, and such as though their naughtie life are a slander to the Church, which ought also by lawfull order be cast out of the communitie of the Church. And making mention of eating of meat; either hee meaneth those feasts of loue whereat the Supper of the Lord was receiued, or els their common

5 [5] I speake it to your shame. Is it so that there is not a wise man among you? no not one, that can iudge betweene his brethren?

6 But a brother goeth to law with a brother, and that vnder the infidels.

7 [6] Nowe therefore there is altogether [e] infirmitie in you, in that yee goe to lawe one with another: [7] * why rather suffer yee not wrong? why rather susteine ye not harme?

8 * Nay, yee your selues doe wrong, and doe harme, and that to your brethren.

9 Know ye not that the vnrighteous shall not inherite the kingdome of God? [8] Bee not deceiued: neither fornicatours, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor wantons, nor buggerers, 10 Nor theeues, nor couetous, nor drunkards, nor railers, nor extortioners shall inherite the kingdome of God.

11 And such were * some of you: but yee are washed, but yee are sanctified, but yee are iustified in the [f] Name of the Lord Iesus, and by the spirit of our God.

12 ¶ * [9] All things are lawfull vnto me, but all things are not profitable. I may do all things, but I will not be brought vnder the [h] power of any thing.

13 [10] Meates are ordeined for the bellie, and the bellie for the meates: but God shall destroy both it, & them. Now the bodie is not for fornication, but for the Lord, and the Lord for the body.

14 And God hath also raised vp the Lord, and * shall raise vs vp by his power.

5 He applieth the generall proposition to a particular, alwayes calling the backe to this; to take away from them that false opinion of their owne excellencie from whence all these mischiefes ipsung.

6 Now he goeth further also, and although by granting them priuate arbiters out of the congregation of the faithfull, he doe not simply condemne, but rather establish priuate iudgements, so that they be exercised without offence, yet he sheweth that if they were such as they ought to be, and as it were to be wished, they should not neede to vse that remedie neither.

e A weaknes of minde which is said to be in them, that suffer themselues to be ouercome of their lustes, and it is a fault that squareth greatly from temperancie and moderation: so that he nippeth them which

CHAP. VI.

1 He inueyeth against their contentions in law matters, 6 wherwith they vexed one another vnder iudges that were infidels, to the reproch of the Gospel, 9 and then sharpely threatneth fornicatours.

1 [a] Dare any of you, hauing businesse against another, be iudged [b] vnder the vniust, [2] and not vnder the Saints?

2 [3] Doe yee not know, that the Saints shall iudge the world? If the world then shall be iudged by you, are yee vnworthy to iudge the smallest matters?

3 Know yee not that wee shall iudge the Angels? how much more things that pertaine to this life?

4 [4] If then yee haue [c] iudgements of things perteining to this life, set vp them which are [d] least esteemed in the Church.

a The third question is of ciuill iudgements. Whether it be lawfull for one faithfull to draw another faithfull before the iudgement seat of an infidell? He answereth that is not lawfull for offence sake, for it is not meete of it selfe.

a As if he said, Are you become so impudent, that ye are not ashamed to make the Gospel a laughing stocke to prophane men? b Before the vniust. 2 He answereth that he doth not forbid that one neighbor may go to law with another, if need so require, but yet vnder holy iudges. 3 He gathereth by a comparison that the faithfull cannot seeke to infidels to be iudged, without great iniurie done to the Saints, seeing that God himselfe will make the Saintes iudges of the world, and of the deuils, with his Sonne Christ: much more ought they to iudge these light and small causes which may bee by equitie, and good conscience determined.

4 The conclusion, wherein he prescribeth a remedie for this mischiefe: to wit, if they end their priuat affaires betweene themselues by chosen arbiters out of the Church: for which matter and purpose, the least of you, saith hee, is sufficient. Therefore hee condemneth not iudgement seates, but sheweth what is expedient for the circumstance of the time, and that without any diminishing of the right of the Magistrate: for hee speaketh not of iudgements, which are practised betwixt the faithfull and the infidels, neither of publike iudgements, but of controuersies which may be ended by priuate arbiters. c Courts and places of iudgements. d Euen the most abiect among you.

could not put vp an iniurie done vnto them. 7 This perteineth chiefly to the other part of the reprehension, to wit, that they went to Lawe euen vnder Infidels, whereas they should rather haue suffered any losse, then to haue giuen that offence. But yet this is generally true, that we ought rather to depart from our right then trie the vttermost of the Lawe hastily, and vpon an affection to reuenge an iniurie. But the Corinthians cared for neither, and therefore he saith that they must repent, vnlesse they will be shut out of the inheritance of God. * Matth. 5. 39. luke 6. 29. rom. 12. 19. * 1. Thess 4. 6. 8 Now hee prepareth himselfe to passe ouer to the fourth Treatise of this Epistle, which concerneth matters indifferent, debating this matter first, how men may well vse women or not: which question hath three branches, fornication, matrimonie, and a single life. As for fornication, he vtterly condemneth it. And marriage he commendeth to some, as a good and necessary remedie for them, to other hee leaueth it free: And other some he dissuadeth from it, not as vnlawfull: but as discommodious, and that not without exception. As for singlenesse of life (vnder which also I comprehend virginitie) he inioyneth it to no man: yet hee perswadeth men vnto it, but not for it selfe, but for another respect, neither all men, nor without exception. And being about to speake against fornication, hee beginneth with a generall reprehension of those vices, wherewith that rich and riotous Citie most abounded: warning and teaching them earnestly, that repentance is inseparably ioyned with forgiuenesse of sinnes, and sanctification with iustification. * Tit. 3. 3.

f In Iesus. * Chap. 10. 23. 9 Secondly, hee sheweth that the Corinthians bee simply offende in matters indifferent; First, because they abused them: next, because they vsed indifferent things, without any discretion, seeing the vse of them ought to be brought to the rule of charitie: and that hee doeth not vse them, aright, which immoderately abuseth them, and so becommeth a slaue vnto them. g Whatsoeuer: but this generall word must be restrained to things that are indifferent. h He is in subiection to things that are indifferent, whatsoeuer he be that thinketh he may not be without them: which is a flattering kind of slauerie vnder a colour of libertie, which seaseth vpon such men. 10 Secondarily, because they counted many things for indifferent, which were of themselues vnlawfull, as fornication, which they numbred amongst meere naturall and lawfull desires, as well as meate and drinke: Therefore the Apostle sheweth, that they are vtterly vnlike: for meates saith hee, were made for the necessary vse of mans life which is not perpetuall: For both meates, and all this maner of nourishing, are quickly abolished. But we must not so thinke of the vncleannesse of fornication, for which the body is not made, but on the contrary side is ordeined to purenesse as appeareth by this, that it is consecrated to Christ, euen as Christ also is giuen vs of his Father, to quicken our bodies with that vertue, wherewith he also rose againe. * Rom. 6. 5.

15 [11] Know

15 [11] Know yee not, that your bodies are the members of Christ? shall I then take the members of Christ, and make them the members of an harlot? God forbid.

16 [12] Doe ye not know, that he which coupleth himselfe with an harlot, is one body? *for [i] two, sayeth he, shall be one flesh.

17 But he that is ioyned vnto the Lord is one spirit.

18 [13] Flee fornication, euery sinne that a man doeth, is without the body: but hee that committeth fornication, sinneth against his owne body.

19 [14] Know ye not, that * your body is the Temple of the holy Ghost, which is in you, whom ye haue of God? and [15] ye are not your owne.

20 * For yee are bought for a price, therefore glorifie God in your body, and in your spirit: for they are Gods.

11 A declaration of the former argument by contraries, & the applying of it.
12 A proofe of the same argument: A harlot and Christ are cleane contrary, so are the flesh and the Spirit: therefore he that is one with an harlot, (which is done by carnall copulation of their bodies) cannot be one with Christ, which vnitie is pure and spirituall.
*Gen.2.24. matth.19.5. marke 10.8. ephes.5.31.
i Moses doeth not speake these words of fornication, but of mariage: but seeing that fornication is the corruption of mariage, and both of them is a carnal and fleshly copulation, wee cannot say that the Apostle abuseth his testimonie. Againe, Moses hath not this word (Two) but it is very well expressed both here and in Matthew 19.5. because he speaketh only but of man and wife: whereupon the opinion of them that vouch it to bee lawfull to haue many wiues, is beaten downe: for he that companieth with many, is sundred as it were into many parts.
13 Another argument why fornication is to be eschewed, because it defileth the body with a peculiar kind of filthinesse. 14 The third argument: Because a fornicatour is sacrilegious, for that our bodies are consecrate to God. *Chap. 3.17.2.corinth.6.16. 15 The fourth argument Because we are not our owne men, to giue our selues to any other, much lesse to Satan and the flesh, seeing that God himselfe hath bought vs, and that with a great price, to the end that both in body and soule, we should serue to his glorie, *Chap.7.23. 1.pet.1.18.

CHAP. VII.

1 Entreating here of mariage, 4 which is a remedie against fornication, 10 and may not be broken, 18. 20. hee willeth euery man to liue contented with his lot. 25 He sheweth what the end of virginitie should be, 45. and who ought to marie.

NOw [1] concerning the things [a] whereof ye wrote vnto mee, It were [b] good for a man not to touch a woman.

2 Neuertheless, to auoid fornication, let euery man haue his wife, and let euery woman haue her owne husband.

3 *[2] Let the husband giue vnto the wife [c] due beneuolence, and likewise also the wife vnto the husband.

4 [3] The wife hath not the power of her owne body, but the husband: and likewise also the husband hath not the power of his owne body, but the wife.

5 Defraud not one another, [4] except it be with consent for a time, that yee may [d] giue your selues to fasting and prayer, and againe come together, that Satan tempt you not for your incontinencie.

6 [5] But I speake this by permission, not by commandement.

7 For I * would that al men were euen as I my selfe am: but euery man hath his proper gift of God, one after this maner, and another after that.

8 [6] Therefore I say vnto the [e] vnmaried, and vnto the widowes, It is good for them if they abide euen as I doe.

9 But if they cannot abstaine, let them marrie: for it is better to marrie then to [g] burne.

10 *[7] And vnto the married, I command, not I, but the Lord, Let not the wife depart from her husband.

11 But and if she depart, let her remaine vnmaried, or be reconciled vnto her husband: and let not the husband put away his wife.

12 [8] But to the remnant I speake, and not the Lord, If any brother haue a wife, that beleeueth not, if shee be content to dwell with him, let him not forsake her.

13 And the woman which hath an husband that beleeueth not, if hee bee content to dwell with her, let her not forsake him.

14 [9] For the vnbeleeuing husbande is [h] sanctified to the [i] wife, and the vnbeleeuing wife is sanctified to the [k] husband, else were your children vncleane: but nowe are they [l] holie.

15 [10] But if the vnbeleeuing depart, let him depart: a brother or a sister is not in subiection in [m] such things: [11] but God hath called vs in peace.

16 For what knowest thou, O wife, whether thou shalt saue thine husband? Or what knowest thou, O man, whether thou shalt saue thy wife?

17 [12] But as God hath distributed to eue-

5 Fifthly, he teacheth that mariage is not simply vnconstreining all men, but for them which haue not the gift of continencie, and this gift is by a peculiar grace of God.
e I.with.
6 Sixtly, he giueth the selfe same admonition touching the second mariage, to wit, that a single life is to bee allowed, but for such as haue the gift of continencie: otherwise they ought to marrie againe, that their consciences may be at peace.
* This whole place is flat against them which condemne second mariage.
g So to burne with lust, that either the will yeeldeth to the temptation, or els we cannot call vpon God with a quiet conscience.
*Matth.5.32. and 19.9. mark.10.11.12. luke 16.18.
7 Seuenthly, he forbiddeth inconsiderate and rashing of mariages (for hee speaketh not here of the lawfulnesse of whoredome, which was then death euen by the Lawes of the Romanes) and therefore he addeth that the bonds of mariage, if the vnbeleeuing will not dwell with the beleeuing, are not dissolued.

1 He teacheth concerning mariage, that although a single life hath his commodities, which he will declare afterwards yet that mariage is necessary for the auoiding of fornication: but so that neither an man may haue many wiues, nor any wife many husbands.
a Touching those matters, whereof you wrote vnto me.
b Commodious, and (as wee say) expedient. For mariage bringeth many griefs with it, and that by reason of the corruption of our first estate. *1.Pet.3.7. 2 Secondly, he sheweth that the parties maried, must with singular affection, entirely loue one the nother. c The word (due) conteineth all kind of beneuolence, though he speak more of one sort then of the other, in that that followeth. 3 Thirdly, he warneth them, that they are each in others power, as touching the body, so y' you may not defraud one another. 4 He addeth an exception, vnlesse the one abstaine from the other by mutual consent, that they may the better giue themselues to prayer, wherein notwithstanding, he warneth them to consider what is expedient, least by this long breaking off as it were from mariage, they be stirred vp to incontinencie, d Do nothing els.

Christ his mouth. 8 Eightly, he affirmeth, that those mariages which are already contracted betweene a faithfull, and an vnfaithfull or Infidell, are firme: that the faithfull may not forsake the vnfaithfull. 9 He answereth an obiection: But the faithfull is defiled by the societie of the vnfaithfull. The Apostle answereth that, and proueth that the faithfull man with good conscience may dwell of his vnfaithfull wife, by this, that their children which are borne of them are accompted holie (that is, conteined within the promise) for it is said to all the faithfull, I will be thy God, and the God of thy seede. h The godlinesse of the wife is of more force, to cause them coupling together to be accompted holie, then the infidelitie of the husband is, to prophane the mariage. i The infidell is not sanctified or made holy in his owne person, but in respect of his wife, he is sanctified to her. k To the faithfull husband. l This place destroieth the opinion of them, that would not haue children to be baptized, and their opinion also, that make Baptisme the very cause of saluation. For the children of the faithfull are holie, by vertue of the couenant, euen before Baptisme, and Baptisme is added as the seale of that holinesse. 10 Hee answereth to a question: Why if the vnfaithfull forsake the faithfull then is the faithfull free, saieth he, because hee is forsaken of the vnfaithfull. m When any such thing falleth out. 11 Least any man vpon pretence of this libertie should giue an occasion to the faithfull to depart, hee giueth to vnderstande, that mariage contracted with Infidell, ought peaceably to bee kept, that if it bee possible the Infidell may bee wonne to the faith. 12 Taking occasion by that which he spake of the bondage and libertie of matrimonie, hee digresseth to a generall doctrine concerning the outwarde state and condition of mans life, as Circumcision and circumcision, seruitude and libertie: warning euery man generally to liue in a contented minde in the Lorde, what state or condition soeuer he bee in, because, that those outward things, as to bee circumcised or vncircumcised, to be bond or free, are not of the substance (as they terme it) of the Kingdome of heauen.

n Hath bound him to a certaine kinde of life.

13 Notwithstanding he giueth vs to vnderstand, that in these examples all are not of like sort: because that circumcision is not simply of it selfe to bee detested, but such as are bound may desire to be free. Therefore herein onely they are equall, that the kingdom of God consisteth not in them, and therefore these are no hinderance to obey God.

o He is said to gather his vncircumcision, who by the helpe of a Chirurgian, recouereth an vpper skinne: which is done by drawing the skinne with an instrument, to make it to couer the nut. Celsus in his 7. booke and 25. Chap.

14 He sheweth the reason of the vnlikenes, because that he that desireth to be circumcised, maketh himselfe subiect to mans traditiõ, and not to God. And this may be much more vnderstood of superstitions, which some doe foolishly accompt for things indifferẽt.

15 A repetition of the generall doctrine.

r So purely and from the heart, that your doings may be approued before God.

16 He enioyneth virginitie to no man, yet he perswadeth and praiseth it for an other respect, to wit, both for the necessitie of the present time, because the faithful could scarce abide in any place, and vse the commodities of this present life, and therefore such as were not troubled with families, might be the readier, & also for the cares of this life, which mariage draweth with it of necessitie, so that they cannot but haue their mindes distracted: and this hath place in women especially.

s The circumstances considered, this I counsel you.

t It is I that speak this which I am minded to speake: and the truth is, I am a man, but yet worthy credit, for I haue obteined of the Lord to be such an one.

u To remaine a virgine.

x For the necessitie which the Saints are dayly subiect vnto, who are continually tossed vp and downe, so that their estate may seeme most vnfit for mariage, were it not that the weakenes of the flesh is forced them to it.

y By the (flesh) he vnderstandeth what things soeuer belong to this present life, for mariage bringeth with it many cõmodities, so that he perswadeth more to a sole life, not because it is a seruice more agreeable to God then mariage is, but for those discõmodities, which (if it were possible) he would wish all men to be void of, that they might giue themselues to God onely.

z I would your weakenes were prouided for.

a For we are now in the latter end of the world.

b By weeping, the Hebrews vnderstand all aduersitie, & by ioy, all prosperity.

c Those things which God giueth vs here.

d The guise & shape, or fashion wherby he sheweth vs, y there is nothing in this world that cõtinueth.

ry man, as the Lord hath [p] called euery one, so let him walke: & so ordaine I in all Churches.

18 [13] Is any man called being circumcised? let him not [o] gather his vncircumcision: is any called vncircumcised? let him not bee circumcised.

19 Circumcision is nothing, and vncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commandements of God.

20 * Let euery man abide in the same vocation wherein he was called.

21 Art thou called being a seruant? [p] care not for it: but if yet thou mayest be free, vse it rather.

22 For he that is called in the [q] Lord, being a seruant, is the Lords free man: likewise also hee that is called being free, is Christes seruant.

23 *[14] Ye are bought with a price: be not the seruants of men.

24 [15] Brethren, let euery man, wherein he was called, therein abide with [r] God.

25 [16] Now concerning virgins, I haue no commandement of the Lorde: but I giue mine [s] aduise, as [t] one that hath obteined mercy of the Lord to be faithfull.

26 I suppose then [u] this to be good for the [x] present necessitie: I meane that it is good for a man so to be.

27 Art thou bound vnto a wife? seeke not to be loosed: art thou loosed from a wife? seeke not a wife.

28 But if thou takest a wife, thou sinnest not: and if a virgine marrie, shee sinneth not: neuertheless, such shall haue trouble in the [y] flesh: but I [z] spare you.

29 And this I say, brethren, because the time is [a] short, hereafter that both they which haue wiues, be as though they had none:

30 And they that [b] weepe, as though they wept not: and they that reioyce, as though they reioyced not: and they that buy, as though they possessed not:

31 And they that vse this [c] world, as though they vsed it not: for the [d] fashion of this world goeth away.

32 And I would haue you without care. The vnmaried careth for the things of the Lord, how he may please the Lord.

33 But he that is maried, [e] careth for the things of the world, how he may please his wife.

34 There is difference also betweene a virgine and a wife: the vnmaried woman careth for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy, both in body and in [f] spirit: but she that is maried, careth for the things of the world, how she may please her husband.

35 And this I speake for your owne [g] commoditie, not to tangle you in a snare, but that yee follow that, which is honest, and that yee may cleaue fast vnto the Lord without separation.

36 [17] But if any man thinke that it is vncomely for his virgine, if shee passe the flowre of her age, and neede so require, let him doe what hee will, he [h] sinneth not: let them bee maried.

37 Nevertheless, he that standeth firme in his [i] heart, that he hath no [k] need, but hath power ouer his owne will, and hath so decreed in his heart, that he will keepe his virgine, he doth well.

38 So then he that giueth her to mariage, doth well, but he that giueth her not to mariage, doth [l] better.

39 [18] The wife is bound by the [m] Law, as long as her husband * liueth: but if her husband be dead, shee is at libertie to marrie with whom she will, onely in the [n] Lord.

40 But she is more blessed, if she so abide in my iudgement: * and I thinke that I haue also the Spirit of God.

e They that are maried, haue their wits drawen hither & thither, and therefore if any man haue the gift of cõtinencie it is more commodious for him to liue alone: but they that are maried may care for the things of the Lord also. Clem. Strom. 3.

g He meaneth that he will enforce no man, either to marie or not to marie, but to shew them barely what kind of life is most commodious.

17 Now hee turneth himselfe to the parents, in whose power and authoritie their children are, warning them that according to the former doctrine they consider what is meete and conuenient for their children, that they neither deprine them of the necessary remedie against incontinencie, nor constraine them to marriage, whereas neither their will doeth leade them, nor any necessitie, vrgeth them. And again he praiseth virginitie, but of it selfe, and not in all.

h He doth well: for so he expoundeth it verse 38.

i Resolued himselfe.

k That the weakenesse of his daughter inforceth him not, or any other matter, but that hee may safely keepe her a virgine still.

l Prouideth more commodiously for his children, and that not simply, but by reason of such conditions as are before mentioned.

18 That which he spake of a widower, he speaketh now of a widow, to wit, that she may marry againe, so that she doe it in the feare of God: and yet hee dissembleth not, but saith, that if she remaine still a widow, she shall be void of many cares.

CHAP. VIII.

1 From this place vnto the end of the tenth chapter, hee willeth them not to be at the Gentiles prophane banquets. 10 Hee restraineth the abuse of Christian libertie, 11 and sheweth that knowledge must be tempered with charitie.

AND [1] as touching things sacrificed vnto idoles, wee knowe that wee [a] all haue

1 He entreth to entreat of another kinde of things indifferent, to wit of things offered to idoles, or the vse of flesh so offered and sacrificed. And first of all he remooueth all those things which the Corinthians pretended in doing things offered to idoles without any respect. First of all they affirmed that this difference of meates was for the vnskilfull men, but as for them, they knew well enough the benefit of Christ, which causeth al these things to be cleane to them that are cleane. Be it so saith Paul: be it that we are all sufficiently instructed in the knowledge of Christ, I say notwithstanding that we must not simply rest in this knowledge. The reason is, that vnlesse our knowledge be tempered with charity, it doeth not only not auaile, but also doth much hurt, because it is the mistres of pride: nay it doeth not so much as deserue the name of godly knowledge, if it be separate from the loue of God, and therefore from the loue of our neighbor.

a This generall word is to be abridged as appeareth, verse 7. for there is a kinde of taunt in it, as we may perceiue by the next verse.

knowledge:

knowledge: knowledge [b] puffeth vp, but loue [c] edifieth.

2 Now, if any man thinke that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as hee ought to know.

3 But if any man loue God, the same is knowen of him.

4 [2] Concerning therefore the eating of things sacrificed vnto [d] idols, we know that an idoll is [e] nothing in the worlde, & that there is none other God but one.

5 For though there be that are called gods, whether in heauen, or in earth (as there be many gods, and many Lords.)

6 Yet vnto vs there is but one God, which is that Father, [f] of whom are all things, and we [g] in him: and *[h] one Lord Iesus Christ, [i] by whom are all things, and we by him.

7 [3] But euery man hath not that knowledge: for [4] many hauing [k] conscience of the idoll, vntill this houre, eate as a thing sacrificed vnto the idoll, and so their conscience being weake, is defiled.

8 [5] But meate maketh vs not acceptable to God, for neither if we eate, haue wee the more: neither if we eate not, haue wee the lesse.

9 But take heed least by any means this power of yours be an occasion of falling, to them that are weake.

10 [6] For if any man see thee which hast knowledge, sit at table in the idols temple, shal not the conscience of him which is weake, bee boldened to eate those things which are sacrificed to idols?

11 [7] And though thy knowledge shall the * weake brother perish, for whom Christ died.

12 [8] Now when yee sinne so against the brethren, and wound their weake conscience, yee sinne against Christ.

13 *[9] Wherefore if meate offend my brother, I will eate no flesh while the world standeth, that I may not offend my brother.

b Ministreth occasion of vanitie and pride: because it is voyd of charitie.
c Instructeth our neigbour.
2 The application of that answere to things offered to idols: I graunt, sayth he, that an idoll is indeed a vaine imagination, and that there is but one God and Lord, and therefore that meate cannot be made either holy or prophane by the idoll: but it followeth not therefore that a man may without respect vse those meates as any other.
d This word (Idoll) in this place is taken for an image which is made to represent some godhead, that worship might be giuen vnto it: whereupon came the word (Idolatrie) that is to say, image seruice.
e Is a vaine dreame.
f When the Father is distinguished from the Sonne, he is named the beginning of al things g We haue our being in him.
* Iohn 13.13. chap.12.3.
h But as the father is called Lord, so is the Sonne God: therefore this word (One) doth not respect the persons, but the natures. i This word (By) doth not signifie the instrumentall cause, but the efficient: for the Father & the Sonne worke together, which is not so to be taken, that we make two causes, seeing they haue both but one nature, though they be distinct persons. 3 The reason why that followeth not, is this: because there are many men which doe not know that which you know. Now the iudgement of outward things depend not onely vpon your conscience, but vpon the conscience of them that behold you, and therefore your actions must be applyed not only to your knowledge, but also to the ignorance of your brethren. 4 An applying of the reason: There are many which cannot eate of things offered to idoles, but with a wauering conscience because they thinke them to be vncleane: therefore if by thy example they enterprise to doe that which inwardly they thinke displeaseth God, their conscience is defiled with this eating, & thou hast beene the occasion of this mischiefe. k By conscience of the idol, he meaneth the secret iudgment that they had within themselues, whereby they thought all things vncleane, that were offred to idols, and therfore they could not vse them with good conscience. For this force hath conscience, that if it be good, it maketh things indifferent good, and if it be euill, it maketh them euill. 5 A preuenting of an obiection: Why then, shall we therefore be depriues of our libertie? May saith the Apostle, you shall lose no part of Christian libertie although you abstaine for your brethrens sake, as also if you receiue the meate, it maketh you no whit the more holy, for our commendation before God consisteth not in meates: but to vse our liberty with offence of our brethren, is an abuse of libertie, the true vse thereof is cleane contrary, to wit, so to vse it, as in vsing of it we haue consideration of our weake brethren. 6 Another plaine explication of the same reason, propounding the example of the sitting downe at the table in the idoles temple, which thing the Corinthians did euill accompt of among things indifferent, because it is simply forbidden for the circumstance of the place, although offence doe cease, as it shall be declared in his place. 7 An amplification of the argument taken both of comparison and contraries: Thou wretched man, saith he, pleasing thy selfe with thy knowledge which indeed is none (for if thou haddest true knowledge, thou would[est] not sit downe to meate in an idols temple) wilt thou destroy thy brother harde[ning] his weake conscience by this example to doe euill, for whose saluation Christ himselfe hath died? *Rom.14.15.

8 An other amplification. Such offending of our weake brethren, redoundeth vnto Christ, and therefore let not these men thinke that they haue to doe with Paul onely with their brethren. *Rom.14.21. 9 The conclusion, ceineth in his owne person, that he might not seeme to exact that of other, which he will not be first subiect vnto himselfe. I had rather (saith he) abstaine for euer from all kind of flesh, then giue occasion of sinne to any of my brethren, much lesse would I refuse in any certaine place or time for my brothers sake not to eate flesh offered to idoles.

CHAP. IX.

1 He declareth, that from the libertie which the Lord gaue him, 15 he willingly abstained, 18. 22 left in things indifferent he should offend any. 24 He sheweth that our life is like vnto a race.

1 Am I not an Apostle? am I not free? [2] haue I not seene Iesus Christ our Lord? are ye not [a] my worke in the Lord?

2 If I bee not an Apostle vnto other, yet doubtles I am vnto you: for ye are the [b] seale of mine Apostleship in the Lord.

3 [3] My defence to them that [c] examine me, is this,

4 [4] Haue we not power to [d] eate and to drinke?

5 Or haue we not power to leade about a wife being a [e] sister, as well as the rest of the Apostles, and as the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas?

6 Or I onely and Barnabas, haue not we power [f] not to worke?

7 [5] Who [g] goeth a warfare any time at his owne cost? who planteth a vineyard, and eateth not of the fruite therof? or who feedeth a flocke, and eateth not of the milke of the flocke?

8 [6] Say I these things [h] according to man? saith not the Lawe the same also?

9 For it is written in the Lawe of Moses, *Thou shalt not muzzell the mouth of the oxe that treadeth out the corne: doeth God take care for [i] Oxen?

10 Either sayeth hee it not altogether for our sakes? For our sakes no doubt it is writ-

1 Before he proceedeth any further in his purposed matter of things offered to idols, he would shew the cause of all this mischiefe, and also take it away: to wit, that the Corinthians thought themselues not bound to depart from a iote of their libertie for any mans pleasure. Therefore he propoundeth himselfe for an example, and that in a matter almost necessarie. And per he speaketh generally of both, but first of his owne person. If (saith he) you iudge for your selues, that you are free, and therefore will vse your libertie, am I not also free, seeing I am an Apostle?
a He proueth his Apostleship by the effects, in that that he was appointed of Christ himselfe, and the authoritie of his function was sufficiently confirmed to him among[st] them by their conuersion. And all these things he setteth before their eies, to make them ashamed for that they would not in the least wise that might be, debase themselues for the weakes sake, whereas the Apostle himselfe did all that he could to winne them to God, when they were vtterly reprobate and without God. a By the Lorde. b As a seale whereby it appeareth sufficiently that God is the author of my Apostleship. 3 He answereth this by the way, as if he should say, So farre it is off that you may doubt of my Apostleshippe, that I vse to refuse them which call it in to controuersie, by opposing those things which the Lord hath done by me among you. c Which like iudges examine me and my doings. 4 Now touching the matter it selfe, he saith, Seeing that I am free and truly an Apostle, why may not I (I say not, eate of all things offered to Idoles, but) be maintained by my labours, yea and keepe my wife also, as the residue of the Apostles lawfully doe, by name, Iohn and Iames, the Lords cousins, and Peter himselfe? d Vpon the expense of the Church? e One that is a Christian and a true beleeuer. f Not liue by the workes of our hands? 5 That he may not seeme to bring the Apostles, hee sheweth that it is iust that they doe, by an argument of comparison, seeing that souldiers liue by their wages, and husbandmen by the fruits of their labours, and shepheards by that that commeth of their flockes: g Who is to goe a warfare? 6 Secondly, he bringeth forth the authoritie of Gods institution by an argument of comparison. h Haue I no better ground then the common custome of men? *Deut 25.4.1. Tim.5.18. i Was it Gods purpose to prouide for Oxen, when hee made this Law? for otherwise there is no the smallest thing in the world, but God hath a care of it.

ten, that he which eareth, should eare in hope, and that hee that threshеth in hope, should bee partaker of his hope.

11 *7 If we haue sowen vnto you spirituall things, is it a great thing if we reape your carnall things?

12 8 If others with you bee partakers of this k power, are not wee rather? neuertheless, we haue not vsed this power: but suffer all things, that we should not hinder the Gospel of Christ.

13 9 Doe yee not know, that they which minister about the *holy things, eate of the l things of the Temple? and they which waite at the Altar, are m partakers with the Altar?

14 So also hath the Lord ordeined, that they which preach the Gospel, should liue n of the Gospel.

15 But I haue vsed none of these things: 10 neither wrote I these things, that it should be so done vnto me: for it were better for me to die, then that any man should make my reioycing vaine.

16 For though I preach the Gospel, I haue nothing to reioyce of: for necessitie is laid vpon me, and woe is vnto me, if I preach not the Gospel.

17 For if I doe it willingly, I haue a reward, but if I do it against my will, notwithstanding the dispensation is committed vnto me.

18 What is my reward then? verely that when I preach the Gospel, I make the Gospel of Christ o free, that I abuse not mine authoritie in the Gospel.

19 For though I be free from all men, yet haue I made my selfe seruaunt vnto all men, that I might winne the moe.

20 *And vnto the Iewes, I become as a Iewe, that I may winne the Iewes: to them that are vnder the p Lawe, as though I were vnder the Lawe, that I may winne them that are vnder the Lawe.

21 To them that are without Lawe, as though I were without Lawe, (when I am not without Lawe as pertaining to God, but am in the Lawe through Christ) that I may winne them that are without Lawe:

22 To the weake I become as weake, that I may winne the weake: I am made all things to q all men, that I might by all meanes saue some.

23 And this I doe for the Gospels sake, that I might be partaker therof with r you.

24 11 Know ye not, that they which runne in a race, runne all, yet one receiueth the price? so runne that ye may obtaine.

25 And euery man that proueth masteries, s abstaineth from all things: and they doe it to obteine a corruptible crowne: but we for an vncorruptible.

26 I therfore so runne, not as vncertainly: so fight I, not as one that beateth the aire.

27 But I beate downe my t bodie, and bring it into subiection, lest by any meanes after that I haue preached to other, I my selfe should be u reprooued.

*Rom. 15. 27.
7 An assumption of the arguments with an amplification, for neither in so doing do we require a reward meete for our deserts.
8 An other argument of great force: other are nourished amongst you, therefore it was lawfull for me, yea rather for me then any other: and yet I refused it, and had rather still suffer any discommoditie, then the Gospel of Christ should be hindered.
k The word signifieth right and interest, whereby he giueth vs to vnderstand that the Ministers of the word must of right and duety be found of the Church.
9 Last of all, he bringeth forth the expresse Law concerning the nourishing of the Leuites: which priuiledge notwithstanding he will not vse.
*Deut. 18. 1.
l This is spoken by the figure Metonymie, for, those things that are offred in the Temple.
m Are partakers with the altar in deuiding the sacrifice.
n Because they preach the Gospel. It followeth by this place, that Paul gate no liuing neither would haue any other man get, by any commoditie of Masses, or any other such superstitious trumperies.
10 He taketh away occasion of suspicion by the way that it might not be thought that he wrote this as though he chalenged his wages that was not payed him. May, saith he, I had rather die, then not continue in this purpose to preach the Gospel freely. For I am bound to preach the Gospel, seeing that the Lord hath enioyned me this office: but vnlesse I doe it willingly and for the loue of God, nothing is to be allowed that I do. If I had rather that the Gospel should be euill spoken of, then that I should not require my wages, then would it appeare that I tooke these paines not so much for the Gospels sake, as for my gaines and aduantages. But I say, this were not to vse, but abuse my right and libertie: Therefore not onely in this thing, but also in all other (as much as I could) I am made all things to all men, that I might winne them to Christ, and might together with them be wonne to Christ.
o By taking nothing of them to whom I preach it. *Actes. 16. 3. gal. 2. 3.
p The word (Lawe) in this place, must be restrained to the ceremoniall Law.
q In matters that are indifferent, which may be done or not done with a good conscience: as if he said, I changed my selfe into all fashions, that by all meanes I might saue some.
r That both I and they to whom I preach the Gospel, may receiue fruite by the Gospel.
11 He bringeth in an other cause of this mischiefe, to wit, that they were giuen to gluttonie, for there were solemne bankets of sacrifices, and the riot of the Priestes was alwaies too much celebrated and kept. Therefore it was hard for them which were accustomed to riotousnes, especially when they pretended the libertie of the Gospel, to be restrained from these bankets: but contrariwise, the Apostle calleth them by a pleasant similitude, and also by his owne example, to sobrietie and mortification of the flesh, shewing that they cannot be fit to runne or wrestle (as then the games of Iubmies were) which pamper vp their bodies: and therefore affirming that they can haue no reward, vnlesse they take another course and trade of life.
s Vseth a most exquisite diet.
t The old man which striueth against the Spirit.
u This word (Reproued) is not set as contrary to the word (Elect) but as contrary to the word (Approued) when we see one by experience not to be such an one as he ought to be.

CHAP. X.

1 If God spared not the Iewes, neither will he spare those who are of like condition, 3. 4 touching the outward signes of his grace. 14 That it is absurd, that such should be partakers of the table of the deuils, who are partakers of the Lords Supper. 24 To haue consideration of our neighbour in things indifferent.

1 He setteth out that which hee said, laying before them an example of ꝑ horrible iudgement of God against thē which dyd in effect the selfe same pledges of the same adoption & salutation that we haue: and yet notwithstanding when they gaue themselues to idoles feasts, perished in the wildernesse, being horribly and manifoldly punished. Moue, moreouer and beliues that these things are fitly spoken against them which frequented idoles feasts, the same also seeme to be alleaged to this ende and purpose, because many men are thus minded, that those things are not of such great weight, that God will be angry with them if they vse them, so that they frequent Christian assemblies and be baptized, and receiue the Communion, and confesse Christ.

28 But if any man ſay vnto you, This is ſacrificed vnto idols, eate it not, becauſe of him that ſhewed it, and for the conſcience (for the earth is the Lords, and all that therein is.)

29 And the conſcience, I ſay, not thine, but of that other: [8] for why ſhould my libertie be condemned of another mans conſcience?

For this is the beginning of all euill, as of idolatrie (which hath gluttonie a companion vnto it) fornication, rebelling againſt Chriſt, murmuring, and ſuch like, which God puniſhed moſt ſharpely in that olde people, to the end that we which ſucceede them, and haue a more full declaration of the will of God, might by that meanes take better heede.

4 In concluſion, he deſcendeth to the Corinthians themſelues, warning them that they pleaſe not themſelues, but rather that they preuent the ſubtilties of Satan. Yet he vſeth an inſinuation, and comforteth them, that he may not ſeeme to make them altogether like to thoſe wicked idolaters and contemners of Chriſt, which periſhed in the wildernes.

m He that would haue you tempted for your profites ſake, will giue you an iſſue to eſcape out of the tentation.

5 Nowe returning to thoſe Idoles feaſtes, that he may not ſeeme to dally at all: firſt he promiſeth that he will vſe no other reaſons, then ſuch as they knewe very well themſelues. And he vſeth an induction bicauſe of the agreement that is in the things themſelues. The holy bankets of the Chriſtians are pledges, firſt of all, of the communitie that they haue with Chriſt, and next, one with another. The Iſraelites alſo doe ratifie in the ſacrifices, their mutuall conjunction in one ſelfe ſame religion: therefore ſo doe the idolaters alſo ioyne themſelues with theſe Idoles or deuils rather, (for Idoles are nothing) in thoſe ſolemne bankets, whereupon it followeth, that that table is a table of deuils, and therefore you muſt eſchewe it: For you cannot be partakers of the Lord and of Idoles together, much leſſe may ſuch bankets bee accompted for things indifferent. Will yee then ſtriue with God and if ye doe, thinke you that you ſhall get the vpper hand?

* Chap. 6. 12.

6 Comming to another kinde of things offered to Idoles, he repeateth that generall rule, that in the vſe of things indifferent, wee ought to haue conſideration not of our ſelues only, but of our neighbours, and therefore there are many things which of themſelues are lawfull, which may be euill done of vs, becauſe of offence to our neighbour.

7 An applying of the rule to the preſent matter: Whatſoeuer is ſolde in the ſhambles, you may indifferently buy it as it were at the Lords hand and eate it either at home with the faithfull, or being called home to the vnfaithfull, to wit, in a priuate banket: but yet with this exception, vnleſſe any man be preſent which is weake, whoſe conſcience may be offended by ſetting meates offered to Idoles before them: for then you ought to haue conſideration of their weakeneſſe.

x All thoſe things whereof it is full.

8 A reaſon: for we muſt take heede that our libertie be not euill ſpoken of, and that the benefit of God which we ought to vſe with thankſgiuing bee not changed into impietie, and that through our fault, if we chuſe rather to offend the conſcience of the weake, then to yeeld a litle of our libertie in a matter of no importance, and ſo giue occaſion to the weake to iudge in ſuch ſort of vs, and of Chriſtian libertie. And the Apoſtle taketh theſe things vpon his owne perſon, that the Corinthians may haue ſo much the leſſe occaſion to oppoſe any thing againſt him.

y If I may through Gods benefite eate this meate, or that meate, why ſhould I through my fault, cauſe that benefit of God to turne to my blame?

* Col. 3. 17.

9 The concluſion: We muſt order our lines in ſuch ſort, that we ſeeke not our ſelues, but Gods glory, and ſo the ſaluation of as many as wee may: wherein the Apoſtle ſticketh not to propound himſelfe to the Corinthians (euen his owne flocke) as an example, but ſo that he calleth them backe to Chriſt, vnto whom he himſelfe hath regard.

CHAP. XI.

1 He blameth the Corinthians for that in their holy aſſemblies, 4 men do pray having their heads couered, 6 and women bare headed, & becauſe their meetings tended to euill, 21 who mingled prophane bankets with the holy Supper of the Lord, 23 which he requireth to be celebrated according to Chriſtes inſtitution.

Be

BE * ye followers of me, euen as I am of Christ.

2 [1] Nowe brethren, I commend you, that ye remember all my things, and keepe the ordinances, as I deliuered them to you.

3 [2] But I will that ye knowe, that Christ is the * head of euery man: and the man is the womans head: and God is [a] Christes head.

4 [3] Euery [b] man praying or prophecying hauing any thing on his head, dishonoureth his head.

5 [4] But euery woman that prayeth or prophecieth bare headed, dishonoureth her head, [5] for it is euen one very thing, as though shee were shauen.

6 Therefore if the woman be not couered, let her also be shorne: and if it be shame for a woman to be shorne or shauen, let her be couered.

7 [6] For a man ought not to couer his head: for as much as hee is the * image and glorie of God: but the woman is the glorie of the man.

8 [7] For the man is not of the woman, but the woman of the man.

9 *[8] For the man was not created for the womans sake: but the woman for the mans sake.

10 [9] Therefore ought the woman to haue [c] power on her heade, because of the [10] Angels.

11 [11] Neuertheless, neither is the man without the woman, neither the woman without the man [d] in the Lord.

12 For as the woman is of the man, so is the man also by the woman: but all things are of God.

13 [12] Iudge in your selues, Is it comely that a woman pray vnto God vncouered?

14 Doeth not nature it selfe teach you, that if a man haue a long haire, it is a shame vnto him?

15 But if a woman haue long haire, it is a praise vnto her: for her haire is giuen her for a [e] couering.

16 [13] But if any man lust to be contentious, wee haue no such custome, neither the Churches of God.

17 ¶ [14] Nowe in this that I declare, I praise you not, that ye come together, not with profite, but with hurt.

18 [15] For first of all, when ye come together in the Church, I heare that there are dissentions among you: and I beleeue it to be true in some part.

19 [16] For there must be heresies euen among you, that they which are [f] approoued among you, might be knowen.

20 When ye come together therefore into one place, this is [g] not to eat ꝑ Lords Supper.

21 For euery man when they should eate, taketh his owne supper [h] afore, and one is hungry, and another is drunken.

22 [17] Haue ye not houses to eat & to drinke in? despise ye the Churche of God, and shame them that haue not? what shall I say to you? shall I praise you in this? I praise you not.

23 [18] For I haue receiued of the Lord that which I also haue deliuered vnto you, to wit, That the Lord Iesus in the night when hee was betraied, tooke bread:

24 * And when he had giuen thanks, hee brake it, & said, Take, eate: This is my body, which is [i] broken for you: this doe ye in remembrance of me.

25 After the same maner also he tooke the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the New Testament in my blood: this doe as oft as ye drinke it, in remembrance of me.

26 For as often as ye shal eate this bread, and drinke this cup, yee shew the Lords death till he come.

27 [19] Wherefore, whosoeuer shal eate this bread, and drinke the cup of the Lord [k] vnworthily, shall be guiltie of the body and blood of the Lord.

* 2. Thess. 3. 9.

1 The fifth treatise of this Epistle concerning the right ordering of publike assemblies, conteining three points, to wit, of the comely apparell of men and women, of the order of the Lordes Supper, and of the right vse of spirituall gifts. But going about to reprehend certaine things, he beginneth notwithstanding with a generall praise of them, calling those particular lawes of comlines and honestie, which belong to the Ecclesiasticall policie, traditions: which afterward are called Canons.

2 He setteth downe God, in Christ our Mediatour, for the ende and marke not onely of doctrine, but also of Ecclesiasticall comlines. Then applying it to the question propoſed, touching the comely apparell both of men and wome in publike assemblies, he declareth that the woman is one degree beneath the man by the ordinance of God, and that the man is to subiect to Christ, that the glorie of God ought to appeare in him for the preeminence of the sexe.

* Ephes. 5. 23. a In that, that Christ is our Mediatour. 3 Hereof he gathereth, that if men doe either pray or preach in publike, hauing their heads couered (which was then a signe of subiection) they did as it were spoile themselues of their dignitie, against Gods ordinance. b It appeareth, that this was a politike Law seruing onely for the circumstances of the time that Paul liued in, by this reason, because in these our dayes for a man to speake bare headed in an assemblie, is a signe of subiection. 4 And in like sort hee conclude th, that women which shewe themselues in publike & Ecclesiasticall assemblies without the signe and token of their subiection, that is to say, uncouered, shame themselues. 5 The first argument taken from the common sense of man, for so much as nature teacheth woman, that it is dishonest for them to come abroad bare headed, seeing that she hath giuen them thicke and long haire, which they doe so diligently trimme and decke, that they can in no wise abide to haue it shauen. 6 The taking away of an objection: Haue not men also haire giuen them? I graunt, saith the Apostle, but there is another matter in it: For man was made to this ende and purpose, that the glorie of God should appeare in his rule and authoritie: but the woman was made, that by profession of her obedience, she might more honour her husband. * Gen. 1. 26. and 5. 1. and 9. 6. colosſ 3. 10. 7 He prooueth the inequalitie of the woman, by that, that the man is the matter whereof woman was first made. * Gen. 2. 22. 8 Secondly, by that, that the woman was made for man, and not the man for the womans sake. 9 The conclusion: Women must be couered, to shewe by this externall signe, their subiection. c A couering which is a token of subiection. 10 What this meaneth, I doe not yet vnderstand. 11 A digression which the Apostle vseth, least that which he spake of the superiorities of men, and lower degree of women, in consideration of the policie of the Church, should be so taken as though there were no measure of this inequalitie. Therefore he teacheth that men haue in such sort the preeminence, that God made them not alone, but women also: and woman was so made of man, that men also are borne by the meanes of women, and this ought to put them in minde to obserue the degree of euery sexe in such sort, that mutuall coniunction may be cherished. d By the Lorde. 12 He vrgeth the argument taken from the common sense of nature.

e To be a couering for her, and such a couering as should procure another. 13 Against such as are stubbornly contentious, we haue to oppose this, that the Churches of God are not contentious. 14 He passeth now to the next Treatise concerning the right administration of the Lords supper. And the Apostle vseth this sharper preface, that the Corinthians might vnderstand, that whereas they obserued generally the Apostles commandements, yet they foully neglected them in a matter of greatest importance. 15 To celebrate the Lordes Supper aright, it is requisite that there be not onely consent of doctrine, but also of affections, that it be not prophaned. 16 Although that schismes and heresies proceed from the deuill, and are euill, yet they come not by chance, nor without cause and they turne to the profite of the elect.

f Whom experience hath taught to be of sound religion and godlinesse.

g This is an vsuall kind of speach whereby the Apostle denieth that flatly, which many did not well.

h Eateth his meate and tarrieth not till other come.

17 The Apostle thinketh it good to take away the lone feastes, for their abuse, although they had bene a long time, & with commendation vsed in Churches, & were appointed and instituted by the Apostles. 18 We must take a true forme of keeping the Lordes Supper, out of the institution of it, the parts whereof are these, touching the Pastors, to shew forth the Lords death by preaching his word: to blesse the bread and the wine by calling vpon the Name of God, and together with prayers to declare the institution thereof, and finally to deliuer the bread broken to be eaten, & the cup receiued to be drunke with thanksgiuing. And touching the flocke, that euery man examine himselfe, that is to say, to proone both his knowledge, and also faith, and repentance: to shewe forth the Lords death, that is, in true faith to yeeld vnto his word any institution: and last of all, to take the bread at the Ministers hand, and to eat it and to drinke the wine, and giue God thankes: This was Paules and the Apostles maner of ministring. * Mat. 26 16. mar. 14. 22. luke 22. 19. i This word (Broken) noteth out vnto vs Christ his maner of death, for although his legs were not broke, as the theeues legs were, yet was his body very sore tormented, & torne, & bruised. 19 Whosoeuer contemne the holy Sacraments, that is, vse them not aright, are guiltie not of the bread & wine, but of the thing it selfe, that is, of Christ, & shall be grieuously punished for it. k Otherwise then meete is such mysteries should be handled.

28 *[20] Let [l] euery man therefore examine himselfe, and so let him eate of this bread, and drinke of this cup.

29 For he that eateth and drinketh vnworthily, eateth and drinketh this owne damnation, because he [m] discerneth not þ Lords body.

30 [21] For this cause many are weake, and sicke among you, and many sleepe.

31 For if we would [n] iudge our selues, wee should not be iudged.

32 But when we are iudged, wee are chastened of the Lorde, because we should not bee condemned with the world.

33 [22] Wherefore, my brethren, when yee come together to eate, tary one for another.

34 [23] And if any man bee hungry, let him eate at home, that yee come not together vnto condemnation. [24] Other things will I set in order when I come.

*20. Cor. 13.5.

l The examination of a mans selfe, is of necessitie required in the Supper, and therefore they ought not to be admitted vnto it, which cannot examine themselues: as children, fantasticall and mad men, also such as either haue no knowledge of Christ, or not sufficient, although they professe Christian religion and others such like.

m He is sayd to discerne the Lords body, that hath consideration of the worthinesse of it, and therefore commeth to eat of this meat with great reuerence. 21 The prophaning of the body and blood of the Lord in his mysteries, is sharply punished of him, and therefore such a mischiefe ought diligently to be preuented by iudging and correcting of a mans selfe. n Trie and examine our selues, by faith and repentance, separating our selues from the wicked. 22 The Supper of the Lord is a common action of the whole Church and therefore there is no place for priuate suppers. 23 The Supper of the Lord was instituted not to feed the belly but to feed the soule with the communion of Christ, and therefore it ought to be separated from common bankets. 24 Such things as pertaine to order, as place, time, forme of prayers, and other such like, the Apostle tooke order for in Congregations, according to the consideration of times places & persons.

This place beateth downe the blind of credite, or vnwrapped faith, which the Papists maintaine.

CHAP. XII.

1 To drawe away the Corinthians from contention and pride, he sheweth that spirituall gifts are therefore diuersly bestowed, 7 that the same being ioyntly to eche other imployed, 12 we may growe vp together into one body of Christ in such equall proportion and measure, 20 as the members of mans body.

NOw [1] concerning spirituall gifts, brethren, I would not haue you [a] ignorant.

2 [2] Yee know that yee were [b] Gentiles, and were caried away vnto the dumme Idols, as ye were led.

3 [3] Wherefore, I declare vnto you, that no man *speaking by the Spirit of God calleth Jesus *[c] execrable: also no man can say that Jesus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghost.

4 [4] Now there are diuersities of gifts, but the [d] same Spirit.

5 And there are diuersities of administrations, but the same Lord.

1 Nowe hee entreth into the thirde part of this treatise touching the right vse of spirituall gifts, wherein he giueth the Corinthians plainly to vnderstand that they abused them: for they that excelled braggued ambitiously of them, and so robbed God of the praise of his gifts: and hauing no consideration of their brethren, abused them to a vaine ostentation, and so robbed the Church of the vse of those giftes. On the other side the inferiour sort enuied the better, and went about to make a departure, so that all that body was as it were scattered and rent in pieces. So then hee going about to remedie these abuses willeth them first to consider diligently, that they haue not these gifts of themselues, but from the free grace and liberality of God, to whose glory they ought to bestow them all. a Ignorant to what purpose these gifts are given you. 2 Hee proueth the same by comparing their former state with that wherein they were at this time indued with those excellent gifts. b As touching Gods seruice & the couenant, meere strangers. 3 The conclusion: Know you therefore that you cannot so much as moue your lippes to honour Christ withall, but by the grace of the holy Ghost. *Marke 9.39. *Iohn 13.13 chap.8.6 phil.2.11. c Doth curse him, or by any meanes whatsoeuer diminish his glory. 4 In the second place, he layeth another foundation, to wit, that these gifts are diuers as the functions also are diuers and their offices diuers, but that one selfe same Spirit, Lorde and God is the giuer of al these gifts, and that to one end, to wit, for the profit of all. d The Spirit is plainely distinguished from the gifts.

6 And there are diuersities of *operations, but God is the same which worketh all in all.

7 But the manifestation of the Spirit is [f] giuen to euery man, to [g] profite withall.

8 [5] For to one is giuen by the Spirit the word of [h] wisedome: and to another the word of knowledge, by the same Spirit:

9 And to another is giuen faith by the same Spirit: and to another the gifts of healing, by the same Spirit:

10 And to another the [i] operations of great works: and to another, [k] prophecie: and to another, the [l] discerning of spirits: and to another diuersities of tongues: and to another, the interpretation of tongues.

11 *And all these things worketh one and the selfe same Spirit, distributing to euery man seuerally [6] as he will.

12 [7] For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of the body, which is one, though they bee many, yet are but one body, [8] euen so is [m] Christ.

13 For by one Spirit we are all baptized into [n] one body, whether we be Iewes or Grecians, whether we be bond or free, and haue bene all made to [o] drinke into one Spirit.

14 [9] For the body also is not one member, but many.

15 [10] If the foote would say, Because I am not the hand, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

16 And if the eare would say, Because I am not the eye, I am not of the body, is it therefore not of the body?

17 [11] If the whole body were an eye, where were the hearing? If the whole were hearing, where were the smelling?

f The holy Ghost openeth & sheweth himselfe freely in giuing of these gifts.

g To the vse and benefite of the Church.

5 He declareth this manifolde diuersitie, and reckoneth vp the chiefest giftes, bearing that mo to their heads, which he said before, to wit, that all these things proceeded from one selfe same Spirit.

h Wisedome is a most excellent gift, very requisite, not onely for the which teach, but also for them that exhort and comfort, which thing is proper to the Pastors office: as the word of knowledge agreeth to the Doctors.

i By operation he meaneth those great workings of Gods mighty power, which passe and excell amongst his miracles, as the deliuerie of his people Israel by the hand of Moses: that which hee did by Elias against the Priests

o So Paul calleth that inward force which commeth from the holy Ghost, and maketh men fit to wonderfull things.

of Baal, in sending down fire from heauen to consume his sacrifice: & that which he did by Peter, in the matter of Ananias and Saphira. k Foretelling of things to come. l Whereby false prophets are knowen from true, wherein Peter passed Philip in discouering Simon Magus, Act. 8.20. *Rom. 12.3. eph. 4.7. 6 He addeth moreouer somewhat else, to wit, that although that these giftes are bestowed, yet they are most wisely diuided, because the will of the Spirit of God is the rule of this distribution. 7 Hee setteth forth his former saying by a similitude taken from the body: This saith he, is manifestly seene in the body, whose members are diuers, but yet so knit together, that they make but one body. 8 The applying of the similitude. So must wee also thinke, saith he, of the mysticall body of Christ: for all wee that beleeue, whether wee bee Iewes or Gentiles, are by one selfe same Baptisme, ioyned together with our head, that by that meanes there may be framed one body compact of many members: and he hauing powre of one selfe same spirit, that is to say, a spirituall feeling, perceiuerance and motion common to vs all out of one cup. m Christ ioyned together with his Church. n To become one body with Christ. o By one quickening drinke of the Lords blood, we are made partakers of his onely Spirit. 9 He amplifieth that which followed of the similitude: as if hee should say, The vnitie of the body is not onely not let by this diuersitie of members, but also it could not be a body, if it did not consist of many, and those diuers members. 10 Now hee buildeth his doctrine vpon the foundations which hee hath layde: and first of all hee continueth in his purposed similitude, and afterwards hee goeth to the matter barely and simply. And first of all hee speaketh vnto them which would haue separated themselues from those whom they enuied, because they had not such excellent gifts as they: now this is, saith hee, as if the foote should say, it were not of the body, because it is not the hand: or the eare, because it is not the eye. Therefore all parts ought rather to defend the vnitie of the bodie, being coupled together to serue one the other. 11 Against speaking to them, he shewth that if that should come to passe which they desire, to wit, that all should be equall one to another, there would follow a destruction of the whole bodie, yea and of themselues: for it could not be a body, vnlesse it were made of many members knit together, and diuers one from the other. And that no man might stay himself with this diuision as vnequall, hee addeth that God himselfe hath coupled these together. Therefore all must remaine coupled together, that the body may remaine in safetie.

18 But now hath God disposed the members every one of them in the body at his own pleasure.

19 For if they were all one member, where were the body?

20 But now are there many members, yet but one body.

21 [12] And the eye cannot say vnto the hand, I haue no neede of thee: nor the head againe to the feete, I haue no need of you.

22 Yea, much rather those members of the body, which seeme to bee [p] more feeble, are necessary.

23 And vpon those members of the body, which wee thinke most vnhonest, put we more [q] honestie on: and our vncomely parts haue more comelinesse on.

24 For our comely parts neede it not, but God hath tempered the body together, & hath giuen the more honour to that part which lacked,

25 Lest there should be any diuision in the body: but that the members should haue the same [r] care one for another.

26 [13] Therefore if one member suffer, all suffer with it: if one member be had in honour, all the members reioyce with it.

27 Now yee are the body of Christ, and members for your [s] part.

28 * And God hath ordeined some in the Church: as first Apostles, secondly Prophets, thirdly Teachers, then them that do miracles: after that, the gifts of healing, [t] helpers, [u] gouernors, diuersitie of tongues.

29 Are all Apostles? are all Prophets? are all Teachers?

30 Are all doers of miracles? haue all the gifts of healing? doe all speake with tongues? doe all interpret?

31 [14] But desire you the best gifts, and I will yet shew you a more excellent way.

12 Now on the other side, he speaketh vnto them which were inuious with more excellent gifts willing them not to despise the inferiours as vnprofitable, and as though they serued to no vse: for God, saith he, hath in such sort tempered this inequality, that the more excellent and beautifull members can in no wise lacke the more abiect and such as we are ashamed of, & that they should haue more care to see vnto them and to couer them: that by this meanes [p] necessitie which is on both parts, might keepe the whole body in peace & concord: that although if each part be considered apart, they are of diuers degrees and conditions, yet because they are ioyned together, they haue a communitie both in commodities and discommodities.

p Of the smallest and vilest offices, and therefore smally accounted of, of the rest.

q We more carefully couer them.

r Should bestow their operations & offices to the profite and preseruation of the whole body.

13 Now hee applieth this same doctrine to the Corinthians without any allegorie, warning them that seeing there are diuers functions and diuers gifts, it is their duetie not to offend one against another, either by enuie or ambition, but rather that they being ioyned together in loue and charitie one with another, euery one of them bestow to the profite of all, that which he hath receiued according as his ministerie doeth require.

s For all Churches whereloeuer they are dispersed through the whole world, are diuers members of one body. *Ephe. 4.11.

t The offices of Deacons.

u Hee setteth foorth the order of Elders, which were the maintainers of the Churches discipline.

14 Hee teacheth them that are ambitious and enuious, a certaine holy ambition and enuie, to wit, if they giue themselues to the best gifts, and such as are most profitable to the Church, and so if they contend to excell one another in loue, which farre passeth all other gifts.

CHAP. XIII.

1 He sheweth that there are no gifts so excellent, which in Gods sight are not corrupt, if Charitie be away: 4 and therefore he digresseth vnto the commendation of it.

THough [1] I speake with the tongues of men and [a] Angels, and haue not loue, I am as sounding brasse, or a [b] tinckling cymbal.

2 And though I had the gift of prophecie, and knewe all secrets and all knowledge, yea if I had all [c] faith, so that I could remoue * mountaines and had not loue, I were nothing.

3 And though I feede the poore with all my goods, and though I giue my body, that I be burned, and haue not loue, it profiteth me nothing.

4 [2] Loue [d] suffereth long: it is bountifull: loue enuieth not: loue doeth not boast it selfe: it is not puffed vp.

5 It doth no [e] vncomely thing: it seeketh not her owne things: it is not prouoked to anger: it thinketh not euill:

6 It reioyceth not in iniquitie, but [f] reioyceth in the trueth:

7 It suffereth all things: it beleeueth all things: it hopeth all things: it endureth all things.

8 [3] Loue doeth neuer fall away, though that prophecyings be abolished, or the tongues cease, or [g] knowledge vanish away.

9 [4] For we know in [h] part, and wee prophecie in part.

10 But when that which is perfect, is come, then that which is in part, shalbe abolished.

11 [5] When I was a childe, I spake as a childe, I vnderstood as a child, I thought as a child: but when I became a man, I put away childish things.

12 [6] For [i] nowe wee see through a glasse darkely: but then shall wee see face to face. Now I know in part: but then shall I know euen as I am knowen.

13 [7] And now abideth faith, hope and loue, euen these three: but the chiefest of these is loue.

1 Her reasoneth first of Charitie, the excellencie whereof he first sheweth by this, that without it, all other gifts are as nothing before God: which thing he proueth partly by an induction, and partly also by an argument taken of the end, wherefore those gifts are giuen: For, to what purpose are those gifts but to Gods glory, and the profit of the Church as is before proued? so that those gifts without Charitie, haue no right vse.

a A very earnest kinde of amplifying a matter, as if hee sayd, If there were any tongues of Angels, and I had them, and did not vse them to the benefit of my neighbour, it were nothing else but a vaine and prating kinde of babbling.

b That giueth a rude & no certaine sound.

c By faith, he meaneth the gift of doing miracles, and not that faith which iustifieth, which can not be voyde of Charitie as the other may.

* Matth. 17.20.

2 He describeth the force and nature of charitie, partly by a comparison of contraries, and partly by the effects of it selfe: whereby the Corinthians may vnderstand, how vnprofitable it is in the Church, and how necessarie and also how farre they are from it, & therefore how vainely & without cause they are prouoked vnto wordes, desirous of wrath.

d Worde for worde, desireth wrath.

e It is not contumelious.

f Rejoyceth at righteousnesse in the righteous. For the Hebrewes meane by trueth, righteousnesse.

3 Against hee commendeth the excellencie of charitie in that, that it shall neuer bee abolished in the Saintes, whereas the other gifts which are necessarie for the building vp of the Church, so long as we liue here, shall haue no place in the world to come.

g The way to get knowledge by prophecying.

4 The reason: Because wee are now in that state that wee haue neede to learne daily, and therefore wee haue neede of those helpes, to wit, of the gift of tongues and knowledge, and also of them that teach them. But to what purpose serue they then, when wee haue obtained and gotten the full knowledge of God, which serue now but for them, which are imperfite and goe by degrees, to perfection?

h Wee learne imperfectly.

5 Hee setteth forth that, that hee sayd, by an excellent similitude, comparing this life to our infancie, or childehoode, wherein wee stagger and stammer rather then speake, and thinke and vnderstand childishly things, and therefore haue neede of such things as may forme and frame our tongue and minde: but when wee become men, to what purpose should wee desire that stammering, those childish toyes, and such like things, whereby our childehoode is framed by little and little?

6 The applying of the similitude of our childehoode to this present life, wherein wee darkely beholde heauenly things according to the small measure of light which is giuen vs, though the vnderstanding of tongues, and hearing the teachers and ministers of the Church: of our mans age and strength, to that heauenly and eternall life, wherein when we behold God himselfe present, and are lightened with his full and perfect light, to what purpose should wee desire the hope of man, and those worldly things which are most imperfect? But yet then, shall all the Saints be knit both with God, and betweene themselues with most feruent loue, and therefore charitie shall not be abolished but perfected, although it shall not be shewed forth and intermeined by such matter of duetie as particularly and only belong to the infirmity of this life.

i All this must be vnderstood by comparison.

7 The conclusion: As if the Apostle should say, Such therefore shall be our condition then: but now we haue three things, and they remaine sure if we be Christs, as without which, true religion cannot consist, to wit, faith, hope, and charitie. And among these, charitie is the chiefest, because it ceaseth not in the life to come as the rest do, but is perfected and accomplished. For seeing that faith and hope tend to things which are promised and are to come, when we haue presently gotten them, to what purpose should we haue faith and hope? but yet there at length shall we truely and perfectly loue both God, and one another.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 He commendeth the gift of prophecying: 7 and by a similitude taken of the musicall instruments, 12 hee teacheth the true vse of interpreting the Scriptures: 17 he taketh away the abuse: 34 and forbiddeth women to speake in the Congregation.

FOllow [1] after loue, and couet spirituall gifts, and rather that ye may [a] prophecie.

2 [2] For he that speaketh a strange [b] tong, speaketh not vnto men, but vnto God: for no man heareth him: howbeit in the [c] spirit hee speaketh secret things.

3 But he that prophecieth, speaketh vnto men to [d] edifying, and to exhortation, and to comfort.

4 He that speaketh strange language, edifieth himselfe: but hee that prophecieth, edifieth the [e] Church.

5 I would that yee all spake strange languages, but rather that yee prophecied: for greater is hee that prophecieth, then hee that speaketh diuers tongues, except he expound it, that the Church may receiue edification.

6 And now, brethren, if I come vnto you speaking diuers tongues, what shall I profite you, except I speake to you, either by reuelation, or by knowledge, or by prophecying, or by doctrine?

7 [3] Moreouer things without life which giue a sound, whether it be a pipe or an harpe, except they make a distinction in the sounds, how shall it bee knowen what is piped or harped?

8 And also if the trumpet giue an vncertaine sound, who shall prepare himselfe to battell?

9 So likewise you, by the tongue, except yee vtter words that haue [f] signification, how shall it be vnderstood what is spoken? for yee shall speake in the ayre.

10 [4] There are so many kindes of voyces (as it commeth to passe) in the world, & none of them is dumme.

11 Except I know then the power of the voyce, I shall be vnto him that speaketh a barbarian, and hee that [g] speaketh shall bee a barbarian vnto me.

12 [5] Euen so, forasmuch as ye couet spirituall gifts, seeke that yee may excell vnto the edifying of the Church.

13 Wherefore let him that speaketh a strange tongue, [h] pray that he may interprete.

14 [6] For [i] if I pray in a strange tongue, my [k] spirit prayeth: but mine vnderstanding is [l] without fruit.

15 What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, but I will pray with the [m] vnderstanding also: I will sing with the spirit, but I will sing with the vnderstanding also.

16 [7] Else, when thou blessest with the [n] spirit, how shal he that [o] occupieth the roome of the vnlearned, say [p] Amen, at thy giuing of thanks, seeing he knoweth not what thou sayest?

17 For thou verily giuest thanks well, but the other is not edified.

18 [8] I thanke my God, I speake languages more then ye all,

19 Yet had I rather in that Church to speake [q] fiue words with mine vnderstanding, that I might also instruct others, then ten thousand words in a strange tongue.

20 [9] Brethren, be not * children in vnderstanding, but as concerning maliciousnesse be children, but in vnderstanding bee of a ripe age.

21 In the [r] Law it is written, * By men of other tongues, and by other languages will I speake vnto this people: yet so shall they not heare me, saith the Lord.

22 [10] Wherefore strange tongues are for a signe, not to them that beleeue, but to them that beleeue not: but prophecying serueth not for them that beleeue not, but for them which beleeue.

23 [11] If therefore when the whole Church is come together in one, and all speake strange tongues, there come in they that are [s] vnlearned, or they which beleeue not, will they not say, that ye are out of your wits?

24 But if all prophecie, and there come in one that beleeueth not, or one vnlearned, hee is rebuked of all men, and is iudged of all,

25 And so are the secrets of his heart made manifest, and so hee will fall downe on his face

1 He inferreth now of that that hee spake before: Therefore seeing charitie is the chiefest of all, before all things set it before you as chiefe and principall: & so esteeme those things as most excellent, which profit the greater part of men: (as prophecie, that is to say, the gift of teaching and applying the doctrine: which was contemned in respect of other gifts, although it be the chiefest and most necessary for the Church) and not those which for a shew seeme to be marueilous, as the gifts of tongues, when a man was sodenly indued with the knowledge of many tongues, which made men greatly amazed & yet of it selfe was not greatly to any vse, vnlesse there were an interpreter.

a What prophecie is, he sheweth in the third vers.

2 He reprehendeth their peruerse iudgement touching the gift of tongues. For why was it giuen to vs, to the intent that the mysteries of God might be the better known to a greater sort. Thereby it is euident that prophecie, wherevnto the gift of tongues ought to serue, is better then this: and therefore the Corinthians did iudge a misse, in that they made more accompt of the gift of tongues, then of prophecying: because forsooth the gift of tongues was a thing more to bee bragged of. And hereupon followed another abuse of the gift of tongues, in that the Corinthians vsed tongues in the congregation without an interpreter. Which thing although it might bee done to some profite of him that spake them, yet he corrupted the right vse of that gift because there came thereby no profite to the hearers: and common assemblies were instituted and appointed not for any priuate mans commoditie, but for the profite of the whole company.

b A strange language which no man can vnderstand without an interpreter.

c By that inspiration which he hath receiued of the Spirit, which notwithstanding hee abuseth, when hee speaketh misteries which none of the company can vnderstand.

d Which may further men in the study of godlinesse.

e The company.

3 He setteth forth that which he saith by a similitude, which he borroweth and taketh from instruments of musicke, which although they speake not perfitly, yet they are distinguished by their sounds, that they may be the better vsed.

f That doe fitly vtter the matter it selfe.

4 He proueth that interpretation is necessarily to be ioyned with the gift of tongues, by the manifold varietie of languages. Insomuch that if one speake to another without an interpreter, it is as if he spake not.

g As the Papists in all their Sermons, and they that ambitiously powre out some Hebrewe or Greeke wordes in the Pulpit before the vnlearned people, thereby to get them a name of vaine learning.

5 The conclusion: if they will excell in those spirituall gifts, as it is meete, they must seeke the profit of the Church, and therefore they must not vse the gift of tongues, vnlesse there be an interpreter to expound the strange and vnknowen tongue, whether it bee himselfe that speaketh, or another interpreter.

h Pray for the gift of interpretation.

6 A reason. Because it is not sufficient for vs to speake so in the congregation, that wee our selues do worship God in spirit, that is, according to the gift which wee haue receiued, but we must also bee vnderstood of the company, least that be vnprofitable to other, which we haue spoken.

i If I pray, when the Church is assembled together, in a strange tongue.

k The gift and inspiration which the spirit giueth mee, doth his part, but only to my selfe.

l No fruit commeth to the Church by my prayers

m So that I may be vnderstood of other, and may instruct other.

7 An other reason: Seeing that the whole congregation must agree to him that speaketh, and also witnesse his agreement, How shall they giue their assent or agreement which know not what is spoken.

n Onely, without all consideration of the hearers.

o He that sitteth as a priuate man.

p So then one vttered the prayers, and all the company answered, Amen.

8 Hee propoundeth himselfe for an example, both that they may bee ashamed of their foolish ambition, and also that he may eschew all suspition of enuie.

q A very few words.

9 Now he reproueth them freely for their childish folly, which see not how this gift of tongues which was giuen to the profit of the Church, is turned by their ambition into an instrument of cursing, seeing that the same also is contained amongst the punishments wherewith God punished the stubbornesse of his people, that he dispersed them amongst strangers whose language they vnderstood not. * Mar. 28.3.

r By the Law he vnderstandeth all the whole Scripture. * Isa. 28.11.

10 The conclusion: Therefore the gift of tongues serueth to punish the vnfaithfull and vnbeleeuers, vnlesse it be referred to prophecie (that is to say, to the interpretation of Scripture) and that that which is spoken be by that meanes vnderstood of the hearers.

11 An other argument: The gift of tongues without prophecie is not only vnprofitable to the faithfull, but also doth very much hurt: as well to them as to the vnfaithfull which should bee wonne in the publike assemblies. For by this meanes it commeth to passe, that the faithfull seeme to other to bee mad, much lesse can the vnfaithfull bee instructed thereby.

s Looke Actes 4.13.

and worship God, and say plainely that God is in you indeed.

12 The conclusion: The edifying of the congregation is a rule and square of the right vse of all spirituall gifts.

26 [12] What is to bee done then, brethren? when yee come together, according as euery one of you hath a Psalme, or hath doctrine, or hath a tong, or hath reuelation, or hath interpretation, let all things be done vnto edifying.

13 The maner how to vse the gift of tongues. It may be lawfull for one or two, or at the most for three, to vse the gift of tongues, one after another in an assembly, so that there bee some to expound the same: but if there bee none to expound, let him that hath that gift, speake to himselfe alone.

27 [13] If any man speake a strange tongue, let it bee by two, or at the most, by three, and that by course, and let one interprete.

28 But if there be no interpreter, let him keepe silence in the Church, which speaketh languages, and let him speake to himselfe, and to God.

14 The maner of prophecying: Let two or three propound, and let the other iudge of that that is propounded, whether it be agreeable to the word of God or vs: If in this examination the Lord giue any man ought to speake, let them giue him leaue to speake. Let euery man be admitted to prophecie, generally and in his order, so farre forth as it is requisite for the edifying of the Church: Let them be content to bee subiect eche to others iudgement.

29 [14] Let the Prophets speake two, or three, and let the other iudge.

30 And if any thing bee reueiled to another that sitteth by, let the first hold his peace.

31 For yee may all prophecie one by one, that all may learne, and all may haue comfort.

c The doctrine which the Prophets bring, which are inspired with Gods Spirit.

32 And the [c] spirits of the Prophets are subiect to the Prophets.

33 For God is not the authour of confusion, but of peace, as we see in all the Churches of the Saints.

15 Women are commanded to be silent in publique assemblies, and they are commanded to aske of their husbands at home.

34 [15] * Let your women keepe silence in the Churches: for it is not permitted vnto them to speake, but they ought to be subiect, as also * the Law sayth.

35 And if they will learne any thing, let them aske their husbands at home: for it is a shame for a woman to speake in the Church.

36 [16] Came the word of God out from you? either came it vnto you onely?

37 If any man thinke himselfe to bee a Prophet, or [u] spirituall, let him acknowledge, that the things that I write vnto you, are the commandements of the Lord.

38 [17] And if any man be ignorant, let him be ignorant:

39 [18] Wherefore, brethren, couet to prophecie, and forbid not to speake languages.

40 Let all things bee done honestly, and by order.

* 1. Tim. 2. 12. * Gen. 3. 16. 16 A generall conclusion of the treatise of the right vse of spirituall gifts in assemblies: with a sharpe reprehension, lest the Corinthians might alone seeme to themselues to bee wise. u Skilfull in knowing and iudging spiritual things. 17 The Church ought not to care for such as be stubburnly ignorant, & will not abide to be taught, but to goe forward notwithstanding, in those things which are right. 18 Prophecie ought simply to be retained and kept in Congregations, the gift of tongues is not to bee forbidden, but all things must be done orderly.

CHAP. XV.

1 The Gospell that Paul preached: 3 The death and resurrection of Christ. 8 Paul saw Christ. 9 He had persecuted that Church, whereof afterward he was made a minister. 12 Christ first rose againe, and wee all shall rise by him. 26 The last enemie, death. 29 To be baptized for dead. 32 At Ephesus Paul fought with beasts, 35 How the dead are raised. 45 The first Adam. The last Adam. 47 The first and second man. 51 Wee shall all be changed, we shall not all sleepe. 55 Deaths sting, 57 victorie. 58 Constancie and stedfastnesse.

MOreouer [1] * brethren, I declare vnto you the Gospell, which I preached vnto you, which ye haue also receiued, and wherein yee [a] continue,

1 The first treatise of this Epistle, concerning the resurrection: and hee vseth a transition, or passing ouer from one matter to another, shewing first that he ignoreth no new thing, to the end that the Corinthians might vnderstand that they had begun to swarue from the right course: and next that hee goeth not about to intreate of a trifling matter, but of another chiefe point of the Gospell, which if it bee taken away, their faith must needs come to nought. And so at the length he beginneth this treatise at Christs resurrection, which is the ground and foundation of ours, and confirmeth it first by the testimonie of the Scriptures and by the witnesse of the Apostles, and of more then fiue hundreth brethren, and last of all by his owne.

2 And whereby yee are saued, if ye keepe in memorie, after what maner I preached it vnto you, [b] except ye haue beleeued in vaine.

* Gal. 1. 11.

a In the profession whereof you continue yet.

b Which is very absurd, and cannot be, but that they that beleeue must reape the fruit of faith.

3 For first of all, I deliuered vnto you that which I receiued, how that Christ died for our sinnes according to the * Scriptures,

* Isa. 53. 5. 1 pet. 2. 24.

4 And that hee was buried, and that hee arose the third day, according to the * Scriptures.

* Ionas 2. 1. * Iohn 20. 19.

5 * And that he was seene of Cephas, then of the [c] twelue.

c Of those twelue picked and chosen Apostles, which were commonly called twelue though Iudas was put out of the number.

6 After that, hee was seene of moe then fiue hundreth brethren at [d] once: whereof many remaine vnto this present, and some also are asleepe.

d Not at seuerall times, but together and at one instant.

7 After that, he was seene of Iames: then of all the Apostles.

8 * And last of all hee was seene also of me, as of one borne out of due time.

* Acts 9. 5.

9 * For I am the least of the Apostles, which am not meet to be called an Apostle, because I persecuted the Church of God.

2 He maintaineth by the way the authoritie of his Apostleship, which was requisite to be in good credite among the Corinthians, that this Epistle might be of force and waight amongst them. In the meane season he compareth himselfe in such sort after a certaine diuine art with certaine other, that he maketh himselfe inferiour to them all.

10 * But by the grace of God, I am that I am: and his grace which is in me, was not in vaine: but I laboured more abundantly then they all: yet not I, but the grace of God which is with me.

* Ephe. 3. 8. * Ephe. 3. 7.

11 Wherefore, whether it were I, or they, so we preach, and so haue yee beleeued.

12 [3] Now if it be preached, that Christ is risen from the dead, how say some among you, that there is no resurrection of the dead?

3 The first argument to proue that there is a resurrection from the dead: Christ is risen againe, therefore the dead shall rise againe.

13 [4] For if there bee no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen:

4 The second by an absurditie, if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is not Christ risen againe.

14 [5] And if Christ bee not risen, then is our preaching vaine, and your faith is also vaine.

5 The proofe of that absurditie, by other absurdities: If Christ be not risen againe, the preaching of the Gospel is in vaine, and the credite that you gaue vnto it, is vaine, and wee are lyars.

15 And wee are found also false witnesses of God: for wee haue testified of God, that he hath raised vp Christ: whom hee hath not raised vp, if so be the dead be not raised.

16 [6] For if the dead bee not raised, then is Christ not raised.

6 He repeateth the same argument taken of an absurditie, purposing to shewe how faith is in vaine, if the resurrection of Christ bee taken away.

17 And if Christ bee not raised, your faith is vaine: [7] ye are [e] yet in your sinnes.

7 First, seeing death is the punishment of sinne, in vaine should wee beleeue that our sinnes were forgiuen vs, if they remaine: but they doe remaine, if Christ rose not from death.

e They are yet in their sinnes, which are not sanctified, nor haue obtained remission of their sinnes.

18 [8] And so they which are asleepe in Christ are perished.

19 [9] If in this life onely wee haue hope in Christ, we are of all men the most miserable.

20 [10] But now is Christ risen from the dead, [11] and was made the *[f] first fruites of them that slept.

21 [12] For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead.

22 For as in Adam all die, euen so in Christ shall all bee made aliue, 23 [13] But euery man in his *owne order: the first fruits is Christ, afterward, they that are of Christ, at his cõming shall rise againe.

24 [14] Then shal be the [h] end, when he hath deliuered vp the kingdome to God, euen the Father, when he hath put downe [i] all rule, and all authoritie and power.

25 For he must reigne, *till he hath put all his enemies [k] vnder his feete.

26 The [l] last enemie that shal be destroyed, is death.

27 *For he hath put downe all things vnder his feet. (And when he saith that all things are subdued to him, it is manifest that hee is excepted, which did put down all things vnder him)

28 And when all things shall bee subdued vnto him, [m] then shall the Sonne also himselfe be subiect vnto him, that did subdue all things vnder him, that [n] God may bee all in all.

29 [15] Els what shall they do which are baptized [o] for dead? if the dead rise not at all, why are they then baptized for dead?

30 [16] Why are we also in ieopardie euery houre?

31 By your [p] reioycing which I haue in Christ Iesus our Lord, I die daily.

32 [17] If I haue fought with beastes at Ephesus [q] after the maner of men, what aduantageth it me, if the dead bee not raised vp? *[18] let vs [r] eate and drinke: for to morow we shall die.

33 [19] Bee not deceiued: euill speakings corrupt good maners.

34 Awake to liue righteously, and sinne not: for some haue not the knowledge of God, I speake this to your shame.

35 [20] But some man will say, How are the dead raised vp? and with what body come they forth?

36 [21] O foole, that which thou sowest, is not quickened, except it die.

37 And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body that shall be, but bare corne as it falleth, of wheate, or of some other.

38 [22] But God giueth it a body at his pleasure, euen to euery seede his owne body.

39 All flesh is not the same flesh, but there is one flesh of men, and another flesh of beastes, and another of fishes, and another of birdes.

40 There are also heauenly bodies, and earthly bodies: but the glory of the heauenly is one, and the glory of the earthly is another.

41 There is another glory of the sunne, another glory of the moone, and another glorie of the starres: for one starre differeth from another starre in glory.

n By this hie kinde of speech, is set foorth an incomprehensible glory which floweth from God, and shall fill all of vs, as wee are ioyned together with our head, but yet so, that our head shall alwayes reserue his preeminence.

15 The first argument taken of the end of Baptisme, to wit, because that they which are baptized, are baptized for dead: that is to say, that they may haue a remedy against death, because that baptisme is a token of regeneration.

o They that are baptized to this ende and purpose, that death may bee put out in them, or to rise againe from the dead, whereof baptisme is a seale.

16 The first argument: Vnlesse there bee a resurrection of the dead, why should the Apostles so daylie cast themselues into danger of so many deaths?

p As though hee sayde, I die dayly, as all the miseries I suffer can well witnesse, which I may truelie boast of that I haue suffered amongst you.

17 The taking away of an obiection: But thou Paul didest ambitiously, as commonly men are wont to doe, when thou didest fight with beasts at Ephesus: that is very like, sayth Paul, for what could that aduantage mee, were it not for the glory of eternall life which I hope for? p Not vpon any godly motion, nor casting mine eyes vpon God, but caryed away with vaine glory, or a certaine headinesse. *Isai.22.13. 18 The seuenth argument which dependeth vpon the last: If there be no resurrection of the dead, why doe wee giue our selues to any thing els, saue to eating and drinking? r These are speaches that Epicures vse. 19 The conclusion with a sharpe exhortation, that they take heed of the naughtie company of certaine: from whence hee sheweth that this misery sprang: warning them to be wise with sobrietie vnto righteousnesse. 20 Now that hee hath prooued the resurrection, hee discouereth their vnthankfulnesse, in that they scoffingly demaunded, how it could bee that the dead could rise againe, and if they did rise againe, they asked mockingly, what maner of bodies they should haue. Therefore hee sendeth these fellowes, which seemed to themselues to be marueilous wise and wittie, to bee instructed of poore rude husbandmen. 21 Thou mightest haue learned either of these, sayth Paul, by dayly experience: for seedes are sowen, and rot, and yet notwithstanding so farre it is off that they perish, that contrariwise they grow vp farre more beautifull: and whereas they are sowen naked and dry, they spring vp greene from death by the benefite of God: and doeth it seeme incredible to thee that our bodies should rise from corruption, and that indued with a farre more excellent qualitie? 22 Thee see a diuersitie both in one and the selfe same thing which hath nowe one forme and then another, and yet keepeth it owne kinde: as it is euident in a graine which is sowen bare, but springeth vp farre after another sort: and also in diuers kindes of one selfe same sort, as amongst beastes: and also among things of diuers sort, as the heauenly bodies and the earthly bodies: which also differ very much one from another. Therefore there is no cause why thee should reiect either the resurrection of the bodies, or the changing of them into a better state, as a thing impossible, or strange.

8 Secondly, vnlesse that this bee certeine that Christ rose againe, all they which died in Christ are perished. So then what profit commeth of faith?

9 The third argument which is also taken from an absurditie: for vnlesse there be another life, wherein such as trust and beleeue in Christ shall be blessed, they were the most miserable of all creatures, because in this life they are most miserable.

10 A conclusion of the former argument: Therefore Christ is risen againe.

11 He putteth the last conclusion for the first proposition of the argument that followeth. Christ is risen againe: Therefore shall we the faithfull (for of them hee speaketh) rise againe. Then followeth the first reason of this consequent: for Christ is set forth vnto vs, to bee considered of, not as a priuate man apart and by himselfe, but as the first fruites: And he taketh that which was knowen to all men, to wit, that the whole heape is sanctified in the first fruits. * Col.1.18. reuel.1.5. f He alludeth to the first fruits of corne, the offering whereof sanctified the rest of the fruites. 12 An other confirmation of the same consequent: for Christ is to be considered as opposite to Adam, that as from one man Adam, sinne came ouer all, so from one man Christ, life commeth vnto all: that is to say, that all the faithful, as they die, because by nature they were borne of Adam, so because in Christ they are made the children of God by grace, they are quickened and restored to life by him. g Shall rise by the vertue of Christ. 13 He doeth two things together: for he sheweth that the resurrection is in such sort common to Christ with all his members, that notwithstanding he far passeth them, both in time (for he was the first that rose againe from the dead) and also in honour, because that from him and in him is all our life & glory. Then by this occasion he passeth to the next argument. *1. Thes. 4.13. 14 The fourth argument, wherewith also he confirmeth the other, hath a most sure ground, to wit, because that God must reigne. And this is the maner of his reigne, that the Father will be shewed to bee King in his Sonne who was made man, to whom all things are made subiect (the promiser onely except) to the ende that the Father may afterward triumph in his Sonne the conquerour. And hee maketh two parts of this reigne and dominion of the Sonne wherein the Fathers glory consisteth: to wit, the ouercomming of his enemies (whereof some must be depriued of all power, as Satan and all the wicked, be they neuer so proud and mightie, and other must be vtterly abolished, as death) and a plaine and full deliuery of the godly from all enemies, that by this meanes God may fully set foorth the body of the Church cleauing fast vnto their head Christ, his kingdome and glory, as a King in his subiects. Moreouer hee putteth the first degree of his kingdome in the resurrection of the Sonne, who is the head: and the perfection, in the full coniunction of the members with the head, which shall be in the latter day. Now all these tend to this purpose, to shew that vnlesse the dead doe rise againe, neither the Father can bee King aboue all, neither Christ the Lord of all: for neither should the power of Satan and death be ouercome, nor the glory of God be full in his Sonne, nor his sonnes in his members. h The shutting vp and finishing of all things. i All his enemies which shall be spoyled of all the power they haue. *Psal.100.1. acts 2.34. heb.1.13. & 10.13. k Christ is considered here, as he appeared in the forme of a seruant, in which respect hee ruleth the Church as head, and that because this power was giuen him of his Father. l The shutting vp of the argument, which is taken from the whole to the part: for if all his enemies shall be put vnder his feete, then must it needs bee that death also shall be subdued vnder him. *Psal.8.6. heb.2.8. m Not because the Sonne was not subiect to his Father before, but because his body, that is to say, the Church which is heere in distresse, and not yet wholy partaker of his glory, is not yet fully perfect, and also because the bodies of the Saints which bee in the graues, shall not be glorified vntil the resurrection: but Christ as he is God, hath vs subiect to him as his Father hath, but as he is Priest, he is subiect to his Father together with vs. August. booke 1. chap. 8. of the Trinitie.

42 [23] So also is the resurrection of the dead. The body is [f] sowen in corruption, and is rayſed in incorruption.

43 It is ſowen in [t] diſhonour, and is rayſed in glory: it is ſowen in weakeneſſe, and is rayſed in [u] power.

44 [24] It is ſowen a naturall body, and is rayſed a ſpirituall body, there is a naturall bodie, and there is a ſpirituall body.

45 [25] As it is alſo written, The [x] firſt man * Adam was made a liuing ſoule: and the laſt Adam was made a [y] quickening Spirit.

46 [26] Howbeit that was not firſt which is ſpirituall: but that which is naturall, and afterward that which is ſpirituall.

47 The firſt man is of the earth, [z] earthly: the ſecond man is the Lord from [a] heauen.

48 [27] As is the earthly, ſuch are they that are earthly: and as is the heauenly, ſuch are they alſo that are heauenly.

49 And as wee haue borne the [b] image of the earthly, ſo ſhall wee beare the image of the heauenly.

50 [28] This ſay I, brethren, that [c] fleſh and blood cannot inherite the kingdome of God, neither doeth corruption inherite incorruption.

51 [29] Behold, I ſhew you a [d] ſecret thing, Wee ſhall not all ſleepe, but wee ſhall all bee changed.

52 In [e] a moment, in the twinkling of an eye at the laſt * trumpet: for the trumpet ſhal blow and the dead ſhall be rayſed vp incorruptible, and we ſhall be changed.

53 For this corruptible muſt put on incorruption: and this mortall muſt put on immortalitie.

54 So when this corruptible hath put on incorruption, and this mortall hath put on immortalitie, then ſhall be brought to paſſe the ſaying that is written, * Death is ſwallowed vp into victory.

55 O death where is thy ſting? O graue where is thy victory?

56 The ſting of death is ſinne: and the ſtrength of ſinne is the Law.

57 * But thankes bee vnto God, which hath giuen vs victory through our Lord Jeſus Chriſt.

58 [30] Therefore my beloued brethren, be ye ſtedfaſt, vnmoueable, abounding alwayes in the worke of the Lord, foraſmuch as yee know that your labour is not in vaine in the [f] Lord.

CHAP. XVI.

1 He exhorteth them to helpe the poore brethren in Hieruſalem: 10 Then hee commendeth Timothie: 13 and ſo with a friendly exhortation, 19 and commendations endeth the Epiſtle.

COncerning [1] the gathering of the Saints, as I haue ordeined in the Churches of Galatia, ſo doe ye alſo.

2 Euery [a] firſt day of the weeke, let euery one of you put aſide by himſelfe, and lay vp as God hath [b] proſpered him, that then there be no gatherings when I come.

3 And when I am come, whoſoeuer yee ſhall allow by [c] letters, them will I ſend to bring your liberalitie vnto Hieruſalem.

4 [2] And if it be meete that I goe alſo, they ſhall goe with me.

5 Now I will come vnto you, after I haue gone through Macedonia (for I will paſſe through Macedonia.)

6 And it may bee that I will abide, yea, or winter with you, that yee may bring mee on my way, whitherſoeuer I goe.

7 For I will not ſee you now in my paſſage, but I truſt to abide a while with you, if the Lord permit.

8 And I will tary at Epheſus vntill Pentecoſt.

9 For a great doore and [d] effectuall is opened vnto me: and there are many aduerſaries.

10 Now if Timotheus come, ſee that he be [e] without feare with you: for he worketh the worke of the Lord, euen as I doe.

11 Let no man therefore deſpiſe him: but conuey him forth [f] in peace, that hee may come vnto mee: for I looke for him with the brethren.

12 As touching our brother Apollos, I greatly deſired him, to come vnto you with the brethren: but his mind was not at all to come at this time: howbeit hee will come when hee ſhall haue conuenient time.

13 Watch ye: ſtand faſt in the faith: quite you

23 Hee maketh three maner of qualities of the bodies being rayſed: Incorruption, to wit, becauſe they ſhall be ſound and altogether of a nature that can not be corrupt: Glorie, becauſe they ſhall be adorned with beautie and honour: Power, becauſe they ſhall continue euerlaſting, without meate, drinke, and all other helpes, without which this fraile life cannot keepe it ſelfe from corruption.

f Is buried, and man is hid as ſeed in the ground.

t Voide of honour, voyde of glory and beautie.

u Freed from the former weakeneſſe, whereas it is ſubiect to ſuch alteration and change that it cannot maintein it ſelfe without meate and drink and ſuch other like helpes.

24 He ſheweth perfitely in one word this change of the quality of the body by the reſurrection, when he ſayth, that of a naturall body, it ſhall become a ſpirituall body: which two qualities being cleane different the one from the ode other hee ſtraightway expounded, and ſetteth forth diligently. 25 That is called a naturall body which is quickened and maintained by a liuing ſoule only ſuch as Adam was, of whom all we are borne naturally: and that is ſayd to be a ſpirituall, which together with the ſoule is quickened with a farre more excellent vertue, to wit, with the Spirit of God, which deſcendeth from Chriſt the ſecond Adam into vs. x Adam is called the firſt man: becauſe he is the roote as it were from whence wee ſpring, and Chriſt is the latter man: becauſe hee is the beginning of all them that are ſpirituall, and in him we are all comprehended * Gene. 2. 7. y Chriſt is called a Spirit, by reaſon of that moſt excellent nature, that is to ſay, God, who dwelleth in him bodily, as Adam is called a liuing ſoule, by reaſon of the ſoule which is the beſt part in him. 26 Secondly, he willeth the order of this double ſtate or qualitie to bee obſerued, that the naturall was firſt, Adam being created of the clay of the earth: and the ſpirituall followeth and came vpon it, to wit, when as the Lord being ſent from heauen, indued our fleſh, which was prepared and made fit for him, with the fulneſſe of the Godhead. z Wallowing in durt, and wholy giuen to an earthly nature. a The Lord is ſayd to come downe from heauen by that kinde of ſpeach, whereby that which is proper to one is vouched of another. 27 He applieth both the earthly naturalneſſe of Adam (if I may ſo ſay) to our bodies, ſo long as they are naturally conuerſant vpon earth, to wit, in this life, and in the graue: and alſo the Spiritualtie of Chriſt to the ſame our bodies, after they are riſen againe: and he ſayth that that goeth before, and this ſhall follow. b Not a vaine and falſe image, but ſuch an one as had the trueth with it indeede. 28 The concluſion. Wee cannot be partakers of the glory of God vnleſſe we put off all that groſſe and filthy nature of our bodies ſubiect to corruption, that the ſame body may be adorned with incorruptible glory. c Fleſh and blood are taken here for a liuing body, which cannot attaine to incorruption, vnleſſe it put off corruption. 29 Hee goeth further declaring that it ſhall come to paſſe that they which ſhall bee found aliue in the latter day, ſhall not deſcend into that corruption of the graue, but ſhall bee renewed with a ſudden change, which change is very requiſite: and that the certain inioying of the benefite and victory of Chriſt, is deferred vnto that latter time. d A thing that had beene hid, and neuer knowen hitherto, and therefore worthie that we giue good eare vnto it. e Hee ſheweth that the time ſhall bee very ſhort. * Matth. 24. 31. 1. theſſ. 4. 16.

The second Epistle of Paul to the Corinthians.

CHAP. I.

1 He beginneth with the praise of afflictions, 8 declaring what he hath suffered in Asia, 10 and how happily God assisted him. 17 He saith it was not vpon any lightnesse that he came not according to his promise.

1 PAul [1] an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the will of God, and our [illegible] Timotheus [illegible] Church of God, [illegible] at Corinthus, [illegible] saints which are in all Achaia:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 *[2a] Blessed be God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, the Father of b mercies, and the God of all comfort.

4 Which comforteth vs in all our tribulation, [3] that we may bee able to comfort them which are in any affliction by y comfort wherewith we our selues are comforted of God.

5 For as the c sufferings of Christ abound in vs, so our consolation abounded through Christ.

6 [4] And whether wee bee afflicted, it is for your consolation and saluation, which is d wrought in y enduring of the same sufferings which we also suffer: or whether we bee comforted, it is for your consolation and saluation.

7 And our hope is stedfast concerning you, in as much as we know that as yee are partakers of the sufferings, so shall ye be also of the consolation.

8 [5] For, brethren, we would not haue you ignorant of our affliction, which came vnto vs in Asia, how wee were pressed out of measure passing strength, so that we altogether e doubted euen of life.

9 Yea, wee receiued the sentence of death in f our selues, because wee should not trust in our selues, but in God, which raiseth the dead.

10 Who deliuered vs from so g great a death, and doth deliuer vs: in whom we trust, that yet hereafter he will deliuer vs, 11 *[6] So that yee labour together in prayer for vs, [7] that for the gift bestowed vpon vs for many, thankes may be giuen by many persons for vs.

12 [8] For our reioycing is this, the testimonie of our conscience, that in simplicitie and godly h pureness, and not in fleshly wisdome, but by the i grace of God we haue had our conuersation in the world, and most of all to you wards.

13 For wee write k none other things vn-

1 See the declaration of such salutations, in the former Epistles.

* Ephes. 1. 3. 1. pet. 1. 3.
2 He beginneth after this maner with thanke giuing, which notwithstanding (otherwise then he was wont) bee applieth to himselfe: beginning his Epistle with the setting forth of the dignitie of his Apostleship, constrained (as it should seeme) by their importunitie which tooke an occasion to despise him by reason of his miseries. But he answereth, that he is not so afflicted but that his comforts doe exceede his afflictions, shewing the grounds of them, euen the mercie of God the Father in Iesus Christ. 3 To him be praise and glorie giuen. b Most mercifull. 3 The Lord doth comfort vs to this ende and purpose, that wee may so much the more surely comfort others. c The miseries which we suffer for Christ, or which Christ suffereth in vs. 4 He teacheth that either his afflictions wherewith he was often afflicted, or the consolations which he receiued of God, may iustly bee despised, seeing that the Corinthians both ought and might take great occasion to be confirmed by either of them. d Although saluation be giuen vs freely, yet because there is a way appointed vs wherby we must come to it, which is the race of an innocent and vpright life, which we must runne, therfore we are said to worke our saluation, Philippians 2. 12. And because it is God only that of his free good will worketh all things in vs, therefore is he said to worke the saluation in vs by those selfe same things by which we must passe to euerlasting life, after that we haue once ouercome all incombrances.

5 He witnesseth that he is not only not ashamed of his afflictions, but that he desireth also to haue all men knowe the greatnesse of them, and also his deliuerie from them, although it be not yet perfit.
e I know not at all what to do neither did I see by mans helpe which way to saue my life.
f I was resolued within my selfe to die.
g From these great dangers.
* Rom. 15. 30.
6 That he may not seeme to boast himselfe, he attributeth all to God, and therewith also confesseth that hee attributeth much to the prayers of the faithfull.
7 The end of the afflictions of the Saints, is the glorie of God, and therefore they ought to be precious vnto vs.
8 Secondly, he putteth away an other slander, to wit, that he was a light man, and such a one as was not lightly to be credited, seeing that he promised to come vnto them, and came not. And first hee speaketh of the simplicitie of his minde, and sinceritie, which they knew both by his voice when he was present, and they ought to acknowledge it also in his letters, being absent: and moreouer he protesteth that he will neuer be otherwise. h With clearnesse and holy and true plainenesse of minde, as God himselfe can witnesse. i Trusting to that verie wisedome, which God of his free goodnesse hath giuen me from heauen. k He saith, he writeth barely & simply: for he that writeth in coloured sort, is rightly said to write other wise then we reade: and this he saith the Corinthians shall know and like of very well.

vnto you, then that yee reade or els that yee acknowledge, and I trust yee shal acknowledge vnto the [l] end.

14 Euen as yee haue acknowledged vs partly, that wee are your [m] reioycing, euen as ye are ours, in the [n] day of our Lord Iesus.

15 And in this confidence was I minded first to come vnto you, that ye might haue had a [o] double grace, 16 And to passe by you into Macedonia, and to come againe out of Macedonia, vnto you, and to be led forth toward Iudea of you.

17 [p] When I therefore was thus minded, did I vse lightnesse? or minde I those things which I mind, according to the [p] flesh, that with me should be, [q] Yea, yea, and Nay, nay?

18 [10] Yea, God is [r] faithful, that our word toward you was not Yea, and Nay.

19 [11] For the Sonne of God Iesus Christ, who was preached among you by vs, that is, by me, and Siluanus, and Timotheus, [s] was not Yea, and Nay: but in [t] him it was Yea.

20 [12] For all the promises of God in him are Yea, and are in [u] him Amen, vnto the glorie of God through [x] vs.

21 [13] And it is God which stablisheth vs with you in Christ, and hath anointed vs.

22 Who hath also sealed vs, and hath giuen the [y] earnest of the spirit in our hearts.

23 [14] Now, I call God for a recorde vnto my [z] soule, that to spare you, I came not as yet vnto Corinthus.

24 [15] Not that wee haue dominion ouer your faith, but we are helpers of your [a] ioy: for by faith ye stand.

3 And I wrote this same thing vnto you, lest when I came, I should take heauinesse of them, of whom I ought to reioyce: this [b] confidence haue I in you all, that my ioy is the ioy of you all.

4 For in great affliction, and anguish of heart I wrote vnto you with many teares: not that ye should be made sorie, but that ye might perceiue the loue which I haue, specially vnto you.

5 [1] And if any hath caused sorowe, the same hath not made [c] me sorie, but [d] partly (lest I should more [e] charge him) you all.

6 It is sufficient vnto the same man, that he was rebuked of many.

7 So that nowe contrariwise yee ought rather to [f] forgiue him, and comfort him, lest the same should bee swallowed vp with ouermuch heauinesse.

8 Wherefore, I pray you, that you would [g] confirme your loue towards him.

9 For this cause also did I write, that I might knowe the proofe of you, whether ye would be obedient in all things.

10 To whom ye forgiue any thing, I forgiue also: for verely if I forgaue any thing, to whom I forgaue it, for your sakes forgaue I it in the [h] sight of Christ, 11 Lest Satan should circumuent vs: for we are not [i] ignorant of his enterprises.

12 [2] Furthermore, when I came to Troas to preach Christs Gospel, and a doore was opened vnto me of the Lord, 13 I had no rest in my spirit, because I found not Titus my brother, but tooke my leaue of them, and went away into Macedonia.

14 Now thankes be vnto God, which alwayes maketh vs to triumph in Christ, and maketh manifest the [k] sauour of his knowledge by vs in euery place.

15 [3] For we are vnto God the sweete sauour of Christ, in them that are saued, and in them which perish.

16 To the one we are the sauour of death, vnto death: and to the other the sauour of life, vnto life: [4] and who is sufficient for these things?

17 * For wee are not as many, which make [l] merchandise of the worde of God:

CHAP. II.

1 He excuseth his not comming vnto them, 2 and priuily reprehendeth them. 4 He sheweth that such is his affection toward them, 5 that hee neuer reioyceth but when they are merie. 6 Perceiuing the adulterer (whom he commanded to be deliuered vp to Satan) to repent, he requesteth that they forgiue him. 31 Hee mencioneth his going into Macedonia.

BUt I determined thus in my selfe, that I would not come againe to you in [a] heauinesse.

2 For if I make you sorie, who is he then that should make me glad, but the same which is made sorie by me?

1 Perfitly.
m Pauls reioycing in the Lord was, that he had wonne the Corinthians: and they themselues reioyced that such an Apostle was their instructour, and taught them so purely and sincerely.
n When he shall sit as iudge.
o Another benefite.
p He putteth away their slaunder and false report by denying it, and first of all in that that diuers went about to perswade the Corinthians, that for the preaching of the Gospel, Paul agreed not to himselfe: for this was the matter and the cause.
q As men doe, which wil rashly promise any thing, & change their purpose at euery turning of an hand.
r That I should say and vnsay a thing?
s He calleth God to witnesse and for iudge of his constancie in preaching and teaching one selfe same Gospell.
t True, and of whose faithfulnesse it were horrible wickednesse to doubte.
u Christ is set foorth to exhibite and fulfill them also most assuredly, and without al doubt.
x Through our ministerie.
y He attributeth the praise of this constancy, only to the grace of God, through the holy Ghost, & therewithall concludeth, that they cannot doubt of his faith and his fellowes, without doing iniurie to the Spirit of God, seeing that they themselues doe know all this to be true.
z An earnest, is whatsoeuer is giuen to confirme a promise.
a Causing griefe amongst you, which he should haue done, if he had come to them before they had repented them.

11 He ioyneth also with himselfe, his fellowes as witnesses with whom he fully consented in teaching one selfe same thing, to wit, one selfe same Christ.
12 That is, in God.
13 Was not diuers & wauering.
14 That is, in God.
15 All the summe of his doctrine, to wit, that all the promises of salua-tion are sure and ratified in Christ.
16 Christ is set foorth to exhibite and fulfill them also most assuredly, and without al doubt.
17 Through our ministerie.
18 He attributeth the praise of this constancy, only to the grace of God, through the holy Ghost, & therewithall concludeth, that they cannot doubt of his faith and his fellowes, without doing iniurie to the Spirit of God, seeing that they themselues doe know all this to be true.
19 An earnest, is whatsoeuer is giuen to confirme a promise.
20 Nowe comming to the matter, he sweareth, that he did not onely not lightly alter his purpose of comming to them, but rather that he came not vnto them for this cause, that he might not be constrained to deale more sharply with them being present, then he would.
21 Against my selfe, and to the danger of mine owne life.
22 He remoueth all suspicion of arrogancie, declaring that hee speaketh not as a Lord vnto them, but as a seruant, appointed of God to comfort them.
23 He setteth the ioy and peace of conscience, which God is authour of, against tyrannous feare, and therewithall sheweth the end of the Gospell.

b For I trusted that you would take that out of the way forthwith which you knewe I was discontented with considering how you are perswaded that my ioy is your ioy.
1 He passeth to another part of this Epistle: which notwithstanding is put amongst the first, whereunto he returneth afterward: and he handleth the releasing and vnloosing of the incestuous person, because he seemed to haue giuen sufficient testimony of his repentance: shewing the true vse of excommunication, to wit, that it proceede not of hatred, but of loue, and to end, lest if we keepe no measure, we serue Satan the deuill.
c As if he said, All that sorow is so cleane wiped away, as though he had neuer felt it.
d As for me, (saith Paul) I haue no more to doe with him.
e Lest I should ouercharge him, who is burdened ynough of himselfe, which I would be glad were taken from him.
f That whereas before you punished him sharply, you would nowe forgiue him.
g That at my entreatie, you would declare by the consent of the whole Church, that you take him againe for a brother.
h Truely and from the heart.
i Of his mischieuous counsel and deuilish will.

2 He returneth to the confirmation of his Apostleship, and bringeth foorth the testimonies, both of his labours, and also of Gods blessing.
k Hee alludeth to the ovnting of the Priests, & the incense of the sacrifices.
3 He denieth that ought should be taken away from the dignitie of his Apostleship, because they saw euidently that it was not receiued with like successe in euery place, nay rather how many reiected and detested him, seeing that hee preacheth Christ, not onely as a Sauiour of them that beleeue, but also as a iudge of them that contemne him.
4 Againe he putteth away all suspition of arrogancie, attributing all things that he did, to the vertue of God, whome he serueth sincerely, and without all dishonest affection: whereof hee maketh them witnesses, euen to the 6. verse of the next Chapter.
* Chapter 4.2.
l We doe not handle it craftily and couetously, or lesse sincerely then we ought: and hee vseth a metaphore which is taken from huckesters, which vse to play the false harlots with whatsoeuer commeth into their hands.

but but as of sinceritie; but as of God in the sight of God speake we in Christ.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee desireth no other commendation, 3 then their continuing in the faith. 6 He is a minister not of the letter, but of the Spirit. 8 Hee sheweth the difference of the Lawe and the Gospel. 13 That the brightnesse of the Lawe doeth rather dimme the sight then lighten it. 18 But the Gospel doeth make manifest Gods countenance vnto vs.

a The Apostle frameth his speech wisely, that by litle and litle, he may come from the commendation of the person, to the matter it selfe.

DOe we begin to praise our selues againe? or need we as some other, epistles of recommendations vnto you, or letters of recommendation from you?

2 Ye are our epistle, written in our hearts, which is vnderstood, and read of all men,

3 In that yee are [a] manifest, to be the Epistle of Christ, [b] ministred by vs, and written, not with yncke, but with the Spirit of the [c] liuing God, [1] not in tables of stone, but in fleshly tables of the heart.

b Which I took paines to write as it were.

c By the way, he setteth the vertue of God, against the yncke wherwith epistles are commonly written, to shew that it was wrought by God.

4 And such [d] trust haue wee through Christ to God:

5 Not that we are sufficient of our selues, to thinke any thing, as of our selues: but our [e] sufficiencie is of God,

1 He alludeth by the way, to the comparison of the outward ministerie of the priesthood of Leui, with the ministerie of the Gospel, and the Apostolicall ministerie, which he handleth afterward more fully.

6 [2] Who also hath made vs able ministers of the new Testament, not of the [f] letter, but of the Spirit: for the letter killeth, but the Spirit giueth life.

d This boldnesse we shewe, and thus gloriously may we boast of the worthinesse and fruit of our ministerie.

e In that we are fit and meete to make other men partakers of so great a grace.

7 If then the ministration of death written with letters [g] and ingrauen in stones, was [h] glorious, so that the children of Israel could not beholde the face of Moses, for the glory of his countenance (which glory is done away.)

2 Hee amplifieth his ministerie and his felowes: that is to say, the ministerie of the Gospel, comparing it with the ministerie of the Lawe, which he considereth in the person of Moses, by whom the Law was giuen: against whom he setteth Christ the Author of the Gospel. Now this comparison is taken from the very substance of the ministerie. The Law is as it were a writing of it selfe, dead, & without efficacie: but the Gospel, or new Covenant, is as it were the very vertue of God it selfe, in renewing, iustifying, and saning of men. The Law propoundeth death, accusing all men of vnrighteousnesse: The Gospel offereth & giueth righteousnesse and life. The gouernance of the Law serued for a time to the promise: The Gospel remaineth to the end of the worlde. Therefore what is the glory of that in comparison of the maiestie of this?

8 How shall not the [i] ministration of the Spirit be more glorious?

9 For if the ministerie of condemnation was glorious, much more doth the ministration of [k] righteousnesse exceed in glory.

10 For euen that which was glorified, was not glorified in this point, that is, as touching the exceeding glory.

11 For if that which should be [l] abolished, was glorious, much more shall that which remaineth, be glorious.

12 [3] Seeing then that wee haue such trust, we vse great boldnesse of speach.

f Not of the Law, but of the Gospel. g Imprinted and ingrauen: so that by this place we may plainely perceiue, that the Apostle speaketh not of the ceremonies of the Law, but euen of the ten commandements. h This word, Glory, betokeneth a brightnesse, and a maiestie which was bodily in Moses, but spiritually in Christ. i Wherby God offereth, yea and giueth the Spirit, not as a dead thing, but a quickening Spirit, working life. k To wit, of Christ, which being imputed to vs as our owne, wee are not onely not condemned, but also we are crowned as righteous. l The Lawe, yea, and the tenne commandements themselues, together with Moses, is abolished if we consider the ministerie of Moses apart by it selfe. 3 He sheweth wherein standeth this glory of the preaching of the Gospel, to wit, in that that it setteth foorth plainly and euidently, that which the Lawe shewed darkely, for it sent them that heard it to bee healed of Christ, which was to come, after it had wounded them.

13 [*4] And we are not as Moses, which put a vaile vpon his face, that the children of Israel should not looke vnto the [m] end of that which should be abolished.

14 Therefore their mindes are hardened: for vntill this day remaineth the same couering vntaken away in the reading of the olde Testament, which vaile in Christ is put away.

15 But euen vnto this day, when Moses is read, the vaile is layd ouer their hearts.

16 Neuertheless, when their heart shall be turned to the Lord, the vaile shall bee taken away.

17 Now the [n] Lord is the *Spirit, and where the Spirit of the Lorde is, there is libertie.

18 [5] But wee all beholde as in a mirrour the glory of the Lord with open face, and are changed into the same image, from glory to glory, as by the Spirit of the Lord.

* Exod. 34.34.

4 He opponeth by the way the allegorie of Moses his couering, which was a token of the darkenes and weaknesse that is in men, which were rather nulled by the bright shining of the law, then lightened: which couering was taken away by the comming of Christ, who lighteneth the hearts, and turneth them to the Lord, that wee may be brought from the slauerie of this blindnes, and set in the libertie of the light by the vertue of Christs spirit.

m Into the very bottome of Moses his ministery.

n Christ is that Spirit, which taketh away that couering, by working in our hearts, whereunto also the Law it selfe called vnto though in vaine, because it speaketh to dead men, vntill the Spirit quickeneth vs.

* Iohn 4.14.

5 Going forwards in the allegorie of the couering, he compareth the Gospel to a glasse, which although it bee most bright and sparkeling, yet doeth it not onely not dasell their eyes, which looke in it, as the Law doeth, but also transformeth them with it beames, so that they also be partakers of the glory and shining of it, to lighten others: as Christ sayd vnto his, You are the light of the world, whereas he himselfe was the only light. We are also commanded in another place, to shine as candels before the world, because wee are partakers of Gods Spirit. But Paul speaketh here properly of the ministers of the Gospel, as it appeareth both by that that goeth before, and that that commeth after, and that setting them his owne example and his fellowes.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Hee sheweth that hee hath so laboured in preaching the Gospel, 4 that such are euen blinded of Satan, who doe not perceiue the brightnesse thereof, 7 that the same is caried in earthen vessels, 10 Who are subiect to many miseries, 16 and therefore hee exhorteth them by his owne example to bee courragious, 17 and contemne this present life.

THerefore, [1] seeing that we haue this ministerie, as wee haue receiued mercie, wee [a] faint not:

1 Now he plainly witnesseth that both he and his fellowes (through the mercie of God) vse their vocation and vnto righte and sincerely, neglecting all sleights.

a Though wee are broken in pieces with miseries and calamities, yet wee yeeld not.

2 But haue cast from vs the [b] cloakes of shame, and walke not in craftinesse, neither handle wee the word of God [c] deceitfully: but in declaration of the trueth wee approoue our selues to euery mans conscience in the sight of God, b Subtilty, and all kinde of deceit, which men hunt after, as it were dennes or lurking holes, and couer their shamelesse dealings withall.

3 [2] If our Gospel be then hid, it is hid to them that are lost.

4 In whome the God of this worlde hath blinded the mindes, that is, of the infidels, that the [d] light of the glorious Gospel of Christ, which is the [e] image of God, should not shine vnto them.

c This is that in the former Chapter he called, making merchandise of the word of God. 2 An obiection: Many heare the Gospel, and yet are no more lightened thereby, then by the preaching of the Lawe, he answereth, The fault is in the men themselues, whose eyes Satan plucketh out, and ruleth in this world. And yet notwithstanding both he and his fellowes set the most cleare light of the Gospel to bee seene and beholden, seeing that Christ whom only they preach, is he in who only God will be knowen, as it were seene.

d The light of plaine and lightsome preaching, which telleth foorth the glory of Christ. e In whom the Father setteth forth himselfe to be seene and beholden.

5 [3] For

3 He remoueth according to his accustomed manner, all suspicion of ambition, auouching that hee teacheth faithfully, but as a seruant, and witnessing that all this light which he and his fellowes giue to other, proceedeth from the Lord.

f To preach this selfe same Iesus to you

* Gen. 1. 3.

g Which made it onely with his word.

h That being lightened of God, we should in like sort giue that light to others.

4 He taketh away a stumbling blocke, by which was darkened amongst some the bright shining of the ministerie of the Gospel, to wit, because the Apostles were the most miserable of all men. Paul answereth, that he and his fellowes are as it were, earthen vessels, but yet there is in them a most precious treasure.

5 He bringeth marueilous reasons, why the Lord doeth so afflict his chiefest seruants, to the end saith he, that all men may perceiue that they stand not by any mans vertue, but by the singular vertue of God, in that they die a thousand times but neuer perish.

5 [3] For wee preach not our selues, but Christ Iesus the Lorde, and our selues your seruants for [f] Iesus sake.

6 For God *[g] that commanded the light to shine out of darkenesse, is he which hath shined in our hearts, to giue the [h] light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Iesus Christ.

7 [4] But we haue this treasure in earthen vessels, [5] that the excellencie of that power might be of God, and not of vs.

8 We are afflicted on euery side, yet are we not in distresse: we are in doubt, but yet we despaire not.

9 We are persecuted, but not forsaken: cast downe, but we perish not.

10 [6] Euery where wee beare about in our bodie the [i] dying of the Lord Iesus, that the life of Iesus might also bee made manifest in our bodies.

11 For wee which [k] liue, are alwayes deliuered vnto death for Iesus sake, that the life also of Iesus might bee made manifest in our [l] mortall flesh.

12 [7] So then death worketh in vs, and life in you.

13 [8] And because we haue the same [m] spirit of faith, according as it is written, *I beleeued, and therefore haue I spoken, we also beleeue, and therefore speake, 14 Knowing that he which hath raised vp the Lorde Iesus, shall raise vs vp also by Iesus, and shall set vs with you.

15 [9] For all things are for your sakes, [n] that the most plenteous grace by the thanksgiuing of many, may redound to the prayse of God.

16 Therefore we faint not, [10] but though our outward man perish, yet the inward man is [o] renewed daily.

17 For our [p] light affliction which is but for a moment, causeth vnto vs a farre more excellent and an eternall weight of [q] glory:

18 While wee looke not on the things which are seene, but on the things which are not seene: for the things which are seene, are temporall: but the things which are not seene, are eternall.

q Which remaineth for euer firme and stable, and can neuer be shaken.

CHAP. V.

1 Hee continueth in the same argument, 6 touching the certaine hope of saluation 8 through faith, 12 not to prayse himselfe, 14 seeing he hath God and his Church before his eyes, 17 and esteemeth nothing, but newnesse of life in Christ.

FOr [1] we know that if our earthly house of this Tabernacle be destroyed, wee haue a building giuen of God, that is, an house not made with hands, but eternall in the heauens.

2 For therefore wee sigh, desiring to bee [a] clothed with our house, which is from [b] heauen.

3 [2] Because that if we be clothed, we shall not be found * naked.

4 For in deed wee that are in this Tabernacle, sigh & are burdened, because we would not be vnclothed, but would bee clothed vpon, that mortalitie might be swallowed vp of life.

5 And hee that hath [c] created vs for this thing, is God, who also hath giuen vnto vs the earnest of the Spirit.

6 [3] Therefore wee are alway [d] bolde, though wee know that whiles we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord.

7 (For wee walke by [e] faith, and not by sight.)

8 Neuertheless, wee are [f] bolde, and loue rather to remoue out of the body, and to dwel with the Lord.

9 Wherefore also wee [g] couet, that both dwelling at home, and remooning from home, we may be acceptable to him.

10 *[4] For wee must all [h] appeare before the iudgement seate of Christ, that euery man may receiue the things which are done in

1 Taking occasion by the former comparison, hee compareth this miserable bowy as it is in this life, to a frail and brickle tabernacle, against which he setteth the heauenly tabernacle, so terming that sure and euerlasting condition of this same body glorified in heauen, in so much saith he, that we are not only not addicted to this tabernacle, but also doe with sobbes and sighes desire rather that tabernacle. And to this place also concerning the glory to come, is put within the treatise of the dignity of the ministerie, as the other way, whereof we spake in the beginning of the second chapter.

a He calleth the glory of immortalitie, which we shalbe as it were clothed with, a garment.

b Heauenly, not that the substance of it is heauenly, but for the glory of it. 2 An expostition of the former saying: We doe not without cause desire to be clad with the heauenly house, that is, with that euerlasting and immortall glory, as with a garment. for when wee depart hence, we shall not remaine naked, hauing once cast off the couering of this body, but wee shall take our bodies againe, which shall put on as it were another garment besides: and therefore we sigh not for the wearines of this life, but for the desire of a better life: Neither is this desire in vaine, for we are made to that life, the pledge whereof wee haue, euen the Spirit of adoption. *Reuel. 16. 15. c Hee meaneth that first creation, to giue vs to vnderstand, that our bodies were made to this end, y they should be clothed with heauenly immortalitie. 3 Hee inferreth vpon that sentence that went next before, thus, Therefore seeing that we know by the Spirite, that we are strangers so long as we are here, we patiently suffer this tarriance (for we are now so with God, that we behold him but by faith, and are therefore now absent from him) but so, that we aspire and haue a longing alwayes to him: therefore also we behaue our selues so, that we may be acceptable to him, both while we liue here, and when we goe from hence to him. d He calleth them (bold) which are alwaies resolued with a quiet & setled mind to suffer what danger soeuer, nothing doubting but their end shalbe happy. e Faith, of those things which we hope for, & not hauing God presently in our viewe. f And yet wee are in such sort bold, and doe so passe on our pilgrimage with a valiant & quiet minde, that yet notwithstanding we had rather depart hence to the Lord. g And seeing it is so, we striue to liue so, that both in this our pilgrimage here we may please him, and that at length we may be receiued home to him. *Rom. 14. 10. 4 That no man might thinke it to pertaine to all, which hee spake of that heauenly glory, he adderh, that euery one shall first render an accompt of his pilgrimage, after that he is departed from hence. h We must all appeare personally, & enquiry shal be made of vs, that all may see, how we haue liued.

6 An amplification of the former sentence, wherein he compareth his afflictions to a daily death, and the vertue of the Spirit of God in Christ, to life, which oppresseth that death. i So Paul calleth that miserable estate and condition, that the faithfull, but especially the ministers are in. k Which liue that life, to wit, by the Spirit of Christ, amongst so many & so great miseries. l Subiect to that miserable condition. 7 A very cunning conclusion: as if he would say, Therefore to be short, we die, that you may liue by our death, for that they ventured into al those dangers for the building of the Churches sake, & they ceased not to confirme all the faithfull with the examples of their patience. 8 He declareth the former sentence, shewing that hee and his fellowes die in a sort, to purchase life to others, but yet notwithstanding they are partakers of the same life with them: because they themselues doe first beleeue that, which they propound to other to beleeue, to wit, that they also shall be saued together with the in Christ. m The same faith, by the inspiration of the same Spirit. *Psal. 116. 10. 9 He sheweth how this constancy is preserued in them, to wit, because they respect Gods glory, & the saluation of the Churches committed vnto them. d When it shall please God to deliuer me, & restore me to you, that exceeding benefite which shall be powred vpon me, shall in like sort redound to the glory of God, by the thankesgiuing of many. 10 He adderh as it were a triumphant song, how that he is outwardly afflicted, but inwardly he prospereth daily: and passeth not at all for all the miseries that may be inflicted on him in this life, in comparison of that most constant and eternall glory. o Gathereth new strength, that the outward man be not ouercome with the miseries which come freshly one vpon the neck of another, being maintained and vpholden with the strength of the inward man. p Afflictions are not called light, as though they were light of themselues, but because they passed away quickly, when as in deed our whole life is of no great long continuance.

his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or euill.

11 [h] Knowing therefore that [i] terrour of the Lord, we perswade men, and we are made manifest vnto God, and I trust also that wee are made manifest in your consciences.

12 [6] For wee praise not our selues againe vnto you, but giue you an occasion to reioyce of vs, that yee may haue to answere against them, which reioyce in the [k] face, and not in the heart.

13 [7] For whether we be out of our wit, we are it to God: or whether wee bee in our right minde, we are it vnto you.

14 [8] For that loue of Christ [l] constraineth vs,

15 Because we thus iudge, that if [m] one be dead for all, then were all dead, and he died for all, that they which liue, should not henceforth [n] liue vnto themselues, but vnto him which died for them, and rose againe.

16 [9] Wherefore, henceforth know we no man after the flesh, [10] yea though wee had knowen Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth know we him no more.

17 [11] Therefore if any man bee in Christ, let him be a [o] new creature. * Old things are passed away: beholde, all things are become newe.

18 [12] And all things are of God, which hath reconciled vs vnto himselfe by Iesus Christ, and hath giuen vnto vs the ministerie of reconciliation.

19 For God was in Christ, and reconciled the world to himselfe, not imputing their sins vnto them, and hath [p] committed to vs the word of reconciliation.

20 Now then are wee ambassadours for Christ: as though God did beseech you through vs, we pray you in Christes stead, that ye be reconciled to God.

21 For he hath made him to be [q] sinne for vs, which [r] knew no sinne, that wee should be made the [s] righteousnesse of God in him.

cleane voide of sinne. s Righteous before God, and that with righteousnesse which is not essentiall to vs, but being essentiall in Christ, God imputeth it to vs through faith.

CHAP. VI.

1 He exhorteth them to leade their liues as it becommeth Christians, 5 neither to be dismayed in tribulation, 9 nor puffed vp with glory: 14 to auoide all vncleanesse, 16 considering that they are the temples of the liuing God.

SO [1] we therefore as workers together beseech you, that ye receiue not the grace of God in vaine.

2 [1] For he sayth, * I haue heard thee in a time [a] accepted, and in the day of saluation haue I succoured thee: beholde now the accepted time, beholde nowe the day of saluation.

3 [2] Wee giue no occasion of offence in any thing, that our ministery should not be reprehended,

4 But in all things wee [b] approue our selues as * the ministers of God, [4] in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses,

5 In stripes, in prisons, in [c] tumults, in labours,

6 [5] By watchings, by fastings, by puritie, by knowledge, by long suffering, by kindnesse, by the holy Ghost, by loue vnfained,

7 By the [d] word of trueth, by the [e] power of God, by the [f] armour of righteousnesse on the right hand, and on the left,

8 By honour, and dishonour, by euill report, and good report, as deceiuers, and yet true:

9 As vnknowen, and yet knowen: as dying, and beholde, wee liue: as chastened, and yet not killed:

10 As sorowing, and yet alway reioycing: as poore, and yet make many rich: as hauing nothing, and yet possessing all things.

11 [6] O Corinthians, our mouth is [g] open vnto you: our heart is made large.

12 Ye are not [h] kept strait in vs, but ye are kept strait in your owne [i] bowels.

13 Nowe for the same recompence, I speak as to my children, Be you also enlarged.

5 Now hee passeth ouer, and taking occasion of the former sentence, returneth to the former chap. verse 16. confirming his owne sinceritie and his felowes.
i That terrible iudgement.
6 He remoueth all suspition of pride, by a new reason, because it is behoueable, not for his part but for theirs, that his Apostleship be counted sincere against the vaine ostentation of a fewe others.
k In outward disguising, and that coloured shew of mans wisedome and eloquence, and not in true godlines, which is sealed in the heart.
7 The meaning is: Euen when I am mad (as some men thinke of me) whilest I seeme as a foole to boast my selfe, I doe it for your profite, no lesse then when I preach the Gospel simply vnto you.
8 He goeth forward in putting away all suspicion of desire of estimation and boasting: for the loue of Christ, saith he, compelleth vs hereunto, that seeing wee died for vs all, which were dead when as we liued to our selues (that is, while we were yet giuen to these earthly affections) we in like sort should consecrate our whole life which we haue receiued of him, to him (to wit) being indued with the holy Ghost, to this end and purpose, that we should meditate vpon nothing but that which is heauenly. l Possesseth vs wholly. m Hee speaketh here of sanctification, whereby it commeth to passe that Christ liueth in vs. n Looke Roman. chapter 6. and 7. 9 He sheweth what it is, not to liue to our selues but to Christ, to wit, to know no man according to the flesh, that is to say, to be conuersant amongst men as not to care for those worldly and carnall things, as they doe which respect a mans stocke, his countrey, kinne, glory, riches, and such like, wherein men commonly sote and wearie themselues. 10 An amplification: This is, saith hee, so true, that we doe not now thinke carnally of Christ himselfe, who hath now left the world, and therefore must bee considered of vs spiritually. 11 An exhortation for euerie man which is renewed with the spirite of Christ, to meditate heauenly things, and not earthly. o As a thing made a newe of God, for though a man bee not newly created when God giueth him the spirit of regeneration, but onely his qualities are changed, yet notwithstanding it pleased the holy Ghost to speake so, to teach vs, that we must attribute all things to the glory of God: not that wee are stockes and blockes, but because God createth in vs, both the will to will well, and the power to doe well. * Esay 43. 19. reuelat. 21. 5. 12 Hee commendeth the excellencie of the ministerie of the Gospel, both by the authoritie of God himselfe, who is the author of that ministerie, and also by the excellencie of the doctrine of it: for it announceth atonement with God, by free forgiuenesse of our sinnes, and iustification offered vnto vs in Christ, and that so louingly and liberally, that God himselfe doeth after a sort pray men by the mouth of his ministers to haue consideration of themselues, and not to despise so great a benefit. And when he so sayth, he plainly reprehendeth them which falsly challenged to themselues the name of Pastors. p Vsed our labour and trauaile.

t Men doe not onely receiue the ministerie of the Gospel, before they haue receiued grace that they may be partakers of it, but also after they haue receiued grace that they may continue in it.

4 He first of all reckoneth vp those things, which are neither alwayes in the ministers, nor without exception, vnlesse it be according to the affection of the minde, patience onely except, which also is one of the vertues which ought to bee alwayes in a good minister. c In tossing to and fro, finding no place of rest and quietnesse. 5 Secondly he reckoneth such vertues as are necessarie and ought alwayes to be in them, and good armour, all letters and hinderances may be ouercome. d Preaching of the Gospel. e Power to worke miracles, and to bring vnder the wicked. f Vprightnesse. 6 Going about to rebuke them, he layeth first, that hee dealeth with them sincerely and with an open and plaine heart, and therefore iustly complaineth that they doe not the like in loouing againe their Father. g The opening of the mouth and heart, betokeneth a most earnest affection in him that speaketh, as it fareth commonly with them that are in some great ioy. h You are in my heart, as in an house, and that no narrow or strait house, for I haue opened my whole heart to you, but you are inwardly strait laced to me-ward. i After the maner of the Hebrewes, he calleth their tender affections which are in the heart, bowels.

15 And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what k part hath the beleuer with the infidell?

16 And what agreement hath the Temple of God with idols? for yee are the Temple of the l liuing God: as God hath said, *I will m dwell among them, and walke there: and I will be their God, & they shall be my people.

17 *Wherefore come out from among them, and separate your selues, saith the Lord, and touch none vncleane thing, and I will receiue you.

Hee setteth the liuing God against Idols. *Leuit. 26. 11. Isai. 52. 11.

CHAP. VII.

1 Lest by ouermuch vrging them he should dismay their tender minds, 2 hee proueth that all that he sayde, 4 proceeded of the great good will he bare vnto them: 8 and therefore they should not be offended, that he made them sorie, 10 and brought them to repentance not to be repented of.

SEing then we haue these promises, dearely beloued, let vs cleanse our selues from all filthinesse of the a flesh and spirit, and finish our sanctification in the feare of God.

2 1b Receiue vs: we haue done wrong to no man: we haue corrupted no man: we haue defrauded no man.

3 I speake it not to your c condemnation: for I haue sayde before, that ye are in our hearts, to die and liue together.

4 I vse great boldnesse of speach toward you: I reioyce greatly in you: I am filled with comfort, and am exceeding ioyous in all our tribulation.

5 For when we were come into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but we were troubled on euerie side, fightings without, and terrours within.

6 But God, that comforteth the d abiect, comforted vs at the e comming of Titus:

7 And not by his comming onely, but also by the consolation wherewith he was comforted of you, when hee told vs your great desire, your mourning, your feruent mind to me ward so that I reioyced much more.

8 2 For though I made you sorie with a letter, I repent not, though I did repent: for I perceiue that the same Epistle made you sorie, though it were but for a season.

9 I now reioyce, not that yee were sorie, but that ye sorowed to f repentance: for ye sorowed godly, so that in nothing ye were hurt by vs.

10 For g godly sorow causeth repentance vnto saluation, not to bee repented of: but the worldly sorow causeth death.

11 For behold this thing that ye haue bene godly sory, what great care it hath wrought in you: yea, what clearing of your selues: yea, what indignation: yea, what feare: yea, how great desire: yea, what a zeale: yea, what reuenge: in all things yee haue shewed your selues, that ye are pure in this matter.

12 Wherefore, though I wrote vnto you, I did it not for his cause that had done the wrong, neither for his cause that had the iniurie, but that our care toward you in the h sight of God might appeare vnto you.

13 Therefore we were comforted, because yee were comforted: but rather wee reioyced much more for the ioy of Titus, because his spirit was refreshed by you all.

14 For if that I haue boasted any thing to him of you, I haue not bene ashamed: but as I haue spoken vnto you all things in trueth, euen so our boasting vnto Titus was true.

15 And his inward affection is more abundant toward you, when hee remembreth the obedience of you all, and how with feare and trembling ye receiued him.

16 I reioyce therefore, that I may put my confidence in you in all things.

CHAP. VIII.

1 He exhorteth them, by the example of the Macedonians, 9 and also euen of Christ himselfe, 14 to be liberall towards the Saints: 16 for which purpose, he sheweth that Titus, 18 and another brother came vnto them.

WEe 1 doe you also to wit, brethren, of the a grace of God bestowed vpon the Churches of Macedonia,

2 Because in b great triall of affliction their ioy abounded, and their most extreme pouertie abounded vnto their rich liberalitie.

3 For to their power (I beare record) yea, and beyond their power, they were c willing,

4 And prayed vs with great instance, that we would receiue the d grace, and fellowship of the ministring which is toward the Saints.

5 2 And this they did, not as wee looked for: but gaue their owne selues, first to the Lord, and after vnto vs by the will of God, k What can there bee betweene them? * 2. Cor. 3. 16. and 6. 19. l God dwelleth with vs, because Christ is become God with vs. Ier. 31. 1.

m Ecclef. 13. 18.

a Both of bodie and soule, that by this meanes the sanctification may be perfit consisting in both the parts thereof.

b He returneth againe from that admonition, to his owne person, opposing the testimonies both of his faithfulnesse and also of his continuall good will towards them.

b Let me haue some place amongst you, that I may teach you.

c To condemne you of vnkindnes or treacherie.

d Whose hearts are cast downe, and are very farre spent.

e With those things which Titus tolde me of you at his comming, to wit, how fruitefully you reade ouer my letters, moreouer & besides that I am exceedingly refreshed with his presence.

f In somuch that that sorow did you much good towards the amending of your lewdnesse and sinnes.

g Godly sorow is when we are not terrified with the feare of punishment, but because we feele we haue offended God our most mercifull Father. Contrary to this there is another sorow, that only feareth punishment, or when a man is vexed for the losse of some worldly goods: the fruit of the first, is repentance, the fruit of the second is desperation, vnlesse the Lord helpe speedily.

h It was not coloured nor counterfeit, but such as I dare stand to before God.

1 The first part of this Epistle containing diuers exhortations to stirre vp the Corinthians to liberalitie, wherewith the pouertie of the Church of Hierusalem might be holpen in time conuenient. And first of all he setteth out before them the example of the Churches of Macedonia, which otherwise were brought by great misery to extreme pouertie, to the end that they should follow them.

a The benefite that God bestowed vpon the Churches.

b For those manifolde afflictions wherewith the Lord tried them, did not onely not quaile their ioyfull readinesse, but also made it much more excellent and famous.

c Of their owne accord they were liberall.

d He calleth that, Grace, that other men would haue called a burden. And this verse is to be expounded by the sixt verse.

2 He amplifyeth the forwardnesse of the Macedonians, in this, that they also desired Paul to stirre vp the Corinthians to accomplish the giuing of Almes, by sending againe of Titus vnto them.

2 Now he rebuketh them boldly, for that they became fellowes with infidels in outward Idolatrie, as though it were a thing indifferent. And this is the fourth part of this Epistle, the conclusion whereof is, that such as the Lord hath vouchsafed the name of his children, must keepe themselues pure not onely in minde but also in body, that they may wholy bee holy vnto the Lord.

6 That

6 That we should exhort Titus, that as he had begun, so he would also accomplish the same grace among you also.

7 Therefore, as ye abound in every thing, in faith and word, and knowledge, and in al diligence, and in your loue towards vs, euen so see that yee abound in this grace also.

8 [3] This say I not by commandement, but because of the [e] diligence of others: therefore proue I the [f] naturalnesse of your loue.

9 [4] For yee know the grace of our Lord Iesus Christ, that hee being rich, for your sakes became poore, that yee through his pouertie might be made rich.

10 [5] And I shew my mind herein: for this is expedient for you, which haue begun not to do onely, but also to [g] will, a yere agoe.

11 Now therefore perfourme to doe it also, that as there was a readinesse to will, euen so ye may perfourme it to that which ye haue.

12 [6] For if there be first a willing minde, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.

13 [7] Neither is it that other men should be eased, and you grieued: But vpon [h] like condition, at this time your abundance supplieth their lacke:

14 That also their abundance may be for your lacke, that there may be equalitie:

15 As it is written, *Hee that gathered much, had nothing ouer, and he that gathered little, had not the lesse.

16 [8] And thankes be vnto God, which hath put in the heart of Titus the same care for you.

17 Because hee accepted the exhortation, yea, he was so carefull that of his owne accord he went vnto you.

18 And wee haue sent also with him the brother, whose praise is [i] in the Gospel throughout all the Churches.

19 (And not so onely, but is also chosen of the Churches to be a fellowe in our iourney, concerning this [k] grace that is ministred by vs vnto the glory of the same Lord, and declaration of your prompt minde.)

20 Auoyding this, that no man should blame vs in this [l] abundance that is ministred by vs, 21 *Prouiding for honest things, not only before the Lord, but also before men.

22 And we haue sent with them our brother, whom we haue oft times proued to be diligent in many things, but nowe much more diligent, for the great confidence, which I haue in you.

23 Whether any do enquire of Titus, he is my fellow and helper to youward: or of our [m] brethren, they are messengers of ỹ Churches, and the [n] glory of Christ.

24 Wherefore shew toward them, and before the [o] Churches the proofe of your loue, and the reioycing of that we haue of you.

3 Thirdly, he warneth them that they deceiue not their expectation which they haue conceiued of them.
e At the request of the Macedonians.
f Then appeareth the naturalnesse of our loue, when as indeede, and that frankly and freely, we helpe our brethren, euen for Christ. his sake.
4 The fourth argument taken from the example of Christ.
5 He taketh good heede that hee seeme not to wrest it out of them by constraint, for vnlesse it be voluntarie, God hath not accept it.
g Not onely to do, but also to do willingly: for he noteth out a readie willingnesse, without any inforcement by any other men, much lesse came it of ambition & vaine glory.
6 Against such as vse to excuse themselues, because they are not rich, as though it were onely proper to rich men to helpe the poore.
7 Christian liberalitie is mutuall, that proportion may be obserued.
h That like as now in your abundance you helpe others, which are poore, with some part of your goods, so should others in like sort bestow some of theirs vpon you.
*Exod. 16. 18.
8 He commendeth Titus and his two companions for many causes, both that their credite might not be suspected, as though he had sent them slily to spoile the Churches, and also that they might be so much the readier to contribute.

CHAP. IX.

1 Why, albeit he thinke well of their ready willes, 3 yet earnestly exhorteth them, 4 he yeeldeth a reason. 6 He compareth almes to seed sowing, 13 which God doeth repay with great gaines.

FOr [1] as touching the ministring to the Saints, it is superfluous for me to write vnto you.

2 For I know your readinesse of minde, whereof I boast my selfe of you vnto them of Macedonia, and say, that Achaia was prepared a yere agoe, and your zeale hath prouoked many.

3 Now haue I sent the brethren, lest our reioycing ouer you should be in vaine in this behalfe, that ye (as I haue said) be ready:

4 Lest if they of Macedonia come with me, and finde you vnprepared, we (that we may not say, you) should bee ashamed in this my [a] constant boasting.

5 Therefore, I thought it necessary to exhort the brethren to come before vnto you, and to finish your beneuolence appointed afore, that it might bee ready, and come as of beneuolence, and not as of [b] niggardlinesse.

6 [2] This yet remember, that hee which soweth sparingly, shall reape also sparingly, and he that soweth liberally, shall reape also liberally.

7 As euery man [c] wisheth in his heart, so let him giue, not *[d] grudgingly, or of [e] necessitie: *for God loueth a cheerefull giuer.

8 And God is able to make [f] all grace to abound toward you, that ye alwayes hauing all sufficiencie in all things, may abound in [g] euery good worke, 9 (*As it is written; He hath sparsed abroad and hath giuen to the poore: his beneuolence remaineth for [h] euer.

10 Also he that findeth seede to the sower, will minister likewise bread for food, and multiply your seede, and increase the fruites of your beneuolence,)

11 That on all parts yee may bee made rich vnto all liberalitie, which causeth through vs thankesgiuing vnto God.

1 He wisely meeteth with the suspicion which the Corinthians might conceiue, as though the Apostle in vrging them so carefully should doubt of their good will. Therefore he witnesseth that hee doeth it not to teach them, that they ought to helpe ỹ Saints, seeing that hee had become suretie for them to the Macedonians, but onely to stirre them vp which were running of themselues, to the ende that all things might both be in a better readinesse, and also bee more plentifull a The word which he vseth, signifieth such a stablenes and setlednes of minde, as cannot be moued with any terrour or feare.
b As from couetous men.
2 Almes must be giuen neither niggardly, nor with a lothfull minde, or hastily. But a frank and free almes is compared to a sowing which hath a most plentifull harvest of most abundant blessing following it.

12 3 For the ministration of this seruice not only supplieth the necessities of ỹ Saints, but also abundantly causeth many to giue thankes to God, 14 And in their prayer for you, to long after you greatly, for the abundant grace of God in you.

15 m Thankes therefore be vnto God for his vnspeakeable gift.

13 Another excellent and double fruit of liberalitie towards the Saints, is this: that it giueth occasion to prayse God, & that our faith also is thereby made manifest.
k By this proofe of your liberalitie in this helping and succouring of them.

CHAP. X.

2 He sheweth with what confidence, 4 with what weapons, 6 and with what reuenge he is armed against the cauillations of the wicked, 7 and that, when he is present, his deeds haue no lesse power, 11 then his words haue force, when he is absent.

NOw 1 I Paul my selfe beseech you by the meekenes, and 2 gentlenes of Christ, which when I am present among you am base, but am bolde toward you being absent:

2 And this I require you, that I need not to be bold when I am present, with that same confidence, wherewith I thinke to be bolde against some, which esteeme vs as though wee walked b according to the flesh.

3 2 Neuertheless, though wee walke in the flesh, yet we do not warre after the flesh.

4 (For the weapons of our warfare are not c carnall, but mighty through d God, to cast downe holdes)

5 Casting downe the imaginations, and euery high thing that is exalted against the knowledge of God, 3 & bringeth into captiuity euery thought to the obedience of Christ,

6 And hauing ready the vengeance against all disobedience, when your obedience is fulfilled.

7 4 Looke ye on things after the e appearance? If any man trust in himselfe that he is Christes, let him consider this againe of f himselfe, that as hee is Christes, euen so are wee Christes.

1 He returneth to the defence of his Apostleship, but so that he beateth his authoritie therein: for he warneth them earnestly and gravely, vsing also terrible threatnings, to shew themselues such as are apt to be instructed. And he refelleth certaine proud men which made no better accompt of him, then of a bragging Thraso, in that he vsed to be sharpe against them when hee was absent, because they saw no great maiestie in him after the maner of men, and besides had pronounced his lenitie, notwithstanding that in his absence, he had written to them sharpely. Therefore first of all he professeth that he was gentle and moderate, but after the example of Christ: but if they continue still to despise his gentlenes, he protesteth vnto them that he will shewe indeed how farre they are deceiued, which make that accompt of the office of an Apostle, that they doe of worldly offices, that is, according to the outward appearance. a That nature which is inclined to mercie, rather then to rigour of iustice. b As though I had no other aide and helpe then that which outwardly I seeme to haue: and therefore Paul setteth his flesh, that is his weake condition and state, against his spirituall and Apostolike dignitie. 2 Secondly, he witnesseth, that although he be like vnto other men, yet he commeth furnished with that strength, which no holdes of men can match, whether they resist by craft and deceit, or by force and might, because he warreth with diuine weapons. c Are not such as men get them authoritie withall one of another, and doe great actes. d Stand vpon that infinite power of God. 3 An amplification of this spirituall vertue, which in such sort conquereth the enemies, be they neuer so craftie, and mightie, that it bringeth some of them by repentance vnto Christ, and iustly reuengeth others, that are stubbornely obstinate, separating them from the other which suffer themselues to be ruled. 4 He beateth into their heads that same matter, with great weight of wordes and sentences. e Doe ye iudge of things according to the outward shewe? f Not being told of it by me.

8 For though I should boast somewhat more of our authoritie, which the Lorde hath giuen vs for edification, and not for your destruction, I should haue no shame.

9 This I say, that I may not seeme as it were to feare you with letters.

10 For the letters, saith g hee, are sore and strong, but his bodily presence is weake, and his speech is of no value.

11 Let such one thinke this, that such as wee are in worde by letters, when wee are absent, such will wee be also indeede, when wee are present.

12 5 For wee h dare not make our selues of the number, or to compare our selues to them, which prayse themselues: but they vnderstande not that they measure themselues with i themselues, and k compare themselues with themselues.

13 But wee will not reioyce of things, which are not within our l measure, * but according to the measure of the line, whereof God hath distributed vnto vs a measure to attaine euen vnto you.

14 For wee stretch not our selues beyond our measure, as though wee had not attained vnto you: for euen to you also haue we come in preaching the Gospel of Christ,

15 Not boasting of things which are m without our measure: that is, of other mens labors: and we hope, when your faith shall increase, to bee magnified by you according to our line abundantly,

16 And to preach the Gospel in those regions which are beyond you: not to reioyce in n another mans line, that is, in the things that are prepared already.

17 * 6 But let him that reioyceth, reioyce in the Lord.

18 For he that prayseth himselfe, is not allowed, but he whom the Lord prayseth.

g He noteth our some one that was the seeds man of this speech.
5 Being constrained to refell the foolish brags of certaine ambitious men: he witnesseth that they are able to bring nothing, but that they falsly perswade themselues of themselues: and as for himselfe, although he brag of excellent things, yet he will not passe the bounds which God hath measured him out, according whereunto he came euen vnto them in preaching the Gospel of Christ, and testifieth that hee shall goe further when they haue so prospered that he shall not needs to tary any longer amongst them to instruct them. And hereunto is added an amplification, in that he neuer succeded other men in their labours.
h This spoken after a taunting sort.
i Vpon a vaine perswasion that they haue of themselues they take vpon them they care not what. k They contemne another, and measure all their doings onely by themselues. l Of those things which God hath not measured to me. * Ephes. 4.7. m As though God had diuided the whole world among the Apostles, to bee husbanded. n In countries which other men haue prepared and husbanded with the preaching of the Gospel. * Iere. 9.24. 1. cor. 1.31. 7 He somewhat mittigateth that which hee spake of himselfe, and therewith also prepareth the Corinthians to beare other things, witnessing that he seeketh nothing else but to approoue himselfe to God, whose glory he onely seeketh.

CHAP. XI.

2 He testifieth, that for the great loues sake he beareth to the Corinthians, he is compelled 5 To vtter his owne prayses: 9 And that he bestowed his labour on them without any reward, 15 that the false apostles should not surpasse him in any thing, 22 whom hee far re excelled in those things which are prayse worthy indeed.

WOuld 1 to God, yee could suffer a little my foolishnesse, and in deed, yee suffer me.

2 For I am ielous ouer you, with 2 god-

1 He granteth that after a sort hee plaieth the foole in this bragging of things, but he addeth that he doeth it against his will for their profite, because hee seeth them deceiued by certaine vaine & craftie men, through the craft and subtilitie of Satan. 2 He speaketh as a woer but yet as one that seeketh them not for himselfe, but for God.

ly ielouſie: for I haue prepared you for one husband, to [b] present you as a pure virgine to Christ:

3 But I feare least as the * serpent beguiled Eue through his subtiltie, so your mindes should be [c] corrupt from the simplicity that is in [d] Christ.

4 [2] For if hee that commeth, preacheth [e] another Iesus whom we haue not preached: or if yee receiue another spirit whom yee haue not receiued: either another Gospel, which ye haue not receiued, ye might well haue suffered him.

5 Ue ely I suppose that I was not inferiour to the very chiefe Apostles.

6 [3] And though I bee [f] rude in speaking, yet I am not so in knowledge, but among you we haue beene made manifest to the vttermost in all things.

7 [4] Haue I committed an offence, because I abased my selfe, that ye might be exalted, and because I preached to you the Gospel of God freely?

8 I robbed other Churches, and tooke wages of them to doe you seruice.

9 And when I was present with you, and had neede, * I was not slouthfull to the hinderance of any man: for that which was lacking vnto mee, the brethren which came from Macedonia, supplied, and in all things I kept [5] and will keepe my selfe, that I should not bee grieuous to you.

10 The [g] trueth of Christ is in mee, that this reioycing shall not be [h] shut vp against me in the regions of Achaia.

11 Wherefore? because I loue you not? God knoweth.

12 But what I do, that I will doe: that I may cut away occasion from them which desire occasion, that they may be found like vnto vs in that wherein they [i] reioyce.

13 [6] For such false apostles are deceitfull workers, and transforme themselues into the Apostles of Christ.

14 And no marueile: for Satan himselfe is transformed into an Angel of [k] light.

15 Therefore it is no great thing, though his ministers transforme themselues, as though they were the ministers of righteousnesse, whose end shall be according to their workes.

16 [7] I say againe, Let no man thinke that I am foolish, or els take mee euen as a foole, that I also may boast my selfe a litle.

17 That I speake, I speake it not after the Lord: but as it were foolishly in this my great boasting, 18 Seeing that many reioyce after the flesh, I will reioyce also.

19 For yee suffer fooles * gladly, because that ye are wise.

20 [8] For ye suffer, euen as if a man bring you into bondage, if a man deuoure you, if a man take your goods, if a man exalt himselfe, if a man smite you on the face.

21 I speake as concerning the [l] reproach, as though that wee had beene [m] weake: but wherein any man is bold (I speake foolishly) I am bolde also.

22 They are Hebrewes, * so am I: they are Israelites, so am I: they are the seede of Abraham, so am I:

23 They are the Ministers of Christ (I speake as a foole) I am [n] more: in labours more aboundant: in stripes aboue measure: in prison more plenteously: in [o] death oft.

24 Of the Iewes [p] fiue times receiued I fortie stripes saue one.

25 I was [q] thrise * beaten with rods: I was * once stoned: I suffered thrise * shipwracke: night and day haue I beene in the deepe Sea.

26 In iourneying I was often, in perils of waters, in perils of robbers, in perils of mine owne nation, in perils among the Gentiles, in perils in the Citie, in perils in wildernes, in perils in the Sea, in perils among false brethren, 27 In wearinesse and [r] painefulnes, in watching often, in hunger and thirst, in fastings often, in colde and nakednesse.

28 [9] Beside the things which are outward, I am combred daply, and haue the care of all the Churches.

29 Who is weake, and I am not weake? who is offended, and I burne not?

30 [10] If I must needes reioyce, I will reioyce of mine infirmities.

31 The God, euen the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, which is blessed for euermore, knoweth that I lie not.

3 He reciteth the slanders of those Traitors. I grant, saieth hee, that I am not so eloquent an Orator, but yet they cannot take away the knowledge of the Gospel from mee, whereof you haue had good proofe, & that euery maner of way.
f Paul lacked not of that kinde of eloquence which is meet for a man & fit for the Gospel, but he willingly wanted that painted kind of speech, which too many now adaies hunt after and follow.
4 Another slander, to wit, that he was a raskal, and liued by the labor of his own hands. But herein saith the Apostle, what can you say against mee, but that I was content to take any paines for your sakes, and when I sacked, to trauaile for my liuing with mine owne hands in part, and partly also when pouertie constrained mee, I chose rather otherwise to seeke my sustenance, then to be any burden to you, although I preached the Gospel vnto you. * Chap. 12. 13.
5 An amplification: so farre is he from being ashamed of this Act, that he hath also resolued with himselfe to doe no otherwise hereafter amongst them, to the intent that it may alwayes be truely said, that he taught in Achaia for nothing: not that he disdaineth the Corinthians, but that these Traitors may neuer finde the occasion which they haue already sought for, and he in the meane season, may set some thing before them to follow, that at length they may truely say, that they are like to Paul.
g This is a forme of an othe, as if hee sayd, Let me not be thought to haue any trueth in me.
h Shall be alwayes open to me.
i Pauls aduersaries sought all occasions they could, to be equal to him. And therefore seeing they had rather care vp the Corinthians, then preach to them for nothing, they sought another occasion, to wit, to make Paul to take some thing: which thing if he had done, then hoped they by that meanes to bee equall to him: for they made such a shew of zeale and knowledge, and set it forth with such a glosing kind of eloquence, that some of them euen despised Paul: but he sheweth that all this is nothing but colours and painting. 6 Now at length he pointeth out these fellowes in their colours, forewarning, that it will come to passe, that they will at length betray themselues, what countenance soeuer they make to the zeale that they haue of Gods glory.
k By light is meant the heauenly glory, whereof the Angels are partakers.

7 He goeth forward boldly, and vsing a vehement ironie or kinde of taunting, desireth the Corinthians to pardon him, if for a time he contrad as a foole before them being wise, hauing those ioly fellowes touching those externall things, to wit, touching his stocke, his ancestors and haliant acts.
8 Before he commeth to the matter, he toucheth the Corinthians, who perswading themselues to be very wise men, did not marke in the meane season, that those false Apostles abused their simplicitie for aduantage.
l As if he saide, in respect of that reproch which they doe vnto you (I speake it) which surely is as euill, as if they did beate you.

9 He addeth this in conclusion further, that the Corinthians might be ashamed to despise him, vpon whose care, almost all Churches depended, as it was plainely seene by experience.
10 He turneth that against his aduersaries, which they obiected against him: as if he should say: They alleage my calamities, to take away my authoritie from me: but if I would boast my selfe, I would take no better argument: and God himselfe is my witnesse that I vaunt and forge nothing.

CHAP. XII.

1 He doeth euen vnwillingly make rehearsall 3 of the heauenly visions, 4 that were reuealed vnto him: 6 for which though hee might indeed glory, yet he will not, 10 being priuie of his owne infirmities: 11 but they driue him to this kinde of folly, 20 in that they giue eare to certaine vainglorious persons, who draw them from Christ.

1 He goeth forward in his purpose, and because those bragging mates boasted of reuelations, hee reckoneth vp those things which lift him vp aboue the cõmon capacitie of men: but he vseth a preface, and excuseth him selfe auisedly.

IT [1] is not expedient for mee no doubt to reioyce: for I will come to visions and reuelations of the Lord.

2 I knowe a man [a] in Christ aboue fourteene yeeres agone, (whether he were in the body, I cannot tell, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth) which was taken vp into the [b] third heauen.

3 And I knowe such a man (whether in the body, or out of the body, I cannot tell: God knoweth)

4 How that he was taken vp into [c] Paradise, & heard words which [d] cannot be spoken, which are not [e] possible for man to vtter.

5 [2] Of such a man will I reioyce: of my selfe will I not reioyce, except it bee of mine infirmities.

6 For though I would reioyce, I should not be a foole, for I will say the trueth: but I refraine, lest any man should thinke of mee aboue that hee seeth in mee, or that hee heareth of me.

7 [3] And least I should bee exalted out of measure through the aboundance of reuelations, there was giuen vnto me [f] a pricke in the flesh, the messenger of [g] Satan to buffet mee, because I should not bee exalted out of measure.

8 For this thing I besought the Lorde [h] thrise, that it might depart from me.

9 And he said vnto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my power is made perfect through weakenesse. [4] Very gladly therefore will I reioyce rather in mine infirmities, that the power of Christ may [i] dwell in me.

10 Therefore I take [k] pleasure in infirmities, in reproches, in necessities, in persecutions, in anguish for Christs sake: for when I am weake, then am I strong.

11 I was a foole to boast my self: ye haue compelled me: [5] for I ought to haue bene commended of you: for in nothing was I inferior vnto the very chiefe Apostles, though I be nothing.

12 The [l] signes of an Apostle were wrought among you with all patience, with signes, and wonders, and great workes.

13 For what is it, wherein ye were inferiours vnto other Churches, * except that I haue not bene [m] slouthfull to your hinderance? forgiue me this wrong.

14 Behold, the third time I am ready to come vnto you, and yet will I not bee slouthfull to your hinderance: for I seeke not yours, but you: for the children ought not to lay vp for the fathers, but the fathers for the children.

15 And I will most gladly bestowe, and will be bestowed for your soules: though the more I loue you, the lesse I am loued.

16 [6] But be it that I charged you not: yet for as much as I was crafty, I tooke you with guile.

17 Did I pill you by any of them whom I sent vnto you?

18 I haue desired Titus, and with him I haue sent a brother: did Titus pill you of any thing? walked we not in the selfesame spirit? walked we not in the same steps?

19 [7] Againe, thinke yee that we excuse our selues vnto you? wee speake before God in [n] Christ. But we doe all things, dearely beloued, for your edifying.

20 [8] For I feare lest when I come, I shal not find you such as I would: and that I shall be found vnto you such as yee would not, and lest there bee strife, enuying, wrath, contentions, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, and discord, 21 I feare lest when I come againe, my God abase me among you, and I shall bewaile many of them which haue sinned already, and haue not repented of the vncleannesse and fornication, and wantonnesse which they haue committed.

a I speake this in Christ, that is, be it spoken without vaine glory, for I seeke nothing but Christ Iesus onely.

b Into the highest heauen: for we need not to dispute subtilly vpon the word (Third) but yet this place is to be marked against thē, which would haue heauen to be euery where.

c So ỹ Grecians name that which we call a Parke, that is to say, a place where trees are planted, and wild beasts kept, by which name they that translated the old Testament out of Hebrew into Greek, called the garden Eden, whereinto Adam was put straight after his creatiõ, as a most delicate & pleasant place. And hereupon grew it that that blessed seat of ỹ glory of God is called by that name.

d Which no man is able to vtter. e Which the Saints themselues are not by any meanes able to expresse, because it is God himselfe. Thus doth Clemens Alexandrinus expound this place, Strom. 5. 2 To remoone all suspicion of ambition, he witnesseth that he braggeth not of those things as of his own, but as out of himselfe, & yet notwithstanding faineth nothing, lest by this occasion other men should attribute vnto him more then indeed he is: and therefore he had rather glory in his miseries. 3 An excellent doctrine: why God will haue euen his best seruants to be vexed of Satan, and by all kind of temptations: to wit, lest they should be too much puffed vp, and also that they may be made perfite by that continuall exercise.

f Hee meaneth concupiscence, that sticketh fast in vs, as it were a pricke, in so much as it constrained Paul himselfe being regenerate, to cry out, I doe not that good that I would, &c. And he calleth it a pricke, by a borowed kinde of speech taken from thornes, or pompes, which are very dangerous & hurtfull for the feet, if a man walke through woods that are cut down. g Which setteth those lusts on fire. h Oft. 4 He concludeth, that he will only set his miseries against the vaine brags of the false apostles, & therwith also excuseth himselfe, for that by their importunity, he was constrained to speake so much of those things as he did: to wit, because that if his Apostleship were subuerted, his doctrine must needs fall.

i That I might feele the vertue of Christ more and more: For the weaker that our Tabernacles are, the more doth Christs vertue appeare in them.

k I doe not only take them patiently, and with a good heart, but also I take great pleasure in them

5 Against he maketh the Corinthians witnesses of those things whereby God had sealed his Apostleship amongst them, and against her declareth by certaine arguments how farre he is from all couetousnesse, and also how he is affectioned towards them.

l The arguments whereby it may wel appeare, that I am indeed an Apostle of Iesus Christ.

* Chap. 11. 9.

m I was not slouthfull in getting my liuing with mine owne hands, that I might not bee burdensome to you.

6 He putteth away another most grieuous slander, to wit, that he did subtilly and by others, make his gaine and profite of them.

7 He concludeth that he writeth not these things vnto them, as though he needed to defend himself, for he is guiltie of nothing: but because it is behoueable for them to doubt nothing of his fidelitie who instructed them.

n As it becommeth him to speake truely and sincerely, that professeth himselfe to be in Christ, that is to say, to be a Christian.

8 Hauing confirmed his authoritie vnto them, he rebuketh them sharpely, and threatneth them also like an Apostle, shewing that he will not spare them hereafter, vnlesse they repent, seeing that this is the third time that he hath warned them.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Comming the third time, 2 he denounceth the sharper vengeance towards them, 5 who haue a perfect trial of the power of Christ in his Apostleship: 10 At length he prayeth for their repentance, 11 and wisheth them prosperitie.

Lor

THis is the third time that I come vnto you. *In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall euery word stand.

2 I told you before, and tell you before: as though I had beene present the second time, so write I now being absent to them which heretofore haue sinned, and to all others, that if I come againe, I will not spare,

3 [1] Seeing that yee seeke experience of Christ, that speaketh in me, which toward you is not weake, but is [a] mightie in you.

4 For though he was crucified concerning [b] his infirmitie, yet liueth he through the power of God. And we no doubt are weake in him, but we shall liue with him, through the power of God toward you.

5 *[2] Proue your selues whether ye are in the faith: examine your selues: know yee not your owne selues, how that Iesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?

6 [3] But I trust that yee shall know that wee are not reprobates.

7 Now I pray vnto God that yee doe none euill, not that wee should seeme approued, but that yee should doe that which is honest: though wee be as [c] reprobates.

8 For wee cannot doe any thing against the trueth, but for the trueth.

9 For we are glad when we are weake, & that ye are strong: this also we wish for, euen your [d] perfection.

10 Therefore write I these things being absent, lest when I am present, I should vse sharpenesse, according to the power which the Lord hath giuen me, to edification, and not to destruction.

11 [4] Finally brethren, fare yee well: bee perfect: be of good comfort: be of one minde: liue in peace, and the God of loue and peace shall be with you.

12 [5] Greete one another with an *holy kisse. All the Saints salute you.

13 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ, and the loue of God, and the communion of the holy Ghost be with you all, Amen.

1 A most sharpe reprehension, for that, while they despise the Apostles admonitions, they tempt Christes owne patience: and also while they contemne him as wretched and miserable, they lay nothing herein against him, which is not common to him with Christ.
a And will be most mightie to be reuenged of you, when need shall be. b As touching that base forme of seruant which he tooke vpon him when hee abased himselfe. 1. Cor. 11. 28. 2 Hee confirmeth that which he spake of the vertue of God appearing in his ministerie, and he gathereth by the mutuall relation betweene the peoples faith, and the Ministers preaching, that they must either reuerence his Apostleship, vpon whose doctrine their faith is grounded, or they must condemne themselues of infidelitie, and must confesse themselues not to be of Christes body. 3 He mittigateth that sharpenesse, trusting that they will shew themselues towards their faithfull Apostle, apt and willing to be taught: adding this moreouer, that hee passeth not for his owne fame and estimation, so that they may serue to their saluation, which is the onely marke that hee shooteth at.
c In mens iudgement.
d That al things may be in good order amongst you, and the members of the Church restored into their place, which haue been shaken and out of place.
4 A briefe exhortation, but yet such an one as comprehendeth all the parts of a Christian mans life.
5 Hee saluteth them familiarly, and in conclusion wisheth well vnto them.

The second Epistle to the Corinthians, written from Philippi, a Citie in Macedonia, and sent by Titus and Lucas.

The Epistle of the Apostle Paul to the Galatians.

CHAP. I.

1 Straight after the salutation, 6 He reprehendeth the Galatians for reuolting 9 from his Gospel, 15 which he receiued from God, 17 before he had communicated with any of the Apostles.

PAul [1] an Apostle (not [a] of men, neither by [b] man, *but by [c] Iesus Christ, and God the Father which hath raised him from the dead)

2 And all the brethren which are with me, vnto the Churches of Galatia:

3 Grace be with you, and peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Iesus Christ,

4 [2] Which gaue himselfe for our sinnes, that he might deliuer vs *from this present euill [d] world: according to the will of God euen our Father,

5 To whom be glory for euer and euer, Amen.

6 [3] I marueile that ye are so soone [e] remoued away vnto another Gospel, from him that had called you in the grace of Christ,

7 [4] Which is not another Gospel, saue that there be some which trouble you, and intend to [f] peruert the Gospel of Christ.

8 But though that we, or an Angel from heauen preach vnto you other wise, then that which we haue preached vnto you, let him bee [g] accursed.

9 As we said before, so say I now again, If any man preach vnto you otherwise, then that ye haue receiued, let him be accursed.

1 A salutation comprehending in few words the summe of the Apostles doctrine, and also boldnes, straightway from the beginning, shewing the gratitie meet for the authoritie of an Apostle, which he had to maintaine against the false Apostles.
a Hee sheweth who is the author of the ministerie generally: for herein the whole ministerie agreeth, that whether they be Apostles, or Sheepheards, or Doctors, they are appointed of God. b He toucheth the instrumentall cause: for this is a peculiar prerogatiue to the Apostles, to be called immediatly frō Christ, * Titus 1. 3 c Christ no doubt is man, but hee is God also, and head of the Church. and in this respect to be exempted out of the number of men. 2 The summe of the true Gospel is this, that Christ by his onely offering saueth vs being chosen out of the world, by the free decree of God the Father. * Luke 1. 74.
d Out of that most corrupt state which is without Christ.
3 The first part of the Epistle, wherein he witnesseth that he is an Apostle, nothing inferior to those chiefe disciples of Christ, and wholy agreeing with them, whose names the false apostles did abuse. And he beginneth with chiding, reproouing them of lightnes, for that they gaue eare so easily vnto them which peruerted them and drew them away vnto a new Gospel. e Hee vseth the passiue voice to cast the fault vpon the false apostles, and he vseth the time that now is to giue them to vnderstand that it was not already done, but in doing. 4 He warneth them in time to remember that there are not many Gospels, and therfore what soeuer these false apostles pretend which had the Law, Moses, and the Fathers, in their mouths, yet they are in deed so many corruptions of the true Gospel, in so much that hee professe, yea, and the very Angels themselues (and therefore much more these false apostles) ought to be holden accursed, if they goe about to change the least iote that may be in the Gospel that he deliuered to them before. f For there is nothing more contrary to faith or free iustification, then iustification by the Law, or by deseruing. g Looke Rom. 9. 3.

10 [5] For now preach I [h] mans doctrine, or Gods? or goe I about to please men? for if I should yet please men, I were not the seruant of Christ.

11 [*6] Now I certifie you, brethren, that the Gospel which was preached of mee, was not after man.

12 For neither receiued I it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the [i] reuelation of Iesus Christ.

13 [7] For ye haue heard of my conuersation in time past, in the Iewish religion, how that *I persecuted the Church of God extremely, and wasted it, 14 And profited in the Iewish religion aboue many of my companions of mine owne nation, and was much more zealous of the [k] traditions of my Fathers.

15 But when it pleased God (which had [l] separated me from my mothers wombe, and called me by his grace)

16 To reueile his Sonne [m] in me, that I should preach him * among the Gentiles, immediatly [8] I communicated not with [n] flesh and blood:

17 Neither came I againe to Hierusalem to them which were Apostles before mee, but I went into Arabia, and turned againe vnto Damascus.

18 Then after three yeeres I came againe to Hierusalem to visite Peter, and abode with him fifteene dayes.

19 And none other of the Apostles sawe I, saue James the Lords brother.

20 Now ỹ things which I write vnto you, behold, I witnesse [o] before God, that I lie not.

21 After that, I went into the coastes of Syria and Cilicia: for I was vnknowen by face vnto the Churches of Iudea, which were in Christ.

22 But they had heard only some say, He which persecuted vs in time past, now preacheth the [p] faith which before he destroyed.

23 And they glorified God for mee.

5 A confirmation taken both from the nature of the doctrine it selfe, & also from that maner which hee vsed in teaching: for neither, sayth he, did I teach those things which pleased men as these men doe which put part of saluation in externall things, & workes of the Law, neither went I about to procure any mans fauour. And therefore the matter it selfe sheweth that that doctrine which I deliuered vnto you, is heauenly.

6 He toucheth the false apostles, who had nothing but men in their mouths, and he, though hee would derogate nothing from the Apostles, preacheth God, and not men. *1. Cor. 15. 1.

6 A second argument to proue that his doctrine is heauenly, because he had it frō heauen, from Iesus Christ himselfe, without any mans helpe, wherein he excelleth them whom Christ taught here on earth, after the maner of men.

7 This place is to be vnderstood of an extraordinary reuelation for otherwise the Son alone reueiled his Gospel by his Spirit, although by the ministerie of men, which Paul shutteth out here

7 He proueth that he was extraordinarily taught of Christ himselfe, by the historie of his former life, which the Galathians themselues knew well ynough: for sayth hee, it is well knowen in what schoole I was brought vp, euen from a child, to wit, amongst the deadly enemies of the Gospel. And that no man may cauill & say, that I was a scholler of the Pharisees in name onely, & not in deed, no man is ignorant how that I excelled in Pharisaisme, and was suddenly made of a Pharise, an Apostle of the Gentiles, so that I had no space to be instructed of men. *Acts 9. 1. k Hee calleth them the traditions of his Fathers, because he was not only a Pharise himselfe, but also had a Pharisee to his father. l He speaketh of Gods euerlasting predestination, whereby he appointed him to be an Apostle, whereof hee maketh three degrees, the euerlasting counsel of God, his appointing from his mothers womb, & his calling: here is no mention at all, we see, of works foreseene. m To me, and this is a kind of speech which the Hebrewes vse, whereby this is giuen vs to vnderstand, that this gift cōmeth from God. *Ephes. 3. 8. 8 Because it might be obiected, that in deed hee was called of Christ in the way, but afterward was instructed of the Apostles and others, whose names (as I said before) ỹ false apostles abused to destroy his apostleship, as though he deliuered another Gospel then the true Apostles did, & as though he were not of their number, which are to be credited without exception: therefore Paul answereth, that he began straightway after his calling to preach ỹ Gospel at Damascus & in Arabia, & was not from that time in Hierusalem but onely fifteene daies, where he saw only Peter and James, and afterwards, he began to teach in Syria and Cilicia, with the consent and approbation of the churches of the Iewes, which knew him onely by name, so far off was it, ỹ he was there instructed of men. o With any man in ỹ world. q This is a kind of oath. p The doctrine of faith

CHAP. II.

1 That the Apostles did nothing disagree from his Gospel, 5 he declareth by the example of Titus being vncircumcised, 11 and also by his aduouching the same against Peters dissimulation: 17 And so he passeth to the handling of our free iustification by Christ, &c.

THen [1] foureteene yeres after, I went vp againe to Hierusalem with Barnabas, and tooke with me Titus also.

2 And I went vp by reuelation, and declared vnto them that Gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but particularly to them that were the chiefe, least by any meanes I should runne, or had runne [a] in vaine:

3 But neither yet Titus which was with me, though hee were a Greciau, was compelled to be circumcised,

4 To wit, for the [b] false brethren which were craftily sent in, and crept in priuily to spie out our libertie, which we haue in Christ Iesus, that they might bring vs into bondage.

5 To whom we gaue not place by [c] subiection for an houre, that the [d] truth of the Gospel might continue with [e] you.

6 But by them which seemed to be great, I was not taught (whatsoeuer they were in time passed, I am nothing the better, * God accepteth no mans person) for they that are the chiefe, did adde nothing to me aboue that I had.

7 But contrariwise, when they saw that the Gospel ouer the [f] vncircumcision was cōmitted vnto mee, as the Gospel ouer the circumcision was vnto Peter:

8 (For he that was mightie by Peter in his Apostleship ouer the circumcision, was also mightie by me toward the Gentiles)

9 And when James, and Cephas, and John, knew of the grace that was giuen vnto me, which are [g] counted to bee pillars, they gaue to me & to Barnabas the right [h] hands of fellowship, that wee should preach vnto the Gentiles, and they vnto the Circumcision, 10 Warning only that we should remember the poore: which thing also I was diligent to doe.

11 ¶ And when Peter was come to Antiochia, I withstood him to his [i] face: for hee was to be condemned.

12 [2] For before that certaine came from James, he ate with the Gentiles: but when they were come, hee withdrew and separated

1 Now he sheweth how hee agreeth with the Apostles, with whom he graunteth that he conferred touching his Gospel which he taught among the Gentiles, foureteene yeeres after his conuersation, and they allowed it in such sort, that they cōstrained not his fellow Titus to be circumcised, although some tormented themselues therein, which traiterously layd waite against him, but in vaine: neither did they adde ỹ least iote that might be to the doctrine which hee had preached, but contrariwise they gaue to him and Barnabas the right hands of fellowship and acknowledged them as Apostles appointed of the Lord to the Gentiles.

a Vnfruitful, for as touching his doctrine, Paul doubteth not of it, but because there were certaine reports cast abroad of him, that he was of another opinion then the rest of the apostles were which thing might haue hindered the course of the Gospel, therefore he laboureth to remedie this sore, b Which by deceit, and counterfeit holinesse crept in amongst the faithfull.

c By submitting our selues to the, & betraying our owne libertie.

d The true and sincere doctrine of the Gospel, which remained safe from being corrupt with any of these mens false doctrines.

e Vnder the Galatians name, he vnderstandeth all nations. *Deut. 10. 17. 2. chr. 19. 7. iob 34. 19. acts 10. 34. rom. 2. 11 eph. 6. 9 col. 3. 25. 1. pet. 1. 17. f Among the Gentiles, as Peter had to preach it among ỹ Iewes. g Whom alone & only, these men count for pillars of the Church, and whose name they abuse to deceiue you. h They gaue vs their hand in token that we agreed wholy in the doctrine of the Gospel. i Before all men. 2 Another most vehement proofe of his Apostleship, and also of that doctrine which he had deliuered concerning free iustification by faith only, because that for this thing onely he reprehended Peter at Antioch, who offended herein, in that for a few Iewes sakes which came from Hierusalem, he played the Iewe, and offended the Gentiles which he had beleeued.

himselfe,

himselfe, fearing them which were of the Circumcision.

13 And the other Iewes played the hypocrites likewise with him, insomuch that Barnabas was [k] led away with them by that their hypocrisie.

14 But when I sawe, that they went not the [l] right way to the [m] trueth of the Gospel, I said vnto Peter before all men, If thou being a Iewe, liuest as the Gentiles, and not like the Iewes, why [n] constrainest thou the Gentiles to doe like the Iewes?

15 [3] Wee which are Iewes * by nature, and not [p] sinners of the Gentiles, 16 Knowe that a man is not iustified by the workes of the Lawe, but by the faith [q] of Iesus Christ, euen we, I say, haue beleeued in Iesus Christ that wee might bee iustified by the faith of Christ, and not by the workes of the Lawe, because that by the workes of the Law, [r] no flesh shall be iustified.

17 * [4] If then while [s] we seeke to be made righteous by Christ, we our selues are found sinners, is Christ therefore the minister of sinne? God forbid.

18 For if I build againe the things that I haue destroyed, I make my selfe a trespasser.

19 For I through the Law am dead to the [t] Lawe, that I might liue vnto God.

20 I am crucified with Christ, but I liue, yet not [u] I any more, but Christ liueth in me: and in that that I now liue in the [x] flesh, I liue by the faith in the Sonne of God, who hath loued me, and giuen himselfe for me.

21 [5] I doe not abrogate the grace of God: for if righteousnes be by the Law, then Christ died without a [y] cause.

O [1] Foolish Galatians, who hath bewitched you, that ye should not obey [a] the truth, to whom Iesus Christ before was described in your [a] sight, and among you crucified?

2 This onely would I learne of you, Receiued yee the Spirit by the workes of the Law, or by hearing of [c] faith preached?

3 [2] Are ye so foolish, that after ye haue begun in the Spirit, ye would now be made perfect by the [d] flesh?

4 [3] Haue yee suffered so many things in vaine? if so be it be euen in vaine.

5 [4] He therefore that ministreth to you the Spirite, and worketh myracles among you, doeth he it through the workes of the Law, or by the hearing of faith preached?

6 [5] Yea rather as [e] Abraham beleeued God, and it was * imputed to him for righteousnesse.

7 [6] Knowe yee therefore that they which are of faith, the same are the children of Abraham.

8 [7] For the Scripture foreseeing, that God woulde iustifie the Gentiles through faith, preached before the Gospel vnto Abraham, saying, * [8] In thee shall all the Gentiles be [f] blessed.

9 [9] So then they which bee of faith, are blessed [g] with faithfull Abraham.

10 [10] For as many as are of the workes of the Lawe, are vnder the curse: [11] for it is written, * Cursed is euery man that continueth not in all things, which are written in the booke of the Law, to do them.

11 [12] And that no man is iustified by the Law in the sight of God, it is euident: * for the iust shall liue by faith.

k By example rather then by iudgement.
l Worde for word, with a right foote, which he setteth against halting and dissembling, which is backeward.
m He calleth the truth of the Gospel, both the doctrine it selfe, and also the vse of the doctrine, which we call the practise.
n He saith they were constrained, which played the Iewes by Peters example.
3 The second part of this Epistle, the skate whereof is this: we are iustified by faith in Christ Iesus without the workes of the Lawe. Which thing hee propoundeth in such sort, that first of all he meeteth with an obiection, (for I also saith he am a Iewe, that no man may say against me, that I am an enemie to the Law) and afterward, he confirmeth it by the expresse witnesse of Dauid.
o Although we be Iewes, yet we preach iustification by faith, because we knowe vndoubtedly, that no man can be iustified by the Lawe p So the Iewes called the Gentiles, because they were strangers from Gods couenant. q In Iesus Christ. r No man, & in this word (flesh) there is a great vehemencie, whereby is meant that the nature of man is vtterly corrupt. *Rom. 3. 19. 4 Before he goeth any further, he meeteth with their obiection, which abhorred this doctrine of free iustification by faith, because say they, men are by this meanes withdrawen from the study of good workes. And in this sort is the obiection: If sinners should be iustified through Christ by faith without the Law, Christ should approue sinners, and should as it were exhort them thereunto by his ministerie. Paul answereth that this consequence is false, because that Christ destroyeth sinne in the beleeuers: For so, saith he, do men flee vnto Christ through the terror & feare of the Law, that being quit from the curse of the Law and iustified, they may be saued by him, that together therwithall, he beginneth in them by litle & litle that strength and power of his which destroyeth sinne: to the end that this old man being abolished by the vertue of Christ crucified, Christ may liue in them, and they may consecrate themselues to God. Therefore if any man giue himselfe to sinne after he hath receiued the Gospel, let him not accuse Christ nor the Gospel, but himselfe, for that hee destroyeth the worke of God in himselfe. s He goeth from iustification to sanctification, which is another benefit we receiue by Christ, if we lay hold on him by faith. t The Law that terrifieth the conscience, bringeth vs to Christ. & he only causeth vs to die to the Law in deed, because that by making vs righteous, he taketh away from vs the terror of conscience, and by sanctifying vs, causeth through the mortifying of lust in vs, that it can not take such occasion to sinne by the restraint which the Law maketh, as it is before, Rom. 7. 10. 11. u The same that I was before. x In this mortall body. 5 The second argument taken of an absurditie: If men may be iustified by the Law, then was it not necessarie for Christ to die. y For there was no cause why he should doe so.

1 The third reason or argument taken of those gifts of the holy Ghost, wherewith they were indued from heauen after they had heard and beleeued the Gospel by Pauls ministerie: which seeing they were so euident to all mens eyes, that they were as it were liuely images, wherein they might behold the truth of the doctrine of the Gospel, no lesse then if they had beheld with there eyes Christ himselfe crucified, in whose only death they ought to haue their trust, he marueileth how it could be that they could be so bewitched by the false apostles.
a Christ was laid before you so notably & so plainly, that you had his liuely image as it were represented before your eyes, as if he had bin crucified before you.
b Those spirituall graces and gifts, which were a seale as it were to the Galatians that the Gospel which was preached to them was true.
c Of the doctrine of faith.
2 The fourth argument mixed with the former, and it is double. If the Lawe be to be ioyned with faith, this were not to go forward, but backward, seeing that those spirituall gifts which were bestowed vpon you are more excellent then any that could proceed from your selues. And moreouer, it should follow, that the Law is better then Christ, because it should perfit and bring to ende that, which Christ began onely.
d By the (flesh) he meaneth the ceremonies of the Law, against which he setteth the Spirit, that is, the spirituall working of the Gospel. 3 An exhortation by maner of vpbraiding, that they do not in vaine suffer so many conflicts. 4 He repeateth the third argument which was taken of the effects, because hee had interlaced certaine other arguments by the way. 5 The fift argument which is of great force, and hath three grounds. The first, That Abraham was iustified by faith, to wit, by free imputation of righteousnesse according to the promise apprehended by faith, as Moses both most plainely witnesseth. e Looke Rom. 4. *Gen. 15. 6. ro. 4. 3. iam. 2. 23. 6 The second, that the sonnes of Abraham must be esteemed and accounted of by faith. 7 The third, that all people that beleeue are without exception comprehended in the promise of the blessing. *Gen. 12. 3. act. 3. 25. 8 A proofe of the first and second grounds, out of the wordes of Moses. f Blessing in this place, signifieth the free promise by faith. 9 The conclusion of the fift argument: Therefore as Abraham is blessed by faith, so are all his children (that is to say, all the Gentiles that beleeue) blessed, that is to say, freely iustified. g With faithfull Abraham, and not by faithfull Abraham, to giue vs to vnderstand that the blessing commeth not from Abraham, but from him, by whom Abraham and all his posteritie is blessed. 10 The fift argument, the conclusion whereof is also in the former verse taken of contraries, thus, They are accursed which are of the workes of the Law, that is to say, which value their righteousnesse by the performance of the Lawe. Therefore they are blessed which are of faith, this is, they which haue righteousnesse by faith. 11 A proofe of the former sentence or proposition, and the proposition of this argument is this: Cursed is hee that fulfilleth not the whole Law. *Deut. 27. 26. 12 The second proposition with the conclusion: But no man fulfilleth the Law. Therefore no man is iustified by the Law, or else, All are accursed which seeke righteousnesse by the works of the Law. And there is annexed also this maner of proofe of the second proposition, to wit, Righteousnesse and life are attributed to faith, Therefore no man fulfilleth the Lawe. *Hab. 2. 2. 4 rom. 1. 17. heb. 10. 38.

CHAP. III.

1 He reboketh them, for suffering themselues to be drawen from the grace of free iustification in Christ, most liuely set out vnto them. 6 He bringeth in Abrahams example, 10 declaring the effect, 21 and causes of the giuing of the Lawe.

12 [13] And

12 [13] And the Lawe is not of faith: but * the man that ſhall do thoſe things, ſhall liue in them.

13 [14] Chriſt hath redeemed vs from the curſe of the Law, made a curſe for vs, ([15] for it is written, *[h] Curſed is euery one that hangeth on tree.)

14 [16] That the bleſſing of Abraham might come on the Gentiles through Chriſt Jeſus, that we might receiue the promiſe of the Spirit through faith.

15 [16] Brethren, I ſpeake as [i] men doe: * though it be but a mans couenant, when it is [k] confirmed, yet no man doth abrogate it, or addeth any thing thereto.

16 Now to Abraham and his ſeede were the promiſes made. Hee ſaith not, And to the ſeeds, as ſpeaking of many: but, And to thy ſeed, as of one, [18] which is [l] Chriſt.

17 [19] And this I ſay', that the couenaunt that was confirmed afore of God [m] in reſpect of Chriſt, the [20] Lawe which was foure hundred and thirtie yeeres after, can not diſdanull, that it ſhould make the promiſe of none effect.

18 [21] For if the [n] inheritance be of the law, it is no more by the promiſe, but God gaue it freely vnto Abraham by promiſe.

19 [22] Wherefore then ſerueth the Lawe? It was added becauſe of the [o] tranſgreſſions, [p] till the ſeede came, vnto the which the promiſe was made: [23] and it was [q] ordeined by [r] Angels in the hand of a Mediatour.

20 Now a Mediatour is not a Mediatour of one: [24] but God is one.

21 [25] Is the Lawe then againſt the promiſes of God? God forbiede: For if there had beene a Lawe giuen which could haue giuen life, ſurely righteouſneſſe ſhould haue bene by the Law.

22 But the [s] Scripture hath * concluded [t] all vnder ſinne, that the [u] promiſe by the faith of Jeſus Chriſt ſhould bee giuen to them that beleeue.

23 [26] But before faith came, we were kept vnder the Lawe, as vnder a gariſon, and ſhut vp vnto [x] that faith, which ſhould afterward be reuciled.

24 Wherefore the Law was our ſchoolemaſter to bring vs to Chriſt, that we might be made righteous by faith.

25 But after that faith is come, we are no longer vnder a ſchoolemaſter.

26 [27] For yee are all the ſonnes of God by faith, in Chriſt Jeſus.

27 [28] For all yee that are [y] baptized into Chriſt, haue [z] put on Chriſt.

28 There is neither Jewe nor Grecian: there is neither bond nor free: there is neither male nor female: for ye are all [a] one in Chriſt Jeſus.

29 And if ye be Chriſts, then are ye Abrahams ſeed, and heires by promiſe.

---

[13] Here is a reaſon ſhewes of the former conſequence: Becauſe the Law promiſeth life to all that keepe it, and therefore if it be kept, it iuſtifieth and giueth life. But the Scripture attributing righteouſneſſe and life to faith, taketh it from the Lawe, ſeeing that faith iuſtifieth by imputation, and the Law by the performing of the worke.

* Leuit. 18.5.

[14] A preuenting of an obiection: How then can they be bleſſed, whome the Law pronounceth to be accurſed? Becauſe Chriſt ſuſteined the curſe which the Law layed vpon vs, that we might be quit from it.

[15] A proofe of the anſwere by the teſtimonie of Moſes.

* Deut. 21.23.

[h] Chriſt was accurſed for vs, becauſe he bare the curſe that was due to vs, to make vs partakers of his righteouſneſſe. [16] A concluſion of all that was ſaid before in the handling of the firſt and firſt reaſons, to wit, that both the Gentiles are made partakers of the free bleſſing of Abraham in Chriſt, and alſo that the Jewes themſelues, of whoſe number the Apoſtle counteth himſelfe to be, cannot obtaine that promiſed grace of the Goſpel, which bee calleth the Spirit, but only by faith. And the Apoſtle doeth ſeuerally apply the concluſion, both to the one and to the other, preparing himſelfe a way to the next argument whereby he declareth, that that one only ſeed of Abraham, which is made of all peoples can no otherwiſe be ioyned and grow vp together, but by faith in Chriſt. [17] He putteth forth two generall rules before the next argument, which is the ſeuenth in order: The one is, that it is not lawfull to breake couenants and contracts which are iuſtly made and according to Law, among men, neither may any thing bee added vnto them: The other is, that God did ſo make a couenant with Abraham, that he would gather together his children which conſiſt both of Jewes and Gentiles into one body (as appeareth by that which hath bene ſayd before.) For hee did not ſay, that he would be the God of Abraham and of his ſeeds, (which thing notwithſtanding ſhould haue bene ſayd, if hee had many and diuers ſeeds, as the Gentiles a part, & the Jewes a part) but that hee would be the God of Abraham, & of his ſeed, as of one. [i] I will vſe an example which is common among you, that you may be aſhamed you giue not ſo much to Gods couenants, as you do to mans. * Heb. 9.17. [k] Autentical, as we call it. [18] He putteth forth the ſum of the ſeuenth argument, to wit, that both the Jewes and the Gentiles, grow together in one body of the ſeed of Abraham, in Chriſt only, ſo that all are one in Chriſt, as it is afterward declared, ver. 28. [l] Paul ſpeaketh not of Chriſts perſon, but of two peoples, which grew together in one, in Chriſt. [19] The eight argument taken of compariſon, thus: If a mans couenaunt (being autentical) bee firme and ſtrong, much more God's couenant. Therefore the Law was not giuen to abrogate the promiſe made to Abraham which had reſpect to Chriſt, that is to ſay, the end whereof did hang on Chriſt. [m] Which tended to Chriſt. [20] An inlarging of that argument, thus: Moreouer and beſides that the promiſe is of it ſelfe firme and ſtrong, it was alſo confirmed with the preſcripcion of long time, to wit, of 430. yeeres, ſo that it could in no wiſe be broken. [21] An obiection: Wee grant that the promiſe was not abrogated by the couenant of the Law, and therefore we ioyne the Law with the promiſe. May, ſaith the Apoſtle, theſe two cannot ſtand together, to wit, that the inheritance ſhould both be giuen by the Lawe and alſo by promiſe, for the promiſe is free: whereby it followeth, that the Lawe was not giuen to iuſtifie, for by that meanes the promiſe ſhould be broken. [n] By this word (inheritance) is meant the right of the ſeede, which is, that God ſhould be our God, that is to ſay, that by vertue of the couenant that was made with faithful Abraham, we that be faithfull, might by that meanes be bleſſed of God aſwell as he. [22] An obiection which riſeth from the former anſwere: If the inheritance be not by the Lawe (at the leaſt part) then why was the Law giuen after that the promiſe was made? Therefore ſaith the Apoſtle, to repreue men of ſinne, & ſo to teach them to looke vnto Chriſt, in whome at length that promiſe of ſauing all people together, ſhould be fulfilled, and not that the Lawe was giuen to iuſtifie men. [o] That men might vnderſtand, by diſcouering of their ſinnes, that they are ſaued by the onely grace of God, which he reueiled to Abraham, and that in Chriſt. [p] Vntill the partition wall was broken downe, and that full ſeed ſprang vp, framed of two peoples, both of Iewes and Gentiles: for by this word Seed, wee may not vnderſtand, Chriſt alone by himſelf, but coupled and ioyned together with his body. [23] A confirmation of the former anſwere taken from the manner and forme of giuing the Law: for it was giuen by Angels, ſtriking a great terrour into all, and by Moſes a Mediatour coming betweene. Now they that are one need no Mediatour, but they that are twaine at the leaſt, and that are at variance one with another. Therefore the Law it ſelfe and the Mediatour, were witneſſes of the wrath of God, and not that God would by this meanes reconcile men to himſelfe, and abolish the promiſe, or adde the Lawe vnto the promiſe. [q] Commanded and giuen, or proclaimed. [r] By the ſeruice & miniſtery. [24] A taking away of an obiection, leaſt any man might ſay, that ſometimes by conſent of the parties which haue made a couenant, ſomething is added to the couenant, or the former couenants are broken. This, ſaieth the Apoſtle, commeth not to paſſe in God, who is alwaies one and the ſelfe ſame, and like himſelfe. [25] The concluſion vttered by a manner of aſking a queſtion, and it is that ſame that was vttered before, verſe 21. but proceeding of another rule: ſo that the argument is newe, and is this: God is alwaies like vnto himſelfe: Therefore the Law was not giuen to abolish the promiſes. But it ſhould abolish them if it gaue life, for by that meanes it ſhould iuſtifie, and therefore it ſhould abolish that iuſtification which was promiſed to Abraham and to his ſeed by faith. May it was rather giuen to bring to light the guiltineſſe of all men, to the end that all beleeuers fleeing to Chriſt promiſed, might be freely iuſtified in him. [s] By this word, Scripture, he meaneth the Law. * Rom. 3.9. [t] All men, and whatſoeuer commeth from man. [u] In euery one of theſe words, there lieth an argument againſt the merites of workes: for all theſe words, promiſe, faith, Chriſt, might be giuen, to beleeuers, are againſt merites, and not one of them can ſtand with deſeruing workes. [26] Now there followeth an other handling of the ſecond part of this Epiſtle: the ſtate wherof was this: Although the Law (that is, the whole gouernement of Gods houſe according to the Law) doe not iuſtifie, is it therefore to bee abolished, ſeeing that Abraham himſelfe was circumciſed, and his poſteritie helde ſtill the vſe of Moſes Law? Paul affirmeth that it ought to bee abolished, becauſe it was inſtituted for that ends and purpoſe, that it ſhould bee as it were a ſchoolemaſter and keeper to the people of God, vntill the promiſe appeared indeed, that is to ſay, Chriſt, and the Goſpel manifeſtly publiſhed with great efficacie of the Spirit. [x] The cauſe why we were kept vnder the Lawe, is ſet downe here. [27] Becauſe age changeth not the condition of ſeruants, he addeth that we are free by condition, and therefore, ſeeing we are out of our childhood, we haue no more need of a keeper and Schoolemaſter. [28] Vſing a generall particle, leaſt the Jewes at the leaſt ſhould not thinke themſelues bound with the band of the Lawe, hee pronounceth that Baptiſme is common to all beleeuers, becauſe it is a pledge of our deliuerie in Chriſt, as well to the Jewes as to the Grecians, that by this meanes all may bee truely one in Chriſt, that is to ſay, that promiſed ſeed to Abraham, and inheriters of euerlaſting life. [y] He ſetteth Baptiſme, ſecretly againſt circumciſion, which the falſe apoſtles ſo much bragged of. [z] The Church muſt put on Chriſt, as it were a garment, and be couered with him, that it may be throughly holy, and without blame. [a] You are all one; and ſo is this great knot and coniunction ſignified.

CHAP.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Being deliuered from the bondage of the Law, 4 by Christs comming, who is the end thereof, 9 it is very absurd to slide backe to beggerly ceremonies: 13 He calleth them againe therefore to the puritie of the doctrine of the Gospel, 21 confirming his discourse with a fine allegorie.

1 He declareth that by another double similitude, which hee said before concerning the keeper and schoolemaster: For he saith, that the Law (that is, the whole gouernment of Gods house according to the Law) was as it were a tutour or ouerseer appointed for a time, vntill such time as that protection and ouerseeing which was but for a time, being ended, we should at length come to be at our owne libertie, & should liue as children, and not as seruants. Moreouer, he sheweth by the way, that that gouernance of the Law, was as it were an A.B.C, and as certaine principles, in comparison of the doctrine of the Gospel.

1 Now I say, that the heire as long as hee is a childe, differeth nothing from a seruant, though he be Lord of all,

2 But is vnder tutours and gouernours, [a] vntill the time appointed of the Father.

3 Euen so, wee when we were children, were in bondage vnder the [b] rudiments of the world.

4 [2] But when the [c] fulnesse of time was come, God sent foorth his Sonne made of a [d] woman, and made vnder the Law,

5 That hee might redeeme them which were vnder the Law, that we * might receiue the [e] adoption of the sonnes.

6 [3] And because ye are sonnes, God hath [f] sent foorth the [g] Spirite of his Sonne into your hearts, which crieth, Abba, Father.

7 Wherefore, thou art no more a [h] seruant, but a sonne: nowe if thou be a sonne, thou art also the [i] heire of God through Christ.

8 [4] But euen then, when yee knew not God, yee did seruice vnto them, which by nature are not Gods:

9 But now seeing ye know God, yea, rather are knowen of God, how turne ye againe vnto impotent and [k] beggerly rudiments, whereunto as from the beginning ye will bee in bondage [l] againe?

10 Yeobserue dayes, and moneths, and times and yeeres.

11 I am in feare of you, least I haue bestowed on you labour in vaine.

a This is added because he that is alwayes vnder a tutour or gouernour, may hardly bee counted a freeman.

b The Law is called rudiments, because that by the Lawe God instructed his Church as it were by rudiments, & afterward powred out his holy Spirit most plentifully in the time of the Gospel. 2 He vttereth and declareth many things at once, to wit, that this tutourship was ended at his time: that curious men may leaue to aske, why that schoolemastership lasted so long. And moreouer, that wee are not sonnes by nature, but by adoption, and that in the Sonne of God, who therefore tooke vpon him our flesh, that we might be made his brethren. c The time is said to be full, when all parts of it are past and ended. & therfore Christ could not haue come either sooner or later. d He calleth Marie a woman, in respect of the sexe, & not as the word is vsed in a contrary sence to a virgine, for she remained a virgine still. *Rom.8.15. e The adoption of the sonnes of God, is from euerlasting, but is reueiled and shewed in the time appointed for it. 3 He sheweth that we are in such sort free and set at libertie, that in the meane season wee must bee gouerned by the Spirite of Christ, which reigning in our hearts, may teach vs the true seruice of the Father. But this is not to serue, but rather to enioy true libertie, as it becommeth sonnes and heires. f By that that followeth he gathereth that that went before: for if we haue his Spirit, we are his sonnes, & if we are his sonnes, then are we free. g The holy Ghost, who is both of the Father & of the Sonne: but there is a peculiar reason why he is called the Spirit of the Sonne, to wit, because the holy Ghost sealeth vp our adoption in Christ, & maketh vs a ful assurance of it. h The word, seruant, is not taken here for one that liueth in sinne, which is proper to the infidels, but for one that is yet vnder the ceremonies of the Lawe, which is proper to the Iewes. i Partaker of his blessings. 4 He applieth the former doctrine to the Galatians, with a peculiar reprehension: for in comparison of them, the Iewes might haue pretended some excuse as men that were borne and brought vp in that seruice of the Lawe. But seeing the Galatians were taken and called out of idolatrie to Christian libertie, what pretence might they haue to goe backe to those impotent and beggerly rudiments. k They are called impotent & beggerly ceremonies, being considered apart by themselues without Christ: and againe, for that by that means they gaue good testimonie that they were beggers in Christ, when as notwithstanding, for men to fall back from Christ to ceremonies, is nothing else, but to cast away riches, and to follow beggerie. l By going backward, 12 [5] Be yee as I (for I am euen as you) brethren, I beseech you: ye haue not hurt me at all.

13 And yee know how through [m] infirmitie of the flesh, I preached the Gospel vnto you at the first.

14 And the [n] triall of mee which was in my flesh, ye despised not, neither abhorred: but yee receiued me as an Angel of God, yea, as [o] Christ Iesus.

15 [p] What was then your felicitie? for I beare you record, that if it had bene possible, ye would haue plucked out your owne eyes, and haue giuen them vnto me.

16 Am I therefore become your enemie, because I tell you the trueth?

17 They are ielous ouer you [q] amisse: yea, they would exclude you, [r] that yee should altogether loue them.

18 But it is a good thing to loue [s] earnestly alwayes in a good thing, and not onely when I am present with you.

19 My litle children, of whom I trauaile in birth againe, vntill Christ bee formed in you.

20 And I would I were with you nowe, that I might [t] change my voyce: for I am in doubt of you.

21 [6] Tell me, yee that [u] will bee vnder the Lawe, doe ye not heare the Lawe?

22 For it is written, that Abraham had two sonnes, * one by a seruant, and * one by a free woman.

23 But he which was of the seruant was borne after the [x] flesh: and hee which was of the free woman, was borne by [y] promise.

24 By the which things another thing is meant: for [z] these mothers are the [a] two testaments, the one which is Agar of mount [b] Sina, which gendreth vnto bondage.

25 (For Agar or Sina is a mountaine in

5 He mitigateth and qualifieth those things, wherin he might haue seemed to haue spoken somewhat sharply, very artificially and diuinely, declaring his good will towards them in such sort, that the Galatians could not but either be vtterly desperate when they read these things, or acknowledge their owne lightnesse with teares, and desire pardon.

m Many afflictions.

n Those dayly troubles wherewith the Lord tried me amongst you.

o For my ministeries sake.

p What a talke was there abroad in the world amongst men, how happie you were?

q For they bee ielous ouer you for their owne commoditie.

r That they may conuey all your loue from me, to themselues.

s He setteth his owne true and good loue, which was earnestly bent towards them, against the naughtie vicious loue of the false apostles.

t Vse other words among you.

6 Because the false apostles bragged this, that vnlesse the Gentiles were circumcised, Christ could profit them nothing at all, and this dissension of them which beleeued of the circumcision, against them which beleeued of the vncircumcision, was full of offence: the Apostle, after diuers arguments whereby he hath refuted their errour, bringeth foorth an allegorie, wherin he saith, the holy Ghost did shadow out vnto vs, all these mysteries: to wit, that it should come to passe, that two sortes of sonnes should haue Abraham a father common to them both: but not with like successe: for as Abraham begate Ismael, by the common course of nature, of Agar his bond maid and stranger, and begate Isaac of Sara a free woman by the vertue of the promise, and by grace onely, and the first was not onely not heire, but also persecuted the heire: So there are two couenaunts, and as it were two sonnes borne to Abraham of those two couenants, as it were of two mothers. The one was made in Sina, without the law of promise, according to which couenant Abrahams children according to the flesh were begotten: to wit, the Iewes, which seeke righteousnesse by that couenant, that is, by the Lawe: but they are not heires, nay they shall at length be cast out of the house, as they that persecute the true heires. The other was made in that high Hierusalem, or in Sion, to wit, by the sacrifice of Christ (which begetteth children of promise,) to wit, beleeuers, by the vertue of the holy Ghost, which children (as Abraham) doe rest themselues in the free promise, and they onely by the right of children shall be partakers of the fathers inheritance, and those seruants shall be shut out. u That desire so greatly. *Gen.16.15. *Gen.21.1. x As all men are, and by the common course of nature. y By vertue of the promise, which Abraham layed hold on for himselfe and his true seede, for otherwise Abraham and Sara were past begetting and bearing children. z These doe represent and shadowe foorth. a They are called two couenants, one of the old Testament, and another of the Newe: which were not two in deed, but in respect of the times, and the diuersitie of the gouernement. b He maketh mention of Sina, because that couenant was made in the mountaine, of which mountaine Agar was a shadowe.

Arabia,

Arabia, & it [c] answereth to Hierusalem which now is) & [d] she is in bondage with her children.

26 But Hierusalem, which is [e] aboue, is free: which is the mother of vs all.

27 [7] For it is written, * Reioyce thou barren that beares not childen: breake forth, and cry, thou that trauailest not: for the [f] desolate hath many moe children, then thee which hath an husband.

28 * Therefore, brethren, we are after the [g] maner of Isaac, children of the [h] promise.

29 But as then he that was borne after the [i] flesh, persecuted him that was borne after the [k] Spirit, euen so it is now.

30 But what saith the Scripture? * Put out the seruant and her sonne: for the sonne of the seruant shall not be heire with the sonne of the free woman.

31 [8] Then brethren, we are not children of the seruant, but of the free woman.

c Looke how the case standeth betwixt Agar and her children, euen so standeth it betweene Ierusalem and hers.
d That is, Sina.
e Which is excellent, and of great accompt.
7 He driueth that in this allegorie, he hath followed the steps of Esay, who foretold that the Church should be made and consist of the children of barren Sara, that is to say, of them which onely spiritually should be made Abrahams children by faith, rather then of fruitfull Agar, euen then foresheweing the calling of the Iewes, and calling of the Gentiles. *Esa.54.1. f She that is destroied & wasted. *Rom.8.9. g After the maner of Isaac, who is the first begotten of the heauenly Hierusalem, as Ismael is of the slauish Synagogue. h That seed vnto which the promise belongeth. i By the common course of nature. k By the vertue of Gods promise and after a spirituall maner. *Gen. 21.10. 8 The conclusion of the former allegorie, that we by no means procure and call backe againe the slauerie of the Lawe, seeing that the children of the bondmaid shall not be heires.

CHAP. V.

1 Hauing declared that we came of the free woman, hee sheweth the price of that freedome, 13 and how wee should vse the same, 16 that we may obey the Spirit, 19 and resist the flesh.

STand fast therefore in the libertie wherewith Christ hath made vs free, and bee not intangled againe with the yoke of bondage.

2 [1] * Behold, I Paul say vnto you, that if ye be [a] circumcised, Christ shall profite you nothing.

3 For I testifie againe to euery man, which is circumcised, that he is bound to keep the whole Lawe.

4 Ye are * [b] abolished from Christ: who so euer are [c] iustified by the Lawe, yee are fallen from grace.

5 [2] For we through the [d] Spirit waite for the hope of righteousnesse through faith.

6 [3] For in Iesus Christ neither circumcision auaileth any thing, neither [+] vncircumcision, [5] but [e] faith which worketh by loue.

1 Another obiectation wherein he plainely witnesseth that iustification of works, and iustification of faith cannot stand together, because no man can be iustified by the Law, but he that doeth fully and perfectly fulfill it. And he taketh the example of circumcision, because it was the ground of all the seruice of the Law, and was chiefly vrged of the false Apostles. *Acts 15.1. a Circumcision is in other places called the seale of righteousnes, but here wee must haue consideration of the circumstance of the time, for now had Baptisme come in the place of circumcision. And moreouer Paul reasoneth according to the opinion that his enemies had of it, which made circumcision a piece of their saluation. *1.Cor.1.17. b That is, as he himselfe expoundeth it afterward, yet are fallen from grace. c That is, seeke to be iustified by the Law, for in deed no man is iustified by the Law. 2 He plainly compareth the new people with the old: for it is certaine that they also did ground all their hope of iustification and life in faith, and not in circumcision, but in that their faith was wrapped in the eternall and ceremoniall worship: but our faith is bare and content with spirituall worship. d Through the Spirit, which ingendreth faith. 3 He addeth a reason, for that now, circumcision is abolished, seeing that Christ is exhibited vnto vs with full plentie of spirituall circumcision. 4 Hee maketh mention also of vncircumcision, least the Gentiles should please themselues in it, as the Iewes doe in circumcision. 5 The taking away of an obiection: If all that worship of the Lawe bee taken away, wherein then shall we exercise our selues? In charitie, saieth Paul: for faith whereof we speake, cannot be idle, nay it bringeth forth daily fruits of charitie. e So is true faith distinguished from counterfeit faith: for charitie is not ioyned with faith as a fellow cause, to helpe forward our iustification with faith.

7 [6] Ye did run well: who did let you, that ye did not obey the trueth?

8 [7] It is not the perswasion of [f] him that calleth you.

9 * [8] A litle leauen doeth leauen the whole lumpe.

10 [9] I haue trust in you through þ Lord, that ye will be none otherwise minded: but he that troubleth you, shall beare his condemnation whosoeuer he be.

11 [10] And brethren, if I yet preach circumcision, why do I yet suffer persecution? Then is the slander of the crosse abolished.

12 [11] Would to God they were euen cut off, which doe [g] disquiet you.

13 For brethren, ye haue bene called vnto libertie: [12] onely vse not your libertie as an occasion vnto the flesh, but by loue serue one another.

14 [13] For [h] all the Law is fulfilled in one worde, which is this, * Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

15 [14] If ye bite and deuoure one another, take heede lest ye be consumed one of another.

16 [15] Then I say, * Walke in the Spirite, and yee shall not fulfill the lustes of the flesh.

17 For the [i] flesh lusteth against the Spirite, and the Spirite against the flesh: and these are contrary one to another, so that yee cannot doe the same things that ye would.

18 And if ye be led by the Spirite, yee are not vnder the Lawe.

19 [16] Moreouer the workes of the flesh are manifest, which are adulterie, fornication, vncleannes, wantonnes,

20 Idolatrie, witchcraft, hatred, debate, emulations, wrath, contentions, seditions, heresies, 21 Enuie, murthers, drunkennes, gluttonie, and such like, whereof I tell you before, as I also haue told you before, that they which doe such things, shall not inherite the kingdome of God.

22 But the [k] fruite of the Spirite is loue, ioy, peace, long suffering, gentlenes, goodnes, faith,

6 Against he chideth the Galatians, but with an admiration, and therewithall a prayse of their former race, to the end that he may make them more ashamed.
7 He plaieth the part of an Apostle with them, and vseth his authority, denying that that doctrine can come from God, which is cõtrary to his.
f Of God.
*1.Cor.5.6.
8 He addeth this, that he may not seeme to contend vpõ a trifle, warning thẽ diligently (by a similitude which he borroweth of leauen, as Christ himselfe also did) not to suffer the puritie of the Apostolicall doctrine to bee infected with the least corruption that may be.
9 He mitigateth the former reprehension, casting the fault vpon the false apostles, against whome he denounceth the horrible iudgement of God.
10 He willeth them to consider howe that he seeketh not his owne profite in this matter, seeing that he could eschewe the hatred of men, if he would ioyne Iudaisme with Christianitie.
11 An example of a true Pastour inflamed with the zeale of Gods glory, and loue of his flocke.
g For they that preach the Law, cause mens consciences alwayes to tremble.
12 The third part of this Epistle, shewing that the right vse of Christian libertie consisteth in this, that being deliuered and set at libertie from the slauerie of sinne and the flesh, and being obedient to the spirite, we should serue vnto one anothers saluation through loue. 13 He propoundeth the loue of our neighbour, as a marke whereunto all Christians ought to referre all their actions, and thereunto her citeth the testimonie of the Law. h This particle (All) must be restrained to the second Table. *Leuit.19 18.matth.22.39.mar.12.31.rom.13.9.iam.2.8. 14 An exhortation to the duties of charitie, by the profite that ensueth thereof, because that no men prouide woorse for themselues, then they that hate one another. 15 He acknowledgeth the great weakenes of the godly, for that they are but in part regenerate: but he willeth them to remember that they are indued with the Spirite of God, which hath deliuered them from the slauerie of sinne, and so of the Lawe, so farre foorth as it is the vertue of sinne, that they should not giue themselues to lustes. *Rom.13. 14.1.pet.2.11. i For the flesh dwelleth euen in the regenerate man, but the Spirite reigneth, although not without great strife, as is largely set foorth, Rom.7 16 He setteth out that particularly, which he spake generally, reckoning vp some chiefe effects of the flesh, and opposing them to the fruites of the Spirite, that no man may pretend ignorance. k Therefore they are not the fruites of free will, but so farre foorth as our will is made free by grace.

23 Meekenes,

17 Lest that any man should obiect, that Paul playeth the Sophister, as one that vrging the Spirit, vrgeth nothing but that which the Law commandeth, he sheweth that he requireth not that literall and outward obedience, but spirituall, which proceedeth not from the Law, but from the Spirit of Christ, which doeth beget vs againe, and must and ought to be the ruler and guider of our life. 1 If we be in deede indued with the quickening Spirit, which causeth vs to die to sin, and liue to God let vs shew it in our deeds, that is, by holines of life. 18 He endeth peculiar exhortations according as hee knewe the Galatians subiect to diuers vices, and last of all he warneth them to take heede of ambition, which vice hath two fellowes, backebiting and enuie, out of which two it cannot be but many contentions must needes rise.

23 Meekenesse, temperance: [17] against such there is no law.

24 For they that are Christs, haue crucified the flesh with the affections and the lusts.

25 If wee [1] liue in the Spirit, let vs also walke in the Spirit.

26 [18] Let vs not be desirous of vaine glorie, prouoking one another, enuying one another.

CHAP. VI.

1 Now hee entreateth particularly of charitie toward such as offend, 6 toward the ministers of the word, 10 and those that are of the housholde of faith: 11 Not like vnto such who haue a counterfeit Zeale of the Law, 13 glorying in the mangling of the flesh, 14 and not in the crosse of Christ.

1 He condemneth importunate rigour, because that brotherly reprehensions ought to be moderated and tempered by the spirit of meekenesse.

BRethren, [1] if a man be [a] suddenly taken in any offence, ye which are [b] spirituall, [c] restore such one with the [d] spirite of meekenesse, [2] considering thy selfe, least thou also be tempted.

a Through the malice of the flesh and the deuill.

b Which are vpholden by the vertue of Gods Spirit.

2 [3] Beare ye one anothers burden, and so fulfill the [e] Law of Christ.

c Labour to fill vp that that is wanting in him.

3 For if any man seeme to himselfe, that he is somewhat, when he is nothing, he deceiueth himselfe in his imagination.

d This is a kinde of speech which the Hebrewes vse, giuing to vnderstand thereby, that all good gifts come from God.

4 But let euery man proue his owne worke: and then shall hee haue reioycing in himselfe onely and not in another.

5 *[4] For euery man shall beare his owne burden.

2 He toucheth the sore: for they commonly are most seuere iudges, which forget their owne infirmities. 3 He sheweth that this is ye end of reprehensions, to raise vp our brother which is fallen, and not proudly to oppresse him. Therefore euery one must seeke to haue commendation of his owne life by approuing of himselfe, and not by reprehending others. e Christ, in plaine and flat words, calleth the commandement of charitie, his commandement. *1. Cor. 3. 8. 4 A reason, wherefore men ought to haue the greatest eye vpon themselues, because that euery man shalbe iudged before God according to his own life, and not by comparing himselfe with other men. 5 It is meete that maisters should bee found by their schollers, so farre forth as they are able. f Of whatsoeuer he hath, according to his abilitie. *1. Cor. 9. 7. 6 He commendeth liberalitie toward the poore, and first of all chideth them which were not ashamed to pretend this and that, and all because they would not helpe their neighbours, as though they could deceiue God: and afterward compareth Almes to a spirituall sowing which shall haue a most plentifull harueste, so that it shall be very profitable: and compareth couetous nigardlinesse to a carnal sowing, wherevnto nothing can be gathered but such things as fade away, and perish by and by.

5 Let him that is taught in the word, make him that hath taught him, partaker of [f] all his * goods.

6 [6] Be not deceiued: God is not mocked: for whatsoeuer a man soweth, that shall he also reape.

8 For hee that soweth to his [g] flesh, shall of the flesh reape corruption: but he that soweth to the spirit, shall of the spirit reape life euerlasting.

g To the commodities of this present life.

9 * Let vs not therefore bee wearie of well doing: for in due season wee shall reape, if we faint not.

* 2. Thess. 3. 13.

10 [8] While we haue therefore time, let vs do good vnto all men, but specially vnto them, which are of the housholde of faith.

7 Against such as are liberall at the beginning, but continue not, because the harueste seemeth to be deferred very long, as though the seed time and the harueste were at one instant.

8 They that are of the housholde of faith, that is, such as are ioyned with vs in the profession of one selfe same religion ought to bee preferred before all other, yet so notwithstanding that our liberalitie extend to all.

11 [9] Yee se howe large a letter I haue written vnto you with mine owne hand.

12 As many as desire to make a [h] faire shewe in [i] the flesh, they constraine you to bee circumcised, onely because they would not suffer persecution for the [k] crosse of Christ.

9 The fourth and last part of the Epistle, wherein he returneth to his principall end and purpose: to wit, that the Galatians should not suffer themselues to be led out of the way by the false Apostles: & he painteth out those false apostles in their colours, reproouing them of ambition, as men that do not that which they doe, for any affection and zeale they haue to the Law, but onely for this purpose, that they may purchase themselues fauour amongst their owne sort, by the circumcision of the Galatians. h Hee setteth a faire shewe against the trueth i In keeping of ceremonies. k For the preaching of him that was crucified. l That they haue entangled you in Iudaisme, and yet heareth on the forme of circumcision. 10 He sticketh not to compare himselfe with them shewing that on the contrary part he reioyceth in those afflictions which he suffereth for Christes sake, and as he is despised of the world, so doeth he in like sort esteeme the world as naught: which is the true circumcision of a true Israelite. m When Paul vseth this word in good sense or part, it signifieth to rest a mans selfe wholy in a thing, and to content himselfe therewith. n vpon the true Israel, whose praise is of God and not of men, Rom. 2. 29. 11 Continuing still in the same metaphore, he opposeth his miseries and the markes of the stripes which he bare for Christes sake against the lust of the outward Circumcision, as a true marke of his Apostleship. o Markes which are burnt into a mans flesh, as they vsed in old time, to marke their seruants that had runne away from them. p For it importeth much, whose markes we beare: for the cause maketh the Martyr, and not the punishment. 12 Taking his farewell of them, hee witheth them grace, and the Spirit against the deceits of the false Apostles, which laboured to beat those outward things into their braines. q With your mindes and hearts.

13 For they themselues which are circumcised keepe not the lawe, but desire to haue you circumcised, that they might reioyce in [l] your flesh.

14 [10] But God forbid that I should [m] reioyce, but in the crosse of our Lord Iesus Christ, whereby the world is crucified vnto me, and I vnto the world.

15 For in Christ Iesus neither circumcision auayleth any thing, nor vncircumcision, but a new creature.

16 And as many as walke according to this rule, peace shalbe vpon them, and mercy, and vpon the [n] Israel of God.

17 [11] From henceforth let no man put me to busines: for I beare in my body the [o] marks of the [p] Lord Iesus.

18 [12] Brethren, the grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with your [q] spirit, Amen.

¶ The Epistle of Paul to the Ephesians.

CHAP. I.

1 After the salutation, 4 he entreateth of the free election of God, 5 and adoption, 7. 13 from whence mans saluation floweth as from the true naturall fountaine: & because so high a mysterie cannot be vnderstood, 16 he prayeth that the full 20 knowledge of Christ may by God be reuealed vnto the Ephesians.

1 The inscription & salutation, whereof we haue spoken in the former Epistles. * 1. Cor. 1. 2.

PAVL [1] an Apostle of IESVS CHRIST by the will of God, to the * Saintes, which are at Ephesus, & to the [a] faithfull in Christ Iesus.

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

a This is the definition of the Saints, shewing what they are. * 1. Cor. 1. 3. 1. pet. 1. 3.

2 The first part of the Epistle, wherein he handleth all the parts of our saluation, propounding the example of the Ephesians, and bring diuers exhortations, and beginning after his maner with thanksgiuing.

3 [*2] Blessed be God, [3] and the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, [4] which hath blessed vs with [b] all spirituall blessing in [c] heauenly things in [5] Christ,

3 The efficient cause of our saluation is God, not confusedly and generally, but as the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ.

4 [6] As hee hath chosen vs in [d] him, before the foundation of the world, [7] that wee [e] should [f] be holy & without blame [g] before him in loue:

4 The next final cause, & in respect of vs, is our saluation, all things being bestowed vpon vs which are necessarie to our saluation, which kind of

5 [8] Who hath predestinate vs, to be adopted through Iesus Christ [h] in himselfe, according to the good pleasure of his will,

6 [9] To the [i] praise of the glory of his grace, [10] wherewith he hath made vs freely accepted in his beloued.

7 [11] By whom we haue redemptiō through his blood, euen the forgiuenesse of sinnes, according to his rich grace:

8 [12k] Whereby hee hath bene abundant toward vs in [l] all wisedome & vnderstanding.

9 And hath opened vnto vs the [m] mysterie blessing is beautifull and proper to the elect. b With all kind of gracious and bountifull goodnesse which is heauenly in deede & from God only. c Which God our Father gaue vs from his high throne from aboue: or because the Saints haue those gifts bestowed on them, which belong properly to the citizens of heauen. 5 The matter of our saluation is Christ, in whom onely we are indued with spirituall blessing and vnto saluation. 6 He declareth the efficient cause, or by what meanes God the Father saueth vs in his Sonne: Because saieth he, he chose vs from euerlasting in his Sonne. d To be adopted in him. 7 He expoundeth the next finall cause, which he maketh double, to wit, sanctification, and iustification, whereof he will speake hereafter. And hereby also two things are to be noted, to wit, that holinesse of life cannot be separate from the grace of election: and againe, what pureness soeuer is in vs, is the gift of God who hath freely of his mercy chosen vs. e Then God did not chuse vs, because we were, or otherwise should haue bene holy, but to the end wee should bee holy. f Being clothed with Christes righteousnes. g Truly and sincerely. 8 An other plainer expositiō of the efficient cause, and also of eternall election, whereby God is said to haue chosen vs in Christ, to wit, because it pleased him to appoint vs out when we were not yet borne, whom he would make to be his children by Iesus Christ: so that there is no reason here of our election to bee sought, but in the free mercy of God, neither is faith which God foresaw, the cause of predestination, but the effect. h God respecteth nothing, either that present is, or that is to come, but himselfe only. 9 The vttermost and chiefest finall cause is the glory of God the Father, who saueth vs freely in his Sonne. i That as his bountifull goodnes deserueth all praise, so also it should be set foorth and published. 10 Another final cause more neere, is our iustificatiō, while that he freely accounted vs for iust, in his Son. 11 An expounding of the materiall cause, how we are made acceptable to God in Christ, for it is bee onely whose sacrifice by the mercie of God is imputed vnto vs, for forgiuenesse of sinnes. 12 Now bee commeth at length to the formall cause, that is to say to vocation or preaching of the Gospel, whereby God executeth that eternall counsell of our free reconciliation and saluation in Christ. And putting in place of the Gospel all wisedome and vnderstanding, bee sheweth how excellent it is. k By which gracious goodnesse and bountifulnesse. l In perfite and sound wisedome. m For vnlesse the Lord had opened vnto vs that mystery, we could neuer haue so much as dreamed of it our selues, of his will [13] according to his good pleasure, which he had purposed in him, 13 Not only the election, but also the vocation proceedeth of meere grace.

10 [14] That in the dispensation of the fulnesse of the times, hee might [n] gather together in one all things, both which are in heauen, and which are in earth, euen in Christ:

14 The Father exhibited & gaue Christ, who is the head of all the elect vnto the world, at that time which was conuenient according as hee most wisely disposed all times from euerlasting. And Christ is hee, in whom all the elect from the beginning of the world, (otherwise wandering and separated from God) are gathered together: of which some were then in heauen, when hee came into the earth, (to wit, such as by faith in him to come, were gathered together) and other being found vpon the earth, were gathered together of him, and the rest are daily gathered together.

11 [15] In whom also wee are chosen when wee were predestinate according to the purpose of him, which worketh [o] all things after the counsell of his owne will,

12 That we, which [p] first trusted in Christ, should be vnto the praise of his glory:

13 [16] In whom also yee haue trusted, after that yee heard the [q] word of trueth, euen the Gospell of your saluation, wherein also after that yee beleeued, ye were [r] sealed with the holie [s] Spirite of promise, n The faithfull are said to be gathered together in Christ, because they are ioyned together with him through faith, and become as it were one man.

14 Which is the earnest of our inheritance, for the [t] redemption of that libertie purchased vnto the praise of his glorie.

15 [17] Therefore also after that I heard of the faith, which ye haue in the Lord Iesus, and loue toward all the Saintes, 16 I cease not to giue thankes for you, making mention of you in my prayers,

17 [18] That the God of our Lorde Iesus Christ, the Father of [u] glorie, might giue vnto you the spirite of wisedome, and reuelation through the [x] acknowledging of him,

18 That the eyes of your vnderstanding may bee lightened, that yee may knowe what the [y] hope is of his calling, and what the riches of his glorious inheritance is in the Saintes,

19 [19] And what is the exceeding greatnes of his power toward vs which beleeue, * according to the working of his mightie power,

15 He applieth seuerally the benefit or vocation to the beleeuing Iewes, going backe to the very fountaine, that euen they also may not attribute their saluation, neither to themselues, nor to their stocke, nor any other thing, but to the only grace and mercie of God, both because they were called, and also because they were first called. o All things are attributed to the grace of God without exception, and yet for all that, wee are not stocks, for he giueth vs grace both to will, & to be able to do those things that are good, Phil. 2. 13. p He speaketh of the Iewes. 16 Now he maketh the Ephesians (or rather all the Gentiles) equall to the Iewes, because that notwithstanding they came last, being called by the same Gospel, they embraced faith, and were sealed vp with the same spirit, which is the pledge of election, vntill the inheritance it selfe be seene, that in them also the glorie of God might shine forth, and be manifested. q That word which is trueth in deed, because it commeth from God. r This is a borowed kind of speech taken of a seale, which being put to anything, maketh difference betweene those things that are autenticall, and others that are not. s With that Spirit, which bringeth not the Law, but the promise of free adoption. t Full and perfect. 17 He returneth to the former gratulation, concluding two things together of those things that went before: the first is, that all good things come to vs from God the Father in Christ, and by Christ, that for them he may be praised of vs. The second is, that all those things (which he bringeth to two heads, to wit, faith and charitie) are increased in vs by certaine degrees, so that we must desire increase of his grace, from whom we haue the beginning, and of whom we hope for the ende. 18 The causes of faith, are God the Father lightning our mindes with his holie Spirit, that we may embrace Christ opened vnto vs in the Gospel, to the obteining of euerlasting life, and the setting foorth of Gods glory. u Full of maiestie. x For it is not enough for vs to haue knowen God once, but wee must know him euery day more and more. y What blessings they are which he calleth you to hope for whom he calleth to Christ 19 The excellency of faith is declared by the effects, because the mightie power of God is set foorth and shewed therein. * Chap. 3. 7. col. 2. 12.

20 [20] Which

20 The Apostle willeth vs to behold in our most glorious Christ with the eyes of faith that most excellent power and glory of God, whereof all the faithfull are partakers, although it be as yet very darke in vs, by reason of the ignominie of the crosse and the weakenes of the flesh.

20 [20] Which he wrought in Christ, when hee raised him from the dead, and set him at his [z] right hand in heauenly places,

21 Farre aboue all principalitie, and power, and might, [a] domination, and euery [a] name, that is named, not in this world only, but also in that that is to come,

22 [21] And hath made all things subiect vnder his feete, & hath giuen him ouer all things to be the [b] head of the Church, 23 Which is his body, euen the [c] fulnesse of him that filleth all in all things.

z To be set on Gods right hand, is to be partaker of the soueraintie wh ch he hath ouer all creatures. a Euery thing whatsoeuer it be, or aboue all things be they of neuer such power or excellencie. 21 That we should not thinke that that excellent glory of Christ is a thing wherewith we haue nought to do, he witnesseth, that hee was appointed of God the Father head of all the Church, and therefore the body must be ioyned to this head which otherwise would bee a maimed thing without the members: which notwithstanding is not of necessitie (seeing that the Church is rather quickened and sustained by the holy vertue of Christ, so farre offis it, that her needeth the fulnesse thereof) but of the infinite good will and pleasure of God, who vouchsafeth to ioyne vs to his Sonne. b In so much that there is nothing but is subiect to him. c For the loue of Christ is so great towards the Church, that though he do fully satisfie all with all things, yet he esteemeth himselfe but a maimed & vnperfect head, vnlesse he haue the Church ioyned to him as his body.

CHAP. II.

1 The better to set out the grace of Christ, he vsed a comparison, calling them to minde, 5 that they were altogether castawaies and alsants, 8 That they are saued by grace, 13 and brought neere, 16 by reconciliation through Christ, 17 published by the Gospel.

1 He declareth againe the greatnesse of Gods good will by comparing that miserable state wherein wee are borne, with that dignitie whereunto we are aduanced by God the Father in Christ. So that he describeth that condition in such sort, that he saith, that touching spirituall motions we are not onely borne halfe dead, but wholy and altogether dead.

AND [1] * you hath he quickned, that were [a] dead in [2] trespasses and sinnes,

2 [3] Wherein, in times past yee walked, [4] according to the course of this worlde, and [b] after the prince that ruleth in the ayre, euen the spirit, that now [5] worketh in the [c] children of disobedience,

3 [6] Among whom wee also had our conuersation in time past in the lusts of our [d] flesh, in fulfilling the will of the flesh, and of the minde, and [7] were by nature the [e] children of wrath, as well as [f] others.

4 [8] But God which is rich in mercie, through his great loue wherewith he loued vs,

5 Euen when wee were dead by sinnes, hath quickned vs together in Christ, by whose grace ye are saued,

6 And hath rayled vs vp [g] together, and made vs sit together in the heauenly places in Christ Iesus,

7 That hee might shewe in the ages to come [p] exceeding riches of his grace through his kindnesse toward vs in Christ Iesus,

8 For by [h] grace ye are saued through faith, & that not of your selues: it is the gift of God,

9 [9] Not of workes, least any man should boast himselfe.

10 For we are [i] his workmanship created in Christ Iesus vnto good workes, which God hath ordained that we should walke in them.

11 [10] Wherefore remember that ye being in time past Gentiles in the flesh, and [k] called vncircumcision of them, which are [l] called circumcision in the flesh, made with hands, 12 That ye were, I say, at that time [m] without Christ, and were [n] aliants from the common wealth of Israel, and were * strangers from the couenants of promise, and had no hope, and were without God in the world.

13 [11] But nowe in Christ Iesus, ye which once were far off, are made neere by the blood of Christ.

14 [12] For he is our peace, which hath made of both one, and hath broken the stoppe of the partition wall,

15 * In abrogating through his flesh the hatred, that is, the Lawe of Commandements which standeth in ordinances, for to make of twaine one newe man in himselfe, so making peace,

16 And that he might reconcile both vnto God in [o] one bodie by his crosse, & [p] slay hatred thereby,

17 [13] And came, and preached peace to you which were a farre off, and to them that were neere.

18 For [q] through him we both haue an entrance vnto the Father by one Spirite.

19 [14] Now therefore ye are no more strangers and forreiners: but citizens with the Saints, and of the houshold of God,

20 [15] And are built vpon the foundation

a Looke Rom. 6.2.

So then he calleth them dead, which are not regenerate: for as the immortality of them which are damned, is no life, so this knitting together of body & soule, is properly no life, but death in them which are not ruled by the Spirit of God. 2 He sheweth the cause of death, to wit, sinnes. 3 He proueth by the effects that all were spiritually dead. 4 He proueth this euill to be vniuersal, in so much as all are slaues of Satan. b At the pleasure of the prince. 5 Men are therefore slaues to Satan, because they are willingly rebellious against God. c They are called the children of disobedience, which are giuen to disobedience. 6 After that he hath generally condemned the Gentiles, he confesseth that the Iewes amongst whom hee numbreth himselfe, are not a whit better d By the name of flesh in the first place, hee meaneth the whole man, which he deuideth into two parts: into the flesh, which is the part that the Philosophers terme without reason, & into the thought, which they call reasonable: so that he leaueth nothing in man halfe dead, but concludeth that the whole man is of nature the sonne of wrath. 7 The conclusion: All men are borne subiect to the wrath and curse of God. e Men are sayd to be the children of wrath passiuely, that is to say, guiltie of euerlasting death by the iudgement of God, who is angry with them. f Prophane people which knew not God. 8 Now hereof followeth another member of the comparison, declaring our excellency, to wit, that by the vertue of Christ we are deliuered from that death, and made partakers of eternall life, to the end that at length wee may raigne with him. And by diuers and sundry meanes he beateth this into their heads, that the efficient cause of this benefit is the free mercy of God: and Christ himselfe is the materiall cause: and faith is the instrument, which also is the free gift of God: and the end is Gods glory.

g To wit, as he addeth afterwards, in Christ, for as yet this is not fulfilled in vs but onely in our head, by whose spirit we haue begun to die to sin, and liue to God, vntil that worke be fully brought to an ende: but yet the hope is certaine, for we are as sure of that wee looke for, as we are of that we haue receiued alreadie.

h So then, Grace, that is to say, the gift of God, and faith, doe stand one with another, to which two these are contrarie, To be saued by our selues, or by our workes. Therefore what meane they which would ioyne together things of so contrarie nature?

9 He taketh away expressly and namely from our workes the praise of iustification, seeing that the good workes themselues are the effectes of grace in vs.

i Hee speaketh here of grace, & not of nature: therefore be the works neuer so good, lookewhat they are, they are it of grace.

10 Applying the former doctrine to the Gentiles, he sheweth that they were not onely as the Iewes, by nature, but also after an especiall sorte, strangers & without God: therefore they ought so much the rather remember that same so great & benefite of God. k You were called no otherwise then Gentiles, that all the world might witnesse of your vncleanesse. l Of the Iewes which were knowen from you by the marke of circumcision, the marke of the couenant. m He beginneth first with Christ, who was the end of all the promises. n You had no right or title, to the common wealth of Israel. * Rom. 9. 4. 11 Christ is the onely bonde of the Iewes and Gentiles, whereby they bee reconciled to God. 12 As by the ceremonies and worship appointed by the Lawe, the Iewes were diuided from the Gentiles, so now Christ hauing broken down the partition wall, ioyneth them both together, both in himselfe, and betwixt themselues, and to God. Whereby it followeth, that whosoeuer stablished the ceremonies of the Law, maketh the grace of Christ voide and of none effect. * Col. 2. 14. o He alludeth to the sacrifices of the Law, which represented that true & only Sacrifice. p For hee destroyed death by death, and fastened as it were to the crosse. 13 The preaching of the Gospel, is an effectuall instrument of this grace, common as well to the Iewes as to the Gentiles. q Christ is the gate as it were, by whom we come to the Father, & the holy Ghost is as it were our lodes man who leadeth vs. 14 The Conclusion: The Gentiles are taken into the fellowship of saluation, and he describeth the excellencie of the Church, calling it the citie and house of God. 15 The Lord committed the doctrine of saluation, first to the Prophets, & then to the Apostles, the ende whereof, and matter as it were and substance, is Christ. Therefore that is in deede the true and Catholique Church, which is builded vpon Christ by the Prophets and Apostles, as a spirituall temple consecrated to God, of the Apostles and Prophets, Iesus Christ himselfe being the [r] chiefe corner stone.

21 In whom all the building [f] coupled together, groweth vnto an holy Temple in the Lord.

22 In whom yee also are built together to be the habitation of God by the Spirit.

r That is, the head of the building, for the foundations are as it were the heads of the building.
f So that God is the workeman not onely of the foundation, but also of the whole building.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee declareth that therefore hee suffered many things of the Iewes, 3 because he preached the mysterie touching the salvation of the Gentiles, 8 at Gods commandement. 13 After he desired the Ephesians not to faint for his afflictions: 14 And for this cause hee prayeth vnto God, 18 That they may vnderstand the great loue of Christ.

FOr [1] this cause, I Paul am the [a] prisoner of Iesus Christ for you Gentiles,

2 If yee haue heard of the dispensation of the grace of God, which is giuen mee to you warde,

3 That is, that God by reuelation hath shewed this mysterie vnto me (as I wrote aboue in fewe words.

4 Whereby when yee reade, yee may know mine vnderstanding in the mystery of Christ.

5 Which in [b] other ages was not opened vnto the sonnes of men, as it is now reuelled vnto his holy Apostles and Prophets by the Spirit,

6 That the Gentiles should be inheriters also, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the Gospel,

7 Whereof I am made a minister by the gift of the grace of God giuen vnto mee through the effectuall working of his power.

8 Euen vnto mee the least of all Saints is this grace giuen, that I should preach among the Gentiles the vnsearchable riches of Christ,

9 And to make cleare vnto all men what the fellowship of the mystery is, which from the beginning of the world hath beene hidde in God, who hath created all things by Iesus Christ,

10 [2] To the intent, that now vnto principalities & powers in heauenly places, might bee knowen by the Church the [c] manifolde wisedome of God,

11 According to the [d] eternall purpose, which hee wrought in Christ Iesus our Lord:

12 By whom wee haue boldnesse and entrance with confidence by faith in him.

13 Wherefore I desire that yee faint not at my tribulations for your sakes, which is your glory.

1 Hee maintaineth his Apostleship against the offence of the crosse, whereon also he taketh an argument to confirme himselfe, affirming that hee was not onely appointed an Apostle by the mercie of God, but was also particularly appointed to the Gentiles, to call them on euery syde to saluation because God had so determined it from the beginning, although hee deferred a great while the manifestation of that his counsell.
a These words, the prisoner of Iesus Christ, are taken passiuely, that is to say, I Paul am cast into prison for maintaining the glory of Christ.
b He meaneth not that none knewe the calling of the Gentiles before, but because very fewe knew of it, and they that did know it, as the Prophets had it reuelled vnto them very darkly and vnder figures.
2 The vnlooked for calling of the Gentiles, was as it were a glasse to the heauenly Angels wherein they might beholde the marueilous wisdome of God.
c God neuer had but one way onely, to saue men by: but it had diuers fashions and formes.
d Which was before all beginnings.

14 [1] For this cause I bowe my knees vnto the Father of our Lord Iesus Christ, 15 (Of whome is named the whole [e] familie in heauen and in earth)

16 That hee might grant you according to the [f] riches of his glorie, that yee may bee strengthened by his spirit in the [g] inner man,

17 That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith:

18 That yee, being rooted and grounded in [h] loue, may be able to comprehend with all Saints, [i] what is the breadth, and length, and depth, and height:

19 And to know the [k] loue of Christ, which [l] passeth knowledge, that yee may bee filled with all [m] fulnesse of God.

20 [4] Vnto him therefore that is able to doe exceeding aboundantly aboue all that we aske or think, according to the power that worketh in vs, 21 Be praise in the Church by Christ Iesus, throughout all generations for euer, Amen.

3 He teacheth by his owne example, that the efficacie of the doctrine dependeth vpon the grace of God, and therefore we ought to ioyne prayers with the preaching and hearing of the worde: which are needfull not onely to them which are beginnings in religion, but euen to the oldest also, that they growing vp more and more by faith in Christ being confirmed with all spirituall giftes, may bee grounded and rooted in the knowledge of that immeasurable loue, wherewith God the Father hath loued vs in Christ, seeing that the whole familie, whereof part is already receiued into heauen, and part is yet here on earth, dependeth vpon that adoption of the heauenly Father, in his only Sonne.
e All that whole people, which had but one household Father, and that is the Church which is adopted in Christ.
f According to the greatnesse of his mercie.
g Looke Rom. 7. 22.
h Wherewith God loueth vs, which is the roote of our election.
i How perfite that worke of Christ is in euery part.
k Which God hath shewed vs in Christ.
l Which passeth all the capacitie of mans wit, to comprehend it fully in his minde: for otherwise who so hath the Spirit of God perceiueth so much (according to the measure that God hath giuen him) as is sufficient to saluation.
m So that we haue aboundantly in vs, whatsoeuer things are requisite to make vs perfite with God.
4 He breaketh foorth into a thankesgiuing, whereby the Ephesians also may be confirmed to hope of any thing of God.

CHAP. IIII.

These three last chapters conteine precepts of maners. 1 He exhorteth them to mutuall loue. 7 Sundry giftes are therefore bestowed of God, 16 That the Church may bee built vp. 18 He calleth them from the vanitie of the infidels, 25 from lying, 29 and from filthie talking.

ITherefore, [1] being a prisoner in the Lord, I pray you that ye walke worthy of the [a] vocation whereunto ye are called,

2 [2] With all humblenesse of minde, and meekenesse, with [b] long suffering, supporting one another through loue,

3 [3] Endeuouring to keepe the vnitie of the Spirit in the bond of peace.

4 [4] There is one bodie, and one Spirite, euen as yee are called in one hope of your vocation.

5 There is one Lord, one Faith, one Baptisme.

6 One God and Father of all, which is [c] aboue all, and [d] through all, and [e] in you all.

1 Another part of the Epistle, conteining precepts of Christian life, the summe whereof is this, that euery man behaue himselfe as it is meete for so excellent grace of God.
a By this is meant the generall calling of the faithfull, which is this, to be holy as our God is holy.
2 Secondly, he commendeth meekenesse of the minde, which is shewed forth by bearing one with another.
b Looke Matth. 18. 25.
3 Thirdly he requireth perfite agreement, but yet such as is knit with the hand of the holy Ghost.
4 An argument of great waight, for an earnest intertaining of brotherly loue and charitie one with another, because wee are made one bodie as it were of one God and Father, by one Spirite, worshipping one Lord with one faith, and consecrated to him with one Baptisme, and hope of one selfe same glory, whereunto wee are called. Therefore wholesome breaketh charitie, breaketh all these things asunder.
c Who onely hath the chiefe authoritie ouer the Church
d Who onely powreth foorth his prouidence, through all the members of the Church.
e Who onely is ioyned together with vs in Christ.

7 [5] But

5 He teacheth vs that wee inwerde are all one bodie, and that all good giftes proceede from Christ only, who reigneth in heauen hauing mightily conquered all his enemies (frō whence hee heapeth all giftes vpon his Church) but yet notwithstanding these giftes are diuerslie and sundrye wayes diuided according to his wil and pleasure, and therfore euery man ought to be content with that measure that God hath giuen him, and to bestow it to the common profit of the whole body.

f Which Christ hath giuen.

g A multitude of captiues.

h Downe to the earth, which is the lowest part of the world.

i Fill with his gifts.

k The Church.

6 First of all hee reckoneth vp the Ecclesiasticall functions, which are partly extraordinary and for a season, as Apostles, Prophets, Euangelists, and partly ordinarie and perpetuall, as Pastors and Doctors.

l The Apostles were those twelue vnto whom Paul was afterward added, whose office was to plant Churches throughout all the world. m The Prophets office was one of the chiefest, which were men of marueilous wisdome, and some of them could foretell things to come. n These the Apostles vsed as fellowes in the execution of their office, being not able to answere all places themselues. o Pastours are they which gouerne the Church, and Teachers are they which gouerne the schooles. 7 Hee sheweth the ende of Ecclesiasticall functions, to wit, that by the ministerie of men all the Saints may so grow vp together, that they may make one mysticall body of Christ. p The Church. 8 The vse of this ministerie is perpetuall so long as wee are in this world, that is, vntill that time that hauing put off the flesh, and throughly and perfitly agreeing betwixt our selues, wee shall bee ioyned with Christ our head. Which thing is done by that knowledge of the Sonne of God increasing in vs, and hee himselfe by little and little growing vp in vs vntill wee come to bee a perfite man, which shall bee in the world to come, when God shall bee all in all. q In that most neere coniunction which is knit and listened together by faith. r Christ is sayd to growe vp to full age, not in himselfe, but in vs. 9 Betwixt our childehood (that is to say, a very weake state, whiles as wee doe yet altogether wauer) and our perfite age, which we shall haue at length in another world, there is a meane, to wit, our youth, and therein going forward to perfection. 10 Hee compareth them which rest not themselues vpon the word of God, to little boates which are tossed hither and thither with the doctrines of men, as it were with contrarie windes, and therewithall forewarneth them that it commeth to passe not onely by the lightnesse of mans braine, but also by the craftinesse of certaine, which make as it were an art of it. s With those vncertaine chances which tosse men to and fro. t By the deceite of those men which are very well practised, in deceiuing of other. 11 By earnest affection of the trueth and loue, wee grow vp into Christ: for hee (being effectuall by the ministerie of his word, which as the vitall spirit doeth so quicken the whole bodie, that it nourisheth all the limmes thereof according to the measure and proportion of each one) quickeneth and cherisheth his Church, which consisteth of diuers functions, and of diuers members, and preserueth the proportion of euery one. And thereof it followeth that neither this body can liue without Christ, neither can any man grow vp spiritually, which separateth himselfe from the other members. u Of Christ who in maner of the soule, quickeneth all the members. x Such increase as is meet the body should haue. y Charitie is the knitting of the lims together.

7 [s] But vnto euery one of vs is giuen grace, according to the measure of the [f] gift of Christ.

8 Wherefore he saith, When he ascended vp on hie, he led [g] captiuitie captiue, and gaue gifts vnto men.

9 (Now, in that he ascended, what is it but that he had also descended first into the [h] lowest parts of the earth?

10 Hee that descended, is euen the same that ascended, farre aboue all heauens, that he might [i] fill [k] all things.)

11 [6] Hee therefore gaue some to be [l] Apostles, and some [m] Prophets, and some [n] Euangelists, and some [o] Pastours, and Teachers,

12 [7] For the repairing of the Saints, for the worke of the ministerie, and for the edification of the [p] body of Christ, 13 [8] Till we all meete together (in the [q] vnitie of faith and that acknowledging of the Sonne of God) vnto a perfite man, and vnto the measure of the [r] age of the fulnes of Christ.

14 [9] That we henceforth be no more children, [10] wauering and caried about with euery winde of doctrine, by the [s] deceite of men, and [t] with craftinesse, whereby they lay in waite to deceiue.

15 [11] But let vs follow the trueth in loue, and in all things, grow vp into him, which is the head, that is, Christ.

16 By whom all the body being coupled and knit together by euery ioynt, for the furniture thereof (according to the [u] effectual power, which is in the measure of euery part) receiueth [x] increase of the body, vnto the edifying of it selfe in [y] loue.

17 [12] This I say therefore and testifie in the Lord, that ye henceforth walke not as * other Gentiles walke, in [z] vanity of their mind,

18 Hauing their vnderstanding darkened, and being strangers from the [a] life of God through the ignorance that is in them, because of the hardnesse of their heart:

19 Which being [b] past feeling, hauing giuen themselues vnto wantonnesse, to worke all vncleannesse, euen with [c] greedinesse.

20 [13] But ye haue not so learned Christ,

21 If so bee yee haue heard him, and haue beene taught by him, [d] as the truth is in Iesus,

22 * That is, that they cast off, concerning the conseruation in time past, [e] that olde man, which is corrupt through the deceiueable lustes,

23 And be renewed in the [f] spirit of your minde,

24 And put on the new man, which [g] after God is created [h] vnto righteousnesse, and [i] true holinesse.

25 [14] Wherefore cast off lying, and speake euery man truth vnto his neighbour: for wee are members one of another.

26 [15] Bee [k] angrie, but sinne not: let not the sunne goe downe [l] vpon your wrath.

27 Neither giue place to the deuill.

28 [16] Let him that stole, steale no more: but let him rather labour, and worke with his hands the thing which is [m] good, that he may haue to giue vnto him that needeth.

29 [17] Let no [n] corrupt communication proceede out of your mouthes: but that which is good, to the vse of edifying, that it may minister [o] grace vnto the hearers,

30 [18] And grieue not the holy Spirit of God, by whom yee are sealed vnto the day of redemption.

17 [12] That belongeth to the fruites of Christian doctrine, and teacheth first what the principles of manners & actions, setting before a most grane reformation betweene the children of God, and them, which are not regenerate: For in these men, all the powers of the mind are corrupted, and their minde is giuen to vanitie, and their senses are darkened with most grosse blindnesse, and their affections are so accustomed by little and little to wickednesse, that at length they runne headlong into all vncleannesse, being vtterly destitute of all iudgement.

* Rom. 1. 21.

z If the noblest parts of the soule be corrupt, what is man but corruption onely?

a Whereby God liueth in them.

b Voide of all iudgement.

c They striue to passe one another, as though there had beene some gaine to be gotten by it.

13 Here followeth the contrarie part touching men which are regenerate by the true and liuely knowledge of Christ, which haue other principles of their liuing farre differrent, to wit, holy and honest pastures, and a mind cleane changed by the vertue of the holy Ghost, from whence procede also like effects, as a iust and holy life in deede. d As they haue learned, which acknowledge Christ in deed, and in good earnest. * Coloss. 3. 8. e Your selues. f Where there ought to haue beene the greatest force of reason, there is the greatest corruption of all which wasteth all things. g After the image of God. h The effect and ende of the new creation. i Not fained nor counterfeit. 14 He commendeth generally certaine peculiar Christian vertues, and first of all he requireth truth, (that is to say, sincere maners) condemning all deceite and dissembling, because we are bound one for another. 15 Hee teacheth vs how to bridle our anger in such sort, that, although it bee hote, yet that it breake not out, and that it bee straightwayes quenched before wee sleepe: least Satan taking occasion to giue vs euill counsell through the wicked counseller destroy vs. k If it so fall out, that you be angry, yet sinne not: that is, bridle your anger & do not wickedly put thanin execution, which you haue wickedly conceiued. l Let not the night come vpon you in your anger, that is, make an attonement quickly, for all manner. 16 He descendeth from the heart, to the hands, condemning theft: and because the men which giue themselues to this wickednesse, vse to pretend pouertie, he sheweth that labour is a good remedie against pouertie, which God blesseth in such sort, that they which labour haue alwayes some ouerplus to helpe other, in stead of it from this, that they are constrained to steale other mens goods. m By labouring in things that are holy, and profitable to his neighbour. 17 He beleeth the tongue also, teaching vs so to temper our talke, that our hearers may not only not be destroyed, but also instructed. n Word for word, rotten. o By force, he meaneth that, whereby men most profite to the godly, or forward in godlinesse and loue. 18 A generall precept against all euill affections which dwell in that part of the mind, which they call, Angrie, and he setteth against them the contrary meanes. And vseth a most vehement preface, to shew we ought to take heede that wee grieue not the holy Spirit of God through any intemperatenesse and intemperancie, who dwelleth in vs to the ende, to mortifie all our affections.

19 An argument taken from the example of Christ most graue and behement, both for pardoning of those iniuries which haue bene done vnto vs by our greatest enemies, and much more for hauing consideration of the miserable, and vsing moderation and gentle behauiour towards all men.

31 Let all bitternesse, and anger, & wrath, crying, and euill speaking bee put away from you, with all malicious nesse.

32 Be yee courteous one to another, and tender hearted, freely forgiuing one another, 19 euen as God for Christes sake, freely forgaue you.

CHAP. V.

2 Lest in those vices which he reprehended, they should set light by his admonitions, 5 He terrifieth them by denouncing seuere iudgements, 8 and stirreth them forward. 15 Then he descendeth from generall lessons of maners, 21 to the particular dueties of wiues 25 and husbands.

BE ye therefore followers of God, as deare children.

2 *And walke in loue, euen as Christ hath loued vs, and hath giuen himselfe for vs, to bee an offering and a sacrifice for a sweet smelling sauour to God.

3 *[1] But fornication, and all vncleannes, or couetousnesse, let it not bee once named among you, as it becommeth Saints,

4 Neither filthinesse, neither foolish talking, neither [a] iesting, which are things not comely, but rather giuing of thankes.

5 [2] For this ye know, that no whoremonger, neither vncleane person, nor couetous person, which is an [b] idolater, hath any inheritance in the kingdome of Christ, and of God.

6 *Let no man deceiue you with vaine words: for, for such things commeth the wrath of God vpon the children of disobedience.

7 [3] Bee not therefore companions with them.

8 For yee were once darkenesse, but are now [c] light in the Lord: walke as children of light.

9 (For the fruite of the [d] Spirit is in all goodnesse, and righteousnesse and truth)

10 Approuing that which is pleasing to the Lord.

11 And haue no fellowship with the vnfruitfull workes of darknesse, but euen [e] reproue them rather.

12 For it is shame euen to speake of the things which are done of them in secret.

13 But all things when they are reproued of the light, are manifest: for it is light that maketh all things manifest.

14 Wherefore [f] he saith, Awake thou that sleepest, and stand vp from the [g] dead, & Christ shall giue thee light.

15 [4] Take heede therefore that yee walke circumspectly, not as fooles, but as *wise, 16 [h] Redeeming the season: for the [i] daies are euill.

17 *Wherefore, be ye not vnwise, but vnderstand what the will of the Lord is.

18 [5] And be not drunke with wine, wherein is [k] excesse: but bee fulfilled with the Spirit,

19 Speaking vnto your selues in psalmes and hymnes, and spirituall songs, singing, and making melodie to the Lord in your [l] hearts,

20 Giuing thankes alwaies for all things vnto God euen the father, in the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, 21 [6] Submitting your selues one to another in the feare of God.

22 ¶ *[7] Wiues, submit your selues vnto your husbands, [8] as vnto the Lord.

23 *[9] For the husband is the wiues head, euen as Christ is the head of ẏ Church, [10] and the same is the sauiour of his bodie.

24 [11] Therefore as the Church is in subiection to Christ, euen so let the wiues bee to their husbands in euery thing.

25 ¶ *[12] Husbands, loue your wiues, euen as Christ loued the Church, and gaue himselfe for it.

26 [13] That hee might [m] sanctifie it, and cleanse it by the washing of water through the [n] word, 27 That hee might make it vnto himselfe a glorious Church, [o] not hauing spot or wrinkle, or any such thing: but that it should be holy and without blame.

28 [14] So ought men to loue their wiues, as their owne bodies: he that loueth his wife, loueth himselfe.

29 For no man euer yet hated his [p] owne flesh, but nourisheth and cherisheth it, euen as the Lord doth the Church.

30 For wee are members of his bodie,

19 An argument taken from the example of Christ most graue and behement, both for pardoning of those iniuries which haue bene done vnto vs by our greatest enemies, and much more for hauing consideration of the miserable, and vsing moderation and gentle behauiour towards all men.

*Iohn 13.34. and 15.12. 1.Iohn 3.23.

a Now he commeth to another kind of affections which is in that part of the mind, which men call couetous or desirous: and he reprehendeth fornicatiõ, couetousnesse, and iesting very sharply.
a Iestes which men cast one at another: that no lightnesse bee seene, nor euill example giuen, nor any offence moued by euill words or backbiting.
2 Because these times are such that the most part of men count them not for sinnes, he awaketh the godly to the end they should so much the more take heede to themselues from them as most hurtful plagues.
b A bondslaue to Idolatrie, for the couetous man thinketh that his life standeth in his goods
*Matth.24.4. mark.13.5. Luke 21.8.
*2.Thes.2.3.
3 Because we are not so ready to any thing, as to follow euill examples, therefore the Apostle warneth the godly to remember alwayes, that the other are but as it were darkenesse, and that they themselues are as it were light. And therefore the other commit all villanies (as men are wont in the darke) but they ought not onely not to follow their examples, but also (as the propertie of the light is) reproue their darkenesse, and to walke so (hauing Christ that true light going before them) as it becommeth wise men.
c The faithfull are [illegible] because they haue the true light in them which lighteneth them: likewise they giue light to other, insomuch that their honest conuersation doth reprooue the life of wicked men.

7 Now he descendeth to a family, diuiding orderly all the parts of a family. And hee saith that the duetie of wiues consisteth herein, to bee obedient to their husbands.
8 The first argument, for they cannot be disobedient to their husbands, but they must resist God also, who is the authour of this subiection.
*1.Corinth.11.3.
9 A declaration of the former saying: Because God hath made the man head of the woman in matrimony, as Christ is the head of the Church.
10 An other argument: Because the good estate of the wife dependeth of the man, so that this submission is not onely iust, but also very profitable: as also the saluation of the Church is of Christ, although for otherwise.
11 The conclusion of the wiues dueties toward their husbands.
*Col.3.19.
12 The husbands duetie toward their wiues, is to loue them as themselues, of which loue, the loue of Christ toward his Church is a liuely patterne.
13 Because many men pretend the infirmities of their wiues to excuse their owne hardnesse and cruelties, the Apostle willeth vs to marke what manner of Church Christ gate, when hee ioyned it to himselfe, and how hee doeth not only not loathe all her filth, and vncleannesse, but cease not to wipe the same away with his cleannesse, vntil he wholy purged it.
m Make it holy.
n Through the promise of free iustification and sanctification in Christ, received by faith.
o The Church as it is considered in it selfe, shall not bee without wrinkle, before it come to the marke it shooteth at: for while it is in this life, it runneth in a race: but if it bee considered in Christ, it is cleane and without wrinkle.
14 Another argument: Euery man loueth himselfe, euen of nature: therefore he striueth against nature that loueth not his wife: hee proueth the consequent, first by the mysticall knitting of Christ and the Church together, and then by the ordinance of God, who saith, that man and wife are as one, that is not to be denied.

15 That no man might dreame of naturall coniunction or knitting of Christ and his Church together (such as the husbands and the wiues is) hee sheweth that it is secret, to wit, spirituall and such as farre differeth from the common capacitie of man: as which consisteth by the vertue of the Spirit, and not of the flesh, by faith, and by no naturall band. 16 The conclusion both of the husbands duetie toward his wife, and of the wiues toward her husband.

CHAP. VI.

1 He sheweth the duties of children, 5 seruants, 9 and masters: 10 Then he speaketh of the fierce battell that the faithfull haue, 12 and what weapons we must vse in the same: 21 In the end he commendeth Tychicus.

1 He commeth to another part of a familie, and sheweth that the duetie of the children toward their parents, consisteth in obedience vnto them.
* Colos. 3.20.
2 The first argument: because God hath so appointed: whereupon it followeth also that children are so farre forth bound to obey their parents, as they may not swarue from the true worship of God.
a For the Lord is author of all fatherhood, and therefore wee must yeeld such obedience as hee [illegible] vs.
[illegible] the rate of this obedience is measured.
* Exod. 20.12. deut. 5.16. eccles. 3.9. matth. 15.4. mark. 7.10.

2 * [4] Honour thy father and mother [5] (which is the first commaundement with [b] promise.)

3 That it may bee well with thee, and that thou maiest liue long on earth.

4 [6] And ye, fathers, prouoke not your children to wrath: but bring them vp in instruction and [c] information of the Lord.

5 [7] * Seruants, be obedient vnto them that are your masters, [8] according to the flesh, with [d] feare and trembling in singlenesse of your hearts as vnto Christ,

6 Not with seruice to the eye as men pleasers, but as the seruants of Christ, [9] doing the will of God from the heart,

7 With good will, seruing the [e] Lord, and not men.

8 [10] And know yee that whatsoeuer good thing any man doth, that same shall he receiue of the Lord, whether he be bond or free.

9 [11] And yee masters doe the same things vnto them, putting away threatning: and know that euen your master also is in heauen, neither is there [g] respect of person with him.

10 ¶ [12] Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might.

11 Put on the whole armour of God, that yee may be able to stand against the assaults of the deuill.

12 [13] For we wrestle not against flesh and blood, but against * [h] principalities, against powers, and against the worldly gouernours, the princes of the darkenesse of this world, against spirituall wickednesses, which are in the hie places.

13 [14] For this cause take vnto you the whole armour of God, that yee may be able to resist in the [i] euill day, and hauing finished all things, stand fast.

14 Stand therefore, and your loynes girded about with veritie, and hauing on the brest plate of righteousnesse, 15 And your feete shod with the [k] preparation of the Gospel of peace.

16 Aboue all, take the shield of Faith, wherewith yee may quench all the fierie darts of the wicked,

17 And take the helmet of saluation, and the sword of the Spirit, which is the word of God,

18 And pray alwayes with all maner prayer and supplication in the [l] Spirit: and watch thereunto with all perseuerance & supplication for all Saints,

19 And for me, that vtterance may be giuen vnto me, that I may open my mouth boldly to publish the secret of the Gospel, 20 Whereof I am the ambassadour in bonds, that therein I may speake boldly, as I ought to speake.

21 ¶ [15] But that ye may also know mine affaires, and what I doe, Tychicus my deare brother and faithful minister in the Lord, shall shew you of all things, 22 Whom I haue sent vnto you for the same purpose, that yee might knowe mine affaires, and that hee might comfort your hearts.

23 Peace bee with the brethren, and loue with faith from God the Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

24 Grace be with all them which loue our Lord Jesus Christ, to their [m] immortalitie, Amen.

¶ Written from Rome vnto the Ephesians, and sent by Tychicus.

3 The first argument taken of the profit that ensueth there vpon: Because the Lord vouchsafeth this commaundement amongst all the rest of a speciall blessing. b With a speciall promise: for otherwise the second commaundement hath a promise of mercie to a thousand generations, but that promise is generall. 6 It is the duetie of fathers to vse their fatherly authoritie moderately and to Gods glorie. c Such informations and precepts as being taken out of Gods booke, are holy and acceptable to him. 7 Now he descendeth to the third part of a family, to wit, to the dutie both of the masters, and of the seruants. And he sheweth that the duetie of seruants consisteth in an heartie loue and reuerence to their masters. * Colos. 3.22. titus 2.9. 1.pet. 2.18. 8 Hee mitigateth the sharpnesse of seruice, in that they are spiritually free notwithstanding the same, and yet that spirituall freedome taketh not away corporall seruice: insomuch that they cannot bee Christs, vnlesse they serue their masters willingly and faithfully, so farre forth as they may with safe conscience. d With carefull reuerence: for slauish feare is not allowable, much lesse in Christian seruants. 9 To cut off occasion of all pretenses, he teacheth vs that it is Gods will that some are either borne or made seruants, and therefore they must respect Gods will although their seruice be neuer so hard. e Being moued with a reuerence to Godward, as though yee serued God himselfe. 10 Although they serue vnkind and cruell masters, yet the obedience of seruants is no lesse acceptable to God, then the obedience of them that are free. 11 It is the duetie of masters to vse the authoritie that they haue ouer their seruants, modestly and holily, seeing that they in an other respect haue a common master which is in heauen, who will iudge both the bond and the free.

f Either of freedom or bondage.
12 He concludeth the other part of this Epistle, with a graue exhortation, that all bee ready & fight constantly, trusting to spirituall weapons, vntill their enemies be cleane put to flight. And first of al he warneth vs to take the armour of God, wherewith onely our enemie may be vanquished.
13 Secondly he declareth that our chiefest and mightiest enemies are inuisible, that we may not thinke that our chiefest conflict is with men.
g Against men, which are of a fraile and brittle nature, against which are set spirituall subtilties, more mightie then the other by a thousand parts.
* Chap. 2.2.
h Hee giueth these names to the euill angels, by reason of the effects which they worke: not that they are able to doe the same of themselues, but because God giueth them the bridle.
14 He sheweth that these enemies are put to flight with the onely armour of God, to wit, with righteousnesse of conscience, a godly and holy life, knowledge of the Gospel, faith, and to be short, with the word of God and dayly earnest prayer for the health of the Church, and especially for the constancie of the true, godly and valiant ministers of the word.

k That the preparation of the Gospell may be as it were shooes to your feet, and it is very fitly called the Gospel of peace, for that seeing we haue to goe to God through most dangerous rankes of enemies, it may encourage vs to goe on manfully, in that yee know by the doctrine of the Gospel, that we take our iourney to God, who is at peace with vs. l The holy prayers may proceede from the holy spirit. 15 A familiar and very notable declaration of his state, together with a solemne prayer, wherewith Paul is wont to end his Epistles. m To life euerlasting.

The Epistle of Paul to the Philippians.

CHAP. I.

3 Having testified his godly and tender affection towards the Philippians, 12 he intreateth of himselfe, and his bonds: 22 And pricketh them forward by his owne example, 27 and exhorteth them to vnitie 28 and patience.

PAul [1] and Timotheus the seruaunts of IESVS CHRIST, to all the Saints in Christ Iesus which are at Philippi, with the [a] Bishops, and Deacons.

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 I thanke my God, hauing you in perfect memorie.

4 (Alwayes in all my prayers for all you, praying with gladnesse.)

5 Because of the [b] fellowship which yee haue in the Gospel, from the first day vnto now.

6 And I am perswaded of this same thing, that hee that hath begun this good worke in you, will perfourme it vntill the [d] day of Iesus Christ.

7 As it becommeth me so to iudge of you all, because I haue you in remembrance that both in my [e] bands, and in my defence and confirmation of the Gospell you all were partakers of my [f] grace.

8 [2] For God is my record, how I long after you al from the very heart roote in Iesus Christ.

9 And this I pray, that your loue may abound, yet more and more in knowledge, and in all iudgement,

10 That ye may allow those things which are best, that yee may bee pure, and without offence vntill the day of Christ, 11 Filled with the [g] fruites of righteousnesse, which are by Iesus Christ, vnto the glorie and prayse of God.

12 [4] I would yee vnderstood, brethren, that the things which haue come vnto me, are turned rather to the furthering of the Gospel,

13 So that my bands [h] in Christ are famous throughout all the [i] iudgement hall, and in all other places, 14 In so much that many of the brethren in the Lord are boldned through my bands, and dare more frankly speake the [k] word.

15 Some preach Christ euen through enuie and strife, and some also of good will.

16 The one part preacheth Christ of contention and not [l] purely, supposing to adde more affliction to my bands.

17 But the others of loue, knowing that I am set for the defence of the Gospel.

18 [5] What then? yet Christ is preached all maner wayes, whether it be vnder a [m] pretence, or sincerely: and I therein ioy: yea and will ioy.

19 For I know that this shall turne to my saluation through your prayer, and by the helpe of the Spirit of Iesus Christ, 20 [6] As I feruently looke for, and hope, that in nothing I shall bee ashamed, but that with all confidence, as alwayes, so now Christ shalbe magnified in my bodie, whether it bee by life or by death.

21 For Christ is to me both in life, and in death aduantage.

22 [7] And whether to liue in the [n] flesh were profitable for mee, and what to chuse I know not.

23 For I am distressed betweene both, desiring to bee loosed and to bee with Christ, which is best of all.

24 Neuertheless, to abide in the flesh, is more needfull for you.

25 And this am I sure of, that I shal abide, & with you all continue, for your furtherance and ioy of your faith, 26 That yee may more aboundantly reioyce in IESVS CHRIST for me, by my comming to you againe.

27 [8] Onely let your conuersation bee, as it becommeth the Gospel of Christ, that whether I come and see you, or else bee absent, I may heare of your matters that yee [o] continue in one Spirite, and in one minde, fighting together through the faith of the Gospel.

28 [9] And in nothing feare your aduersaries, which is to them a token of perdition, and to you of saluation, and that of God.

29 [10] For

1 The marke whereat he shooteth in his Epistle, is to cõfirme the Philippians by all meanes possible, not only not to faint, but also to goe forward. And first of all he commendeth their former doings, to exhort them to goe forward which thing he saith he hopeth fully they will doe, and that by the testimonie of their liuely charity, but in the meane season he referreth all things to the grace of God.

a By the Bishops are meant both the Pastors, which haue the dispensation of the word, & the Elders that gouerne: & by Deacons, are meant those that were stewards of the treasurie of the Church, and had to looke vnto the poore.

b Because that you also are made partakers of the Gospel.

c Euer since I knew you.

d The spirit of God wil not forsake you vnto the very latter end, vntill your mortall bodies shall appeare before the iudgement of Christ to be glorified.

e A true proofe of a true knitting together with Christ.

f He calleth his bands grace, as though he had receiued some singular benefit.

g If righteousnes be the tree, & good workes the fruits, then must the Papists needs be deceiued, when they say that works are the cause of righteousnes.

h For Christes sake

i In the Emperours court.

k The Gospel is called the word, to set forth the excellencie of it.

l Not with a pure minde: for otherwise their doctrine was pure.

m Vnder a good colour & shew: for they make Christ a cloke for their ambition and enuie.

n To liue in this mortall bodie.

o The word signifieth to stand fast in, and it is proper to wrestlers, that stand fast and shrinke not a foote.

1 Hauing let downe the [illegible] things [illegible] in maner [illegible] preface, [illegible] cendeth now to exhortations, warning them first of all, to consent both in doctrine and minde, and afterward, that being thus knit together with those common bands, they continue through the strength of faith to beare all aduersitie in such sorte, that they admit nothing vnworthie the profession of the Gospell.

2 He declareth his good will towards them, therewithall shewing by what meanes chiefly they may be confirmed, to wit, by continuall prayer. 3 He sheweth what thing we ought chiefly desire, to wit, first of all that we may increase in the true knowledge of God (so that we may bee able to discerne things that differ one from another) and also in charitie, that euen to the end we may giue our selues to good workes in deed, to the glorie of God by Iesus Christ.

4 He preuenteth the offence that might come by his persecution, whereby diuers take occasion to disgrace his Apostleship. To whom he answereth, that God hath vsed his imprisonment in such wise, that he is by that meanes become more famous, and the dignitie of the Gospel by this occasion is greatly enlarged, although not with like affection in all men, yet in deede.

5 We ought not to be discouraged but rather encouraged by the persecutions which the enemies of the Gospel imagine and practise against vs: seeing that they are certaine witnesses from God himselfe both of our saluation, and of the destruction of the wicked.

6 We must continue euen to the ende, with great confidence, hauing nothing before our eyes but Christes glorie onely, whether we liue or die.

7 An example of a true Shepheard, who maketh more account how hee may profite his sheepe, then hee doth of any commoditie of his own whatsoeuer.

8 Onely let your conuersation bee, as it becommeth the Gospel of Christ, that whether I come and see you, or else bee absent, I may heare of your matters that yee continue in one Spirite, and in one minde, fighting together through the faith of the Gospel.

9 We ought not to be discouraged but rather encouraged by the persecutions which the enemies of the Gospel imagine and practise against vs: seeing that they are certaine witnesses from God himselfe both of our saluation, and of the destruction of the wicked.

29 [10] For vnto you it is giuen for Christ, that not onely yee should beleeue in him, but also suffer for his sake, 30 [11] Hauing the same fight, which yee saw in me, and now heare to be in me.

10 He proueth that his saying, that persecution is a token of our saluation, because it is a gift of God to suffer for Christ, which gift he bestoweth vpon his owne, as hee doth the gift of faith. 11 Now hee sheweth for what purpose he made mention of his afflictions.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee exhorteth them aboue all things 3 to humilitie, 6 and that by the example of Christ. 19 Hee promiseth to send Timotheus shortly vnto them, 26 and excuseth the long tarying of Epaphroditus.

IF [1] there bee therefore any consolation in [a] Christ, if any comfort of loue, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any [b] compassion and mercie,

2 Fulfill my ioy, that ye be like minded, hauing the [c] same loue, being of one accord, and of one iudgement,

3 That nothing bee done through contention or vaine glory, but that in meekenesse of minde euery man esteeme other better then himselfe.

4 Looke not euery man on his owne things, but euery man also on the things of other men,

5 [2] Let the same minde bee in you that was euen in Christ Jesus,

6 Who being in the [d] forme of God, [e] thought it no robberie to bee [f] equall with God:

7 But he made himselfe of [g] no reputation, and tooke on him the [h] forme of a seruant, and was made like vnto men, and was found in shape as a man.

8 He humbled himselfe, and became obedient vnto the death, euen the death of the crosse.

9 [3] Wherefore also God hath highly exalted him, and giuen him a [i] Name aboue euery name,

10 That at the Name of Jesus should [k] euery knee bowe, both of things in heauen, and things in earth, and things vnder the earth, 11 And that [l] euery tongue should confesse that Jesus Christ is the Lord, vnto the glory of God the Father.

12 [4] Wherefore my beloued, as yee haue alwayes obeyed me, not as in my presence only, but nowe much more in mine absence, so [m] make an ende of your owne saluation with feare and trembling.

13 [5] For it is God which worketh in you, both [n] the will and the deede, euen of his good pleasure.

14 [6] Doe all things without *murmuring and reasonings,

15 [7] That ye may be blamelesse, and pure, and the sonnes of God without rebuke in the middes of a naughtie and crooked nation, among whom ye shine as * lights in the world,

16 Holding foorth the [o] word of life, [8] that I may reioyce in the day of Christ, that I haue not runne in vaine, neither haue laboured in vaine.

17 Yea, and though I be offered vp vpon the [p] sacrifice, and seruice of your faith, I am glad, and reioyce with you all.

18 For the same cause also be ye glad, and reioyce with me.

19 [9] And I trust in the Lord Jesus, to send * Timotheus shortly vnto you, that I also may be of [q] good comfort, when I know your state.

20 For I haue no man like minded, who will faithfully care for your matters.

21 * For [r] all seeke their owne, and not that which is Jesus Christes.

22 But ye know the proofe of him, that as a sonne with the father, he hath serued with me in the Gospel.

23 Him therefore I hope to send, assoone as I know how it will goe with me, 24 And trust in the Lorde, that I also my selfe shall come shortly.

25 But I supposed it necessary to send my brother Epaphroditus vnto you, my companion in labour, and fellowe souldier, euen your messenger, and he that ministred vnto me such things as I wanted.

26 For hee longed after all you, and was full of heauinesse, because yee had heard that he had bene sicke.

27 And no doubt he was sicke, very neere vnto death: but God had mercy on him, & not on him only, but on me also, lest I should haue sorow vpon sorow.

28 I sent him therefore the more diligently, that when yee shoulde see him againe, yee might reioyce, and I might bee the lesse sorowfull.

29 Receiue him therfore in the Lord with all gladnesse, and make much of such:

30 Because that for the [s] worke of Christ,

1 A most earnest request to remoue all those things, whereby y great and speciall consent & agreement is commonly broken, to wit, contention & pride, whereby it commeth to passe that they separate themselues one from another.
a Any Christian comfort.
b If any feeling of inward loue.
c Like loue.
2 He setteth before them a most perfite example of all modestie and sweete conuersation, Christ Jesus, whom we ought to follow with all our might: who abased himselfe so farre for our sakes, although he be aboue all, that he tooke vpon him the forme of a seruant, to wit, our flesh, willingly subiect to all infirmities, euen to the death of the crosse.
d Such as God himselfe is, and therefore God, for there is none in all parts like to God but God himselfe.
e Christ that glorious and euerlasting God knew that hee might rightfully and lawfully not appeare in the baseflesh of man, but remaine with Maiestie meete for God: yet he chose rather to debase himselfe.
f If the Sonne be equall with the Father, then is there of necessitie an equalitie, which Arrius that Heretike denieth: and if the Sonne bee compared to the Father, then is there a distinction of persons, which Sabellius that Heretike denieth.
g Hee brought himselfe from all things, as it were to nothing.
h By taking our manhood vpon him.
3 Hee sheweth the most glorious event of Christes submission, to teach vs that modestie is the true way to true praise and glory.
i Dignitie and renoume, and the matter with it.
k All creatures shall at length be subiect to Christ.
l Euery nation.
4 The conclusion: Wee must goe on to saluation with humilitie and submission by the way of our vocation.
m He is said to make an end of his saluation, which runneth in the race of righteousnes.
5 A most sure and grounded argument against pride, for that wee haue nothing in vs praise worthy, but it commeth of the free gift of God, & is without vs, for wee haue no abilitie or power, so much as to will well, (much lesse to do well) but onely of the free mercie of God.
n Why then we are not stockes, but yet wee doe not will well of nature, but only because God hath made of our naughtie will a good will.
6 He describeth modestie by the contrary effects of pride, teaching vs, that it is far both from all malicious and close or inward hatred, & also from open contentions and brawlings.
* 1 Pet. 4. 9.
7 To be short, he requireth a life without fault, and pure, that being lightened with the word of God, they may shine in the darknesse of this world.
* Matth. 5. 14.
o The Gospel is called the word of life, because of the effects which it worketh.
8 Againe hee pricketh the forward, setting before them his true Apostolike care that hee had of them: comforting them moreouer, to the end they should not be sorie for the greatnesse of his afflictions, no not although he should die to make perfit their oblation with his bloud, as it were with a drinke offering.
p As if he said,
q May be confirmed in my ioy of minde.
r The most part.
s Hee calleth it here the worke of Christ, to visite Christ being poore and in bands in the person of Paul.

brought you Philippians to Christ, my desire is, that you present your selues a liuely sacrifice to him, & then shall it not grieue me to be offred vp as a drinke offring, to accomplish this your spirituall offering. 9 Moreouer, he confirmeth their minds both by sending backe Epaphroditus vnto them, whose fidelitie towards them, and great paines in helping him, he commendeth: and also promiseth to send Timothie shortly vnto them, by whose presence they shall receiue great commoditie, and hoping also to come himselfe shortly vnto them, if God will.
* Actes 16. 1.

he was neere vnto death, and regarded not his life, to fulfil that seruice which was lacking on your part toward me.

CHAP. III.

2 He refuteth the vaine boastings of the false Apostles, 7 and setteth Christ against them. 10 He setteth out the force and nature of faith, 15 that laying all things aside, they may bee partakers of the crosse of Christ, 18 the enemies whereof he noteth out.

MOreouer, [1] my brethren, reioyce in the Lord. [2] It grieueth me not to write the [a] same things to you, and for you it is a sure thing.

2 Beware of dogges: beware of euill workers: beware of the [b] concision.

3 [3] For we are ỹ circumcision, which worship God in the spirite, and reioyce in Christ Iesus, and haue no confidence [c] in the flesh:

4 [4] Though I might also haue confidence in the flesh. If any other man thinketh that he hath whereof he might trust in the flesh, much more I,

5 Circumcised the eight day, of the kinred of Israel, of the tribe of Beniamin, *an Ebrew of the Ebrewes, * by the Lawe a Pharise.

6 Concerning zeale, I persecuted the Church: touching the righteousnesse which is in the Lawe, I was vnrebukeable.

7 But the things that were [d] vantage vnto me, the same I counted losse for Christs sake.

8 Yea, doubtlesse I thinke [e] all things but losse for the excellent knowledge sake of Christ Iesus my Lord, for whom I haue counted all things losse, and doe iudge them to be dongue, that I might [f] winne Christ,

9 And might bee found in [g] him, that is, [h] not hauing mine owne righteousnesse, which is of the Lawe, but that which is through the faith of Christ, euen the righteousnesse which is of God through faith,

10 [5] That I may [i] know him, and the vertue of his resurrection, and the [6] fellowship of his afflictions, and be made conformable vnto his death.

11 If by any meanes I might attaine vnto the [k] resurrection of the dead:

12 Not as though I had already attained to it, either were already perfect: but I folow, if that I may comprehend that for whose sake also I am [l] comprehended of Christ Iesus.

13 Brethren, I count not my selfe, that I haue attained to it, but one thing I doe: I forget that which is behinde, and endeuour my selfe vnto that which is before,

14 And follow hard toward the marke, for the price of the high calling of God in Christ Iesus.

15 [7] Let vs therefore as many as be [m] perfect, be thus minded: and if yee bee otherwise minded, God shall reueale euen the same vnto you.

16 Neuertheless, in that whereunto wee are come, let vs proceede by one rule, that wee may minde one thing.

17 Brethren, be followers of me, and looke on them, which walke so, as yee haue vs for an ensample.

18 [8] * For many walke, of whome I haue told you often, and now tell you weeping, that they are the enemies of the Crosse of Christ:

19 Whose [n] ende is damnation, whose God is their bellie, and whose [o] glorie is to their shame, which minde earthly things.

20 [9] But our conuersation is in heauen, from whence also we looke for the * Sauiour, euen the Lord Iesus Christ, 21 Who shal change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like vnto his glorious body, according to the working, whereby he is able euen to subdue all things vnto himselfe.

1 A conclusion of those things which haue bene before sayde, to wit, that they go forward cheerefully in the Lord.
2 A preface to the next admonition that followeth, to take good heede & beware of false Apostles, which ioyne circumcision with Christ, (that is to say, iustification by workes, with free iustification by faith) and beate into mens heads the ceremonies which are abolished, for true exercises of godlinesse and charitie. And he calleth thē dogs as prophane barkers, & euil workmen, because they neglected true workes, and did not teach the true vse of them. To be short, he calleth them Concision, because in vsing Circumcision, they cut off themselues and others from the Church.
a Which you haue oftentimes heard of me.
b He alludeth to circumcision, of the name whereof whiles they boasted, they cut asunder the Church.
3 Hee sheweth that we ought to vse true circumcision, to wit, the circumcision of the heart, that cutting off all wicked affections by the vertue of Christ, wee may serue God in puritie of life. c In outward things, which pertaine nothing to the soule. 4 Hee doubteth not to preferre himselfe euen according to the flesh, before those peruerse hote vrgers of the Law, that all men may knowe that he doeth with good iudgment of minde, lightly esteeme all those outward things: for so much as he lacketh nothing, which hath Christ, nay, the confidence of our workes cannot stand with the free iustification in Christ by faith. * 2. Cor. 11. 22. * Act. 23. 6.
d Which I accounted for vantage. e He shutteth out all works, as well those that goe before, as those that come after faith. f That in their place I might get Christ, and of a poore man become rich: so farre off am I from losing any thing. g In Christ: for they that are found without Christ, are subiect to condemnation. h That is to be in Christ, to be found not in a mans owne righteousnes, but clothed with the righteousnes of Christ imputed to him. 5 This is the end of righteousnes by faith touching vs, that by the vertue of his resurrection we may escape from death. i That I may feele him in deede and haue a trial of him. 6 The way to that eternall saluation is to follow Christ his steps, by afflictions and persecutions, vntill wee come to Christ himselfe, who is our marke whereat we shoote, and receiue that reward whereunto God calleth vs in him. And the Apostle setteth these true exercises of godlinesse against those vaine ceremonies of the Lawe, wherein the false Apostles put the summe of godlinesse. k To life euerlasting, which followeth the resurrection of the Saints.
l For we runne not but so farre foorth as we are layed hold on of Christ, that is, as God giueth vs strength, and sheweth vs the way.
7 The conclusion of his exhortation standing vpon three members: The one is, that such as haue profited in the trueth of this doctrine, should continue in it. The second is, that if there be any which are yet ignorant and vnderstād not these things, & doubt of the abolishing of the Law, they should cause no trouble, & should be gently borne withall, vntill they also be instructed of the Lord. The third is, that they esteeme the false apostles, by their fruits: wherein hee doubteth not to set foorth himselfe for an example.
m He said before that hee was not perfect. So that in this place hee calleth them perfect, which haue somewhat profited in the knowledge of Christ and the Gospel, whom he setteth against the rude and ignorant, as hee expoundeth himselfe in the next verse following. 8 Hee painteth out the false Apostles in their colours, not vpon malice or ambition, but with sorow and teares, to wit, because that being enemies of the Gospel (for that is ioyned with affliction) they regard nothing els, but the commodities of this life: that is to say, that flowing in peace, quietnesse, and all worldly pleasures, they may liue in great estimation amongst men, whose miserable end he forewarneth them of. * Romanes 16. 17. n Reward. o Which they hunt after at mens handes. 9 Hee setteth against these fellowes, true Pastours which neglect earthly things, and aspire to heauen onely, where they knowe, that euen in their bodies they shall bee clothed with that eternall glorie, by the vertue of God, * 1. Cor. 15. titus 2. 13.

CHAP. IIII.

1 From particular exhortations, 4 he commeth to generall. 10 Hee sayeth that he tooke such ioy in their readinesse to liberalitie, 12 that hee will patiently beare the want.

THerefore, [1] my brethren, beloued and longed for, my ioy and my [a] crowne, so continue in the [b] Lord, ye beloued.

2 [2] I pray Euodias, and beseech Syntyche, that they be of one accord in the Lord,

3 Yea, and I beseech thee, faithfull yokefellow, helpe those women, which laboured with mee in the Gospel, with Clement also, and with other my fellow labourers, whose names are in the * [c] booke of life.

1 A rehearsall of the conclusion: That they manfully continue, vntill they haue gotten the victory, trusting to the Lords strength.
a Mine honour.
b In that concord, wherof the Lord is the band.
2 Hee also calleth on some by name, partly because they needed priuate exhortation, and partly also to stirre vp other to bee more prompt and ready. * Reuel. 3. 5. and 10. 6. and 21 27. c God is sayd after the maner of men, to haue a booke, wherein the names of his elect are written, to whom he will giue euerlasting life. 4 [3] Reioyce in the [d] Lorde alway, againe I say reioyce.

5 [4] Let your [e] patient minde bee knowen vnto all men. [5] The Lord is at hand.

6 [6] Be nothing carefull, but in all things let your requests be shewed vnto God in prayer, and supplication with [f] giuing of thankes.

7 And the [g] peace of God which passeth all vnderstanding, shall preserue your [h] hearts and mindes in Christ Iesus.

8 [7] Furthermore, brethren, whatsoeuer things are true, whatsoeuer things [i] are honest, whatsoeuer things are iust, whatsoeuer things are pure, whatsoeuer things are worthy loue, whatsoeuer things are of good report, if there be any vertue, or if there be any praise, thinke on these things,

9 Which yee haue both learned and receiued, and heard, and seene in mee: those things doe, and the God of peace shall be with you.

10 [8] Nowe I reioyce also in the Lorde greatly, that now at the last your care for mee springeth afresh, wherein notwithstanding yee were carefull, but yee lacked opportunitie.

11 I speake not because of [k] want: for I haue learned in whatsoeuer state I am, therewith to be content.

12 And I can be [l] abased, & I can abound: euery where in all things I am [m] instructed, both to bee full, and to bee hungrie, and to abound, and to haue want.

13 I am able to doe all things through the helpe of Christ, which strengtheneth me.

14 Notwithstanding yee haue well done, that yee did communicate to mine affliction.

15 [9] And yee Philippians know also that in the [n] beginng, of the Gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no Church communicated with me, concernng the matter of giuing and receiuing, but ye onely.

16 For euen when I was in Thessalonica, ye sent once, and afterward againe for my necessitie, 17 [10] Not that I desire a gift: but I desire the fruit which may further your reckoning.

18 Now I haue receiued all, and haue plentie: I was euen filled, after that I had receiued of Epaphroditus ý which came from you, an [o] odour that smelleth sweete, a sacrifice acceptable and pleasant to God.

19 And my God shall fulfill all your necessities through his riches, with glory in Iesus Christ.

20 Vnto God euen our Father be prayse for euermore. Amen.

21 Salute all the Saints in Christ Iesus. The brethren, which are with me, greet you.

22 All the Saints salute you, and most of all they which are of [p] Cesars houshold.

23 The grace of our Lorde Iesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

¶ Written to the Philippians from Rome, and sent by Epaphroditus.

3 Yee haue particular exhortations: and the first is, that the ioy of the Philippians be not hindered by any afflictions that the wicked imagine and worke against them.
d So is the ioy of the worlde distinguished from our ioy.
4 The second is, that taking all things in good part, they behaue themselues moderately with all men.
e Your quiet and setled minde.
5 The taking away of an obiection: that we must not be disquieted through impatience, seeing that God is at hand to giue vs remedie in time against all our miseries.
6 The third is, that we be not too carefull for any thing, but with sure confidence giue God thankes, and crane of him, whatsoeuer wee haue neede of, that with a quiet conscience wee may wholly and with all our hearts submit our selues to him. f So Dauid beganne very oft with teares, but ended with thankesgiuing. g That great quietnesse of mind, which God only giueth in Christ. h He diuideth the mind into the heart, that is, into that part which is the seate of the will and affections, & into the higher part, wherby we vnderstand and reason of matters. 7 A generall conclusion, that as they haue bene taught both in word & example, so they frame their liues to the rule of all holinesse and righteousnesse. i Whatsoeuer things are such as doe beautifie and set you out with a holy grauitie. 8 Yee witnessed that their liberalitie was acceptable to him, wherewith they did helpe him in his extreme pouertie: but yet so moderating his words, that hee might declare himselfe voyde of all suspicion of dishonestly, and that he hath a mind contented both with prosperitie and aduersitie, and to be short, that he reposeth himselfe in the onely will of God. k As though I passed for my want.

1 He vseth a generall word, and yet hee speaketh but of one kinde of crosse, which is pouertie, for commonly pouertie bringeth all kindes of discommoditie with it.
m This is a metaphore taken from holy things or sacrifices, for our life is like a sacrifice.
9 He witnesseth that he remembreth also their former benefits, and against purteth alway iniurious suspicion of immoderate desire, in that that he receiued nought of any else.
n At the beginning, when I preached the Gospel amongst you.
10 He witnesseth against, that he allowed well of their benefite, not so much for his owne sake as for theirs, because they gaue it not so much to him, as they offered it to God as a sacrifice whereof the Lord himselfe will not be forgetfull.
o He alludeth to the sweete smelling sauours that were offred in the old Law.

The Epistle of Paul to the Colossians.

CHAP. I.

1 After the salutation, 4 he praiseth them the more, to make them attentiue vnto him. 7 He reporteth the testimonie of the doctrine which they heard of Epaphras. 13 He magnifieth Gods grace towards them, 20 and sheweth that all the parts of our saluation consist in Christ alone.

PAul an Apostle of Iesus Christ, by the [a] will of God, & Timotheus our brother,

2 To them which are at [b] Colosse, Saints and faithfull brethren in Christ: Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 [1] Wee giue thankes to God euen the [c] Father of our Lorde Iesus Christ, alway praying for you:

4 Since wee heard of your faith in Christ Iesus, and of your loue toward all Saints,

5 For the [d] hopes sake, which is layed vp for you in heauen, whereof yee haue heard before by the word of trueth, which is the Gospel,

6 Which is come vnto you, euen as it is vnto all the world, and is fruitfull, as it is also among you, from the day that yee heard and truely knew the grace of God,

7 As yee also learned of Epaphras our deare fellow seruant, which is for you a faithfull minister of Christ:

8 [2] Who hath also declared vnto vs your loue a By the free bountifulnes of God.

b Colosse is situated in Phrygia, not farre from Hierapolis and Laodicea, on that side that they bend toward Lycia and Pamphylia.
1 He commendeth the doctrine that was deliuered them by Epaphras, and their readinesse in receiuing it.
c We cannot otherwise consider of God to our saluation, but as he is Christes Father, in whom we are adopted.
d For the glory that is hoped for.
2 He declareth his good will towards them, telling them that they must not fall from the hope of the Gospel, and not be of the number of them.

e Your spirituall loue, or your loue which commeth from the Spirit.

loue in the [e] Spirit.

9 For this cause we also, since the day we heard of it, cease not to pray for you, and to desire that yee might bee fulfilled with knowledge of [f] his will in all wisedome, and spirituall vnderstanding.

f Gods will.

10 That yee might walke worthy of the Lorde, and please him in all things, being fruitfull in all good workes, and increasing in the knowledge of God,

11 [3] Strengthened with all might through his glorious power, vnto all patience, & long suffering with [g] ioyfulnesse, g It must not be vnwilling, & as it were drawen out of vs by force, but proceede from a merie and ioyfull minde.

12 [4] Giuing thankes vnto the [5] Father, which hath made vs meete to be partakers of the inheritance of the Saints in [h] light,

13 Who hath deliuered vs from the power of darknesse, and hath translated vs into the kingdome * of his deare Sonne,

14 [6] In whome wee haue redemption through his blood, that is, the forgiuenesse of sinnes, 15 [7] Who is the * image of the inuisible God, [i] the first begotten of euery creature.

16 * For by him were all things created, which are in heauen, and which are in earth, things visible and inuisible: whether they be [k] Thrones, or Dominions, or Principalities, or Powers, all things were created by him, and for him, 17 And he is before all things, and in him all things consist.

18 [8] And hee is the head of the body of the Church: he is the beginning, * and the [l] first begotten of the dead, that in all things hee might haue the preeminence.

19 * For it pleased the Father, that in him should [m] all fulnesse dwell, 20 [9] And through peace made by that blood of that his crosse, to reconcile to himselfe through him, through him, I say, [n] all things, both which are in earth, and which are in heauen.

21 [10] And you which were in times past strangers and enemies, because your mindes were set in euill workes, hath [o] hee now also reconciled,

22 In that bodie of his [p] flesh through death, to make you holy, and vnblameable and without fault in his sight,

23 [11] If ye continue, grounded and stablished in the faith, & bee not mooued away from the hope of the Gospel, whereof ye haue heard, and which hath bene preached to [q] euery creature which is vnder heauen, [12] wherof I Paul am a minister.

24 Nowe reioyce I in my sufferings for [r] you, and fulfill the [s] rest of the afflictions of Christ in my flesh, for my bodies sake, which is the Church,

25 [13] Whereof I am a minister, according to the dispensation of God, which is giuen me vnto you-ward, to fulfill the word of God,

26 * Which is the mysterie hid since the world began, and from all ages, but nowe is made manifest vnto his Saints,

23 To whom God [u] would make knowen what is the riches of his glorious mysterie among the Gentiles, which riches is Christ in you, the hope of glory,

28 [14] Whom we preach, admonishing euery man, and teaching euery man in [x] all wisedome, that wee may present euery man perfect in Christ Iesus, 29 Whereunto I also labour and striue, according to his working which worketh in me mightily.

3 The gift of continuance is not of vs, but it proceedeth from the mercie of God, which he doeth freely giue vs.

4 Hauing ended the preface, he goeth to the matter it selfe, that is to say, to an excellent description (although it be but short) of whole Christianitie, which is fitly diuided into three treatises: for first of all he expoundeth the true doctrine according to the order of the causes, beginning from this verse to the 21. And from thence he beginneth to apply the same to the Colossians with diuers exhortations to the 6. verse of the second Chapter. And last of all in the third n The whole Church.

10 Sanctification is another worke of God in vs by Christ, in that that hee reconciled vs (which hated God extremely and were wholly and willingly giuen to sinne) to his gracious fauour in such sort, that hee therewithall purifieth vs with his holy Spirit, and consecrateth vs to righteousnesse.

o The Sonne.

p In that fleshly body, to giue vs to vnderstand that his body was not a fantasticall body, but a true body.

11 The second treatise of this part of the Epistle wherein he exhorteth the Colossians not to suffer themselues by any meanes to be moued from this doctrine, shewing and declaring that there is no where any other true Gospel.

q To all men: whereby we learne that the Gospel was not shut vp within the corners of Iudea alone.

12 He purchaseth authority to this doctrine by his Apostleship, and taketh a most sure proofe thereof, of his afflictions, which he suffereth for Christ his Name, to instruct the Churches with these examples of patience. r For your profite and commoditie. s The afflictions of the Church are sayd to be Christes afflictions, by reason of that fellowship and knitting together that the body & the head haue the one with the other, not that there is any more need to haue the Church redeemed, but that Christ sheweth his power in the daily weakenesse of his, & that for the comfort of the whole body. 13 Hee bringeth another proofe of his Apostleship, to wit, that God is the Author of it, by whom also he was appointed peculiarly Apostle of the Gentiles, to the end that by this meanes, that same might be fulfilled by him, which the Prophets foretold of the calling of the Gentiles. *Rom. 16.25. ephe. 3.9.2.tim.1.10. tit.1.2.1.Pet.1.20. t Whom hee chose to sanctifie vnto himselfe in Christ: moreouer hee saith † the mysterie of our redemption was hidden since the world began, except it were reuealed vnto a few, who also were taught it extraordinarily. u Thus Paul bridleth the curiositie of men. 14 He protesteth that he doth faithfully execute his Apostleship in euery place, bringing men vnto Christ onely through † Lords plentiful blessing of his labours. x Perfect & sound wisedome, which is perfect in it selfe, and shall in the end make them perfect that follow it.

CHAP. II.

4 He condemneth, as vain, whatsoeuer is without Christ.
11 entreating specially of circumcision, 16 of abstinence from meates, 18 and of worshipping of Angels.
20 That we are deliuered from the traditions of the Lawe through Christ.

FOr I [1] would yee knew what great fighting I haue for your sakes, and for them

1 The taking away of obiection. In that that he writeth not the Colossians, nor the Laodiceans, he did it not of any negligence, but is so much the more carefull for them.

of Laodicea, and for as many as haue not seene my [a] person in the flesh,

2 [2] That [b] their hearts might be comforted, and they knit together in loue, and in al riches of the [c] ful assurance of vnderstanding, to knowe the mysterie of God, euen the Father, and of Christ:

3 In whom are hid all the treasures of [d] wisedome and knowledge.

4 [3] And this I say, lest any man should beguile you with [e] enticing wordes,

5 * For though I bee absent in the flesh, yet am I with you in the spirit, reioycing and beholding your [f] order, and your [g] stedfast faith in Christ.

6 As ye haue therefore [h] receiued Christ Iesus the Lord, so walke in him,

7 Rooted and built in him, and stablished in the faith, as ye haue bene taught, abounding therein with thankesgiuing.

8 [4] Beware lest there bee any man that [i] spoile you through philosophie, and vaine deceit, [5] through the traditions of men, [6] according to the [k] rudiments of the world, [7] and not after Christ.

9 [8] For in [l] him [m] dwelleth [n] all the fulnesse of the Godhead [o] bodily.

10 And ye are complete in him, which is the head of all principality and power.

11 [9] In whome also yee are circumcised with * circumcision made without handes, by putting off the [p] sinful body of [q] flesh, through the circumcision of Christ,

12 [10] And that ye are * [q] buried with [r] him through baptisme, [11] in whome yee are also raised vp together through the faith of the operation of [s] God, which raysed him from the dead.

13 * [12] And you which were dead in sinnes, [13] and in the circumcision of your flesh, hath hee quickened together with him, forgiuing you all your trespasses,

14 [14] And putting out the * [t] hand writing of ordinances that was against vs, which was contrary to vs, he euen tooke it out of the way, and fastened it vpon the crosse,

15 And hath spoyled the [u] Principalities, and Powers and hath [x] made a shewe of them openly, and hath triumphed ouer them in the [y] same crosse.

16 [15] Let no man therefore condemne you in meate or drinke, or in respect of an holy day, or of the newe moone, or of the Sabbath dayes, 17 Which are but a shadowe of things to come: but the [z] body is in Christ.

18 [16] Let no man at his pleasure beare rule ouer you by [a] humblenesse of minde, and worshipping of Angels, [17] aduancing himselfe in those things which he neuer sawe, [18] rashly puft vp with his fleshly minde, 19 [19] And holdeth not the [c] head, whereof all the bodie furnished and knit together by ioynts and bands, increaseth with the increasing of [d] God.

20 [20] Wherefore if ye be dead with Christ

a Me present in body.
2 He concludeth shortly the summe of the former doctrine, to wit, that the whole summe of true wisedome, and most secret knowledge of God, consisteth in Christ onely, and that this is the vse of it touching men, that they being knit together in loue, rest themselues happily in the knowledge of so great a goodnes, until they come fully to enioy it.
b Whom he neuer saw.
c Of that vnderstanding, which bringeth foorth a certaine and vndoubted perswasion in our mindes.
d There is no true wisedome without Christ.
3 A passing ouer to the treatise following against the corruptions of Christianitie.
e With a framed kinde of talke made to perswade.
* 1 Cor. 5. 3.
f The maner of your Ecclesiastical discipline.
g Doctrine.
h So then Christ hangeth not vpon mens traditions.
4 He bringeth all corruptions to three kindes. The first is that, which resteth of vaine and curious speculations, and yet beareth a shewe of certaine subtill wisedome.
i This is a worde of warre, and it is as much as to drive or cary away a spoile or bootie.
5 The second which is manifestly superstitious and vaine, and standeth onely vpon custome and fained inspirations.
6 The third kinde was of them which ioyned the rudiments of the worlde, (that is to say, the ceremonies of the Lawe) with the Gospel k Principles and rules, wherewith God ruled his Church, as it were vnder a schoolemaster.
7 A generall confutation of all corruptions is this, that that must needes bee a false religion, which addeth any thing to Christ.
8 A reason: Because onely Christ God and man, is most perfect, and passeth farre aboue all things, so that whosoeuer hath him, may require nothing more.
l By these wordes, is shewed a distinction of the natures.
m This worde (Dwelleth) noteth out vnto vs the ioyning together of those natures, so that God and Man, is one Christ.
n These words set downe most perfect Godhead to bee in Christ.
o The knitting together of God and man, is substantiall and essentiall.
9 Now hee dealeth precisely against the three kinde, that is to say, against them which vrged the Iewish religion: and first of all, hee denieth that wee haue neede of the Circumcision of the flesh, seeing that without it wee are circumcised within, by the vertue of Christ. * Romanes 2. 29.
p These many wordes are vsed to shewe what the olde man is, whome Paul in other places calleth the body of sinne.
10 The taking away of an obiection: Wee neede not so much as the externall signe which our Fathers had, seeing that our Baptisme is a most effectuall pledge and witnesse, of that inwarre restoring, and renewing. * Romanes 6. 4. ephesians 1. 19.
q Looke Roman. 6. 4.
r So then all the force of the matter commeth not from the very deed done, that is to say, it is not the dipping of vs into the water by a Minister that maketh vs to be buried with Christ, as the Papists say, that euen for the very actes sake, wee become very Christians, but it commeth from the vertue of Christ, for the Apostle addeth the resurrection of Christ, and faith.
11 One ende of Baptisme is the death and buriall of the olde man, and that by the mightie power of God onely, whose vertue we lay holde on by faith, in the death and resurrection of Christ.
s Through faith which commeth from God.
* Ephes. 2. 1.
12 An other ende of Baptisme is, that they which were dead in sin, might obtaine free remission of sinnes & eternall life, through faith in Christ who died for vs.
13 A new argument which lieth in these fewe wordes, and it is thus: Vncircumcision was no hinderance to you, why? you being iustified in Christ should not obteine life, therefore you need not circumcision to the attainement of saluation.
14 He speaketh now more generally against the whole seruice of the Law, & proueth by two reasons that it is abolished: First, to what purpose should he by harde obtained remission of all his sins in Christ, require those helps of the Law? Secondly because, that if a man doe rightly consider those rites, hee shall finde that they were so many testimonies of our guiltinesse, whereby he manifestly witnessed as it were by our owne hand writings, that wee deserued damnation. Therefore did Christ put out that handwriting by his comming, and fastening it to the crosse, triumphed ouer al our enemies, were they neuer so mighty. Therefore to what end and purpose should we now vse those ceremonies, as though we were still guiltie of sinne, and subiect to the tyrannie of our enemies? * Ephes. 2. 15.
t Abolishing the rites and ceremonies.
u Satan and his angels.
x As a conquerour made he a shewe of those captiues, and put them to shame.
y The crosse was as a chariot of triumph. No conquerour could haue triumphed so gloriously in his chariot, as Christ did vpon the crosse.
15 The conclusion: wherein also hee nameth certaine kindes, as the difference of dayes, and meates, and proueth by a new argument that we are not bound vnto them: to wit, because those things were shadowes of Christ to come, but we possesse him nowe exhibited vnto vs.
z The body as a thing of substance and pith, hee setteth against shadowes.
16 Hee disputeth against the first kinde of corruptions, and setteth downe the worshipping of Angels for an example: which kind of false religion hee confuteth, first, this way: because that they which bring in such a worship, attribute that vnto themselues which is proper only to God, to wit, authoritie to binde mens consciences with religion, although they seeme to bring in these things by humblenesse of minde a By foolish humblenesse of minde: for otherwise humblenes is a vertue. For these Angel worshippers, blamed such of pride as would goe straight to God, and vse no other vndermeanes besides Christ.
17 Secondly, because they rashly thrust vpō them for oracles those things which they neither saw nor heard, but deuised of themselues.
18 Thirdly, because these things haue no other ground whereupon they are built, but onely the opinion of men, which please themselues without all measure in their owne deuices.
b Without reason.
19 The fourth argument, which is of great waight, because they spoyle Christ of his dignitie, who onely is sufficient both to nourish and also to increase his whole body.
c Christ.
d With the increasing which commeth from God.
20 Now last of all he fighteth against the second kinde of corruptions, that is to say: against mere superstitions, inuented of men, which partly deceiue the simplicity of some with their craftinesse, and partly with their foolish superstitions and to be laughed at: as when godlinesse, remission of sins, or any such like vertue, is put in some certaine kinde of meate and such like thinges, which the inuentours of such rites themselues vnderstande not, because in deede it is not. And he vseth an argument taken of comparison. If by the death of Christ who established a newe couenant with his blood, you be deliuered from those externall rites wherewith it pleased the Lord to prepare the world, as it were by certaine rudiments to that full knowledge of true religion, why would ye be burdened with traditions I haue [illegible], as though ye were citizens of this worlde, that is to say, as though ye depended vpon this life, and earthly things? now this is the cause why before verse 8. [illegible] followed another order then he doeth in the confutation: because he shewed [illegible] what degrees false religions came into the world, to wit, beginning first [illegible] speculations of the wise, after which in processe of time succeeded grosse superstitions against which mischiefes the Lord set at length that seruice of the Lawe, which [illegible] some abused in like sort: but in the confutation he began with the abolishing of the Lawe seruice, that he might shewe by comparison, that those false seruices ought much more to be taken away.

from the ordinances of the worlde, why [e] as though ye liued in the world, are ye burdened with traditions?

21 [21] As touch not, Taſte not, Handle not.

22 [22] Which all perish with the vſing, [23] & are after the Commandements and doctrines of men.

23 [24] Which things haue indeede a ſhewe of [f] wiſedome, in [g] voluntary religion & humblenesse of minde, and in [h] not ſparing the body, which are things of no value, ſith they pertaine to the [i] filling of the fleſh.

e As though your felicitie ſtood in theſe earthly things, & the kingdome of God were not rather Spirituall.

21 An imitation in the perſon of theſe ſuperſtitious men, rightly expreſſing their nature and vſe of ſpeech.

22 Another argument: The ſpirituall & inward kingdom of God cannot conſiſt in theſe outward things, and ſuch as periſh with the vſing. 23 The third argument: Becauſe God is not the author of theſe traditions, and therefore they doe not binde the conſciences.

23 The taking away of an obiection. Theſe things haue a goodly ſhewe, becauſe men by this meanes, ſeeme to worſhip God with a good minde, and humble themſelues, and neglect the body, which the moſt part of men curiouſly pamper vp and cheriſh: but yet notwithſtanding the things themſelues are of no value, for ſo much as they pertaine not to the things that are ſpirituall and euerlaſting, but to the nourithment of the fleſh. f Which ſeeme in deede to be ſome exquiſite thing, and ſo wiſe deuices as though they came from heauen. g Hence ſprang the works of ſupererogation, as the Papiſts terme them, that is to ſay, needleſſe works, as though men performed more then is commanded them: which was the beginning and the very ground, whereon Monkes merites were brought in. h A liuely deſcription of Monkery. i Seeing they ſtand in meate and drinke, wherein the kingdome of God doeth not ſtand.

CHAP. III.

1 Againſt earthly exerciſes, which the falſe Apoſtles vrged, 2 hee ſetteth heauenly: 5 And beginneth with the mortifying of the fleſh, 8 whence he draweth particular exhortations, 18 and particular duties which depend on eche mans calling.

IF [1] ye then [2] be [a] riſen with Chriſt, [3] ſeeke thoſe things which are aboue, where Chriſt ſitteth at the right hand of God.

2 Set your affections on things which are aboue, and not on things which are on the [b] earth.

3 [4] For yee are dead, [5] and your life is hid with Chriſt in God.

4 When Chriſt which is our life ſhall appeare, then ſhall yee alſo appeare with him in glory.

5 [6*] Mortifie therefore your [c] members which are on the earth, fornication, vncleanneſſe, the inordinate affection, euill concupiſcence, and couetouſneſſe which is idolatrie.

6 For the which things ſake the wrath of God [d] commeth on the children of diſobedience.

7 Wherein ye alſo walked once, when ye liued in them.

8 But now put yee away euen all theſe things, wrath, anger, maliciouſneſſe, curſed ſpeaking, filthie ſpeaking out of your mouth.

9 Lie not one to another, [7] ſeeing that ye haue put off the olde man with his workes,

10 And haue put on the new, [8] which is renewed in [e] knowledge after the image of him that created him, 11 [9] Where is neither Grecian nor Iew, circumciſion nor vncircumciſion, Barbarian, Scythian, bond, free: But Chriſt is all, and in all things.

12 Now therefore as the elect of God holy and beloued, [f] put on the [g] bowels of mercies, kindneſſe, humbleneſſe of minde, meekeneſſe, long ſuffering:

13 Forbearing one another, and forgiuing one another, if any man haue a quarrell to another: euen as Chriſt forgaue, euen ſo doe ye.

14 And aboue al theſe things put on loue, which is the bond of perfectneſſe.

15 And let the peace of God [i] rule in your hearts, to the which ye are called in [k] one bodie, and be ye thankefull.

16 Let the worde of Chriſt dwell in you plenteouſly in all wiſedome, teaching and admoniſhing your owne ſelues, in [l] Pſalmes, and hymnes, and ſpirituall ſongs, ſinging with a grace in your hearts to the Lord.

17 *And whatſoeuer ye ſhall doe, in word or deede, doe all in the [m] Name of the Lord Ieſus, giuing thanks to God euen the Father by him.

18 [*10] Wiues, ſubmit your ſelues vnto your husbands, as it is [n] comely in the Lord.

19 [*11] Husbands loue your wiues, and be not bitter vnto them.

20 [*12] Children, obey your parents in [o] all things: for that is well pleaſing vnto the Lord.

21 [13] Fathers, prouoke not your children to anger, leaſt they be diſcouraged.

1 Another part of this Epiſtle, wherein hee taketh occaſion by reaſon of thoſe vaine exerciſes, to ſhewe the dueties of a Chriſtian life: which is an ordinarie thing with him, after he hath once ſet downe the doctrine it ſelfe.

2 Our renewing or new birth, which is wrought in vs by being partakers of the reſurrection of Chriſt, is the fountaine of all holineſſe, out of which ſundry armes or riuers do afterwards flowe. a For if we be partakers of Chriſt, wee are caried as it were into another life where wee ſhall neede neither meate nor drinke, for wee ſhall bee like vnto the Angels. 3 The ende and marke which all the dueties of Chriſtian life ſhoote at, is to enter into the Kingdome of heauen, and to giue our ſelues to thoſe things which leade vs thither, that is, to true godlineſſe, and not to thoſe outward and corporall things. b So hee calleth that ſhewe of religion, which hee ſpake of in the former Chapter.

4 A reaſon taken of the efficient cauſes and others: you are dead as touching the fleſh, that is, touching the olde nature which ſeeketh after all tranſitorie things, and on the other ſide, you haue begunne to liue according to the Spirite, therefore giue your ſelues to ſpirituall and heauenly, and not to carnall and earthly things. 5 The taking away of an obiection: whiles wee are yet in this world, wee are ſubiect to many miſeries of this life, ſo that the life that is in vs, is as it were hidden: yet notwithſtanding wee haue the beginnings of life and glory, the accompliſhment whereof which lieth now in Chriſtes and in Gods hand, ſhall bee aſſuredly and manifeſtly performed in that glorious comming of the Lord. 6 Let not your dead nature bee any more effectuall in you, but let your liuing nature bee effectuall. Now the force of nature is knowen by the motions. Therefore let the affections of the world die in you, and let the contrary motions which are ſpirituall, liue. And hee reckoneth vp a great long ſcroule of vices, and their contrary vertues. *Ephesians 5.3. c The motions and luſtes that are in vs, are in this place very properly called members, becauſe that the reaſon and will of man corrupted, doeth vſe them as the body doth his members.

d Vſeth to come.

7 A definition of our new birth taken of the parts thereof, which are the putting off of the olde man, that is to ſay, of the wickedneſſe which is in vs by nature, and the renewing, and repairing of the new man, that is to ſay, of puritie which is giuen vs by grace: but both of them are but begun in vs, in this preſent life, and by certaine degrees ſmaller, the one dying in vs by little and little, and the other comming to the perfection of another life, by little and little.

8 Newneſſe of life conſiſteth in knowledge which tranſformeth man to the image of God his maker, that is to ſay, to the ſincerite and puritie of the whole ſoule.

c He ſpeaketh an effectuall knowledge.

9 Hee teacheth them againe that the Goſpel doth not reſpect thoſe externall things, but true iuſtification and ſanctification in Chriſt onely, which haue many ſtaies as he reckoneth them vp heere: But commendeth two things eſpecially, to wit, godly conceyt, and continuall ſtudie of Gods word.

f So put on, that you neuer put off.

g Thoſe moſt tender affections of exceeding compaſsion.

h Which bendeth and knitteth together all the dueties that paſſe from man to man. i Rule and gouerne all things. k You are ioyned together into one body through Gods goodnes, that you might helpe one another, as fellow members. l By Pſalmes he meaneth all godly ſongs which were written vpon diuers occaſions, and by Hymnes, all ſuch as conteine the prayſe of God, and by ſpirituall ſongs, other more peculiar and artificious ſongs which were alſo in prayſe of God, but they were made fuller of muſicke. *1.Cor.10.31. m Call vpon the Name of Chriſt, when you doe it, or, doe it to Chriſts prayſe and glory. *Epheſ.5.22. 10 Hee goeth from precepts which concerne the whole ciuill life of man, to precepts pertaining to euery mans family, and requireth of wiues ſubiection in the Lord. n For thoſe wiues do not well, that doe not ſet God in Chriſt before them in their loue, but this Philoſophie knoweth not. *1.Pet.3.1. 11 He requireth of husbands that they loue their wiues, and vſe them gently. *Ephe.5.1. 12 He requireth of children, that according to Gods commaundement, they bee obedient to their parents. o In the Lord, and ſo is it expounded, Epheſ.5.19. 13 Of parents, that they be gentle towards their children.

22 [14*] Seruants,

14 Of seruants, that feeling God himselfe to whome their obedience is acceptable, they reuerently, faithfully, and from the heart, obey their masters.

22 [14]* Seruaunts, bee obedient vnto them that are your masters according to the flesh, in all things, not with eye seruice as men pleasers, but in singlenesse of heart, fearing God.

23 And whatsoeuer ye doe, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not to men.

24 Knowing that of the Lorde ye shall receiue the [p] reward of the inheritance: for yee serue the Lord Christ.

25 [15] But he that doeth wrong, shal receiue for the wrong that he hath done: and there is no respect of persons.

* Ephes. 6. 5. tit. 2. 9. 1. pet. 2. 18.

p For that that you shall haue duely obeyed your masters, the time shall come, that you shall be made sonnes, of seruants, & then shal you know this of a surety, which shalbe when you are made partakers of the heauenly inheritance. 15 He requireth of masters, y being mindful how that they themselues also shal render an account before that heauenly Lord & Master, which will reuenge wrongfull doings without any respect of masters or seruants, they shew themselues iust and vpright with equitie, vnto their seruants.

CHAP. IIII.

2 Hee returneth to generall exhortations, 3 touching praier, and gracious speech, 7 and so endeth with greetings and commendations.

YE Maisters, doe vnto your seruants, that which is iust, and equall, knowing that ye also haue a Master in heauen.

2 [1]*[2] Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thankesgiuing,

3 [3]* Praying also for vs, that God may open vnto vs the [a] doore of vtterance, to speake the mysterie of Christ: wherefore I am also in bonds,

4 That I may vtter it, as it becommeth me to speake.

5 [4]* Walke [b] wisely toward them that are without, and redeeme the [c] season.

6 [5] Let your speech be [d] gracious alwaies, and powdred with [e] salt, that yee may knowe how to answere euery man.

* 2. Tim. 4. 11.

¶ Written from Rome to the Colossians, and sent by Tychicus and Onesimus.

The first Epistle of Paul to the Thessalonians.

CHA I.

1 Hee therefore beginneth with thankesgiuing, 4 to put them in minde that whatsoeuer was prayse worthie in them, 11 it came of Gods goodnesse: 8 and that they are ensamples vnto others.

PAVL, and Syluanus, and Timotheus, vnto y Church of the Thessalonians, which is in God the Father, and in the Lorde Iesus Christ: Grace be with you, & peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

2 [1] We giue God thanks alwayes for you all, making mention of you in our prayers

3 [2] Without ceasing, remembring your effectuall faith, and diligent loue, and the patience of your hope in our Lord Iesus Christ, in the sight of God, euen our Father,

4 Knowing, beloued brethren, that ye are [a] elect of God.

1 An example of right Christian reioycing, whereby also we learne, that such as haue great gifts in them, are in two sorts blessed, to wit, if they consider that they haue receiued all from God, and that continuance must bee desired at his hands, wherevnto also the whole Epistle exhorteth the Thessalonians. 2 He commendeth them for three speciall gifts, effectuall faith, continuall loue, and patient hope: to the ende they might bee allured being indued with such excellent giftes, not to continue in Gods election.

a Word for word, that your election is of God.

5 [5] For our Gospel was not vnto you in word onely, but also in power, and in the holy Ghost, and in [b] much assurance, as ye know after what maner wee were among you for your sakes.

6 [4] And ye became followers of vs, and of the Lord, and receiued the word in much affliction, with [c] ioy of the holy Ghost,

7 So that ye are as ensamples to all that beleeue in Macedonia and in Achaia.

8 For from you sounded out the word of the Lord, not in Macedonia and in Achaia only: but your faith also which is toward God, spread abroad in all quarters, that we need not to speake any thing.

9 For [d] they themselues shew of vs what maner of entring in we had vnto you, [5] and how ye turned to God from idols, to serue the liuing and true God,

10 And to looke for his sonne from heauen, whom he raised from the dead, euen Iesus which deliuereth vs from [e] that wrath to come.

3 Another reason why they ought in no wise start backe but continue to the end, because they cannot doubt of this doctrine which hath bene so many wayes confirmed vnto them, euen from heauen, as they themselues did well know.

b Paul sheweth by two things that there followed very great fruit of his preaching, to wit, by these gifts of the holy Ghost, and that certaine assurance which was throughly setled in their minds, as appeared by their willing bearing of the Crosse.

4 Another reason, because euen to that day, they embraced the Gospel with great cheerefulnesse, in so much that they were an example to all their neighbours: so that it should bee more shame to them to faint in the mid race.

c With ioy which commeth from the holy Ghost.

d Al the beleeuers.

5 It is no true conuersion to forsake idoles, vnlesse a man therewithall worship the true and liuing God in Christ the onely redeemer.

e This word (That) is not put here without cause: and by (wrath) is meant that reuenge & punishment, wherewith the Lord will iudge the world at length in his terrible wrath.

CHAP. II.

1 He declareth how faithfully he preached the Gospel vnto them, 5 seeking neither gaine, 6 nor prayse of men: 10 and hee proueth the same by their owne testimonie. 14 that they did courageously beare persecutions of their countrey men: 17 that hee desireth very much to see them.

FOR [1] ye your selues knowe, brethren, that our entrance in vnto you was not in vaine,

2 [2] But euen after that we had suffred before, and were shamefully entreated at * Philippi, (as yee knowe) wee were bolde in [a] our God, to speake vnto you the Gospel of God with much striuing.

3 [3] For our exhortation was not by deceit, nor by [b] vncleannesse, nor by guile.

4 [4] But as we were [c] allowed of God, that the Gospel should bee committed vnto vs, so wee speake, not as they that please men, but God, which [d] approueth our hearts.

5 Neither yet did we euer vse flattering words, as ye know, nor coloured couetousnes, God is record.

6 [5] Neither sought we prayse of men, nei-

1 That which he touched before shortly concerning his Apostleship, he handleth now more at large, and to that end & purpose which we spake of.

2 The vertues of a true Pastor are, freely without feare, to preach the Gospel, euen in the midst of dangers.

* Acts 16.12.

a Through God his gracious helpe.

3 To teach pure doctrine faithfully and with a pure heart.

b By any wicked & naughtie kind of dealing.

4 To approoue his conscience to God, being free from all flattery and couetousnesse.

c Seeing there is this difference betweene the iudgements of God and the iudgements of men, that when men choose, they respect the qualities of those things which stand before them, but God findeth the reason of his counsel onely in himselfe, it followeth that seeing wee are not able to thinke a good thought, that whomsoeuer he first chuseth to those holy callings, he maketh them able, and doeth not find them able. And therfore in that we are allowed of God, it hangeth vpon his mercie.

d Which liketh and alloweth of them.

5 To submit himselfe euen vnto the basest, to win them, and to eschewe all pride.

ther of you, nor of others, when wee might haue beene [e] chargeable, as the Apostles of Christ.

7 But we were [f] gentle among you, euen as a nource cherisheth her children.

8 [6] Thus being affectioned toward you, our good will was to haue dealt vnto you, not the Gospel of God onely, but also our owne soules, because ye weare deare vnto vs.

9 [7] For ye remember, brethren, * our labour and trauaile: for wee haue trauailed day and night, because we would not bee chargeable vnto any of you, and preached vnto you the Gospel of God.

10 [8] Ye are witnesses, and God also, how holily, and iustly, and vnblameably wee behaued our selues among you that beleeue.

11 [9] As yee know how that wee exhorted you, and comforted, and besought euery one of you (as a father his children)

12 [10] That yee * would walke worthy of God, who hath called you vnto his kingdome and glory.

13 [11] For this cause also thanke wee God without ceasing, that when yee receiued the word of God, which yee heard of vs, ye receiued it not as the word of men, but as it is in deed the word of God, which also worketh in you that beleeue.

14 [12] For brethren, ye are become followers of the Churches of God, which in Iudea are in [g] Christ Iesus, because ye haue also suffered the same things of your owne [h] country men, euen as they haue of the Iewes,

15 [13] Who both killed the Lord Iesus and their owne Prophets, and haue persecuted vs away, [14] and God they please not, and are contrary to [i] all men,

16 And forbid vs to preach vnto the Gentiles, that they might be saued, to [k] fulfill their sins alwayes: for the [l] wrath of God is come on them to the vtmost.

17 [15] Forasmuch, brethren, as we [m] were kept from you for a season, concerning sight, but not in the heart, wee endeuored the more to see your face with great desire.

18 Therefore wee would haue come vnto you (I Paul, at least once or twise) but Satan hindered vs.

e When I might lawfully haue liued vpon the expences of the Church.

f We were not rough, but easie, and gentle as a nource, that is neither ambicious nor couetous, but taketh all paines as patiently as if she were a mother.

6 To haue the flocke that is committed vnto him in more estimation then his owne life.

7 To depart with his owne right, rather then to bee chargeable to his sheepe.

9 To exhort and comfort with a fatherly minde and affection.

10 To exhort al men diligently & earnestly to leade a godly life.

* Ephes 4.1. phil. 1.27. col. 1.10.

11 Hauing approoued his ministery, he commendeth againe (to that end and purpose that I spake of) the cheerefulnesse of the Thessalonians which was answerable to his diligence in preaching, and their manly patience.

12 He confirmeth them in their afflictions which they suffered of their own people, because they were afflicted of their owne countrey men: which came aswell (sayth he) to the Churches of the Iewes, as to them: and therefore they ought to take it in good part.

g Which Christ hath gathered together.

h Euen of them which are of the same countrey and the same towne that you are of.

13 He preuenteth an offence which might bee taken, for that the Iewes especially abuse all other persecuted y Gospel. That is no new thing, sayth he, seeing they slew Christ himselfe, and his Prophets, and haue banished me also.

14 Hee foretelleth the vtter destruction of the Iewes. Lest any man should bee moued by their rebellion.

i For the Iewes would neither enter into the kingdom of God themselues, nor suffer other to enter in.

k Vntill that wickednesse of theirs which they haue by inheritance as it were of their fathers, be growen so great, that the measure of their iniquitie being filled, God may come foorth to wrath.

l The iudgement of God being angry, which indeed appeared shortly after in the destruction of the city of Hierusalem, whither many resorted euen out of diuers prouinces, when it was besieged.

15 Hee meeteth with an obiection, why hee came not to them straightwayes being in so great miserie, I desired oftentimes (saith he) and it lay not in me, but Satan hindered my endeuours, and therefore I sent Timothie my faithfull companion vnto you, because you are most deare to me.

m Were kept asunder from you, and as it were orphanes.

19 For what is our hope or ioy, or crowne of reioycing? are not euen you it in ỹ presence of our Lord Iesus Christ at his comming?

20 Yes, ye are our glory and ioy.

CHAP. III.

1 To shew his affection toward them, he sendeth Timothie vnto them: 6 Hee is so mooued by the report of their prosperous state, 9 that he cannot giue sufficient thanks 11 and therefore hee breaketh out into prayer.

WHerefore since wee could no longer forbeare, wee thought it good to remaine at Athens alone,

2 *And haue sent Timotheus our brother and minister of God, and our labour fellow in the Gospel of Christ, to stablish you, and to comfort you touching your faith,

3 That no man should bee mooued with these afflictions: [1] for yee your selues knowe, that we are appointed thereunto.

4 For verily when we were with you, we tolde you before that wee should suffer tribulations, euen as it came to passe, and yee know it.

5 Euen for this cause, when I could no longer forbeare, I sent him that I might know of your faith, lest the tempter had tempted you in any sort, and that our labour had beene in vaine.

6 [2] But now lately when Timotheus came from you vnto vs, and brought vs good tidings of your faith and loue, and that ye haue good remembrance of vs alwayes, desiring to see vs, as we also doe you,

7 Therefore, brethren, wee had consolation in you, in all our affliction and necessitie through your faith.

8 For now are we [a] aliue, if yee stand fast in the Lord.

9 For what thankes can we recompence to God againe for you, for al the ioy wherwith we reioyce for your sakes before our God,

10 Night and day, *praying exceedingly that we might see your face and might [b] accomplish that which is lacking in your faith?

11 Now God himselfe euen our Father, and our Lord Iesus Christ, guide our iourney vnto you.

12 [3] And the Lord increase you, and make you abound in loue one toward another, and toward all men, euen as we doe toward you:

13 * To make your hearts stable and vnblameable in holinesse before God euen our Father, at the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ with all his Saints.

*Acts 16.1.

1 The will of God, who calleth his on this condition, to bring them to glory by affliction, is a most sure remedy against all afflictions.

2 Because they haue hitherto gone so well forward, he exhorteth them againe to make an ende of the rest of the iourney, seeing that therein also they shall doe him their Apostle a great pleasure.

a For now you cannot otherwise thinke mee safe and in good case, vnlesse you goe forward in religion and faith.

*Rom. 1.10. and 15.23.

b Paul was constrained through the importunate dealing of the enemies to leaue the building which he had scarce begun: And for that cause he had left Silas and Timotheus in Macedonia, and when Timothie came to Athens to him, he sent him backe againe straightway. So that hee desireth to see the Thessalonians, that hee may throughly accomplish their faith and religion, that was as yet imperfect.

3 Another part of the Epistle, wherein he speaketh of the duties of a Christian life. And he sheweth that the perfection of a Christian life, consisteth in two things, to wit, in charitie toward all men, and inward puritie of the heart, the accomplishment whereof notwithstanding is deferred to the next comming of Christ, who will then perfite his worke by the same grace, wherewith he begun it in vs.

* Chap. 5.23. 1. cor. 1.8.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He exhorteth them 3 to holines, 9 and brotherly loue. 13 He forbiddeth them to sorow after the maner of infidels. 15 He setteth out the historie of our resurrection.

AND furthermore wee beseech you, brethren, and exhort you in the Lord Iesus, that ye [a] increase more and more, as yee haue receiued of vs, how ye ought to walke, and to please God.

2 For yee know what commaundements we gaue you by the Lord Iesus.

3 *[2] For this is the will of God euen your [b] sanctification, and that ye should abstain from fornication,

4 [3] That euery one of you should knowe, how to possesse his vessell in holinesse and honour,

5 [4] And not in the lust of concupiscence, euen as the Gentiles which know not God:

6 *[5] That no man oppresse or defraud his brother in any matter: for the Lord is auenger of all such things, as we also haue told you before time and testified.

7 * For God hath not called vs vnto vncleannesse, but vnto holinesse.

8 Hee therefore that [c] despiseth these things, despiseth not man, but God who hath euen giuen you his holy Spirit.

9 [6] But as touching brotherly loue, yee need not that I write vnto you: *for yee are taught of God to loue one another.

10 Yea, and that thing verily yee doe vnto all the brethren which are throughout all Macedonia: but wee beseech you, brethren, that ye increase more and more,

11 [7] And that ye studie to be quiet, and to meddle with your owne businesse, [8] and to worke with your owne hands, as we commanded you.

12 That yee may behaue your selues honestly toward them that are without, and that nothing be lacking vnto you.

13 [9] I would not, brethren, haue you ignorant [10] concerning them [11] which are a sleepe, that ye sorow not euen as other which haue no hope.

14 [12] For if we beleeue that Iesus is dead, and is risen, euen so them which sleepe in [d] Iesus, will God [e] bring with him.

15 [13] For this say wee vnto you by the

1 Diuers exhortations, the ground whereof is this, to bee mindfull of those things which they haue learned of the Apostle.

a That ye labour to excell more and more, and dayly passe your selues.

*Rom. 12.2. ephes. 5.17.

2 This is the summe of those things which he deliuered them, to dedicate themselues wholy to God. And he condemneth plainely all filthinesse through lust, because it is altogether contrary to the will of God.

b Looke Iohn 17.17.

3 Another reason, because it defileth the body.

4 The third, because the Saints are discerned from them which know not God, by honestie and puritie.

* 1. Cor. 6.8.

5 Secondly, he reprehendeth all violent oppression, and immoderate desire, and sheweth most seuerely as the Prophet of God, that God will reuenge such wickednesse.

* 1. Cor. 1.2.

c These commandements which I gaue you.

6 Thirdly, hee requireth a readie minde to all maner of louing kindnesse, and exhorteth them to profite more and more in that vertue.

* Iohn 13.34. and 15.12. 1. iohn 2.8. and 4.21.

7 Hee condemneth vnquiet braines, and such as are curious in matters which appertaine not vnto them. 8 He rebuketh idlenesse and slouthfulnesse, which vices whosoeuer are giuen vnto, fall into other wickednesse, to the great offence of the Church. 9 The third part of the Epistle, which is interlaced among the former exhortations (which hee returneth vnto afterward) wherein hee speaketh of mourning for the dead, and the maner of the resurrection, and of the latter day. 10 Wee must take heede that wee doe not immoderately bewaile the dead, that is, as they vse to doe which thinke that they are vtterly perished. 11 A confirmation: for death is but a sleepe of the body (for he speaketh of the faithfull) vntill the Lord commeth. 12 A reason of the confirmation, for seeing that the dead is risen, the members also shall rise, and that by the vertue of God. m The dead in Christ, which continue in faith whereby they are graffed into Christ, euen to the last gaspe. e Will call their bodies out of their graues, and ioyne their soules to them againe. 13 The maner of the resurrection shall bee thus. The bodies of the dead shall be as it were raised out of sleepe at the sound of the Trumpet of God, Christ himselfe shall descend from heauen, The Saints (for hee speaketh properly of them) which shall then bee found aliue together with the dead which shall rise, shall bee taken vp into the cloudes to meet the Lord, and shall be in perpetuall glory with him.

f In the Name of the Lord, as though hee himselfe spake vnto you.
g Hee speaketh of these things, as though he should be one of them whom the Lorde shall find aliue at his comming because that time is vncertaine: and therefore euery one of vs ought to be in such a readinesse, as if the Lord were comming at euery moment.
h The word which the Apostle vseth heere, signifieth properly that encouragement which mariners vse one to another, when they altogether with one shout put foorth their oares and rowe together. * 1. Corint. 15. 52. i Suddenly and in the twinkling of an eye.

f worde of the Lord, that g wee which liue, and are remaining in the comming of the Lorde, shall not preuent them which sleepe.

16 For the Lord himselfe shall descend from heauen with a h shoute, and with the voyce of the Archangel, and * with the trumpet of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first:

17 Then shall we which liue and remaine, be i caught vp with them also in the clouds, to meete the Lord in the ayre: and so shall we euer be with the Lord.

18 Wherefore, comfort your selues one another with these words.

CHAP. V.

1 Condemning the curious searching for the seasons of Christs cõming, 6 he warneth them to be ready daily to receiue him: 11 And so giueth them sundry good lessons.

BUt 1 of the times and a seasons, brethren, ye haue no need that I write vnto you.

2 For ye your selues know perfectly, that the day of the Lord shall come, euen as a theefe in the night.

3 For when they shall say, Peace and safetie, then shall come vpon them sudden destruction, as the trauaile vpon a woman with child, and they shall not escape.

4 2 But ye, brethren, are not in darknesse, that that day shall come on you, as it were a theefe.

5 Yee are all the children of light, and the children of the day: wee are not of the night, neither of darknesse.

6 Therefore let vs not sleepe as doe other, but let vs watch and be sober.

7 For they that sleep, sleepe in the night, and they that are drunken, are drunken in the night.

8 3 But let vs which are of the day, bee sober, * putting on the brestplate of faith and loue, and the hope of saluation for an helmet.

9 4 For God hath not appointed vs vnto wrath, but to obteine saluation by the meanes of our Lord Iesus Christ, 10 5 Which died for vs, that whether wee wake or sleepe, wee should liue together with him.

11 6 Wherefore exhort one another, and edifie one another, euen as ye doe,

12 7 Now wee beseech you, brethren, that ye b acknowledge them which labour among you, and are ouer you in the c Lord, and admonish you,

13 That ye haue them in singular loue for d their workes sake. 8 Be at peace among your selues.

14 9 Wee desire you brethren, admonish them that are c out of order: comfort the feeble minded: beare with the weake: be patient toward all men.

15 10 * See that none recompence euill for euill vnto any man: but euer follow that which is good, both toward your selues, and toward all men.

16 11 Reioyce euermore.

17 * Pray continually.

18 In all things, giue thanks: for this is the f will of God in Christ Iesus toward you.

19 12 Quench not the spirit.

20 Despise not g prophecying.

21 Try all things, and keepe that which is good.

22 13 Abstaine from all h appearance of euill.

23 Now the very God of peace i sanctifie you throughout: and I pray God that your whole spirit and soule and body, may bee kept blameless vnto the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ.

24 14 * k Faithfull is he which calleth you, which will also l doe it.

25 15 Brethren, pray for vs.

26 Greete all the brethren with an holie kisse.

27 I charge you in the Lorde, that this Epistle bee read vnto all the brethren the Saints.

28 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you, Amen.

1 The day that God hath appointed for this iudgement, wee know not. But this is sure that it shall come vpon men when they looke for nothing lesse.
2 Look Actes 1. 7.
2 Returning to exhortations, hee warneth vs which are lightned with the knowledge of God, that it is our dutie not to liue securely in deliciousnesse least we be sundenly taken in a dead sleepe in pleasures: but contrariwise to haue an eye to the Lord, and not suffer our selues to be oppressed with the cares of this world, for that is meete for the darknesse of the night, and this for the light.
3 Wee must fight with faith and hope, much lesse ought wee to be carelesly snoring.
* Esai. 59. 17. ephes. 6. 17.
4 Hee pricketh vs forwards by setting most certaine hope of victory before vs. 5 The death of Christ is a pledge of our victorie, for therefore he died, that wee might be partakers of his life or vertue, yea euen whiles we liue heere. 6 Wee must not onely watch our selues, but we are also bound to stirre vp and confirme one another.
7 We must haue great consideration of them which are appointed to the ministerie of the word, and gouernment of the Church of God, and doe their duetie.
b That you acknowledge and take them for such as they are, that is to say, men worthy to be greatly accounted of among you.
c In those things which pertaine to Gods seruice: so is the ecclesiasticall function distinguished from ciuil authoritie, and true sheepheards from wolues.
d So then, where this cause ceaseth, there must the honor cease.
8 The maintenance of mutuall concord, is especially to bee looked vnto.
9 We must haue consideration of euery man, and as the disease is, so must the remedie be vsed.

The second Epistle of Paul to the Thessalonians.

CHAP. I.

3 He commendeth the increase of faith, & charitie, and the patience of the Thessalonians: 6 and describing Gods vengeance against such as oppresse the godly, 10 hee teacheth the godly to waite for the last iudgement.

PAul and Siluanus, & Timotheus, vnto the Church of ỹ Thessalonians, which is in God our Father, and in the Lord Iesus Christ:

2 Grace be with you, and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

3 *1 We ought to thanke God alwayes for you, brethren, as it is meete, because that your faith [a] groweth exceedingly, and the loue of euery one of you toward another, aboundeth,

4 So that we our selues reioyce of you in the Churches of God, because of your patience and faith in all your persecutions and tribulations that ye suffer,

5 *2 Which is a manifest token of the righteous iudgement of God, that ye may be counted worthy of the kingdome of God, for the which ye also suffer.

6 [3] For it is a righteous thing with God, to recompence tribulation to them that trouble you,

7 And to you which are troubled, rest [4] with vs, *5 when the Lord Iesus shall shewe himselfe from heauen with his mightie Angels,

8 In flaming fire, rendering vengeance vnto them, [6] that do not know God, and which obey not vnto the Gospel of our Lord Iesus Christ,

9 Which shall bee punished with euerlasting perdition, from the presence of the Lord, and from the glory of his power,

10 When hee shall come to be glorified in his Saints, and to be made marueilous in all them that beleeue (7 because our testimonie toward you was beleeued) in that day.

11 [8] Wherefore, we also pray alwayes for you, that our God may make you worthy of [b] this calling, and fulfill [c] all the good pleasure of his goodnesse, and the [d] worke of faith with power, 12 That the Name of our Lorde Iesus Christ may be glorified in you, and yee in him, according to the grace of our God, and of the Lord Iesus Christ.

*1. Thess. v. 2.

1 The first part of the Epistle, wherein he reioyceth that though the grace of God, they haue manfully sustained all the assaults of their enemies, wherein hee confirmeth them, moreouer shewing with what gifts they must chiefly fight, to wit, with faith & charitie, which must daily increase.

a That whereas it grew vp before, it doeth also receiue some increase euery day more and more.

*Iude 6.

2 Hee openeth the fountaine of all true comfort, to wit, that in afflictions which we suffer of the wicked for righteousnesse sake, we may behold as it were in a glasse the testimonie of that iudgement to come, and the end therefore most acceptable to vs, and most sharpe to his enemies.

3 A proofe: God is iust, therefore he will worthily punish the vniust, and will roe away the miseries of his people. 4 He confirmeth them also by the way, by this meanes ỹ the condition both of this present state and the state to come, is common to him with them. *1. Thess. 4. 16. 5 A most glorious description of the second comming of Christ, to be set against all the miseries of the godly, and the triumphs of the wicked. 6 There is no knowledge of God vnto saluation, without the Gospel of Christ. 7 The children of God shall be counted by the faith which they haue in the Gospel, which is preached vnto them by the Apostles. 8 Seeing that we haue the marke set before vs, it remaineth that we goe vnto it. And we goe to it, by certaine degrees of causes: first by the free loue and good pleasure of God, by vertue wherof all other inferiour causes worke: from thence proceedeth the free calling to Christ, and from calling, faith, whereupon followeth both the glorifying of Christ in vs, and vs in Christ.

b By (calling) he meaneth not the very act of calling, but that selfe same thing whereunto wee are called, which is the glory of that heauenly kingdome.

c Which he determined long since onely vpon his gracious and mercifull goodnes toward vs.

d So then, faith is an excellent worke of God in vs: and wee see here plainely that the Apostle leaueth nothing to free will, to make it checkemate with Gods working therein, as the Papists dreame.

CHAP. II.

2 He sheweth that the day of the Lord shall not come, till there be a departure from the faith, 3 and that Antichrist be reuealed, 8 whose destruction hee setteth out, 15 and thereupon exhorteth to constancie.

NOw [1] we beseech you, brethren, by the comming of our Lord Iesus Christ, and by our [a] assembling vnto him,

2 [2] That yee bee not suddenly mooued from your minde, nor troubled neither by [b] spirit, nor by [c] worde, nor by [d] letter, as it were from vs, as though the day of Christ were at hand.

3 Let no man deceiue you by any meanes: [3] for that day shall not come, except there come a departing first, and that [e] that man of sinne be disclosed, euen the sonne of perdition,

4 Which is an aduersarie, and [f] exalteth himselfe against all that is called God, or that is worshipped: [4] so that he doeth sit as God in the Temple of God, shewing himselfe that he is God.

5 [5] Remember ye not, that when I was yet with you, I tolde you these things?

6 And now yee know [g] what withholdeth that he might be reuealed in his time.

7 [6] For the mystery of iniquitie doeth already worke: [7] onely hee which now [h] withholdeth, shall let till hee bee taken out of the way.

1 The second part of the Epistle, containing an excellent prophecie of the state of the Church, which shall be from the Apostles times vnto the latter day of iudgement.

a If we thinke earnestly vpon that vnmeasurable glory, which we shall be partakers of with Christ, it will be an excellent remedie for vs against wauering and impacience, so that neither the glistering of the world shall allure vs, nor the dreadfull sight of the crosse dismay vs.

2 We must take heed of false prophets, especially in this matter, which go about to deceiue, and that for the most part, after three sorts: for either they brag of fained prophetical reuelations, or they bring coniectures and reasons of their owne, or vse counterfet writings, b By dreames and fables, which men pretend to be spirituall reuelations. c Either by word of mouth, or by bookes written. d Either by forged letter, or falsely glosed vpon. 3 The Apostle foretelleth that before the comming of the Lord, there shall bee a throne set vp cleane contrary to Christes glory, wherein that wicked man shall sit, and transfer all things that appertaine to God, to himselfe, and many shall fall away from God to him. e By speaking of one, hee pointeth out the body of the tyrannous and persecuting Church. f All men know who he is that sayth he can shut vp heauen and open it at his pleasure, and tooke vpon him to be Lord and Master aboue all kings and princes, before whom kings and princes fall downe and worship, honouring that Antichrist as a god. 4 He foretelleth, that Antichrist (that is, whosoeuer he be that shall occupy that seat that falleth away frō God) shall not reigne without the Church, but in the very bosome of the Church. 5 This prophecie was continually declared to the ancient Church, but it was neglected of the ouersights followers. g What hindereth and stayeth. 6 Euen in the Apostles time the first foundations of the Apostaticall seat were layd, but yet so that they perished men. 7 He foretelleth, that when the empire of Rome is taken away, the state that falleth away from God, shall succeed and hold his place, as the old writers, Tertullian, Chrysostome and Hierome doe expound it. h Hee which is now in authoritie and ruleth all, to wit, the Romane Empire.

8 That wickednesse shall at length be detected by the word of the Lord, & shall vtterly be abolished by Christes comming.
i Word for word that lawlesse fellow, that is to say, hee that shall tread Gods Lawe cleane vnder foote.
* Isa. 11. 4.
k Bring to nought.
l With his word, for the true Ministers of the word are as a mouth, whereby the Lord breatheth out that mightie and everlasting word, which shall breake his enemies in sunder, as it were an iron rod.
9 He foretelleth that Satan will bestow all his might & power, and vse all false myracles that he can to establish that seate, and that with great successe, because the wickednesse of the world doth so deserue it: yet so, that onely the vnfaithfull shall perish through his deceit.
m Which are partly false, and partly wrought to establish a falsehood.
n A most mightie working to deceiue them. o They liked lyes so well, that they had pleasure in them, which is the greatest madnesse that may be. 10 The elect shall stand fast all and safe from all these mischiefes. Now election is knowen by these testimonies: Faith is gathered by sanctification: faith, by that that we accord vnto the trueth: trueth, by calling, through the preaching of the Gospel: from whence we come at length to a certain hope of glorification. p To sanctifie you. q Faith which layeth hold not vpon lies, but vpon the trueth of God, which is the Gospel. r By our preaching. 11 The conclusion: It remaineth then that wee continue in the doctrine which was deliuered vnto vs by the mouth and writings of the Apostles, through the free good will of God, which comforteth vs with an inuincible hope, and also in all godlinesse our whole life long.

8 [8]And then shall [i]that wicked man bee reuealed * whom the Lord shall [k]consume with the [l]Spirit of his mouth, and shall abolish with the brightnesse of his comming.

9 [9]Euen him whose comming is by the effectuall working of Satan, with all power, and signes, and [m]lying wonders,

10 And in all deceiuablenesse of vnrighteousnesse, among them that perish, because they receiued not the loue of the trueth, that they might be saued.

11 And therefore God shall send them [n]strong delusion, that they should beleeue lies, 12 That all they might be damned which beleeued not the trueth, but [o]had pleasure in vnrighteousnesse.

13 [10]But wee ought to giue thankes alway to God for you, brethren beloued of the Lord, because that God hath from the beginning chosen you to saluation, through [p]sanctification of the Spirit, and the [q]faith of trueth, 14 Whereunto he called you by our [r]Gospel, to obtaine the glory of our Lorde Iesus Christ.

15 [11]Therefore, brethren, stand fast and keepe the instructions, which yee haue beene taught, either by word, or by our Epistle.

16 Now the same Iesus Christ our Lord, and our God euen the Father which hath loued vs, and hath giuen vs euerlasting consolation and good hope through grace, 17 Comfort your hearts, and stablish you in euery word and good worke.

CHAP. III.

1 He desireth them to further the preaching of the Gospel with their praiers, 6 and to withdraw themselues from those, who through idlenesse 11 and curiositie peruert good order: 14 Whom he excludeth from the company of the faithfull.

1 Hee adioyneth now consequently according to his maner, diuers admonitions: The first of them is, that they make prayers for the increase and free passage of the Gospel.

FUrthermore, [1]brethren, * pray for vs, that the word of the Lord may haue free passage and be glorified, euen as it is with you,

2 And that we may be deliuered from [a]vnreasonable and euill men: [2]for all men haue not faith.

3 But the Lord is faithful, which will stablish you, and keepe you from [b]euill.

b From Satans snares, or from euill.
3 The second admonition is, that they follow alwayes the doctrine of the Apostles as a rule for their life.
4 Thirdly, he diligently and earnestly admonisheth them of two things which are giuen vs by the onely grace of God, to wit, of charitie, and a watchfull mind to the comming of Christ.
5 Fourthly, he saith, that idle and lasie persons, ought not to be relieued of the Church, nay, that they are not to be suffered.
6 Least hee might seeme to deale hardly with them, he setteth foorth himselfe for an example, who besides his trauaile in preaching laboured with his handes, which he saith he was not simply bound to doe.
* 1. Cor. 11. 1.
* 1. Thess. 4. 11.
c What shall we doe then with those idle bellied Monkes, and sacrificing Priests? A Monke (saith Socrates, booke. 8. of his Tripartite historie) which worketh not with handes, is like a theefe.
7 How great a fault idlenesse is, he declareth by that that God created no man in vaine or to no purpose, neither is there any vnto whome he hath not allotted as it were a certaine standing and roume. Whereupon it followeth that the order which God hath appointed, is troubled by the idle, yea busie-

4 [3]And we are perswaded of you through the Lord, that yee both doe, and will doe the things which we warne you of.

5 [4]And the Lord guide your hearts to the loue of God, and the waiting for of Christ.

6 [5]We warne you, brethren, in the Name of our Lord Iesus Christ, that yee withdraw you selues from euery brother that walketh inordinately, & not after the instruction which he receiued of vs.

7 [6]For yee your selues know, * how yee ought to follow vs: * for we behaued not our selues inordinately among you,

8 Neither tooke we bread of any man for nought: but we wrought with labour and trauaile night and day, because wee would not be chargeable to any of you.

9 Not because we haue not authority, but that wee might make our selues an ensample vnto you to follow vs.

10 For euen when wee were with you, this we warned you of, that if there were any, which would not worke, that hee should [c]not eate.

11 For wee heare, that there are some which walke among [7]you inordinately, and worke not at all, [8]but are busie bodies.

12 [9]Therefore them that are such, wee warne and exhort by our Lord Iesus Christ, that they worke with quietnesse, and eate their owne bread.

13 [10]And yee, brethren, bee not weary in well doing.

14 [11]If any man obey not this our saying in this letter, note him, and haue no [12]company with him, [13]that he may be ashamed:

15 [14]Yet count him not as an enemie, but admonish him as a brother.

16 [15]Now the Lord himselfe of peace giue you peace alwayes by all meanes. The Lord be with you all.

17 [16]The salutation of me Paul, with mine own hand, which is the token in euery Epistle: so I write,

18 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

The second Epistle to the Thessalonians, written from Athens.

bodies. 8 Hee reprehendeth a vice, which is ioyned with the former, whereupon follow an infinite sort of mischiefes: to wit, that there are none more busie in other mens matters, then they which neglect their owne. 9 The Lord commandeth and the Apostles pray in the Name of Christ, first, that no man be idle, and next, that euery man doe quietly and carefully see to doe his duety in that office and calling wherein the Lord hath placed him. 10 We must take heed, that some mens vnworthinesse cause vs not to be slacke in well doing. 11 Excommunication is a punishment for the obstinate. 12 We must haue no familiaritie nor fellowship with the excommunicate. 13 The end of the excommunication is not the destruction, but the saluation of the sinner, that at least through shame hee may be driuen to repentance. 14 We must so eschew familiaritie with the excommunicate, that we diligently seeke all occasions and meanes that may be, to bring them againe into the right way. 15 Prayers are the scales of all exhortations. 16 The Apostle subscribeth his letter with his owne hand, that false letters might not be brought and put in place of true.

a Which haue no care of their dutie. 2 It is no maruell that the Gospel is hated of so many, seeing that faith is a rare gift of God. Notwithstanding the Church shal neuer be destroyed by the multitude of the wicked, because it is grounded and stayed vpon the faithfull promise of God.

THE

The first Epistle of Paul to Timotheus.

CHAP. I.

Setting foorth a perfect paterne of a true Pastour, whose office especially consisteth in teaching, 4 he warneth him that vaine questions set apart, hee teach those things, 5 which further charitie and faith: 12 and that his authoritie be not condemned, 14 he sheweth what an one he is made through the grace of God.

PAVL [1] an Apostle of IESVS CHRIST, by the ‖ commandement of God our Sauiour, and of our Lord Iesus Christ our hope,

2 Vnto Timotheus my naturall sonne in the faith: Grace, [a] mercie, and peace from God our Father, and from Christ Iesus our Lord.

3 [2] As I besought thee to abide still in Ephesus, when I departed into Macedonia, so do, that thou mayest warne some, that they teach none other doctrine,

4 [3] Neither that they giue heed to fables and [b] genealogies which are endlesse, which breed questions rather then godly edifying, which is by faith.

5 [4] For * the end of the [c] commandement is [d] loue out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith vnfained.

6 [5] From the which things some haue erred, and haue turned vnto vaine iangling.

7 [6] They would be doctours of the Law, and yet vnderstand not what they speake, neither whereof they affirme.

8 [7] And we know, that the Law is good, if a man vse it lawfully,

9 [8] Knowing this, that þ Law is not giuen vnto a [e] righteous man, but vnto the lawlesse & disobedient, to the vngodly, and to [f] sinners, to the vnholy, and to the prophane, to murtherers of Fathers and Mothers, to manslayers,

10 To whoremongers, to buggerers, to menstealers, to liars, to the periured, and if there bee any other thing, that is contrarie to wholesome doctrine, 11 [9] Which is according to the glorious Gospel of the blessed God, [10] which is committed vnto me.

12 [11] Therefore I thanke him, which hath made me [g] strong, that is, Christ Iesus our Lord: for he counted me faithfull and put me in his seruice:

13 When before I was a [h] blasphemer, and a persecuter, and an oppresser: but I was receiued to mercie: for I did it ignorantly through vnbeliefe.

14 But the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant [12] with faith and loue, which is in Christ Iesus.

15 [13] This is a [i] true saying, and by all meanes woorthy to be receiued, that * Christ Iesus came into the worlde to saue sinners, of whom I am chiefe.

16 Notwithstanding, for this cause was I receiued to mercy, that Iesus Christ should first shewe on me all long suffering vnto the ensample of them which shall in time to come beleeue in him vnto eternall life.

17 [14] Now vnto the King euerlasting, immortall, inuisible, vnto God [k] onely wise, be honour and glorie, for euer and euer, Amen.

18 [15] This commandement commit I vnto thee, sonne Timotheus, according to the prophecies, which went before vpon thee, that thou by [l] them shouldest fight a good fight, 19 Hauing [m] faith and a good conscience, [16] which some haue put away, and as concerning faith, haue made shipwracke.

20 Of whom is Hymeneus, and Alexander, *[17] whom I haue [n] deliuered vnto Satan, that they might [o] learne not to blaspheme.

1 First of all, he auoucheth his owne free vocation and also Timotheus, that the one might be confirmed by þ other: and therewithall he declareth the sum of the Apostolicall doctrine, to wit, the mercy of God in Christ Iesus apprehended by faith, the end whereof is yet hoped for.
‖ Or, ordinance.
a There is as much difference betwixt mercie and grace, as is betwixt the effect & the cause: For grace is that free good wil of God, wherby he chose vs in Christ, and mercy is that free iustificatiō which followeth it.
2 This whole Epistle cōsisteth in admonitions, wherein all the duties of a faithfull Pastour are lively set out. And the first admonition is this, that no innouation be made either in the Apostles doctrine it selfe, or in the maner of teaching it.
3 The doctrine is corrupted not onely by false opinions, but also by vaine and curious speculations: the declaration & vtterance whereof can nothing helpe our faith.
b He noteth out one kind of vaine questions.
4 The second admonition is, that the right vse and practise of the doctrine must bee ioyned with the doctrine. And that consisteth in pure charitie, and a good conscience, and true faith.
*Rom. 13. 10. c Of the Law.
d There is neither loue without a good conscience, nor a good conscience without faith, nor faith without the word of God.
5 That which hee spake before generally of vaine and curious controuersies, hee applieth to them which pretending a zeale of the Lawe, dwelled vpon outward things, and neuer made an end of babling of foolish trifles.
6 There are none more vnlearned, and more impudent in vsurping the name of holinesse, then foolish sophisticall babblers.
7 The taking away of an obiection: He condemneth not the Law, but requireth the right vse and practise of it.
8 He inferreth escapeth the curse of the Law, and therefore doth not abhorre it, who fleeing and eschewing those things which the Law condemneth, giueth himselfe with all his heart, to obserue it: and not hee that maketh a vaine babling of outward and curious matters.
e And such a one is he, whom the Lord hath indued with true doctrine, & with the holy Ghost.
f To such as make an arte, as it were, of sinning.
9 He setteth against fond and vaine babbling, not onely the Lawe, but the Gospel also, which condemneth not, but greatly commendeth the wholesome doctrine conteined in the commandements of God, and therefore he calleth it a glorious Gospel, and the Gospel of the blessed God, the vertue whereof these babblers knew not.
10 A reason why neither any other Gospel is to bee taught then hee hath taught in þ Church, neither after any other sort, because there is no other Gospel beside that, which God committed to him.
11 He maintaineth of necessitie his Apostleship against some þ did carpe at his former life, detesting himselfe euen to hell, to aduance Christes onely mercy, wherwith hee abolished all those his former doings.
g Which gaue me strength, not only when I had no will to doe well, but also whē I was wholly giuen to euill.
h These are the preparatiue workes which Paul braggeth of.
12 Hee proueth this change by the effects, for þ that he was a prophane man, is become a beleeuer: & he that did most outragiously persecute Christ: humbleth now in loue toward him.
13 He turneth the reproch of the aduersaries vpon their owne head, shewing that this singular example of the goodnes of God, redoundeth to the commoditie of the whole Church.
i Worthy to bee beleeued.
* Matth. 9. 13. marke 2. 17.
14 Hee breaketh out into an exclamation, euen for very zeale of minde, for that he cannot satisfie himselfe in amplifying the grace of God.
k Looke Iohn. 17. 3.
15 The conclusion of both the former fatherly admonitions, to wit, that Timothie fighting manfully against all lets, being called to the ministerie according to many prophecies which went before of him, should both maintaine the doctrine which hee had receiued, & keepe also a good conscience.
l By the help of them.
m Wholesome and sound doctrine.
16 Whosoeuer keepe not a good conscience, do lose also by litle and litle, the gift of vnderstanding: which he proueth by two most lamentable examples.
*1. Cor. 5. 5.
17 Such as fal from God, and his religion, are not to bee suffered in the Church, but rather ought to bee excommunicated.
n Cast out of the Church, and so deliuered them to Satan.
o That by their smart they might learne what it is to blaspheme.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth them to make publike prayers for all men, 4, 5 and that for two causes: 8 And therefore hee willeth all men in all places to pray. 9 And declareth in what apparell 11 and with what modestie, women ought to behaue themselues in holy assemblies.

I [1] Exhort therefore, that first of all supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giuing

1 Hauing dispatched those things which perteine to doctrine, hee speaketh nowe in the second place of the other part of the ministerie of the word, to wit, of publike prayers. And first of all, preuenting this question, for whome we ought to pray: he teacheth that we must pray for all men, and especially for all maner of Magistrates, which thing was at that time somewhat doubted of, seeing that Kings, yea, and the most part of Magistrates were at that time enemies of the Church.

of thankes be made for all men,

2 For Kings, and for all that are in authoritie, [2] that we may leade a quiet and a peaceable life, in all godlines and [a] honestie.

3 [3] For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Sauiour, 4 Who will that all men shall be saued, and come vnto the acknowledging of the trueth.

5 [4] For there is one God, and one Mediatour betweene God and man, which is the [b] man Christ Iesus,

6 Who gaue himselfe a ransome for all men, [5] to be that testimonie in due time,

7 *Whereunto I am ordeined a Preacher and an Apostle (I speake the trueth in Christ, and lie not) euen a teacher of the Gentiles in [c] faith and veritie.

8 [6] I will therefore that the men pray, euery where [d] lifting vp pure handes without [e] wrath, or [f] doubting.

9 *[7] Likewise also the women, that they aray themselues in comely apparell, with shamefastnes and modestie, not with broided haire, or golde, or pearles, or costly apparell,

10 But (as becommeth women that professe the feare of God) with good workes.

11 Let the woman learne in silence with all subiection.

12 * I permit not a woman to teache, [8] neither to vsurpe authoritie ouer the man, but to be in silence, 13 [9] For *Adam was first formed, then Eue.

14 *[10] And Adam was not [g] deceiued, but the woman was deceiued, & was in the transgression.

16 [11] Notwithstanding, through bearing of children she shalbe saued, if they continue in faith, and loue, and holines with modestie.

2 An argument taken of the end: to wit, because that Magistrates are appointed to this ende, that mē might peaceably and quietly liue in all godlines and honestie, and therefore must woe commend them especially to God, that they may faithfully execute so necessarie an office.

a This word conteineth all kinde of duetie, which is to be vsed amongst men in all their affaires.

3 An other argument, why Churches or Congregations ought to pray for all men, without any difference of nation, kind, age, or order: to wit, because the Lord by calling of all sortes, yea sometime those that are greatest enemies to the Gospel, will haue his Church gathered together after this sort, and therefore prayers to be made for al.

4 God should not else be manifested to be the onely God of all men, vnlesse he should shewe his goodnesse in saving of all sortes of men; neither should Christ be seene to bee the only Mediatour betweene God and all sortes of men, by having taken vpon him that nature of man which is common to all men, vnlesse he had satisfied for all sortes of men, & made intercession for all

5 A confirmation, because that euen to the Gentiles is the secrete saluation now opened and made manifest, the Apostle himselfe being appointed properly to this office, which hee doeth faithfully, and sincerely execute.

6 He speaketh of the persons for whome we must pray: and nowe he teacheth that the difference of places is taken away: for in times past, one onely nation, and in one certaine place, came together to publike service: but nowe Churches or Congregations are gathered together euery where, (orderly and decently) & men come together to serue God publikely with common prayer, neither must we strine for the nation, or for the purification of the body, or for the place, but for the minde to haue it cleane from all offence, and full of sure trust and confidence.

7 The first argument, why it is not lawfull for women to teach in the Congregation, because by this meanes, they should bee placed above men, for they should be their maisters: which is against Gods ordinance.

8 He proueth this ordinance of God, whereby the woman is subiect to man, first by that, that God made the woman after man, for mans sake.

9 Then, because that after sinne, God enioyned the woman this punishment, for that the man was deceiued by her.

10 Adam was deceiued, but through his wifes meanes, and therfore she is worthily for this cause subiect to her husband, and ought to be.

11 Hee addeth a comfort by the way, that their subiection hindreth not but that women may be saued as well as men, if they behaue themselues in those burdens of mariage holily and modestly, with faith and charitie.

CHAP. III.

2 Hee setteth out Bishops, 8 and Christian Deacons, with their wiues, 12 children and familie: 15 he calleth the Church the house of God.

THis [1] is a true saying, [2] If any man [a] desire the office of a Bishop, hee desireth a worthie worke.

2 *A Bishop therefore must bee vnreprooueable; the husband of [b] one wife, watching, temperate, modest, harberous, apt to teach,

3 Not [c] giuen to wine, no striker, not giuen to filthie lucre, but gentle, no fighter, not couetous,

4 One that can rule his owne house honestly, hauing children vnder obedience with all honestie.

5 For if any cannot rule his owne house, howe shall he care for the Church of God?

6 He may not bee a yong scholler, least he being puffed vp fall in the [d] condemnation of the deuill.

7 Hee must also be well reported of, euen of them which are without, lest he fall into rebuke, and the snare of the deuill.

8 [3] Likewise must [e] Deacons be graue, not double tongued, not giuen vnto much wine, neither to filthie lucre, 9 *Hauing the [f] mysterie of the faith in pure conscience.

10 And let them first be proued: then let them minister, if they be found blamelesse.

11 [4] Likewise their wiues must be honest, not euill speakers, but sober, and faithfull in all things.

12 [5] Let the Deacons be the husbands of one wife, and such as can rule their children well, and their owne housholdes.

13 For they that haue ministred well, get themselues a good [g] degree, and [h] great libertie in the faith, which is in Christ Iesus.

14 [6] These things write I vnto thee, trusting to come very shortly vnto thee.

15 But if I tarie long, that thou mayest yet know, how thou oughtest to behaue thy selfe in the [7] house of God, which is the Church of the liuing God, the [i] pillar and grounde of trueth.

1 Hauing dispatched the treatise, as well of doctrine and of the manner of handling of it, as also of publike prayer, he now in the third place commeth to the persons themselues, speaking first of Pastours, and afterward of Deacons, and he vseth a Preface, that the Church may know that these be certaine and sure rules.

2 A bishoprike or the ministerie of y word is not an idle dignitie, but a worke, and that an excellent worke: and therefore a Bishoppe must be furnished with many vertues both at home & abroad. Wherefore it is requisite before he be chosen, to examine well his learning, his gifts, and ableness, & his life.

a He speaketh not here of ambitious seeking, then the which there cannot be a worse fault in the Church, but generally of the minde and disposition of man, framed and disposed to helpe and edifie the Church of God, when and whersoeuer it shall please the Lord.

* Tit. 2. 6.

b Therefore he that shutteth out married mē from the office of Bishops, onely because they are married, is Antichrist.

c A common tipler, and one that will fit by it, d Lest by reason that hee is aduanced to that degree, hee take occasion to bee proud, which will vndoe him, and so he fall into the same condemnation that the deuill himselfe is fallen into.

3 Likewise the Deacons must first be proued, that there may be a good triall of their honestie, trueth, sobrietie, mind void of couetousnesse, that they are well instructed in the doctrine of faith, and to bee short, of their good conscience and integritie.

e These are they that had to see to the poore.

* Chap. 1. 19.

f The doctrine of the Gospel, which is a misterie in deed: for flesh and blood doe not reueile it.

4 Regard must be had also to the Pastours and Deacons wiues.

5 They that haue more wiues then one, at one time, must neither be called to be ministers, nor to be Deacons.

g Honour and estimation.

h Bold and assured confidence without feare.

6 Paul purposing to adde many peculiar things pertaining to the dayly office of a Pastour, speaketh first a word or two concerning his comming to Timothie, that he should be so much the more carefull, lest at his comming he might bee reproued of negligence.

7 The Pastour hath alwayes to thinke, how that he is occupied in the house of the liuing God, wherein the treasure of the trueth is kept.

i To wit, in respect of men: for the Church rested vpon that cornerstone Christ, and is the preseruer of the trueth, but not the mother.

16 [8] And

8 There is nothing more excellent then this trueth, whereof the Church is the keeper and preserver here among men, the ministerie of the word being appointed to that end and purpose: for it teacheth vs the greatest matters that may be thought, to wit, that God is become visible in the person of Christ by taking our nature vpon him, whose Maiestie notwithstanding in so great weakenesse was manifested many wayes, in so much that the sight of it pearced the very Angels, and to conclude, be being preached vnto the Gentiles was received of them, and is nowe placed aboue in glory vnspeakable. k The power of the Godhead shewed it selfe so marueilously in that weake flesh of Christ, that though he were a weake man, yet all the world knoweth he was and is God.

16 [8] And without controuersie, great is the mysterie of godlinesse, which is, God is manifested in the flesh, [k] iustified in the Spirit, seene of Angels, preached vnto the Gentiles, beleeued on in the worlde, and receiued vp in glory.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He condemneth as wel false doctrines 3 of marriage and the choise of meats, 7 as also prophane fables: 8 And commendeth the godly exercise, 13 and the dayly reading of the Scripture.

1 He setteth against that true doctrine, false opinions, which hee foretelleth that certaine which shall fall away from God and his religion, shall bring in by the suggestion of Satan, and so, that a great number shall giue eare to them.

NOwe [1] the Spirit speaketh euidently, that in the latter times some shall depart from the [a] faith, and shall giue heede vnto spirits of errour, and doctrines of deuils,

2 [2] Which speake lies through [b] hypocrisie, and haue their [c] consciences burned with an hote yron,

3 [3] Forbidding to marry, and commanding to abstaine from meates [4] which God hath created [5] to bee receiued [6] with giuing thankes, of them which beleeue and know the trueth.

4 [7] For euery creature of God is good, and nothing ought to be refused, if it be receiued with thankesgiuing.

5 [8] For it is [d] sanctified by the [e] worde of God, and prayer.

6 [9] If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt bee a good minister of Iesus Christ, which hast beene nourished vp in the words of faith, and of good doctrine, which thou hast continually [f] followed.

7 [10] But cast away prophane, and olde wiues fables, [11] and exercise thy selfe vnto godlinesse.

8 [12] For bodily exercise profiteth little: but godlinesse is profitable vnto all things, which hath the promise of the life present, and of that that is to come.

9 [13] This is a true saying, and by all meanes worthy to be receiued.

10 For therefore we labour and are rebuked, because we trust in the liuing God, which is the Sauiour of all men, specially of those that beleeue.

11 These things warne and teach.

12 [14] Let no man despise thy youth, but be vnto them that beleeue, an ensample, in word, in conuersation, in loue, in spirit, in faith and in pureness.

13 [15] Till I come, giue attendance to reading, to exhortation, and to doctrine.

14 Despise not the gift that is in thee, which was giuen thee by prophecie with the laying on of the handes of the companie of the Eldership.

15 These things exercise, and giue thy selfe vnto them, that it may be seene how thou profitest among all men.

16 Take heede vnto thy selfe, and vnto learning: continue therein: for in doing this thou shalt both [h] saue thy selfe, and them that heare thee.

a From the true doctrine of God.
b Although heretikes counterfeit holinesse neuer so much, yet haue they no conscience.
c Whose conscience waxed so hard, that there grew an hard fleshinesse ouer it, and so became to haue a canker in it, and now at length required of very necessitie to be burned with an hote yron. 3 He setteth downe two kindes of this false doctrine, to wit, the Law of sole life, and difference of meates. 4 He pronounceth that hee iustly called such doctrines deuilish, first, because the teachers of them make lawes of things which are not their owne: for haue they created the meates? 5 Secondly, because they ouerthrow with their decrees, the end wherefore they were created of God, to wit, that wee should vse them. 6 Thirdly, for that by this meanes they robbe God of his glory, who will bee honoured in the vse of them. And herewithall, the Apostle declareth that wee must vse the liberalitie of God, soberly, and with a good conscience. 7 Hee setteth an Apostolicall rule, for taking away the difference of meates, against that false doctrine. 8 He vseth Gods benefits rightly, which acknowledgeth the giuer of them by his word, and calleth vpon him. d It is so made pure and holy in respect of vs, so that we may vse it with a good conscience, as receiued at the Lords hands. e We confesse & acknowledge that God is the maker, and giuer of those creatures which we vse. Secondly, that wee are of the number of those, who through Christs benefite, haue recouered that right ouer all creatures, which Adam lost by his fall. Thirdly, by our prayers we craue of the Lord, that wee may vse those meates with a good conscience, which wee receiue at his hands. Fourthly we make an ende of our eating and drinking, with thankesgiuing and prayer: and so are our meates sanctified to vs. 9 The conclusion with an exhortation to Timothie, to propound these things diligently to the Churches, which hee had sucked from the Apostle euen in a manner from the teate. f Neuer departing from the side of it. 10 He setteth against true doctrine not onely against that false and apostaticall doctrine, but also against all vaine and curious subtilties.

11 It is not only requisite that the Ministers of the word be sound in doctrine, but also that his life be godly and religious.
g In the true seruing of God.
12 Godlinesse consisteth in spirituall exercise, and not in outward austerenes of life, which though it be something to be accounted of if it be rightly vsed, yet it is in no wise comparable with godlines. For it profiteth not of it selfe, but through the benefit of another, but this hath the promise both of this life present, and of that that is to come.
13 He goeth a litle from his matter, and sheweth that they which giue themselues to godlines, although they are afflicted and reproched, are notwithstanding not to be counted miserable as other men are, because they are not afflicted for that cause that other men are, and the end of them both is farre different one from the other. For how can God forsake his, which is bountifull euen towards his enemies? And he willeth that this doctrine be well beaten into their heads. 14 Nowe hee returneth to that exhortation, shewing which are the true vertues of a Pastor, whereby he may come to be reuerenced although he be but young, to wit, such speech and life as are witnesses of charitie, zeale, faith, and puritie: but here is no mention made of the crosier staffe, ring, cloake, and such other foolish and childish toyes. 15 The priuate exercise of Pastors, is continuall reading of the Scriptures; wherein out they may drawe matter of wholesome doctrine and exhortation, both to themselues and to other. h Faith is by hearing, and hearing by preaching: and therefore the Ministers of the word are so laide to saue themselues and other, for that in them the Lord hath put the word of reconciliation.

CHAP. V.

1 Hauing set downe a maner howe to rebuke all degrees, 5 he intreateth of widowes, who then were chosen for the seruice of the Church: 17 Then he commeth to Elders, 23 and speaketh somewhat touching the health of the body.

1 Of keeping measure in priuate reprehensions according to the degrees of ages and kinds.
2 The Apostle giueth these rules touching the care of widowes.
a Haue care of those widowes which haue need of helpe.
3 Widowes children and nephewes must take care for because that 4 The first reason, which they bestowe vpon theirs, they bestowe it vpon themselues because nature it selfe teacheth vs to recompense our parents.
5 An other.
6 The third because this thankfulnes pleaseth God.

REbuke [1] not an Elder, but exhort him as a Father, and the younger men as brethren,

2 The elder women as Mothers, the yonger as sisters, with all pureness.

3 [2a] Honour widowes, which are widowes indeede.

4 [3] But if any widowe haue children or nephewes, let them learne first to shewe godlinesse [4] toward their owne house, and [5] to recompense their kinred: [6] for that is an honest thing, and acceptable before God.

their parents, according to their abilitie.

5 [7] And she that is a widowe in deede and left alone, trusteth in God, and continueth in supplications and prayers night and day.

6 [8] But she that liueth in pleasure, is dead, while she liueth.

7 These things therefore warne them of, that they may be blamelesse.

8 If there bee any that prouideth not for his owne, and namely for them of his household, hee denieth the faith, and is worse then an Infidell.

9 [9] Let not a widowe bee taken into the number vnder threescore yeere old, that hath bene the wife of [b] one husband,

10 And well reported of for good workes: if she haue nourished her children, if shee haue lodged the strangers, if she haue [c] washed the Saints feete, if shee haue ministred vnto them which were in aduersitie, if she were continually giuen vnto euery good worke.

10 [10] But [d] refuse the yonger widowes: for when they haue begun to ware wanton against Christ, they will marry, 12 Hauing damnation, because they haue broken the first faith.

13 [11] And likewise also being idle they learne to goe about from house to house: yea they are not onely idle, but also prattlers and busie bodies, speaking things which are not comely.

14 [12] I will therefore that the yonger woman marrie, and beare children, and gouerne the house, and giue none occasion to the aduersarie to speake euill.

15 For certaine are already turned backe after Satan.

16 [13] If any faithfull man, or faithfull woman haue widowes, let them minister vnto them, and let not the Church be charged, that there may bee sufficient for them that are widowes indeede.

17 ¶ [14] The Elders that rule well, let them be had in [e] double honour, [f] specially they which labour, in the word and doctrine, 18 For the Scripture saith, * Thou shalt not mouzell the mouth of the Oxe that treadeth out the corne: and, * The labourer is worthy of his wages.

19 [15] Against an Elder receiue none accusation, but vnder two or three witnesses.

20 [16] Them that sinne, rebuke openly, that the rest also may feare.

21 ¶ * [17] I charge thee before God and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the elect Angels, that thou obserue these things without preferring one to another, and doe nothing partially.

22 [18] Lay handes [g] suddenly on no man, neither bee partaker of other mens sinnes: keepe thy selfe pure.

23 [19] Drinke no longer water, but vse a litle wine for thy stomakes sake, and thine often infirmities.

24 [20] Some mens sinnes are open before hande, and goe before vnto iudgement: but some mens followe after.

25 [21] Likewise also the good workes are manifest before hand, and they that are otherwise cannot be hid.

7 The second rule. Let the Church haue care of such as are widowes in deede, that is to say, such as are poore and destitute of helpe of their owne friends, and liue godly and religiously.

8 The third rule: Let widowes that liue in pleasure, and neglect the care of their owne familie be holden and accounted as fallers away from God and his religion, and worse then very Infidels.

9 The fourth rule: Let none vnder threescore yeere old, be taken into the number of widowes, to serue the Congregations or Churches, and such as are free from all reproch of vnchastitie, and are wel reported of, for their diligence, charitie, and integritie.

b That hath had no more husbands, but one at one time.

c This is spoken in respect of the maner of those countries.

10 The first reason why ponger widowes are not to be admitted to this ministerie, to wit, because for the lightnes of their age they will at length shake off the burden that Christ hath layd vpon them, and thinke rather vpon marrying againe: and so will forsake the ministerie wherunto they had bound themselues.

d Take them not into the Colledge of widows.

11 An other reason: because they are for the most part prattlers and busie bodies, and gadders vp and downe, neglecting their charge and duety. 12 The fifth rule: Let yonger widowes marrie and gouerne their houses godly. 13 The sixt rule: let the faithfull helpe their widowes at their owne charges as much as they can, & let not the Congregation be burdened with these expences. 14 Now he giueth rules, and sheweth how he ought to behaue himselfe with the Elders, that is to say, with the Pastors, and such as haue the gouernance in the discipline of the Church, which is president of their company. The first rule: Let the Church or Congregation see vnto this especially, as God himselfe hath commanded, that the Elders that doe their duetie wel, be honestly maintained. e We must be more carefull for them, then for the rest. f There were two kinds of Elders, the one attended vpon the gouernment only, and looked to the maners of the Congregation, the other did beside that, attend vpon preaching and prayers, to & for the Congregation. *Deuter. 25. 4. 1. cor. 9. 9. *Matth. 10. 10. luke 10. 7. 15 The seconde rule. Let no accusation bee admitted against an Elder, but vnder two or three witnesses.

16 The third rule, Let the Elders conuicted be rebuked openly, that they may be an example to other.

*Chap. 6. 13.

17 The fourth rule. Let sincerite be vsed without any preiudice or respect of persons in Ecclesiasticall proceedings (especially against the Elders) because God himselfe is there present, and the Lord Jesus Christ with a multitude of Angels.

18 The sixt rule Let the Minister lay hands suddenly on no man. Let him not be faultie herein, either by fauouring any mans follie, or peruerse affection: If ought be done otherwise then well of his fellowes, let him keepe his conscience pure. g As much as in thee lieth do not rashly admit any whatsoeuer to any Ecclesiasticall function. 19 The sixt rule. Let the Elders haue indifferent consideration of their health, in the maner of their diet. 20 Because hypocrites sometimes creepe into the ministerie, although there be neuer so great diligence vsed, the Apostle willeth the Pastours not to bee troubled therefore, or slacke any whit in their diligence in trying and examining, because the Lord hath appointed a time to discouer the faults of such men, and it is our parts to take heede that we offend not therein. 21 Another comfort belonging to them, which sometimes are slandered and misreported of.

CHAP. VI.

1 Hee sheweth the duetie of seruants: 10 and what a mischieuous euill couetousnesse is: 13 and hauing spoken somewhat of rich men, hee once againe forbiddeth Timothie, 20 to cumber himselfe with vaine babblings.

LEt [1] as many seruants as are vnder the yoke, count their masters worthie of all honour, [2] that the Name of God, and his doctrine be not euill spoken of.

2 [3] And they which haue beleeuing masters, let them not despise them, because they are brethren, but rather doe seruice, because they are faithful, and beloued, and [a] partakers of the benefite. [4] These things teach and exhort.

3 [6] If any man teach otherwise, and consenteth not to the wholesome wordes of our Lord Jesus Christ, and to the doctrine, which is according to godlinesse,

1 He addeth also rules for the seruants duety towards their masters: whereupon no doubt there were many questions then moued by them, which tooke occasion by the Gospel to trouble the common state. And this is the first rule: Let seruants that are come to the faith and haue infidels to their masters, serue them notwithstanding with great fidelitie. 2 The reason: lest God should seeme by the doctrine of the Gospell to stirre vp men to rebellion and all wickednesse. 3 The second rule: Let not seruants that are come to the faith, and haue also masters of the same profession and religion, abuse the name of brotherhood, but let them so much the rather obey them. a Let this be sufficient, that as touching those things which pertein to euerlasting life, they are partakers of the same good will and loue of God, as their masters themselues are. 4 A generall conclusion, that these things ought not onely to be simply taught, but must with exhortations bee diligently beaten into their heads. 5 Hee condemneth seuerely and excommunicateth or casteth out of the Church as proud men, such as content not themselues with Christes doctrine, (that is to say, the doctrine of godlinesse) but wrie both themselues and others, in vaine questions, (for all other things are vaine) because they content not themselues in Christes doctrine: and as lying deceiuers, because they fauour or sound of nothing but vanitie: as mad men, because they trouble themselues so much in matters of nothing: as mischieuous plagues, for that they cause great contentions, and corrupt mens mindes and iudgement: to be short, as prophane and wicked, because they abuse the precious name of godlinesse and religion, to filthy lucre.

4 Hee is puft vp and knoweth nothing, but doteth about questions & [b] strife of words, whereof commeth enuie, strife, railings, euill surmisings,

5 Froward [c] disputations of men of corrupt mindes, and destitute of the trueth, which thinke that gaine is godlines: from such separate thy selfe.

6 [6] But godlines is great gaine, if a man be content with that he hath.

7 [7] For we brought nothing into this world, and it is certaine, ỹ we can cary nothing out.

8 Therefore when we haue foode and raiment, let vs therewith be content.

9 [8] For they that will be rich, fall into tentation and snares, and into many foolish and noisome lustes, which drowne men in perdition and destruction.

10 For the desire of money is the roote of all euill, which while some lusted after, they erred from the faith, and [d] pearced themselues through with many sorowes.

11 [9] But thou, O [e] man of God, flee these things, and follow after righteousnes, godlines, faith, loue, patience, and meekenes.

12 Fight the good fight of faith: lay hold of eternall life, whereunto thou art also called, and hast professed a good profession before many witnesses.

13 [*10] I charge thee in the sight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Jesus Christ, which vnder Pontius Pilate *witnessed a good confession, 14 That thou keepe this commandement without spot, and vnrebukeable, vntill the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ.

15 Which in due time he shall shew, that is [f] *blessed and Prince onely, the King of Kings, and Lord of Lordes.

16 who onely hath immortalitie, and dwelleth in the light that none can attaine vnto, * whome neuer man sawe, neither can see, vnto whome bee honour and power euerlasting, Amen.

17 [11] Charge them that are rich in [g] this world, that they be not high minded; and that they * trust not in vncertaine riches, but in the [h] liuing God, (which giueth vs abundantly, all things to enioy,)

18 That they doe good, and bee riche in good workes, and be ready to distribute, and communicate, 19 *[12] Laying vp in store for themselues a good foundation against the time to come, that they may obteine eternall life.

20 [13] O Timotheus, keepe that which is committed vnto thee, and auoide prophane and vaine bablings, and oppositions of science falsly so called,

21 Which while some [i] professe, they haue erred concerning the faith. Grace bee with thee, Amen.

¶ The first Epistle to Timotheus, written from Laodicea, which is the chiefest citie of Phrygia Pacaciana.

b Striuings about words, and not about matter: & by words hee meaneth all those things which haue not pith in them, and whereby we can reape no profite.

c Such as we see in those shamelesse schooles of Poperie, which are nothing els but vaine babling and prating.

6 He turneth away sclly, the name of gaine and lucre, confessing that godlines is great gaine, but farre after another sort, to wit, because it bringeth true sufficiencie.

7 He mocketh their folly, which doe so greedily gape after fraile things, that they can in no wise be satisfied, and yet notwithstanding they cannot enioy that excesse.

8 He fraieth Timothie from couetousnes after another sort, to wit, because it draweth with it an infinite sort of liues, and those very hurtfull, wherewith couetous men doe torment themselues, so farre foorth that in the end, they cast away from them their faith and saluation.

d Sorow and griefe doe as it were pearce through the mind of man, and are the harueft and true fruites of couetousnes.

9 A peculiar exhortation to diuers vertues, wherewith it behoueth the Pastors especially to be furnished.

e Whome the Spirite of God ruleth. * Chap. 5.22. 10 A most earnest request and charge, to obserue and keepe all the premises faithfully, with our eies set vpon the comming of Jesus Christ, whose glory we haue to set against the vaine glistering of this worlde, and his power, against all the terrors of the wicked. * Matth. 27.11, Iohn 18.37.

f He heapeth many words together, to one purpose: whereby he voucheth the power of God, which if wee sticke fast vnto, we shall not be mooued out of our standings. * Chap. 1.11. reuel. 17.14. and 19.16. * Iohn 1,18.

11 Hee addeth for an ouerplus as it were a sharpe admonition to the rich, that they chiefly take heede of two mischiefes, to wit, of pride, and deceitfull hope, against which he setteth three excellent vertues, hope in the liuing God, liberalitie towards their neighbour, and gentle conditions.

g In things pertaining to this life, with whom those men are compared which are rich in good workes. * Mark 4.19. luke 12.15.

h Who onely is, and that euerlasting: for he setteth the fraile nature of riches against God. * Matth. 6.2. 12 The praise of liberalitie, by the effects therof: because it is a sure testimonie of the Spirite of God which dwelleth in vs, and therefore of the saluation that shall be giuen vs. 13 He rehearseth the chiefest of all the former exhortations, which ought to be deepely imprinted in the mindes of all Ministers of the word, to wit, that they eschewe all vaine bablings of Sophistrie, and continue in the simplicie of sincere doctrine.

i Not onely in worde, but also in countenance and gesture: to be short whiles their behauiour was such that euen when they held their peace, they would make men beleeue their heades were occupied about nothing but high and weighrie matters, euen then they erred concerning the faith.

¶ The second Epistle of Paul to Timotheus.

CHAP. I.

5 He commendeth Timothies faith, 6 & exhorteth him to goe on faithfully in the charge committed vnto him: 6 And that neither for the bonds, 15 nor the reuolting of others, he faint. 11 He triumpheth of his Apostleship. 14 He willeth him to haue care of the thing committed vnto him, 16 and praiseth Onesiphorus.

PAVL an Apostle of Iesvs Christ by the will of God, [a] according to the promise of life which is in Christ Jesus,

2 To Timotheus my beloued sonne: Grace, mercy & peace frō God the Father, and from Jesus Christ our Lord.

a Sent of God to preach that life, which he promised in Christ Iesus.

1 The chiefest marke that hee shooteth at in this Epistle, is to confirme Timothie to continue constantly and manfully euen to the end, setting first before him the great good will he beareth him, and then reckoning by the excellent gifts which God would as it were haue to be by inheritance in Timothie, and his ancestors, which might so much the more make him bound to God. * Acts 22.3. b From Abraham, Isaac and Iacob: for he speaketh not of Pharisaisme, but of Christianisme.

3 [1] I thanke God, * whom I serue from mine elders with pure conscience, that without ceasing I haue remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day,

4 Desiring to see thee, mindefull of thy teares, that I may be filled with ioy:

5 When I call to remembrance the vnfained faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and in thy mother Eunice, and am assured that it dwelleth in thee also.

6 [2]Wherefore, I put thee in remembrance that thou [c]stirre vp the gift of GOD which is in thee, by the putting on of mine hands.

7 For God hath not giuen to vs the Spirit of [d]feare, but of power, and of loue, and of a sound mind.

8 [3]Be not therefore ashamed of the testimonie of our Lord, neither of mee [e]his prisoner: but be partaker of the afflictions of the [f]Gospel, according to the [g]power of God,

9 [4]Who hath saued vs, and called vs with an * holy calling, not according to our * workes, but according to his owne purpose and grace, which was [h]giuen to vs through Christ Iesus [i]before the * world was,

10 But is now made manifest by that appearing of our Sauiour Iesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortalitie vnto [k]light through the Gospell.

11 *[5]Whereunto I am appointed a preacher, and Apostle, and a teacher of the Gentiles.

12 [6]For the which cause I also suffer these things, [7]but I am not ashamed: for I know whom I haue beleeued, and I am perswaded that hee is able to keepe that which I haue committed to him against that day.

13 [8]Keepe the true paterne of the wholesome words, which thou hast heard of mee in faith and loue which is in Christ Iesus.

14 [9]That worthie thing which was committed to thee, keepe [10]through the holy Ghost, which dwelleth in vs.

15 [11]This thou knowest, that all they which are in Asia, be turned from me: of which sort are Phygellus and Hermogenes.

16 The Lord giue mercy vnto the house of Onesiphorus: for he oft refreshed me, and was not ashamed of my chaine, 17 But when he was at Rome, he sought me out very diligently, and found me.

18 The Lord grant vnto him, that he may finde mercie with the Lord at that day, and in howe many things he hath ministred vnto me at Ephesus, thou knowest very well.

CHAP. II.

2 The better to set out perseuerance in the Christian warfare, 3 hee taketh similitudes 4 from souldiers, 6 and from husbandmen. 10 Hee sheweth that his bonds are for the profit of the Saints: 15 Then he warneth Timothie to diuide the word of the trueth aright, 17 to beware of the examples of the wicked, 22 and 4 to doe all things modestly.

THou [1]therefore, my sonne, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Iesus.

2 And what things thou hast heard of me, by [a]many witnesses, the same deliuer to faithfull men, which shall be able to teach other also.

3 [2]Thou therefore suffer affliction as a good souldier of Iesus Christ.

4 No man that warreth, entangleth himselfe with the affaires of [b]this life, because hee would please him that hath chosen him to be a souldier.

5 [3]And if any man also striue for a Masterie, hee is not crowned, except he striue as hee ought to doe.

6 [4]The husbandman must labour before he receiue the fruits.

7 [5]Consider what I say: and the Lorde giue thee vnderstanding in all things:

8 [6]Remember that Iesus Christ, made of the seed of Dauid, was raised againe from the dead according to my Gospel.

9 [7]Wherein I suffer troubles as an euill doer, euen vnto bondes: but the word of God is not bound.

10 Therefore I suffer all things, for the elects sake, that they might also obtaine the saluation which is in Christ Iesus, with eternall glorie.

11 [8]It is a true saying, For if we be *[c]dead together with him, we shall also liue together with him,

1 The conclusion of the former exhortation which hath also added vnto it a declaration, how that they doe not keepe that worthie thing that is committed vnto them, which keepe it to themselues, but they rather which doe most freely communicate it with other, to the ende that many may be partakers of it, without any mans losse or hinderance.

a When many were by, which can beare witnes of these things.

2 Another admonition: That the Ministerie of the word is a spirituall warfare, which no man can so manaile in, that he may please his captaine, vnlesse hee forgoe and part with all hinderances which might draw him away from it.

b With affaires of houshold, or other things that belong to other ordinarie businesses.

3 The third admonition: The ministerie is like to a game or iusting, wherein men striue for the victorie, and no man is crowned, vnlesse hee striue according to the lawes which are prescribed, hee they neuer so hard and painfull. 4 Another similitude tending to the same ende, no man may looke for the haruest, vnlesse hee first take paines to plowe and sowe his ground. 5 All these things cannot be vnderstood, & much lesse practised, vnlesse we aske of God and he giue vs vnderstanding. 6 He confirmeth plainely two principles of our faith, which are alwayes assaulted of heretikes, the one whereof (to wit, that Christ is the true Messias, made man of the seede of Dauid) is the ground of our saluation: and the other is the highest part of it, to wit that he is risen again from the dead. 7 The taking away of an obiection: Trueth it is, that he is kept in prison as an euill doer, yet there is no cause, why therefore some should goe about to derogate credite from this Gospel, seeing that notwithstanding God did blesse his ministerie, nay rather, that example of this his captiuitie and patience, did simply wayes confirme his Church in the hope of a better life. 8 The fourth admonition: we ought not to contend vpon words and questions, which are not only vnprofitable, but also for the most part hurtfull: but rather vpon this, how we may frame our selues to all maner of patience, and to die also with Christ (that is to say, for Christes Name) because that is the plaine way to the most glorious life, as contrarywise the falling away of men can diminish no part of the trueth of God, although by such means they procure most certaine destruction to themselues. * Rom. 6.5.

[2] He warneth vs to set the inuincible power of the Spirit, which God hath giuen vs, against those stormes which may, and doe come vpon vs.

[c] The gift of God is as it were a certaine liuely flame kindled in our hearts, which the flesh and the deuill goe about to put out: and therefore wee on the contrary side must labour as much as wee can to foster & keepe it burning.

[d] To pearce vs thorow, and terrifie vs, as men whom the Lord will destroy.

[3] Hee prouideth that the ignominie or shame of the crosse is not onely not to be ashamed of, but also that it is glorious and most honourable: first, because the Gospel wherefore the godly are afflicted, is the testimony of Christ: and secondly, because at length the great vertue and power of God appeareth in them.

[e] For his sake.

[f] The Gospell after a sort is said to be afflicted in them that preach it.

[g] Through the power of God.

[4] Hee sheweth with how great benefites God hath bound vs to maintaine holily and constantly his glory which is ioyned with our saluation, and reckoneth vp the causes of our saluation, to wit, that free and eternall purpose of God to saue vs in Christ which was to come, whereby it should come to passe, that wee should at length bee freely called of God by the preaching of the Gospel, to Christ the destroyer of death and author of immortalitie. * 1. Cor. 1.2. * Titus 3.5. h Hee sayeth that that grace was giuen vs from euerlasting, vnto which wee were predestinate from euerlasting. So that the doctrine of foreseene faith and foreseene workes, is cleane contrary to the doctrine which preacheth and teacheth the grace of God. i Before that course of yeeres, which hath runne on euer since the beginning of the worlde. * Rom. 16 25. eph. 1.4. col. 1.16. titus 1.2. k Hath caused life and immortalitie to appeare. * 1. Tim. 2.7. 5 That is the Gospel which the Apostles preached. 6 He confirmeth his Apostleship by a strange argument, to wit, because the world could not abide it, & therefore it persecuteth him that preached it. 7 By setting his owne example before vs, hee sheweth vs how it may be, that wee shall not be ashamed of the Crosse of Christ, to wit, if wee be sure that God both can and will keepe the saluation which he hath as it were layed vp in store by himselfe for vs against that day. 8 He sheweth wherein hee ought to bee most constant, to wit, both in the doctrine it selfe, the obseruation whereof is faith and charity, and next in the maner of teaching it, a liuely paterne and shape whereof Timothie knew in the Apostle. 9 An amplification, taken of the dignitie of so great a benefite committed to the ministers. 10 The taking away of an obiection. It is an hard thing to doe it, but the Spirit of God is mightie, who doth inwardly moue vs with his vertue. 11 Hee preuenteth an offence which arose by the meanes of certeine that fell from God and the religion, and vttereth also their names that they might be knowen of all men. But hee setteth against them the singular faith of one man, that one onely good example might counterpoise and weigh downe all euill examples.

[1] The conclusion of the former exhortation which hath also added vnto it a declaration, how that they doe not keepe that worthie thing that is committed vnto them, which keepe it to themselues, but they rather which doe most freely communicate it with other, to the ende that many may be partakers of it, without any mans losse or hinderance.

[a] When many were by, which can beare witnes of these things.

[2] Another admonition: That the Ministerie of the word is a spirituall warfare, which no man can so manaile in, that he may please his captaine, vnlesse hee forgoe and part with all hinderances which might draw him away from it.

[b] With affaires of houshold, or other things that belong to other ordinarie businesses.

[3] The third admonition: The ministerie is like to a game or iusting, wherein men striue for the victorie, and no man is crowned, vnlesse hee striue according to the lawes which are prescribed, hee they neuer so hard and painfull. 4 Another similitude tending to the same ende, no man may looke for the haruest, vnlesse hee first take paines to plowe and sowe his ground. 5 All these things cannot be vnderstood, & much lesse practised, vnlesse we aske of God and he giue vs vnderstanding. 6 He confirmeth plainely two principles of our faith, which are alwayes assaulted of heretikes, the one whereof (to wit, that Christ is the true Messias, made man of the seede of Dauid) is the ground of our saluation: and the other is the highest part of it, to wit that he is risen again from the dead. 7 The taking away of an obiection: Trueth it is, that he is kept in prison as an euill doer, yet there is no cause, why therefore some should goe about to derogate credite from this Gospel, seeing that notwithstanding God did blesse his ministerie, nay rather, that example of this his captiuitie and patience, did simply wayes confirme his Church in the hope of a better life. 8 The fourth admonition: we ought not to contend vpon words and questions, which are not only vnprofitable, but also for the most part hurtfull: but rather vpon this, how we may frame our selues to all maner of patience, and to die also with Christ (that is to say, for Christes Name) because that is the plaine way to the most glorious life, as contrarywise the falling away of men can diminish no part of the trueth of God, although by such means they procure most certaine destruction to themselues. * Rom. 6.5.

[c] If we be afflicted with Christ, and for Christes sake.

12 If we suffer, we shall also reigne together with him: * if we denie him, he also will denie vs.

13 If * wee beleeue not, yet abideth hee faithfull: hee cannot denie himselfe.

14 Of these things put them in remembrance, and [d] protest before the Lord, that they striue not about words, which is to no profit, but to the peruerting of the hearers.

15 [9] Studie to shewe thy selfe approoued vnto God, a workeman that needeth not to bee ashamed, diuiding the word of truth [e] aright.

16 [f] Stay prophane and vaine babblings: [10] for they shall encrease vnto more vngodlinesse.

17 And their worde shall fret as a canker: of which sorte is Hymeneus and Philetus, 18 Which as concerning the truth haue erred from the marke, saying that the resurrection is past already, and doe destroy the faith of certaine.

19 [11] But the foundation of God remaineth sure, and hath this seale, The Lorde knoweth who are his: and, Let euery one that [g] calleth on the Name of Christ, depart from iniquitie.

20 [12] Notwithstanding in a great house are not onely vessels of gold and of siluer, but also of wood and of earth, * and some for honour, and some vnto dishonour.

21 If any man therefore [h] purge himselfe from these, hee shall bee a vessell vnto honour, sanctified, and meete for the Lord, and prepared vnto euery good worke.

22 [13] Flee from the lustes of youth, and follow after righteousnesse, faith, loue, and [14] peace, with them that * call on the Lord with pure heart, 23 * And put away foolish and vnlearned questions, knowing that they ingender strife.

24 But the seruant of the Lord must not striue, but must be gentle toward all men, apt to teach, [i] suffering the euil,

25 Instructing them with meekenes that are [k] contrary minded, prouing if God at any time will giue them repentance, that they may acknowledge the trueth, 26 And come to amendement out of that snare of the deuill, of whome they are taken prisoners, to doe his will.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee foretelleth the dangerous times that are to ensue, 9 but with the certaine hope of victorie, 10 he encourageth him to the combate, setting out especially the triall of sound doctrine.

THis [1] know also, that in the * last dayes shall come perilous times.

2 For men shall bee louers of their owne selues, couetous, boasters, proude, cursed speakers, disobedient to parents, vnthankefull, [a] vnholy.

3 Without naturall affection, truce breakers, false accusers, intemperate, fierce, no louers at all of them which are good,

4 Traitours, headie, high minded, louers of pleasures more then louers of God,

5 Hauing a shew of godlinesse, but haue denied the power thereof: [2] turne away therefore from such.

6 For of this sort are they which creepe into houses, and leade captiue simple women laden with sinnes, and led with diuers lustes,

7 Which women are euer learning, and are neuer able to come to the acknowledging of the trueth.

8 * And as Iannes and Iambres withstood Moses, so doe these also resist the trueth, men of corrupt mindes, reprobate concerning the faith.

9 [3] But they shall preuaile no longer: for their madnesse shall bee euident vnto all men, as theirs also was.

10 ¶ [4] But thou hast [b] fully knowen my doctrine, maner of liuing, purpose, faith long suffering, loue, patience,

11 Persecutions, and afflictions which came vnto me at [c] Antiochia, at Iconium, and at Lystri, which persecutions I suffered: but from them all the Lord deliuered me, 12 Yea, and all that will liue godly in Christ Iesus, shall suffer persecution.

13 But the euill men and deceiuers shall waxe [d] worse and worse, deceiuing, and being deceiued.

14 But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned, and which are committed vnto thee knowing of whom thou hast learned them:

15 And that thou hast knowen the holy Scriptures of a child, which are able to make thee wise vnto saluation, through the faith which is in Christ Iesus.

1 The seuenth admonition: we may not hope for a Church in this world without corruption: but there shall bee rather great aboundance of most wicked men euen in the very bosome of the Church, which notwithstanding shal make a shew and countenance of great holines and charitie. * 1. Tim. 4. 1. 2. pet. 3. 3. iude 18.

a Which make no account, either of right or honestie.

2 We must not dally with such men as resist the trueth not of simple ignorance, but of a peruerse minde, (which thing appeareth by their fruites which bewraie it) but we must rather turne away from them. * Exod. 7. 11.

3 He adiecteth a comfort: The Lorde will at length pluck out all their visars.

4 That we bee not deceiued by such hypocrites, wee must set before vs the vertues of the holy seruants of God, and wee must not be afraide of persecution which they suffred willingly, e which alwayes followeth true godlinesse. But we must especially holde fast the doctrine of the Apostles, the summe whereof is this, that we are saued through faith in Christ Iesus.

b Thou knowest throghly not only what I taught and did, but also how I was minded and disposed. c Which is in Pisidia d Their wickednesse shall daily encrease.

e By adding nothing to it, neither ouerslipping any thing, neither mangling it, nor renting it in sunder, nor wresting of it: but marking diligently what his hearers are able to beare, and what is fit to edifying.

f Marke and watch, and see they creepe not on further.

10 He discouereth the subtilties of Satan, who beginning with these principles, draweth vs by litle and little to vngodlinesse through the meanes of that wicked and prophane babbling, still creeping on: which he prooueth by the horrible example of them that taught, that the resurrection was already past.

11 A digression, wherein he saueth that offence that rose by their falling away: shewing first, that the elect are out of all danger of any such falling away: secondly, that they are knowen to God, and not to vs: and therefore it is no marueile if we count hypocrites oftentimes for true brethren: but wee must take heede that we be not like them, but rather that we be indeed, such as we are said to be. g That serueth and worshippeth him, & is as it were named of him, a faithfull man or Christian. 12 The taking away of an obiection: It is no dishonour to the good man of the house, that he hath not in a great house all vessels of one sort and for one seruice, but we must looke to this that wee bee found vessels prepared to honour. * Rom. 9. 21. h By these words is meant the execution of the matter, and not the cause: for in that we purge our selues, it is not to be attributed to any free will that is in vs, but to God, who freely and wholy worketh in vs a good and effectuall will. 13 Returning to the matter from whence he digressed verse 16. hee warneth him to exercise himselfe in waighty matters, and such as pertaine to godlinesse. 14 The sixt admonition, Wee must aboue all things eschew all bitternesse of minde both in teaching all men, and also in calling them backe which haue gone out of the way. * 1. Cor. 1. 2. * 1. Tim. 1. 4. and 4. 7. titus 3. 9. i To winne them through our patient bearing with them, but not to please them or excuse them in their wickednesse. k Hee meaneth such as doe not yet see the trueth.

16 *[5] For the whole Scripture is giuen by inspiration of God, & is profitable to teach, to conuince, to correct, and to instruct in righteousnesse, 17 That the [c] man of God may bee absolute, being made perfect vnto all good workes.

*2.Pet.1.20.
5 The eight admonition which is most precious: Q Pastour must be wise by the word of God only: wherein we haue perfectly delinered vnto vs, true opinions, or to frame good. c The Prophets and expounders of Gods wil, are properly and peculiarly called, Men of God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He chargeth him to preach the Gospel with al diligence, 3 in that so miserable a time: 6 That his death is hard at hand, 8 yet so, that as a conquerour, hee maketh hast to a glorious triumph. 10 He sheweth the cause why he sendeth for Timothie, 11 euen by reason of his present state.

I [1] Charge thee therefore before God, and before the Lord Iesus Christ, which shall iudge the quicke and dead at that his appearing, and in his kingdome,

2 Preach the word: be instant, in season and out of season: improue, rebuke, exhort with all long suffering, and doctrine.

3 [2] For the time will come, when they wil not suffer wholesome doctrine: but hauing their eares itching, shall after their own lusts, get them an heape of teachers,

4 And shall turne their eares from the trueth, and shall be giuen vnto [a] fables.

5 [3] But watch thou in all things: suffer aduersitie: doe the worke of an Euangelist: [b] cause thy ministerie to be throughly liked of.

6 [4] For I am now ready to be [c] offered, and the time of my departing is at hand.

7 I haue fought a good fight, and haue finished my course: I haue kept the faith.

8 For henceforth is layd vp for mee the crowne of righteousnesse, which the Lord the righteous iudge shall giue me at that day: and not to me only, but vnto al them also that loue that his appearing.

1 The principal & chiefe of all admonitions, being therefore proposed with a most earnest charge, is this: that the word of God be propounded with a certaine holy importunitie, as necessitie requireth: but so, that a good and true ground of the doctrine be laid, and the vehemency be tempered with al holy meekenesse.
2 Faithfullpastours in times past tooke all occasiõs they could, because men were very prompt and ready to returne to their fables.
a To false & vnprofitable doctrines which the world is now so bewitched withal, that it had rather ỹ open light of the truth were vtterly put out, then it would come out of darknesse. 3 The wickednesse & falling away of the world ought to cause faithfull ministers to be so much the more carefull. b Proue & shewe by good and substantiall proofe, that thou art the true minister of God. 4 Hee foretelleth his death to be at hand, & setteth before them an excellent example, both of inuincible constancie, and sure hope. c To be offered for a drinke offering: & he alludeth to the powring out of blood or wine which was vsed in sacrifices.

9 [5] Make speed to come vnto me at once:

10 For Demas hath forsaken me, and hath [d] embraced this present world, and is departed vnto Thessalonica. Crescens is gone to Galatia, Titus vnto Dalmatia.

11 *Only Luke is with me. Take Mark and bring him with thee: for hee is profitable vnto me to minister.

12 And Tychicus haue I sent to Ephesus.

13 The cloke that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou commest, bring with thee, and the bookes, but specially the parchments.

14 Alexander the coppersmith hath done me much euill: the Lord reward him according to his workes.

15 Of whome be thou ware also: for hee withstood our preaching sore.

16 At my first answering no man assisted me, but all forsooke me: I pray God, that it may not be laid to their charge.

17 Notwithstanding the Lord assisted me, and strengthened me, that by me the preaching might be fully beleeued, and that all the Gentiles should heare: and I was deliuered out of the mouth of the [e] lion.

18 And the Lord will deliuer me from euery [f] euill worke, and will preserue me vnto his [g] heauenly kingdome: to whom be praise for euer and euer, Amen.

19 Salute Prisca and Aquila, and the *household of Onesiphorus.

20 Erastus abode at Corinthus: Trophimus I left at Miletum sicke.

21 Make speede to come before winter. Eubulus greeteth thee, and Pudens, and Linus, and Claudia, and all the brethren.

22 The Lorde Iesus Christ be with thy spirit: Grace be with you, Amen.

CHAP. I.

6 He sheweth what kind of men ought to be chosen ministers. 10 How vaine babblers mouthes should be stopped. 12 And through this occasion hee toucheth the nature of the Cretians, 14 and the Iewes who put holines in outward things.

1 He boucheth his Apostleship, (not for Titus, but for ỹ Cretenses sake) both by the testimonie of his outward calling, and by his consent wherein he agreeth with all the elect from the beginning of the world. 2 A Minister, as Christ himself in that that he was a Minister and head of the Prophets, is called a seruant, Esai.42.1. b Of those whom God hath chosen. 2 The faith wherin all the elect consent, is ỹ true and sincere knowledge of God, tending to this ende, that worshipping God aright, they may at length obteine life euerlasting according to ỹ promise of God, who is true, which promise was exhibited in Christ in due time according to his eternall purpose.

3 This trueth is no other where to bee sought, but in the preaching of the Apostles. *Galatians 1.1. f This worde (Sauiour) doeth not onely signifie a preserver of life, but also a giuer of life. 4 The Apostle moueth the Cretenses to heare Titus, by setting forth his consent and agreement with them in the faith, and therewithall sheweth by what speciall note we may distinguish true ministers from false.

to the common faith, [5] Grace, mercy, & peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ our Sauiour.

5 [6] For this cause left I thee in Creta, that thou shouldest continue to redresse the things that remaine, and shouldest ordeine Elders in euery citie, as I appointed thee,

6 * If any bee vnreprooueable, the husband of one wife, hauing faithfull children, which are not slandered of ryot, neither are disobedient.

7 [7] For a Bishop must be vnreproueable, as Gods [h] steward, not [i] froward, not angry, nor giuen to wine, no striker, not giuen to filthie lucre,

8 But harberous, one that loueth goodnesse, [k] wise, righteous, holy, temperate,

15 [11] Vnto the pure * are all things pure, but vnto them that are defiled, and vnbeleeuing is nothing pure, but euen their [o] mindes and consciences are defiled, 16 They professe that they know God, but by workes they denie him, and are abominable and disobedient, and vnto euery good worke reprobate.

5 There is but one way of saluation, common both to the Pastour, and the flocke.
6 The first admonition to ordeine Elders in euery Citie.
* 1. Tim. 3. 2.
g This word is proper to horses and oxen, which will not abide the yoke.
7 The second admonition: what faults Pastours (whom he comprehendes afore vnder the word Elders) ought to be void of; and what vertues they ought to haue.
h Whom the Lord hath appointed steward of his gifts.
i Not hard conditioned and euill to please.
k Circumspect, and of a sound iudgement, and of a singular example of moderation.
8 The third admonition: The Pastour must holde fast that doctrine, which the Apostles deliuered, and pertaineth to saluation, leauing all curious and vaine matters.
9 The fourth admonition: To apply the knowledge of true doctrine vnto vse, which consisteth in two things, to wit, in gouerning them which shewe themselues apt to learne, and confuting the obstinate.
10 An applying of the generall proposition to a particular: The Cretenses aboue all other neede sharpe reprehensions: both because their mindes are naturally giuen to lyes and slouthfulnesse, and because of certaine couetous Iewes, which vnder a colour of godlinesse, ioyned partly certaine vaine traditions, and partly olde ceremonies with ioyne the Gospel.
l Of the Iewes, or rather of those Iewes which went about to Christ and the Lawe together.
m Epimenides, who was counted a Prophet amongst them, Looke vpon Laertius, and Cicero in his first booke of diuination.
n Roughly and plainely and goe not about the bush with them.
* 1. Tim. 1. 4.
11 He sheweth in few words, that puritie consisteth not in any external worship, & that, that is according to the old Law (as in difference of meats, and washings, and other such things which are abolished) but in the minde and conscience: and Whosoeuer teach otherwise, knowe not what is true religion in deed, and also are nothing lesse then that they would seeme to bee. * Rom. 14. 20.
o If our mindes and consciences bee vncleane, what cleannesse is there in vs before regeneration?

CHAP. II.

2 Hee setteth out the duties of sundry persons and states.
6 and willeth him to instruct the Church in manners,
11 He draweth an argument from the ende of our redemption, 12 which is, that wee liue godly and vprightly.

BVt speake thou the things which become wholesome doctrine,

2 [2] That the elder men be watchful, graue temperate, sound in the faith, in loue, and in patience.

3 The elder women likewise, that they be in such behauiour as becommeth holinesse, not false accusers, not subiect to much wine, but teachers of honest things,

4 That they may instruct the yong women to bee sober minded, that they loue their husbands, that they loue their children,

5 That they bee temperate, chaste, [a] keeping at home, good and * subiect vnto their husbands, that the word of God bee not euill spoken of.

6 Exhort young men likewise, that they be sober minded.

7 [3] In all things shew thy selfe an example of good workes with vncorrupt doctrine, with [b] grauitie, integritie,

8 And with the wholesome word, which cannot be condemned, that he which withstandeth, may bee ashamed, hauing nothing concerning you to speake euill of.

9 *[4] Let seruants bee subiect to their masters, and please them in all [c] things, not answering againe,

10 Neither pickers, but that they shew all good faithfulnesse, that they may adorne the doctrine of God our Sauiour in all things.

11 *[5] For that grace of God, that bringeth saluation vnto all men, hath appeared,

12 And teacheth vs that wee should denie vngodlinesse and [d] worldly lustes, and that wee should liue soberly and righteously, and godly in this present world,

13 [e] Looking for that blessed hope, and appearing of that glory of that mightie God, and of our Sauiour Iesus Christ, 14 Who gaue himselfe for vs, that hee might redeeme vs from all iniquitie, & purge vs, to bee a [f] peculiar people vnto himselfe, zealous of good workes.

15 These things speake, and exhort, and conuince with all [g] authoritie. See that no man despise thee.

1 The first admonition: The doctrine must not only be generally pure, but also be applied to all ages and sorts of men, according to the diuersities of circumstances.
2 What are the chiefest vertues for olde and yong both men and women: and how they ought to be stirred vp vnto them continually.
a No gadders vp and downe.
* Ephes. 5. 23.
3 The first admonition: That both the Pastours life and doctrine must be sound.
b Not such a grauitie as may driue men from comming to the minister, but such as may cause them to come in most reuerent and honest sort.
* Ephes. 6. 5. col. 3. 22. 1. pet. 2. 18.
4 The seuenth admonition, of seruants duetie toward their masters.
c Which may be done without offence to God.
* 1. Cor. 1. 2. colos. 1. 22.
5 The eight admonition belonging to all the godly, that seeing God calleth all men to the Gospell, and Christ hath iustified vs, that he hath also sanctified vs, we must all of vs giue our selues to true godlinesse, and righteousnesse, setting before vs a sure hope of that immeasurable glory, which thing must in such sort be beaten into their heads, that the gainesayers also must bee reproued, by the authoritie of the mightie God.
d Lustes of the flesh, which belong to the present state of this life and world.
e Christ is here most plainely called that mightie God, and his appearance and comming is called by the figure Metonymie, our hope.
f As it were a thing peculiarly layd vp for himselfe.
g With all authoritie possible.

CHAP. III.

1 He willeth that all generally bee put in minde to reuerence such as be in authoritie: 3 That they remember their former life, and attribute all iustification vnto grace. 9 And if any brabler withstand these things,
10 he willeth that he be reiected.

PVt [1] them in remembrance that they * bee subiect to the Principalities and powers,

1 He declareth particularly and seuerally those which he said before generally, noting out certaine chiefe and principall duties, which men owe to men, and especially subiects to their magistrates.
* Rom. 13. 1. 1. pet. 2. 13.

and that they be obedient, and ready to euery good worke,

2 That they speake euill of no man, that they be no fighters, but soft, shewing al meeknesse vnto all men.

3 [2]* For we our selues also were in times past vnwise, disobedient, deceiued, seruing the lustes and diuers pleasures, liuing in maliciousnesse and enuie, hatefull, and hating one another.

4 But when that bountifulnesse and that loue of God our Sauiour toward man appeared,

5 *Not by the workes of [a] righteousnesse, which wee had done, but according to his mercie hee saued vs, by the washing of the new birth, and the renewing of the [b] holy Ghost,

6 Which hee shed on vs abundantly, through Iesus Christ our Sauiour,

7 That we, being iustified by his grace, should bee made heires according to the hope of eternall life.

8 [3] This is a true saying, & these things I will thou shouldest affirme, that they which haue beleeued God, might be carefull to shewe forth [c] good workes. These things are good and profitable vnto men.

9 *But stay foolish questions, and genealogies, and contentions, and brawlings about the Law: for they are vnprofitable and vaine.

10 [4] Reiect him that is an heretike, after once or twice admonition, 11 Knowing that hee that is such, is peruerted, and sinneth, being damned of his owne selfe.

12 [5] When I shall send Artemas vnto thee, or Tychicus, bee diligent to come to me vnto Nicopolis: for I haue determined there to winter.

13 Bring Zenas the expounder of the Law, and Apollos on their iourney diligently, that they lacke nothing.

14 And let ours also learne to shew forth good workes for necessary vses, that they bee not vnfruitfull.

15 All that are with me, salute thee. Greet them that loue vs in the faith. Grace be with you all, Amen.

The Epistle of Paul to Philemon.

1 Paul handling a base and small matter, yet according to his maner mounteth aloft vnto God. 8 Sending againe to Philemon his vagabond and theeuish seruant, he entreateth pardon for him, and very grauely preacheth of Christian equitie.

PAul a prisoner of Iesus Christ, and our brother Timotheus, vnto Philemon our deare friend, and fellow helper,

2 And to our deare sister Apphia, and to Archippus our fellow souldier, and to the Church that is in thine house:

3 Grace be with you, & peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Iesus Christ.

4 I *giue thankes to my God, making mention alwayes of thee in my prayers,

5 (When I heare of thy loue and faith, which thou hast toward the Lord Iesus, and toward all Saints.)

6 That the [a] fellowship of thy faith may be made effectuall, and that whatsoeuer good thing is in you through Christ Iesus, may bee [b] knowen.

7 For we haue great ioy and consolation in thy loue, because by thee, brother, ỹ Saints [c] bowels are comforted.

8 Wherefore, though I bee very bold in Christ to command thee, that which is conuenient, 9 [1] Yet for loues sake I rather beseech thee, though I bee as I am, euen Paul aged, and euen now a prisoner for Iesus Christ.

10 I beseech thee for my sonne *Onesimus, whom I haue begotten in my bonds, 11 Which in times past was to thee vnprofitable, but now profitable both to thee and to mee.

12 Whom I haue sent againe: thou therefore receiue him, that is mine owne [d] bowels.

13 Whom I would haue reteined with me, that in thy stead hee might haue ministred vnto me in the bonds of the Gospel.

14 But without thy mind would I do nothing, that thy benefit should not be as it were of [e] necessitie, but willingly.

15 It may be that hee therefore [f] departed for [g] a season, that thou shouldest receiue him for euer, 16 Not now as a seruant, but aboue a seruant, euen as a brother beloued, especially to me: how much more then vnto thee, both in the [h] flesh and in the Lord?

17 If therefore thou count our things common, receiue him as my selfe.

18 If

a By fellowship of faith, he meaneth those duties of charitie which are bestowed vpon the Saints, and flow forth of an effectuall faith.
b That by this meanes all men may perceiue how rich you are in Christ, to wit, in faith, charitie, & all bountifulnesse.
c Because thou diddest so duetifully and cheerefully refresh the Saints, that they conceiued inwardly a marueilous ioy: for by this word (Bowels) is meant not onely the inward feeling of want and miseries that men haue one of anothers state, but also that ioy and comfort which entreth into the very bowels, as though the heart were refreshed and comforted.

1 An example of a Christian exercise and commendation for another man.
*Col.4.9.

e That thou mightest not seeme to haue lent me thy seruant vpon constraint, but willingly.
f Thus he asswageth the harder kind of speech, which is to say, he ranne away.
g For a litle time
h Because he is thy seruant, as other seruants are, and because he is the Lords seruant so that thou must needs loue him both for ỹ Lords sake, and for thine owne sake.

*1.Thes.1.2. 2.Thes.1.3.

18 If hee hath hurt thee, or oweth thee ought, that put on mine accounts.

19 I Paul haue written this with mine owne hand: I will recompense it, albeit I do not say to thee, that thou owest moreouer vnto me euen thine owne selfe.

20 [i] Yea, brother, let me obteine this pleasure of thee in the Lord: comfort my bowels in the Lord.

21 Trusting in thine obedience, I wrote vnto thee, knowing that thou wilt doe euen more then I say.

i Good brother let me obteine this benefite at thine hand.

22 Moreouer also prepare me lodging: for I trust through your prayers I shall be freely giuen vnto you.

23 There salute thee Epaphras my fellow prisoner in Christ Iesus, 24 Marcus, Aristarchus, Demas, and Luke my fellow helpers.

25 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ, be with your spirit, Amen.

¶ Written from Rome to Philemon, and sent by Onesimus a seruant.

¶ The Epistle to the Hebrewes.

THe drift and ende of this Epistle, is to shew that Iesus Christ the Sonne of God both God and man is that true eternal and onely Prophet, King and high Priest, that was shadowed by the figures of the old Law, & is now in deed exhibited: of whom the whole Church ought to bee taught, gouerned, and sanctified.

CHAP. I.

1 To shew that the doctrine which Christ brought, is most excellent, in that it is the knitting vp of all prophecies, 4 hee aduanceth him aboue the Angels: 10 And prooueth by diuers testimonies of the Scripture, that he fare passeth all other.

1 The first part of the generall proposition of this Epistle: the Sonne of God is in deed that Prophet or teacher, which hath actually now performed that that God after a sort and in shadowes signified by his prophets, and hath fully opened his Fathers will to the world.

AT [1] sundry times and in diuers maners God spake in the olde time to our fathers by the Prophets: in these [a] last dayes hee hath spoken vnto vs by his [b] Sonne, a So that the former declaration made by the Prophets was not full, and nothing must be added to this later.

b Which one Sonne is God and man.

2 [c] Whom hee hath made [c] heire of all things, by whom also he made the [d] worlds,

2 The second part of the same proposition: The same Sonne is appointed of the Father to bee our King and Lord, by whom also he made all things: and in whom onely hee setteth forth his glory, yea, and himselfe also to be beholden of vs, who beareth vp and sustaineth all things by his will and pleasure.

3 [*] Who being the [e] brightnesse of the glorie, and the ingraued forme of his [f] person, and [g] bearing vp all things by his mightie worde, [3] hath by himselfe purged our sinnes, and [h] sitteth at the right hand of the maiestie [4] in the highest places, c Possessour and equall compartner of all things with the Father.

d That is, whatsoeuer hath bene at any time, is, or shalbe. *Col.1.15.

e Hee in whom that glory and Maiestie of the Father shineth, who is otherwise infinite, and cannot be beholden.

f His Fathers person.

g Sustaineth.

3 The third part of the same proposition: The same Sonne executed the office of the hie Priest in offering vp himselfe, and is our only and most mightie Mediatour in heauen.

h This sheweth that the sauour of that his sacrifice is not only most acceptable to the Father, but also is euerlasting, and furthermore how farre this high Priest passeth all the other high Priestes.

4 Before he commeth to declare the office of Christ, hee setteth forth the excellencie of his person, and first of all he sheweth him so to bee man, that therewithall he is God also.

4 [i] And is made so much more excellent then the Angels, in as much as hee hath obteined a more excellent [i] Name then they.

i Dignitie and honour. 5.6.7. 8. 9. 10. Hee prooueth and confirmeth the dignitie of Christ manifest in the flesh, by these fiue euident testimonies, whereby it appeareth that hee farre passeth all Angels, insomuch that hee is called both Sonne and GOD, in verses 5.6.7.8.10 13. *Psal.2.7 chap.5.5.

5 [5] For vnto which of the Angels said he at any time, * Thou art my Sonne, [k] this day begate I thee? [6] and againe, I * will bee his Father, and he shall be my Sonne?

k The Father begate the Sonne from euerlasting, but that euerlasting generation was made manifest and represented to the world in his time, and therefore hee added this word (To day)

* 2.Sam.7.14. 1.chron.22.10.

l The Lord was not content to haue spoken it once, but he repeateth it in another place.

6 [7] And [l] againe, when he bringeth in his first begotten Sonne into the world, hee saith, * And let all the Angels of God worship him.

* Psal.97.7.

7 [8] And of the Angels he sayth, * He maketh the spirits his [m] messengers, and his ministers a [n] flame of fire.

* Psal.104.4.

m Cherub, psal. 18,11.

n Seraph, Esa. 6.2.

8 But vnto the Sonne he saith, * O God, thy [o] throne is for euer [p] and euer: the scepter of thy kingdome is a [q] scepter of righteousnesse.

* Psal.45.7.

o The throne is proper to Princes and not to seruants.

p For euerlasting, for this doubling of the word increaseth the significacion of it beyond all measure.

q The gouernment of thy kingdom is righteous.

9 Thou hast loued righteousnesse and [r] hated iniquitie. Wherefore God, euen thy God, hath [s] anointed thee with the oyle of gladnesse aboue thy [t] fellowes.

r This kinde of rehearsing with the Iewes vsed contraries, hath great force in it.

s In that, that the worde became flesh, by powring the holy Ghost vpon him without measure.

t For he is the head and we are his members.

10 [9] And, * Thou Lord, in the beginning hast [u] established the earth, and the heauens are the workes of thine hands.

* Psal.102.25.

u Madest the earth firme and sure.

11 They shall perish, but thou doest remaine: and they all shall waxe olde as doeth a garment.

12 And as a vesture shalt thou folde them vp, and they shall be changed: but thou art the same, and thy yeeres shall not faile.

13 [10] Vnto which also of the Angels said he at any time, * Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstoole?

* Psalm 110.1. 1. cor.15.25. chap. 10.12,13.

14 Are they not all [x] ministring spirits, sent forth to minister, for their sakes which shall be heires of saluation?

x By that name by which we commonly call Princes messengers, he here calleth the spirits.

CHAP. II.

1 Therefore he inferreth that good heed must be giuen to Christes doctrine: 9 And he setteth him out vnto vs euen as our brother in our flesh, that wee may with a good will yeeld vp our selues wholy vnto him.

WHerefore [1] wee ought diligently to giue heed to the things which [a] we haue heard, leſt at any time we [b] runne out.

2 For if the [c] worde ſpoken by Angels was ſteadfaſt, and euery tranſgreſſion and diſobedience receiued a iuſt recompenſe of reward,

3 How ſhall wee eſcape, if we neglect ſo great ſaluation, [2] which at the firſt began to be preached by the Lord, and afterward was confirmed vnto vs by [d] them that heard him.

4 *God bearing witneſſe thereto, both with [e] ſignes and wonders and with diuers miracles, and gifts of the holy Ghoſt, according to his owne will?

5 [3] For he hath not put in ſubiection vnto the Angels the [f] world to come, whereof we ſpeake.

6 [4] But *one in a certaine place witneſſed, ſaying, [g] What is man, that thou ſhouldeſt be mindfull of him? or the [h] ſonne of man, that thou wouldeſt conſider him?

7 Thou [i] madeſt him a little inferiour to the Angels: thou crowneſt him with [k] glory and honour, and haſt ſet him aboue the workes of thine hands.

8 *Thou haſt put all things in ſubiection vnder his feet. And in that he hath put all things in ſubiection vnder him, hee left nothing that ſhould not bee ſubiect vnto him. [5] But we yet ſee not all things ſubdued vnto him,

9 [6] But we [l] ſee Jeſus crowned with glorie and honour, *which was made little [m] inferiour to the Angels, [7] through the [n] ſuffering of death, that by Gods grace hee might [o] taſte death for [8] all men.

10 [9] For it became [p] him, for whom are all theſe things, and by whom are all theſe things, [10] ſeeing that hee brought many children vnto glory, [11] that hee ſhould conſecrate the [q] prince of their ſaluation through afflictions.

11 [12] For hee that [r] ſanctifieth, and they which are ſanctified are all of [ſ] one: wherefore he is not aſhamed to call them brethren, 12 [13] Saying, I will declare thy Name vnto my brethren: in the mids of the Church will I ſing prayſes to thee.

13 [14] And againe, *I will put my [t] truſt in him. And againe, *[u] Beholde, heere am I, and the children which God hath giuen me.

14 Forasmuch then as the children are [x] partakers of fleſh and blood, he alſo himſelfe likewiſe tooke part with them, that he might deſtroy *through death, him that hath the [y] power of death, that is, the [z] deuill, 15 And that hee might deliuer all them, which for feare of [a] death were all their lifetime ſubiect to bondage.

16 [15] For he in no ſort tooke on him the [b] Angels nature, but he tooke on him the [c] ſeed of Abraham.

17 [16] Wherefore in [d] all things it behoued him to be made like vnto his brethren, that hee might bee [e] mercifull, and a [f] faithfull hie Prieſt in things cõcerning God, that he might make reconciliation for the ſinnes of the people.

18 For in that he ſuffered, and was [g] tempted, hee is able to ſuccour them that are tempted.

1 Now as it were pauſing with himſelfe, & ſhewing to what end and purpoſe all theſe things were ſpoken, to wit, to vnderſtand by the excellency of Chriſt aboue all creatures, that his doctrine, maieſtie, and Prieſthood, is moſt perfect, he vſeth an exhortation taken from a comparison.

a Hee maketh himſelfe an hearer.

b They are ſayd to let the worde runne out, which hold it not faſt when they haue heard it.

c The Law which appointed puniſhment for the offenders: and which Paul ſaith was giuen by Angels, Gal. 3. 19. and Steuen Actes 7. 53.

2 If the breach and tranſgreſſions of the word ſpoke by Angels was not ſuffered vnpuniſhed, much leſſe ſhall it be lawfull for vs to neglect the Goſpel which the Lord of Angels preached, & was confirmed by the voice of the Apoſtles, and with ſo many ſignes and wonders ſtõ heauen, & eſpecially with ſo great and mighty working of the holy Ghoſt.

3 By the Apoſtles. *Mark. 16. 20. e This is the true end of miracles. Now they are called ſignes, becauſe they appeare one thing, and repreſent another: and they are called wonders, becauſe they repreſent ſome ſtrange and vnacuſtomed thing: and vertues becauſe they giue vs a glimce of Gods mightie power. 3 If it were an hainous matter to contemne the Angels which are but ſeruants, much more hainous is it to contemne that moſt mighty King of the reſtored world. f The world to come, whereof Chriſt is Father, Eſa. 9. 6. or the Church, which as a new world, was to be gathered together by the Goſpel. 4 He ſheweth that the vſe of this kingly dignitie conſiſteth herein, that men might not only in Chriſt recouer that dignity which they haue loſt, but alſo might be through him aduanced aboue all things, which dignitie of men Dauid deſcribeth moſt excellently. *Pſalme 8. 6. g What is there an man that thou ſhouldeſt haue ſo great regard of him, and do him that honour? h He calleth all the citizens of that heauenly kingdome as they are cõſidered in themſelues, before that God gineth them the liberte of that citie in Chriſt, Man, & Sonne of man. i This is the firſt honor of the citizens of the world to come, that they are next the Angels. k For they ſhalbe in very great honour when they ſhalbe partakers of the kingdom. And he ſpeaketh of the thing that ſhalbe, as though it were already, becauſe it is ſo certaine. 1. Cor. 15. 27. 5 An obiection: But where is this ſo great rule & dominion? The anſwere: this is already fulfilled in Jeſus Chriſt our head, who was for a time for our ſakes inferiour to the Angels, being made man: but now is aduanced to moſt high glory. l By his vertue & power which appeareth manifeſtly in his Church. *Phil. 2. 8. m Who abaſed himſelfe for a ſeaſon, and tooke vpon him the ſhape of a ſeruant. 7 He ſheweth the cauſe of this ſubiection, to wit, to taſte of death for our ſakes, that ſo doing the part of a redeemer, he might not onely be our Prophet and King but alſo our high Prieſt. n That hee might die. o Feele death. 8 Herein conſiſteth the force of the argument: for we could not imagine he ſhould be glorified with him, vnleſſe he had beene abaſed for vs euen al the faithfull. And by this occaſion the Apoſtle commeth to the other part of the declaration of Chriſts perſon, wherein he proueth him to be in ſuch ſort God, that he is alſo man. He proueth moreouer by other argumẽts, why it behoued the Sonne of God to be true God (as hee proued a little before) to become man notwithſtanding ſubiect to all miſeries, ſinne onely except. p God.

10 Firſt of al becauſe the Father, to whoſe glory all theſe things are to bee referred, purpoſed to bring many ſonnes vnto glory. And how could hee haue men for his ſons, vnleſſe his onely begotten ſonne had become brother to men?

11 Secondly, The Father determined to bring thoſe ſonnes to glory, to wit, out of that ignominie wherein they lay before. Therefore the ſonne ſhould not haue beene ſeene plainly to be made man, vnleſſe he had beene made like vnto other men, that he might come to glory by the ſelfe ſame way, by the which he ſhould bring other: yea rather, it became him which was Prince of the ſaluation of other, to be conſecrated aboue other, through thoſe afflictions, Prophet, King, and Prieſt, which are the parts of that principality for the ſaluation of other.

q The Chieftain who as hee is chiefeſt in dignitie, ſo is hee firſt begotten from among the dead, amongſt many brethren. 12 The ground of both the former arguments, for neither ſhould we be ſonnes through him, neither could he be conſecrate through afflictions, vnleſſe he had beene made man like vnto vs. But becauſe this Sonnehood dependeth not vpon nature onely, for no man is accounted the ſonne of God, vnleſſe that beſides that he is a ſonne of a man, he be alſo Chriſtes brother, (which is by ſanctification, that is, by becomming one with Chriſt, who ſanctifieth vs through faith) therefore the Apoſtle maketh mention of the ſanctifier, to wit, of Chriſt, and of them that are ſanctified, to wit, of all the faithfull, whom therefore Chriſt vouchſafeth to call brethren. r Hee vſeth the time that now is to ſhew vs that wee are yet ſtill going on, and encreaſing in this ſanctification: and by this ſanctification hee meaneth our ſeparation from the reſt of the world, our cleanſing from ſinne, and our dedication wholly vnto God, all which Chriſt alone worketh in vs. ſ One, of one ſelfe ſame nature of man. 13 That which he taught before of the incarnation of the ſanctifier, hee applieth to the propheticall office. *Pſal. 22. 25. 14 He applieth the ſame to the kingly power of Chriſt, in deliuering his from the power of the deuill & death. *Pſal. 18. 2. t I will commit my ſelfe to him, and to his defence. *Eſai. 8. 18. u This Eſai ſpeaketh of himſelfe and his diſciples, but betokening there by all miniſters, as alſo his diſciples ſignifie the whole Church. And therefore ſeeing Chriſt is the head of the Prophets and Miniſters, theſe words are more rightly verified of him, then of Eſai. x Are made of fleſh and blood, which is a fraile and britle nature. *Hoſe. 13. 14. 1. corint. 15. 55. y The deuill is ſaid to haue the power of death, becauſe he is the authour of ſinne: and from ſinne commeth death, and for this cauſe hee egged vs dayly to ſinne. z He ſpeaketh of one as of the Prince, ioyning to him ſecretly all his angels. a By (death) thou muſt vnderſtand here, that death which is ioyned with the wrath of God, as it muſt needes bee, if it bee without Chriſt, then the which there can be nothing deuiſed more miſerable. 15 He expoundeth thoſe words of fleſh and blood, ſhewing that Chriſt is true man, and that not by turning his diuine nature, but by taking of mans nature. And he nameth Abraham, reſpecting the promiſes made to Abraham in this behalfe. b The nature of Angels. c The very nature of man. 16 Hee applieth the ſame to the Prieſthood, for which he ſhould not haue beene fit, vnles he had become man, and that like vnto vs in all things ſinne only except. d Not onely as touching nature, but qualities alſo. e That he might be tenderlie touched with the feeling of our miſeries. f Doing his office ſincerely. g Was tried and egged to wickedneſſe by the deuill.

CHAP. III.

1 Now hee ſheweth how farre inferiour Moſes is to Chriſt,

Christ, 5.6 euen so much as the seruant to the Master: and so he bringeth in certaine exhortations & threatnings taken out of Dauid, 8. against such as either stubburnely resist, 12 or else are very slow to obey.

THerefore, [1] holy brethren, partakers of the heauenly vocation, consider the [a] Apostle and high Priest of our [b] profession Christ Iesus:

2 [2] Who was faithfull in him that hath [c] appointed him, [3] euen as * Moses was in all his house.

3 [4] For this man is counted worthie of more glory then Moses, insomuch as he which hath builded the house, hath more honour then the house.

4 For euerie house is builded of some man, and hee that hath built all things, is God.

5 [5] Now Moses verily was faithful in all his house, as a seruant, for a witnesse of the things which should be spoken after.

6 But Christ is as the Sonne, ouer his owne house, [6] whose [d] house we are, if we hold fast that [e] confidence and that reioycing of that hope vnto the end.

7 Wherefore, as the holy Ghost saith, * To day if ye [f] will heare his voice,

8 Harden not your hearts, as in the [g] prouocation, according to the day of the tentation in the wildernesse,

9 Where your fathers tempted me, proued mee, and saw my workes fourtie yeeres long.

10 Wherefore I was grieued with that generation, and sayd, They [h] erre euer in their heart, neither haue they knowen my wayes.

11 Therefore I sware in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest.

12 [7] Take heede, brethren, least at any time there bee in any of you an euill heart, and vnfaithfull, to depart away from the liuing God.

13 But exhort one another dayly, [i] while it is called to day, lest any of you bee hardened through the deceitfulnesse of sinne.

14 [8] For we are made partakers of Christ, if we keepe sure vnto the end that [k] beginning, where with we are vpholden, 15 [l] So long as it is saide, To day if yee heare his voyce, harden not your hearts, as in the prouocation.

16 For some when they heard, prouoked him to anger: howbeit, not all that came out of Egypt by Moses.

17 But with whome was hee displeased fourtie yeeres? Was hee not displeased with them that sinned, * whose carkeises fell in the wildernesse?

18 And to whome sware hee that they shoulde not enter into my rest, but vnto them that obeyed not?

19 So we see that they could not enter in, because of vnbeliefe.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He inyneth exhortation with threatning, lest, they euen as their fathers were, bee deprived of the rest offered vnto them, 11 but that they endeuour to enter into it. 14 And so he beginneth to intreat of Christs Priesthood

LEt vs feare therefore, least at any time by forsaking the promise of entring into his rest, any of you should seeme to be depriued.

2 [1] For vnto vs was the Gospel preached as also vnto them: but the word that they heard, profited not them, because it was not [a] mixed with faith in those that heard it.

3 [2] For we which haue beleeued, do enter into rest as he sayd to the other, * As I haue sworne in my wrath, If they shall enter into my rest: although the workes were finished from the foundation of the world.

4 For he spake in a certaine place of the seuenth day on this wise, * And God did rest the seuenth day from all his workes.

5 And in this place againe, If they shall enter into my rest.

6 Seeing therefore it remaineth that some must enter thereinto, & they to whō it was first preached, entred not therein for vnbeliefs sake:

7 Againe hee appointed in Dauid a certaine day, by To day, after so long a time, saying, as it is saide, * This day, if yee heare his voyce, harden not your hearts.

8 For if [b] Iesus had giuen them rest, then would hee not after this haue spoken of another day.

9 There remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God.

a Hauing laide the foundation, that is to say, declared and proued both the natures of one selfe same Christ, he giueth him three offices, to wit, the office of a Prophet, King, and Priest, and as touching the office of teaching and gouerning, compareth him with Moses and Iosh. vnto the 14. verse of the next Chapter, and with Aaron touching the Priesthood. And he propoundeth that which hee purposeth to speake of, with a most graue exhortation, that all our faith may tend to Christ, as to the onely euerlasting teacher gouernour, and high Priest.

2 The Embassadour or messenger, as Rom. 5. he is called the minister of Circumcision.

b Of the doctrine of the Gospel which we professe.

c Hee confirmeth this exhortation with two reasons, first of all because Christ Iesus was appointed such an one of God: secondly, because hee thoroughly executed the offices that his Father enioyned him.

c Apostle and high Priest.

3 Now he commeth to the comparison with Moses, and hee maketh them like one of the other in this, that they were both appointed rulers ouer Gods house, and executed faithfully their office: but by and by after hee sheweth that there is great vnlikelinesse in that same similitude. * Numbers 12.7. 4 The first comparison: The builder of the house is better then the house it selfe, therefore is Christ better then Moses. The reason of the consequent is this: because the builder of this house is God, which cannot bee attributed to Moses: and therefore Moses was not properly the builder, but a part of the house: but Christ as Lord and God, made all this house. 5 Another comparison: Moses was a faithfull seruant in this house, that is, in the Church, seruing the Lord that was to come, but Christ ruleth and gouerneth his house as Lord. 6 Hee applieth the former doctrine to his ende, exhorting all men by the words of Dauid to heare the Sonne himselfe speake, and to giue full credite to his words, seeing that otherwise they cannot enter into that eternall rest.

d To wit, Christes. e Hee calleth that excellent effect of faith (whereby we crie Abba, that is, Father) confidence, and to confidence hee ioyneth hope. * Psalme 95 3. chapter 47. f So that God was to speake once againe after Moses. g In the day that they vexed the Lord, or stroue with him. h They are brutish and mad 7 Now weighing the words of Dauid, hee sheweth first by this word. To day, that wee must not neglect the occasion while we haue it: for that word is not to bee restrained to Dauids time, but it comprehendeth al that time wherein God calleth vs. i While to day lasteth, that is to say, so long as the Gospell is offered to vs.

8 Now he continueth these words, If you heare his voyce, &c. shewing that they are taken and meant of the hearing of faith, against which he setteth hardening through vnbeliefe.

k That beginning of trust and confidence and after the manner of the Hebrewes, he calleth that, beginning which is chiefest.

l So long as this voyce soundeth out.

* Num. 14.37.

---

1 By these words, His voice he sheweth that Dauid ment the preaching of Christ, who was then also preached, for Moses and the Prophets respected none other.

a He compareth the preaching of the Gospel to drinke, which being drunke, that is to say, heard, profiteth nothing, vnlesse it be tempered with faith.

2 Lest any man should obiect, that those words were meant of the land of Canaan, and of Moses doctrine, and therefore can not well be applied to Christ, and to eternall life, the Apostle sheweth that there are two maner of rests spoken of in the Scriptures: the one of the seuenth day, wherein God is said to haue rested from all his works: another is said to be that same, whereinto Iosua led the people: but this rest is not the last rest whereunto we are called: & that it proueth by two reasons. For seeing that Dauid so long time after, speaking to the people which were then placed in the land of Canaan, vseth these words, To day, and threatneth them still that they shal not enter into the rest of God, which resteth then the voyce of God that sounded in their eares, we must needs say that hee meant another time then the time of Moses, and another rest then the rest of the land of Canaan: And that is that euerlasting rest, wherin we begin to liue to God, & that the race of this life ceaseth: as God rested the seuenth day frō those his workes that is to say from making the world. Moreouer the Apostle therewithal signifieth that the way to this rest, which Moses and the land of Canaan and all that state of the Law did shadow, is opened in the Gospel only. * Psa. 95.11. * Gen. 2. Deu. 5.14. * Chap. 3.7. b He speaketh of Iosua the sonne of Nun: and as the land of Canaan was a figure of our true rest, so was Iosua a figure of Christ.

10 [c] For he that is entred into his rest, hath also ceased from his owne works, as God did from his.

11 [3] Let vs studie therefore to enter into that rest, lest [d] any man fall after the same ensample of disobedience.

12 [4] For the [e] worde of God is [f] liuely, and mightie in operation, and sharper then any two edged sworde, and entreth through, euen vnto the diuiding asunder of the [g] soule and the [h] spirit, and of the ioynts, and the marowe, and is a discerner of the thoughts, and the intents of the heart.

13 Neither is there any creature, which is not manifest in [i] his sight: but all things are naked and open vnto his eyes, with whom we haue to doe.

14 [5] Seeing then that wee haue a great hie Priest, which is entred into heauen, euen Iesus the Sonne of God, let vs [k] holde fast our profession.

15 [6] For we haue not an hie Priest, which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities, but was in all things tempted in like sort, yet without sinne.

16 Let vs therefore goe boldely vnto the throne of grace, that wee may receiue mercie, and find grace to helpe in time of need.

c As God rested the seuenth day, so must we rest from our works, that is, from such as proceede from our corrupt nature.
3 He returneth to an exhortation.
d Lest any man become a like example of infidelitie.
4 An amplification taken from the nature of the worde of God, the power whereof is such, that it entreth euen to the deepest and most inward and secret parts of the heart, wounding them deadly that are stubburne, and plainely quickening the beleeuers.
e The doctrine of God which is preached both in the Law and in the Gospel.
f He calleth the worde of God liuely, by reason of the effects it worketh in them, to whom it is preached.
g He calleth that the soule, which hath the affections resident in it. h By the spirit, he meaneth that noblest part which is called the mind. i In Gods sight.
5 Now he entreth into the comparison of Christs Priesthood with Aarons, & declareth euen in the very beginning the marueilous excellencie of his Priesthood, calling him the Sonne of God, & placing him in the seate of God in heauen, plainly and eminently setting him against Aarons Priests, and the transitorie tabernacle: which comparisons he setteth forth afterward more at large. k And let it not goe out of our handes. 6 Lest hee might seeme by this great glorie of our hie Priest, to stay and stop vs from going vnto him, hee addeth straightwayes after, that he is notwithstanding our brother in deed, (as he prooued it also before) and that he accompteth all our miseries his owne, to call vs boldly to him.

CHAP. V.

1 First he sheweth the duety of the hie Priest: 5 Secondly, that Christ is appointed of God to bee our hie Priest, 7 and that he hath fulfilled all things belonging thereunto.

1 [1] For euery hie Priest is taken from among men, and is ordeined for men, in things perteining to God, [2] that hee may offer both [a] gifts and [b] sacrifices for sinnes.

2 Which is [c] able sufficiently to haue compassion [d] on them that are ignorant, and that are out of the way, because that hee also is [e] compassed with infirmitie,

3 And for the same sake hee is bound to offer for sinnes, as well for his owne part, as for the peoples.

4 [*3] And no man taketh this honour vnto himselfe, but hee that is called of God, as was Aaron.

1 The first part of the first comparison of Christs hie Priesthood, with Aarons: Other hie Priests are taken from among men, and are called after the order of men.
2 The first part of the seconde comparison: Others as weake, are made hie Priests, to the end that feeling the same infirmitie in themselues which is in all the rest of the people, they should in their owne and the peoples name offer gifts and sacrifices, which are witnesses of common faith and repentance. a Offering of things without life.
b Beasts which were killed, but especially in the sacrifices for sinnes & offences.
c Fit and meete. d On them that are sinfull: for in the Hebrew tongue, vnder ignorance and errour is euery sinne meant, euen that sinne that is voluntarie.
e For that he himselfe beareth about with him a nature subiect to the same discommodities and vices. * 1. Chro. 13. 10. & 23. 13. 3 The third comparison which is whole. The others are called of God, and so was Christ, but in an other maner then Aaron: For Christ is called the Sonne, begotten of God, and a Priest for euer after the order of Melchisedec.

5 So likewise Christ tooke not to himselfe this honour, to be made the hie Priest, but he that said vnto him, * Thou art my Sonne, this day begat I thee, gaue it him.

6 As hee also in another place speaketh, * Thou art a Priest for euer, after the [f] order of Melchi-sedec.

7 [4] Who in the [g] dayes of his flesh did offer vp prayers and supplications, with strong crying and teares vnto him, that was able to [h] saue him from death, and was also heard in that which he feared.

8 And though hee were the Sonne, yet [i] learned he obedience, by the things which he suffered.

9 [5] And being [k] consecrate, was made the authour of eternall saluation vnto al them that obey him:

10 And is called of God an hie Priest after the order of Melchi-sedec.

11 [6] Of whom wee haue many things to say, which are hard to be vttered, because yee are dull of hearing.

12 [7] For when as concerning the time ye ought to bee teachers, yet haue yee neede againe that wee teach you what are the first principles of the worde of God: and are become such as haue neede of milke, and not of strong meate.

13 For euery one that vseth milke, is inexpert in the [l] word of righteousnesse: for hee is a babe.

14 But strong meate belongeth to them that are of age, which through long custome haue their [m] wits exercised, to discerne both good and euill.

* Psal. 2. 7. chap. 1. 5.
* Psal. 110. 4. chap. 7. 17.
f After the likenesse or maner as it is afterward declared. Chap. 7. 15.
4 The other part of the second comparison: Christ being exceedingly afflicted and exceedingly mercifull asked not for his sinnes, for he had none, but for his feare and obtained his request, and offered himselfe for all his.
g While he liued here with vs, in our weake and fraile nature.
h To deliuer him from death.
i He learned in deede what it is to haue a Father, whom a man must obey.
5 The other part of the first comparison: But Christ was consecrate of God the Father as the Authour of our saluation, and an hie Priest for euer, and therefore he is so a man, that notwithstanding he is farre aboue all men.
k Looke Chap. 2. 10.
6 A digression, vntill he come to the beginning of the seuenth Chapter: wherein hee partly boldeth the Hebrewes in the diligent consideration of those things which hee hath said, and partly prepareth them to the vnderstanding of those things whereof he will speake. 7 An example of an Apostolike chiding. l In the word which teacheth righteousnesse. m All their power whereby they vnderstand and iudge.

CHAP. VI.

1 He briefly toucheth the childish slouthfulnes of the Hebrewes, 4 and terrifieth them with seuere threatnings: 7 He stirreth them vp to endeuour in time to goe forward: 9 He hopeth well of them: 13 Hee alledgeth Abrahams example: 17 and compareth faith that taketh hold on the word, 19 to an ancre.

1 THerefore leauing the doctrine of the [a] beginnings of Christ, let vs be led forward vnto perfection, [1] not laying againe the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God,

2 Of the doctrine of baptismes, and laying on of handes, and of the resurrection from the dead, and of eternall iudgement.

3 And this will we doe if God permit.

a The first principles of Christian religiō, which we doe call the Catechisme.
1 Certaine principles of a Catechisme, which comprehend the summe of the doctrine of the Gospel, were giuen in few words and briefly to the rude and ignorant, to wit, the profession of repentance and faith in God: the articles of which doctrine, were demanded of them which were not as yet receiued members of the Church, at the daies appointed for Baptisme: and of the children of the faithfull which were baptized in their infancie. when hands were layd vpon them. And of those articles, two are by name recited: the resurrection of the flesh, and the eternall iudgement.

2 * For

2 He adveth a vehemencie to his exhortation, and a most sharpe threatning of the certaine destruction that shall come to them which fall from God and his religion.
* Chap. 10.26. matth. 12.45. 2.pet 2.10.
b He speaketh of a generall backesli ling, and such as doe altogether fall away from the faith, and not of sinnes which are committed through the fraillie of a man against the first and the second Table.
c Wee must marke the force of this worde, for it is one thing to beleeue as Lydia did, whose heart God opened, Acts 16.13. and another thing to haue some taste.
d As men that hate Christ, and as though they crucified him againe, make him a mocking stock to all the world, and that to their owne destruction, as Iulian the Apostata or backslider did.
3 He setteth forth the former threatning with a similitude.
4 He mitigateth and asswageth all that sharpenesse, hoping better of them to whom he writeth.
5 He praiseth them for their charitie, thereby encouraging them to goe forward, and to holde out to the end.
6 He sheweth what vertues chiefly they haue neede of to goe forward constantly and also to profit: to wit, of charitie and patience: and lest any man

4 [2]* For it is [b] impossible that they which were once lightened, and haue [c] tasted of the heauenly gift, and were made partakers of the holy Ghost,

5 And haue tasted of the good worde of God, and of the powers of the world to come,

6 If they fall away, should bee renewed againe by repentance: seeing they [d] crucifie againe to themselues the Sonne of God, and make a mocke of him.

7 [3] For the earth which drinketh in the raine that commeth oft vpon it, and bringeth foorth herbes meete for them by whome it is dressed, receiueth blessing of God.

8 But that which beareth thornes and briers, is reprooued, and is neere vnto cursing, whose end is to be burned.

9 [4] But beloued, we haue perswaded our selues better things of you, and such as accompanie saluation, though we thus speake.

10 [5] For God is not vnrighteous, that hee should forget your worke, and labour of loue, which yee shewed towarde his Name, in that yee haue ministred vnto the Saints, and yet minister.

11 And wee desire that euery one of you shewe the same diligence, to the full assurance of hope vnto the ende, 12 [6] That ye be not slothfull, but followers of them which through faith and patience, inherite the promises.

13 [7] For when God made the promise to Abraham, because he had no greater to sweare by, he sware by himselfe, 14 Saying, * Surely I will [e] abundantly blesse thee, and multiply thee marueilously.

15 And so after that he had taried patiently, he enioyed the promise.

16 For men verely sweare by him that is greater then themselues, and an othe for confirmation is among them an end of all strife.

17 So God, willing more [f] abundantly to shew vnto the heires of promise the stablenes of his counsel, bound himselfe by an othe,

18 That by two immutable things, wherein it is vnpossible that God should lie, wee might haue strong consolation, which haue our refuge to lay holde vpon that hope that is set before vs,

19 [8] Which hope we haue, as an ancre of the soule, both sure and stedfast, and it entreth into that which is within the vaile,

20 [9] Whither the forerunner is for vs entred in, euen Iesus that is made an hie Priest for euer after the order of Melchi-sedec.

9 He repeateth Dauids words, wherein all those comparisons whereof he hath before made mention, are signified, as he declareth in all the next Chapter.

should obiect and say, that these things are impossible to be done, he willeth them to set [b] before themselues the examples of their ancestors, and to followe them.
7 An other pricke, to pricke them forward: Because the hope of the inheritance is certaine, if we continue to the end, for God hath not only promised it, but also confirmed it with an othe. * Gene. 12.2. and 17.4. and 22.17. e I will heape vp benefits most plentifully vpon thee. f More then was needfull, were it not for the wickednesse of men which beleeue not God, no though he sweare.
8 Hee likeneth hope to an ancre: because that euen as an ancre being cast into the bottome of the sea, stayeth the whole shippe, so doeth hope also enter euen into the very secret places of heauen. And hee maketh mention of the Sanctuarie, allowing to the olde Tabernacle, and by this meanes returneth to the comparisons of the Priesthood of Christ with the Leuiticall.

CHAP. VII.

1 Hee hath hitherto stirred them vp, to marke diligently what things are to bee considered in Melchi-sedec, 15 wherein he is like vnto Christ. 20 Wherefore the Law should giue place to the Gospel.

FOr this [1] Melchi-sedec* was King of Salem, the Priest of the most high God, who met Abraham, as he returned from the slaughter of the Kings, and [a] blessed him:

2 To whom also Abraham gaue the tithe of all things: who first is by interpretation King of righteousnesse: after that, he is also King of Salem, that is, King of peace,

3 [2] Without father, without mother, without kinred, and hath neither beginning of his dayes, neither ende of life: but is likened vnto the Sonne of God, and continueth a Priest for euer.

4 [3] Now consider how great this man was, vnto whome euen the Patriarch Abraham gaue the tithe of the spoyles.

5 For verely they which are the children of Leui, which receiue the office of the Priesthood, haue a * commandement to take, according to the Lawe, tithes of the people (that is, of their brethren) though they [b] came out of the loynes of Abraham.

6 But hee whose kinred is not counted among them, receiued tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises.

7 And [c] without all contradiction the lesse is blessed of the greater.

8 And here men that die, receiue tithes: but there he receiueth them, of whom it is witnessed, that he liueth.

9 [4] And to say as the thing is, Leui also which receiueth tithes, payed tithes in Abraham.

10 For he was yet in the loynes of his father Abraham, when Melchi-sedec met him.

11 [5] If therefore [d] perfection had beene

1 Declaring those words, According to the order of Melchi-sedec, whereupon that comparison standeth of the Priesthood of Christ with the Leuiticall: first, Melchi-sedec himselfe is considered as the figure of Christ, and these are the heads of that comparison. Melchi sedec was a King and a Priest, and such an one in deede is Christ alone. He was a King of peace and righteousnes, such an one indeede is Christ alone.
* Genes. 14.18.
a With a solemne and Priestly blessing.
2 An other figure: Melchi-sedec is set before vs to be considered as one without beginning and without ending, for neither his father, nor his mother, nor his ancestors, nor his death are written of: and such an one in deed is the Sonne of God, to wit, an euerlasting Priest: as he is God, without mother wonderfully begotten: as he is man, without father wonderfully conceiued.
3 An other figure: Melchi-sedec in consideration of his Priesthood was aboue Abraham, for he tooke tenthes of him, and blessed him as a Priest: Such a one in deede is Christ, vpon whome depended euen Abrahams sanctification and all the beleeuers, and whome all men ought to worship and reuerence as the author of all. * Num. 18. 21. b Were begotten of Abraham. c He speaketh of the publike blessing which the Priests vsed. 4 A double amplification: The first, that Melchi-sedec tooke the tenthes as one immortall (to wit, in respect that he is the figure of Christ, for his death is in no place made mention of, and Dauid setteth him foorth as an euerlasting Priest) but the Leuiticall Priests, as mortall men, for they succeeded one another: the second, that Leui himselfe was tithed in Abraham by Melchi-sedec. Therefore the Priesthood of Melchi-sedec (that is, Christes, who is pronounced to be an euerlasting Priest according to this order) is more excellent then the Leuiticall. 5 The third treatise of this Epistle, wherein after he hath proued Christ to be a King, a Prophet and a Priest, he now bendeth diligently the condition and excellencie of all these offices, shewing that all these were but shadowes in all other, but in Christ they are true & perfect. And he beginneth with the Priesthood, wherewith also the former treatise ended, that by this meanes all the parts and members of the disputation, may better hang together. And first of all he proueth that the Leuiticall Priesthood was imperfect because another Priest is promised a long time after, according to an other order, yea into say, of an other maner of rule and fashion. d If the Priesthood of Leui could haue made any man perfect by

by the Priesthoode of the Leuites (for vnder it the law was established to the people) what needed it furthermore, that another Priest should rise after the order of Melchi-sedec, and not to bee called after the order of Aaron?

12 [6] For if the Priesthoode bee changed, then of necessitie must there be a change of the [e] Law.

13 For hee of whom these things are spoken, perteineth vnto another tribe, whereof no man [f] serued at the altar.

14 For it is euident, that our Lord sprung out of Juda, concerning the which tribe Moses spake nothing, touching the Priesthoode.

15 [7] And it is yet a more euident thing, because that after the similitude of Melchi-sedec, there is risen vp another Priest, 16 [8] Which is not made Priest after the [g] Law of the carnall commaundement, but after the power of the endlesse life.

17 For hee testifieth thus, *Thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of Melchi-sedec.

18 [9] For the [h] commandement that went afore, is disanulled, because of the weakenesse thereof, and vnprofitablenesse.

19 For the Law made nothing perfit, but the bringing in of a better hope made perfite, whereby we draw neere vnto God.

20 [10] And forasmuch as it is not without an othe (for these are made Priestes without an othe:

21 But this is made with an othe by him that said vnto him, * The Lord hath sworne, and will not repent, Thou art a Priest for euer, after the order of Melchi-sedec,) 22 By so much is Jesus made a suretie of a better Testament.

23 [11] And among them many were made Priests, because they were not suffered to endure, by the reason of death.

24 But this man, because hee endureth euer, hath a Priesthoode, which [i] cannot passe from one to another.

25 Wherefore, he is [k] able also perfectly to saue them that come vnto God by him, seeing hee euer liueth, to make intercession for them.

26 [12] For such an hie Priest it became vs to haue, which is holy, harmelesse, vndefiled, separate from sinners, and made higher then the heauens:

27 Which needeth not dayly as those hie Priests to offer vp sacrifice, first for his owne sinnes, and then for the peoples: [13] for [l] that did he [m] once when he offered vp himself.

28 For the Law maketh men hie Priests, which haue infirmitie: but the [n] worde of the othe [14] that [o] was since the Lawe, maketh the Sonne, who is consecrated for euermore.

5 Hee sheweth how that by the institution of the newe Priesthood, not onely the imperfection of the Priesthoode of Leui was declared, but also that it was changed for this: for these two cannot stande together, because that first appointment of the tribe of Leui, did shut forth the tribe of Juda, and made it also inferiour to Leui: and this latter doth place the Priesthoode in the tribe of Juda.

e Of the institution of Aaron.

f Had any thing to doe about the altar.

7 Lest any man might obiect, that the Priesthood in deede was translated from Leui to Juda, but yet notwithstanding the same remaineth still, hee both weigheth and expounded the wordes of Dauid, for euer, according to the order of Melchi-sedec, whereby also a diuers institution of Priesthood is well perceiued.

8 He prooueth the diuersitie and excellencie of the institution of Melchi-sedecs Priesthood, by this, that the Priesthood of the Law is stand vpon outward and bodily anoyntings: but the sacrifice of Melchi-sedec is set out to be euerlasting and more spirituall. g Not after the ordination, which commaundeth fraile and transitorie things, as was done in Aarons consecration, and all that whole Priesthood. *Psal. 110.4. chap. 6.

9 Againe, that no man might obiect that the last Priesthoode was added to make a perfit one, by the coupling of them both together, hee prooueth that the first was abrogated by the later, as vnprofitable, and that by the nature of them both. For how could those corporall and transitorie things sanctifie vs, either of themselues, or being ioyned with another? h The ceremoniall Law. 10 Another argument, whereby hee prooueth that the Priesthoode of Christ is better then the Priesthood of Leui, because his was established with an othe, but theirs was not so. *Psalme 110.4. 11 Another argument tending to the same purpose. The Leuiticall Priestes (as mortall men) could not bee euerlasting, but Christ, as hee is euerlasting, so hath hee also an euerlasting Priesthood, making full effectuall intercession for them which by him come vnto God. i Which cannot passe away. k Hee is fit and meete.

12 An other argument: There are required in an hie Priest innocencie and perfite puritie, which may separate him from sinners, for whom he offereth. But the Leuiticall hie Priests shall not be found to be such, for they offer first for their owne sins: but Christ onely is such a one, and therefore the true and onely hie Priest. *Leuit. 16.11. 13 Another argument, which notwithstanding he handleth afterward: The Leuiticall Priests offered sacrifice after sacrifice, first for themselues, and then for the people. But Christ offered not for himselfe, but for other, not sacrifices, but himselfe, not oftentimes, but once. And this ought not to seeme strange, saith he, forsomuch as they are weake, but this man is consecrated an euerlasting Priest, and that by an othe. l That sacrifice which hee offered. m It was so done, that it needeth not to be repeated or offred againe any more. n The commandement of God which was bound with an othe. 14 An other argument taken of the time: Former things are taken away by the latter. o Exhibited.

CHAP. VIII.

1 To prooue more certainely that the ceremonies of the Law are abrogated, 5 he sheweth that they were appointed to serue the heauenly paterne. 8 He bringeth in the place of Ieremie, 13 to prooue the amendement of the old couenant.

NOwe [1] of the things which we haue spoken, this is the summe, that we haue such an high Priest, that sitteth at the right hand of the throne of the Maiestie in heauens,

2 [2] And is a minister of the [a] Sanctuarie, [3] and of that [b] true Tabernacle which the Lord pight, and not man.

3 [4] For euery hie Priest is ordeined to offer both gifts and sacrifices: wherefore it was of necessitie, that this man should haue somewhat also to offer.

4 [5] For he were not a Priest, if he were on the earth, seeing there are Priestes that according to the Law offer gifts,

5 Who serue vnto the paterne & shadow of heauenly things, as Moses was warned by God, when hee was about to finish the Tabernacle. *See, sayd hee, that thou make all things according to the paterne, shewed to thee in the mount.

6 [6] But now our hie Priest hath obteined a more excellent office, in as much as he is the Mediatour of a better Testament, which 1 He briefly repeateth that, whereunto all these things are to be referred, to wit, that we haue a farre other hie Priest then those Leuiticall hie Priests are, euen such an one as sitteth at y right hand of the most high God in heauen.

2 They of Leui were hie Priests in an earthly sanctuarie, but Christ is in the heauenly.

a Of heauen.

3 They of Leui exercised their priesthood in a fraile tabernacle, but Christ beareth about with him a farre other tabernacle, to wit, his body, which God himselfe made to be euerlasting, as it shall afterward bee declared, chapter 9.11.

b Of his body. 4 Hee bringeth a reason why it must needes be that Christ should haue a body (which he calleth a Tabernacle which the Lord pight, and not man) to wit, that he might haue what to offer: for otherwise he could not bee an hie Priest. And the selfe same body is both the Tabernacle and the sacrifice. 5 He giueth a reason why he sayd that our hie Priest is in the heauenly Sanctuarie, and not in the earthly: because, saith he, if he were now on the earth, hee could not minister in the earthly sanctuary, seeing there are yet Leuiticall Priests which are appointed for him, that is to say, to be paterns of that perfite example. And to what purpose should the paterns serue when the true and originall example is present? *Exod. 25.40. Actes 7.44. 6 Hee entreth into the comparison of the olde and transitorie Testament or couenant being but for a time, whereof the Leuiticall Priestes were mediatours, with the newe, the euerlasting Mediatour whereof is Christ, to shewe that this is not onely better then that in all respects, but also that that was abrogated by this.

is established vpon better promises.

7 He proueth by the testimonie of Jeremie, that there is a second Testament or couenant, & therefore that the first was not perfit.

7 [7] For if that first Testament had beene vnblameable, no place should haue bin sought for the second.

8 For in rebuking them hee saith, * Behold, the dayes will come, saith the Lord, when I shall make with the [c] house of Israel, and with the house of Juda a newe Testament:

9 Not like the Testament that I made with their Fathers, in the day that I tooke them by the hand, to leade them out of the land of Egypt: for they continued not in my Testament, and I regarded them not, saith the Lord.

10 For this is the Testament that I will make with the house of Israel, After those dayes, saith the Lord, I wil put my Lawes in their minde, and in their heart I will write them, and I will be their God, and they shalbe my people.

11 And they shall not teach euerie man his neighbour and euery man his brother, saying, Knowe the Lord: for all shall knowe mee, from the least of them to the greatest of them.

12 For I will bee mercifull to their vnrighteousnesse, and I will remember their sinnes and their iniquities no more.

13 [8] In that hee saith, A new Testament, hee hath abrogate the olde: now that which is disanulled and waxed olde, is readie to vanish away.

8 The conclusion: Therefore by the later and the new, the first and olde is taken away, for it could not bee called new, if it differed not from the olde. And againe, that same is at length taken away, which is subiect to corruption, and therefore imperfit.

CHAP. IX.

2 Comparing the forme of the Tabernacle, 10 and the ceremonies of the Law, 11 vnto the trueth set out in Christ, 15 Hee concludeth that now there is no more neede of an other Priest, 24 because Christ himselfe hath fulfilled these duties vnder the new couenant.

1 A division of the first Tabernacle which he calleth worldly, that is to say, transitorie, and earthly, into two partes, to wit, into the holy places, and the holiest of all.

THen [1] the first Testament had also ordinances of religion, and a [a] worldly Sanctuarie.

2 For the first Tabernacle was made wherein was the candlesticke, and the table, and the shewebread, which Tabernacle is called the Holy places.

3 And after [b] the second vaile was the Tabernacle, which is called the [c] Holiest of all,

4 Which had the golden censer, and the Arke of the Testament euerlaid round about with gold, wherein the golden pot, which had Manna, was, and * Aarons rod that had budded, and the * tables of the Testament.

5 * And ouer the Arke were the glorious Cherubims, shadowing the [d] mercie seate: of which thiags we will not now speake particularly.

a An earthie and a flitting.

b He calleth it the second vaile, not because there were two vailes, but because it was behinde the Sanctuarie or the first Tabernacle.

c The holiest Sanctuarie.

*Num.7 10.

*1.King.8.9. 2.chron 5.10.

*Exod.25.21.

d The Hebrewes call the couer of the Arke of the couenant, the mercie seate, whom both the Grecians and wee follow.

6 [2] Nowe when these things were thus ordeined, the Priests went alwayes into the first Tabernacle, and accomplished the seruice.

7 But into the second went the * high Priest alone, once euery yeere not without blood which he offered for himselfe, and for the [e] ignorances of the people.

8 [3] Whereby the holy Ghost this signified, that the way into the Holiest of all was not yet opened, while as yet the first Tabernacle was standing.

9 [4] Which was a figure [f] for that present time, wherein were offered gifts and sacrifices that could not make holy, concerning the conscience, him that did the seruice,

10 [5] Which onely stoode in meates and drinkes, and diuers washings, and carnall rites, [g] which were enioyned, vntill the time of reformation.

11 [6] But Christ being come an high Priest of good things to come, [7] by a [h] greater and a more perfect Tabernacle, not made with hands, that is, not of his building, 12 [8] Neither by the blood of [i] goates and calues: but by his owne blood entred hee in once into the holy place, and obteined eternall redemption for vs.

13 * [9] For if the blood of bulles and of goates, and the ashes of an heifer, sprinkling them that are vncleane, sanctifieth as touching the [k] purifying of the flesh,

14 Howe much more shall the * blood of Christ, which through the eternall Spirite offered himselfe without fault to God, * purge your conscience from [l] dead workes, to serue the liuing God?

2 Howe hee commeth to the sacrifices which he diuideth into those daily sacrifices, and that yeerely & solemne sacrifice with the which the high Priest only but once euery yeere entring into the Holiest of al with blood offered for himselfe and the people.

*Exod.30.10. Ieuit.16.2.

e For the sinnes. Looke Cha.5.2.

3 Of that yeerely rite and the ceremonie he gathereth that the way was not by such sacrifices opened into heauē, which was shadowed by the Holiest of all: for why did the high Priest alone enter in thither, shutting out all other, and that to offer sacrifices there both for himselfe & for others, and after, did shut the Holiest of al against? 4 An obiection: If the way were not opened into heauen by those sacrifices (that is to say, if the worshippers were not purged by them) why then were those ceremonies vsed? To wit, that men might be called backe to that spirituall example, that is to say, to Christ, who should correct all those things at his comming.

f For that time that that figure had to last.

5 An other reason why they could not make cleane the conscience of the worshipper, to wit, because they were outwarde and carnall, or corporall things were as you would say, a burden, from which Christ deliuered vs.

g For they

6 Now hee entreth into the declaration of the figures, and first of all comparing the Leuiticall high Priest with Christ, (that is to say, the figure with the thing it selfe) hee attributeth to Christ the administration of good things to come, that is, euerlasting, which those carnall things had respect vnto.

7 An other comparison of the first corruptible Tabernacle with the latter, (that is to say, with the humane nature of Christ) which is the true incorruptible Temple of God, wherein into the Sonne of God entred, as the Leuiticall high Priests into the other which was fraile and transitorie.

h By a more excellent and better.

8 An other comparison of the blood of the sacrifices with Christ. The Leuiticall high Priestes entring by those their Holy places into their Sanctuarie, offred corruptible blood for one yeere onely: but Christ entring into that holy body of his, entred by it into heauen it selfe, offering his owne most pure blood for an euerlasting redemption: For one selfe same Christ answereth both to the high Priest, and the Tabernacle, and the sacrifices, and the offerings themselues, as the trueth to the figures, so that Christ is both high Priest, and Tabernacle, and Sacrifice, yea, all those both truely and for euer.

i For in this yeerely sacrifice of reconciliation, there were two kindes of sacrifices, the one a goate, the other a heifer, or calfe. *Leuiticus 16.14. numbers 19.4.

9 If the outward sprinkling of blood and ashes of beastes, was a true and effectuall signe of purifying and cleansing, howe much more shall the thing it selfe and the trueth being present, which in times past was shadowed by those externall Sacraments, that is to say, his blood, which is in such sort more blood that it is also the blood of the Sonne of God, and therefore hath an euerlasting vertue of purifying and cleansing not it?

k Hee considereth the signes apart, being separate from the thing it selfe. *1.Peter 1.19. 1.Iohn 1.7. reuelation 1.5. *Luke 1.74.

l From sinnes which proceede from death, and bring foorth nothing but death.

15 [10] And

15 [10] And for this cause is hee the Mediatour of the newe Testament, that through *death which was for the redemption of the transgressions that were in the former Testament, they which were called, might receiue the promise of eternall inheritance.

16 [11] For where a Testament is, there must bee the death of him that made the Testament.

17 * For the Testament is confirmed when men are dead: for it is yet of no force as long as he that made it, is aliue.

18 [12] Wherefore, neither was the first ordeined without bloode.

19 For when Moses had spoken euerie precept to the people, [m] according to the Law, hee tooke the blood of calues and of goates, with water and purple wooll and hyssope, and [n] sprinckled both the booke, and all the people, 20 * Saying, This is the blood of the Testament, which God hath appointed vnto you.

21 Moreouer, hee sprinckled likewise the Tabernacle with blood also, and all the ministring vessels.

22 And almost all things are by the Law purged with blood, and without sheading of blood is no remission.

23 It was then necessarie, that the [o] similitudes of heauenly things should bee purified with such things: but the heauenly things themselues are purified with better sacrifices then are these.

24 [13] For Christ is not entred into the holy places that are made with hands, which are similitudes of the true Sanctuarie: but is entred into verie heauen, to appeare now in the sight of God for vs,

25 [14] Not that hee should offer himselfe often, as the hie Priest entred into the holy place euerie yeere with other blood, 26 [15] (For then must he haue often suffred since the foundation of the woorld) but now in the [p] end of the woorld hath hee bene made manifest once, to put away [q] sinne by the sacrifice of himselfe.

27 And as it is appointed vnto men that they shall [r] once die, and after that commeth the iudgement:

28 So * Christ was once offred to take away the sinnes of [s] many, [16] and vnto them that looke for him, shall he appeare the second time without sinne vnto saluation.

10 The conclusion of the former argument: therefore seeing the blood of beasts did not purge sinnes, the new Testament which was before time promised, whereunto those outward things had respect, is now in deede established, by the vertue whereof all transgressions might bee taken away, and heauen in deede opened vnto vs: whereof it followeth that Christ shedde his blood also for the Fathers, for hee was endowed by those olde ceremonies, otherwise, vnlesse they had serued to represent him, they had deerne nothing at all profitable. Therefore this Testament is called the latter, not as concerning the vertue of it, (that is to say, remission of sinnes) but in respect of that time, wherein the thing it selfe was finished, that is to say, wherein Christ was in deede exhibited to the woorld, and fulfilled all things which were necessarie to our saluation.

15 An argument to proue that Christs offring ought not to be repeated: Seeing that sinnes were to be purged from the beginning of the woorld, and it is proued that sinnes cannot be purged, but by the onely blood of Christ: he must needes haue died oftentimes, since the beginning of the woorld. But a man can die but once: therefore Christs oblation which was once done in the latter dayes, neither could nor can bee repeated. Seeing then it is so, surely the vertue of it extendeth both to sinnes that were before, and to sinnes that are after his comming.

11 A reason why the Testament must be established by the death of the Mediatour, because this Testament hath the condition of a Testament or gift, which is made effectuall by death, and therefore that it might bee effectuall, it must needes bee that hee that made the Testament, should die. *Galat.3.15.

12 There must bee a proportion betweene those things which purifie, and those which are purified: Vnder the Law all those figures were earthly. The Tabernacle, the booke, the vessels, the sacrifices, although they were the signes of heauenly things. Therefore it was requisite that all those should bee purified with some matter and ceremonie of the same nature, to wit, with the blood of beasles, with water wooll, hyssope. But vnder Christ all things are heauenly, an heauenly Tabernacle, an heauenly sacrifice, an heauenly people, an heauenly doctrine, and heauen it selfe is set open before vs for an euerlasting habitation. Therefore all these things are sanctified in like sort, to wit, with that euerlasting offering of the quickning blood of Christ. m As the Lord had commaunded. n Hee vsed to sprinkle. *Exod.24.8. o The similitudes of heauenly things were earthly, and therefore they were to bee set forth with earthly things, as with the blood of beasts, and wooll, and hyssope. But vnder Christ all things are heauenly, and therefore they could not but bee sanctified with the offering of his liuely blood, 13 Another double comparison: The Leuiticall hie Priest entred into the Sanctuarie, which was made in deede by the commaundement of God, but yet with mens hands, that it might bee a paterne of another more excellent, to wit, of the heauenly palace. But Christ entred into heauen it selfe. Againe, hee appeared before the Arke, but Christ before God the Father himselfe. 14 Another double comparison, The Leuiticall hie Priest offered other blood, but Christ offered his owne: hee euerie yeere once iterated his offering: Christ offering himselfe but once, abolished sinne altogether, both of the former ages and of the ages to come.

CHAP. X.

1 He proueth that the sacrifices of the Law were vnperfit, 2 because they were yeerely renued: 5 But that the sacrifice of Christ is one, and perpetuall, 6 he proueth by Dauids testimonie: 19 Then hee addeth an exhortation, 29 and seuerely threatneth them that reiect the grace of Christ. 36 In the ende he praiseth patience, 38 that commeth of faith.

FOr [1] the Law hauing the shadow of good things to [a] come, and not the very image of the things, can neuer with those sacrifices, which they offer yeere by yeere continually, sanctifie the commers thereunto.

2 For woulde they not then haue ceased to haue bene offered, because that the offerers once purged, should haue had no more conscience of sinnes?

3 But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance againe of sinnes euery yeere.

4 For it is vnpossible that the blood of bulles and goates should take away sinnes.

5 [2] Wherefore when hee [b] commeth into the woorld, hee saith, * Sacrifice and offering thou wouldest not: but a [c] body hast thou ordeined me.

6 In burnt offerings, and sinne offrings thou hast had no pleasure.

7 Then I sayd, Loe, I come (In the beginning of the booke it is written of me) that I should doe thy will, O God.

8 Aboue when he said, Sacrifice and offering, and burnt offerings, and sinne offerings

1 He preuenteth a priuie obiection, Why then were those sacrifices offered? The Apostle answereth, first touching the yeerely sacrifice which was the solemnest of all, wherein (saith he) there was made euery yeere a remembrance againe of all former sinnes. Therefore that sacrifice had no power to sanctifie: for to what purpose should those sins which are purged bee repeated againe, and wherefore should new sins come to be repeated euery yeere, if those sacrifices did abolish sinne?

a Of things which are euerlasting, which were promised to the Fathers, and exhibited in Christ.

2 A conclusion following of those things that went before, and comprehending also the other sacrifices. Seeing that the sacrifices of the Lawe could not doe it, therefore Christ speaking of himselfe as of our hie Priest, manifested in the flesh, witnesseth euidently that God resteth not in the sacrifices, but in the obedience of his Sonne our hie Priest, in whose obedience hee offered vp himselfe once to his Father for vs. b The Sonne of God is sayd to come into the world, when hee made man. *Psal.40.7. c It is word for word in the Hebrewe text, Thou hast pearced mine eares through, that is, thou hast made me obedient and willing to heare.

thou woulvest not haue, neither hadst pleasure therein (which are offered by the Law)

9 Then sayd he, Loe, I come to doe thy will, O God: he taketh away the [d] first, that he may stablish the second.

10 By the which will we are sanctified, euen by the offring of the body of Iesus Christ once made.

11 [3] And euery Priest standeth [e] daily ministring, and oft times offereth one maner of offering, which can neuer take away sinnes.

12 But this man after he had offered one sacrifice for sinnes, * sitteth for euer at the right hand of God.

13 [4] And from henceforth tarrieth, * till his enemies be made his footstoole.

14 For with one offering hath hee consecrated for euer them that are sanctified.

15 [5] For the holy Ghost also beareth vs record: for after that he had sayd before, 16 * This is the Testament that I will make vnto them after those dayes, sayth the Lord, I will put my Lawes in their heart, and in their mindes I will write them.

17 And their sinnes and iniquities will I remember [f] no more.

18 Now where remission of these things is, there is no more offering for [g] sinne.

19 [6] Seeing therfore, brethren, that by the blood of Iesus we may be bolde to enter into the Holy place,

20 By the new and liuing way, which hee hath prepared for vs, through the vaile, that is, his [h] flesh:

21 And seeing wee haue an high Priest, which is ouer the house of God,

22 [7] Let vs draw neere with a [i] true heart, in assurance of faith, our [k] hearts being pure from an euill conscience,

23 And washed in our bodies with [l] pure water, let vs keepe the profession of our hope, without wauering (for he is faithfull that promised)

24 And let vs consider one another, to prouoke vnto loue, and to good works, 25 Not forsaking the fellowship that wee haue among our selues, as the maner of some is: but let vs exhort one another, [8] and that so much the more, because yee see that the day draweth neere.

26 * For if wee sinne [m] willingly after that we haue receiued & acknowledged that truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sinnes, 27 But a fearefull looking for of iudgement, and violent fire, which shall deuoure the [n] aduersaries.

28 [9] He that despiseth Moses Lawe, dieth without mercy * vnder two or three witnesses:

29 Of howe much sorer punishment suppose ye shall he be worthy, which treadeth vnder foote the Sonne of God, and counteth the blood of the Testament as an vnholy thing, wherewith he was sanctified, and doth despite the Spirit of grace?

30 [10] For wee knowe him that hath saide, * Vengeance belongeth vnto me: I will recompense, saith the Lorde. And againe, The Lord shall [o] iudge his people.

31 It is a fearefull thing to fall into the hands of the liuing God.

32 [11] Now call to remembrance the daies that are passed, in the which, after ye had receiued light, ye endured a great fight in afflictiõs.

33 Partly while ye were made a [p] gazing stocke both by reproches and afflictions, and partly while ye became [q] companions of them which were so tossed to and fro.

34 For both ye sorrowed with me for my bonds, and suffered with ioy the spoiling of your goods, knowing in your selues how that yee haue in heauen a better, and an enduring [r] substance.

35 Cast not away therfore your confidence which hath great recompence of reward.

36 For ye haue neede of patience, that after ye haue done the will of God, ye might receiue the promise.

37 For yet a very [s] little while, and he that shall come, will come, and will not tary.

38 * [12] Nowe the iust shall liue by faith: but if any withdrawe himselfe, my soule shall haue no pleasure in him.

39 But we are not they which withdrawe our selues vnto perdition, but followe faith vnto the conseruation of the soule.

d That is, the sacrifices, to establish the second, that is, the will of God.

3 A conclusion, with the other part of the comparison: The Leuiticall hie Priest repeateth the same sacrifices daily in his sanctuary: whereupon it followeth that neither those sacrifices, neither those offerings, neither those hie Priestes could take away sinnes. But Christ hauing offered one sacrifice once for the sinnes of all men, and hauing sanctified his owne for euer, sitteth at the right hand of the Father, hauing all power in his hands.

e At the altar.

* Chap. 1. 13. psal. 110. 1. 1. cor. 15. 15.

4 He preuenteth a privy objection, to wit, that yet notwithstanding we are subiect to sinne and death, whereunto the Apostle answereth that the full efficacie of Christes vertue hath not yet shewed it selfe, but shal at length appeare when he will at once put to flight all his enemies, with whom as yet we striue.

* Chap. 1. 13.

5 Although there bee yet remaine in vs reliques of sinne, yet the worke of our sanctification which is to be perfected, hangeth vpon the selfe same sacrifice, which neuer shall be repeated: and that the Apostle proueth by alledging againe the testimonie of Jeremie, thus: Sinne is taken away by the new Testament, seeing the Lord sayth that it shall come to passe, that according to the forme of it, he will no more remember our sins: Therefore we need now no purging sacrifice to take away that which is already taken away, but wee must rather take paines, that we may now through faith be partakers of that sacrifice. * Iere. 31. 33. rom. 11. 27. chap. 8. 8.

f Way then, where is the fire of Purgatorie, and that popish distinction of the fault, and the punishment?

g Hee sayd well, for sinne: for there remaineth another offering, to wit, of thankesgiuing.

6 The summe of the former treatise: Wee are not shut out now of the holy place, as the Fathers were, but we haue an entrance into the true holy place (that is, into heauen) seeing that we are purged with his blood, not of beastes, but of Iesus. Neither as in times past, doeth the high Priest that vs out by setting the vaile against vs, but through the vaile, which is his flesh, he hath brought vs into heauen it selfe, being present with vs. so that we haue now truely an high Priest, which is ouer the house of God.

h So Christs flesh sheweth vs the Godhead as it were vnder a vaile, for otherwise we were not able to abide the brightnesse of it.

7 A most graue exhortation, wherein hee sheweth how that sacrifice of Christ may be applied to vs: to wit, by faith, which also he describeth by the consequents, to wit, by sanctification of the Spirit, which causeth vs surely to hope in God, and to procure by all meanes possible one anothers saluation, through the loue that is in vs one towards another.

CHAP. XI.

1 Hee declareth in the whole chapter, that the Fathers, which from the beginning of the world were approoued of God, attained saluation no other way then by faith, that the Iewes may knowe, that by the same onely they are knit vnto the Fathers in one holy vnion.

NOw [1] faith is the ground of things, which are hoped for, and the euidence of things which are not seene.

2 [2] For by it our [a] elders were well reported of.

3 *[3] Through faith wee vnderstand that the world was ordained by the word of God, so that the things which we [b] see, are not made of things which did appeare.

4 [4] By faith Abel *offered vnto God a greater sacrifice then Cain, by *the which he obteined witnesse that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts: by the which faith also he being dead, yet speaketh.

5 [5] By faith was *Enoch translated, that he should not [c] see death: neither was he found: for God had translated him: for before he was translated, he was reported of, that he had pleased God.

6 But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cõmeth to God, must beleeue that God is, and that hee is a [d] rewarder of them that seeke him.

7 [6] By faith *Noe being warned of God of the things which were as yet not seene, moued with reuerence, prepared the Arke to the sauing of his household, through the which Arke he condemned the world, and was made heire of the righteousnesse, which is by faith.

8 [7] By faith *Abraham when he was called obeyed God, to goe out into a place, which hee should afterward receiue for inheritance, and he went out, not knowing whether hee went.

9 *By faith hee abode in the lande of promise, as in a strange countrey, as one that dwelt in tents with Isaac and Iacob heires with him of the same promise.

10 For he looked for a city hauing a [e] foundation, whose builder and maker is God.

11 Through faith *Sara also receiued strength to conceiue seed, and was deliuered of a childe when she was past age, because she iudged him faithfull which had promised.

12 And therefore sprang there of one, euen of one which was [f] dead, so many as the starres of the skie in multitude, and as the sand of the sea shore which is innumerable.

13 All these died in [g] faith, and receiued not the [h] promises, but saw them a farre off, and beleeued them, and [i] receiued them thankfully, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth.

14 For they that say such things, declare plainly, that they seeke a countrey.

15 And [k] they had beene mindfull of that countrey, from whence they came out, they had leisure to haue returned.

16 But now they desire a better, that is an heauenly: wherefore God is not ashamed of them to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a citie.

17 By faith *Abraham offered vp Isaac, when he was [k] tried, and hee that had receiued the [l] promises offered his onely begotten sonne,

18 (To whom it was saide, *In Isaac shall thy seed be called,)

19 For hee considered that God was able to raise him vp euen from the dead: from [m] whence he receiued him also after [n] a sort.

20 [8] By faith *Isaac blessed Iacob and Esau, concerning things to come.

21 [9] By faith *Iacob when he was a dying, blessed both the sonnes of Ioseph, and *leaning on the end of his staffe, worshipped God.

22 [10] By faith *Ioseph when hee died, made mention of the departing of the children of Israel, and gaue commaundement of his bones.

23 [11] *By faith Moses when hee was borne, was hid three moneths of his parents, because they saw he was a proper child, neither [o] feared they the *kings commandement.

24 By faith *Moses when he was come to age, refused to be called the sonne of Pharaohs daughter,

25 And chose rather to suffer aduersitie with the people of God, then to enioy the [q] pleasures of sinnes for a season, 26 Esteeming the rebuke of Christ greater riches then the treasures of Egypt: for he had respect vnto the recompence of the reward.

27 By faith he forsooke Egypt, and feared not the fiercenes of the king: for he endured, as he that saw him which is inuisible.

28 Through faith he ordeined the *Passeouer and the effusion of blood, least hee that destroied the first borne, should touch them.

29 [12] By faith they *passed through the red sea, as by dry land, which when the Egyptians had assaied to do, they were swallowed vp.

30 [13] By faith the *walls of Iericho fell downe after they were compassed about seuen dayes.

31 [14] By faith the [q] harlot *Rahab perished not with them which obeied not, when *shee had receiued the spies [r] peaceably.

32 [15] And what shall I more say? for the time would be too short for me to tell of *Gedeon, of *Barac, and of *Samplon, and of *Iephte, also of Dauid, and Samuel, and of the Prophets:

33 Which through faith subdued kingdomes, wrought righteousnesse, obtained the promises, stopped the mouths of lions,

34 Quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sworde, of weake were made strong

---

An excellent description of faith by h effects, because it representeth things which are but yet in hope, and seeth as it were before our eyes things that are inuisible.

16 An amplification taken of the circumstance of the time: their faith is so much the more to bee marueiled at, by how much the promises of things to come were more darke, yet at length were indeed exhibited to vs, so that their faith and ours is as one, as is also their consecration and ours.

y But saw Christ a farre off. z For their saluation did hang vpon Christ, who was exhibited in our dayes.

CHAP. XII.

1 He doeth not onely by the examples of the Fathers before recited, exhort them to patience and constancie, 3 but also by the example of Christ. 11 That the chastenings of God cannot bee rightly iudged by the outward sense of our flesh.

*Rom. 6.4.col. 3.8.ephes.4.24. 1.pet 2 1.

WHerefore, *[1] let vs also, seeing that wee are compassed with so great a cloud of witnesses, cast away euery thing that presseth downe, and the sinne that [a] hangeth so fast on: let vs run with patience the race that is set before vs,

1 An applying of the former examples, whereby we ought to bee stirred vp to run the whole race, casting away all stoppes and impediments.

a For sinne besiegeth vs on all sides, so that we can not scape out.

2 [2b] Looking vnto Iesus the author and finisher of our faith, who for the [c] ioy that was set before him, endured the crosse, and despised the shame, and is set at the right hand of the throne of God.

2 He setteth before vs, as the marke of this race, Iesus himselfe our captain, who willingly ouercame all the roughnesse of the same way.

b As it were vpon the marke of our faith.

c Whereas hee had all kinde of blessednesse in his hand & power, yet suffered willingly the ignominie of the Crosse.

3 [3] Consider therefore him that endured such speaking against of sinners, lest ye should be wearied and faint in your mindes.

4 [4] Yee haue not yet resisted vnto blood, striuing against sinne.

5 [5] And yee haue forgotten the consolation, which speaketh vnto you as vnto children, *My sonne, despise not the chastening of the Lord, neither faint when thou art rebuked of him.

6 For whom the Lord loueth, hee chasteneth: and he scourgeth euery sonne that he receiueth.

7 If ye endure chastening, God offereth himselfe vnto you as vnto sonnes: for what sonne is it whom the father chasteneth not?

8 If therefore yee be without correction, wherof all are partakers, then are ye bastards, and not sonnes.

9 [6] Moreouer wee haue had the fathers of our bodies which corrected vs, and wee gaue them reuerence: should wee not much rather be in subiection vnto the father of spirits, that we might liue?

10 [7] For they verely for a few dayes chastened vs after their owne pleasure: but hee chasteneth vs for our profit, that we might be partakers of his holinesse.

11 Now no chastening for the present seemeth to bee ioyous, but grieuous: but afterward, it bringeth the quiet fruit of righteousnesse, vnto them which are thereby exercised.

12 [8] Therefore lift vp your hands which [d] hang downe, and your weake knees.

13 And make [e] straight steps vnto your feet, lest that which is halting, be turned out of the way, but let it rather be healed.

14 *[9] Followe peace with all men, and holinesse, without the which no man shall see the Lord.

15 [10] Take heede, that no man fall away from the grace of God: let no [f] root of bitternes spring vp and trouble you, least thereby many be defiled.

16 [11] Let there be no fornicatour, or prophane person as *Esau, which for one portion of meat solde his birthright.

17 *For yee know how that afterward also when hee would haue inherited the blessing, he was reiected: for [g] he found no place to repentance, though hee sought that blessing with teares.

18 [12] For yee are not come vnto the *mount that might be [h] touched, nor vnto burning fire, nor to blackenes and darkenes, and tempest,

19 Neither vnto the sounde of a trumpet, and the voyce of words, which they that heard it, excused themselues, *that the word should not be spoken to them any more,

20 (For they were not able to abide that which was commanded, *yea, though a beast touch the mountaine, it shall be stoned, or thrust through with a dart:

3 An amplification, taken of the circumstance of the person and the things themselues, which hee compareth betweene themselues: for how great is Iesus in comparison of vs, and how farre more grieuous things did he suffer then we? 4 Hee taketh an argument of the profite which commeth to vs by Gods chastisements, vnlesse wee be in fault. First of all, because sinne, or that rebellious wickednes of our flesh, is by this meanes tamed. 5 Secondly, because they are testimonies of his fatherly good will towards vs, insomuch that they shewe themselues to be bastards, which cannot abide to be chastened of God. * Prou. 3.11.

6 Thirdly if all men receiue this right to fathers, to whom next after God we owe this life, that they may rightfully correct their children, shall we not bee much more subiect to that our Father, who is the author of the spirituall and euerlasting life?

y An amplification of the same argument: Those fathers haue corrected vs after their fancie, for some traile and transitory profite but God chastenech & instructeth vs for our singular profit to make vs partakers of his holines: which thing although these our senses doe not presently perceiue, yet the end of the matter proueth it.

8 The conclusion: wee must goe forward courageously and keepe alwayes a right course and (as farre forth as we may) without any staggering or stumbling.

d The description of a man that is out of heart and cleane discouraged.

e Keepe a right course, and so, that you shew example of good life, for others to follow.

* Rom. 12. 18.

9 We must liue in peace, and holinesse with all men.

10 We must endeuor to edifie one another both in doctrine and example of life.

f That no heresie, or backsliding bee an offence.

11 We must eschewe fornication, and a prophane minde, that is, such a minde as giueth not to God his due honor which wickednes, how seuerely God will at length punish, the horrible example of Esau teacheth vs. * Gene. 25.33. * Gen. 27.38.

g There was no place left for his repentance: and it appeareth by the effects, what his repentance was, for when he was gone out of his fathers sight, hee threatned his brother to kill him.

12 Now he applieth the same exhortation to the Prophetical and Kingly office of Christ compared with Moses, after this sort. If the the ministerie of the Lawe was so great, how great thinke you that the glory of Christ and the Gospell is? And this comparison hee declareth also particularly. * Exod. 19.16.

h Which might bee touched with handes, which was of a grosse and earthly matter. * Exod. 20.19. * Exod. 19.12.

21 And so terrible was the [i] sight which appeared, that Moses sayd, I feare and quake)

22 But yee are come vnto the mount Sion, and to the citie of the liuing God, the celestiall Hierusalem, and to the company of innumerable Angels,

23 And to the assembly and congregation of the first borne, which are written in heauen, and to God the iudge of all, and to the spirits of iust and [k] perfit men, 24 And to Iesus the Mediator of the new Testament, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things then that of Abel.

25 [13] See that yee despise not him that speaketh: for if they escaped not which refused him, that spake on earth: much more shall we not escape, if wee turne away from him, that speaketh from heauen.

26 [14] Whose voyce then shooke the earth, and now hath declared, saying, *[l] Yet once more will I shake, not the earth onely, but also heauen.

27 And this word, Yet once more, signifieth the removing of those things which are shaken, as of things which are made with hands, that the things which are not shaken, may remaine.

28 [15] Wherefore seeing we receiue a kingdome, which can not be shaken, let vs haue grace whereby we may so serue God, that wee may please him with [m] reuerence and [n] feare.

29 For *euen our God is a consuming fire.

i The shape and forme which hee saw, which was no counterfeit and forged shape, but a true one.
k So he calleth them that are taken vp into heauen, although one part of them doeth sleepe in the earth.
13 The applying of the former comparison: If it were not lawfull to contemne his word which spake on the earth, how much lesse his voyce which is from heauen?
14 Hee cōpareth the stedfast maiestie of ꝑ Gospel, wherewith the whole world was shaken, and euen the very frame of heauen was as it were astonished, with the small and gentle sound of the gouernance by the Law.

11 * For the bodies of those beasts whose blood is brought into the Holy place by the high Priest for sinne, are burnt without the campe.

12 Therefore euen Iesus, that hee might sanctifie the people with his owne blood, suffered without the gate.

13 [8] Let vs go forth to him therefore out of the campe, bearing his reproch.

14 * For here haue we no continuing citie: but we seeke one to come.

15 [9] Let vs therefore by him offer the sacrifice of praise alwayes to God, that is, the * fruit of the lips which confesse his Name.

16 To doe good, and to distribute forget not: for with such sacrifices God is pleased.

17 [10] Obey them that haue the ouersight of you, and submit your selues: for they watch for your soules, as they ꝑ must giue accounts, that they may doe it with ioy, and not with griefe: for that is vnprofitable for you.

18 [11] Pray for vs: for we are assured that we haue a good conscience in all things, desiring to liue honestly.

19 And I desire you somewhat the more earnestly, that ye so doe, that I may be restored to you more quickly.

20 The God of peace that brought againe from the dead our Lord Iesus the great sheepheard of the sheepe, through the blood of the euerlasting Couenant,

21 Make you [h] perfit in all good workes, to doe his will, [i] working in you that which is pleasant in his sight, through Iesus Christ,

4 We haue to set before vs the examples of valiant Captains, whom wee ought diligently to follow.
5 He repeateth ꝑ summe of the doctrine, to wit, the only ground of all precepts of maners, and that is this: That wee ought to quiet and cōtent our selues in Christ only: for there was yet neuer any man saued without the knowledge of him, neither is at this day saued, neither shall bee saued hereafter.
6 Hee toucheth them which mixe an externall worship, & especially the difference of meates with the Gospell, which doctrine he plainly condemneth as cleane repugnant to the benefit of Christ.
d By this one kind which concerneth the difference of cleane and vncleane meates, we haue to vnderstand all the ceremoniall worship.
e Which obserued the difference of them superstitiously.
7 He refuteth their errour by an apt & fit comparison. They which in times past serued the Tabernacle did not eate of the sacrifices whose blood was brought for sinne into ꝑ holy place by the hie Priest. Moreouer these sacrifices did represent Christ our offering. Therefore they cannot be partakers of him which serue the Tabernacle, that is, such as stand in the seruice of the Law: but let vs not be ashamed to follow him out of Hierusalem, from whence he was cast out and suffered: for in this also Christ, who is the truth, answereth that figure, in that he suffered without ꝑ gate. f By the Altar, he meaneth the offrings. g Whereof they cannot be partakers, which stubburnly retaine the rites of the Law. *Leuit. 4.11. and 6.30. and 16.27.
8 He goeth on further in this comparison, and sheweth that this also signified vnto vs, that the godly followers of Christ must as it were goe out of the world bearing his crosse. *Mich. 2.10. 9 Now that those corporall sacrifices are taken away, hee teacheth vs that the true sacrifices of confession remaine, which consist partly in giuing of thanks, and partly in liberalitie, with which sacrifices in deed God is now delighted. *Hose 14.3. 10 We must obey the warnings & admonitions of our Ministers and Elders, which watch for the saluation of the soules which are committed vnto them. 11 The last part of this Epistle, wherein hee commendeth his ministerie to the Hebrewes, & wisheth them continuance and increase of graces from the Lord: and excuseth himselfe in that he hath vsed but fewe words to comfort them, hauing spent the Epistle in disputing: and saluteth certaine brethren familiarly & friendly. h Make you fit or meet. i Hence commeth that saying of the Fathers, that God crowneth his works in vs.

c Seeing their condition was miserable in that scattering abroad, hee doeth well to begin as he doeth.

2 The first argument, because our faith is tried through afflictions: which ought to be most pure, for so it is behoueable for vs. * Rom. 5. 3.

d That wherewith your faith is tried, to wit, those manifold tentations.

5 [5] If any of you lacke [e] wisedome, let him aske of God, which giueth to all men liberally, and reproacheth no man, and it shall be giuen him.

e Not so easily done. f An answere to a priuie obiection: It is easily sayde, but it is not so easily done. Hee answereth that wee neede in this case a farre other maner of wisedome, then the wisedome of man, to iudge those things best for vs, which are most contrary to the flesh: but yet we shall easily obteine this gift of wisedome, if we aske it rightly, that is, with a sure confidence of God, who is most bountifull and liberall.

6 *But let him aske in faith, and [f] wauer not: [6] for he that wauereth, is like a waue of the sea, tost of the wind, and caried away.

7 Neither let that man thinke that hee shall receiue any thing of the Lord.

8 A double minded man is vnstable in [g] all his waies.

g In all his thoughts and his deeds. 7 Hee returneth to his purpose repeating the proposition, which is, that we must reioyce in the crosse, for it doeth not presse vs downe, but exalt vs.

9 [7] Let the brother of [h] low degree reioice in that he is exalted:

10 [8] Againe hee that is [i] rich in that hee is made lowe: [9] for as the flower of the grasse, shall he *vanish away.

h Who is afflicted with pouerty, or contempt, or with any kinde of calamitie. 8 Before he concludeth, hee giueth a doctrine contrary to the former: to wit, how we ought to vse prosperity, which is plentie of all things: to wit, so, that no man therefore please himselfe, but be so much the more vnlo of pride.

i Who hath all things at his will.

9 An argument taken of the very nature of the things themselues, for that they are most vaine and vncertaine.

* Esa. 40. 6. 1. pet. 1. 24.

11 For as when the sunne riseth with heat, then the grasse withereth, and his flower falleth away, and the goodly shape of it perisheth: euen so shall the rich man wither away in all his [k] waies.

k Whatsoeuer he either purposeth in his minde or doeth.

12 [10] *Blessed is the man, that endureth [l] tentation: for when he is tried, he shal receiue the crowne of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that loue him.

10 The conclusion: Therefore we must patiently beare the crosse: and he addeth a fourth argument, which comprehendeth the sum of all the former, to wit, because we come by this way to the crowne of life, but yet of grace according to the promise. * Iob. 5. 17.

l Affliction wherby the Lord trieth him.

13 [11] Let no man say when hee is [m] tempted, I am tempted of God: [12] for God cannot be tempted with euill, neither tempteth he any man.

11 The third part of this Epistle, wherein he declareth from outward tentations, that is, from afflictions wherby God trieth vs, to inward, that is, to those lusts wherby wee are stirred vp to doe euill.

14 But euery man is tempted, when hee is drawen away by his owne concupiscence, and is entised.

15 Then when lust hath conceiued, it bringeth forth [n] sinne, and sinne when it is finished, bringeth forth death.

16 [13] Erre not, my deare brethren.

The summe is this: Euery man is the authour of these tentations to himselfe, and not God: for we beare occasion by what 17 Euery good giuing, and euery perfect gift is from aboue, and commeth downe from the Father of lights, with whom is no variablenesse, neither [p] shadow of turning.

18 [14] Of his owne [q] will begat he vs with the word of trueth, that wee should bee as the [r] first fruits of his creatures.

19 Wherefore my deare brethren, *let euery man bee swift to heare, slowe to speake, and slowe to wrath.

20 For the wrath of man doth not accomplish the [s] righteousnesse of God.

boue in our bosomes that wicked corruption, which taketh meanes soeuer, to stirre vp euill motions in vs, whence out at length proceed wicked doings, and in conclusion followeth death the iust reward of them. m When he is prouoked to doe euil. 12 Here is a reason shewed, why God cannot be the author of euill doing in vs, because he desireth not euill. n By lone is meant in this place, actuall sinne. 13 Another reason taken of contraries: God is the authour of all goodnesse, and so, that he is always like himselfe: how then can he be thought to be the author of euill? o From him who is the fountaine and author of all goodnesse. p Hee goeth on in the Metaphore: for the sunne by his manifold and sundry kinds of turning, maketh houres, daies, moneths, yeeres, light and darkenesse. 14 The fourth part concerning the excellencie and fruit of the word of God. The summe is this: we must heare the word of God most carefully and diligently, seeing it is the seede, wherewith God of his free fauour and loue hath begotten vs vnto himselfe, picking vs out of the number of his creatures. And the Apostle condemneth two faults, which doe greatly trouble vs in this matter, to wit, for that we so please our selues, that we had rather speake our owne, then heare God speaking: yea, wee snuffe and are angry when wee are reprehended: against which faults, he setteth a peaceable and quiet minde, and such an one as is desirous of puritie. q This is it which Paul calleth gracious fauour, and good will, which is the fountaine of our saluation. r As it were an holy kinde of offering, taken out of the residue of man. s That which God appointeth.

21 Wherefore lay apart all filthinesse, and superfluitie of maliciousnes, and receiue with [t] meekenesse the worde that is graffed in you, which is able to saue your soules.

22 *[15] And be ye doers of the word, & not hearers onely, [16] deceiuing your owne selues.

23 [17] For if any heare the word, and do it not, he is like vnto a man, that beholdeth his [u] naturall face in a glasse.

24 For when he hath considered himselfe, he goeth his way, and forgetteth immediately what maner of one he was.

25 But who so looketh in the perfect Law of libertie, and continueth therein, hee not being a forgetfull hearer, but a doer of the worke, shalbe blessed in his [x] deed.

26 [18] If any man among you seeme religious, and refraineth not his tongue, but deceiueth his [y] owne heart, this mans religion is vaine.

27 [19] Pure religion and vndefiled before God, euen the Father, is this, to [z] visite the fatherlesse, and widowes in their aduersitie, and to keepe himselfe vnspotted of the world.

t By meekenesse, he meaneth modestie, and whatsoeuer is contrarie to an hautie and proud stomacke.
* Matth. 7. 21. rom. 2. 13.
15 Another admonition: Therefore is Gods word heard, that we may frame our liues according to the prescript thereof.
16 He adueth reasons, & those most weightie: first, because they that bee otherwise, doe very much hurt themselues.
17 Secondly, because the chiefest vse of Gods word, which correct not by it the faults that they know.
u He alludeth to that naturall spot, to which is contrary the puritie whereunto wee are borne againe, the liuely image whereof we behold in the Law.
x Behauing himselfe so: for workes doe shew faith.
18 The third admonition: The word of God prescribeth a rule not only to do well, but also to speake well.
y The fountaine of al brabling, and cursed speaking, and sauciues, is this, that men know not themselues.
19 The fourth: the true seruice of God standeth in charity towards our neighbours (especially such as need others helpe, as the fatherlesse and widowes) and puritie of life.
z To haue a care of them, and to helpe them as much as we can.

CHAP. II.

1 Hee saith, that to haue respect of persons is not agreeable to Christian faith, 14 which to professe in words is not enough, vnlesse 15 we shew it also in deeds of mercy and charitie, 21 after the example of Abraham.

a The fift: Charitie which proceedeth from a true faith, can not standwith the accepting of persons: which hee prooueth plainely by setting foorth their example, who with the reproch or disdaine of the poore, honour the rich.
a For if we knew what Christes glory is, and esteemed it as wee ought to doe, there would not bee such respect of persons as there is.
* Leuit. 19. 15. deut. 1. 17. and 16. 19. prou 24. 23.
b In a worshipfull and honourable place.
c Haue yee not (which ye ought not to doe) by this meanes within your selues iudged one man to bee preferred before another?
2 Hee sheweth, that they are peruerse and naughtie iudges, which preferre the rich before the poore, by that that God on the contrary hee preferreth the poore, whom he hath enriched with true riches, before the rich.
d The needie and wretched, and (if wee measure it after the opinion of the world) the veriest abiects of all men.

MY [1] brethren, haue not the faith of our [a] glorious Lord Iesus Christ * in respect of persons.

2 For if there come into your company a man with a gold ring, and in goodly apparell, and there come in also a poore man in vile rayment,

3 And ye haue a respect to him that weareth the gaie clothing, and say vnto him, Sit thou here in a [b] goodly place, and say vnto the poore, Stand thou there, or sit here vnder my footstoole,

4 Are ye not partiall in [c] your selues, and are become iudges of euill thoughts?

5 [2] Hearken my beloued brethren, hath not God chosen the [d] poore of this world, that they should be rich in faith, and heires of the kingdom which he promised to them that loue him?

6 But yee haue despised the poore. [3] Doe not the riche oppresse you by tyrannie, and doe not they draw you before the iudgement seates?

7 Doe not they blaspheme the worthie Name after which ye be [e] named?

8 [4] But if ye fulfill the [f] royall Lawe, according to the Scripture, which saith, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe, yee doe well.

9 But if yee regarde the persons, ye commit sinne, and are rebuked of the Lawe, as transgressors.

10 [5] For whosoeuer shall keepe the whole Law, and yet faileth in one point, hee is guiltie of [g] all.

11 [6] For he that said, Thou shalt not commit adulterie, sayde also, Thou shalt not kill. Nowe though thou doest none adulterie, yet if thou killest, thou art a transgressour of the Law.

12 [7] So speake yee, and so do, as they that shalbe iudged by the Law of libertie.

13 For there shalbe condemnation mercilesse to him that sheweth not [h] mercy, and mercy reioyceth against condemnation.

14 [8] What auaileth it, my brethren, though a man saith hee hath faith, when hee hath no works: can that faith saue him?

15 [9] For if a brother or a sister bee naked and destitute of daily food, 16 And one of you say vnto them, Depart in peace: warme your selues, and fill your bellies, notwithstanding ye giue them not those things, which are needfull to the bodie, what helpeth it?

17 Euen so the faith, if it haue no works, is dead in it selfe.

18 But [i] some man might say, Thou hast the faith, and I haue works: shew me thy faith out of thy works, and I will shew thee my faith by my works, 19 [10] Thou beleeuest that there is one God: thou doest well: the deuils also beleeue it, and tremble.

3 Secondly, he prooueth them to be mad men: for that the rich men are rather to be holden execrable and cursed, considering that they persecute the Church, and blaspheme Christ: for he speaketh of wicked & prophane rich men, such as the most part of them haue beene alwayes, against whom he letteth the poore anu obiect.
e Word for word which is called vpon of you.
4 The conclusion: Charitie which God prescribeth can not agree with the accepting of persons, seeing that wee must walke in the kings hie way.
f The Law is sayd to be royall & like the kings hie way, for that it is plaine and without turnings, & that the the law calleth euery one our neighbour without respect, who we may helpe by any kind of duty.
5 A new argument to proue the same conclusion: They doe not loue their neighbours, which neglect some, and ambitiously honour other: for hee doeth not obey God, which cutteth off from the commandements of God that, that is not so commodious for him, nay be is rather guiltie generally for the breach of the whole Law, although he obserue the residue.
g Not that all sinnes are equall, but because hee that breaketh one title of the Lawe, offendeth the maiestie of the Law giuer.
6 A proose: because the Law maker is alwayes the one and selfe same, and the body of the Law can not be diuided.
7 The conclusion of the whole treatise: we are vpon this condition deliuered from the curse of the Law by the mercie of God, that in like sort wee should maintaine and cherish charitie and good will one towards another, and who so doth not so, shall not tast of the grace of of God.
h He that is hard and currish against his neighbour, or els helpeth him not, hee shall finde God an hard and rough iudge to himselfeward.
8 The fift place which hangeth very well with the former treatise, touching a true and liuely faith. And the proposition of the place is this: faith which bringeth not foorth works, is not that faith whereby wee are iustified, but an image of faith: or els this, they are not iustified by faith, which shew not the effects of faith.
9 The first reason taken of a similitude: If a man say to one that is hungry, Fill thy belly, and yet giueth him nothing, this shall not be true charitie: so if a man say he beleeueth, and bringeth foorth no workes of his faith, this shall not be a true faith, but a certaine dead thing set out with the name of faith, whereof no man hath to brag, vnlesse he will openly incurre reprehension, seeing that the cause is vnderstood by the effects.
i Nay, thus may euery man beate downe thy pride.
10 Another reason taken of an absurditie: If such a faith were the true faith whereby we are iustified, the diuils should bee iustified, for they haue that, but yet notwithstanding they tremble, and are not iustified therefore, neither is that faith, a true faith.

20 [11] But

20 [11] But wilt thou vnderstand, O thou vaine man, that the faith which is without workes, is dead?

21 Was not Abraham our father [k] iustified through workes, * when he offered Isaac his sonne vpon the altar?

22 Seest thou not that the faith [l] wrought with his workes: and through the workes was the faith made [m] perfect.

23 And the Scripture was [n] fulfilled which saith, * Abraham beleeued God, and it was imputed vnto him for righteousnes: and he was called the friend of God.

24 [12] Yee see then howe that of workes a man is [o] iustified, and not of [p] faith onely.

25 [13] Likewise also was not * Rahab the harlot iustified through workes, when she had receiued the messengers, and sent them out another way?

26 [14] For as the body without the spirite is dead, euen so the faith without workes is dead.

11 The third reason from the example of Abraham, who no doubt had a true faith: but he in offering his sonne, shewed himselfe to haue that faith which was not voide of workes, and therefore he receiues a true testimonie when it was saide, that faith was imputed to him for righteousnes.

k Was he not by his workes knowen and found to be iustified? for he speaketh not heere of the causes of iustification, but by what effects we may know that a man is iustified.

* Gen. 22. 10.

l Was effectuall and fruitefull with good works

m That the faith was declared to be a true faith, & that by workes. n Then was the Scripture fulfilled, when it appeared plainely, howe truely it was written of Abraham. * Gen. 15. 6. rom. 4. 3 galat. 3. 6. 12 The conclusion: Hee is onely iustified that hath that faith which hath workes following it. o Is prooued to be iust. p Of that dead and fruitlesse faith which you boast of. 13 A fourth reason taken from alike example of Rahab the harlot, who was prooued by her workes that she was iustified by a true faith. * Ioth. 2. 1. 14 The conclusion repeated againe: faith which bringeth not forth fruites and workes, is not faith, but a dead carcase.

CHAP. III.

3 To shew that a Christian man must gouerne his tongue, with the bridle of faith and charitie, 9 hee declareth the commodities and mischiefe that ensue thereof: 15 and howe much mans wisedome 17 differeth from heauenly.

MY [1] brethren, bee not many maisters, [2] knowing that wee [a] shall receiue the greater condemnation.

2 For in many things we ‖ sinne all. [3] If any man sinne not in worde, hee is a perfect man, and able to bridle all the body.

3 [4] Behold, wee put bits into the horses mouthes, that they shoulde obey vs, and we turne about all their body.

4 Beholde also the shippes, which though they be so great, & are driuen of fierce windes, yet are they turned about with a very small rudder, whither so euer the Gouernor lusteth.

5 Euen so the tongue is a little member, and boasteth of great things: [5] beholde, howe great a thing a litle fire kindleth.

6 And the tongue is fire, yea, a [b] worlde of wickednes: so is the tongue set among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and [c] setteth on fire the course of nature, and it is set on fire of hell.

7 For the whole nature of beastes, and of birdes, and of creeping things, and things of the Sea is tamed, & hath beene tamed of the nature of man.

8 But the tongue can no man tame. It is an vnruly euill, full of deadly poyson.

9 Therewith blesse wee God euen the Father, and therwith curse we men, which are made after the [7] similitude of God.

10 [8] Out of one mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing: my brethren, these things ought not so to be.

11 Doth a fountaine send forth at one place sweete water and bitter?

12 Can the figge tree, my brethren, bring forth Oliues, either a vine figges? so can no fountaine make both salt water and sweete.

13 [9] Who is a wise man and endued with knowledge among you? let him shewe by good conuersation his workes in meekenes of wisedome.

14 But if ye haue bitter enuying and strife in your hearts, reioyce not, neither be lyars against the trueth.

15 This wisedome descendeth not from aboue, but is earthly, sensuall, and deuilish.

16 For where enuying and strife is, there is sedition, and all maner of euill workes.

17 But the wisedome that is from aboue, is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, easie to be intreated, full of [d] mercy and good fruits, without iudging, and without hypocrisie.

18 [10] And the fruit of righteousnesse is sowen in peace, of them that make peace.

1 The first part of place: Let no man vsurpe (as most men ambitiously doe) authoritie to iudge and censure others rigorously.

2 A reason, Because they prouoke Gods seueritie against themselues, which do so curiously and rigorously condemne others, being themselues, guiltie and faultie.

a Vnlesse we surcease from this maisterlike and proude finding fault with others

‖ Or, stumble.

3 The seuenth place, touching the bridling of the tongue, ioyned with the former, so that it is manifest that there is no man which may not iustly bee found fault withall, seeing it is a rare vertue to bridle the tongue.

4 He sheweth by two similitudes, the one taken from the bridles of horses, the other from the rudder of shippes, how great matters may be brought to passe by the good moderation of the tongue. 5 On the contrary part he sheweth how great discommodities arise by y intemperance of the tongue, throughout the whole world, to the end that men may so much the more diligently giue themselues to moderate it. b An heape of all mischiefes. c It is able to set the whole world on fire.

6 Amongst other faults of the tongue, the Apostle chiefly reprooueth backbiting and speaking euill of our neighbours, found in them especially which otherwise will seeme godly and religious.

7 He vseth two reasons, that God can be praised by that man, that vseth cursed speaking or backbite: first because man is the image of God, which whosoeuer reuerenceth not, doeth not honour God himselfe.

8 Secondly, because the order of nature which God hath set in things, will not suffer things that are so contrary the one to the other, to stand the one with the other.

9 The eight part which hangeth with the former touching meekenesse of minde, against which he setteth enuie and a contentious minde. And in the beginning he stoppeth the mouth of the chiefe fountaine of all these mischiefes, to wit, a false perswasion of wisedome, whereas notwithstanding there is no true wisedome, but that is heauenly, and frameth our mindes to all kinde of true moderation and simplicitie. d He setteth mercie against the fierce and cruell nature of man, and sheweth that heauenly wisedome bringeth forth good fruites, for hee that is heauenly wise, referreth all things to Gods glory, and the profit of his neighbors. 10 Because the world perswadeth it selfe that they are miserable which liue peaceably and simply: on the contrary side the Apostle pronounceth them they shall at the length reape the harnest of peactable righteousnesse.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Hee reckoneth vp the mischiefes that proceede of the workes of the flesh, 7 hee exhorteth to humilitie, 18 and to purge the heart 9 from pride, 10 backbiting, 14 and the forgetfulnesse of our owne infirmitie.

FRom [1] whence are warres & contentions among you? are they not hence, euen of your pleasures, that fight in your members?

2 Ye lust, and haue not: ye enuie, and desire immoderately, and can not obtaine: yee fight, and warre, and get nothing, [2] because ye aske not.

3 Yee aske, and receiue not, because yee aske amisse, that yee might lay the same out on your pleasures.

4 [3] Ye adulterers and adultresses, knowe

1 He goeth on forward in the same argument, condemning certeine other causes of warres and contentions, to wit, vnbridled pleasures and immoderate lusts, by their effects, forsomuch as the Lord doth worthily make them void, so that they bring nothing else to them in whom they are, but incurable torments. 2 Hee reprehendeth them by a reason which are not ashamed to goe about to make God the minister and helper of their lusts and pleasures, in asking things which either are of themselues hurtfull, or being lawfull aske them to wicked purposes and vses. 3 Another reason why such vnbridled lusts and pleasures are vtterly to bee condemned, to wit, because that he that giueth himselfe to the world, diuorceth himselfe from God, and breaketh the band of that holy and spirituall marriage.

ye not that the amitie of the worlde is the enmitie of God? Whosoeuer therefore will bee a friend of the worlde, maketh himselfe the enemie of God.

5 [4] Do ye thinke that the Scripture sayeth in vaine, The Spirit that dwelleth in vs, lusteth after enuie?

6 But the Scripture offereth more grace, and therefore saith, * God resisteth the proud, and giueth grace to the humble.

7 *[5] Submit your selues to God: resist the deuill, and he will flee from you.

8 Draw neere to God, and he will draw neere to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners, and purge your hearts, ye double minded.

9 [6] Suffer afflictions, and sorowe ye, and weepe: let your laughter bee turned into mourning, and your ioy into [a] heauinesse.

10 *Cast downe your selues before the Lord, and he will lift you vp.

11 [7] Speake not euill one of another, brethren. He that speaketh euill of his brother, or he that condemneth his brother, speaketh euil of the Lawe, and condemneth the Lawe: and if thou condemnest the Law, thou art not an obseruer of the Law, but a Iudge.

12 There is one Lawgiuer, which is able to saue, and to destroy. *Who art thou that iudgest another man?

13 [8] Goe to nowe ye that say, To day or to morowe we will goe into such a citie, and continue there a yeere, and buy and sell, and get gaine,

14 (And yet ye cannot tell what shall bee to morowe. For what is your life? It is euen a vapour that appeareth for a little time, and afterward vanisheth away.)

15 For that ye ought to say, *If the Lord will, and, If we liue, we will do this or that.

16 But now ye reioyce in your boastings: all such reioycing is euill.

17 [9] Therefore, to him that knoweth how to do well, and doeth it not, to him it is sinne.

4 The taking away of an obiection: In deede our mindes run headlong into these vices, but we ought so much the more diligently take heede of them: which care and study shall not be in vaine, seeing that God resisteth the stubborne and giueth that grace to the modest and humble that surmounteth all those vices.
* Prou. 3.34.
1. pet. 5.5.
* Ephes. 4.27.
5 The conclusion: We must set the contrary vertues against those vices, and therefore whereas we obeyed the suggestions of the deuill, we must submit our mindes to God, and resist the deuill, with a certaine and assured hope of victorie. To be short, we must employ our selues to come neere vnto God by puritie and sincerities of life.
6 He goeth on in the same comparison of contraries, and setteth against those prophane ioyes an earnest sorow of minde, and against pride and arrogancie, holy modestie.
a By this worde the Grecians meane an heauinesse ioyned with shamefastnesse, which is to be seene in a cast downe countenance, and setled as it were vpon the ground, *1. Pet. 5.6. 7 He reprehendeth most sharply another double mischeife of pride: the one is, in that the proud and arrogant will haue other men to liue according to their will and pleasure, and therefore they doe most arrogantly condemne whatsoeuer pleaseth them not: which thing cannot be done without great iniurie to our onely Lawemaker, for by this meanes his Lawes are found fault withall, as not circumspectly enough written, and men chalenge that vnto themselues which properly belongeth to God alone, in that they lay a Lawe vpon mens consciences. * Rom. 14.4. 8 The other fault is this: That men doe so confidently determine vpon these & those matters & businesses, as though that euery moment of their life did not depend of God. 1.* Cor. 4.19. 9 The conclusion of all the former Treatise. The knowledge of the will of God, doeth not only nothing at all profit, vnlesse the life be answerable vnto it, but also maketh the sinnes farre more grieuous.

CHAP. V.

1 He threatneth the rich with Gods seuere iudgement, for their pride, 7 that the poore hearing the miserable end of the rich, 8 may patiently beare afflictions, 11 as Iob did, 14 euen in their distresses.

GO[1] to nowe, ye rich men: weepe, and howle for your miseries that shall come vpon you.

2 Your riches are corrupt, and your garments are motheaten.

3 Your golde and siluer is cankred, and the rust of them shalbe a witnesse against you, and shall eate your flesh, as it were fire. Yee haue heaped vp treasure for the last daies.

4 Behold, the hire of the labourers, which haue reaped your fieldes (which is of you kept backe by fraude) crieth, and the cries of them which haue reaped, are turned into the [a] eares of the Lord of hostes.

5 Yee haue liued in pleasure on the earth, and in wantonnes. Ye haue [b] nourished your hearts, as in a [c] day of slaughter.

6 Yee haue condemned and haue killed the iust, and he hath not resisted you.

7 [2] Be patient therefore, brethren, vnto the comming of the Lord. [3] Behold, the husbandman waiteth for the precious fruite of the earth, and hath long patience for it, vntil he receiue the former, and the latter raine.

8 Be yee also patient therefore and settle your hearts: for the comming of the Lorde draweth neere.

9 [4d] Grudge not one against another, brethren, least yee be condemned: [5] behold, the iudge standeth before the doore.

10 [6] Take, my brethren, the Prophets for an ensample of suffring aduersitie, and of long patience, which haue spoken in the Name of the Lord.

11 Behold, wee count them blessed which endure. Ye haue heard of the patience of Iob and haue knowen what [e] end the Lord made. For the Lord is very pitifull and mercifull.

12 [7] But before all things, my brethren, *sweare not, neither by heauen, nor by earth, nor by any other othe: but let [f] your yea, be yea, & your nay, nay, lest ye fal into condemnation.

13 [8] Is any among you afflicted? Let him pray. Is any merie? Let him sing.

14 [9] Is any sicke among you? Let him call for the Elders of the Church, and let them pray for him, and annoint him with *oyle in the [h] Name of the Lord.

15 And the prayer of faith shall saue the sicke, and the Lord shall raise him vp: and if hee haue committed [i] sinnes, they shalbe forgiuen him.

a The Lord who is more mightie then ye are, hath heard them.
b Ye haue pampered vp your selues.
c The Hebrewes call a day that is appointed to solemne banketting, a day of slaughter or feasting.
2 He applieth that to the poore, which he spake against the rich, warning them to waite for the Lords comming patiently, who will reuenge the iniuries which the rich men doe them.
3 The taking away of an obiection: although his comming seeme to linger, yet at the least we must follow the husbandmen, who do patiently wait for the times that are proper for the fruits of the earth. And againe, God will not defeare the least iote of the time that he hath appointed.
4 He commendeth Christian patience, for that where as other through impatience vse to accuse, one another, the faithfull on the contrary side, complaine not although they receiue iniurie.
d By grudging he meaneth a certain inward complayning, which betokeneth impatience.
5 The conclusion: The Lord is at the doore: who will defend his owne, and reuenge his enemies, and therefore we need not to trouble our selues.
6 Because most men are wont to obiect, that it is good to repel iniuries by what meanes soeuer, he setteth against that, the examples of the Fathers, whose patience had a most happy end, because God as a most bountifull Father, neuer forsaketh his.
e What end the Lord gaue.
7 Because euen the best men sometimes through impatience breake out into othes sometimes lesser, sometimes greater, the Apostle warneth vs to detest such wickednes, and to accustome our tongues to simple and true talke. *Matth. 5.34.
f That that you haue to say or affirme, speake or affirme it simply, & without an oth: and that that you will deny, deny it simply and flatly.
8 He sheweth the best remedie against all afflictions, to wit, prayers which haue their place both in sorow and ioy.
9 He sheweth peculierly, to what physicians especially we must goe, when wee are diseased, to wit, to the prayers of the Elders, which then also coulde cure the body, (for so much as the gift of healing was then in force) and take away the chiefest cause of sickenesse and diseases, by obteyning for the sicke through their prayers and exhortations, remission of sinnes. *Marke 6.13.
g This was a signe of the gift of healing: and now seeing we haue the gift no more, the signe is no longer necessarie.
h By calling on the Name of the Lord.
i He hath reason in making mention of sinnes, for diseases are for the most part sent because of sinnes.

10 The denouncing bitter destruction to the riches and prosperitie of rich men, and such as are drowned in their riotousnesse, mocking at their confidence when as there is nothing in deede more vaine then such things, 16 [10] Acknowledge your faultes one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed: [11] for the prayer of a righteous man auaileth much, if it be feruent.

17 * Helias was a man subiect to like passions as we are, and hee prayed earnestly that it might not raine, and it rained not on the earth for three yeeres and sixe moneths.

18 And he prayed againe, and the heauen gaue raine, and the earth brought foorth her fruite.

19 [12] Brethren, * if any of you hath erred from the trueth, and some man hath [k] conuerted him, 20 Let him knowe that hee which hath conuerted the sinner from going astray out of his way, shall saue a soule from death, and shal hide a multitude of sinnes.

10 Because God pardoneth their sinnes which confesse and acknowledge them, and not theirs which iustifie themselues, therefore the Apostle addeth, that we ought freely to conferre one with another touching those inward diseases, that we may helpe one another with our prayers. 11 He commendeth prayers by the effects that come of them, that all men may vnderstand that there is is nothing more effectuall then they are, so that they proceede from a pure minde. * 1. 12 The taking away of an obiection: All reprehensions are not condemned, seeing that on the contrary part there is nothing more acceptable to God then to call into the way, a brother that was wandring out of the way. * Matth. 18. 15. k Hath called him backe from his way.

The first Epistle generall of Peter.

CHAP. I.

1 He extolleth Gods mercy shewed in Christ which we lay hold on by faith, and possesse through hope: 10 whereof the Prophets foretolde. 13 He exhorteth 15 to renounce the world, 23 and their former life, and so wholy yeeld themselues to God.

PEter an Apostle of Jesus Christ, to the strangers that dwell heere and there throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia and Bithynia,

2 [1] Elect according to the [a] foreknowledge of God the Father vnto [b] sanctification of the Spirite, through obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace and peace be multiplied vnto you.

3 Blessed be God, euen the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercie hath begotten vs againe vnto a [c] liuely hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead,

4 To an inheritance immortall and vndefiled, and that withereth not, reserued in heauen for vs,

5 [2] Which are kept by the power of God through faith vnto saluation, which is prepared to be shewed in the [d] last time.

6 Wherein ye reioyce, though nowe for a season (if neede require) yee are in heauines, through manifold tentations,

7 That the triall of your faith, being much more precious then golde that perisheth (though it be tried with fire) might be found vnto your praise, and honour and glorie at the [e] appearing of Jesus Christ:

8 Whom yee haue not seene, and yet loue him, in whom now, though ye see him not, yet doe you beleeue, & reioyce with ioy vnspeakable and glorious,

9 Receiuing the || end of your faith, euen the saluation of your soules.

10 [3] Of the which saluation the Prophets haue enquired and searched, which prophecied of the grace that should come vnto you, 11 Searching when or what time the Spirite which testified before of Christ which was in them, should declare the suffrings that should come vnto Christ, and the glory that should follow.

12 Vnto whom it was reuealed, that not vnto themselues, but vnto vs they should minister the things, which are now shewed vnto you by them which haue preached vnto you the Gospel by the holy Ghost [f] sent downe from heauen, the which things the Angels desire to behold.

13 [4] Wherefore, [g] girde vp the loynes of your minde: bee sober, [5] and trust [h] perfectly on that grace [6] that is brought vnto you, [7] in the reuelation of Jesus Christ,

1 Peter purposing to speake of the dueties of a Christian life, reasoneth first of the principles and beginnings of all Christian actions, rising farre higher then nature, and caring vs also farre aboue the same. For he sheweth that we which are otherwise of nature sinners, were through the free mercie of God the Father first chosen from euerlasting: then according to that euerlasting decree, were by a certaine second creation made his sonnes in Christ his onely begotten, by whose Spirite we are inwardly changed, & by whose blood we are also reconciled, to the end, that as Christ himselfe rose againe from the dead, we also might be receiued into that same heauenly and euerlasting glorie. a Or, according to the purpose of God, who neuer altereth nor changeth the same. b That being set apart from the rest of this wicked world, through the working of the holy Ghost, they should be consecrated to God, Ephes. 1. 5. c Euerlasting hope. 2 Now he sheweth by what way we come vnto that glory, to wit, through all kind of afflictions, wherein notwithstanding faith maketh vs so secure, that we are not only not ouercome with sorowe, but also through the beholding of God himselfe (who otherwise is inuisible) with the eies of faith, are vnspeakeably ioyfull: because all such things, as they are but for a time, so are they not applied vnto vs to destroy vs, but as it were by fire to purge vs, and to make vs perfite, that at the length we may obteine saluation. d This is that time which Daniel calleth the time of the end, when as that great restoring of all things shall be, which all creatures looke for, Rom. 8. 19.

e He speaketh of the second comming of Christ. || Or, reward. 2 He putteth a difference betweene true faith, that is to say, that faith which onely hath an eye to the doctrine of the Prophets and Apostles, and false faith: Afterward hee maketh two degrees of one and the selfe same faith, according to the maner of the diuers reuelations, when as indeed it is but one onely faith: Thirdly, he saieth, that the preaching of the Apostles is the fulfilling of the preaching of the Prophets, although the latter end of it be as yet looked for of the very Angels. f He alludeth to the prophecie of Ioel, which was exhibited vpon the day of Pentecost, in the Apostles, as it were in the first fruites of the holy Ghost, which this same our Peter declareth, Acts 2. 6. 4 Hee goeth from faith to hope, which is in deede a companion that cannot bee sundered from faith: and hee vseth an argument taken of comparison: Wee ought not to bee wearied in looking for so excellent a thing, which the very Angels waite for with great desire. g This is a borowed speach, taken of a common vsage amongst them: for by reason that they wore long garments, they could not trauaile vnlesse they girded vp themselues: and hence it is that Christ sayde, Let your loynes bee girded vp. 5 Hee setteth foorth very briefly, what maner of hope ours ought to bee, to witte, continuall, vntill wee enioy the thing wee hope for: then, what wee haue to hope for, to witte, grace (that is, free saluation) reuealed to vs in the Gospell, and not that, that men doe rashly and fondly promise to themselues. h Soundly and sincerely. 6 An argument to stirre vp our mindes, seeing that God doeth not waite till wee seeke him, but causeth so great a benefite to be brought euen vnto vs. 7 He setteth out the ende of faith, least any man shoulde promise himselfe rather sooner or later, that full saluation, to witte, the latter comming of Christ: and therewithall warneth vs, not to measure the dignitie of the Gospell according to the present state, seeing that that which wee are nowe, is not yet reuealed.

25 [15] But the woꝛd of the Loꝛde endureth foꝛ euer: and this is the woꝛd which is preаched among you.

8 He paſſeth from faith and hope, to the fruits of them both, which are vnderſtood in the name of obedience: And it conſiſteth in two things, in renouncing our luſtes, and liuing godly: which luſtes haue their beginning of that blindnes wherein all men are borne: but holineſſe proceedeth from the grace and fauour of God which adopteth vs and therfoꝛe regenerateth vs, that the father and the children may be of one diſpoſition.

The Apoſtle anſwereth, that Chriſt was oꝛdained and appointed to redeeme and deliuer mankind, beꝛore that mankind was: much leſſe was there any Church without him beꝛore his comming in the fleſh: yet we are happieſt aboue the reſt, to whom Chriſt was exhibited indeed. in this that he hauing ſuffered and ouercome death foꝛvs, doeth nowe moſt effectually woꝛke in vs by the vertue of his Spirite, to create in vs faith, hope, and charitie.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth the new borne in faith, to lead their liues anſwerable to the ſame: 6 and leſt their faith ſhould ſtagger, he bringeth in that which was foretold touching Chriſt. 11 Then hee willeth them to be obedient to Magiſtrates. 21 and that they patiently beare aduerſitie after Chriſts example.

* Rom. 6.4. ephes. 4.23. coloſ. 3.8. hebr. 12.1.

1 Hauing laid foꝛ the foundation the Spirit of God effectually woꝛking by the woꝛd, and hauing built thereupon three vertues which are the grounds of all Chriſtian actions, to wit, faith, hope, and charitie: now he proceedeth to a generall exhortation, the firſt member whereof is, that we flee all ſhew, both of ſecrete and alſo open malice.

2 The ſecond is, that being newly begotten and boꝛne of the new ſeede of the vncoꝛrupt woꝛd, drawing and ſucking greedily the ſame woꝛd as milke, we ſhould moꝛe and moꝛe, as it were growe vp in that ſpirituall life. And he calleth it, Sincere, not only becauſe it is a moſt pure thing, but alſo that wee ſhould take heede of them which coꝛrupt it. a As it becommeth new men. 3 He commendeth that ſpirituall nouriſhment foꝛ the ſweetenes and profite of it. ‖ Or, doe taſt. 4 He goeth on foꝛward in the ſame exhoꝛtation, but vſeth another kind of boꝛowed ſpeech, alluding to the Temple. Therefoꝛe he ſaith, that the company of the faithfull is as it were a certaine holy and ſpirituall building, built of the liuely ſtones, the foundation wheroꝛof is Chriſt, as a liuely ſtone ſuſteining all that are ioyned vnto him with his liuing vertue, and knitting them together with himſelfe, although [illegible] great a treaſure be neglected of men. 5 Going foꝛward in the ſame ſi[illegible]e compareth vs now to Prieſts, placed to this end in that ſpirituall Te[illegible] that wee ſhould ſerue him with a ſpirituall woꝛſhip, that is, with holines and [illegible]ties: but as the Temple, ſo is the Prieſthood built vpon Chriſt, in whom o[illegible] our ſpirituall offerings are accepted. * Reuel. 1.6. 6 Hee prooueth it by the teſtimonie of the Prophet Eſai. * Eſai 28.16. rom. 9.33. 7 By ſetting the [illegible] bleſſed condition of the beleeuers, and the moſt miſerable of the rebellious o[illegible] againſt the other, he pricketh foꝛward the beleeuers, and triumpheth ouer the ot[illegible]: and alſo preuenteth an offence which ariſeth hereof, that none doe moꝛe reſiſt [illegible] doctrine of the Goſpel. then they which are chiefeſt amongſt the people of God, [illegible] were at that time that Peter wrote theſe things, the Prieſtes, and Elders, [illegible] Scribes. Therefoꝛe he anſwereth firſt of all: that there is no cauſe why any man ſhould be aſtoniſhed at this their ſtubbornnes, as though it were a ſtrange matter, ſeeing we haue bene foꝛewarned ſo long beꝛore, that it ſhould ſo come to paſſe: and moreouer, that it pleaſed God to create and make certaine to this ſelfe ſame purpoſe, that the Sonne of God might be glorified in their iuſt condemnation. Thirdly, foꝛ that the glory of Chriſt is hereby ſet foꝛth greatly, whereas notwithſtanding Chriſt remaineth the ſure head of his Church, and they that ſtumble at him, call downe and ouerthrowe themſelues, and not Chriſt. Fourthly, although they be created to this end and purpoſe, yet their fall and decay is not to be attributed to God, but to their owne obſtinate ſtubbornneſſe which commeth betweene Gods decree, and the execution thereof oꝛ their condemnation, and is the true and proper cauſe of their deſtruction. * Pſal. 118.22 mat. 21.42. actes 4.11. * Eſai. 8.14. rom. 9.33. 8 The contrary member, to wit, he deſcribeth the ſingular excellencie of the elect, and alſo leſt any man ſhould doubt whether he be choſen oꝛ not, the Apoſtle calleth vs backe to the effectual calling, that is, to the voice of the Goſpel ſounding both in our eares and mindes by the outward preaching and Sacraments, whereby we may certainely vnderſtand that euerlaſting decree of our ſaluation, (which otherwiſe is moſt ſecret and hidden) and that through the onely mercie of God, who freely choſeth and calleth vs. Therefoꝛe this onely remaineth, ſayeth he, that by all meanes poſſible we ſet foꝛth ſo great goodnes of the moſt mighty God.

10 * Which in times past were not a people, yet are now the people of God: which in time past were not vnder mercie, but nowe haue obteined mercie.

9 He returneth to that generall exhortation.

11 [9] Dearely beloued, [10] I beseech you, as strangers and pilgrims, *[12] abstaine from fleshly lustes, [12] which fight against the soule,

10 A reason why we ought to liue holily, to wit, because we are citizens of heauen, and therefore we ought to liue according to the Lawes not of this world, which is most corrupt, but of the heauenly citie, although wee be strangers in the world.

12 [13] * And haue your conuersation honest among the Gentiles, that they which speake euill of you as of euill doers, [14] may by your *good workes which they shall see, glorifie God in the day of [b] visitation.

* Rom. 13. 14. galat. 5. 16.

13 [15] * Therefore submit your selues vnto [c] all maner ordinance of man [16] for the Lordes sake, [17] whether it be vnto the King, as vnto the superiour, 11 Another argument: The children of God liue not according to the flesh, that is, according to that corrupt nature, but according to the spirit. Therefore fleshly motions ought not to beare rule in vs.

14 Or vnto gouernours, as vnto them that are sent of him, [18] for the punishment of euill doers, and for the prayse of them that doe well.

12 The third argument: for although those lustes flatter vs, yet they cease not to fight against our saluation.

15 [19] For so is the will of God, that by well doing yee may put to silence the ignorance of the foolish men, 16 As free, and not as hauing the libertie for a cloake of maliciousnesse, but as the seruants of God.

17 [20 d] Honour all men: * loue [e] brotherly fellowshippe: feare GOD: honour the King.

18 *[21] Seruants, be subiect to your masters with all feare, not onely to the good and courteous, but also to the froward.

13 The fourth argument, taken of the profit of so doing: for by this meanes also we prouide for our good name and estimation, whilest we compell them at length to change their mindes, which spake euill of vs. *Chap. 3. 16. 14 The fifth argument, which also is of great force: Because the glory of God is greatly set forth by that meanes, whilest by example of our honest life, euen the most prophane men are brought vnto God, and submit themselues vnto him. *Matth. 5. 16. b When God shal also haue mercy on them. 15 That which he spake generally, he now expoundeth by partes, describing seuerally euery mans duety. And first of all he speaketh of obedience which is due both to the Lawes, and also to the Magistrates both higher and lower. *Rom. 13. 1. c By ordinance, is meant the framing & ordering of ciuil gouernment: which he calleth ordinance of man, not because man inuented it, but because it is proper to men. 16 The first argument: because the Lorde is the Author and reuenger of this policie of men, that is, which is set amongst men: and therefore the true seruants of the Lord must aboue all others be diligent obseruers of this order. 17 He preuenteth a cauil which is made by some, that say, they will obey Kings, and the higher Magistrates, and yet contemne their ministers: as though their ministers were not armed with their authoritie which sent them. 18 The second argument taken of the end of this order, which is not onely most profitable, but also very necessary: seeing that by this meanes vertue is rewarded, and vice punished: wherein the quietnes and happines of this life consisteth. 19 He declareth the first argument more amply, shewing that Christian libertie doth amongst all things least or not at all consist herein, to wit, to cast off the bridle of Lawes, (as at that time some altogether vnskilfull in the Kingdome of God reported) but rather in this, that liuing holily according to the will of God, we should make manifest to all men, that the Gospel is not a cloake for sinne and wickednesse, seeing we are in such sort free, that yet we are still the seruants of God, and not of sinne. 20 He diuideth the ciuill life of man, by occasion of those things which he spake, into two generall parts: to wit into those duetes which priuate men owe to priuate men and especially the faithfull to the faithfull, and into that subiection whereby inferiours are bound to their superiours: but so, that Kings be not made equall to God seeing that feare is due to God, and honour to Kings. d Be charitable and dutifull towards all men. * Chap. 1. 22. rom 12. 10. e The assemblie and fellowship of the brethren, as Zecharie 11. 14. * Ephes. 5. 6. colos 3. 22. 21 Hee goeth to the duety of seruants towards their masters, which hee describeth with these bounds, that seruants submit themselues willingly and not by constraint, not onely to the good and courteous, but also to the froward and sharpe masters,

*2. Cor. 7. 10.

22 The taking away of an obiection: Indeed the condition of seruants is hard, especially if they haue froward masters: but this their subiection shall be so much the more acceptable to God, if his will preuaile more with seruants, then the masters iniuries.

f Because he maketh a conscience of it so offend God, by whose good will and appointment he knoweth this burden is laide vpon him.

23 He mitigateth the grieuousnesse of seruitude, while he sheweth plainely that Christ died also for seruants, that they should beare so much the more patiently this inequalitie betwixt men which are of one selfe same nature: moreouer setting before them Christ that Lord of lords for an example, he signifieth that they cannot but seeme too delicate, which shewe themselues more grieued in bearing of iniuries, then Christ himselfe who was most iust, and most sharpe of all afflicted, and yet was most patient. g A borowed kind of speach taken of painters and schoolemasters. *Esa. 53. 9. 1. iohn 3. 5. 24 He sheweth them a remedie against iniuries, to wit, that they commend their cause to God, by the example of Christ. 25 He seemeth now to turne his speach to masters, which haue also themselues a master and iudge in heauen, who will iustly reuenge the iniuries that are done to seruants, without any respect of persons. *Esa. 53. 5. matth 8. 17. 26 He calleth the seruants backe from the consideration of the iniuries which they are constrained to beare, to thinke vpon the greatnesse and the end of the benefite receiued of Christ.

Tim. 2. 9. 3 He condemneth the riot and excesse of women, and setteth forth their true apparelling, such as is precious before God, to wit, the inward and incorruptible, which consisteth in a meeke and quiet spirit. a Who hath his heare softened in the heart: so that the hid man is set against the outward decking of the body. b Precious in deed and so taken of God. 4 An argument taken of the example of women, and specially of Sara, which was the mother of all be-past did the holy women, which trusted in God tire themselues, and were subiect to their husbands.

6 As Sara obeyed Abraham, and *called him Sir: whose daughters ye are, whiles ye doe well, [5] not being afraide of any terrour.

7 *[6] Likewise ye husbands, [c] dwell with them as men of [d] knowledge [7] giuing [e] honour vnto the woman, as vnto the weaker [f] vessell, [8] euen as they which are heires together of the [g] grace of life, [9] that your prayers be not interrupted.

8 [10] Finally, be ye all of one minde: one suffer with another: loue as brethren: be pitifull: be curteous, 9 *[11] Not rendring euill for euill, neither rebuke for rebuke: but contrarywise, blesse, [12] knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should be heires of blessing.

10 *[13] For if any man long after life, and to [h] see good dayes, let him refraine his tongue from euill, and his lippes that they speake no guile.

11 *Let him eschew euill, and do good: let him seeke peace, and follow after it.

12 For the eyes of the Lorde are ouer the righteous, and his eares are open vnto their prayers: and the [i] face of the Lorde is against them that doe euill.

13 [14] And who is it that will harme you, if ye follow that which is good?

14 *Notwithstanding blessed are ye, if ye suffer for righteousnesse sake. [15] Yea, *feare not their [k] feare, neither be troubled.

15 But [l] sanctifie the Lorde God in your hearts: [16] and be ready alwayes to giue an answere to euery man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you, with meekenes and reuerence, 16 Hauing a good conscience, that when they speake euill of you as of euill doers, they may be ashamed, which slander your good conuersation in Christ.

17 [7] For it is better (if the will of God be so) that ye suffer for wel doing, then for euil doing.

18 *[18] For Christ also hath once suffered for sinnes, [19] the iust for the vniust, [20] that hee might bring vs to God, [21] and was put to death concerning the [m] flesh, but was quickened by the spirit.

19 [22] By ‖ the which he also went, & preached vnto the ‖ spirits that are in prison, 20 Which were in time past disobedient, when [n] once the long suffering of God abode in the dayes of *Noe, while the Arke was preparing, wherein fewe, that is, eight [o] soules were saued in the water.

21 [23] Whereof the baptisme that nowe is, answering that figure, (which is not a putting away of the filth of the flesh, but a [p] confident demanding which a good conscience maketh to God) saueth vs also [24] by the resurrection of Iesus Christ,

22 Which is at the right hande of God, gone into heauen, to whome the Angels, and Powers, and might are subiect.

16 He will haue vs, when we are afflicted for righteousnesse sake, to be carefull not for reuealing of our life, either with denying or renouncing the trueth or with like violence, or any such meanes: but rather to giue an account of our faith boldly, and yet with a meeke spirit, and full of godly reuerence, that the enemies maynot haue any thing iustly to obiect, but may rather beashamed of themselues.

17 A reason which standeth vpon two generall rules of Christianitie, which notwithstanding all men allow not of. The one is, if wee must needes suffer afflictions, it is better to suffer wrongfully then rightfully: the other is this, because we are so afflicted not by hap, but by the will of our God.

*Ro. 5.6. heb. 9.15.

18 A proofe of either of ye rules, by the example of Christ himselfe our chiefe patern, who was afflicted not for his owne sinnes (which were none) but for ours, and that according to his Fathers decree. 19 An argument taken of comparison: Christ the iust, suffered for vs that are vniust, and shall it grieue vs which are vniust, to suffer for the Iustes cause? 20 An other argument being partly taken of things coupled together, to wit, because Christ bringeth vs to his Father that same way that hee went himselfe, and partly from the cause efficient: to wit, because Christ is not onely set before vs for an example to followe, but also he holdeth vs vp by his vertue in all the difficulties of this life, vntill he bring vs to his Father. 21 An other argument taken of the happie end of these afflictions, wherein also Christ goeth before vs both in example and vertue, as one who suffered most grieuous torments euen vnto death, although but in one part onely of him, to wit, in the flesh or mans nature: but yet became conqueror by the vertue of his diuinitie. 22 A secret obiection: Christ in deede might do this, but what is that to vs? Yes (saith the Apostle) for Christ hath shewed forth his vertue in all ages both to the preseruation of the godly, were they neuer so few and miserable, and to reuenge the rebellion of his enemies, as it appeareth by the historie of the flood: for Christ is he which in those dayes (when God through his patience appointed a time of repentance to the world) was present, not in corporall presence, but by his diuine vertue, preaching repentance, euen by the mouth of Noe himselfe who then prepared the Arke, to those disobedient spirits which are now in prison, waiting for the full recompence of their rebellion, and saued those fewe, (that is, eight onely persons) in the water. ‖ By the vertue of which Spirite, that is to say, of the diuinitie: therefore this word, Spirit, cannot in this place be taken for the soule, vnlesse we will say, that Christ was rayled vp againe and quickned by the vertue of his soule. ‖ He calleth them spirits, in respect of his time, not in respect of the time that they were in the flesh. n This word (once) sheweth that there was a furthermost day appointed, and if that were once past, there should bee no more. *Genes. 6.14. matth. 24.38. luke 17.26. o Men. 23 A proportional applying of the former example to the the time which followes the comming of Christ: for that preseruation of Noe in the waters, was a figure of our Baptisme, not as though the materiall water of Baptisme saued vs, as those waters which bare vp the Arke saued Noe, but because Christ with his inward vertue, which the outward baptisme shadoweth, preserueth vs being washed, so that we may call vpon God with a good conscience. p The conscience being sanctified may freely call vpon God. 24 That selfe same vertue, whereby Christ rose againe, and now being caried vp into heauen hath receiued all power, both at this day defend and preserue vs.

*Gen. 18.12.

5 Because women are of nature fearefull, he giueth them to vnderstand that he requireth of them that subiection, which is not wring out of them either by force or feare.

*1. Cor. 7.3.

6 He teacheth husbands also their duelties, to wit, that the more vnderstanding and wisedome they haue, the more wisely and circumspectly they behaue themselues.

c Doe all the duties of wedlocke.

d The more wisedome the husband hath, the more circumspectly he must behaue himselfe in bearing those discommodities, which through the womans weakenesse oft times cause trouble both to the husband and the wife.

7 The second argument: because the wife notwithstanding that she is weaker by nature then the man, is an excellent instrument of the man, made to farre most excellent vses: whereupon it followeth, that she is not therefore to bee neglected because shee is weake, but on the contrary part she ought to be so much the more cared for.

e Hauing an honest care of her.

f The woman is called a vessel after the maner of the Hebrewes, because the husband vseth her as his fellow and helper, to liue faithfully before God.

8 The third argument: for that they are equall in that which is the chiefest (that is to say, in the benefite of eternal life) which otherwise are vnequall as touching the gouernance and conuersation at home, and therefore they are not to be despised although they bee weake.

g Of that gracious and free benefite, whereby wee haue euerlasting life giuen vs.

9 The fourth argument: All brawlings and chidings must be eschewed, because they hinder prayers and the whole seruice of God, whereunto both the husband and the wife are equally called.

10 He turneth to common exhortations, & commendeth concord and whatsoeuer things pertaine to the maintenance of peace and mutuall loue. *Prou. 17.13. and 20.22. matth. 5.39. rom. 12.17. 1. thess. 5.15.

11 Wee must not onely not recompense iniurie for iniurie, but we must also recompense them with benefits.

12 An argument taken of comparison: Seeing that we our selues are called of God whom we offend so often, to so great a benefit, (so farre is he from reuenging the iniuries which we doe vnto him,) shall we rather make our selues vnworthie of so great bountifulnesse, then forgiue one anothers faults? And from this verse to the end of the Chapter, there is a digression or going from the matter hee is in hand with, to exhort vs valiantly to beare afflictions. *Psal. 34.13.

13 A secret obiection: But this our patience shal be nothing els but a fleshing and hardening of the wicked in their wickednes, to make them set vpon vs more boldly and destroy vs. Nay (saieth the Apostle by the wordes of Dauid) to liue without doing hurt, and to followe after peace, when it flieth away, is the way to that happie and quiet peace. And if so bee any man be afflicted for doing iustly, the Lord marketh all things, and will in his time deliuer the godly, which cry vnto him, and will destroy the wicked.

h Lead a blessed and happy life. *Esay. 1.16.

i This word (Face) after the maner of the Hebrewes, is taken for (anger.)

24 The second argument: when the wicked are pronehey, they are more wayward: therefore they must rather bee ouercome with good turnes. And if they cannot be gotten by that meanes also, yet notwithstanding we shall be blessed, if we suffer for righteousnesse sake. *Matth. 5.10.

15 A most certaine counsell in afflictions, be they neuer so terrible, to bee of a constant mind, and to stand fast. But how shall we attaine vnto it? If we sanctifie God in our mindes and hearts, that is to say, if we reckon him as one that is Almightie, that loueth mankind, that is good and true in deede.

*Esay 8.12, 13.

k Bee not dismaied as they are.

l Giue him all honour and glory, and hang onely on him.

CHAP. IIII.

1 He bringeth in Christes example, and applieth it 6 to the mortifying of the flesh, especially commending charitie: 12 And so intreateth of patience. 17 That it is necessarie that correction begin at the Church.

For

FOraſmuch [1] then as Chriſt hath ſuffered for vs in the fleſh, arme your ſelues likewiſe with the ſame minde, which is, that hee which hath ſuffered in the fleſh, hath ceaſed from ſinne.

2 That hee henceforward ſhould liue (as much time as [a] remaineth in the fleſh) not after the luſtes of men, but after the will of God.

3 [*2] For it is ſuffieient for vs that wee haue ſpent the time paſt of the life, after the [b] luſt of the Gentiles walking in wantonneſſe, luſtes, drunkenneſſe, in gluttonie, drinkings, and in abominable idolatries.

4 [3] Wherein it ſeemeth to them [c] ſtrange, that yee runne not with them vnto the ſame exceſſe of riot: therefore ſpeake they euill of you,

5 Which ſhall giue accounts to him, that is ready to iudge quicke and dead.

6 [4] For vnto this purpoſe was the Goſpel preached alſo vnto the dead, that they might be condemned, according to men in the fleſh, but might liue according to God in the ſpirit.

7 [5] Now the ende of all things is at hand. Be ye therefore ſober, and watching in prayer.

8 [6] But aboue all things haue feruent loue among you: * for loue ſhall couer the multitude of ſinnes.

9 [7] Bee yee * harbarous one to another, without grudging.

10 [8] * Let euery man as he hath receiued the gift, miniſter the ſame one to another, [9] as good diſpoſers of the manifolde graces of God.

11 [10] If any man ſpeake let him ſpeake as the words of God. If any man miniſter, let him doe it as of the abilitie which God miniſtreth, that God in all things may be glorified through Ieſus Chriſt, to whom is praiſe and dominion for euer, and euer, Amen.

12 [11] Dearely beloued, thinke it not [d] ſtrange [12] concerning the fierie triall, which is among you to proue you, as though ſome ſtrange thing were come vnto you:

13 [13] But reioyce, in as much as yee are partakers of Chriſtes ſufferings, that when his glorie ſhall appeare, yee may bee glad and reioyce.

14 [*14] If ye be railed vpon for the Name of Chriſt, bleſſed are ye: for the [e] ſpirit of glorie, and of God reſteth vpon you: which on their part is euill ſpoken of: but on your part is glorified.

15 [15] But let none of you ſuffer as a murtherer, or as a thiefe, or an euill doer, or as a buſie bodie in other mens matters.

16 But if any man ſuffer as a Chriſtian, let him not bee aſhamed: but let him glorifie God in this behalfe.

17 [16] For the time is come, that iudgement muſt begin at the houſe of God. [17] If it firſt begin at vs, what ſhall the end be of them which obey not the Goſpell of God?

18 * And if the righteous ſcarcely bee ſaued, where ſhall the vngodly and the ſinner appeare?

19 [18] Wherefore let them that ſuffer according to the will of God, commit their ſoules to him in well doing, as vnto a faithful creator.

a So much of this preſent life, as remaineth yet to be paſſed ouer. * Epheſ 4.22.

b Wickedly and licentiouſly after the maner of the Gentiles.

c They thinke it a new and ſtrange matter

1 Hauing ended his digreſſion and ſliding from his matter, now he returneth to the exhortation which he brake off, taking occaſion by that which hee ſayd touching the death and reſurrection of Chriſt, to deſtruing our ſanctification, that to be ſanctified, is all one as to ſuffer in the fleſh, that is to ſay, to leaue off from our wickedneſſe and vicioufneſſe: and riſe againe to God, that is to ſay, to be renewed by the vertue of the holy Ghoſt, that wee may leade the reſt of our life which remaineth after the will of God.

2 By putting vs in minde of the diſhoneſtie of our former life led in the filth of ſinne, he calleth vs to earneſt repentance.

3 That wee be not moued with the enemies peruerſe and ſlanderous iudgements of vs, wee haue to ſet againſt them that laſt iudgement of God which remaineth for them: for none, whether they be then found liuing, or were dead before, ſhall eſcape it.

4 A digreſſion: becauſe hee made mention of the laſt generall iudgement. And he preuenteth an obiection, that, ſeeing Chriſt came vers lately, they may ſeeme to bee excuſable which died before. But this the Apoſtle denieth: for (ſayth hee) this ſelfe ſame Goſpel was preached vnto them alſo (for he ſpeaketh vnto the Iewes) and that to the ſame end that I now preach it vnto you, to wit, that the fleſh being aboliſhed and put away (that is to ſay, that wicked and naughtie corruption which reigneth in men) they ſhould ſuffer themſelues to be gouerned by the vertue of the Spirit of God. 5 Hee returneth to his purpoſe, vſing an argument taken from the circumſtaunce of the time. Becauſe the laſt ende is at hand, and therefore wee muſt ſo much the more diligently watch and pray, with true ſobrietie of mind. 6 Hee commendeth charitie of one towards another, becauſe it doeth as it were bury a multitude of ſinnes, and therefore preſerueth and maintaineth peace and concord: for they that loue one another doe eaſily forgiue one another their offences. * Prouerb.10.12. 7 Of all the duties of charitie, hee commendeth one namely which was at that time moſt neceſſary, to wit, hoſpitalitie, which hee will haue to bee voluntary and moſt courteous and bountifull. * Rom.12.13. hebr.13.2. 8 He ſheweth the vſe of charitie, to wit, that euery man beſtow that gift which he hath receiued, to the profite of his neighbour. * Rom.12.6. phil.2.14. 9 A reaſon, becauſe that what gift ſoeuer we haue, we haue receiued it of God vpon this condition, to bee his diſpoſers and ſtewards. 10 Hee reckoneth vp two kindes of theſe gifts as chiefe, to wit, the office of teaching in the Church, and the other eccleſiaſticall functions, wherein two things eſpecially are to be obſerued: to wit, that the pure word of God bee taught, and whatſoeuer is done, bee referred to the glory of God the Father in Chriſt, as to the proper marke.

11 Becauſe the croſſe is ioyned with the ſincere profeſſion of religion, the Apoſtle firſt repeateth that which hee touched before, warning vs not to be troubled at perſecutions and afflictions, as at a newe and ſtrange thing.

d As though ſome new thing had befalne you, which you neuer thought of before.

12 The firſt reaſon: becauſe the Lord meaneth not to conſume vs with this fire (as it were) but to purge vs of our vyle and make vs perfit.

13 Another reaſon: Becauſe the afflictions of the godly & the wicked differ very much, and chiefly in three points. Firſt, becauſe the godly communicate with Chriſt in their afflictions, and therefore ſhall in their time be partakers alſo of his glorie.

* Matth.5.10.

14 Secondly, becauſe that although the infidels thinke farre otherwiſe, who in afflicting the godly blaſpheme God, yet the godly in that they are ſo rayled vpon, are honoured of God with the true ſpirituall glorie, and their aduption is ſealed to them by the Spirit of God. e By Spirit, he meaneth the giftes of the Spirit.

15 The third difference: for the godly are not afflicted for euill doings, but for righteouſnes ſake as Chriſtians: wherby it commeth to paſſe that the croſſe, ſeeing it is a teſtimonie vnto them of faith and righteouſneſſe, miniſtreth to them not an occaſion of ſorrow, but of vnſpeakable ioy: now the Apoſtle propoundeth this third difference vnder the forme of an exhortation. 16 The third reaſon: Becauſe the Lord of all the world being eſpecially carefull for them of his houſhold, doth therefore chaſtiſe them firſt of all, yet ſo that he keepeth a meaſure in his greateſt ſeuerity. And as hee hath alwayes vſed to do heretofore, ſo doeth hee now eſpecially when as hee exhibited himſelfe in perſon to his Church. 17 Leaſt the godly ſhould be offended and ſtumble at that vaine ſhadow of felicitie of the wicked, as though God were not the Gouernour of the world, for that the wicked are in good eaſe, and the godly in euill, the Apoſtle teacheth by an argument of a compariſon of them together, that God who ſpareth not his owne, but nourtereth them vnder the croſſe, will at length in his time handle the rebellious and wicked farre otherwiſe, whom he hath appointed to vtter deſtruction. * Prou.3.31. 18 The concluſion: Seeing the godly are not afflicted by chaunce, but by the will of God, they ought not to deſpaire, but go forward notwithſtanding in the way of holyneſſe and well doing, commending themſelues to God their faithfull Creatour, that is to ſay, their Father.

CHAP. V.

1 Hee warneth the Elders not to vſurpe authoritie ouer the Church, 5 willing the yonger ſort to bee willing to be taught, and to be modeſt, 8 to be ſober and watchfull to reſiſt the cruell aduerſarie.

THe [1] Elders which are among you, [2] I beſeech which am alſo an elder, and a witneſſe of the ſufferings of Chriſt, and alſo a partaker of the glorie that ſhalbe reuealed,

2 [3a] Feede the [4] flocke of God, which

1 He deſcribeth peculiarly the office of the Elders, that is to ſay, of them that haue the care of the Church.

2 He bleth a preface touching the circumſtaunce of his owne perſon: to wit, that he as their companion commeneth with them not of matters which hee knoweth not, but wherein he is as well experienced as any, and propoundeth vnto them no other condition but that which he himſelfe hath ſuffered before them, & both ſtill take the ſame paines, and alſo hath one ſelfe ſame hope together with them. 3 The firſt rule: He that is a Shepheard, let him feede the flocke. a He ſaith not, offer for the quick and the dead, and ſing patched ſhreds in ſtrange tongue, but, (feede) 4 [illegible] ſhoue: Let the Shepheards conſider, that the flocke is not his, but God's.

5 The third: Let not shepheards invade other mens flockes, but let them feede that which God hath committed vnto them.

6 Let the shepheards governe the Church with the word, and example of godly and vnblameable life, not by constraint but willingly, not for filthy lucre, but of a readie minde, not as lords ouer Gods portion and heritage, but as his ministers.

b Which is the Christian people.

7 That the shepheards minds bee not overcome either with the wickednesse of men, or their crueltie, hee warneth them to cast their eyes continually vpon that chiefe shepheard, and the crowne which is laide vp for them in heauen.

5 dependeth vpon you, [6] caring for it not by constraint, but willingly: not for filthy lucre, but of a readie minde:

3 Not as though ye were lords ouer Gods [d] heritage, but that yee may bee ensamples to the flocke.

4 [7] And when that chiefe shepheard shall appeare, yee shall receiue an incorruptible crowne of glorie.

5 [8] Likewise yee younger, submit your selues vnto the elders, and submit your selues euery man, one to another: * decke your selues inwardly in lowlinesse of minde: [9] for * God resisteth the proude, and giueth grace to the humble.

6 Humble * your selues therefore [10] vnder the mightie hand of God, that hee may exalt you in due time,

7 * Cast all your care on him: for he careth for you.

8 [11] Bee sober, and watch: for * your aduersarie the deuill as a roaring Lion walketh about, seeking whom he may deuoure:

9 Whom resist stedfast in the faith, [12] knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your [c] brethren which are in the world.

10 [13] And the God of all grace, which hath called vs vnto his eternal glorie by Christ Jesus, after ỳ yee haue suffered a litle, make you perfit, confirme, strengthen and stablish you.

11 To him be glorie and dominion for euer and euer, Amen.

12 [14] By Syluanus a faithful brother vnto you, as I suppose, haue I written briefly, exhorting and testifying how that this is the true grace of God wherein ye stand.

13 [15] The Church that is at [d] Babylon elected together with you, saluteth you, and Marcus my sonne.

14 Greete ye one another with the * kisse of loue. Peace be with you all which are in Christ Jesus, Amen.

8 He commendeth many peculiar Christian vertues, and especially modestie: which admonition al of vs stand in neede of, but especially the yonger sort by reason of the vntowardnesse and pride of that age. * Rom. 12. 10. 9 Because pride seemeth to many to bee the way vnto the glorie of this life, the Apostle witnesseth on the contrarie side, that ignominie and shame is the reward of pride, and glorie the reward of modestie. * Iam. 4. 6. * Iam. 4. 10. 10 Because those proude and lofty spirits threaten the modest and humble, the Apostle warneth vs to set the power of God against the vanitie of proude men, and to hang wholy vpon his prouidence. * Psal. 55. 23. matth. 6. 25. luke 12. 22.

11 The cruelty of Satan who seeketh by all meanes to deuoure vs, is ouercome by watchfulnesse and faith. * Luke 22. 32.

12 The persecutions which Satan stirreth vp, are neither new nor proper to any one man, but from olde and ancient time common to the whole Church, and therefore wee must suffer that patiently, wherein we haue such and so many fellowes of our conflicts and combates.

c Amongst your brethren which are dispersed throughout the world.

13 He saluteth vp as it were with a scale the former exhortation with a solemne prayer, againe willing them to aske encrease of strength at his hands, of whome they had the beginning, and hope to haue the accomplishment: to wit, of God the Father in Christ Jesus, in whome we are sure of the glorie of eternall life. 14 Continuance and perseuerance in the doctrine of the Apostles, is the onely ground and foundation of Christian strength: Now the summe of the Apostles doctrine, is saluation freely giuen of God. 15 Familiar salutations. d In that famous citie of Assyria, where Peter the Apostle of the circumcision then was. * Rom 16, 16, 1. cor, 16. 20. 2. cor. 13. 12.

The second Epistle generall of Peter.

CHAP. I.

3 Having spoken of the bountifulnes of God, 5 and of the vertues of faith, 6 He exhorteth them to holines of life, 12 and that his counsell may be the more effectuall. 14 He sheweth that his death is at hand, 16 and that him selfe did see the power of Christ which he opened vnto them.

1 A Salutation, wherein he giueth them to vnderstand that he dealeth with the as Christes embassadour, and otherwise agreeth with them in one selfe same faith which is grounded vpon the righteousnes of Jesus Christ, our God and Sauiour.

a In that that God standing to his promises, shewed himselfe faithfull, and therefore iust vnto vs.

2 Faith is the acknowledging of God and Christ, from whence all our blessednesse issueth and floweth. 3 Christ setteth forth himselfe vnto vs plainely in the Gospel, and that by his onely power, and giueth vs all things which are requisite both to eternall life, wherein hee hath appointed to glorifie vs, and also to godlinesse, in that hee doth furnish vs with true vertue. b He speaketh of Christ, whom he maketh God and the onely Saviour. c Vnto saluation. d This is the summe of true religion, to be led by Christ to the Father, as it were by the hand.

SImon [1] Peter a seruant and an Apostle of Jesus Christ, to you which haue obteined like precious faith with vs by the [a] righteousnesse of our God, and our Sauiour Jesus Christ.

2 Grace and peace bee multiplied to you, [2] through the acknowledging of God, and of Jesus our Lord,

3 [3] According as his [d] diuine power hath giuen vnto vs all things that pertaine vnto [c] life and godlinesse, through the [d] acknowledging of him that hath called vs vnto glorie and vertue.

4 [4] Whereby most great and precious promises are giuē vnto vs, that by them ye should be partakers of the [e] diuine nature, in that yee flee the corruption, which is in the [f] world through [g] lust.

5 [5] Therefore giue euen all diligence thereunto: [h] ioyne moreouer vertue with your faith: and with vertue, knowledge:

6 [6] And with knowledge, temperance: and with temperance, patience: and with patience, godlinesse:

7 And with godlinesse, brotherly kindnes: and with brotherly kindnesse, loue.

8 [7] For if these things be among you, and abound, they will make you that yee neither

4 An explication of the former sentence, declaring the causes of so great benefites, to wit, God and his free promise, from whence all these benefites proceede, I say, these most excellent benefites, whereby we are deliuered from the corruption of this world, (that is, from the wicked lusts which wee carie about vs) and are made after a sorte, like vnto God himselfe.

e By the diuine nature he meaneth not the substance of the Godhead, but the partaking of those qualities, whereby the image of God is restored in vs. f In men. g For lust is the seate of corruption, and hath his place euen in our verie bowels & inmost parts. 5 Hauing laied the foundation (that is, hauing declared the causes of our saluation, and especially of our sanctification) now hee beginneth to exhort vs to giue our mindes wholly to the true vse of this grace. And hee beginneth with faith, without which nothing can please God, and hee warneth vs to haue it full fraught with vertue (that is to say, with good and godly maners) being ioyned with the knowledge of Gods will, without which, there is neither faith, neither any true vertue. h Supplie also, and support or ayde. 6 Hee reckeneth vp certaine other principall vertues, whereof some pertaine to the first table of the Law, others to the last. 7 As those fruites doe spring from the true knowledge of Christ, so in like sort the knowledge it selfe is fostered and groweth by bringing forth such fruites, in so much that hee that is vnfruitfull, did either neuer know the true light, or hath forgotten the gift of sanctification which hee hath receiued.

[i] He that hath not an effectuall knowledge of God in him, is blind as touching the kingdom of God, for hee can not see things that are afarre off, that is to say, heauenly things.

shalbe idle, nor vnfruitfull in the acknowledging of our Lord Iesus Christ:

9 For he that hath not these things, is blinde, and [i] can not see farre off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins.

8 The conclusion: Therefore seeing our calling & election is approued by these fruits, and is confirmed in vs, and moreouer seeing this is the onely way to the euerlasting kingdom of Christ, it remaineth that we cast our mindes wholy that way.

10 [8] Wherefore, brethren, giue rather diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye doe these things, ye shall neuer fall.

9 An amplifying of the conclusion ioyned with a modest excuse wherein he declareth his loue towards them, and foretelleth them of his death which is at hand.

11 For by this meanes an entring shalbe ministred vnto you abundantly into the euerlasting kingdome of our Lord and Sauiour Iesus Christ.

12 [9] Wherefore, I will not be negligent to put you alwayes in remembrance of these things, though that yee haue knowledge, and be stablished in the present trueth.

13 For I thinke it meete as long as I am in this [k] tabernacle, to stirre you vp by putting you in remembrance, 14 Seeing I know ẏ the time is at hand that I must lay downe this my tabernacle, euen as our Lord Iesus Christ hath * shewed me.

15 I will endeuour therefore alwayes, that ye also may be able to haue remembrance of these things after my departing.

k In this body.
* Iohn 21.18.

16 *[10] For wee followed not deceiueable fables when wee opened vnto you the power, and comming of our Lord Iesus Christ, but with our eyes we saw his maiestie:

* 1. Cor. 1.17. and 2.1.

10 An other amplification taken both of the great certaintie and also excellency of his doctrine, as whereof our Lord Iesus Christ the Sonne of God is authour, whose glory the Apostle himselfe both saw and heard.

17 For he receiued of God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voyce to him from that excellent glory, * This is my beloued Sonne, in whom I am well pleased.

* Matth. 17.5.

18 And this voyce we heard when it came from heauen, being with him in the Holy mount.

11 The trueth of the Gospell is hereby also manifest, in that it agreeth wholy with the foretellings of the Prophets.

19 [11] We haue also a most sure word of the Prophets, [12] to the which ye doe well that yee take heede, as vnto a light that shineth in a darke place, vntil the [l] day dawne, and the [m] day starre arise in your hearts.

12 The doctrine of the Apostles doeth not thrust out the doctrine of the Prophets, for they confirme each other by each others testimonies, but the Prophets were as candles which gaue light vnto the blind, vntill the brightnesse of the Gospel began to shine.

20 *[13] So that yee first know this, that no prophecie of the [n] Scripture is of any [o] priuate interpretation, 21 For the prophecie came not in old time by the will of man: but [p] holy men of God spake as they were [q] moued by the holy Ghost.

l A more full and open knowledge, then was vnder the shadowes of the Law. m That clearer doctrine of the Gospel. * 2. Tim. 3.16. 13 The Prophets are to be read, but so, that we aske of God the gift of interpretation, for he that is the authour of the writings of the Prophets, is also the interpreter of them. n Hee ioyneth the Scripture and prophecie together to distinguish true Prophecies from false. o For all interpretation commeth from God. p The godly interpreters and messengers. q Inspired of God: and these their motions were in very good order, and not such as were the motions of the prophane soothsayers and foretellers of things to come.

CHAP. II.

1 He foretelleth them of false teachers, 3 whose wicked sleights and destruction he declareth. 12 He compareth them to brute beasts. 17 and to welles without water, 20 because they seeke to withdrawe men from God to their olde filthinesse.

BUt [1] there were false Prophets also among the [a] people, euen as there shall bee false teachers among you: which priuily shall bring in damnable heresies, euen denying the Lord, that hath brought them, and bring vpon themselues swift damnation.

1 As in times past there were two kinds of prophets, the one true, the other false, so Peter foretelleth them, that there shalbe some true & some false teachers in the Church, in so much that Christ himselfe shall be denied of some, which notwithstanding shall call him redeemer.

2 [2] And many shal follow their destructions, by whō the way of trueth shal be euil spoken of.

a Vnder ẏ Law, while the stare and policie of the Iewes was yet standing.

3 [3] And through couetousnesse shall they with fained words [b] make merchandise of you, [4] Whose condemnation long since resteth not, and their destruction slumbreth not.

2 There shal not onely be heresies, but also many followers of them.

3 Couetousnesse for the most part is a companion of heresie, & maketh merchandise euen of soules.

b They will abuse you and sell you as they sell cattell in a faire.

4 For if God spared not the * Angels that had sinned, but cast them downe into [c] hell, and deliuered them into [d] chaines of darkenesse, to be kept vnto damnation:

4 Comfort for the godly: God who cast the Angels that fell away from him, headlong into the darknesse of hell, at length to be iudged: and who destroyed the olde worlde with the flood, & preserued Noe the eight person: and who burned Sodom, & saued Lot, wil deliuer his elect from these ertours, and will vtterly destroy those vnrighteous.

* Iob. 4.18. iudge 6.

c So the Greecians called the deepe dungeons vnder the earth, which should be appointed to torment the soules of the wicked in.

5 Neither hath spared the [e] old world, but saued * Noe the eight person a [f] preacher of righteousnesse, and brought in the flood vpon the world of the vngodly, d Bound them with darknes as it were with chaines: and by darknesse hee meaneth that most miserable state of life that is full of horror.

6 And * turned the cities of Sodom and Gomorrhe into ashes, condemned them and ouerthrew them, and made them an ensample vnto them that after should liue vngodly, e Which was before the flood: not that God made a new world, but because the world seemed new. * Gen. 7. 1.. f For he ceased not the space of an hundreth and twenty yeeres to warne the wicked both by word and deed, what wrath of God hanged ouer their heads.

7 And deliuered iust Loth vexed with the vncleanly conuersation of the wicked:

8 (For he being righteous, and dwelling among them, in [g] seeing and hearing, [h] vexed his righteous soule from day to day with their vnlawfull deeds.)

* Gen. 19. 13, 24.

g Which way soeuer hee looked and turned his eares. h He had a troubled soule, and being vehemently grieued, liued a painfull life.

9 The Lord [i] knoweth to deliuer the godly out of tentation, and to reserue the vniust vnto the day of iudgement vnder punishment.

i Hath bene long practised in saving and deliuering the righteous.

10 [5] And chiefly them that walke after the flesh, in the lust of vncleannesse, and despise gouernement, which are bold, and stand in their owne conceite, and feare not to speake euill of them that are in [k] dignitie.

5 He goeth to another sort of corrupt men, which notwithstanding are within the bosome of the Church which are wickedly giuen, and do seditiously speake euill of the authority of Magistrates (which the Angels themselues that minister before God, do not dispraise.) A true and liuely description of the Romish cleargie (as they call it.)

k Princes and great men, be they neuer so high in authority.

11 Whereas the Angels which are greater both in power and might, giue not railing iudgement against them before the Lord.

12 [6] But these, as naturall brute beastes, led with sensualitie and [l] made to be taken, and destroyed, speake euill of those things which they knowe not, and shall perish through their [m] owne corruption,

6 A liuely painting out of the same persons, wherein they are compared to beasts which are made to slaie themselues to destruction, while they giue themselues to fill their bellies: For there is no greater ignorance then is in these men although they most impudently shew forth with those things which they know not: and it shall come to passe that they shall destroy themselues as beasts with those pleasures wherewith they are delighted and dishonour and defile the company of the godly.

l Made to this end to be a pray to others: So do these men willingly cast themselues into Satans snare.

m Their owne wicked maners shall bring them to destruction.

13 And shall receiue the wages of vnrighteousnes, as they which count it pleasure daylie to liue deliciously. ‖ Spots they are and blots, deliting themselues in their deceiuings, [n] in feasting with you,

14 [7] Hauing eyes full of adultery, and that cannot cease to sin, beguiling vnstable soules: they haue hearts exercised with couetousnesse, they are the children of curse:

15 Which forsaking the right way, haue gone astray, following the way of * Balaam, the sonne of Bosor, which loued the wages of vnrighteousnesse.

16 But he was rebuked for his iniquitie: for the dum beast speaking with mans voyce, forbade the foolishnesse of the Prophet.

17 [*8] These are [o] wels without water, and cloudes caried about with a tempest, to whom the [p] black darknes is reserued for euer.

18 For in speaking [q] swelling wordes of vanity, they [r] beguile with wantonnes through the lustes of the flesh them that were [s] cleane escaped from them which are wrapped in errour, 19 Promising vnto them libertie, and are themselues the * seruants of corruption: for of whomsoeuer a man is ouercome, euen vnto the same is he in bondage.

20 [9] * For if they, after they haue escaped from the filthinesse of the world, through the acknowledging of the Lord, and of the Sauiour Iesus Christ, are yet tangled againe therein, and ouercome, the latter ende is worse with them then the beginning.

21 For it had beene better for them, not to haue acknowledged the way of righteousnes, then after they haue acknowledged it, to turne from the holy commaundement giuen vnto them.

22 But it is come vnto them, according to the true Prouerbe, * The dogge is returned to his owne vomit: and, The sow that was washed, to the wallowing in the myre.

‖ Or, little rocks, [n] When as by being amongst the Christians in the holy bankets which the Church keepeth, they would seem by that meanes to be true members of the Church, yet they are in deede but blots of the Church. 7 He condemneth those men, as shewing euen in their behauiour and countenance an vnmeasurable lust, as making merchandise of the soules of light persons, as men exercised in all the crafts of couetousnesse, to be short, as men that sell themselues for money to curse the sonnes of God after Balaams example, whom the dum beast reproued. * Numb. 22. 23. * Iude 12. 8 Another note whereby they may bee well knowen what maner of men they are, because they haue inwardly nothing but either vtterly vaine or very hurtful, although they make a shew of some great goodnesse: but they shall not escape vnpunished for it, because vnder pretence of false libertie, they draw men into most miserable slauerie of sinne. [o] Which boast of knowledge and haue nothing in them. [p] Most grosse darkenesse. [q] They deceiue with vaine and swelling words. [r] They take them, as fishes are taken with the hooke. [s] Vnfainedly and indeede, cleane departed from idolatrie. * Iohn 8. 34. rom. 6. 20. 9 It were better to haue neuer knowen the way of righteousnesse, then to turne backe from it to the olde filthinesse: and men that doe so, are compared to hogges and swine. * Matthew 12. 45. hebr. 6. 4. * Prou. 26. 11.

CHAP. III.

1 Hee sheweth that hee writeth the same things againe, 2 because they must often bee stirred vp, 4 because dangers hang ouer their heads through certain mockers: 8 Therefore hee warneth the godly that they doe not after the iudgement of the flesh, 12 appoynt the day of the Lord, 14 but that they thinke it alwayes at hand, 15 in which doctrine he sheweth that Paul agreeth with him.

THis [1] second Epistle I now write vnto you beloued, wherewith I stirre vp, and warne your pure mindes,

2 To call to remembrance the wordes which were told before of the holy Prophets, and also the commaundement of vs the Apostles of the Lord and Sauiour.

3 [*2] This first vnderstand, that there shal come in the last dayes, [a] mockers, which will walke after their lustes,

4 [3] And say, Where is the promise of his comming? for since the fathers died, al things continue alike from the beginning of the creation.

5 [4] For this they willingly know not, that the heauens were of olde, and the [b] earth that was of the water and by the water, by the word of God.

6 [5] Wherefore the world that then was, perished, ouerflowed with the [c] water.

7 [6] But the heauens and earth, which are now, are kept by the same word in store, and reserued vnto fire against the day of condemnation, and of the destruction of vngodly men.

8 [7] Dearely beloued, bee not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord, * as a thousand yeeres, and a thousand yeeres as one day.

9 [8] The Lord of that promise is not slacke (as some men count slackenesse) [9] but is patient toward vs, and * would haue no man to perish, but would all men to come to repentance.

10 [10] But the * day of the Lord will come as a thiefe in the night, in the which the heauens shall passe away with a [d] noyse, and the elements shall melt with heate, and the earth with the workes that are therein, shall bee burnt vp.

11 [11] Seeing therefore that all these things must bee dissolued, what maner persons ought yee to be in holy conuersation and godlinesse, 12 Looking for, and [e] hasting vnto the comming of that day of God, by which the heauens being on fire, shall bee dissolued, and the elements shall melt with heate?

13 But wee looke for * newe heauens, and a new earth, according to his promise, [f] wherein dwelleth righteousnesse.

14 Wherefore, beloued, seeing that yee looke for such things, be diligent that yee may

[1] The remedie against those wicked enemies, both of true doctrine and holinesse, is to bee sought for by the continuall meditation of the writings of the Prophets and Apostles.

* 1. Tim. 4. 1. 2. tim. 3. 1. iude 18. [2] He voucheth the second coming of Christ against the Epicures by name. [a] Monstrous men, who will seeme wise by their contempt of God, and wicked boldnesse. 3 The reason which these mockers pretende because the course of nature is all one as it was from the beginning, therefore the worlde was from euerlasting, and shall be for euer. 4 He setteth against them the creation of heauen and earth by the word of God, which these men are willingly ignorant of. [b] Which appeared, when the waters were gathered together into one place. 5 Secondly, hee set against them the vniuersall flood, which was the destruction, as it were of the whole world. [c] For the waters returning into their former place, this world, that is to say, this beautie of the earth which wee see, and all liuing creatures which liue vpon the earth, perished. 6 Thirdly, he pronounceth that it shall not bee harder for God to burne heauen and earth with fire, in that day which is appointed for the destruction of the wicked (which thing he will also doe) then it was for him in times past to make them with his only word, and afterward to ouerwhelme them with water. 7 The taking away of an obiection: In that he seemeth to deferre this iudgement a long season, in respect of vs it is true, but not before God, with whom there is no time either long or short. * Psal. 90. 4. 8 The Lord will surely come, because hee hath promised: and that neither sooner nor later then he hath promised. 9 The reason why the latter day commeth not out of hand, because God doeth patiently wait till the elect be brought to repentance, that none of them may perish. * Ezech. 18. 32. and 33. 11. 1. tim. 2. 4. 10 A very short description of the last destruction of the world, but in such sort as nothing could be spoken more grauely. * Matth. 24. 44. 1. thess. 5. 2. reuel 3. 3. and 16. 15. 15 *And suppose that the long suffring of our Lord is saluation, [12] euen as our beloued brother Paul accoꝛding to the wisedom giuen vnto him wꝛote vnto you, 16 As one that in all his Epistles speaketh of these things: [13] among the ‖ which some things are hard to bee vnderstood, which they that are vnlearned & vnstable, wrest, as they doe also other Scriptures vnto their owne destruction.

17 Yee therefoꝛe beloued, seeing yee knowe these things befoꝛe, beware, lest yee bee also plucked away with the errour of the wicked, and fall from your owne stedfastnesse.

18 But growe in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Sauiour Jesus Christ: to him bee glory both nowe and euermoꝛe. Amen.

g That you may trie to your profite, how gẽtle & peaceable he is *Rom.2.4.

12 Pauls Epistles are allowed by ỹ expres testimony of Peter.

13 There be certaine of these things obscure & darke wherof the vnlearned take occasion to ouerthꝛow some men ỹ stand not fast, wresting the testimonies of the scripture to their owne destruction. But this is the remedie against such deceit, to labour that we may daily moꝛe and moꝛe growe vp & increase in ỹ knowledge of Christ. ‖ That is to say among ỹ which things: for he disputeth not here whether Pauls Epistles be plain or dark, but saith, that amongst those things which Paul hath written of in his Epistles, and Peter himselfe in these two of his owne, there are some things which cannot be so easily vnderstood, and therfore are of some drawen to their own destruction: & this he saith to make vs more attentiue & diligent, & not to remoue vs from the reading of holy things, for to what end should they haue written vaine speculations?

The first Epistle generall of Iohn.

CHAP. I.

1 He testifieth that he bringeth the eternall word wherin is life, and light: 9 God will be mercifull vnto the faithfull, if groning vnder the burden of their sins, they learne to flee vnto his mercie.

1 He beginneth with the description of the person of Christ, whome he maketh one and not two: and him both God from euerlasting (foꝛ he was with the Father from the beginning, and is that eternall life) and also made true man, whome John himselfe and his companions, both heard, and beheld, and handled.

THat [1] which was from the beginning, which we haue [a] heard, which wee haue seene with these our eyes, which wee haue looked vpon, and these hands of ours haue handled of that [b] woꝛd of life.

2 (Foꝛ that life was made manifest, and wee haue seene it, and beare witnesse, and [c] shewe vnto you that eternall life, which was with the Father, and was manifest vnto vs.)

3 That, I say, which we haue seene and heard, declare we vnto you, [2] that yee may also haue fellowship with vs, and that our fellowship also may be with the Father, and with his Sonne IESVS Christ.

4 And these things wꝛite wee vnto you, that that your ioy may be full.

5 [3] This then is the message which wee haue heard of him, and declare vnto you, that God * is light, and in him is no darkenesse.

6 If we say that we haue fellowship with him, and walke in darkenesse, we lie, and doe not truely:

7 But if wee walke in the [d] light as he is in the light, wee haue fellowship one with another, [4] and the * blood of Jesus Christ his Sonne clenseth vs from all sinne.

8 [5] * If we say that we haue no sinne, we [e] deceiue our selues, and trueth is not in vs.

9 [6] If we acknowledge our sinnes, hee is [g] faithfull and iust, to [h] foꝛgiue vs our sinnes, and to clense vs from all vnrighteousnesse.

10 [7] If we say we haue not sinned, we make him [i] a liar, and his [k] woꝛd is not in vs.

a I heard him speake, I sawe him my selfe with mine eyes, I handled with mine handes him that is very God being made very man, and not I alone, but others also that were with me.

b That same euerlasting Word by whome all things are made, and in whome onely there is life.

c Being sent by him: and that doctrine is rightly sayd to be shewed, for no man could so much as haue thought of it, if it had not bin thus shewed.

2 The vse of this doctrine is this, that all of vs being coupled and ioyned together with Christ by faith, might become the sonnes of God: in which thing onely consisteth all happinesse.

3 Now hee entreth into a question, whereby wee may vnderstande that wee are ioyned together with Christ, to wit, if wee bee gouerned with this light, which is perceiued by the opening of our life. And thus hee reasoneth. God is in himselfe most pure light, therefoꝛe hee agreeth well with them which are lightsome, but with them that are darkesome he hath no fellowship. *Iohn 8.12.

d God is sayd to be light of his owne nature, & to be in light, that is to say, in that euerlasting infinite blessednesse: and we are sayd to walke in light, in that the beames of that light doe shine vnto vs in the Word.

4 A digression or going from the matter he is in hand with, to the remission of sinnes: for this our sanctification which walke in the light, is a testimonie of our ioyning & knitting together with Christ: but because this our light is very darke, wee must needes obteine another benefite in Christ, to wit, that our sinnes may be foꝛgiuen vs being sprinkled with his blood: and this in conclusion is the prappe and stay of our saluation. *Heb.9.28.1.pet.1.19.reuela.1.5.

5 There is none but needeth this benefite, because there is none that is not a sinner. *1 King.8.46.2.chron.6.36.prouerbes 20.9.

e This place doth fully refute that perfitnesse of workes of supererogation which the Papists dreame of.

f So then, Iohn speaketh not thus for modestie sake, as some say, but because it is so in deede.

6 Therfore the beginning of saluation is to acknowledge our wickednesse, and to requite pardon of him, who freely foꝛgiueth all sinnes, because he hath promised so to doe, and hee is faithfull and iust.

g So then our saluation lieth vpon the free promise of God who because he is faithfull and iust, will performe that which hee hath promised.

h Where are then our merits? for this is our true felicitie.

7 A rehearsall of the former sentence, wherein he condemneth all all sinne without exception: in so much that if any man perswade himselfe other wise, hee doeth as much as in him lieth, make the woꝛde of God himselfe vaine and to no purpose, yea he maketh God a lyar: foꝛ to what ende either in times past heeden sacrifices, oꝛ now Christ and the Gospel, if we be not sinners?

i They doe not onely deceiue themselues but are blasphemous against God.

k His doctrine shall haue no place in vs: that is, in our hearts.

CHAP. II.

1 He declareth that Christ is our Mediatour and Aduocate, 3 and sheweth that the knowledge of God consisteth in holinesse of life, 12 which appertaineth to all sorts, 14 that depend on Christ alone: 15 Then hauing exhorted them to contemne the world, 18 He giueth warning that antichristes bee auoyded, 24 and that the knowen trueth be stood vnto.

1 Ie followeth not hereof that we must giue our selues ouer vnto the lustes of the flesh, oꝛ thinke so much the more freely, because our sinnes are clensed away by ỹ blood of Christ, but we must rather so much the more resist sin. And yet we must not despaire because of our infirmities, foꝛ we haue an aduocate, a purger, Christ Jesus the Iust, and therfore acceptable vnto the Father.

2 In that he nameth Christ, he comprehendeth vnder all offices. b Reconciliation and intercession go together, to giue vs to vnderstand that he is both aduocate and his Priest.

MY [1] little children, these things wꝛite I vnto you, that ye sinne not: and if any man sinne, wee haue an [a] Aduocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the Iust.

2 And hee is the [b] reconciliation foꝛ our sinnes: and not for ours onely, but also for the sinnes of the [c]whole world.

3 [2]And hereby we are sure that we [d]know him [e]if we keepe his commandements.

4 [3]He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commaundements, is a liar, and the trueth is not in him.

5 [4]But he that keepeth his word, in him is the [f]loue of God perfect indeede: heereby wee know that we are in [g]him.

6 [5]Hee that saith hee remayneth in him, ought euen so to walke, as he hath walked.

7 [6]Brethren, I write no new commaundement vnto you: but an old commandement, which yee haue had from the beginning: this olde commandement is that word, which yee haue heard from the beginning.

8 [7]Againe, a newe commaundement I write vnto you, that [h]which is true in him, and also in you: for the darkenesse is past, and that true light now shineth.

9 [8]Hee that saith that he is in that light, and hateth his brother, is in darkenesse, vntill this time.

10 *He that loueth his brother, abideth in that light, and there is none occasion of euill in him.

11 But hee that hateth his brother, is in darkenesse, and walketh in darkenesse, and knoweth not whither hee goeth, because that darkenesse hath blinded his eyes.

12 [9]Litle children, [i]I write vnto you, because your sinnes are forgiuen you for his [k]Names sake.

13 [10]I write vnto you, fathers, because yee haue knowen him that is from the beginning. [11]I write vnto you, yong men, because ye haue ouercome that wicked one. [12]I write vnto you, litle children, because ye haue knowen the Father.

14 [13]I haue written vnto you, fathers, because yee haue knowen him, that is from the beginning. I haue written vnto you, young men, because ye are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and yee haue ouercome that wicked one.

15 [14]Loue not this [l]world, neither the things that are in this world. If any man loue this world, the [m]loue of the father is not in him.

16 For all that is in this world (as the lust of the flesh, the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life) is not of the Father, but is of this world.

17 [15]And this world passeth away, and the lust thereof: but hee that fulfilleth the will of God, abideth euer.

18 [16]n Litle children, [17]it is the last time, [18]and as yee haue heard that Antichrist shall come, euen now there are many Antichristes: whereby we know that it is the last time.

19 [19]They went out from vs, but they were not of vs: for if they had bene of vs, [o]they should haue continued with vs. [20]But this commeth to passe, that it might appeare, that they are not all of vs.

20 [21]But ye haue an [p]oyntment from that [q]Holy one, and know all things.

21 [22]I haue not written vnto you, because ye know not the trueth: but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the trueth.

22 [23]Who is a liar, but he that denieth that Iesus is [r]that Christ: the same is that Antichrist that denieth the Father and the Sonne.

23 [s]Whosoeuer denieth the Sonne, the same hath not the Father.

24 [24]Let therefore abide in you that same which ye haue heard from the beginning. If that which ye haue heard from the beginning, shall remaine in you, ye also shall continue in the Sonne, and in the Father.

c For men of all sorts, of all ages, and all places, so that this benefite belongeth not to the Iewes only, of whome he speaketh as appeareth, vers. 7. but also to other nations.

2 He returneth to the testimony of our coniunction with God, to wit, to sanctification, declaring what it is to walke in the light, to wit, to keepe Gods commandements. Whereby it followeth that holines doth not consist in those things which men haue deuised, neither in a vaine profession of the Gospel.

d This must bee vnderstood of such a knowledg as hath faith with it, and not of a common knowledge.

e For the tree is knowen by the fruit.

3 Holinesse, that is, a life ordered according to the prescript of Gods commandements, how weake soeuer wee be, is of necessity ioyned with faith, that is, with the true knowledge of the Father in the Son.

4 He that keepeth Gods commandements ioyneth God in deede: He that loueth God, is in God, or is ioyned together with God. Therefore hee that keepeth his commaundements is in him.

f Wherewith we loue God.

g He meaneth our coniunction with Christ.

5 Hee that is one with Christ, must needs liue his life, that is, must walke in his steps.

6 The Apostle going about to expound the commandement of Charitie one towards another, telleth first that when he vrgeth holinesse, he bringeth no new trade of life (as they vse to doe which deuise traditions one after another) but putteth them in minde of that same lawe which God gaue in the beginning, to wit, by Moses, at that time that God began to make Lawes to his people.

7 Hee addeth, that the doctrine indeede is olde, but it is now after a sort newe, both in respect of Christ, and also of vs: in whome hee through the Gospel, engraueth his Lawe effectually, not in tables of stone, but in our minds.

h Which thing (to wit, that the doctrine is new which I write vnto you) is true in him, and in you.

8 Now hee commeth to the second table, that is, to charitie one towards another, and denieth that that man hath true light in him, or is in deed regenerate and the sonne of God, which hateth his brother: and such an one wandereth miserably in darkenesse, brag hee of neuer so great knowledge of God, for that wittingly and willingly he casteth himselfe headlong into hell. *Chap. 3. 14.

9 He returneth againe from the sanctification to remission of sinnes, because that free reconciliation in Christ is the ground of our saluation whereupon afterwards sanctification must be built as vpon a foundation.

i Therefore I write vnto you, because you are of their number whome God hath reconciled to himselfe.

k For his owne sake: And in that he nameth Christ he shutteth out all other, whether they be in heauen or earth.

10 He sheweth that this doctrine agreeth to all ages, & first of all speaking to old men, hee sheweth that Christ and his doctrine are passing ancient, & therefore if they be deliten with olde things, nothing ought to be more acceptable vnto them.

11 He admonisheth yong men, if they be desirous to shew their strength, that they haue a most glorious combate set here before them, to wit, Satan the worst enemie, who must be ouercome: willing them to be as sure of the victorie, as if they had already gotten it.

12 Finally, he sheweth to children, that that true Father from whom they haue to looke for all good things, is set forth vnto them in the Gospel.

13 Hee addeth afterward in like order, as many exhortations: as if he should say, Remember, you Fathers, as I wrote euen now, that the euerlasting Sonne of God is reuealed to vs. Remember, ye yong men, that that strength whereby I said that you put Satan to flight, is giuen you by the word of God which dwelleth in you.

14 The world which is full of wicked desires, lusts, or pleasures and pride is vtterly hated of our heauenly Father, Therefore the Father and the world cannot be loued together: and this admonition is very necessary for a greene and flourishing youth.

l He speaketh of the world, as it agreeth not with the will of God, for otherwise God is sayd to loue the world with an infinite loue, Iohn 3. 16. that is to say, those whom hee chose out of the world.

m Wherewith the Father is loued.

15 He sheweth how much better it is to obey the Fathers will, then the lusts of the world, by both their natures and vnlike euent.

16 Now, he turneth himselfe to litle children, which notwithstanding are well instructed in the summe of religion, and willeth them by diuers reasons to shake off slouthfulnes, which is too too familiar with that age.

n Hee vseth this word (Litle) not because he speaketh to children, but to allure them the more by vsing such sweet words.

17 First because the last time is at hand, so that the matter suffereth no delay.

18 Secondly, because Antichrists, that is, such as fall from God, are already come, euen as they heard that they should come. And it was very requisite to warne that vnheedy and wariesse age of that danger.

19 A digression against certaine offences and stumbling blockes whereat that rude age especially might stumble and bee shaken. Therefore that they should not be terrified with the foule falling backe of certaine, first hee maketh plaine vnto men that although such as fall from God & his religion had place in the Church, yet they were neuer of the Church: because the Church is the company of the elect which cannot perish, and therefore cannot fall from Christ.

o So then the elect can neuer fall from grace.

20 Secondly, he sheweth that these things fall out to the profit of the Church, that hypocrites may be plainly knowen.

21 Thirdly, he comforteth them, to make them stand fast, inasmuch as they are anointed of the holy Ghost with the true knowledge of saluation.

p The grace of the holy Ghost, and this is a borowed kind of speech taken from the anointings vsed in the Law.

q From Christ who is peculiarly called Holy.

22 The taking away of an obiection. He wrote not these things as to men which are ignorant of religion, but rather as to them which doe well know the trueth, yea so farre foorth that they are able to discerne trueth from falsehood.

23 He sheweth now plainely the false doctrine of the Antichrists, to wit, that either they fight against the person of Christ, or his office, or both together and at once. And they that doe so, doe in vaine boast and brag of God, for that in denying the Sonne, the Father also is denied.

r Is the true Messias.

s They then are deceiued themselues, and also deceiue other, which say that the Turkes and other infidels worship the same God that we doe.

24 The whole preaching of the Prophets and Apostles is contrary to that doctrine. Therefore it is vtterly to bee cast away, and this whole to be holden and kept, which leadeth vs to seeke eternall life in the free promise, that is to say, in Christ alone, who is giuen vs of the Father.

25 The same Spirit which inuieth the elect with the knowledge of ẏ trueth and sanctifieth the, giueth them therewithall the gift of perseuerance, to continue to the end.

t The Spirite which you haue receiued of Christ and which hath led you into all trueth.

u You are not ignorãt of those things, and therfore I teach them not as things that were neuer heard of, but call them to your remembrance as things which you doe know.

25 And this is the promise that hee hath promised vs, euen that eternall life.

26 [25] These things haue I written vnto you, concerning them that deceiue you.

27 But that [t] anoynting which yee receiued of him, dwelleth in you: and yee [u] needе not that any man teache you: but as the same [x] Anoynting teacheth you of all things, and it is true, and is not lying, and as it taught you, ye shall abide in him.

28 [26] And now, litle children, abide in him, that when he shall appeare, we may be bolde, & not be ashamed before him at his comming.

29 [27] If yee knowe that hee is righteous, knowe yee that he which doeth righteously, is borne of him.

x He commendeth both the doctrine which they had embraced, and also highly praiseth their faith, and the diligence of such as taught them, yet so, that he taketh nothing from the honour due to the holy Ghost. 26 The conclusion both of the whole exhortation, and also of the former treatise. 27 A passing ouer to the treatise following, which tendeth to the same purpose, but yet is more ample, and handleth the same matter after another order, for before he taught vs to go vp from the effects to the cause, and in this that followeth, he goeth downe from the causes to the effects. And this is the summe of this argument. God is the fountaine of all righteousnesse, and therefore they that giue themselues to righteousnesse, are knowen to bee borne of him, because they resemble God the Father.

CHAP. III.

1 Setting downe the inestimable glory of this, that we are God Sonnes, 7 he sheweth that newnesse of life must be testified by good works, whereof Charitie is a manifest token. 19 Of faith, 22 and praying vnto God.

1 Beholde, [1] [a] what loue the Father hath giuen to vs, that wee should bee [b] called the Sonnes of God: [2] for this cause this worlde knoweth you not, because it knoweth not him.

2 [3] Dearely beloued, nowe are wee the Sonnes of God, but yet it is not made manifest what we shall be: and we know that when he shalbe made manifest, we shalbe [c] like him: for we shall see him [d] as he is.

3 [4] And euery man that hath this hope in him, purgeth himselfe, euen [e] as he is pure.

4 [5] Whosoeuer [f] committeth sinne, transgresseth also the Law: for [g] sinne is the transgression of the Law.

5 [6] And ye know that hee was made manifest, that hee might * take away our sinnes, and in him is no sinne.

6 Whosoeuer abideth in him, sinneth not: whosoeuer [h] sinneth, hath not seene him, neither hath knowen him.

a He beginneth to declare this agreement of the Father and the Sonne, at the highest cause, to wit, at that free loue of God towards vs, wherwith he so loueth vs, that also hee adopteth vs to be his children.

a What a gift of how great loue.

b That we should be the Sonnes of God, & so, that al ẏ world may perceiue we are so.

2 Before he declare this adoption, he saith two things: the one, that this so great a dignitie is not to bee esteemed according to the iudgement of the flesh, because it is vnknowen to the world, for ẏ world knoweth not God the Father himselfe. 3 The other: This dignitie is not fully made manifest vnto our selues, much lesse to strangers, but we are sure of the accomplishment of it, in somuch that we shall bee like to the Sonne of God himselfe and shall enioy his sight in deede, such as hee is now, but yet notwithstanding this is deferred vntil his next comming.

c Like, but not equal. d For now we se as in a glasse, 1. Cor. 13. 12. 4 Now he describeth this adoption, (the glory whereof as yet consisteth in hope,) by the effect, to wit, because that whosoeuer is made the Son of God, endeuoureth to resemble the Father in puritie.

e This word signifieth a likenesse, but not an equalitie. 5 The rule of this puritie can from no where else bee taken but from the Law of God, the transgression whereof is that which is called sinne.

f Giueth not himself to purenes. g A short definition of sin. 6 An argument taken from the materiall cause of our saluation: Christ in himself is most pure, and he came to take away our sins, by sanctifying vs with the holy Ghost. Therefore whosoeuer is truely partaker of Christ, doth not giue himselfe to sin, & contrariwise he that giueth himself to sin, knoweth not Christ. *Isa. 53. 6, 9, 11. 1. per. 2. 22. 24.

h He is said to sin, that giueth not himself to purenes, & in him sin reigneth: but sin is said to dwel in the faithful, & not to reigne in them,

7 [7] Little children, let no man deceiue you: he that doeth righteousnes, is righteous, as he is righteous,

8 [8] Hee that * committeth sinne, is of the [i] deuil: for the deuil [k] sinneth from the [l] beginning: for this purpose was made manifest that Sonne of God, that he might loose the workes of the deuil.

9 Whosoeuer is borne of God, sinneth not: for his [m] seede remaineth in him, neither can he sinne, because he is borne of God.

10 [9] In this are ẏ children of God knowen, and the children of the deuil: whosoeuer doeth not righteousnesse, is not of God, [10] neither he that loueth not his brother.

11 [11] For this is the message, that ye heard from the beginning, that * we should loue one another.

12 [12] Not as *[n] Cain which was of that wicked one, and slew his brother: [13] and wherfore slew hee him? because his owne workes were euill, and his brothers good.

13 Marueile not, my brethren, though this world hate you.

14 [14] We [o] knowe that we are translated from death vnto life, because we loue the brethren: * he that loueth not his brother, abideth in death.

15 [15] Whosoeuer hateth his brother, is a manslayer: and yee knowe that no manslayer hath eternall life abiding in him.

16 *[16] Hereby haue wee perceiued loue, that he layde downe his life for vs: therefore wee ought also to lay downe our liues for the brethren.

17 *[17] And whosoeuer hath this [p] worlds good, and seeth his brother haue neede, and [q] shutteth vp his compassion from him, howe dwelleth the loue of God in him?

18 [18] My little children, let vs not loue in word, neither in tongue only, but in deede and in trueth.

7 Another argument of things coupled together. Hee that liueth iustly, is iust, and resembleth Christ that is iust, & by that is knowen to be ẏ Son of God.

8 An argument taken of contraries: the deuil is the author of sin and therefore he is of the deuil, or is ruled by the inspiration of the deuil, that seeketh sinne: and if he be the deuils Son, then is he not Gods Son: for the deuil & God, are so cõtrary the one to the other, that euẽ the Sonne of God was sent to destroy the workes of the deuil. Therefore on the contrary side, whosoeuer resisteth sinne, is the Sonne of God, being borne againe of his spirit as of newe seede, in so much, that of necessitie he is now deliuered from the slauerie of sinne.

* Iohn 8. 44.

i Resembleth the deuil, as the child doth the Father, and is gouerned by his Spirit.

k He saith not sinned, but, sinneth, for he doth nothing els but sinne.

l From the very beginning of the world.

m The holy Ghost is so called of the effect hee worketh, because by his vertue and mightie working, as it were by seed, wee are made new men.

9 The conclusion: By a wicked life they are knowen which are gouerned by the spirit of the deuil: and by a pure life, which are Gods children. 10 Hee beginneth to commend charitie towards the brethren, as another marke of the Sonnes of God. 11 The first reason taken of the authoritie of God which giueth the commandement. *Iohn 13 34. and 15. 12. 12 An amplification taken of the contrary example of Cain which slew his brother. *Gen. 4. 8.

n He bringeth foorth a very fit and very olde example, wherein wee may beholde both the nature of the Sonnes of God, and the Sonnes of the deuil, and what state and condition remaineth for vs in this world, and what shalbe the end of both at length.

13 A short digression: Let vs not marueile that wee are hated of the world seeing our duetie, for such was the condition of Abel who was a iust person: and who would not rather be like him then Cain? 14 The second reason: Because charitie is a testimonie that we are translated from death to life: and therefore hatred towards the brethren is a testimonie of death, and whosoeuer nourisheth it, doeth as it were foster death in his bosome.

o Loue is a token that we are translated from death to life, forasmuch as by the effects the cause is knowen. * Chapter 2. 10. Ieuit. 19. 17. 15 A confirmation: Whosoeuer is a murtherer, is in eternall death: who so hateth his brother is a murtherer, therefore hee is in death. And thereupon followeth the contrary: He that loueth his brother, hath passed to life, for in deede we are borne dead. * Iohn 15. 13. ephes. 5. 2. 16 Now he sheweth how farre Christian charitie extendeth, euen so farre, that according to the example of Christ euery man forget himselfe, to prouide for and helpe his brethren. *Luke 3. 11. 17 Hee reasoneth by comparisons: for if wee are bound euen to giue our life for our neighbours, how much more are we bound to helpe our brethren with our goods and substance?

p Wherewith this life is sustained.

q Openeth not his heart to him, nor helpeth him willingly and cheerefully.

18 Christian charitie standeth not in words but in deede, and proceedeth from sincere affection.

19 [19] For

UMI

19 He commendeth charitie, by a trip'e effect: for first of all, by it we know that we are in deede the sonnes of God, as hee shewed before.

20 Therefore it commeth that we haue a quiet conscience, as on the contrary side he that thinketh that he hath God for a iudge, because he is guilty to himselfe, either he is neuer or els very rarely quiet, for God hath a farre quicker sight then wee, and iudgeth more seuerely.

r If an euill conscience conuinceth vs, much more ought the iudgment of God

19 [19] For thereby we knowe that wee are of the trueth, [20] and shall before him assure our hearts.

20 For [r] if our heart condemne vs, God is greater then our heart, and knoweth all things.

21 [21] Beloued, if our heart condemne vs not, then haue we boldnesse toward God.

22 *[22] And whatsoeuer wee aske wee receiue of him, because we keepe his commandements, and doe those things which are pleasing in his sight.

23 *This is then his commandement, That we beleeue in the Name of his Sonne Iesus Christ, and loue one another as he gaue commandement.

24 *For hee that keepeth his commandements, dwelleth in him, and hee in him: and hereby we know that he abideth in vs, euen by that [s] Spirite which he hath giuen vs.

condemne vs, who knoweth our hearts better then we our selues doe. 21. A third effect also riseth of the former, that in these miseries wee are sure to be heard, because we are the sonnes of God: as we vnderstand by the grace of sanctification, which is proper to the elect. * Matth. 21.22. Iohn 15.7. and 16.23. chap. 5.14. 22 The conclusion: That faith in Christ, & loue one towards another are things ioyned together, and therefore the outward testimonies of sanctification must and doe answere that inwarde testimonie of the Spirit giuen vnto vs. * Iohn 6.23. and 17.3. * Iohn 13.34. and 15.10. s He meaneth the Spirit of sanctification, whereby we are borne anew and liue to God.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Hauing spoken somewhat touching the trying of spirits: 4 For some speake after the worlde, 5 and some after God: 7 Hee returneth to charitie, 11 19 and by the example of God hee exhorteth to brotherly loue.

1 Taking occasion by the name of the Spirit, lest loue and charitie should be separated from the worship of God, which chiefly dependeth of his true knowledge, hee returneth to that which hee spake of in the seconde chapter touching the taking heede of Antichristes. And he will haue vs here to take heede of two things, the one is, that seeing there bee many false Prophets, loe we not lightly giue credit to euery man: the other is, that because many men teach false things, wee should not therefore beleeue any. Wee must then obserue a meane, that we may be able to discerne the Spirits of God which are altogether to be followed, from impure spirits which are to be eschewed. a This is spoken by the figure Metonymie, and it is as if he had said, Beleeue not euery one that saith that he hath a gift of the holy Ghost to do the office of a Prophet. 2 He giueth certaine and perpetuall rule to know the doctrine of Antichrist by, to wit, if either the pitifie or humane nature of Christ, or the true writing of them together be denied: or if the least iote that may be, be derogated from his office who is our onely King, Prophet, and euerlasting hie Priest. b He speaketh simply of the doctrine, and not of the person. c The true Messias. d Is true man. 3 Hee comforteth the elect with a most sure hope of victorie: but yet so, that hee teacheth them that they fight not with their owne vertue, but with the vertue and power of God. 4 Hee bringeth a reason why the world receiueth these teachers more willingly then the true: to wit, because they preache out nothing but that which is worldly: which is another note also to know the doctrine of Antichrist by.

1 [a] Deerely beloued, beleeue not euery spirite, but trie the spirites whether they are of God: for many false Prophets are gone out into this world,

2 [2] Hereby shall yee knowe the Spirit of God, [b] Euery spirit which confesseth that [c] Iesus Christ is come in the [d] flesh, is of God.

3 And euery Spirit that confesseth not that Iesus Christ is come in the flesh, is not of God: but this is the spirit of Antichrist, of whom ye haue heard, how that he should come, and now already he is in this world.

4 [3] Litle children, ye are of God, and haue ouercome them, for greater is hee that is in you then he that that is in this world.

5 [4] They are of this worlde, therefore speake they of this world, and this world heareth them.

6 [5] Wee are of God, * he that knoweth God, heareth vs: he that is not of God, heareth vs not. Hereby know we the [e] spirit of trueth, and the spirit of errour.

7 [6] Beloued, let vs loue one another: [7] for loue commeth of God, and euery one that loueth, is borne of God, and knoweth God.

8 Hee that loueth not, knoweth not God: [8] for God is [f] loue.

9 *Herein was that loue of God made manifest amongst vs, because God sent that his only begotten Sonne into this world, that we might liue through him.

10 Herein is that loue, not that wee loued God, but that he loued vs, and sent his Sonne to be a reconciliation for our sinnes.

11 [9] Beloued, if God so loued vs, wee ought also to loue one another.

12 *[10] No man hath seene God at any time. If we loue one another, God dwelleth in vs, and his loue is [g] perfect in vs.

13 Hereby know we, that we dwel in him, and hee in vs: because he hath geuen vs of his Spirit.

14 [11] And wee haue seene, and doe testifie, that the Father sent that Sonne to bee the Sauiour of the world.

15 Whosoeuer [h] confesseth that Iesus is the Sonne of God, in him dwelleth God, and he in God.

16 And we haue knowen, and beleeued the loue that God hath in vs. [12] God is loue, and he that dwelleth in loue, dwelleth in God and God in him.

17 [13] Herein is that loue perfect in vs, that wee should haue boldnesse in the day of iudgement: for [i] as hee is, euen so are wee in this world.

18 There is no [k] feare in loue, but perfect loue casteth out feare: for feare hath paine: and hee that feareth, is not perfect in loue.

19 [14] Wee loue him, because hee loued vs first.

vs infinitely. *Iohn 3.16. 9 Another reason by comparison: if God loued vs, shall not we his children loue one another? * Iohn 1.18. 1.tim 6.16. 10 A third reason: Because God is inuisible, therefore by this effect of his spirit, to wit, by charitie, hee is vnderstood, yea and to be not out of vs, but ioyned with vs and in vs, in whom he is so effectually working. g Is surely in vs in deed, & in trueth. 11 He vnderlayeth this charitie with another foundation, to wit, faith in Iesus, which toyneth vs in deede with him, euen as charitie witnesseth that we are ioyned with him. Furthermore he testifieth of Christ, as who hath seene him with his eyes. h With such a confession as commeth from true faith, and is accompanied with loue, so that there be an agreement of all things. 12 A fourth reason: God is the fountaine and well spring of charitie, yea charity it selfe: therefore whosoeuer abideth in it, hath God with him. 13 Againe (as a little before) he commendeth loue, for that seeing that by our agreement with God in this thing, we haue a certaine testimonie of our adoption, it commeth thereby to passe that without feare we looke for that latter day of iudgement, so that trembling, and that torment of conscience is cast out by this loue. i This signifieth a likenes, not an equalitie. k If wee vnderstand by loue, that wee are in God, and God in vs, that wee are sonnes, and that we know God, and that euerlasting life is in vs: hee concludeth aright, that we may well gather peace and quietnes thereby. 14 Lest any man should thinke that the peace of conscience proceeueth from our loue as from the cause, hee goeth backe to the fountaine, to wit, to the free loue wherewith God loueth vs although wee deserued and doe deserue his wrath. And hereof springeth another double charity, which both are tokens and witnesses of that first, to wit, that therewith we loue God who loued vs first, and then for his sake our neighbors also.

5 He testifieth vnto them, that his doctrine and the doctrine of his fellowes, is the assured word of God, which of necessitie wee haue boldly to set against all the mouthes of the whole world, and thereby discerne the trueth from falsehoode.

* Iohn 8.47.

e True Prophets, against whō are false Prophets, that is, such as erre themselues, and leade other into errour.

6 He returneth to the commending of brotherly loue and charitie.

7 The first reason: Because it is a very diuine thing, and therefore very meete for the sonnes of God: so that whosoeuer is voide of it, can not be said to know God aright.

8 A confirmation: for it is the nature of God to loue men, whereof wee haue a most manifest proofe aboue all other, in that that of his only free and infinite good will towards vs his enemies, he deliuered vnto death, not a common man, but that his owne Sonne, yea his only begotten Sonne, to the end that we being reconciled through his bloud might bee made partakers of his euerlasting glorie.

f In that he calleth God, Loue, hee saith more then if hee had said, hee loueth

20 [15] If any man say, I loue God, and hate his brother, he is a liar: [16] for how can he that loueth not his brother whome hee hath seene, loue God whom he hath not seene?

21 *[17] And this commandement haue we of him, that hee that loueth God, should loue his brother also.

15 As he shewed that the loue of our neighbour cannot be separate from the loue wherewith God loueth vs, because this last engendreth the other: so he teacheth that the other kinde of loue wherewith we loue God, can be separate from the loue of our neighbour: whereof it followeth that they lie impudently, which say they worship God, and yet regard not their neighbours. 16 The first reason taken of comparison, why wee cannot hate our neighbour, and loue God, to wit, because that hee that cannot loue his brother, whome hee seeth, howe can hee loue God whom hee seeth not? * Iohn 13.34. and 15.12. 17 A second reason, why God cannot be hated and our neighbour loued, because the selfe same Lawmaker commanded both to loue him and our neighbour.

CHAP. V.

1 He sheweth that brotherly loue & faith are things inseparable: 10 And that there is no faith towardes God, but by beleeuing in Christ: 14 Hence proceedeth calling vpon God with assurance, 16 and also that our prayers be availeable for our brethren.

WHosoeuer [1] beleeueth that Iesus is that [a] Christ, is borne of God: and euery one that loueth him, which begate, loueth [b] him also which is begotten of him.

2 [2] In this we know that we loue the children of God, when wee loue God, and keepe his [c] commandements.

3 [3] For this is the loue of God, that wee keepe his commandements: [4] and his * commandements are not [d] burdenous.

4 [5] For all that is borne of God, ouercommeth this worlde: [6] and this is that victorie that [e] hath ouercome this world, euen our [f] faith.

5 *[7] Who is it that ouercommeth this world, but hee which beleeueth that Iesus is that Sonne of God?

6 [8] This is, that Iesus Christ that came by water and blood: [9] not by water onely, but by water and blood: and it is that Spirit, that beareth witnesse: for that Spirit is trueth.

7 For there are three, which beare record in heauen, the Father, the [h] Word, and the holy Ghost: and these three are [i] one.

8 And there are three, which beare record in the earth, the spirit, and the water, and the blood: and these three agree in one.

9 [10] If wee receiue the witnesse of men, the witnesse of God is greater: for this is the witnesse of God, which hee testified of his Sonne.

10 *[11] Hee that beleeueth in that Sonne of God, hath the witnesse in himselfe: hee that beleeueth not God, hath made him a lyar, because he beleeued not the word, that God witnessed of that his Sonne.

11 [12] And this is that record, to wit, that God hath giuen vnto vs eternall life, and this life is in that his Sonne.

12 Hee that hath that Sonne, hath that life: and he that hath not that Sonne of God, hath not that life.

13 [13] These things haue I written vnto you, that beleeue in the Name of that Sonne of God, that ye may know that yee haue eternall life, and that ye may beleeue in the Name of that Sonne of God.

14 [14] And this is that assurance, that wee haue in him, *that if we aske any thing according to his will, he heareth vs.

15 And if wee knowe that hee heareth vs, whatsoeuer we aske, wee know that wee haue the petitions, that we haue desired of him.

16 [15] If any man see his brother sinne a sinne that is not vnto death, let him [l] aske, and hee shall giue him life for them that sinne not vnto death. * There is a sin vnto death: I say not that thou shouldest pray for it.

17 [16] All vnrighteousnesse is sinne, but there is a sinne not vnto death.

1 He goeth on forward in the same argument, shewing how both those loues come into vs, from that loue wherewith God loueth vs, to wit, by Iesus our Mediatour laid holde on by faith, in whome wee are made the children of God, and doe loue the Father of whom we are to be gotten, and also our brethren which are begotten with vs.

a Is the true Messias.

b By one, hee meaneth all the faithfull.

2 The loue of our neighbour doeth so hang vpon the loue wherewith wee loue God, that this last must needes goe before the first: whereof it followeth, that is not to bee called loue, when men agree together to doe euill, neither that, when as in louing our neighbours, wee respect not Gods commaundements. c There is no loue where there is no true doctrine. 3 The reason: for to loue God, is to keepe his commaundements, which being so, and seeing that both the loues are commaunded of one and the selfe same Lawmaker, (as hee taught before) it followeth also, that we doe not loue our neighbours, when we breake Gods commandements. 4 Because experience teacheth vs that there is no abilitie in our flesh, neither yet will to performe Gods commaundements, therefore lest the Apostle should seeme, by so often putting them in minde of the keeping of the commandements of God, to require things that are impossible, he pronounceth that the commandements of God are not in such sort grieuous or burdensome, that we can bee oppressed with the burden of them. * Matthew 11.30. d To them that bee regenerate, that is to say, borne anewe, which are led by the Spirite of God, and are through grace deliuered from the curse of the Lawe. 5 A reason: Because by regeneration wee haue gotten strength to ouercome the worlde, that is to say, whatsoeuer striueth against the commandements of God. 6 Hee declareth what that strength is, to wit, faith. e Hee vseth the time that is past, to giue vs to vnderstand, that although wee be in the battell, yet vndoubtedly wee shall be conquerours, and are most certaine of the victorie. f Which is the instrumentall cause, and as a meane and hand whereby wee lay holde on him, who in deede doeth performe this, that is, hath and doeth ouercome the world, euen Christ Iesus. * 1. Corinth. 15.57. 7 Moreouer hee declareth two things, the one, what true faith is, to wit, that which resteth vpon Iesus Christ the Sonne of God alone: whereupon followeth the other, to wit, that this strength is not proper to faith, but by faith as an instrument is drawen from Iesus Christ the Sonne of God. 8 He proueth the excellencie of Christ, in whom onely all things are giuen vs by fiue witnesses, three heauenly, and three earthly, which wholly and fully agree together. The heauenly witnesses are, the Father who sent the Sonne, the Word it selfe, which became flesh, and the holy Ghost. The earthly witnesses are, water, (that is our sanctification) blood, (that is, our iustification) the Spirit, (that is, acknowledging of God the Father in Christ by faith, through the testimonie of the holy Ghost.)

9 He warneth vs not to separate water from blood, (that is sanctification from iustification, or righteousnesse, begunne from righteousnesse imputed) for we stand not vpon sanctification, but so farre forth as it is a witnesse of Christs righteousnesse imputed vnto vs: and although this imputation of Christs righteousnesse be neuer separated from sanctification, yet is it the onely matter of our saluation.

g Our spirite which is the third witnesse, testifieth that the holy Ghost is trueth, that is to say, that that is true which he telleth vs, to wit, that we are the Sonnes of God.

h Look Ioh 1 1.

i Agree in one.

10 He sheweth by an argument of comparison, of what great waight the heauenly testimonie is, that the Father hath giuen of the Sonne, vnto whom agreeth both the Sonne himselfe, and the holy Ghost.

k I conclude thus aright: for that testimonie which I said is giuen in heauen, commeth from God, who so setteth forth his Sonne.

* Iohn 3.36.

11 Hee proueth the sureneſse of the earthly witnesses by euery mans conscience hauing the testimonie in it selfe, which conscience hee sayeth cannot bee deceiued, because it consenteth to the heauenly testimonie which the Father giueth of the Sonne: for otherwise the Father must needes bee a lyar, if the conscience which accepteth and assenteth to the Father, should lye. 12 Now at length hee sheweth what this testimonie is that is confirmed with so many witnesses: to wit, that life euerlasting felicitie is the meere and onely gift of God, which is the Sonne, and proceedeth from him vnto vs, which by faith are ioyned with him, for that without him, life is no where to bee found. 13 The conclusion of the Epistle, wherein hee sheweth first of all, that euen they which already beleeue, doe stande in needs of this doctrine, to the ende that they may grow more and more in faith: that is to say, to the end that they may be daily more and more certified of their saluation in Christ through faith. 14 Because wee do not yet in effect obtaine that which wee hope for, the Apostle ioyneth inuocation or prayer with faith, which hee will haue to proceede from faith, and moreouer to bee conceiued in such sort, that nothing bee asked but that which is agreeable to the will of God: and such prayers can not bee vaine. * Chap. 5. 22. 15 We haue to make prayers not onely for our selues, but also for our brethren which doe sinne, that their sinnes bee not vnto them, to death: and yet he excepteth that sinne which is neuer forgiuen, or the sinne against the holy Ghost, that is to say, an vniuersall and wilfull falling away from the knowledge of the truth of the Gospel. l This is as much as if hee sayde, let him desire the Lord to forgiue him, and hee will forgiue him being so desired. * Matth. 12. 31. marke 3.29. 16 The taking away of an obiection: In deede all iniquitie is comprehended vnder the name of sinne: but yet wee must not despaire therefore, because euery sinne is not deadly, and without hope of remedie.

17 A reason why not al may rather why no sinne is mortall to some: to wit, because they be borne of God, that is to say, made the sonnes of God in Christ, and being inwed with his Spirit, they doe not serue sinne, neither are deadly wounded of Satan. 18 Euerie man must particularly apply to himselfe the generall promises, that we may certainely perswade our selues, that whereas all the world is by nature lost, we are freely made the sonnes of God, by the sending of Jesus Christ his sonne vnto vs, of whome we are lightned with the knowledge of the true God and euerlasting life.

18 [17] We know that whatsoeuer is borne of God, sinneth not: but hee that is begotten of God, keepeth himselfe, and that wicked one toucheth him not.

19 [18] We know that wee are of God, and this whole world lieth in wickednesse.

20 But we know that that Sonne of God is * come, and hath giuen vs a minde to know him, which is true: and we are in him that is true, that is, in that his Sonne Jesus Christ: this same is ỹ very [m] God & that eternal life.

21 [19] Litle children keepe your selues from idoles, Amen.

* Luke 24.45.

m The diuinitie of Christ is most plainely proued by this place.

19 He expresseth a plaine precept of taking heede of idoles: which he setteth against the onely true God, that with this scale as it were he might seale vp all the former doctrine.

The second Epistle of Iohn.

1 This Epistle is written to a woman of great renowne, 4 who brought vp her children in the feare of God: 6 hee exhorteth her to continue in Christian charitie, 7 that shee accompanie not with Antichristes, 10 but auoide them.

a This is no proper name, but to be taken as the word soundeth, that is to say, to the worthy and noble Ladie.

b Excellent and honorable Dame a The bond of Christian coniunction or linking together is the true and constant profession of the truth.

c With true knowledge which hath alwayes ioyned with it, and following it.

a This true profession consisteth both in loue one towards another which the Lord hath commaunded, and also especially in wholesome and sound doctrine, which also is deliuered vnto vs: for the commaundement of God is a sound and sure foundation both of the rule of maners, and of doctrine, and these cannot bee separated the one from the other. d According as the truth directeth them. * Iohn 15.12.

THe Elder to the [a] elect [b] Ladie, and her children, [1] whome I loue in the truth: and not I onely, but also all that haue knowen the trueth,

2 For the truthes sake which dwelleth in vs, and shalbe with vs for euer:

3 Grace bee with you, mercie and peace from God the Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ the sonne of the Father, with [c] truth and loue.

4 [2] I reioyced greatly, that I found of thy children walking in [d] truth, as we haue receiued a commandement of the Father.

5 And now beseech I thee, Ladie, (not as writing a new commandement vnto thee, but that same wich wee had from the beginning) that we * loue one another.

6 And this is that loue, that wee should walke after his commandements. This commandement is, that as ye haue heard from the beginning, ye should walke in it.

7 [3] For many deceiuers are entred into this world, which confesse not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. He that is such one, is a deceiuer and an Antichrist.

3 Antichristes fighting against the person and office, of Christ, were already crept into the Church, in the time of the Apostles.

8 [4c] Looke to your selues, that we lose not the things which wee haue done, but that we may receiue a full reward.

4 He that maketh shipwracke of doctrine, loseth all.

c Beware, and take good heed.

9 Whosoeuer transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. Hee that continueth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Sonne.

10 [5] If there come any vnto you, and bring not this doctrine, * receiue him not to house, neither bid him, God speede.

5 We ought to haue nothing to doe with them that defend peruerse doctrine.

* Rom. 16.17.

11 For he that biddeth him, God speede is partaker of his euill deedes. Although I had many things to write vnto you, yet I would not write with paper and ynke: but I trust to come vnto you, and speake mouth to mouth, that our ioy may be full.

12 The sonnes of thine elect sister greete thee, Amen.

The third Epistle of Iohn.

1 Hee commendeth Gaius for hospitalitie, 9 and reprehendeth Diotrephes for vaineglory: 10 hee exhorteth Gaius to continue in well doing: 12 and in the end commendeth Demetrius.

An example of a Christian vocation.

THe [1] Elder vnto the beloued Gaius, whom I loue in the trueth.

2 Beloued, I wish chiefly that thou prosperedst and faredst well as thy soule prospereth.

3 For I reioyced greatly when the brethren came, and testified of the trueth that is in thee, how thou walkest in the trueth.

4 I haue no greater ioy then [a] these, that is, to heare that my sonnes walke in veritie.

a Then these ioyes.

5 Beloued, thou doest [b] faithfully, whatsoeuer thou doest to the brethren, and to strangers, b As becommeth a beleeuer and a Christian.

6 Which bare witnesse of thy loue before the Churches. Whom if thou [c] bringest on their iourney as it beseemeth, according to God, thou shalt doe well, c He commendeth to Gaius, either those selfe same men whom he had entertained before returning now againe to him, about the affaires of the Church, or else some other which had like businesse.

7 Because that for his Names sake they went foorth, and tooke nothing of the Gentiles.

8 We

8 Wee therefore ought to receiue such, that we might be [d] helpers to the trueth.

9 [2] I wrote vnto the Church: but Diotrephes which loueth to haue the preeminence among them, receiueth vs not.

10 Wherefore if I come, I will call to your remembrance the deedes which he doth, prating against vs with malicious words, and not therewith content, neither he himselfe receiueth the brethren, but forbiddeth them that would, and thrusteth them out of the Church.

11 Beloued, followe not that which is euill, but that which is good: he that doth well, is of God: but hee that doeth euill, hath not [e] seene God.

12 Demetrius hath good report of all men, and of the trueth it selfe: yea, and we our selues beare record, and yee know that our record is true.

13 I haue many things to write: but I will not with ynke and pen write vnto thee:

14 For I trust I shall shortly see thee, and wee shall speake mouth to mouth. Peace bee with thee. The friends salute thee. Greete the friends by name.

d That wee our selues may helpe somewhat to the preaching of the trueth.

2 Ambition and couetousnesse two pestilent plagues (especially in the which haue any Ecclesiasticall function) are condemned in Diotrephes person.

e Hath not knowen God.

The generall Epistle of Iude.

Iude.

3 Hee warneth the godly to take heed of such men, 4 that make the grace of God a cloke for their wantonnes: 5 and that they shall not scape vnpunished, for the contempt of that grace, 6. 7 he proueth by three examples: 14 and alledgeth the prophecie of Enoch: 20 Finally he sheweth the godly a meane, to ouerthrow all the snares of those deceiuers.

IUDE a seruaunt of Jesus Christ, and [a] brother of James, to them which are called and sanctified [b] of God the Father, and [c] reserued to Jesus Christ:

2 Mercie vnto you, and peace and loue be multiplied.

3 [1] Beloued, when I gaue all diligence to write vnto you of the [d] common saluation, it was needefull for mee to write vnto you to exhort you, that yee should [e] earnestly contend for the maintenance of the faith, which was [f] once giuen vnto the Saints.

4 [2] For there are certaine men crept in, which were before of olde ordeined to this condemnation: [3] vngodly men they are which turne the grace of our God into wantonnesse, and * denie God the onely Lord, and our Lord Jesus Christ.

5 [4] I will therefore put you in remembrance, forasmuch as ye once knew this, how that the Lord, after that hee had deliuered the people out of Egypt, * destroyed them afterward which beleeued not.

6 [5] The *Angels also which kept not their first estate, but left their owne habitation, hee hath reserued in euerlasting chaines vnder darkenes vnto the iudgement of the great day.

7 As * Sodom and Gomorrhe, and the cities about them, which in like maner as they did, [g] committed fornication, and followed [h] strange flesh, are set foorth for an ensample, and suffer the vengeance of eternall fire.

8 Likewise notwithstanding, these [i] sleepers also defile the flesh, [6] and despise [k] gouernement, and speake euill of them that are in authoritie.

9 [7] Yet Michael the Archangel, when he strone against the deuill, and disputed about the body of Moses, durst not blame him with cursed speaking, but sayd, The Lord rebuke thee.

10 [8] But these speake euill of those things, which they know not: and what soeuer things they knowe naturally, as beasts, which are without reason, in those things they corrupt themselues.

11 [9] Wo be vnto them: for they haue followed the way of * Cain, and are cast away by the deceite * of Balaams wages, and perish in the gainesaying * of Core.

12 [10] These are rockes in your [l] feastes of charitie when they feast with you, without [m] all feare, feeding themselues: *cloudes they are without water caried about of windes, corrupt trees and without fruite, twise dead, and plucked vp by the rootes.

13 They are the raging waues of the sea, foming out their owne shame: they are wanb By God the Father.

c Set apart by the euerlasting counsell of God, to be deliuered to Christ to be kept.

1 The ende and marke whereat hee shooteth in this Epistle, is that hee confirmeth the godly against certaine wicked men both in wholesome doctrine and good maners.

d Of those things that pertaine to the saluation of all of vs.

e That ye should defend the faith by all the might you can both by true doctrine and good example of life.

f Which was once so giuen, that it may neuer be changed.

2 It is by Gods prouidence and not by chance, that many wicked men creepe into the Church.

3 He condemneth this first in them, that they take a pretence or occasion to ware wanton, by the grace of God: which cannot bee, but the chiefe empire of Christ must be abrogated, in that such men giue vp themselues to Satan, as at this day the sect of Anabaptists doth, which they call Libertines. *2. Pet. 2 11. 4 He setteth foorth the horrible punishment of them which haue abused the grace of God to follow their owne lustes. *Numbers 14.37. 5 The fall of Angels was most seuerely punished, how much more then will the Lord punish wicked and faithlesse men? *2. Peter 2. 4.

* Gen. 19. 24.

g Following the steppes of Sodome and Gomorrhe.

h Thus he cunningly setteth foorth their horrible and monstrous lustes.

i Which are so blockish and void of reason as if all their senses and wits were in a most dead sleepe.

6 Another most pernicious doctrine of theirs, in that they take away the authority of Magistrates, and speake euill of them, as at this day the Anabaptists doe.

k It is a greater matter to despise gouernmēt then the gouernours, that is to say, the matter it selfe then the persons.

7 An Argument of comparison: Michael one of the chiefest Angels, was content to deliuer Satan although a most accursed enemie, to the iudgement of God to be punished: and these peruerse men are not ashamed to speake euill of the powers which are ordeined of God. 8 The conclusion. These men are in double fault, to wit, both for their rash follie in condemning some, and for their impudent and shamelesse contempt of that knowledge, which when they had gotten, yet notwithstanding they liued as brute beasts, seruing their bellies. 9 He foretelleth their destruction, because they resemble of the two fourth Cains shamelesse malice, Balaams filthie couetousnesse, and to be short, Cores seditions and ambitious head. *Genesis 4.8 *Numb. 22.21. 2 peter 2.15. *Numb. 16.1. 10. Hee rebuketh most sharpely with many other notes and markes, both their dishonestie or filthinesse, and their lasciuiousnesse, but especially, their vaine brauerie of words & most vaine pride, ioyning therwithall a most graue and heauy threatning out of a most ancient prophecie of Enoch touching the iudgement to come. l The feasts of charitie, were certaine bankets, which the brethren which were members of the Church kept altogether, as Tertullian setteth them forth in his Apologie, chap. 39. m Impudently, without all reuerence either to God or man. *2. Pet. 2. 17.

dring starres, to whom is reserued the n blacknesse of darkenesse for euer.

14 And Enoch also ỹ seuenth from Adam, prophesied of such, saying, * Behold, the Lord o commeth with thousands of his Saints, 15 To giue iudgement against all men, and to rebuke all the vngodly among them of all their wicked deedes, which they haue vngodly committed, and of their cruell speakings, which wicked sinners haue spoken against him.

16 These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their owne lustes: * whose mouthes speake proude things, hauing mens persons in admiration, because of aduantage.

17 11 But, ye beloued, remember the words which were spoken before of the Apostles of our Lord Iesus Christ, 18 How that they told you that there should bee mockers * in the last time, which should walke after their owne vngodly lustes.

19 12 These are they that separate themselues from other, naturall, hauing not the Spirit.

20 But, yee beloued, edifie your selues in your most holy faith, praying in the holy Ghost, 21 And keepe your selues in the loue of God, looking for the mercy of our Lord Iesus Christ, vnto eternall life.

22 13 And haue compassion of some, in putting difference:

23 And other saue with p feare, pulling them out of the fire, and hate euen that q garment which is spotted by the flesh.

24 14 Now vnto him that is able to keepe you, that yee fall not, and to present you faultlesse before the presence of his glorie with ioy,

12 It is the propertie of Antichrists to separate themselues from the godly, because they are not gouerned by the spirit of God: and contrariwise it is the property of Christians to edifie one another through godly prayers, both in faith and also in loue, until the mercie of Christ appeare to their full saluation.
13 Amongst them which wander and goe astray, the godly haue to vse this choise, that they handle some of them gently, and that other some being euen in the very flame, they endeuour to saue with feucke and sharpe instruction of the present danger: yet so, that they doe in such sort abhorre the wicked and dishonest, that they eschew euen the least cogitation that may be.
p By fearing them, and holding them backe with godly seueritie. q An amplification, taken from the forbidden things of the Law which did defile. 14 Hee commendeth them to the grace of God, declaring sufficiently that it is God onely that can giue vs that constancie which he requireth of vs.

I haue not thought good to put foorth any such thing as yet, vpon the Reuelation, as I haue vpon the former bookes: notwithstanding I liked well to set downe in the meane season that, that I wrote a fewe yeeres since, concerning the authoritie of this booke. And this is it.

BEcause some men haue of long time doubted of the authoritie of this booke, I will in few words, confute those arguments, which are commonly brought to this purpose, and after shew mine owne opinion, and what I thinke. And I will recite the arguments in such order, as Erasmus hath painfully & diligently gathered them together: whose iudgment seemeth to me so vncertaine in this point (as it is also in many other) that no man can readily tell what opinion he was of, saue that after much adoe, he seemeth to bend this way, that he is of opinion, that this booke is of some authority, though not of so good as the rest of the bookes are which we receiue without any gainesaying. Therfore let vs heare what he saith. Hierome witnesseth, saith he, that the Grecians in his time did not receiue the Reuelation. Dorotheus Bishop of Tyrus, and a Martyr, in his abridgment of liues, recordeth that Iohn wrote his Gospel in the ile of Pathmos, but maketh no mention of this booke. Athanasius a Grecian in his catalogue doeth not say that this is Iohns worke. Dionysius of Alexandria, as Eusebius reporteth his words, in the seuenth booke of his Ecclesiasticall historie, thinketh that this booke was written of some other Iohn, who was a godly man. Eusebius himselfe so citeth this booke in diuers places of his historie, that he doth not flatly vouch it to be Iohns: but he alleageth one Caius that was a good Christian, in the fourth booke of his historie, who saith it was written of one Cerinthus an heretike. Let this be the first argument, which I answere in this sort. If we weigh the reasons that moued those men to reiect this booke, then we shall see how vndeseruedly they did it. Againe, as some did reiect it, so did the most part receiue it: insomuch that Epiphanius reckoneth them amongst heretikes that did reiect it: as for Iustine the Philosopher, and Iren Bishop of Lions, which were both Martyrs, & did not onely allow it, but also wrote Commentaries vpon it, I will not speake of them. As for that that is alleaged of Dorotheus, it is to no great purpose, for that he is thought to reiect it, because he spake not of it. As touching Athanasius, Erasmus himselfe witnesseth that it is doubtfull whether that worke be his or no. Concerning Dionysius, we will weigh by and by what he sayth, when we come to consider of his reasons. As for Caius (whatsoeuer man he was) he is easily to be refuted euen by Dionysius his words in the third booke of the Ecclesiasticall historie. As for Eusebius, I make no accompt of him, for there are none learned, but find want of iudgement in him. Now let vs come to the other argument. Hierom writeth (saith he) that certain very well learned men found great fault and spake sharply against the whole matter of this booke, as though there were nothing in it worthy the grauitie of an Apostle, but only a common historie of things shadowed with certaine darke figures & hard kind of speaches. And moreouer that in the very sentences themselues there was nothing that becommed the grauitie of an Apostle. Which I answere in this sort: What learned men soeuer they were, these are greatly to be blamed, in that they durst be so bold to speake euil of that booke, which no doubt is very short, if those things be excepted, which were translated word for word out of the Prophets: Basil, Gregorie, Cyril, Epiphan. Irene, Hippolite, as Aretas witnesseth, were not of this iudgement, which thought, not only as Dionysius of Alexandria did, that some godly man wrote this booke, but also plainely vouched it to be Iohn the Apostle, which no doubt they would neuer haue done, if they had found no resemblance of the grauitie of an Apostle in it.

And

And whether of theſe ſhall I count for the better learned? whether theſe men, which haue giuen record both of their ſingular godlines, and excellent learning by publiſhing many works, or thoſe men rather, whoſe onely names are ſcarcely heard of: and the reaſon they vſe, giue ſufficient proofe how learned they were? They ſay there appeared no grauitie in this writer, and yet he hath taken euery whit almoſt worde for word out of the Prophets: they ſay he hath put downe a common hiſtorie. But howe can that be, ſeeing (a fewe things onely except) hee maketh no relation of things paſt, but foretelleth things to come? And therefore they doe not onely not ſpeake that, that is trueth, but not ſo much as any peece or reſemblance of trueth.

Nowe let vs come to the third argument: He is very curious (ſaith one) in ſetting downe his owne name, as though he ſhould indite an obligation, and not write a booke, which is not only not vſed of any of the Apoſtles, but is alſo vnaccuſtomed of himſelfe: for in his Goſpel where he entreateth a great deale more modeſt matters, then theſe are, he neuer nameth himſelfe, but only pointeth it out by ſome ſuch markes as theſe, The Diſciple whom Ieſus loued. And Paul when he is enforced to ſpeake of his Reuelations, ſetteth out the matter vnder another mans perſon. And yet this man, while he deſcribeth the ſecrete conference which he had with Angels, had neuer done with theſe kind of words, I Iohn. This reaſon mooued Dionyſius of Alexandria to thinke, that ſome other man wrote this booke. But what weake, and ſlender coniectures are theſe? litle did thoſe good men conſider, that it was one thing to write an hiſtorie, and an other to ſet downe a prophecie: for the trueth of an hiſtorie hangeth not ſo much vpon the credite of the writer, as vpon other circumſtances: but a prophecie, becauſe it foretelleth things to come, ſtandeth vpon the authoritie of him that reueileth it, and his that preacheth it, ſo that it is of neceſſity to giue vs to vnderſtand, both from whence that forewarning came, and who reueiled it, and who wrote it. Whereupon we ſee, that not onely in the beginning of prophecies, but alſo almoſt in euery viſion, there is nothing ſo curiouſly ſet downe as the Name of God who ſpake it, and the name of the Prophet who wrote it. Take for example, only the Prophet Ieremie, who maketh mention of his name, at the leaſt an hundred times. And ſo was it requiſite for him to do, that he might not ſeeme to ſeeke lurking corners to hide himſelfe in as the falſe prophets did. And what? doe we not finde from the ſeuenth Chapter of Daniel, that almoſt in euery verſe he repeateth his owne name, and ſaith, I Daniel? And how oft doeth Eſay repeate theſe wordes, Eſay the ſonne of Amos? But Iohn did not ſo in his Goſpel. I grant: for he wrote an hiſtorie, wherein that befell him, which befell to none other of the Diſciples: for he was occaſioned to ſpeake many things of himſelfe. Nay, Paul alſo did not ſo: Indeede he did not ſo, in any place where he handled not his viſions purpoſely, but whenſoeuer he voucheth the excellencie of his miniſterie, how boldly and how magnifically doeth he call himſelfe that Paul which was appointed to be an Apoſtle, not of men, nor by men, but by Ieſus Chriſt? And how? when he reporteth thoſe his great combates, doeth hee take vpon him another mans perſon? Nay let vs goe further: Iohns name is not to be found (vnleſſe I be deceiued in my reckoning) aboue fiue times in all this worke: and thoſe wordes (I Iohn) but onely thriſe, to wit, chap. 1. verſe 9. and yet with an explication added to it, which may ſuffice abundantly to put away all ſuſpition of pride: and againe, chap. 21. verſe 2. and chap. 22. ver. 8. in both which places he reporteth only ſimply what he ſawe, to the ende that no man might doubt of the trueth of his prophecie. Therefore, to make an end of this reaſon in fewe wordes, that argument which Dionyſius maketh, is not onely vaine, but alſo argueth want of skill, and is in deede very ſlaunderous: nay, I may ſay more, and ſay truely without any malice to any, (as the Lord is witneſſe) that this was too vnaduiſedly ſpoken, where he ſaith, that the Euangeliſt is as curious in his often repeating of Iohn, as if he had beene writing an obligation, and no booke.

Now to the fourth argument: In all the Greeke copies that I haue ſeene, ſayth he, it was not intituled the Reuelation of Iohn the Euangeliſt, but, of Iohn the diuine, which is ſufficient to prooue it was Iohn the Euangeliſt for all that are learned know that hee was by excellencie, and by a prerogatiue as it were, called by this name, The Diuine, of all the old writers, becauſe neuer man wrote ſo plainely and diuinely of the diuinitie of Chriſt as he did. As for the other Iohn, who I think was a counterfaite, was not called by this excellent name, Diuine, but an Elder.

Now for the vnlikeneſſe of his ſtile, and ſpeech, which that Dioniſyus of Alexandria proueth by three reaſons, as Nicephorus recordeth, Eccleſ. lib. 6. cap. 23. firſt by the whole courſe and nature of his words, ſecondly, that whereas the Goſpel and Catholike Epiſtle of Iohn, agree in very many points, this book hath not one word like. Laſtly, becauſe Iohn had an excellent gift of ſpeech, but this man is very clowniſh, barbarous, and tripped oft in his language. To the firſt I anſwere, that in ſo diuers a matter, it is no marueile, to ſee ſo diuers a kinde of ſtile: for in the hiſtorie of the Goſpel, and in the Epiſtles, though hee ſpake as he was moued by the holy Ghoſt, yet he ſpake what his mind led him: and here he is but the writer of ſuch things as he heard and were deliuered him: In the other he ſomewhat maketh report of the hiſtorie, and ſometime teacheth: but in this he ſpeaketh of things to come, and in ſuch order of words as he is appointed: And ſhall we marueile then that he vſeth not one ſelfe ſame kind of ſentences? Nay, what writer was there euer that was tied ſo ſhort? are not many things deliuered to him in the very words of the old Prophets, euen in the ſame that Ezechiel, Daniel, Zacharie, Eſay, and other ſpake withall, by the direction of the ſelfeſame Spirit, which ſpake the ſelfe ſame in them in old time? And therefore it is no marueile that hee vſeth not ſo refined a kinde of ſpeech, as happily they would deſire, ſeeing hee ſwarueth neither in ſpeach, nor in characters, from the prophets which wrote in the Hebrew tongue: and therefore there is leſſe cauſe of ſuſpicion that it ſhould be any conterfeit worke ſlily crept into the Church.

Now remaineth the laſt argument, which ſeemeth to charge him that he fauoureth the hereſie of the Chiliaſtes, whereupon diuers thought that Cerinthus made this booke and fathered it vpon ſome of the Apoſtles. But for mine owne part, though I graunt that the Chiliaſtes haue abuſed many teſtimonies out of this booke, yet I can not yeeld to that, and think that ſome heretikes ſhould make it, vnles ſome man be able to ſhew me, that thoſe places cannot fitly be taken in any other ſence: or els what booke is there that we may receiue? And that thoſe places are otherwiſe to bee taken, diuers learned men haue ſhewed long agoe: ſo that the like hath befallen this booke as did the Epiſtle to the Hebrewes, which ſome men reiected very obſtinately, becauſe it ſeemed to make for the Nouatians: whereas in deed they ought rather to haue accuſed their owne ignorance. Moreouer, ſeeing Cerinthus had many other mad and wicked opinions, as that hee denied that God made the world, and taught that Chriſt was borne of Mary, and Ioſeph, as all other men are borne, and maketh Chriſt and Ieſus two diſtinct perſons: how commeth it to paſſe that he ſprinkled none of his foule holy water amongest the rest in this booke? But he was so farre from so doing, that contrariwise there may be diuers arguments taken out of this booke against those errours: so that it may appeare by this one reason, that Cerinthus was not the Authour of this booke. And againe, whereas he speaketh of the thousand yeeres, hee mentioneth no one iote of those things, which Cerinthus so impudently chattred of. For where is there any mention of that riot which Cerinthus talketh of? where is that eating? drinking? where are those marriages and pastimes? where are the sacrifices and holy daies which should be kept at Hierusalem? Therfore this is a vaine and fooliſh argument. And seeing these things are so, though I would stiffely stand in contention for the Authors name, yet I rather iudge it to be Iohn the Apostle, then any other mans: For besides that it appeareth to be very ancient, and the learnedst and the godliest of the old Fathers doubt not, but it was Iohns.

These coniectures also leade me to thinke so: for that I finde none of those dayes to whom either prophecies so full of maiestie, or so honourable a name of a Diuine, may bee ascribed: and moreouer, that it sauoureth of the worthines and excellencie of an Apostle, to write to the Churches of Asia, and not to one Church: lastly, because those things which are here spoken of Pathmos, agree wholy with that which the old Fathers haue written with one consent, concerning Iohns banishment. And yet notwithstanding if it may be lawfull to coniecture by the kinde of speech it selfe, I would thinke it to be no mans sooner then Markes, who was also called Iohn: he is so like not onely in wordes, but also in diuers kinds of speech, to the Gospel of S. Marke, in so much that these two bookes haue almost one kinde of character. As for the booke it selfe, though I confesse that these mysteries are as yet very darke to me, yet notwithstanding, seeing there appeareth in all parts of it a great maiestie of the spirite of prophecie, and the very steppes and sentences, yea and the words of the olde Prophets, seeing there are to be found in it manifest and mightie testimonies, both of the Diuinitie of Christ, and also of our redemption: & last of all, seeing that part of those things are most manifestly come to passe, which were foretolde by him, as those things which he spake of the destruction of the Churches of Asia, and of the kingdome of the whore, which sitteth vpon seuen hils, I am perswaded and thinke that the holy Ghosts meaning was to heape vp together, in this most precious booke, all such things, as by the forewarning of the old Prophets remained to be fulfilled after the comming of Christ: and added also a few things, as hee thought expedient for vs. I grant they are very darke, but that is no strange thing in the Prophets writings, as especially in Ezechiels. But this is our fault, because we take not diligent heede to things but ouerslippe those iudgements of Gods prouidence, which daily are to be seene in his gouerning of the Church, by hauing our hearts too much set vpon our priuate affaires. To be short, the Lorde knoweth what, and how farre it is expedient for vs to knowe, and therefore in times past, he so disposed the light of the Prophets, as for his infinite wisedome he sawe it would be profitable for his Church. And therefore godly men haue to search and wade in these mysteries with feare and reuerence so far forth, as lawfully and profitably they may: and let all men reuerence the mysteries of God, which are comprehended in this booke, whether they knowe them, or knowe them not, rather then as many doe, either mocke at them, or defile them with their fantastical commentaries.

¶ The [a] Reuelation of Iohn the Diuine.

CHAP. I.

1 He declareth what kinde of doctrine is here handled, 8 euen his, that is the beginning and ending: 12 Then the mystery of the seuē candlesticks & starrs 20 is expoūded.

THE Reuelation of [b] Iesus Christ, which God gaue vnto him, to shew vnto his seruants things which must shortly bee done: which he sent, and shewed by his Angel vnto his seruant Iohn,

2 Who bare record of the word of God, and of the testimonie of Iesus Christ, and of all things that he sawe.

3 Blessed is he that readeth, and they that heare the wordes of this prophesie, and keepe those things which are written therein: for the time is at hand.

4 Iohn, to the seuen Churches which are in Asia, Grace be with you, and peace from him, [c] Which * is, and Which was, & Which is to come, & from the [d] seuen Spirits which are before his Throne,

5 And from Iesus Christ, which is that * faithfull witnesse, and * that first begotten of the dead, and that Prince of the Kings of the earth, vnto him that loued vs, and washed vs from our sinnes in his * blood,

9 I Iohn, euen your brother, and companion in tribulation, and in the kingdome and patience of Iesus Christ, was in the Ile called [g] Patmos, for the word of God, and for the witnessing of Iesus Christ.

10 And I was rauished in [h] spirit on the [i] Lords day, & heard behind me a great voice, as it had beene of a trumpet,

11 Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, that first and that last: and that which thou seest, write in a book, and send it vnto the seuen Churches which are in Asia, vnto Ephesus, and vnto Smyrna, and vnto Pergamus, and vnto Thyatira, and vnto Sardis, and vnto

h This is that holy rauishment expressed, wherewith the Prophets were rauished, and being as it were caried out of the world were conuersant with God: and so Ezechiel sayth often, that he was caried fro place to place of the Lords Spirit, and that the Spirit of the Lord fell vpon him.

Philadelphia, and vnto Laodicea.

k To see him whose voice I had heard.

12 Then I turned backe to [k]see the voice, that spake with mee: and when I was turned, I saw seuen golden candlesticks, 13 And in the midses of the seuen candlesticks, one like vnto the Sonne of man, clothed with a garment downe to the feet, & girded about the paps with a golden girdle.

14 His head, and haires were white as white wooll, and as snow, and his eyes were as a flame of fire, 15 And his feete like vnto fine brasse, burning as in a fornace: and his voyce as the sound of many waters.

16 And hee had in his right hand seuen starres: and out of his mouth went a sharpe two edged sword: and his face shone as the Sunne shineth in his strength.

17 And when I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead: then he laid his right hand vpon mee, saying vnto mee, Feare not: I am that *first and that last,

*Esai. 41. 4. and 44. 6.

18 And am aliue, but I was dead: and behold, I am aliue for euermore, Amen: and I haue the keyes of hell, and of death.

19 Write the things which thou hast seene, and the things which are, and the things which shall come hereafter.

20 The mysterie of the seuen starres which thou sawest in my right hand, and the seuen golden candlesticks, is this, The seuen starres are the [l]Angels of the seuen Churches: and the seuen candlesticks which thou sawest, are the seuen Churches.

l By Angels he meaneth the Ministers of the Churches.

CHAP. II.

1 Iohn is cõmanded to write those things, which the Lord knew necessary to the Churches of Ephesus, 8 of the Smyrnians, 12 of Pergamus, 18 & of Thyatira, 25 that they keepe those things which they receiued of the Apostles.

VNto the Angel of ỹ Church of Ephesus write, These things saith he that holdeth the seuen starres in his right hand, and walketh in the mids of the seuen golden candlesticks.

2 I know thy works, and thy labour, and thy patience, and how thou canst not beare with them which are euill, and hast examined them which say they are Apostles, and are not, and hast found them liars.

3 And thou wast burdened and hast patience, and for my Names sake hast laboured, and hast not fainted.

a To deale with thee for.

4 Neuertheless, I haue somewhat [a] against thee, because thou hast left thy first loue.

5 Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and doe the first works: or else I will come against thee shortly, and will remoue thy candlestick out of his place, except thou amend.

6 But this thou hast, that thou hatest the works of the Nicolaitanes, which I also hate.

7 Let him that hath an eare, heare, what the spirit saith vnto the churches, To him ỹ ouercommeth, will I giue to eate of the tree of life which is in the mids of the [b]Paradise of God.

b Thus Christ speaketh as he is Mediatour.

8 ¶ And vnto the Angel of the Church of the [c]Smyrnians write, These things saith he that is first, and last, which was dead & is aliue c Smyrna was one of the cities of Ionia in Asia.

9 I know thy works and tribulation, and pouertie (but thou art rich) & I know the blasphemy of them, which say, they are Iewes, & are not, but are the Synagogue of Satan.

10 Feare none of those things, which thou shalt suffer: behold, it shall come to passe, that the deuil shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried, and ye shall haue tribulation ten dayes: be thou faithfull vnto the death, and I will giue thee the crowne of life.

11 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit sayth to ỹ Churches. He that ouercommeth, shal not be hurt of the second death.

12 And to the Angel of the Church, which is at [d]Pergamus write, Thus saith he which hath that sharpe sword with two edges.

d Pergamus was the name of a famous city in old time in Asia, where the kings of the Attalians were alwayes resident.

13 I know thy works, & where thou dwellest, euen where Satans throne is, & thou keepest my Name, and hast not denied my fayth, euen in [e] those dayes when Antipas my faithfull Martyr was slaine among you, where Satan dwelleth.

e The faith of them of Pergamus is so much the more highly commended, because they remained constant euen in the very heate of persecution.

14 But I haue a few things against thee, because thou hast there them that maintaine the doctrine of *Balaam, which taught Balac to put a stumbling blocke before the children of Israel, that they should [f] eate of things sacrificed vnto idoles, and commit fornication.

*Num. 24. 14. and 25. 1.

f That which is here spoken of things offered to Idols, is meant of the same kind which Paul speaketh of, 1. Cor. 10. 14.

15 Euen so hast thou them, that maintaine the doctrine of the Nicolaitanes, which thing I hate.

16 Repent thy selfe, or els I will come vnto thee shortly, and will fight against them with the sword of my mouth.

17 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches. To him that ouercommeth, will I giue to eate of the [g] Manna that is hid, & will giue him a [h] white stone, & in the stone a new name written, which no man knoweth saying he that receiueth it.

g He alludeth to that sermon which we reade of, Iohn 6. and to the place we finde, Psalme 105. 40.

h Arethas writeth, that such a stone was wont to bee giuen to wrestlers at games, or else that such stones did in olde time witnesse the quitting of a man.

18 ¶ And vnto the Angel of the Church which is at Thyatira write, These things saith the Sonne of God, which hath his eyes like vnto a flame of fire, & his feet like fine brasse.

19 I know thy works & thy loue, and [i] seruice, & faith, & thy patience, and thy works, and that they are moe at the last, then at the first.

i So he calleth those offices of charitie which are done to the Saints.

20 Notwithstanding, I haue a few things against thee, that thou sufferest the woman Iezabel, which calleth her selfe a prophetesse, to teach and to deceiue my seruants to make them commit [k] fornication, and to eate meates sacrificed vnto idoles.

k By fornication, is oftentimes in the Scriptures idolatrie meant.

21 And I gaue her space to repent of her fornication, and thee repented not.

22 Behold, I will cast her into a bedde, and them that commit fornication with her, into great affliction, except they repent them of their workes.

23 And I will kill her children with death: and all the Churches shall know that I am he which * search the reines and hearts: and I will giue vnto euery one of you according vnto your workes.

24 And vnto you I say, the rest of them of Thyatira, As many as haue not this learning, neither haue knowen the [l] deepenes of Satan (as they speake) I will [m] put vpon you none other burden.

25 But that which yee haue already, holde fast till I come.

26 For he that ouercommeth and keepeth my workes vnto the ende, to him will I giue power ouer nations, 27 * And hee shall rule them with a rod of yron: and as the vessels of a potter, shall they be broken.

28 Euen as I receiued of my Father, so will I giue him the morning starre.

29 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith to the Churches.

CHAP. III.

1 The first Epistle sent to the Pastours of the Church of Sardis, 7 of Philadelphia, 14 and of the Laodiceans, 16 that they bee not luke warme, 20 but endeuour to further Gods glory.

AND write vnto the Angel of the Church which is at [a] Sardis, These things saith he that hath the seuen Spirits of God, and the seuen starres, I know thy workes: for thou hast a [b] name that thou liuest, but thou art dead.

2 Bee awake, and strengthen the things which remaine, that are [c] ready to die: for I haue not found thy workes perfit before God.

3 Remember therefore, how thou hast receiued and heard, and holde fast and repent. * If therefore thou wilt not watch, I will come on thee as a theefe, and thou shalt not know what houre I will come vpon thee.

4 Notwithstanding thou hast a fewe names yet in Sardis, which haue not defiled their garments: and they shall walke with me in white: for they are [d] worthy.

5 He that ouercommeth shalbe clothed in white aray, & I will not put out his name out of the * booke of life, but I will confesse his name before my Father, & before his Angels.

6 Let him that hath an eare, heare, what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches.

7 ¶ And write vnto the Angel of the Church which is of Philadelphia, These things saith he that is Holy, and True, which hath the [e] key of Dauid, which openeth and no man shutteth, and shutteth, & no man openeth,

8 I know thy workes: behold, I haue set before thee an open doore, and no man can shut it: for thou hast a little strength and hast kept my word, and hast not denied my Name.

9 Behold, I will [f] make them of the Synagogue of Satan, which call themselues Iewes and are not, but doe lie: beholde, I say, I will make them, that they shall come and worship before thy feet, and shall know that I haue loued thee.

10 Because thou hast [g] kept the word of my patience, therefore will I deliuer thee from the houre of tentation, which will come vpon all the world, to trie them that dwell vpon the earth.

11 Behold, I come shortly: hold that which thou hast, that no man take thy crowne.

12 Him that ouercommeth, will I make a pillar in the Temple of my God, and hee shall goe no more out: and I will write vpon him the Name of my God, and the Name of the citie of my God, which is the new Hierusalem, which commeth downe out of heauen from my God, and I will write vpon him my new Name.

13 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches.

14 And vnto the Angel of the Church of the Laodiceans write, These things sayeth [h] Amen, the faithfull and true witnesse, that [i] beginning of the creatures of God.

15 I know thy workes, that thou art neither cold nor hot: I would thou werest cold or hote.

16 Therefore, because thou art luke-warme, and neither colde nor hote, it will come to passe, that I shall spewe thee out of my mouth.

17 For thou saiest, I am rich and increased with goods, and haue need of nothing, and knowest not how thou art wretched and miserable, and poore, and blinde, and naked.

18 I counsell thee to buy of me golde tried by the fire, that thou mayest bee made rich: and white raiment, that thou mayest bee clothed, and that thy filthy nakednesse do not appeare: and anoint thine eyes with eye salue, that thou mayest see.

19 As many as I loue, * I rebuke and chasten: be [k] zealous therefore and amend.

20 Behold, I stand at the doore, & knocke. If any man heare my voyce, & open the doore, I will come in vnto him, and will suppe with him, and he with mee.

21 To him that ouercommeth, will I grant to sit with mee in my throne, euen as I ouercame, & sit with my Father in his throne.

22 Let him that hath an eare, heare what the Spirit saith vnto the Churches.

14 And the foure beaſtes, ſayd, Amen, and the foure and twentie Elders fell downe and worſhipped him that liueth for euermore.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Lambe openeth the firſt ſeale of the booke, 3 the ſecond, 5 the third, 7 the fourth, 9 the fift, 12 and the ſixt, & then ariſe murders, famine, peſtilence, ſoueries of Saints, earthquakes, & diuers ſtrange ſights in heauen.

AFter, I beheld when the Lambe had opened one of the seales, and I heard one of the foure beastes say, as it were the noise of thunder, Come and see.

2 Therefore I beheld, and loe, there was a white horse, and he that sate on him, had a bow, and a crowne was giuen vnto him, and he went forth conquering that he might ouercome.

3 And when hee had opened the second seale, I heard the second beast say, Come & see.

4 And there went out another horse, that was red, and power was giuen to him that sate thereon, to take peace from the earth, and that they should kill one another, and there was giuen vnto him a great sword.

5 And when he had opened the third seale, I heard the third beast say, Come and see: Then I beheld, and loe, a blacke horse, and he that sate on him, had ballances in his hand.

6 And I heard a voyce in the mids of the foure beasts say, A[a] measure of wheate for a penie, and three measures of barley for a peny, and oyle, and wine hurt thou not.

a Hereby is signified what great scarcitie of corne there was, for the word heere vsed is a kind of measure of drie things, which is in quantitie but the eight part of a bushell, which was an ordinary portion vsed to bee giuen to seruants for their hire of meat for one day.

7 And when hee had opened the fourth seale, I heard the voyce of the fourth beast say, Come and see.

8 And I looked, and behold, a pale horse, and his name that sate on him was Death, and Hell followed after him, and power was giuen vnto them ouer the fourth part of the earth, to kill with sword, and with hunger, and with death, and with beasts of the earth.

9 And when he had opened the fift seale, I saw vnder the altar the soules of them, that were killed for the word of God, and for the testimonie which they maintained.

10 And they cryed with a loude voyce, saying, How long, Lord, which art holy and true! doest not thou iudge and auenge our blood on them that dwell on the earth?

11 And long white robes where giuen vnto euery one, and it was sayd vnto them, that they should rest for a litle season vntill their fellow seruants, and their brethren that should be kille d euen as they were, were [b] fulfilled.

b Vntill their number be fulfilled.

12 And I beheld when he had opened the sixt seale, & loe, there was a great earthquake, and the sunne was as blacke as [c] sackecloth of haire, and the moone was like blood.

c So they called in olde time those woouen workes that were of haire.

13 And the starres of heauen fell vnto the earth, as a figge tree casteth her greene figs, when it is shaken of a mightie wind.

14 And heauen departed away, as a scroule, when it is rolled, and euery mountaine and Ile were moued out of their places.

15 And the Kings of the earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and the chiefe captaines, and the mightie men, and euery bondman, and euery free man, hid themselues in dens, & among the rocks of the mountaines, 16 And said to the mountaines, and rocks, * Fall on vs, and hide vs from the presence of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lambe.

* Esai. 2. 19. hose 10. 8. luke 23. 30.

17 For the great day of his wrath is come, and who can stand?

CHAP. VII.

1 The Angels comming to hurt the earth, 3 are stayed vntill the elect of the Lord 5 of all tribes were sealed. 13 Such as suffered persecution for Christs sake, 16 haue great felicitie, 17 and ioy.

AND after that, I saw foure Angels stand on the [a] foure corners of the earth, holding the foure windes of the earth, that the windes should not blow on the earth, neither on the sea neither on any tree.

a On the foure quarters or coasts of the earth.

2 And I sawe another Angel come vp frō the East, which had the seale of the liuing God, and hee cryed with a loude voyce to the foure Angels to whom power was giuen to hurt the earth, and the Sea, saying,

3 Hurt ye not the earth, neither the Sea, neither the trees, till wee haue sealed the seruants of our God in their foreheads.

4 And I heard the number of them, which were sealed, and there were sealed an hundred and foure and foртie thousand of all the tribes of the children of Israel.

5 Of the tribe of Iuda were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Reuben were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Gad were sealed twelue thousand.

6 Of the tribe of Aser were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Nephtali were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Manasses were sealed twelue thousand.

7 Of the tribe of Simeon were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of [b] Leui were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Issachar were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Zabulon were sealed twelue thousand.

b He skipped Dan, and reckoneth Leui.

8 Of the tribe of [c] Joseph were sealed twelue thousand. Of the tribe of Beniamin were sealed twelue thousand.

c Of Ephraim, who was Iosephs other son, and had the birthright giuen him, whereof hee is called Ioseph.

9 After these things I beheld, and loe a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, and before the Lambe, clothed with long white robes, and palmes in their hands.

10 And they cryed with a loude voyce, saying, Saluation commeth of our God, that sitteth vpon the throne, and of the Lambe.

11 And all the Angels stood round about the throne, and about the Elders, & the foure beasts, and they fell before the throne on their faces, and worshipped God,

12 Saying, Amen. Praise, and glory, and wisedome, & thanks, and honor, & power, and might might be vnto our God for euer more, Amen.

13 And one of the Elders spake, saying vnto me, What are these that are arayed in long white robes? and whence came they?

14 And I sayd vnto him, Lord, thou knowest. And he said to mee, These are they, which came out of great tribulation, and haue washed their long robes, & haue made their long robes white in the blood of the Lambe.

15 Therefore are they in the presence of the throne of God, and serue him [d] day & night in his Temple, & he that sitteth on the throne, will dwell [e] among them.

16 *They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more, neither shal the sunne light on them, neither any heate.

17 For the lambe which is in ỹ mids of the throne, shall gouerne them, and shall lead them vnto the liuely fountains of waters, and *God shall wipe away all teares from their eies.

d He alludeth to the Leuites, which serued day and night, for else there is no night in heaven.

CHAP. VIII.

1 After the opening of the seuenth seale, 3 the Saints prayers are offred vp with odours. 6 The seuen Angels came forth with trumpets. 7 The foure first blow, and fire falleth on the earth, 8 the sea is turned into blood, 10. 11. the waters waxe bitter, 12 and the starres are darkened.

AND when hee had opened the seuenth seale, there was silence in heauen about halfe an houre.

2 And I sawe the seuen Angels, which [a] stood before God, and to them were giuen seuen trumpets.

a Which appeare before him as his ministers.

3 Then another Angel came and stood before the altar hauing a golden censer, & much odours was giuen vnto him, that he should offer with the prayers of all Saintes vpon the golden altar, which is before the throne.

4 And the smoke of the odours with the prayers of the Saints [b] went vp before God, out of the Angels hand.

b Our prayers are nothing woorth, vnlesse the true and sweete sauour of that onely oblation be especially and before all things with them, that is to say, vnlesse we being first of all iustified through faith in his Sonne, be acceptable vnto him.

5 And the Angel tooke the censer, and filled it with fire of the altar, and cast it into the earth, and there were voices, and thundrings, and lightnings, and earthquake.

6 Then the seuen Angels, which had the seuen trumpets, prepared themselues to blow the trumpets.

7 So the first Angel blew the trumpet, and there was haile and fire, mingled with blood, and they were cast into the earth, & the third part of trees was burnt, and all greene grasse was burnt.

8 And the second Angel blew the trumpet, and as it were a great mountaine burning with fire, was cast into the sea, and the third part of the sea became blood.

9 And the third part of the creatures, which were in the sea, and had life, died, and the third part of ships were destroyed.

10 Then the third Angel blew the trumpet and there fell a great starre from heauen, burning like a torche, and it fell into the third part of the riuers, and into the fountaines of waters.

11 And the name of the starre is called wormwood: therfore the third part of the waters became wormewood, and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter.

12 And the fourth Angel blew the trumpet, and the third part of the sunne was smitten, and the third part of the moone, & the third part of the stars, so that the third part of them was darkened: and the day was smitten, that the third part of it could not shine, & likewise the night.

13 And I behelde, and heard one Angel flying through the middes of heauen, saying with a loud voice, Woe, woe, wo to the inhabitants of the earth, because of the soundes to come of the trumpet of the three Angels, which were yet to blowe the trumpets.

CHAP. IX.

1 The fifth Angel bloweth his trumpet, 3 and noyling locustes come out. 13 The sixt Angel bloweth, 16 and bringeth fourth horsemen, 20 to destroy mankind.

AND the fifth Angel blewe the trumpet, and I saw a starre fall from heauen vnto the earth, and to him was giuen the key of the [a] bottomlesse pit, a By the bottomlesse pit, he meaneth the deepest darkenes of hell.

2 And he opened the bottomlesse pit, and there arose the smoke of the pit, as the smoke of a great fornace, and the Sunne, and the aire were darkened by the smoke of the pit.

3 And there came out of the smoke Locustes vpon the earth, and vnto them was giuen power, as the Scorpions of the earth haue power.

4 And it was commanded them, that they should not hurt the grasse of the earth, neither any greene thing, neither any tree: but onely those men which haue not the seale of God in their foreheads.

5 And to them was commanded that they should not kill them, but that they should bee vexed fiue moneths, & that their paine should be as the paine that commeth of a Scorpion, when he hath stung a man.

6 *Therefore in those dayes shall men seeke death, and shall not finde it, and shall desire to die, and death shall flie from them.

* Chap. 6. 16. Esai. 2. 19. hosea 10. 8.

7 And the forme of the Locustes was like vnto horses prepared vnto battel, and on their heades were as it were crownes, like vnto gold, & their faces were like the faces of men.

8 And they had haire as the haire of women, and their teeth were as the teeth of lions.

9 And they had habbergions, like to habergions of yron: and the sounde of their winges was like the sounde of charets when many horses runne vnto battell.

10 And

10 And they had tailes like vnto scorpions, and there were stings in their tailes, and their power was to hurt men fiue moneths.

11 And they haue a King ouer them, which is the Angel of the bottomlesse pitte, whose name in Hebrew is Abaddon, and in Greeke he is named Apollyon, that is, destroying.

12 One woe is past, and beholde, yet two woes come after this.

13 ¶ Then the sixt Angel blew the trumpet, & I heard a voyce from the [b] foure hornes of the golden altar, which is before God,

14 Saying to the sixt Angel, which had the trumpet, Loose the foure Angels, which are bound in the great riuer Euphrates.

15 And ỳ foure Angels were loosed, which were prepared at an houre, at a day, at a moneth, & at a yeere to slay the third part of men.

16 And the number of horsemen of warre were twentie thousand times ten thousand: for I heard the number of them.

17 And thus I saw the horses in a vision, and them that sate on them, hauing firie habbergions, and of Iacinth, and of brimstone, and the heads of the horses were as the heads of lions: and out of their mouthes went forth fire and smoke and brimstone.

18 Of these three was the thirde part of men killed, that is, of the fire, & of the smoke, and of the brimstone, which came out of their mouthes.

19 For their power is in their mouthes, & in their tailes: for their tailes were like vnto serpents, & had heads, where with they hurt.

20 And the remnant of ỳ men which were not killed by these plagues, repented not of the works of their hands ỳ they should not worship deuils, and * idols of gold and of siluer, and of brasse, and of stone, and of wood, which neither can see, neither heare nor goe.

21 Also they repented not of their murther, and of their sorcerie, neither of their fornication, nor of their theft.

CHAP. X.

1 Another Angel appeareth clothed with a cloude, 2 holding a booke open, 3 and crieth out. 8 A voice from heauen commandeth Iohn to take the booke: 10 he eateth it.

AND I saw another mighty Angel come down from heauen, clothed with a cloud, and the raine bowe vpon his head, and his face was as the sunne, and his feet as pillars of fire,

2 And he had in his hand a litle booke open, and he put his right foote vpon the sea, & his left on the earth.

3 And cried with a loud voyce, as when a lion roareth: and when hee had cried, seuen thunders vttered their voyces.

4 And when the seuen thunders had vttered their voices, I was about to write: but I heard a voyce from heauen saying vnto me, [a] Seale vp those things which the seuen thunders haue spoken, and write them not.

5 And the Angel which I saw stand vpon the sea, and vpon the earth, [b] lift vp his hand to heauen,

6 And sware by him that liueth for euermore, which created heauen, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the sea, and the things that therein are, that [c] time should be no more.

7 But in the daies of the voyce of the seuenth Angel, when he shall begin to blowe the trumpet, euen the mysterie of God shall bee finished, as he hath declared to his seruants the Prophets.

8 And the voyce which I heard from heauen, spake vnto me againe, and sayd, Goe and take the little booke which is open in the hand of the Angel, which standeth vpon the sea and vpon the earth.

9 So I went vnto the Angel, and saide to him, Giue me the little booke. And he saide vnto me, Take it, and eate it vp, and it shall make thy bellie bitter, but it shall bee in thy mouth as sweete as honie.

10 Then I tooke the little booke out of the Angels hand, and ate it vp, and it was in my mouth as sweet as honie: but when I had eaten it my bellie was bitter.

11 And he said vnto me, Thou must prophesie againe among the people and nations, and tongues, and to many Kings.

CHAP. XI.

1 The temple is commanded to be measured. 3 The Lord stirreth vp two witnesses. 7 Whom the beast murdereth, 9 and no man burieth them. 11 God raiseth them to life, 12 and calleth them vp to heauen. 13 The wicked are terrified, 15 by the trumpet of the seuenth Angel: The resurrection, 18 and iudgement is described.

THen was giuen mee a reede, like vnto a rod, and the Angel stood by, saying, Rise and mete the Temple of God, and the altar, and them that worship therein.

2 But the [a] court which is without the temple, [b] cast out, & mete it not: for it is giuen vnto the Gentiles, and the holy city shall they tread vnder foot, two and fortie moneths.

3 But I will giue power vnto my two witnesses, and they shall prophesie a thousand two hundred and threescore dayes, clothed in sackcloth.

4 These are two oliue trees, and two candlesticks, standing before the God of the earth.

5 And if any man will hurt them, fire proceedeth out of their mouthes, and deuoureth their enemies: for if any man would hurt them, thus must he be killed.

6 These haue power to shut heauen, that it raine not in the dayes of their prophesying, and a Keepe them close.

b This was a gesture vsed of one that sweareth, which men doe yet now a daies vse.

c There shal nouer be any more time.

a He speaketh of the outer court, which was called the peoples court, because all men might come into that.

b That is counted to be cast out, which in measuring is refused as prophane.

and haue power ouer waters to turne them into blood, and to smite the earth with all maner plagues, as often as they will.

c When they haue done their message.

7 And when they haue [c] finished their testimonie, the beast that commeth out of the bottomlesse pit, shall make war against them, and shall ouercome them, and kill them.

8 And their corpses shall lie in the streets of the great citie, which [d] spiritually is called Sodome and Egypt, where our Lorde also was crucified.

d After a more secret kind of meaning and vnderstanding.

9 And they of the people and kinreds, and tongues, and Gentiles shall see their corpses three dayes and an halfe, and shall not suffer their carkeises to be put in graues.

10 And they that dwel vpon the earth, shal reioyce ouer them, and be glad, and shall send gifts one to another: for these two Prophets vexed them that dwelt on the earth.

11 But after three dayes and an halfe, the spirit of life comming from God, shall enter into them, and they shall stand vp vpon their feete: and great feare shall come vpon them which saw them.

12 And they shal heare a great voice from heauen, saying vnto them, Come vp hither. And they shall ascend vp to heauen in a cloud, and their enemies shall see them.

13 And the same houre shall there bee a great earthquake, and the tenth part of the citie shall fall, and in the earthquake shall bee slaine in number seuen thousand: and the remnant were sore feared, and [e] gaue glory to the God of heauen.

e Glorified God by confessing his Name.

14 The second woe is past, and beholde, the third woe will come anone.

15 And the seuenth Angel blew the trumpet, and there were great voyces in heauen, saying, The kingdomes of this world are our Lordes, and his Christes, and hee shall reigne for euermore.

16 Then the foure and twentie Elders, which sate before God on their seates, fell vpon their faces, and worshipped God.

17 Saying, We giue thee thanks, Lord God almighty, Which art, and which wast, & which art to come: for thou hast receiued thy great might, & hast obtained thy kingdome.

18 And the Gentiles were angry, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should be iudged, and that thou shouldest giue reward vnto thy seruants the Prophets and to the Saints, and to them that feare thy Name, to small and great, and shouldest destroy them which destroy the earth.

19 Then the Temple of God was opened in heauen, and there was seene in his Temple the Arke of his couenant: and there were lightnings, and voyces, and thunderings, and earthquake, and much haile.

CHAP. XII.

1 A woman 2 appeareth traueling with child, 4 whose childe the dragon would deuour, 7 but Michael ouercommeth him, 9 and casteth him out, 13 And the more hee is cast downe and vanquished, the more fiercely he exerciseth his subtilties.

AND there appeared a great wonder in heauen: A woman clothed with ỹ sunne, and the moone was vnder her feete, and vpon her head a crowne of twelue starres.

2 And she was with child, and cried traueling in birth, and was pained readie to bee deliuered.

3 And there appeared another wonder in heauen: for beholde, a great red dragon hauing seuen heads, and ten hornes, and seuen crownes vpon his heads:

4 And his taile drew the third part of the starres of heauen, and cast them to the earth. And the Dragon stoode before the woman, which was ready to bee deliuered, to deuoure her childe, when she had brought it forth.

5 So shee brought forth a man childe, which should rule all nations with a rod of yron: and that her childe was taken vp vnto God and to his throne.

6 And the woman fledde into wildernes where she hath a place prepared of God, that they should feede her there a thousand, two hundreth and threescore dayes.

7 And there was a battell in heauen, Michael and his Angels fought against the Dragon, and the Dragon fought and his angels.

8 But they preuailed not, neither was their [a] place found any more in heauen.

a They were cast out, so that they were neuer seene in heauen any more.

9 And the great Dragon, that olde Serpent, called the Diuell and Satan, was cast out, which deceiueth all the world: he was euen cast into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.

10 Then I heard a loude voice in heauen, saying, Nowe is saluation, and strength, and the kingdome of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast downe, which accused them before our God day and night.

11 But they ouercame him by that blood of that Lambe, and by that word of their testimonie, and they [b] loued not their liues vnto the death.

b He is said in the Hebrewe tongue, to loue his life, that esteemeth nothing more precious then his life: and on the other side, he is said not to loue his life, who doubteth not to hazard it, whensoeuer needs requireth.

12 Therefore reioyce, ye heauens, and yee that dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth, and of the Sea: for the Diuell is come down vnto you, which hath great wrath, knowing that he hath but a short time.

13 And when the Dragon sawe that hee was cast vnto the earth, he persecuted the woman which had brought forth the man child.

14 But to ỹ woman were giuen two wings of of a great Eagle, that thee might flie into the wildernesse, into her [c] place, where she is nourished for a time, and times, and halfe a time, from the presence of the serpent.

c Into that place which God had appointed for her.

15 And the serpent cast out of his mouth water after the woman, like a flood, that hee might cause her to be caried away of the flood.

16 But the earth holpe the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed vp the flood, which the dragon had cast out of his mouth.

17 Then the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went and made warre with the remnant of her seede, which keepe the commandements of God, and haue the testimonie of Iesus Christ.

18 And I stood on the sea sand.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The beast with many heads is described, 8 which draweth the most part of the world to idolatry. 11 The other beast rising out of the earth, 15 giueth power vnto him

AND I sawe a beast rise out of the sea, hauing seuen heads, & ten hornes, and vpon his hornes were ten crownes, and vpon his heads the name of blasphemie.

2 And the beast which I saw, was like a Leopard, and his feete like a beares, and his mouth as the mouth of a lion: and the dragon gaue him his power and his throne, and great authoritie.

3 And I saw none of his heads as it were wounded to death, but his deadly wound was healed, and all the world wondred and followed the beast.

4 And they worshipped the Dragon which gaue power vnto the beast, and they worshipped the beast, saying, Who is like vnto the beast! who is able to warre with him!

5 And there was giuen vnto him a mouth, that spake great things and blasphemies, and power was giuen vnto him, to doe two and fortie moneths.

6 And hee opened his mouth vnto blasphemie against God, to blaspheme his Name, and his tabernacle, and them that dwell in heauen.

7 And it was giuen vnto him to make warre with the Saints, & to ouercome them, and power was giuen him ouer euery kinred, and tongue, and nation.

8 Therefore all that dwell vpon ỹ earth, shall worship him, whose names are not written in the booke of life of that Lambe, which was slaine from the beginning of the world.

9 If any man haue an eare, let him heare.

10 If any leade into captiuitie, hee shal goe into captiuitie: *if any kill with a sword, hee must be killed by a sword: here is the patience and the faith of the Saints.

* Gen. 9. 6. matt. 26. 52.

11 And I beheld another beast comming vp out of the earth, which had two hornes like the Lambe, but he spake like the dragon.

12 And hee did all that the first beast could do before him, & he caused the earth, and them which dwell therein, to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed.

13 And he did great wonders, so that hee made fire to come downe from heauen on the earth, in the sight of men,

14 And deceiued them that dwell on the earth by the signes, which were permitted to him to doe in the sight of the beast, saying to them that dwell on the earth, that they should make the image of the beast, which had the wound of a sword, and did liue.

15 And it was permitted to him to giue a [a] spirit vnto the image of the beast, so that the image of the beast should speake, and should cause that as many as would not worship the image of the beast should be killed.

a To giue life as Iannes and Iambres imitated the wonders that Moses wrought.

16 And he made all, both small and great, rich and poore, free & bond, to receiue a [b] mark in their right hand or in their foreheads, b The marke of the name of the beast.

17 And that no man might buy or sell, saue he that had the marke, or the name of the beast, or the number of his name.

18 Heere is wisedome. Let him that hath wit, count the number of the beast: for it is the number of a man, and his number is six hundred threescore and six.

CHAP. XIIII.

1 The Lambe standeth on mount Sion, 4 with his chast worshippers. 6 One Angell preacheth the Gospel: 8 an other foretelleth the fall of Babylon: 9 the third warneth that the beast be auoided. 13 A voice from heauen pronounceth them happy who die in the Lorde. 16 The Lords sickle is thrust into the harueſt, 18 and into the vintage.

THEN I looked, and loe, a Lambe stood on mount Sion, and with him an hundred fortie and foure thousand, hauing his Fathers Name written in their foreheads.

2 And I heard a voyce from heauen, as the sound of many waters, and as the sound of a great thunder: and I heard the voice of harpers harping with their harps.

3 And they sung as it were a new song before the throne, and before the foure beasts, and the Elders: and no man could learne that song, but the hundred, fortie, and foure thousand, which were bought from the earth.

4 These are they, which are not defiled with women: for they are virgins: these follow the Lambe whithersoeuer he goeth: these are bought from men, being the first fruits vnto God, and to the Lambe.

5 And in their mouths was founde no guile: for they are without spot before the throne of God.

6 ¶ Then I saw another Angell flee in the midst of heauen, hauing an euerlasting

Gospel,

Gospel, to preach vnto them that dwell on the earth, and to euery nation, and kinred, and tongue, and people,

7 *Saying with a loud voyce, Feare God, and giue glory to him: for the houre of his iudgement is come: and worship him that made *heauen and earth, and the sea, and the fountaines of waters.

8 And there followed another Angel, saying, *Babylon that great citie is fallen, it is fallen: for she made all nations to drinke of the wine of the [a] wrath of her fornication.

9 And the third Angel followed them, saying with a loud voyce, If any man worship the beast and his image, and receiue his marke in his forehead, or on his hand,

10 The same shal drinke of the wine of the wrath of God, yea, of the pure wine, which is powred into the cup of his wrath, and he shall be tormented in fire and brimstone before the holy Angels, and before the Lambe.

11 And the smoke of their torment shall ascend euermore: and they shall haue no rest day nor night, which worship the beast and his image, and whosoeuer receiueth the print of his name.

12 Here is the patience of Saintes: here are they that keepe the commandements of God, and the faith of Iesus.

13 Then I heard a voyce from heauen, saying vnto me, Write, The dead which die [b] in the Lord, are fully blessed. Euen so saith the Spirit: for they rest from their labours, and their [c] workes follow them.

14 And I looked, and beholde, a white cloude, and vpon the cloude one sitting like vnto the Son of man, hauing on his head a golden crowne, and in his hand a sharpe sickle.

15 And another Angel came out of the Temple, crying with a lode voyce to him that sate on the cloude, *Thrust in thy sickle and reape: for the time is come to reape: for the *haruest of the earth is ripe.

16 And he that sate on the cloud, thrust in his sickle on the earth, and the earth was reaped.

17 Then another Angel came out of the Temple, which is in heauen, hauing also a sharpe sickle.

18 And another Angel came out from the altar, which had power ouer fire, & cried with a loude crie vnto him that had the sharpe sickle, and said, Thrust in thy sharpe sickle, & gather the clusters of the vineyard of the earth: for her grapes are ripe.

19 And the Angel thrust in his sharpe sickle on the earth, and cut down the vines of the vineyard of the earth, and cast them into that great winepresse of the wrath of God.

20 And the wine presse was troden without the citie, and blood came out of the winepresse, vnto the horse bridles, by the space of a thousand and sixe hundreth furlongs.

CHAP. XV.

1 The seuen Angles hauing the seuen last plagues. 3 They that conquered the beast, prayse God. 6 To the seuen Angels, 7 seuen vials full of Gods wrath, are deliuered.

AND I sawe another signe in heauen, great and marueilous, seuen Angels, hauing the seuen last plagues: for by them is fulfilled the wrath of God.

2 And I saw as it were a glassie sea, mingled with fire, and them that had gotten victorie of the beast, and of his image, and of his marke, and of the number of his name, stand at the glassie sea, hauing the harpes of God,

3 And they sung the song of Moses the [a] seruant of God, and the song of the Lambe, saying, Great and marueilous are thy workes, Lord God Almighty: iust and true are thy *[b] wayes, King of Saints.

4 *Who shall not feare thee, O Lord, and glorifie thy Name! for thou onely art holy, and all nations shall come and worship before thee: for thy iudgements are made manifest.

5 And after that, I looked, and beholde, the Temple of the Tabernacle of testimonie was open in heauen.

6 And the seuen Angels came out of the Temple, which had the seuen plagues, clothed in pure and bright linnen, and hauing their breasts girded with golden girdles.

7 And one of the foure beastes gaue vnto the seuen Angels seuen golden vials full of the wrath of God, which liueth for euermore.

8 And the Temple was full of ỹ smoke of the glory of God and of his power, and no man was able to enter into the Temple, till the seuen plagues of ỹ seuen Angels were fulfilled.

CHAP. XVI.

2 and 17 The Angles powre out the seuen vials of Gods wrath giuen vnto them, and so diuers plagues arise in the world, 18 to terrifie the wicked, 19 and the inhabitants of the great citie.

AND I heard a great voyce out of the Temple, saying to the seuen Angels, Goe powre out the seuen vials of the wrath of God vpon the earth.

2 And the first went and powred out his viall vpon the earth: and there fell a noysome and a grieuous sore vpon the men, which had the marke of the beast, and vpon them which worshipped his image.

3 And the second Angel powred out his viall vpon the sea, and it [a] became as the blood of a dead man: and euery liuing thing died in the sea.

4 And the third Angel powred out his viall

5 And I heard the Angel of the waters say, Lord thou art iust, Which art, & which wast: and Holy, because thou hast iudged the things.

6 For they shed the blood of the Saints, and Prophets, and therefore hast thou giuen them blood to drinke: for they are worthie.

7 And I heard another out of the Sanctuarie say, Euen so, Lord God almightie, true and righteous are thy iudgements.

8 And the fourth Angel powred out his viall on the sunne, and it was giuen vnto him to torment men with heat of fire,

9 And men boiled in great heat, and blasphemed the Name of God, which hath power ouer these plagues, and they repented not, to giue him glory.

10 And the fift Angel powred out his viall vpon the throne of the beast, and his kingdome waxed darke, and they gnawed their tongues for sorrow, 11 And blasphemed the God of heauen for their paines, and for their sores, and repented not of their workes.

12 And the sixt Angel powred out his vial vpon the great riuer Euphrates, and the water thereof dried vp, that the way of the Kings of the East should be prepared.

13 And I saw three vncleane Spirits like frogs, come out of the mouth of that dragon, and out of the mouth of that beast, and out of the mouth of that false Prophet.

14 For they are the spirits of deuils, working miracles, to goe vnto the Kings of the earth, and of the whole world, to gather thē to the battell of that great day of God almightie.

16 And they gathered them together into a place called in Hebrew Armagedon.

17 ¶ And the seuenth Angel powred out his viall into the ayre: and there came a loud voyce out of the Temple of heauen from the throne, saying, It is done.

18 And there were voices, & thundrings, and lightnings, and there was a great earthquake, such as was not since men were vpon the earth, euen so mightie an earthquake.

19 And the great citie was diuided into three parts, and the cities of the nations fell: & that great Babylon came in remembrance before God, *to giue vnto her the cup of the wine of the fiercenesse of his wrath.

CHAP. XVII.

1 That great whore is described, 2 with whom the Kings of the earth committed fornication. 6 She is drunken with the blood of Saints. 7 The mysterie of the woman and the beast that carieth her, expounded: their destruction. 14 The Lambs victorie.

THen there came one of the seuen Angels which had the seuen vialles, and talked with me, saying vnto me, Come: I will shew thee the [a] damnation of the great whore that sitteth vpon many waters,

2 With whom haue committed fornication the Kings of the earth, & the inhabitants of the earth are drunken with the wine of her fornication.

3 So he caried mee away into the wildernesse in the Spirit, & I saw a Woman sit vpon a [b] skarlet coloured beast, full of names of blasphemie, which had seuen heads and ten hornes.

4 And the woman was arayed in purple and skarlet, and gilded with gold and precious stones, and pearles, and had a cup of gold in her hand, full of abominations, and filthinesse of her fornication.

5 And in her forehead was a name written, A mysterie, that great Babylon, that mother of whoredoms, and abominations of the earth.

6 And I sawe the woman drunken with the blood of Saints, and with the blood of the Martyrs of IESVS: and when I saw her, I wondred with great maruell.

7 Then the Angel sayd vnto mee, Wherefore marueilest thou? I wil shew thee the mysterie of that woman, and of that beast, that beareth her, which hath seuen heads, and tenne hornes.

8 The beast that thou hast seene, was, and is not, and shall ascend out of the bottomlesse pit, and shall goe into perdition, and they that dwell on the earth, shall wonder (whose names are not written in the Booke of life from the foundation of the world) when they behold the beast that was, and is not, and yet is.

9 Here is the minde that hath wisedome. The [c] seuen heades, are seuen mountaines whereon the woman sitteth: they are also seuen Kings.

10 Fiue are fallen, and one is, and another is not yet come: and when hee commeth hee must continue a short space.

11 And the beast that was, and is not, is euen the eight, and is one of the seuen, and shall goe into destruction.

12 And the tenne hornes which thou sawest, are tenne Kings, which yet haue not receiued a Kingdome, but shall receiue power, as Kings b A skarlet colour, that is, with a red and purple garment: and surely it was not without cause that the Romish clergie were so much delighted with this colour.

c Very children know, what that seuen hilled citie is, which is so much spoken of, and wherof Virgil thus reporteth And compassed seuen towers within one wall: that citie it is, which whē Iohn wrote these things, had rule ouer the Kings of the earth: it was, and is not, and yet remaineth to this day, but it is declining to destruction.

kings at one houre with the beast.

13 These haue one minde, and shall giue their power and authoritie vnto the beast.

14 These shall fight with the Lambe, and the Lambe shall ouercome them: *for hee is Lord of Lords, and King of Kings: and they that are on his side, called, and chosen, and faithfull.

*Chap.19.16. 1.tim.6.15.

15 And hee sayd vnto mee, The waters which thou sawest, where the whore sitteth, are people, & multitudes, and nations, & tongues.

16 And the ten hornes which thou sawest vpon the beast, are they that shall hate the whore, and shall make her desolate and naked, and shall eat her flesh, and burne her with fire.

17 For God hath put in their hearts to fulfill his will, and to doe with one consent, for to giue their kingdome vnto the beast, vntill the words of God be fulfilled.

18 And that woman which thou sawest, is that great citie, which reigneth ouer the kings of the earth.

CHAP. XVIII.

2 The horrible destruction of Babylon is set out. 11.16.18 The merchants of the earth, who were enriched with the pompe and luxuriousnes of it, weepe, and waile: 20 But all the elect reioyce for that iust vengeance of God.

AND after these things, I saw another Angel come downe from heauen, hauing great power, so that the earth was lightened with his glory.

2 And hee cryed out mightily with a loud voyce, saying, It is fallen, it is fallen, Babylon that great citie, and is become the habitation of deuils, and the holde of all foule spirits, and a cage of euery vncleane and hateful bird.

*Chap.14.8. esay 21.9. ierem.51.8.

3 For all nations haue drunken of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth haue committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich of the abundance of her pleasures.

4 And I heard another voyce from heauen say, Goe out of her, my people, that yee be not partakers of her sinnes, and that ye receiue not of her plagues.

5 For her sinnes are [a] come vp into heauen, and God hath remembred her iniquities.

a He vseth a word which signifieth the following of sinne one after another, and rising one of another in such sort, that they grewe at length to such an heap, that they came vp euen to heauen.

6 Reward her, euen as shee hath rewarded you, and giue her double according to her workes: and in the cup that shee hath filled to you, fill her the double.

7 In as much as she glorified her selfe, and liued in pleasure, so much giue you to her torment and sorow: for shee saith [b] in her heart, I sit being a Queene, and am [c] no widow, and shall [d] see no mourning.

b With her selfe.
c I am full of people and mightie.
d I shall taste of none.

8 Therefore shall her plagues come at [e] one day, death, and sorow, and famine, and she shall be burnt with fire: for that God which condemneth her, is a strong Lord.

e Shortly and at one instant.

9 And the kings of the earth shall bewaile her, and lament for her, which haue committed fornication, & liued in pleasure with her, when they shall see that smoke of that her burning,

10 And shall stand a farre off for feare of her torment, saying, Alas, alas, that great city Babylon, that mightie citie: for in one houre is thy iudgement come.

11 And the merchants of the earth shall weepe and waile ouer her: for no man buyeth their ware any more,

12 The ware of gold and siluer, and of precious stones, and of pearles, and of fine linnen, and of purple, and of silke, and skarlet, and of al maner of Thyne wood, and of all vessels of yuorie, and of all vessels of most precious wood, and of brasse, and of yron, and of marble,

13 And of cinnamon, and odours, and oyntments, and frankincense, and wine, and oyle, and fine floure, and wheate, and beastes, and sheepe, and horses, and charets, and seruaunts, and soules of men.

14 (And the [f] apples that thy soule lusted after, are departed from thee, and all things which were fatte and excellent, are departed from thee, and thou shalt finde them no more)

f By this is meant that season, which is next before the fall of the leafe, at what season fruits ripen, and the worde signifieth such fruits as are longed for.

15 The merchants of these things which were wared rich, shal stand afarre off from her, for feare of her torment, weeping & wailing,

16 And saying, Alas, alas, that great citie, that was clothed in fine linnen and purple, and skarlet, and gilded with golde, and precious stones, and pearles.

17 For in one houre so great riches are come to desolation. And euery shipmaster, and all the people that occupie ships, and shipmen, and whosoeuer traffike on the sea, shall stand a farre off, 18 And crie, when they see that smoke of that her burning, saying, What citie was like vnto this great citie?

19 And they shall cast dust on their heads, and cry, weeping, and wailing, and say, Alas, alas, that great citie, wherein were made rich all that had ships on the sea by her costlinesse: for in one houre she is made desolate.

20 O heauen, reioyce of her, and yee holy Apostles and Prophets: for God hath punished her to be reuenged on her for your sakes.

21 Then a mightie Angel tooke vp a stone like a great millstone, * and cast it into the sea, saying, With such violence shall that great citie Babylon be cast and shall be found no more.

*Iere.51.63.

22 And the voyce of harpers, and musicians and of pipers, and trumpetters shall be heard no more in thee, and no craftesman, of whatsoeuer craft hee bee, shall be found any more in thee: and the sound of a millstone shall be heard no more in thee.

23 And the light of a candle shall shine no more in thee: and the voice of the bridegrome and of the bride shalbe heard no more in thee: for thy marchants were the great men of the earth: and with thine inchantments were deceiued all nations.

24 And in her was found the blood of the Prophets, and of the Saints, and of all that were slaine vpon the earth.

CHAP. XIX.

2 The heauenly companie praise God, for auenging the blood of his seruants, on the whore. 9 They are written blessed, that are called to the Lambes supper. 10 The Angell wil not be worshipped. 11 The mightie King of Kings appeareth from heauen. 19 The battel, 20 wherin the beast is taken, 21 and cast into the burning lake.

AND after these things I heard a great voice of a great multitude in heauen, saying, [a] Halleluiah, saluation, and glorie, and honour, and power be to the Lord our God.

a Praise the Lord.

2 For true and righteous are his iudgements: for hee hath condemned that great whore, which did corrupt the earth with her fornication, and hath auenged the blood of his seruants shed by her hand.

3 And againe they said, Hallelu-iah: and that her smoke rose vp for euermore.

4 And the foure & twentie Elders, and the foure beasts fell down, & worshipped God that sate in the throne, saying, Amen, Hallelu-iah.

5 Then a voice came out of the throne, saying, Praise our God, all yee his seruants, and ye that feare him, both small and great.

6 And I heard like a voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of strong thunderings, saying, Hallelu-iah: for the Lord that God that almighty one hath reigned.

7 Let vs bee glad and reioyce, and giue glory to him: for the marriage of that Lambe is come, and his wife hath made her self ready.

8 And to her was granted, that she should bee arayed with pure fine linnen and shining, for the fine linnen is the [b] righteousnesse of Saints.

b Good workes which are liuely testimonies of faith.

9 Then he said vnto me, Write, * Blessed are they which are called vnto the Lambs supper. And he said vnto me, These words of God are true.

* Mat. 22. 2.

10 And I fel before his feete, * to worship him: but he said vnto me, See thou doe it not: I am thy fellow seruant, and one of thy brethren, which haue the [c] testimonie of Iesus. Worship God: for the testimonie of [d] Iesus is the Spirit of prophecie.

* Chap. 22. 8.

c Which are commanded to beare witnesse of Iesus.

d For Iesus is the marke that all the prophecies shoote at.

11 And I saw heauen open, and behold, a white horse, and hee that sate vpon him, was called Faithfull and true, and hee iudgeth and fighteth righteously.

12 And his eyes were as a flame of fire, & on his head were many crownes: & hee had a name written, that no man knew but himselfe.

13 And hee was clothed with a garment dipt in blood, and his name is called THE WORD OF GOD.

14 And the hostes which were in heauen, followed him vpon white horses, clothed with fine linnin white and pure.

15 And out of his mouth went out a sharpe sword, that with it hee should smite the heathen: for he * shall rule them with a rod of yron: for hee it is that treadeth the winepresse of the fiercenesse and wrath of Almightie God.

16 And he hath vpon his garment, and vpon his thigh a name written, * THE KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS.

* Chap. 17. 14. 1. tim. 6. 15.

17 And I saw an Angel stande in the sunne, who cryed with a loud voyce, saying to all the foules that did flie by the mids of heauen, Come, and gather your selues together vnto the supper of the great God,

18 That ye may eat the flesh of kings, and the flesh of hie captaines, and the flesh of mightie men, and the flesh of horses, and of them that sit on them, and the flesh of all freemen, and bondmen, and of small and great.

19 And I sawe the beast, and the Kings of the earth, and their hostes gathered together to make battell against him that sate on the horse, and against his armie.

20 But the beast was taken, and with him that false prophet that wrought miracles before him, whereby he deceiued them that receiued the beasts marke, and them that worshipped his image. These both were aliue cast into a lake of fire, burning with brimstone.

21 And the remnant were slaine with the sword of him that sitteth vpon the horse, which commeth out of his mouth, and all the foules were filled full with their flesh.

CHAP. XX.

1 The Angel 2 bindeth Satan for a thousand yeeres: 8 Being loosed, he stirreth vp Gog and Magog, that is, priuy and open enemies, against the Saints, 11 but the vengeance of the Lord cutteth off their insolencie. 12 The bookes are opened, by which the dead are iudged.

AND I saw an Angel come downe from heauen, hauing the key of the bottomles pit, and a great chaine in his hand.

2 And hee tooke the dragon that olde serpent, which is the deuill and Satan, and bound him a thousand yeeres,

3 And cast him into the bottomlesse pit, and he shut him vp, & sealed the doore vpon him, that hee should deceiue the people no more, till the thousand yeeres were fulfilled: for after that he must be loosed for a little season.

a For iudgement was committed to them, as to members ioyned to the head: not that Christs office was giuen ouer to them.

4 And I saw [a] seates: and they sate vpon them, & iudgement was giuen vnto them, and I saw the soules of thē that were beheaded for the

the witnes of Jeſus, and for the word of God, and which did not worſhip ẏ beaſt, neither his image, neither had taken his marke vpon their foreheads, or on their hands: and they liued and reigned with Chriſt a thouſand yeere.

5 But the reſt of the dead men ſhall not liue againe, vntill the thouſand yeeres bee finiſhed: this is the firſt reſurrection.

6 Bleſſed and holy is he, that hath part in the firſt reſurrection: for on ſuch the ſecond death hath no power: but they ſhall bee the Prieſts of God and of Chriſt, and ſhall reigne with him a thouſand yeere.

7 And when the thouſand yeeres are expired, Satan ſhall be looſed out of his priſon,

8 And ſhall goe out to deceiue the people, which are in the foure quarters of the earth: euen * Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battell whoſe number is, as the ſand of the ſea.

* Ezek. 39.2.

9 And they went vp into the [b] plaine of the earth, and they compaſſed the tents of the Saints about, and the beloued citie: but fire came downe from God out of heauen, and deuoured them.

b As if hee ſaid, inſomuch that the whole face of the earth, how great ſoeuer it is, was filled.

10 And the deuil that deceiued them, was caſt into a lake of fire & brimſtone, where that beaſt and that falſe prophet are, and ſhall bee tormemted euen day and night for euermore.

11 And I ſaw a great white throne, and one that ſate on it, from whoſe face fled away both the earth and the heauen, and their place was no more found.

12 And I ſawe the dead, both great and ſmall ſtand before God: and the bookes were opened, & * another booke was opened, which is the booke of life, and the dead were iudged of thoſe things, which were written in the bookes, according to their workes.

13 And the ſea gaue vp her dead, which were in her, and death and hel deliuered vp the dead, which were in them: and they were iudged euery man according to their workes.

14 And death and hell, were caſt into the lake of fire: this is the ſecond death.

15 And whoſoeuer was not found written in the booke of life, was caſt into ẏ lake of fire.

a Their lot and inheritance as it were.

9 And there came vnto mee one of the ſeuen Angels, which had the ſeuen vials full of the ſeuen laſt plagues, and talked with mee, ſaying, Come: I will ſhew thee the bride, the Lambes wife.

10 And he caried mee away in the ſpirit to a great and high mountaine, and hee ſhewed mee that great citie, that holy Hieruſalem, deſcending out from heauen from God, 11 Hauing the glory of God: and her ſhining was like vnto a ſtone moſt precious, as a Jaſper ſtone, cleare as Chryſtall.

12 And had a great wall, and high, and had twelue gates, and at the gates twelue Angels, and the names written, which are the twelue tribes of the children of Iſrael.

13 On the Eaſt part there were three gates, and on the Northſide three gates, on the Southſide three gates, and on the Weſtſide three gates.

14 And the wall of the citie had twelue foundations, and in them the names of the Lambes twelue Apoſtles.

15 And hee that talked with me, had a golden reed, to meaſure the citie withall, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.

b A foureſquared figure hath equall ſides, and outright corners, and therefore the Grecians cal by this name thoſe things that are ſtable, and of continuance, and perfect.

16 And the citie lay [b] foureſquare, and the length is as large as the breath of it, and hee meaſured the citie with the reed, twelue thouſand furlongs: and the length, and the breath, and the height of it are equall.

17 And hee meaſured the wall thereof, an hundreth forty and foure cubites, by the meaſure of man, that is of the [c] Angel.

c He addeth this, becauſe the Angel had the ſhape of a man.

18 And the building of the wall of it was of Iasper: and the citie was pure golde, like vnto cleare glasse.

19 And the foundations of the wall of the citie were garnished with all maner of precious stones: the first foundation was Iasper: the second of Saphire: the third of a Calcedonie: the fourth of an Emeraude:

20 The fift of a Sardonix: the sixt of a Sardius: the seuenth of a Chrysolite: the eight of a Beryl: the ninth of a Topaze: the tenth of a Chrysoprasus: the eleuenth of a Iacynth: the twelfth of an Amethyst.

21 And the twelue gates were twelue pearles, and euery gate is of one pearle, and the [d] streete of the citie is pure gold, as shining glasse.

[d] By the streete he meaneth the broadest place of the citie.

22 And I saw no Temple therein: for the Lord God Almightie and the Lambe are the Temple of it.

CHAP. XXII.

1 The riuer of water of life is shewed, 2 and the tree of life: 6.7 Then followeth the conclusion of this prophecy, 8 where Iohn declareth, that the things herein conteined are most true. 13 And now the third time repeateth these words, All things come from him, who is the beginning and the ende.

*Esa.60.19. AND he shewed mee a pure riuer of water of life, cleare as chrystal, proceeding out of the throne of God, and of the Lambe.

2 In the middest of the streete of it, and of either side of the riuer was the tree of life, which bare twelue maner of fruits, and gaue fruit euery moneth: and the leaues of the tree serued to heale the nations with.

3 And there shall bee no more curse, but the throne of God and of the Lambe shalbe in it, and his seruants shall serue him.

4 And they shall see his face, & his Name shalbe in their foreheads.

5 *And there shall bee no light there, and they neede no candle, neither light of the sunne: for the Lord God giueth them light, and they shall reigne for euermore.

6 And he sayd vnto me, These words are faithfull and true: and the Lord God of the holy Prophets sent his Angel to shewe vnto his seruants the things which must shortly be fulfilled.

7 Beholde, I come shortly. Blessed is he that keepeth the words of the prophecie of this booke.

8 And I am Iohn which saw and heard these things: and when I had heard and seene, *I fell downe to worship before the feete of the Angel, which shewed me these things. *Chap.19.10.

9 But he said vnto me, See thou do it not: for I am thy fellow seruant, and of thy brethren the Prophets, and of them which keepe the words of this booke: worship God.

10 And he sayd vnto mee, Seale not the wordes of the prophecie of this booke: for the time is at hand.

11 He that is vniust, let him be vniust still: and he which is filthy, let him bee filthie still, and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still.

12 And behold, I come shortly, and my reward is with me, to *giue euery man according as his works shall be. *Rom.2.6.

13 I am * Alpha and Omega, the beginning end the end, the first and the last. *Chap.1.8, and 21.6. esai.41.4. and 44.6.

14 Blessed are they, that doe his commandements, that their right may bee in the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the citie.

15 For without shalbe dogs & enchanters, and whoremongers, and murtherers, and idolaters, and whosoeuer loueth or maketh lyes.

16 I Iesus haue sent mine Angel, to testifie vnto you these things in the Churches: I am the roote and the generation of Dauid, and the bright morning starre.

17 And the Spirit & the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth, say, Come: and let him that is a thirst, come: and *let whomsoeuer will, take of the water of life freely. *Esai.55.1.

18 For I protest vnto euery man that heareth the words of the prophecie of this booke, If any man shall adde vnto these things, God shall adde vnto him the plagues, that are written in this booke:

19 And if any man shall diminish of the wordes of the booke of this prophecie, God shall take away his part out of the Booke of life, and out of the holy citie, and from those things which are written in this booke.

20 He which testifieth these things, sayth, Surely, I come quickely. Amen. Euen so, come Lord Iesus.

21 The grace of our Lord Iesus Christ be with you all, Amen.

THE ENDE.

A briefe Table of the interpretation of the proper names which are chiefly found in the olde Testament, wherein the first number signifieth the Chapter, the second the verse.

WHereas the wickednes of time, and the blindnesse of the former age hath bene such, that all things altogether haue bene abused and corrupted, so that the very right names of diuers of the holy men named in the Scriptures haue beene forgotten, and now seeme strange vnto vs, and the names of infants that should euer haue some godly aduertisements in them, and should be memorials and marks of the children of God receiued into his household, haue bene hereby also changed and made the signes and badges of idolatrie and heathenish impietie: we haue now set forth this Table of the names that be most vsed in the old Testament with their interpretations, as the Hebrew importeth, partly to call backe the godly frō that abuse, when they shal know the true names of the godly Fathers, & what they signifie, that their children now named after them, may haue testimonies by their very names, that they are within that faithfull family that in all their doings had euer God before their eyes, & that they are bound by these their names to serue God from their infancie, and haue occasion to praise him for his works wrought in them, and their fathers, but chiefly to restore the names to their integritie, whereby many places of the Scriptures and secret mysteries of the holy Ghost shall better be vnderstanded. We haue medled rarely with the Greeks names, because their interpretation is vncertain, & many of them are corrupted from their originall, as we may also see these Hebrew names set in the margent of this Table, which haue bene corrupted by the Grecians. Now for the other Hebrew names that are not here interpreted, let not the diligent reader be carefull: for he shall find them in places most conuenient amongest the Anotations: at least so many as may seeme to make for any edification, and vnderstanding of the Scriptures.
